PROGRAM TITLE: Manpower Development and Training Act (as amended)

Nature and Purpose of Programs:

The MDTA is administered jointly by the Secretary of Labor and the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, each with certain areas of responsibility. The Secretary of Labor is responsible for identifying the need for training; for recruiting, selecting and referring persons to training; for determining eligibility for the payment of allowances and other trainee benefits; for placement upon termination of training; and for the payment of allowances and other program costs. The Secretary of Labor is also responsible for manpower evaluation; information, and research; job development programs; experimental and demonstration projects; and on-the-job training.

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare arranges for provision of facilities, teachers, curricula and training materials needed for institutional training programs in classrooms, laboratories, and shops. This training includes preemployment instruction and skill training.

The Department of Labor and Department of Health, Education and Welfare enter into agreements with appropriate State Agencies to provide facilities and services to implement the training programs. Most Department of Labor services are provided by its affiliated State and local Employment Security Offices and by Federal and State apprenticeship agencies. State Vocational Education agencies provide facilities and services for the DHEW.

Each Department has the authority to contract with private organizations under certain circumstances in order to carry out the purpose of the act.

The Labor Department has a contract with Social Development Corporation for the administration of the DOL portion of the act.

While these funds were intended to be used only for training directly related to the job performed, S.D.C. did not discourage the inclusion of some remediation in the training program when necessary.

Activity to Date:

New Careers has been involved with both the Cleveland and Atlanta Neighborhood Health Centers. They had a successful operation in Cleveland and just finished training five dental assistants in Atlanta. They also plan to train 42 Community Health Assistants in Atlanta starting very soon.

PROGRAM TITLE: Vocational and Technical Education Act

Nature and Purpose of Program:

This program of aid for vocational and technical education, administered mainly through grants to state boards of vocational education, supports any occupational training leading to gainful employment which requires less than a bachelor's degree and which is given under public supervision or control or under contract with a state board or local education agency.

The vocational education program became a major source of funds for training for health occupations following enactment of Title II of the George-Barden Act of 1956. This title provided aid for training in practical nursing and other health occupations. Included in these have been medical office assistants, medical laboratory assistants, and dental assistants. Training programs for such groups as operating room assistants, dental technicians, occupational and physical therapy assistants and x-ray technicians also receive support.

Activity to date:

Neighborhood Health Centers have not used this source to date.

Remarks:

The states have established a staff of health occupation specialists who supervise and coordinate the program statewide. It is probably best in most instances to start at the local board of education. Money is allocated on a formula basis to the states.

PROGRAM TITLE: W.I.N.

Nature and Purpose of Program:

W.I.N. is a manpower development program, authorized by the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Act. Its purpose is to make available permanent jobs to welfare recipients. The enrollees receive orientation, counseling, testing, day care, work-experience or internship, institutional or on the job training, education, job development and placement counseling and certain health and social services. Enrollees in the program receive incentive payments while receiving on-the-job training and also while just starting out on the job.

Remarks:

All states must enter the work incentive program by July 1, 1969. This means that many of the workers at our centers are eligible and should utilize this program. Eighty percent of the cost of this program is paid by the federal government.

PROGRAM TITLE: Neighborhood Youth CorpsNature and Purpose of the Program:

This program is designed to help youths remain in, or return to, school; gain useful work experience; earn an income; and develop potential through specific training and career-related activities.

The in-school program is basically a work program supported by counseling, and most of the funds are used to pay enrollee wages. The enrollees work an average of 11 hours per week in the areas near their schools.

The summer program gives the enrollees a chance to earn money and to make a contribution to their communities. There is little counseling or remedial education.

The out-of-school N.Y.C. program serves those who have already dropped out of school and who are unemployed. Thirty percent of the out-of-school enrollees receive some type of remedial education. Out-of-school enrollment is limited to 2 years. There has been a 50 percent success termination since the program began.

Activity to Date:

N.Y.C. persons are reported to have been employed in a number of N.H.C. programs.

Remarks:

All states must enter the work incentive program by July 1, 1969. This means that many of the workers at our centers are eligible and should utilize this program. Eighty percent of the cost of this program is paid by the federal government.

PROGRAM TITLE: Demonstration Projects in Public Assistance (DHEW)Nature and Purpose of Program:

This program provides opportunities for federal and state public welfare departments to promote the objectives of public welfare through development of a wide variety of demonstration, pilot, and experimental projects. Demonstrations may involve innovations in public welfare administration, service to families, or training of staff. Projects must encompass new and original methods and techniques for the state agency, and offer promise of being incorporated into the agency's regular program upon completion of the initial period.

Activity to Date:

There have been few links between NHC's and the Social and Rehabilitation Service, primarily over Title XIX matters.

Remarks:

This appears a good prospect for funds. Under the terms of the act, training and services form a vital part and the demonstration side of the NHC's could be used to fulfill criteria for funding.
