This unit guide, second in a series of seven, is designed to provide eighth-grade teachers with materials for reading and study skills instruction while developing the facts, attitudes, and concepts of social studies. Information about the European colonies in the New World and America's struggle for independence is found in two texts, "This Is America's Story," for use with average groups, and "Exploring American History," for use with modified classes. Each chapter of materials contains exercises dealing with general vocabulary building, specific social studies vocabulary, terms dealing with people, places, and things, and tests for these words. Other exercises deal with note taking, recall, and prereading skills such as use of the introduction, subchapter and chapter headings, and pictures. Combined questions applicable to both textbooks are also provided. (JB)

This guide extends to our newly-adopted eighth-grade social studies texts the district's well-known program of developmental reading in the content areas. In publishing this guide, the district re-affirms its belief in the value of developmental reading for secondary school pupils.

This volume represents the cooperative efforts of many people of special talents whose contributions are acknowledged with appreciation.

USE OF THE GUIDE

These reading exercises are for the Grade 8 Social Studies program.

The Units are arranged according to chapters in the two texts, Wilder and Ludlum, This is America's Story and Schwartz and O'Connor, Exploring American History.

A reading lesson has been prepared for each chapter in Exploring American History. To correspond with these, a similar unit has been prepared for This is America's Story.

At the conclusion of This is America's Story, you will find a review question that can be used for both texts.

Unit Themes

- Unit I Discovery and Exploration and European Colonics in the New World
- Unit II Colonial Struggle for Independence
- Unit III How Our Nation Is Governed
- Unit IV Growth of the New Nation and the Westward Expansion
- Unit V Civil War and Sectionalism
- Unit VI Rise of Industry and Agriculture
- Unit VII U.S. Becomes a World Leader

Each of these seven units embraces several chapters of each of our two texts. The chart furnished as an appendix gives the details of this breakdown into units.

This series is based on three assumptions:

1. Teachers can not take for granted that pupils in junior high school are fully trained for the reading tasks they will encounter.
2. Secondary school pupils need continuing and sequential developmental reading instruction.
3. The subject area teacher is the one best qualified to implement reading and study skills in the various content areas.

The purpose of this volume is to provide eighth-grade social studies teachers with the material necessary for achieving the dual objectives of providing reading and study skills instruction while developing the facts, attitudes and concepts of social studies.

1. NATURE OF THE MATERIAL: all the pages in this volume are addressed directly to the pupil (except, of course, for these few prefatory remarks), and all can be requisitioned in any quantity desired.
2. ORDERING MATERIALS: Material should be requisitioned through your department chairman, who in turn, will order it from the I.M.C. Order all the material for an entire chapter at one time. Allow two weeks for delivery.
3. FORMAT: This material follows a consistent format. It is arranged by topics, and within each topic, it is arranged according to the two texts: materials relating to the Wilder book for average classes, and the Schwartz-O'Connor book for modified classes. The chapters from Wilder will appear first and the chapter from Schwartz-O'Connor in the second half of each book. Combined questions applicable to both books are placed at the end of Wilder.

WILDER, UNIT II CHAPTER 7 HOW WERE THE ENGLISH COLONIES GOVERNED?

WORDS USED IN CONTEXT

1. The viceroys were appointed by the king to rule a certain area. A viceroys in many ways is like an assistant king.
2. Rights were not guaranteed. A person had to petition the king. The king might grant the petition or refuse it.
3. It often took an indentured servant years to gain his freedom. While a person was indentured he was not much better than a slave.
4. The English Navigation Acts controlled shipping to and from the colonies. The colonies hated the Navigation Acts.

FROM THE SURVEY

- I. Chapter 7 - From the title of Chapter 7, "How Were the English Colonists Governed?" we can assume that the chapter deals with:
- A. The governing system of the English in Colonial America.
 - B. The governing system of the English Colonies in the South.
 - C. How the English Colonies in Canada, Europe and North America were governed.
 - D. The English Colonies were happy about the way they were governed.
 - E. English Colonists had no system of government.
 - F. The Magna Carta is the basis of English rule.

Directions: Mark each answer choice above:

- Det - if too detailed
- Spec - if too specific
- Genl - if too general
- Irrel - if it's irrelevant
- False - if not correct (all or part)
- Best - if it's the best answer

I. Based on the reading of pages 136-139, match the statements in column II with the terms in column I.

Column I	Column II
  1. Magna Carta	a. Body of English lawmakers
  2. Petition of Right	b. Group of nobles and Church officers which had to be consulted by the king
  3. Parliament	c. Said that nobles and "freemen" must be judged by a jury.
  4. Great Council	d. Said that Englishmen should not be taxed without the consent of Parliament
  5. Bill of Rights	e. Broadens the rights given to Englishmen in 1215.

WILDER , UNIT II, CHAPTER 7 HOW WERE THE ENGLISH COLONIES GOVERNED?

MAP STUDY

On Page 145 there is a map showing how the Navigation Acts regulated trade. See how well you can interpret the map by answer the following questions:

- I a) What types of products had to be funneled to England? _____
b) What name could we give to these types of goods? _____
- II How did England enforce the regulation of trade? _____
- III How did England profit by the regulation of trade? _____
- IV Why were goods from the rest of the world more expensive than English goods in the colonies? _____
- V What name can we give to the types of products England traded to the Colonies? _____

II. Circle the numbers representing the rights the English Colonists did NOT have in the New World.

1. Trial by jury
2. Right to criticize government
3. Right to own land
4. Right to vote
5. Right to local government
6. Freedom of religion
7. Freedom to regulate trade
8. Representation in Parliament

Interpretation - Answer true or false

Based on the chart found on page 140 of your text, tell whether the following are true or false.

1. All colonies were governed alike.
2. In Rhode Island the governor was appointed.
3. In New York the governor was appointed.
4. The proprietors in Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania appointed the governor.

Based on the chart on page 141 (lower left), why do you think the king allowed a two-house legislature in the colonies?

Question for Discussion (Use textbook to illustrate answers.)

Why do you think democracy grew more rapidly in New England than in the South?

WILDER, UNIT II, CHAPTER 8: THE COLONISTS RESIST ENGLISH CONTROL

WORDS USED IN CONTEXT

1. The Prime Minister of England is the most important man in their government.
2. The repeal of the Stamp Act overjoyed the colonists.
3. The colonies were defiant in their attitude toward the Intolerable Acts.
4. The legislature is responsible for making the laws.
5. At Concord, Massachussets, 16 Minutemen used various actions to thwart the British and strengthen their position.
6. An unruly mob was partially responsible for the violent action witnessed at the Boston Massacre.
7. People living in the frontier represented the hope of the new nation.
8. The colonists were distressed because they had to maintain British soldiers.
9. The people made a formal protest against "taxation without representation."
10. ~~The~~ Second Continental Congress worked efficiently during the distressed times that followed the outbreak of the war.

QUESTIONS FROM THE CHAPTER

From the Survey (Skill:SQ3R)

I. A. From the title of Chapter 8, The American Colonists Resist Strict Control by England, we can assume that the chapter deals with:

- A. The colonists rebel against "taxation without representation."
- B. Colonists take action against restrictions put on them by England.
- C. England closes the frontier to American settlement.
- D. England punishes the colonists for their resistance.
- E. The Boston Tea Party leads to the American Revolution.
- F. France's role in helping the American colonies.

Mark each answer choice above:

- Det - if too detailed
- Spec - if too specific
- Genl - if too general
- Irrel- if it's irrelevant
- False- if not correct at all
- Best - if it's the best answer

B. A quick pre-reading of the chapter introduction, the sub-chapter and chapter check-ups, as well as the pictures, maps, charts and graphs, reveals that this chapter deals with all the following except:

- A. Acts leading to the Revolutionary War
- B. Colonists resist strict control
- C. Britain attempts to close the frontier.
- D. Canada sides with England
- E. Benjamin Franklin
- F. Boston Massacre
- G. First Continental Congress
- H. "A shot is heard around the world"
- I. Abraham Lincoln becomes revolutionary leader

II. Study the picture on page 160; from where do you think the backbone of the Continental Army came? Explain. _____

QUESTIONS ON THE CHAPTER

1. p.149 Why would this flag be representative of the colonial view? _____

2. p.149 What are the pictures of the printer, newsboy and colonial housewife telling us about the importance of communication? _____

3. According to the cartoons on the top of pages 150 and 151, why do you think the British wished to close the frontiers? _____

4. The title of the time line on page 151 does not seem to match the illustration well. Do you agree? Give your reasons. _____

5. According to the map study on p.152, what dangers would the colonists face if they crossed the Proclamation Line of 1763? _____

6. p.153 Could a cartoon of a similar nature appear in a newspaper today? Explain. _____

7. What contributions of Benjamin Franklin are depicted in these pictures on page 154? _____

8. Why do you think the "Boston Massacre" appears as a separate item in the center of the chart on page 156? _____

9. Do you think the artist had any purpose in having the participants smiling and laughing in the picture which appears on page 153? Explain. _____

10. Is it possible that the English cartoonist who drew this picture on page 159 was sympathetic to the colonists? Explain. _____

If you were an Englishman you might say that the colonists were guilty of treason. Give at least three reasons to justify the English point of view and three answers the colonists might give to defend themselves. Be prepared to verify from your text the words, phrases, or sentences upon which you have based these views.

NOTES:

WILDER, UNIT II, CHAPTER 9: THE THIRTEEN ENGLISH COLONIES WIN THEIR INDEPENDENCE

WORDS USED IN CONTEXT

The patriots embarked on their expedition.

The colonists listed their grievances as their hopes grew dimmer.

The colonial regulars turned back the British redcoats.

The delegates met at the Second Continental Congress.

The Americans converted their merchant ships into men-of-war to go along with their "privateers."

It is a rare occasion when armies do not yield to superior forces.

Many Americans had to endure unusual hardships in the struggle for independence.

QUESTIONS ON THE CHAPTER

I Survey

Chapter 9 answers three basic questions. What is the second question this chapter deals with?

1. Why did the Thirteen Colonies decide to declare their independence?
2. _____

3. How did the Thirteen Colonies win their independence?

WILDER, UNIT II, CHAPTER 9: THE THIRTEEN ENGLISH COLONIES WIN THEIR INDEPENDENCE

QUESTIONS ON THE CHAPTER

II. Main idea - Supporting details

A. The first main idea to be dealt with in this chapter, may be called -the thirteen colonies decide to Declare their Independence. If you think of this statement as the rim of a wagon wheel it will help you to find the supporting details or the sequence of important events. They can be represented as the spokes. (See below)

III. Generalizations

Study the following generalizations carefully and decide if they are valid. If you feel they are not, underline the word or phrase with which you disagree. Explain your reason for disagreement.

1. Revolutions once started eventually are always successful. _____

2. Success in early battles is almost a gurantee of success in the out come of the war. _____

3. An honorable cause will always win wide backing. _____

4. Morale is a most important factor in war. _____

5. Mercenary soldiers can never be trusted. _____

6. A disheartened leader will always be open to traitorous action. _____

7. Revolutionary activity based on ideas can never be completely stamped out. _____

8. All of the following are absolutely necessary for the success of a revolutionary movement: morale, location, supply, disciplined army, honorable cause, good leadership, allies, money, basic strategy, superior numbers. _____

9. A common enemy will help to unify opposing forces. _____

10. Successful revolutions bring on great peace-time problems. _____

IV. Critical Reading (Pre-read the first paragraph on p.169 before answering the following.)

- A. Why do you think Thomas Paine called his pamphlet "Common Sense"?
- B. Why would Paine have difficulty convincing the colonists that "separation" was common sense?

WILDER, UNIT II, CHAPTERS 7-9: COMBINED QUESTIONS

Critical Reading

Examine the following extracts from Patrick Henry's speech before the the Virginia House of Burgesses and answer the questions below based on your reading.

"There is no longer any room for hope. If we wish to be free... we must fight! I repeat it, sir, we must fight! ...Gentlemen may cry peace, peace - but there is no peace. The war has already begun! ...Why stand we here idle? What is it that gentlemen wish? What would they have? Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains, and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take; but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

1. Is Patrick Henry expressing facts or opinions here? Point to a line or lines in the speech to prove your answer. _____

2. Why do you think there are so many exclamation marks (!) in this speech? _____

3. Why do you think Patrick Henry referred to "Almighty God!" in his speech? _____

4. What is Patrick Henry urging others to do when he says, "...but as for me, give me liberty or give me death."?

5. Which of the following best describes this speech? Give reasons for your choice.

- a. calm and logical
- c. excited and selfish

- b. excited and persuasive
- d. a call for peace

SCHWARTZ-O'CONNOR, UNIT II, CHAPTER 6: FREEDOM GROWS IN THE ENGLISH COLONIES

WORDS TO LEARN

Many people criticize the government of the United States, especially when they think an injustice has been done. By their anger, they are proving that we live in a democratic country where we are free to talk and criticize what we do not like. The government of the United States does not limit any freedom; in fact it enforces laws which keep us free. Everyone is entitled to a trial even when their guilt is clear.

The people of the United States are self-governing. We vote for representatives who go to Congress to make laws. Each community elects men to go to the lower house of Congress. These men receive a salary for their work. These men are elected according to our national constitution. These men see that we are free to worship, and that laws which require toleration of others are kept. Only the President can veto these laws, if he does not think they are good for all the people.

NOTES ON THE READING

AIM: To Learn About the Kind of Government that Developed in the English Colonies.

QUESTIONS

ANSWERS

1. What is the name of the document that first gave the English nobles a share in the government?

2. What was the House of Burgesses?

- _____ 7. In a self-governing colony, the governor was elected by the citizens of the colony. _____

- _____ 8. The colonies were entirely democratic. _____

- _____ 9. Indentured servants could vote, but Negro slaves could not. _____

- _____ 10. The French and Spanish colonies were as democratic as the British colonies. _____

WORDS TO LEARN

In the settlement in New France, naturally French was spoken. The landlords were called seigneurs and the farmers were called "habitants", very much like our word inhabitant, which means "someone who lives in a particular place." The farmers were the only permanent settlers. They found the territory in this vast wilderness to be very fertile. They established farms while the missionary priests established schools and churches.

However, it was the fur trader who made a great deal of money. These men not only trapped animals themselves, but they adopted the custom of trading with the Indians and often returned from a visit with their Indian friends laden with furs.

NOTES ON THE READING

AIM: To Learn How the People Lived in the Colony of New France.

Questions

Answers

1. What was the first permanent French settlement in America?

2. Why did the French send Missionaries?

3. Who ruled the French colonies for the King?

4. How did the farmers pay the seigneurs?

5. Describe a farm in New France.

6. Of what were homes built?

7. Who started the schools in New France?

8. What was the major interest of the settlers?

9. Which explorers gave France a basis for her claims to Louisiana?

10. How did New France compare to its neighboring English colonies?

SCHWARTZ-O'CONNOR, UNIT II, CHAPTER 8: THE FRENCH AND ENGLISH FIGHT TO CONTROL NORTH AMERICA

WORDS TO LEARN

The cowboy suggested to his partner that they retreat to the well-protected and fortified fort where they could better defend themselves. Shane refused this advice because he realized that this would be running away. He was no coward. As the enemy approached and got nearer and nearer the cowboys started to sweat. Ten to two were poor odds. How had they gotten involved in this?

"Here they come, Shane," he said.

SCHWARTZ-O'CONNOR, UNIT II, CHAPTER 9: ENGLAND TIGHTENS ITS GRIP ON THE COLONIES.

WORDS TO LEARN

After the French and Indian War, England had a large debt. England wanted the colonies to help pay the debt. In order to avoid further trouble with the Indians and to raise money, the British issued the Proclamation of 1763. The Proclamation said that the fur traders had to have a license to trade with the Indians. The colonies refused to pay the tax because they had no representation in the British Parliament. Other trade laws were passed. The colonists had to send certain products to England before they could be sold to other countries. England did not enforce these laws for many years. When the British tried to enforce them, there was bound to be trouble.

WORDS TO LEARN

Both sides had their advantages during the Revolutionary War. The British found they would not have an easy time fighting their former colonics. The British had a strong navy so they could blockade American ports. The British were very well-equipped. They had factories which were capable of making ammunition. Both sides had faith in their leaders, but the colonists were fighting for the territory in which they lived. The colonists were at a disadvantage because they could not raise much money by taxation. The guns used by the Americans were accurate and they were able to handle them well in the wilderness. The Second Continental Congress made preparations for the war and chose a commander. Most Americans were very patriotic and willing to fight against their foreign enemies.

WORDS TO LEARN

During the war the fighting shifted from place to place. Both sides were forced to retreat many times but neither wanted to surrender. The English tried to surround the Americans in many areas. Noblemen fought side by side with farmers in defense of their country. The engineers tried to make conditions as comfortable as possible but this was difficult. In many cases there was desertion and men tried to retreat to the rear. Acts of bravery were seen everywhere but neither side could afford to lose men. Requests were made to have the men drill often so they could perform their duties better.

Comparing and Contrasting

Below is a short story. Read it carefully and try to answer the questions below.

Ted Backus left his cabin one day with his long rifle loaded. He was hungry and looking for just one rabbit for dinner. While wandering through the woods he met first one neighbor then another, till there were thirteen, all told. Each was looking for just one rabbit for dinner. Ted suggested that they join together. He said, "Some of you men go way off on that side of the woods and make a lot of noise that will scare the rabbits out in our direction. A group of us will be waiting with guns loaded and we will share the rabbits with you."

Working together wasn't easy; there were bound to be some problems. But in all the firing no one could stop to think about that

Wow! Were they successful! Each one got his rabbit. "Boy, that was a great idea!" remarked one neighbor. "We could never have been so successful working alone," said another. "Gee, Ted, who's going to decide who should get the larger rabbits and who the smaller ones?" "Let's form a committee," said Ted. "OK, let's elect a committee." A committee was formed and worked out so well, that it wasn't long before the idea spread far and wide.
