Intended for teachers of special classes of educable mentally retarded children aged 6 to 8 (mental age = 3.5 to 4.9), the guide stresses skills necessary to the development of physical, personal and social, and vocational competency. An introduction defines philosophy and goals, outlines the educable mentally retarded program and the readiness program, and explains the use of the guide. Suggested units include (1) citizenship and patriotism, (2) home and family, (3) foods, (4) shelter, (5) clothing, (6) travel, (7) recreation and leisure, and (8) the seasons. Each of the units provides an introduction and lists objectives and motivational activities. Suggested activities are arranged according to the skills and competencies being developed. Bases for evaluation, films, and books and stories for children are also listed for each unit. A bibliography for teachers cites curriculum guides (five), books (23), periodicals (two), filmstrips (19), and records (26). A bibliography for parents includes six items. Appendixes provide forms for pupil evaluation and parent permission for field trips. (bw)

Foreword

Traditionally, the major purpose of the Fort Worth Public Schools has been to provide a curriculum to meet the needs of all children and youth. One of the needs of human beings is to become self-sustaining members of our society. To help all children become contributing citizens, many programs have been developed for children with special problems. One such special program is for the educable mentally retarded.

This publication is the first of a proposed series of curriculum guides in life experience areas designed for the educable mentally retarded. Its major goal, as a publication, is improvement of instruction for these children.

The practical aspect of the guide forecasts a realistic preparation for life adjustment. Proper implementation of the guide will more nearly insure for each mentally retarded pupil the development of adequate personal adjustment, appropriate work habits, and worthy social attitudes. Every effort has been made to present a format which presents each prescription for learning in a developmental sequence.

No program can be successful without creative teachers; therefore, teachers are urged to exercise their ingenuity in implementing the suggested activities and to explore freely the possibilities of additional activities. Hopefully, this guide with its suggested activities will foster unity rather than uniformity in the curriculum for the educable mentally retarded.

Production Record

This Level I guide is the first in a proposed series of curriculum guides for the total program of the educable mentally retarded with I.Q. 50-70, inclusive. It was written to provide a first step in a cohesive program for the retardate from age 6 through 21 years of age. The goals and general plan of this bulletin follow closely those of the curriculum guide for the Educable Mentally Retarded provided by the Texas Education Agency.

All teachers of Level I, educable mentally retarded, prepared sample units for study by the writers prior to the initial writing of this guide. The teachers listed below deserve the major credit for the actual research and writing.

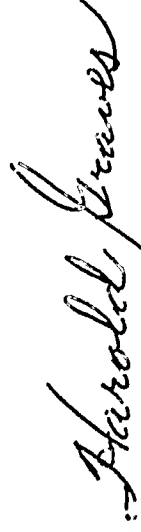

Mrs. Minnie Alice Suo

Mrs. Helen Willemin

We are deeply indebted to them for performing this task. We also express our appreciation to Miss Reba Jones, school psychologist, for her advice on psychological evaluation.

To Miss Josephine Kelly, Director of Special Education, without whom this publication could not have been completed, we want to give special recognition for her work in the organization and editing of this guide.

The Curriculum Department of the Fort Worth Public Schools coordinated, edited, and published this curriculum bulletin.

Introduction

Part One

Introduction

A curriculum for all children and youth is based on a philosophy of providing for the individual differences in pupil growth and development. This is true for the educable mentally retarded child. For this reason, a separate and distinct curriculum has been provided for them. A child may enter this program when he is diagnosed as mentally retarded on reaching school age or at any time thereafter. He follows this sequential curriculum until he completes the seven levels of the program or is terminated because he can no longer profit from the program.

The objectives are the attainment of physical competencies, personal and social competencies, and vocational competencies through a program of personal and functional experiences. The program is so structured that each pupil may progress at his own rate of development without undue tension, pressure from his teacher, or comparison to other children.

Skill areas and areas of developmental growth are interwoven into these three broad goals of the program. They are introduced sequentially as the pupil reaches his particular level of physical, emotional, and intellectual maturity. Repetition is needed, not in isolation, but in relation to the three areas of competency.

This guide, designed for Level I, provides sequential goals with suggested activities for the teacher of educable retarded children six to eight years old.

I. PHILOSOPHY OF EDUCATION FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Special education for the mentally retarded is based on the philosophy that all children are entitled to education with opportunity to develop to their highest potentials and capabilities at their own rate without undue pressure from the teachers.

II. GOALS

The goals of the program are (1) Physical Competency, (2) Personal and Social Competency, and (3) Vocational Competency.

Skills are taught, re-taught, and over-taught, not in isolation, but in relation to the three areas of competency.

Education presents a continuous challenge to the individual according to his maturational level and should be centered around his experiences and immediate needs. It is important that the total educational objectives for the mentally retarded pupil place less emphasis on academic proficiency and more stress on acquiring means for self-dependence and adjustment in society.

III. THE EDUCABLE MENTALLY RETARDED PROGRAM

A. The Special Class

While good teachers in regular classrooms may, in certain instances, provide appropriate learning situations, it is doubtful that the typical elementary or secondary class can be flexible enough to provide adequately for the majority of retarded children. Just as all fields of education have become more specialized, so has the education of exceptional children. The mentally handicapped succeed most efficiently when teachers with special training work in special settings with special materials. The special class with this teacher with special training and special equipment has emerged to provide the developmental program needed by the educable retarded.

A desirable facility for a special class should offer more than a regular classroom. It should provide a space for the various special work areas, provide at least four advantageously located electrical outlets, provide easy accessibility to the nurse's office, running water, and toilet facilities, and be located near regular classrooms of approximately the same age group.

The enrollment in special classes is controlled by a state formula. Fort Worth must provide an average of a fraction over 13 pupils per class. Levels I and II classes carry smaller enrollments and Levels V to VII may carry as many as 17 or 18 students.

B. Identification of the Educable Mentally Retarded

The mentally retarded individual is one who deviates from the normal in mental ability and educational potentialities. These deviations are not in kind but degree. He has the same desires and impulses as a normal individual, and there is evidence that these exceptional children can become self-sustaining to a greater or lesser degree.

Children who are mentally retarded are characterized by some or all of the following traits.

1. Seem to show limited potential for academic learning
2. Seem to be unable to reason in the abstract and have difficulty solving problems
3. Seem to have difficulty generalizing and transferring learnings
4. Appear to be emotionally immature and socially inadequate
5. Are not able to work well independently
6. Find it difficult to follow directions

C. Eligibility for Special Class Placement

1. Have a full scale I.Q. score between 50 and 70
2. Have a mental age of 3.5 years or over
3. Have a chronological age of 6 to 21 years as of September 1
4. Have a potential for acceptable adjustment in the class
5. Have predictable potential for occupational competency
6. Have control of body functions
7. Reside in the Fort Worth Independent School District

D. Referral Procedures by the Principal

1. Obtains psychological evaluation
2. Counsels parents toward special class placement
3. Provides Special Education forms for parent to complete or have completed, including Application Form (Form 878), Medical (Form 891), and Parent Permission (Form 886)
4. Completes School Referral Form (Form 879) and directs all completed forms to the Records Clerk, Office of Psychological Services or to the Office of Special Education

E. Admittance to the Program

The Screening Committee for Special Education will determine eligibility of the pupil for special class placement. The Director of Special Education will notify the parent, by mail, of the decision of the Screening Committee (with a copy to the referring principal) and, when space in a classroom is available, the copy of the Enrollment Form (Form 890) shall be sent to the parent for presentation to the receiving principal; the duplicate copy shall be forwarded to the receiving special teacher.

When the pupil presents the enrollment form to the receiving principal, this principal shall, within three days, notify the Office of Special Education on Form ED-51 of the assignment of the student to a special class. In like manner, when a student withdraws, a report on form ED-52 shall be sent to the Office of Special Education within three days after the withdrawal.

F. Intellectual Evaluation

1. Intelligence Quotient (I.Q.)

Intelligence is the capacity of the individual as a whole to act purposefully, to think rationally and to deal effectively with his environment. This capacity is composed of abilities which are quantitatively different although not entirely independent. Intelligence tests attempt to measure these abilities.

The intelligence test results (I.Q.) represent the position of the individual with respect to the other individuals of similar age. The I.Q. varies according to the specific instrument used and the particular abilities it was designed to measure. No test samples all abilities, therefore it does not represent all of the child's mental development.

2. Mental Age (M.A.)

Mental age is based on the technique of scoring tests in terms of age units and does not represent that children with similar mental ages but dissimilar chronological ages will function alike. The mental age represents the rate of mental growth and development, and is one criterion for predicting academic potential. It is not sufficient to establish a diagnosis of mental retardation alone.

Converting of I.Q. to M.A. may be accomplished by the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{C.A. (in months)} \times \text{I.Q.}}{100} = \text{M.A. (in months)}$$

Caution: These conversions should be used only as a very gross estimate. Particular caution should be used in generalizing from I.Q. scores on tests two to three years old.

IV. READINESS PROGRAM

The curriculum content for Level I is based upon mental and physical health, social experiences, sensorimotor development, language development, use of common materials and work habits, and attitudes. Since the child in Level I has a mental age below 6 years, the activities provided for the development of the language arts will be readiness activities. The teacher will begin to provide pupils experiences that will prepare them for instruction in reading, mathematics, and spelling. This is the period of reading readiness, number readiness, and vocational readiness.

The following guidelines for Level I are restrictive since over-extension into the academics can be detrimental to the pupil.

A. Language

1. Goals

a. Oral communication

- (1) Communicates needs
- (2) Understands limited directions
- (3) Gives first and last name
- (4) Recognizes and names familiar objects
- (5) Participates in simple conversation
- (6) Retells stories
- (7) Tells story content of a picture
- (8) Tells age and address

b. Listening skills

- (1) Listens attentively
- (2) Follows simple directions

B. Reading

1. Goals

- a. Purposeful listening
- b. Purposeful talking

2. Sequential skills

- a. Matches object to object
- b. Matches object to picture

2. Sequential skills (mental age of 6)

- a. Discusses personal experiences
- b. Composes language charts
- c. Composes sentences for pictures
- d. Dramatizes simple plays

- c. Purposeful imitating
- d. Auditory discrimination
- e. Auditory comprehension
- f. Visual discrimination
- g. Visual comprehension
- h. Left-to-right orientation
- i. Associations
- j. Sequence of ideas
- c. Matches picture to picture
- d. Differentiates between large and small shapes such as circles and squares
- e. Recognizes circles and squares
- f. Differentiates between primary colors
- g. Recognizes and names the primary colors
- h. Reproduces large block pattern from 3 to 6 pieces
- i. Reproduces small block pattern from 3 to 6 pieces
- j. Traces a simple design with crayon and then pencil
- k. Completes a design with pencil
- l. Reproduces vertical line from chalkboard
- m. Reproduces simple vertical line from paper

C. Arithmetic

- 1. Goals
 - a. Recognizes quantitative concepts
 - b. Develops concept of one, two, three
 - c. Develops one-to-one relationship
 - d. Recognizes relationship of numbers and number words
 - e. Applies counting to objects
- 2. Sequential skills (mental age under 7)

Refer to bulletin Skill Sequence in Arithmetic - Mental Age Under 7.

D. Physical Education

1. Goals

- a. Walks with good alternate arm and leg movements
- b. Catches and throws somewhat accurately large balls and beanbags
- c. Hops on either foot
- d. Jumps, using both feet
- e. Performs simple stunts
- f. Walks a low ledge or balance beam
- g. Runs with coordination of head, arm, and leg movements

2. Sequential skills

- a. Walks
- b. Rolls
- c. Runs
- d. Jumps
- e. Hops
- f. Leaps
- g. Glides
- h. Tiptoes
- i. Skips
- j. Lifts
- k. Climbs
- l. Push-pulls
- m. Grasps
- n. Dodges
- o. Throws
- p. Catches
- q. Kicks

E. Art

1. Goals

- a. Learns primary colors
- b. Learns to express ideas and feelings with paint, crayons, paper, etc.
- c. Develops eye-hand coordination
- d. Develops enjoyment and appreciation for self-expression through art media

2. Sequential skills

- a. Colors
- b. Pastes
- c. Draws
- d. Cuts
- e. Traces
- f. Identifies primary colors

F. Music

1. Goals

- a. Develops a love for music through singing, rhythms, and listening
- b. Feels and expresses moods of music
- c. Develops the ability to sing in tune
- d. Feels and expresses rhythm of music

2. Sequential skills

- a. Sings simple lyrics and performs rhythmic patterns
- b. Keeps time with music by walking, marching, hopping, galloping, etc.
- c. Does finger plays and sings counting songs
- d. Matches low and high ranges and loud and soft tones
- e. Dramatizes songs
- f. Responds rhythmically with rhythm band instruments
- g. Listens quietly

V. USE OF THE GUIDE

This basic instructional guide, written for teachers of Level I pupils with mental ages of approximately 3.5 to 4.9 years, has been developed in eight units.

Since the term "curriculum guide" connotes permissiveness both in participation in its construction and in its utilization, the use of the material given herein will depend in great part on the teacher's ability to program for the students at their ability levels. The guide will be factual and realistic only to the extent that it incorporates ideas and practices of the teacher. Each goal was chosen as a prerequisite for the development of the child toward the independent behaviors typical of adulthood. Each activity suggested was selected to develop one or more of the specific goals for the unit. Each specific goal, in turn, leads to the development of the three major objectives of attainment of physical, personal and social, and vocational competencies.

Time, space, and funds dictate that the guide provide only suggestions for motivational and instructional activities. Each teacher will, through his own initiative and knowledge of the cultural background and potential of his pupils, expand the list of suggestions which develop the specified goals. He will select those activities which best meet his pupil needs and add others which will be more appropriate for his pupils. The guide is developed in functional and practical detail, allowing for flexibility of instructional method.

It is recommended that each teacher of Level I follow as nearly as possible the sequence of units and time allotments as provided in the guide. However, it would not be realistic for a teacher to work from the first activity to the last in the guide. Teacher-initiated activities should be selected as the needs and interests of the group dictate.

Teachers with pupils in both Levels I and II will need to adjust their plans to meet the needs of their pupils. In most instances, however, the units for Level I will be most appropriate as each unit may be expanded in depth to meet the needs of children with greater mental abilities.

A suggested daily schedule is presented on the following page. This schedule provides an opportunity to cover all competencies every day. It provides general activities in blocks of time, so that each teacher may adjust the schedule to fit his own individual needs.

This provides some permissiveness and less rigidity in scheduling activities for each day. The alert teacher can capitalize on the interest shown in various activities in any particular block of time.

Unit 1 Citizenship and Patriotism

UNIT I

CITIZENSHIP AND PATRIOTISM

(Suggested Time: 6 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

This unit on citizenship and patriotism is the first unit each school year. Discussions of rules the children must follow to be good school citizens would logically be included here. The qualities necessary to be a good citizen, which are pointed out in this unit, should continue to be emphasized through activities in the other seven units since good citizenship is important to the overall learning process and to acceptable social behavior.

The teacher must encourage the child from the day he enters school to assume the duties of a good citizen and to defend and support American ideals. This unit can be adapted to the abilities of all pupils represented in Level I of the Educable Mentally Retarded classes.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To motivate the pupils to defend and support American ideals
- B. To teach obedience, loyalty, cooperation, and responsibility--the traits of a good citizen
- C. To help the child develop good citizenship through
 - 1. Encouraging him to develop a sense of responsibility in the home
 - 2. Motivating him to share with siblings
 - 3. Teaching him to get along with and be considerate of neighbors
 - 4. Helping him learn to live happily with others
- D. To assist the child to develop good school and community citizenship through
 - 1. Helping him live happily at school
 - 2. Developing in him individual and group loyalty

3. Teaching him to protect public property
 4. Teaching him the importance of following school and community rules
 5. Helping him develop good health and safety habits
 6. Teaching him to obey traffic ordinances and laws
- E. To develop in the child skills necessary to maintain mental and physical fitness throughout life

III. MOTIVATING ACTIVITIES

- A. Display a United States flag and/or Texas flag.
- B. Show filmstrips and films about the flag, health, safety, good citizenship, playing and sharing together, etc., such as 192B Lucy Learns to Share, 192F Jim Learns Responsibility, S 26 Our Flag, S 43I Are You a Good Citizen, S 105I or K 275 Our Country's Flag.
- C. Take a field trip through the school or into the neighborhood or community to provide the children an opportunity to study and practice safety and good behavior.
- D. On the reading table or elsewhere display picture books and pamphlets such as Let's Go to School, I Live with Others, An American ABC, and Making Friends.
- E. Make a display on the bulletin board to illustrate school rules, safety rules, health rules, and holidays.
- F. Discuss rules for behavior in the classroom and school and on the playground.
- G. Develop plans with the class for taking care of classroom chores.
- H. Discuss sharing through donating to organizations, participating in the school carnival, and giving Thanksgiving food baskets.
- I. Use transparencies of a clock and a calendar.
- J. Tape a pupil discussion on safety or good citizenship.
- K. Display posters from civic campaigns such as "Clean Up Week."

- L. Read articles found in newspapers to the children about current outstanding citizens, or discuss outstanding events of a civic nature reported on television.
- M. Direct the writing of greetings to a pupil, teacher, or another person who is ill.
- N. Display pictures of the first president, the current president, the mayor, and other national, state, and local officials.

IV. DEVELOPMENTAL GOALS FOR CHILDREN

A. Physical Competencies

1. Pupil Activities to Develop Coordination Skills	2. Pupil Activities to Improve Sensory Skills	3. Pupil Activities to Develop Health and Safety Habits
a. Engage in activities using gross muscles. (1) Exercise 10 minutes daily to such records as "Physical Fitness for Primary Children" RRC 803. (2) Form and maintain a circle. (3) Listen to records such as "Action and Imitation" RRC 103 and follow instructions. (4) Draw circles on the chalkboard, clockwise and counter-clockwise. (5) Practice full arm swings, clockwise and counter-clockwise, to the side and to the front of the trunk. (6) Play games such as Crow Race, jump rope, hopscotch, or leap-frog. (7) Use the body in games such as pick-up races, kick ball, stealing sticks, Kick Bag Race, Circle Stride Ball, Ring Toss, Cat and Mouse, Follow the Leader, and Cut the Pie. b. Engage in activities using fine muscles. (1) Draw or paint pictures to illustrate good citizenship in the home, school room, community, and on the play-ground. (2) Cut pictures from magazines illustrating good manners, safety, and school activities. (3) Assemble puzzles such as Q5 "Going to School."	a. Develop the taste, smell, and tactile senses. (1) Pair numbers and figures made from felt, sandpaper, plastic, or other material. (2) Trace traffic safety signs in sand, in clay, on plastic, or on paper. b. Develop visual skills. (1) Use teacher-made materials stressing discrimination--likes and differences. (2) Match stars or other objects by size and color. c. Develop auditory skills. (1) Listen to records such as "Concept," Volume V. (2) Listen to stories about the flag, families, school, safety, holidays, and national heroes such as those in The True Book of Holidays. (3) Count the number of class safety rules. (4) Listen to the principal make announcements on the intercom. (5) Identify sounds such as a siren, fire alarm, horns, or school alarms for fire drill.	a. Practice use of the handkerchief or tissues. b. Role play the activities of preparing for school. c. Discuss and practice safety rules at intersections, in the community, in the classroom, in the restroom, on the play-ground, in the hall, or in other places. d. Discuss what one should do when he has a common cold or other childhood disease. e. Formulate safety rules for riding in a car, taxicab, and school bus. f. Invite a school patrol boy or traffic officer to discuss safety rules. g. Wash the hands often. h. Make a list of do's and don'ts for one who is ill. i. Learn to recognize traffic safety signs. j. Cut from magazines pictures illustrative of good table manners, courtesy, safety, patriotism, and good health habits. k. Discuss why rules are necessary. l. Visit the school cafeteria to observe sanitary measures taken such as clean-up and dress of the workers. m. Practice safe procedures on stairways. n. Discuss rules to follow for a field trip.

1. Pupil Activities to Develop Coordination Skills (cont.)	2. Pupil Activities to Improve Sensory Skills (cont.)	3. Pupil Activities to Develop Health and Safety Habits (cont.)
(4) Make a flag by cutting and pasting construction paper or by designing with pegboard and pegs. (5) Learn the shapes of traffic signs, tracing their outlines on the chalkboard or paper or in clay or sand. (6) Perform finger plays. (7) Use finger paints to illustrate traffic safety signs and holiday themes. (8) Draw a map of the playground.	d. Develop auditory-visual skills. (1) Discuss the flag, its colors, and its stars and stripes. (2) Role play the duties of the principal, the school nurse, the policeman, or others in an emergency.	o. Evaluate the behavior of each pupil upon return from the field trip.

B. Personal and Social Competencies

1. Pupil Activities to Promote Mental Health	2. Pupil Activities to Provide Opportunity for Social Adjustment	3. Pupil Activities to Provide Language Development
a. Draw the body outline on butcher paper; cut out the outline and identify the parts; talk about right and left. b. Dramatize situations in which each child is a part of a social group at home, at school, and in the community. c. Draw or paint pictures of daily situations such as lining up for lunch or for a game, taking turns, or serving others. d. Role play the activities of the policeman, the doctor, the teacher, the principal, or other persons in the community. e. Construct a miniature community, displaying safety signs. f. Discuss the happiness one receives from doing good deeds. g. Sing songs about America and play records of songs such as "Old Glory," "Our Flag," or "The Star-Spangled Banner."	a. Choose partners for a game. b. Elect hosts and hostesses for the classroom. c. Learn to sing "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner." d. Discuss rules for behavior. (1) While walking in the corridor (2) While walking with others (3) While walking up and down stairs (4) At the water fountain (5) During lunch period (6) During an auditorium program (7) During an air raid or fire drill e. Play "Simon Says." f. In the cafeteria, practice buying lunch, choosing flatware and food, carrying a tray, paying for food, and finding a table. g. Learn to use such courtesies as "thank you," "may I," "please," and "excuse me." h. Play the game, "May I?" i. Tour the neighborhood to practice walking on the sidewalk, looking at the flowers, and walking with one or two friends. j. Serve members of the class portions of a birthday cake or share treats.	a. Practice the "Pledge of Allegiance" to the flag. b. Take part in discussions. (1) The responsibilities of persons in authority (2) Why people are needed to be leaders (3) Why we observe safety signals (4) Why we hang up our clothes (5) Why we get in line to go to lunch (6) Why we need volunteer workers c. Listen to a story on being a good citizen and retell it. d. Dramatize being a good citizen, a good friend, or a team leader. e. Record on tape a poem or story about citizenship and listen to it. f. Dictate sentences to the teacher for a group story. g. Tell the rules for crossing the street, for having lunch in the cafeteria, and for attending a program in the auditorium. h. Discuss the preparations which must be made for a birthday party, holiday party, or other social affair. i. Describe experiences on the way to school. j. Unit II Home and Family

HOME AND FAMILY

(Suggested Time: 5 to 6 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

In this unit are suggested content, materials, and activities that the teacher may use in helping the child to realize his full potential and in aiding him to function as a contributing member of his home. Beginning with a primal concern for self, the child learns to adjust to and live in his home, his school, his neighborhood, and the larger community. It is important to proceed gradually from the immediate to the larger community, and in Level I the "larger community" is the home and school neighborhood.

Teachers are urged to exercise their ingenuity in implementing recommended activities and to explore freely the possibility of additional activities as they come to mind.

The identification of self in relation to the family is extremely important. As the child develops his self concept, he needs adequate reinforcement from the teacher. The instruction will grow out of natural daily living experiences in the classroom that will relate to the home. These experiences will give the child practice in understanding special situations that help to make him a contributing family member.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To develop the concept of a family as a unit
- B. To help the child develop skills in self care
- C. To assist the child in understanding
 1. His place in the family and how he can help
 2. The role of family members and how they help each other
 - a. Mother
 - b. Father
 - c. Brothers and sisters

- d. Other relatives
- 3. The importance of health and safety in the home
- 4. The possibilities for fun at home with the family
- 5. The desirability of good manners and courtesy
- 6. The importance for family members to work together on certain jobs (e.g., moving, planning a vacation)
- D. To develop the ability to perform tasks which will increase his usefulness as a member of the family
- E. To develop attitudes and skills which help to achieve and maintain fitness in physical, mental, emotional, and social growth

III. MOTIVATING ACTIVITIES

- A. Show filmstrips, films or slides on safety in the home, behavior, or health such as S 194 The House I Live In.
- B. Display models of doll houses, furniture, and stand-up paper dolls representing members of the family.
- C. Provide an area for a playhouse for free play time.
- D. Read a story about family activities.
- E. Display items such as comb, brush, toothbrush, and nail file on the bulletin board.
- F. Display pictures of types of homes and churches in the community.
- G. Display photographs of pupils with members of their families.
- H. Display baby pictures of class members.
- I. Take a field trip around school to look at homes and churches.
- J. Display a mobile of home furniture or types of homes.

- K. On flannel board or magnetic board, depict members of the family with names to identify each.
- L. Direct role playing of the duties of the family members.
- M. Display pictures of children properly clothed for school in the fall, winter, and spring.
- N. Read stories depicting relationship between cleanliness and good health.
- O. Visit the office of the school nurse for vision and hearing check.
- P. Recognize pupils' birthdays.
- Q. Introduce chart of room duties and discuss living together in the classroom.
- R. Discuss duties at home.

Unit III

Foods

UNIT III

FOODS

(Suggested Time: 4 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

The unit on foods provides activities designed to increase the child's knowledge of foods, to establish a routine of good eating habits, and to provide encouragement and practice in good health habits toward the development of a healthy body.

The teacher is urged to modify, supplement, or adjust the activities listed to meet the cultural background of the pupils assigned to the group. The creative teacher can implement most of the activities listed with a minimum amount of equipment and limited classroom resources.

All of the activities are designed to assist the child in improving his physical, social, personal, and vocational competencies.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To develop in the child an understanding of the sources of foods he eats
 1. From the garden, farm, or orchard
 2. From plants, animals, fish, or fowl
- B. To teach the child to recognize and name suitable foods for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or supper
- C. To develop in the child the ability to recognize different fruits, vegetables, and meats
- D. To encourage good eating habits
 1. Minimum daily requirements
 2. Regular eating
 3. Benefits from chewing food well

- E. To give an understanding of the value of milk as a food
- F. To teach the child certain precautions
 - 1. Over-eating or under-eating
 - 2. Eating too many sweets
 - 3. Eating between meals
 - 4. Drinking water or milk with food
- G. To teach the child to prepare and serve simple snacks
- H. To teach the child the importance of proper clean-up after food preparation and service and proper garbage disposal
- I. To develop in the child the ability to perform useful tasks at home such as setting or clearing the table
- J. To give the child an opportunity to develop concepts of time, size, and number
- K. To develop in the child certain sensory skills

III. MOTIVATING ACTIVITIES

- A. Show films about farms, dairies, or food preparation such as K 54 Let's Visit a Poultry Farm, S 168 What Makes Us Grow, or S 193 More Milk.
- B. Show filmstrips about food such as Going Shopping.
- C. Prepare posters showing foods eaten at each meal, including meats, vegetables, fruits, and cereals.
- D. Display farm pictures and books.
- E. Provide puzzles such as 5A "Cow," 12H "Favorite Fruit," 8H "Vegetables."
- F. Display magazines and catalogs at which the children may look and from which they may cut pictures.

- G. Provide boxes to build a grocery using labeled cans that have been opened from the bottom, labeled cartons, and other empty grocery containers.
- H. Use a toy cash register and play or real money.
- I. Take a field trip to a grocery store, farm, or dairy.
- J. Display a picture chart of the minimum daily food requirements.
- K. Make a mobile of a well balanced breakfast.
- L. Play concept records about food such as "Concept Record," Volume II.
- M. Read stories about foods and their sources such as The Carrot Seed by Ruth Kraus or Who Will Milk My Cow by Janet Jackson.
- N. Prepare simple snacks.
- O. Prepare and serve a simple breakfast.
- P. Provide foods for children to handle and taste.
- Q. Make a bulletin board showing a good breakfast, daily food requirements, or a table place setting.
- R. Demonstrate safety and health practices.
1. How to wash the hands correctly
 2. How to brush the teeth properly
 3. How to handle a hot pan and use a stove, hot plate, or electric appliances safely
- S. Teach the children finger plays.
- T. Review and practice the use of words of courtesy and good table manners.

Unit IV Shelter

UNIT IV

SHELTER

(Suggested Time: 5 to 6 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

The unit on shelter is presented to develop in each child an appreciation for and pride in his own home and to increase his awareness of the different types of homes in his community. The unit stresses the learning of the name and function of each room and each piece of furniture in the home.

The vocational competency section includes activities to help increase the child's awareness of the many jobs he might be able to perform.

Before a child can understand and establish his role in society, he must first understand his place in the home. It is, therefore, imperative that each child learns his role in the home and assumes his proper responsibilities there.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To help the child develop an attitude of appreciation for his home
 1. Need for a home
 2. Rooms in the home
 3. Heat in the home
 4. Furniture in the home
 5. Appliances in the home
 6. Pleasures in the home
- B. To help the child develop an awareness of his surroundings

1. Types of houses in his neighborhood
 2. Steps in building a house
 3. Materials used in building a house
 4. People who build a house
 5. People who repair and maintain a house
- C. To help the child understand his role in building harmonious relationships with other members of his family
- D. To help the child develop skills necessary for living and working in the home
- E. To develop health and safety rules necessary in the home

III. MOTIVATIONAL ACTIVITIES

- A. Take the class on a field trip around the neighborhood to observe a building under construction.
- B. Display pictures showing types of shelter--houses, apartments, duplexes, hotels, and motels.
- C. Display a map of the neighborhood with labels on the children's homes or on familiar buildings.
- D. Display miniature houses and furniture.
- E. Show films and filmstrips about shelter or safety in the home such as K 193 I'm No Fool with Fire.
- F. Show transparencies of furniture for each room in the home.
- G. On the flannel board depict the story of The Three Little Pigs to show the different types of houses.
- H. Provide or construct a playhouse for the children to use in pantomiming their home life (the play center could be used).
- I. Display a poster of materials needed in building a house such as nails, bricks, lumber, doorknob, or hinges.

- J. Construct and display a model of the interior of a house.
- K. Read a story about shelter for people and animals (Treasury of Little Golden Books, "Houses").
- L. Provide catalogues and magazines from which the children can cut furniture, homes, clothing, and tools to be pasted in a booklet.
- M. Invite a safety helper to discuss safety rules.
- N. Construct manipulative puzzles to be used for identification and coordination.
- O. Provide a chart for class experiences.
- P. Direct the children in sociodramas.
- Q. Provide sugar cubes for building houses.
- R. Direct the children in producing finger plays.
- S. Display a mobile of homes or furniture.

Unit V Clothing

UNIT V

CLOTHING

(Suggested Time: 5 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

This unit presents material which can be adapted to fulfill the needs of all ages. It stresses the importance of the proper selection and care of clothing and emphasizes correct dress for various occasions and for comfort during the four seasons.

The activities include the areas of physical, social, personal, and vocational competencies suitable for the ages of the children in Level I. Many of the suggested activities should be continued throughout the school year and therefore would be integrated into the other units of work.

II. OBJECTIVES

A. To help the child learn to select suitable clothing for various occasions

1. Sunday or party clothing
2. School clothing
3. Playtime clothing
4. Night wear
5. Underclothing

B. To develop in the child the ability to select seasonal clothing

C. To assist the child in acquiring skills in caring for his clothes

1. Hanging clothes when they are removed
2. Wearing clean clothes

3. Keeping clothes fastened and shoes tied
 4. Ironing simple clothing
 5. Sewing on buttons
- D. To develop the concept of clothing sizes
- E. To improve the child's ability to make choices
1. Selecting basic wardrobe
 2. Selecting suitable color combinations
 3. Selecting clothing to wear to school each morning
- F. To develop in the child pride in his personal grooming

III. MOTIVATING ACTIVITIES

- A. Use Rhythm Records to accompany daily exercises.
- B. Provide a doll which has buttons, snaps, zippers, and other fasteners for the child to manipulate.
- C. Show films, filmstrips, or slides on clothing such as S 1080 George's New Suit or Filmstrip 29D Right Clothes for Health.
- D. Provide samples of material such as cotton, silk, wool, plastic, leather, nylon, rubber, and velvet to help the child differentiate weaves, weights, and textures of materials.
- E. Display charts or posters that show seasonal differences in clothing.
- F. Make a bulletin board displaying pictures or cut outs of clothing suitable for each season.
- G. Take a field trip to a farm to see the sources of materials for clothing.
- H. Take a field trip to a department or clothing store.
- I. Visit the Children's Museum.

- J. Provide sewing cards.
- K. Read or tell stories about types of clothing.
- L. Display examples of all types of clothing using actual garments, pictures, or appropriately dressed dolls.
- M. Display families of paper dolls, commercial or teacher-made.
- N. Display health charts on washing hands, good posture, and cleanliness.
- O. Set up standards for cleanliness.
- P. Provide a shoe shine kit and instruct the children in its proper use.
- Q. Label a display or pictures of clothing.
- R. Make experience charts.
- S. Make labeled picture cards of different articles of clothing.
- T. Display library books on clothing.
- U. Make a bulletin board of "Our Day" with small clocks showing the time of each activity, emphasizing clothing.

Unit VI Travel

UNIT VI

TRAVEL

(Suggested Time: 4 to 5 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

This unit attempts to acquaint the child with the many modes of moving about in his environment. The activities suggested should give each child the opportunity to enhance the skills necessary to travel in the community.

The child needs to become acquainted with the people who operate public conveyances and to develop an appreciation for the services they render. This unit provides the opportunity for the child to develop desirable social relationships. He will also develop respect for personal and private property such as automobiles, parking meters, street lights, buses, street signs, and streets. The activities stress the need for taking certain health and safety precautions when traveling.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To provide the children the opportunity to learn the different modes of travel that are available in their community
- B. To teach determination of the starting point of a trip or a walk
- C. To help the children understand the relationship between safety and travel
- D. To teach behavior while making a trip
- E. To help the child develop the skills necessary for travel
- F. To develop in the child proper attitudes toward people who operate public vehicles
- G. To develop an interest in the environment
- H. To develop proper safety skills and habits when using skates and bicycles and when riding or walking in the neighborhood or community

- I. To foster a sense of responsibility and appreciation for the importance of parking meters, streets, street lights, signs, traffic lights, and other travel aids
- J. To help the children acquire a knowledge of some of the traffic laws

III. MOTIVATIONAL MATERIALS

- A. Display pictures of familiar places in the neighborhood or community.
- B. Display reproductions of street signs and traffic signs.
- C. Take a field trip to a shopping district or park near the school.
- D. Display a simple map of the neighborhood showing the school and nearby places of interest.
- E. Take a ride on a city bus.
- F. Show the film, S 201 The Bus Driver.
- G. Discuss coming to school in a taxi or the family automobile.
- H. Show pictures depicting policemen directing traffic.
- I. Read a story about a family traveling together in a car.
- J. Show pictures and posters of people on trains, airplanes, bicycles, or other conveyances.
- K. Display books about transportation and travel.
- L. Display small replicas of different types of transportation on a mobile.
- M. Play records about travel on airplanes, boats, or trains (Activity 3 in Pathways to Phonics Skills).
- N. Show filmstrips and films about travel and safety rules such as Walt Disney's "I'm No Fool," S 71 Airplane Trip, and 7640 Safety Helper.
- O. Have children work puzzles using an airplane, train, or other mode of travel (Judy puzzle of airplane, #360-10 Garage-Playschool).

- P. Take children to a department store and let them use the escalators in the store.
- Q. Make a diorama using modes of travel.
- R. Make a clothesline exhibit of travel pictures.
- S. Prepare a tape recording on travel.

Unit VII Recreation and Leisure

UNIT VII

RECREATION AND LEISURE

(Suggested Time: 4 to 5 Weeks)

I. INTRODUCTION

Worthy use of leisure time has been a goal of education for more than half a century and is still important today, since each year people have more leisure. The four-day work week will be a reality in the near future. Recognizing the importance of this goal, this unit attempts to provide a better understanding of how the child, his family, and his friends can fill their leisure hours with worthwhile, enjoyable activities.

This unit stresses improved attitudes toward leisure and toward others with whom the child will come in contact during recreation. The child needs to know different games and activities appropriate for home, school, and community; this unit affords him the opportunity for such growth.

Through better use of leisure the child will gain a greater appreciation for home and family and the possibilities for enjoyment in the home environment.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To develop understanding of how each child can have fun alone and with his family and friends
- B. To develop proper attitudes and habits in using leisure time wisely
- C. To develop appreciation for home and for its possibilities in providing enjoyment and pleasure
- D. To develop consideration for friends and other members of the family while engaging in recreational activities
- E. To develop a knowledge of various games and activities for different types of weather at home and in the community
- F. To develop a knowledge of the places in the neighborhood available for leisure and recreation
- G. To acquire a proper sense of responsibility for recreational facilities

- H. To assist the child in developing friends who may contribute to his sense of well being
- I. To develop the skills necessary for leisure and recreational activities and games

III. MOTIVATIONAL ACTIVITIES

- A. Bring pictures of families, children, or men and women having fun at home or in the community.
- B. Show a film or filmstrip relating to recreation or leisure time activities.
- C. Play records for rhythm, games, singing, or listening.
- D. Provide magazines from which the pupils can cut pictures to be placed in a booklet.
- E. Provide newspapers in which are mentioned places in the community where one can have enjoyment.
- F. Take a field trip to a place used for leisure such as a park (slides, swings, tennis court), museum, botanical gardens, swimming pool, recreation center, zoo, theater, or road side park (picnic area).
- G. Have children assist in making posters depicting recreational activities appropriate for different types of weather.
- H. Make a colorful bulletin board with pictures of the children doing recreational or leisure activities.
- I. Make a diorama of a park with its equipment.
- J. Let the children record on tape what each enjoys doing at home on the weekend.
- K. Provide an aquarium or a pet for which the children can be responsible.
- L. Use experience charts to record experiences of the class.
- M. Make puppets and illustrate children having fun.

Unit VIII The Seasons

UNIT VIII

THE SEASONS

(Suggested Time: Use periodically with change of seasons)

I. INTRODUCTION

This unit on seasonal activities is designed for use throughout the entire school year. It stresses the importance of the four seasons, beginning with the fall season and progressing through winter, spring, and summer. It gives consideration to the observance of important national holidays. Birthdays of famous men in history, such as Washington and Lincoln, are also recognized. The birthdays of the children in the class can also be celebrated with simple class parties.

II. OBJECTIVES

- A. To acquaint the child with the concept of seasons
- B. To develop a knowledge of how seasonal changes affect the environment
- C. To help the child understand the effect of seasonal changes on his activities
- D. To develop an understanding of patriotic observances, practices, and customs in the community
- E. To assist the child in learning his birthday and the importance of knowing it
- F. To develop in the child the ability to entertain himself at home and during vacation periods
- G. To develop an altruistic attitude in the child
- H. To assist the child in understanding the importance of health and safety
- I. To help the child develop an attitude of acceptance toward persons of all races and creeds
- J. To assist the child in becoming a good citizen in his home, school, and community

III. MOTIVATING ACTIVITIES

- A. Show films and filmstrips about the seasons, holidays, and patriotic observances such as, S 43 Autumn on the Farm, K 144 Winter on the Farm, and S 994 The Calendar: Days, Weeks, and Months.
- B. Display charts and pictures showing seasonal changes.
- C. Make a weekly or monthly bulletin board illustrating special events, holidays, fire prevention, bicycle safety, kite safety, dental week, and others.
- D. Use records that relate to seasons and holidays such as Concept Records, Volumes I, II, and III.
- E. Teach the children seasonal and holiday songs.
- F. Provide stimulating art materials such as colored paper, scissors, paste, clay, and tempera paint.
- G. Make tape recordings of the children's voices.
- H. Provide puzzles and games.
- I. Teach children action games using balls, jump ropes, rubber horse shoes, etc.
- J. Provide seasonal objects for children to touch, taste, and smell such as pumpkins, Christmas trees, eggs, fruits, or nuts.
- K. Recognize children's birthdays.
- L. Provide picture books about the seasons and holidays.
- M. Read holiday stories.
- N. Provide supplies for holiday snacks.
- O. Plan holiday parties.

PARENTS' PERMISSION FOR FIELD TRIPS

Special Education Class
 School _____
 _____, 19____

_____ has my permission to go on all field trips

 (Name of child)
 and/or short excursions at any time during the school year that the teacher may deem necessary for concrete experiences. These trips will be well-planned and all precautions will be taken to prevent any accident. I understand, however, that neither the _____ School nor the _____ School District can assume responsibility for any accident involving my child while on the excursion.

 (Parent's Signature)

It is wise to secure permission from the parents for such outings and field trips. The most feasible way is to ask the parent to grant a blanket permission for all such excursions to be made during the year. This suggested form may be used.
