Identifiers-*Appalachia

Socioeconomic and demographic indicators for the Appalachian regional area are compared in this report with similar indicators for the total United States. The Appalachian region is defined as including parts of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. Comparisons between Appalachia and the United States as a whole include population by sex and by place, distribution of families by income, educational levels, labor force and employment status, and economic and business factors. Statistical data in these areas is provided individually for the Appalachian portion of the states listed above. (EV)
