ABSTRACT

The guide outlines an interdisciplinary seventh grade course on urban studies focusing on the city of Bethlehem and the Lehigh Valley in Pennsylvania. By comparing the city of Bethlehem with other urban centers in the nation the student gains an understanding of the following: 1) the development of urban centers; 2) the increasing role played by cities in national life; 3) problems faced in urban areas and how they might be solved; 4) the life of the people who reside in cities; 5) the rights and values of others. Suggested teaching strategies include questioning techniques, classroom discussion, surveys, research, field trips, role playing, games and creative writing. Language arts teachers work closely with social studies teachers in a team teaching effort: oral and written communication skills are taught within the context of realistic situations provided by the social studies. The guide consists of the following five units: 1) Social/Mass Media; 2) Economic/Short Story and Novel; 3) Government/Drama; 4) Physical Structures/Poetry; and 5) A Vision of the Future. An overview, concepts to be taught, objectives, social studies and language arts resource materials, names of local resource people, teaching strategies, and individual and small group activities are provided for each unit. FOREWORD

You can get to the top of an oak tree two ways--by sitting on an acorn or by climbing. In the case of Urban Studies, a lot of people chose to climb.

We acknowledge gratefully those teachers, principals, and coordinators who contributed so much in the development and implementation of this course. We owe a great deal to the seventh graders of 1972-1973 and to their parents for helping us in debugging the program and for their charitable attitudes toward our minor errors.

With deep gratitude we dedicate this Guide to all the climbers who made it possible.

PREFACE

There is a bit of the Roman god Janus in all of us. We live today but look back and forward as we try to understand the present. To help the adolescent acquire these most difficult perspectives should be a primary thrust of the junior high curriculum.

The creative skill and the innovative daring of the writing team and the language arts and social studies teachers at the four junior high schools have provided this opportunity to students of seventh grade. As the adults have reached out to include all dimensions of the human experience in this curriculum, they have opened a window to the past and the door to the future for the emerging adults with whom they shared a year of learning.

Again the principals, the coordinators and the teachers of the Bethlehem Area School District have demonstrated what a tremendous drive there is to do better what we have done well in the past.

INTRODUCTION

This seventh grade course represents an effort to blend the insights and content of several branches of social studies - history, geography, anthropology, sociology, political science, and economics in an introductory study of the urban scene with a focus on Bethlehem and the Lehigh Valley. A further interdisciplinary element is added by combining the teacher of language arts in a team situation. Through the knowledge and expertise of a skilled language arts teacher, students' oral and written communication skills are assessed and appropriate instruction provided. The mechanics of language are introduced when and as they are needed to facilitate the transmission of ideas. The goal of the language arts curriculum is to provide the arts and skills of communication within the context of realistic situations provided by the social studies. This functional approach to language arts instruction is most effectively accomplished through the team approach. Activities related to music and art are introduced into the various units of the course wherever they seemed natural and would add interest to round out the total picture.

The curriculum guide which follows is just that, a guide to be used in a flexible manner and not slavishly followed. It is the result of the creative efforts of a team of seventh grade social studies, language arts, music, art teachers, and curriculum coordinators. We are grateful for the direction and advice received from Pennsylvania Department of Education Subject Matter Advisors and outside consultants.

The course seeks to balance both content and process, with emphasis upon the latter. It is hoped that while dealing with the concepts drawn from the social sciences and language arts, the students will sharpen such important skills as reading, writing, critical thinking, problem solving, oral presentation, discussion, and the techniques of research. It is important that the student understand the development of urban centers, the increasing role played by cities in national life, problems faced in urban areas today and how they might be solved, and the life of the people who reside in our cities. It is of prime importance that the student grow in the realization of his own identity and in respect for the rights and values of others.

The course in Urban Studies is divided rather arbitrarily into five units - Social/Mass Media, Economic/Short Story and Novel, Government/Drama, Physical Structures/Poetry and A Vision of the Future. Teachers will recognize at once that there is a considerable amount of overlapping. It was unavoidable, and we feel proper, that many concepts, processes, and even suggested activities occur in several of the units. As the course progresses, it may be that different groups of students will become engaged in similar activities within several units, or utilize the same concepts and processes again and again but with a different emphasis or approach. The time sequences suggested for each unit are just that, suggestions. However, every effort should be made to coordinate the specific unit with the designated field trip for that unit so that the learning situation is achieved.

It is recommended that all junior high schools begin the course with the Social Unit and end together with A Vision of the Future. For purposes of sharing limited materials, two schools will work together on the remaining three units according to a schedule supplied by the District Curriculum Center.

The following is a series of points which the writing team felt would assist individual teachers in the use of the guide and the conduct of the course:

1. Each unit is divided into several sub-units. A list of social studies resources and materials follows each sub-unit, while a list of language arts resources and materials follows each total unit. Related music and art resources and materials can be found on the lists of social studies resources and materials after each sub-unit. A collection of various games, reprints, etc., related to the individual units is contained in a separate loose-leaf binder entitled Supplementary Ideas and Resources (SIR).
2. Each sub-unit is introduced with an overview and general objectives in both social studies and language arts. The language arts objectives are subdivided to include literature and a listing of the functional skills. Principal concepts and processes to be developed are also listed.
Each sub-unit contains a number of performance objectives which students are expected to achieve compatible with their individual abilities. These objectives are matched with numbered teaching strategies which should lead to the attainment of the performance objectives. These strategies are divided across the pages into total class, small group, and individual. It is highly possible that a teacher will find some of these strategies interchangeable. That is, a suggested small group activity may very well prove more appropriate as a total class or individual activity or vice versa. Teachers are encouraged to experiment for maximum effectiveness.
3. Teachers are urged to make use of the Teacher Notes column, evaluating the various strategies used and noting new ideas tried and additional resources located. This is essential to the success of team meetings and possible future revision.
4. Planning is the basic ingredient of this curriculum. The more thorough the planning by team members and with members of other teams, the greater will be the possibility of achieving a good learning situation with less frustrations for the teachers. Whenever possible, it will be advantageous to include the reading teacher, music and art teachers, librarian, guidance counselor, department chairman, assistant principal, principal, and/or curriculum coordinator in team planning sessions. Teachers will find several opportunities where consultation and coordination with mathematics, science, industrial arts, and home economic teachers will be helpful. The sharing of materials, scheduling of field trips and resource speakers, and possible exchange of teaching stations will all require thorough team planning in a spirit of cooperation. The good-natured and purposeful sharing of materials and teaching stations by teachers can be a worthwhile learning experience for the students within their classes.
5. Since certain basic skills such as conducting an interview, individual contributions and cooperative behavior in small group work, etc., are practiced throughout the course, it would be well to conduct early orientation for students in these techniques. In fact, the Social unit begins the year's work with a sub-unit on Group Dynamics which attempts to accomplish this very important goal.

6. A Vision of the Future was planned as a culminating unit, but since this idea should be developing during the progress of the course, students ought to be informed of this final goal at the beginning of the year. They can then identify certain projects or topics which hold significant interest for them and collect data and resources for the final unit. During the year the students might undertake individual reports or several students might cooperate in group projects which cannot be completed at the conclusion of that particular learning unit (i.e., topics such as The Development of a Cultural Arts Center; Downtown Redevelopment; Architectural Design in Housing, Bridges, Public Buildings; New Trends in Recreation; Transportation in the Lehigh Valley - Past, Present and Future). These could be ticketed for completion during the final unit.
7. Teachers should be aware of the possibility of combining individual students into "interest groups" to gather information throughout the year and to plan for a group presentation to the entire class, to several classes, or to the seventh grade in another junior high school during the Vision of the Future.
8. There is no single text in language arts and while a text is being used in social studies, it is only referred to at intervals. Greatest reliance should be made on the idea of using a variety of materials - supplementary readings, audio-visual materials, handouts from the multimedia kits, and simulation games.
8. It would be well to suggest to students at the inception of the course that a notebook of major ideas and conclusions, definitions, examples, summaries of projects and reports be kept as a record of each unit for further reference. However, a traditional notebook filled with copious facts is discouraged.
9. The teacher's evaluative system should be explained to the class at the beginning of the year, taking into account the weight to be given to student contributions - projects and surveys (individual and group), reports, participation in simulation games and class discussions, essays, and tests. The use of student contracts is strongly encouraged and when their use is planned, a thorough orientation to the procedure, evaluation, and teacher expectations should be carried out.
10. Four district-wide field trips have been planned, and teachers should make every effort to coordinate the appropriate learning activities to coincide as closely as possible with these trips. Consult schedule to determine when your school will be taking each of the following:
 - a. Homer Research Observation Tower
 - b. Bethlehem Steel Plant Tour
 - c. Tours of Local Industry, sponsored by Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System (ACES).
 - d. Wild Creek Reservoir
 Any additional field trips should be requested according to the usual procedure. That is, obtain a bus requisition form at least four weeks in advance from your principal. Before filling out this form and making arrangements with personnel at your destination, call Mrs. Rose Marie Bley, secretary to Dr. Rebecca Stewart, to ascertain open dates on bus schedule.

Field trips will prove much more meaningful and serve to promote good learning situations by building in pre- and post-tour activities and discussions. Whenever it seems practical, a response sheet to be completed during or after the tour should be developed for completion by the students.

11. The newly developed Bethlehem School District Resource Speaker list can be utilized where feasible, following the procedure outlined. In addition, teachers are encouraged to contact other resource personnel since the list is quite limited and is only a beginning. Students can help in identifying and obtaining speakers, developing questions, participating in the dialogues, and handling letters of appreciation.

12. The Telephone-in-the-Classroom should prove of real assistance in allowing classes to make direct contact with resource people without the necessity of leaving the school or asking busy people to interrupt their work schedules to travel to the school.

A portable telephone with amplification attachment will be on hand in your principal's office, and upon request to him can be plugged into a jack in a pre-arranged classroom. As with so many of the features in this Urban Studies course, proper planning is necessary. Once a resource person has been contacted well in advance to expect a call from your students at a certain hour on a designated day, the arrangements should be made with your office to reserve the phone and the extension line for that particular time. Since the portable phone will tie into one of the existing lines in your school, it is essential that your office knows in advance that calls should not be made on that line during the reserved period.

Again, students have an important part to play in the planning and post-interview stage, and certainly in the actual interview. You may wish to have the dialogue taped for replay and analysis. Thank you letters would again be obligatory.

The interview might spark interest for follow-up study on the part of individuals or groups, further class research, correspondence to clarify certain points, or another telephone interview with the same person or with others of different views.

13. Teachers would be well advised to begin amassing a file of newspaper and periodical articles dealing with urban life and problems for possible reproduction or to act as discussion starters in total class or small group situations.

14. While one of the goals of the course is to stimulate comparative studies of Bethlehem with other urban centers in the nation and in other nations, you will probably find that our concentration has been largely local. It is desirable that teachers add comparisons to broaden the scope of the course. These suggestions can easily be made in the Teacher Notes column of the guide and shared during team meetings. We are depending upon teacher input to add breadth and variety to the course. On the other hand, a word of caution is in order. It is neither necessary nor desirable that a student be exposed to all of secondary social studies in the seventh grade. The student will study American Culture and World Cultures in subsequent grades in some depth.

15. The daily time allotted for the course is 2½ hours to include approximately 45 minutes each of social studies and language arts instruction. The additional time was built into the schedule to provide extension activities such as field trips, individual and small group reading instructions, individual library research, group or individual projects, simulation games, audio-visual presentations, resource speakers and small instructional groups for students in need of skill reinforcement. The latter strategy is critical in the heterogeneous setting of an Urban Studies classroom.

16. Two teacher-made reading tests have been developed to assist the teacher in identifying able students who should be directed toward challenging individual projects as well as those students for whom special planning might be indicated. Teachers are encouraged to discuss these students with the reading teacher.

17. Since all classes are heterogeneous by design, it is imperative that team planning include educational opportunities for all students. Differentiated assignments should be carefully developed.

LITERARY EMPHASIS: MASS MEDIA

(Suggested time -- 8 weeks)

OVERVIEW:

As an introduction to the general pattern of the Urban Studies curriculum and the important use of small group activities, opportunities are provided to examine how individuals interact in group situations.

This unit is designed to achieve an understanding of the major elements involved in the make-up of a city. Through the use of various resources, the student will attempt to identify the human, man-made, and geographic elements of which an urban center is composed. Students should demonstrate some proficiency in the use of maps, charts, graphs, statistics and other resources which he will make use of throughout the course.

The major emphasis will be an introduction to the principal components of a city, what it has to offer its people, and the establishment of a base for the pupil's understanding of the ethnic and racial diversity of urban communities. It is important to this understanding that activities and experiences be provided to stress the contributions of the various ethnic and minority groups—customs, traditions, and religious backgrounds.

The essential question to be explored is:

How can various ethnic groups and minorities live together in such a way that cultural differences are respected? Specific details and facts are important only as they contribute to the larger understanding that similarities and differences of groups exist in society and each contributes to the total community.

OBJECTIVES: SOCIAL STUDIES

- To become familiar with the physical environment of the Bethlehem Area.
- To gain actual experience in basic geographic skills such as understanding maps, interpreting charts and graphs, making field observations.
- To recognize the importance of maps as a tool to geographic understanding.
- To understand how the make-up of cities is changing and the significance of these changes.
- To recognize the uniqueness and similarity of problems facing cities in the world today.
- To investigate the population changes in urban areas, both as to dimensions of change and reasons for change.
- To gain experience in the use of tools of inquiry, such as pictures, charts, maps and graphs.

SOCIAL STUDIES (Continued)

- To determine where various groups settled in the area.
- To become familiar with the traditions, customs, and religions of the minorities living in the Lehigh Valley. (What is their cultural heritage—music, art, dance, sports, recreation?)
- To compare settlement patterns in the Lehigh Valley Area with those in other urban centers of the nation.
- To understand something of the problems encountered when people relocate.

LITERARY
Mass Media

- To show understanding of the importance of mass media to individuals and to large populations.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive effects of television.
- To demonstrate the ability to differentiate among statements of fact, fiction, opinion, and propaganda.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive the techniques and effects of advertising.
- To demonstrate the ability to combine concepts, principles, and generalizations by producing a simple newspaper that includes examples of the following sections: classified, sports, theater, entertainment, social, editorial, news (local, state, national, foreign).

FUNCTIONAL

- Outlining
- Summarizing
- Listening (Critical)
- Paragraph Writing
- Editorial Writing
- Writing letters to the Editor
- News story writing
- Drawing cartoons
- Headlining newspapers
- Filmstrip Making
- Preparing a Class Newspaper

Performance Objectives

Total Class

1. Through observations, research, discussion, and surveys students will understand that it takes a lot of different people to make a city.

1. Have students write a paragraph on "What Is A City." From these paragraphs the teacher can elicit student ideas as to what makes a city. List these ideas on the board or overhead projector accepting each as it is given. In a general discussion the class can decide on a final summary list eliminating duplication. Through teacher guidance conclusions can be drawn which show that a city is essentially people -- a wide variety of people (i.e., young and old, black, brown, white, men and women, etc.). Supplement with the film "Profiles of CAC."

2. Through surveys, research, and discussion students will understand that the people of a city are in need of different services provided by the city.

2. a. Distribute study prints on the city (What Is A City). Form groups to study pictures.

b. Class read Walt Whitman's poem "The Greatest City," What Is A City. Discuss the line, "The Greatest City is that which has the greatest men and women."

c. Show film strip: What Is A City?. Film Strip 1 Holt, Rinehart, and Winston.)

d. Discuss "Letter to the Editor," What Is A City. How does the author of the letter feel about the city?

S T R A T E G I E S	Small Group	Teacher Notes
Individual	1. a. Groups can bring in magazines and newspapers. Describe in words and pictures the group's concept of "What Is A City." Present in class and discuss. b. Groups select one of the sayings and quotes, (i.e., "City Life Is Millions of People Being Lonesome Together," What Is A City?) c. Groups decide on best caption for each print. Discuss. Develop a statement to answer the question, "What Is A City?"

1. a. Conduct a survey among your parents, relatives, neighbors, and friends. Write down the main reasons they think that families move to the city today. Also list the main advantages and main problems they believe city life can offer.

b. Read the essay "Subworlds of the City" in Law and the City. Compare the findings of your survey with the experiences of the family in the essay.

c. Write a short paragraph. Tell how you might live if there were no other people around you.

2. a. Using pictures clipped from magazines - or your own art work - make a poster illustrating people enjoying the traditional advantages of city life.

b. Go to the library. Using encyclopedias, the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, and books, write a report describing which groups of city dwellers tend to enjoy the traditional advantages of city life and which do not. Cite the causes for the differences. Discuss in class the most important findings in your report.

c. Students write a poem with the same title "The Greatest City."

d. Write a poem/essay about the sounds of a city.
 -Tape the sounds of a city
 -Clip pictures pertaining to sounds of a city.

Performance Objectives

3. Through audio-visual materials, aerial photos, and maps, students will be able to recognize the various types of maps used in our modern day society.

4. Students will be able to use the different parts of a map.

3. To introduce the use and understanding of maps:

- a. Show one of the films or filmstrips listed in the Materials and Resources list.
- b. Discuss the different kinds of maps placing emphasis on those to be used during the course of the year (i.e., topographic maps, aerial maps, and map symbols).
- c. Develop exercises with topographic maps to familiarize students with this type of map (i.e., use the map key for an understanding of colors and symbols).

4 a. Show filmstrip or a film pertaining to map symbols and terms. (See Materials and Resources list.)

b. Have students find the latitude and longitude of cities on a teacher-made list.

c. Have students practice in measuring distance on maps and to understand how to use a scale of miles, play the game "How Far." (See SIR)

d. To give students practice in determining directions on a world map, play the game "Which Way." (See SIR)

e. Review pupils' knowledge of latitude and longitude by playing the game "Latitude and Longitude." (See SIR)

f. Review pupils' knowledge of latitude and longitude by using Problem Solving Booklet, p. 25-26, "How Do We Use Latitude and Longitude."

g. Have students review map reading skills by using Problem Solving Booklet, p. 27-30, "What Does A Map Tell You."

Teacher Notes

3. a. Make a bulletin board display using different kinds of maps and labeling each according to the kind of information it gives.

b. Draw a map of Pennsylvania showing one important feature (i.e., industry, cities, rainfall).

4. a. Using an atlas, find examples of maps with insets. Report back to the class on the purpose of the insets.

b. List the things a map key tells you about that map.

3. a. Using an atlas, compile a list of kinds of maps (i.e., climate, population). Find an example of each. Be prepared to offer an explanation of each.

b. From a newspaper or magazine, clip examples of different kinds of maps. Label each with an appropriate title according to the information it gives.

4. a. Using the scale of miles, compute the distance (1) across the United States (2) between Paris and San Francisco (3) between Bethlehem and Baltimore. Many variations are possible.

Performance Objectives

5. Students will be able to draw a map which adequately shows a relationship to reality.

6. Students will be able to use a map in a purposeful manner.

5. a. Using topographic maps of the neighborhood around the school, take a walking tour of an area. Have students identify features around their school.

b. Using aerial photos and a map of Bethlehem, outline the central business district, industrial area, transportation network and one or two residential areas.

c. See 5 a. and 5 b. under Individual Activity for possible Total Class Activity.

6. a. Using maps of the world, have students locate cities from a teacher-made list of cities. For each city, identify the type of land form on which it is located, its climate, and its population. Compile the data, and use it to make a chart comparing the cities.

b. Form committees. Have each group meet and plan a destination in the Lehigh Valley Area. Each group will write directions which, if followed, should lead to this location. Groups will exchange directions and attempt to find the destination by following the directions.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

- 5. a. Using aerial photographs, map your neighborhood.
- b. Draw a map of an imaginary country. On this map show natural resources, agricultural products, transportation routes, and physical features. Demonstrate the relation between these factors and the best location for each of the following types of cities: (1) port (2) steel manufacturing (3) food processing. Give an oral presentation of your map project. Use the overhead projector, chalkboard, or an original filmstrip to explain your map project.
- 6. a. Each committee should take a different state and using an atlas locate ten cities in that state having unusual names.
- b. Research the source of products imported into Bethlehem.

Individual

- 5. a. Draw a map that could show a friend how to get to your house from school.
- b. Draw a map of your school building. On it, show the way you get from your 3rd period class to your 4th period class. Many variations are possible.
- 6. a. Plan a trip to Anywhere, U.S.A., on a map of the U.S. Plan your route. Report to the class the states you would pass through and discuss a geographic aspect of each state.
- b. Locate your home on a city map of Bethlehem.
- c. Give an oral report utilizing a hand-drawn map with directions (i.e., My favorite fishing, picnic, summer vacation spot). Use overhead projector or make filmstrip with tape.
- d. Write a travelogue using map directions as a newspaper feature article.
- e. Using a road map, trace the route of the vacation trip you took this summer. Draw a map of this trip illustrating some geographic highlights.

Performance Objectives

7. Through map study, field trips and observations, students will understand that a city is composed of natural and man-made features.

7. a. Using topographic maps, and aerial photos, lead a discussion as to what physical and cultural landmarks can be identified in the city. Use these maps to gain an overall view of the city.

b. Plan a trip to the Homer Research Observation Tower to view the Bethlehem Area, and to note its natural and man-made features and landmarks. Distribute and explain map game (see SIR) which should be taken along on field trip and completed while in Observation Tower. Review results with class upon return to school.

c. Choose some sites from Bethlehem which you feel could be used in a filmstrip or slide demonstration to be shown on television to best describe the city of Bethlehem. Which areas would you consider? Which community of homes would you use? What background music would be suitable?

d. Show a film or filmstrip(s) dealing with several cities of the world, and seek out similarities and differences.

e. Read story "Bridge at Andau," Readings to Enjoy. Discuss the style of the author.

MUSIC: Listen to one of Ferde Grofe's tone poems from "The Grand Canyon Suite" or Aaron Copeland's "Appalachian Suite." Choose an interesting scene in the Bethlehem Area and write a composition describing the scene. When making your presentation to the class, ask the teacher to play the music you have chosen as background. Descriptive places may include:

- a. an outing, picnic
- b. a walk in the country
- c. a storm
- d. sunset in Bethlehem
- e. early morning, sunrise on a camping trip, or fishing trip

Record on tape various "Sounds of the City." Travel through various parts of the city picking up sounds which are peculiar to a type of work; a neighborhood; a public gathering; a festival; somewhere in the suburban neighborhood; industrial park area. Play these for the class—Create a listening identification game. (See Materials and Resources List, "Sounds of the City.")

8. a. Following a reading of Unit 9 in Challenges In Our Urban Society lead a discussion:
- (1) On the role physical geography played in the growth and location of traditional cities.
 - (2) On why geography is not as important today in the location of cities as it was in the past.
 - (3) On the geography of the present day cities utilizing such terms as: central cities, hubs, cores, suburbs, satellite cities, metropolitan area, megalopolis.
- b. Using maps that show the density of population in the U.S. or Pennsylvania classify:
- 3 settled locations as urban
 - 3 settled locations as suburban
 - 3 settled locations as rural
- (1) Compare with your city.
- c. Discuss contrasting urban, suburban, and rural life. On board, write characteristics of each.
- d. Use MacMillan's Kit, Geography In An Urban Age, Part I, Geography of Cities.
- e. Use Problem Solving Booklet, pp. 43-44, "Some Like it Hot, Do You?"

Performance Objectives

Total Class

1. The students will be able to identify six major ethnic/racial groups residing in the Lehigh Valley area.
 - a. He will list for each group evidence of specific traditions and customs.
 - b. He will show evidence which either supports or negates the idea that these groups tend to live in a specific neighborhood location.
 - c. He will list for each group either a sport, musical or artistic expression generally identifiable with each group.

1. Class or committees will develop a survey form (questionnaire) to be completed by three adults (parents, neighbors, relatives) which will show ethnic or racial identification, address, language spoken, religion, favorite sport or leisure activity, membership in social organization, place of birth, education level, favorite dance and musical form.
 - a. Before setting out to gather data, students will role play in class a variety of situations which might be encountered when taking a survey (resistance, questions asked).
 - b. After gathering data, students will summarize data and analyze it for patterns of residence concentration, ethnic/racial backgrounds, preferences in sports, music, dance, leisure activities. Are there dominant patterns? Is there cultural diversity? Can the same be extended to the area at large? Do survey results differ significantly from student response to the same questions?
 - c. Invite representatives of six major ethnic/racial groups to class to discuss survey results, and to talk about their own culture and its role in the valley.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

1. a. Research and describe at least six instances in which practices disapproved of by one culture are acceptable in another culture. Cite sources.
- b. Examine news media for examples of cultural diversity present in the Lehigh Valley and/or in American society in general. Make a bulletin board display, a newsletter, or a report to the class or to the teacher on the group's findings.

Individual

1. a. Develop a research project which traces the background and culture of one of the ethnic groups living in the Bethlehem area.
- b. Complete a report to the class identifying a specific ethnic or religious group.
 - 1) Research poems, songs, folk tales, which are identified with a specific ethnic or religious group.
 - 2) ART: Student will take the poem, song, or folk tale and design an illustration that would accompany his selection.
- c. MUSIC: Combine an oral and listening (tape recorder or recordings) presentation of the music of an ethnic group. (Utilize dance forms, instruments, and festive occasions.)
 - 1) Trace the development of change in the style of the music. Example: jazz, swing, soul, Motown, folk-rock.
 - 2) Trace the biographies of a few soul singers and search to find how many were formerly gospel singers. (See SIR.)
- d. Make up a family scrapbook including items mentioned in 1. Total Class.
- e. ART: The student, having chosen his ethnic music selection, will design a record cover to accompany his musical choice.

Teacher Notes

See SIR for examples.

Performance Objectives

Total Class

2. A student will come to realize that a person cannot be classified in ethnic groups solely on basis of appearance.

2. Each student will bring to class five pictures which illustrate the various ethnic groups. Using their pictures they will sort them into classifications of their choosing, i.e. size, hair color, gender, ethnic group.

a. He should be able to generalize about what these people of various groups have in common.

3. The student will demonstrate by his participation in open discussion, a willingness to consider and respect the life styles of various cultures in a non-judgmental manner.

3. a. Given a prepared selection, the student will be guided to identify statements of fact and opinion (newspaper, periodical).

b. Given a reading selection and a list of statements about the selection, ask the students to differentiate between statements of fact and statements of opinion.

c. Invite people from various ethnic groups for demonstration of various holiday crafts with their group.

d. Problem Solving Booklet, (pp. 17-18), "Is That A Fact."

4. Student will demonstrate an awareness of the role of mass media on culture.

4. a. Discussion: If you were a stranger to the U.S., how would you judge us as people after watching our TV?

b. Does violence on TV or in movies affect you?

c. Stage a mock fight between a large student and a small student. Discuss class reactions. Is violence an acceptable way to solve problems? Does our mass media have anything to do with this?

Performance Objectives

Total Class

2. Through class discussion and the use of reference material students will become aware of the wealth of statistical information pertaining to population data and how and why such data is used.

2. a. Introduce and discuss the constitutional requirement calling for a periodic census in the United States, how the census is taken and the great variety of information obtained (i.e., number of people, broken down by age, sex, race, family structure, housing, plumbing facilities).
- b. Lead a discussion on why and to whom such information would be useful.
- c. Through the use of raw data from Census Tracts and government publications have students plot information on a map of Pennsylvania (showing counties) to show population distribution by various categories (i.e., race, age, sex).
- d. Using the same procedure as outlined in c., plot similar type of information on a map of the United States.

Teacher Notes

1,2. Particularly for institutions to which neither the student nor his parents belong the following are suggested:

- a. Small groups write letters to invite to the class persons holding offices in any of the institutions.
- b. A newspaper of events relative to institutions could be constructed using items such as the Puerto Rican Club's May festival and Bethel Lodge Parade. Old and current newspapers could be utilized in gathering material.
- c. Research on the national affiliation of any social, business, or professional group could be made. Note relationship between the local and national branches.

1,2. Reports are to be made by the students on the history or the purpose of the institutions which are familiar to the students. Information obtained from self-knowledge, parents, or the institution itself. Also information on admission to the institution, what it does to aid the community, any customs, practices or why the institution was formed are to be included. Also note if there are any prejudicial reasons for forming the institution.

- a. Prior to this report a small group could recommend a suggested series of questions to be asked about the institutions.
- b. Record a listing of service institutions which have great "National Appeal." Obtain information about their national function and what factors contribute to their popularity, i.e., Red Cross, United Fund.
- c. Make an "Alphabet Soup" puzzle using the letters of institutions (all service, business, social, and cultural) (CAC, CYO, CIO, NAACP, AFL).

LITERATURE EMPHASIS: MASS MEDIA

Performance Objectives

1. The student will be able to show an understanding of the IMPORTANCE OF MASS MEDIA to individuals and to society through examination, analysis, and evaluation.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

1. a. Introduce a discussion on a current news event and follow up with the question, "Do we have a right to know what is going on in our city and the world?"
- b. The following may be highlighted in the discussion:
 - 1) The meaning of "mass media" (i.e., electronic, printed, etc.).
What are the various ways we receive the news?
 - 2) The purpose and origin of mass media.
 - 3) Why is it essential that the masses of the people in a democracy be well informed (i.e., access to truthful, accurate reporting to make wise decisions).
- c. Discuss the statement: (Lord Macauley): "Men are never so likely to settle a question rightly as when they discuss it freely."
- d. Discuss the power of the mass media in developing a relatively obscure personality into a popular and powerful political figure.
- e. "Teenage Mass Media Survey." Through class discussion a "Teenage Mass Media Survey" could be developed which will show the students time spent utilizing the mass media — i.e., hours watching TV per week? listening to the radio? listening to records? tapes? reading the newspapers? magazines? How often do you go to the movies? Which media is more satisfying? information accurate?
 - 1) Tabulate the results

Performance Objectives

9. The student will demonstrate the ability to combine concepts, principles, and generalizations in PRODUCING A SIMPLE CLASS NEWSPAPER.

- 9. a. Discuss producing a class newspaper. List on the board the organization of a newspaper.
- b. Form committees of the areas listed to organize and produce the class newspaper.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

9. a. Committees select students to carry out the responsibilities of producing a class newspaper.
- 1) Compose a work sheet of assignments.
 - 2) Prepare news stories, editorials, cartoons, sports, features, crossword puzzle, etc.
- b. Editorial committee selects the best work.

Individual

9. a. Write a short composition on "The Services Newspapers Render."
- 1) List sections of your daily newspaper.
 - 2) Put the list in a notebook; once a week check the sections that the student reads.

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

Total Class

10. The student will demonstrate the ability to combine concepts, principles, and generalizations through analysis, classification, and evaluation of FILMS culminating in producing a short class film:

10. a. Discuss the role of films as an instrument of the mass media. Discuss a current film showing in a local theater or on television. What makes a good film? Have pupils list the criteria they use in rating motion pictures. How do they decide what is good, bad, or mediocre? Revise criteria for rating movies if necessary.
- b. Class takes "Movie Inventory" (see Exploring Television pgs. 21-22). Discuss.
- c. Discuss the class's favorite film stars and supporting players. Why? Which ones are able to play different kinds of roles? Which portray only one type of character?
- d. Discuss film awards (academy "Oscars") and film festivals.
- e. Discuss the relationship of films shown in theaters and films shown on television.
- f. Show one of the better films and evaluate as to criteria established by the class (see Individual Activity 10f).
- g. Select a silent movie comedy for class showing. Compare it with current television humor. Discuss (see Individual Activity 10g).
- h. Initiate a discussion of film and its history. What do we mean by film? How do movies move? Clarify that 24 frames equal one second of sound film. Why does the movement in silent movies seem jerky (fewer frames per second were used). Form committees to research the history of films.
- i. Initiate the reading of one of the following and report to the class: "Walt Disney," "Buster Keaton," "Barbara Streisand," "Bob Hope" (Modern Short Biographies).
- j. Discuss animation and animated films. Encourage creating a class animated film by drawing directly on 35 mm film. Form groups.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

- 10. a. Organize groups to produce a short movie script, (i.e., writing team, production staff, director, location, props, actors, etc.).
- b. Write an original movie script. Use a story board (a series of pictures showing visual shots in sequence).
- c. Committees research reports on history of films, (i.e., history of cartoons, the development of color, and the development and use of sound). Present to class using visual aids.
- d. Make a short animated film on 35 mm film.

Individual

- 10. a. Bulletin board display, collage, and/or scrapbook depicting the film industry (i.e., Hollywood, film titles, stars, scenes, etc.).
- b. Collect reviews of the same film by two or more reviewers. Compare their reviews.
- c. Report on a film whereby one of the supporting actors made a greater impression on you than the leading actors.
- d. Compare the real facts of the outlaw's life with the motion picture version.
- e. Pantomime or imitate a "movie star."
- f. Write a short criticism of the film shown in class (see Total Class Activity 10f).
- g. Write a precis of the silent movie comedy and the TV comedy show and compare (see Total Class Activity 10g).
- h. From suggested movie titles listed on board (see Total Class Activity 10m-2) individuals select a title. Write a story outline or short script suggested by the title.
- i. Make a facsimile of a nickelodeon. Make frames in sequence. Mount them on a revolving cardboard drum. Put the drum in a box with a peephole in the front, a light inside, and a handle to turn the drum.

Performance Objectives

T E A C H I N G

10. Continued

10. k. Read and discuss the essay "The One and Only W. C. Fields" (Native Voices).

l. Discuss the difference between writing a film script and writing prose.

m. Discuss technical terminology to be used in producing a class movie script, (i.e., fade in, pan, cut, etc.):

1) Show one short film several times. Have students write an outline of what they see, counting the shots, and using the technical terms to describe the action. Discuss in class.

2) List suggested titles of short scripts on the board. Each student selects a title. Poll class for award winners, (i.e., most imaginative, best story, most dramatic, funniest, etc.) (see Individual Activity 10h).

n. SPEECH GAME: Mention a word associated with "mass media." Student talks on it for a few minutes (i.e., "films," "television," "newspaper," etc.).

LITERATURE EMPHASIS: Drama

GOVERNMENT UNIT

(Suggested time — 8 weeks)

OVERVIEW:

The purpose of this unit is to acquaint the student with the need for order in a society, and that this order can only be maintained when it is preserved by a government, laws, and citizens educated to the needs of society. It is important for students to realize that government encompasses not only law and law enforcement but also services, education, and recreation.

The essential question to be considered is:

How is the individual affected by the government and in what ways can an individual exert influence and participate in the decision-making process?

GENERAL OBJECTIVES: SOCIAL STUDIES

- To investigate urban government through its structure and relationship with other levels of government (county, state, federal), and to understand and to become familiar with services and urban government supplies to its citizens.
- To determine, through investigation of law enforcement, judicial systems and penal systems, the need for law and law enforcement in an urban community for all its citizens.
- To understand the structure, financing, and related problems of an urban educational system as compared to any other area of the world.
- To investigate and understand the structure and the ramifications of supplying recreational facilities for all the citizens of an urban area.

LITERATURE Drama

- To show understanding of developing dramatic techniques.
- To show understanding of making a variety of oral presentations.
- To show understanding of the main and supporting ideas in the play.
- To show understanding of the personality traits of the characters in the play.
- To show understanding of the setting of the play.
- To show understanding of the plot development in the play.
- To demonstrate the ability of perceive the author's intent and/or point of view in the play.

FUNCTIONAL

- Outlining
- Summarizing
- Reporting
- Business letter writing
- Discussing
- Utilizing reference materials
- Listening (critical)

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

Performance Objectives

1. Through discussion, students will show an understanding of the need for government in a society.

1. a. Class discussion on the need for government, possible reasons why it came about, and some forms government can take.
- b. Define politics and, in a discussion, relate it to government.

2. Students will be able to define democracy and to state how it differs from other forms of government.

2. a. Class discussion of the form of government found most desirable in the United States.
- b. Show film "Defining Democracy."
- c. What does Watergate mean to you?
 - 1) Individual students write a short paragraph. Discuss as individual contributions to total class discussion. Or, students discuss their individual statements in small groups and then each group reports to total class.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

1. a. Students divide into small groups and each group is told that the class will settle an uninhabited part of the world and that they must organize the class so that all can co-exist peacefully. The committee is to draw up the kind of organization that it will follow and report to the class on that form and the possible problems it presents.
- b. Through role playing, help students recognize that people act from a mixture of motivations and that people are not all good or bad. Prepare a skit to be presented to total group on this theme.
- c. Prepare a skit showing ways you can resolve a conflict (i.e., your parents want you home at 9:00 and the dance ends at 10:00).
2. a. Committees report on forms of government, for example, dictatorship, autocracy, oligarchy, constitutional monarchy. Have each committee list countries that have each type and report back to class.
- b. Investigate the origin of ten political terms in the English vocabulary and report back to total group.

Individual

1. a. Explain briefly in an essay the statement, "Every government must limit the freedom of the people in some ways."
- b. Read novel Lord of the Flies by William Golding and/or the Butterfly Revolution by William Butler and write a book report or resume to indicate "The defects of society falls back on defects of human nature."
- c. Research "Independence Day" from your native country. Report back to class on its importance to your family. If no such day exists, give reasons, pro and con, why it should exist.
- d. List your political heroes and compose two short paragraphs on each as to why you consider this person your hero.
2. a. Collect newspaper articles dealing with minority's efforts to obtain equal rights. Display these on bulletin board.
- b. Read "Carl B. Stokes and Richard G. Hatcher, American Mayors," "Adlai Stevenson and Richard M. Nixon" from Modern Short Biographies. Have these men, through their political accomplishments, attained their dream? Write an essay on "I Have a Dream"
- c. Read the novel One Day In The Life of Ivan Denisovich by Alexander Isayevich Solzhenitsyn, and write a comparison about what life in Russia is like as compared to life in the U.S. Report back to total group for discussion.

Teacher Notes

T E A C H I N G

Performance Objectives

Total Class

3. Students will be able to compare the key job of each level of government in the United States.

3. a. List on board the levels of government. Next to each have students list some of the powers it has. Discuss any areas of conflict and how these might be resolved.

b. Interview a city government reporter from a local paper about issues facing the government.

4. Students will be able to list at least 3 officials of the country and briefly state some of their duties.

4. a. Show filmstrip set "County Government, Part I."

b. Field trip to the county courthouse and, if possible, attend a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners.

c. See resources Northampton County 1972 Directory of State, County and Local Officials and booklet entitled, Northampton County Officials.

e. Distribute Community Disaster Plan for Lehigh and Northampton Counties (pamphlet) and discuss organization and operation.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

3. a. Committees can gather data on the 3 branches of government at each level. Include number in each branch, their titles, duties, qualifications, length of term, and how they are elected. Use this data to draw up charts comparing the three branches of government at each level.
- b. ART: Have the students trace the development of the political cartoon (i.e., Daumier - French). Why did it start? What result do such cartoons produce?
- c. ART: Have groups of students take a problem facing each level of government and design slogans that could be used for bumper stickers.

4. a. Research the history of the county system.

- b. Classify the counties of Pennsylvania according to class.

- c. Prepare a list of county agencies and the services they provide to the people.

Individual

3. a. Present student with a list of problems (i.e., his trash is never collected, or he is opposed to the war in Vietnam). Have students identify the level of government to which he would make his complaint.
- b. Using the telephone directory, list any state or federal offices that are located in your city.
- c. ART: Have the students draw a political cartoon of a local, state and national situation. First give examples to discuss.
- d. Read The Ugly American by William Lederer and Eugene Burdick. Make a collage from pictures showing emotions of foreigners towards Americans.

4. a. On a desk map of Pennsylvania, locate the counties.

- b. List the names of the elected officials of your county.

- c. What examples of the county's duties can you find in your neighborhood?

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

5. Students will be able to discuss the structure of 3rd class city government, borough government, and township government.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

- 5. a. Class discussion on types of local government in Pennsylvania and how it is determined which type an area may have.
- b. Debate on topic: All cities in Pennsylvania should have a city manage, form of government.
- c. Panel Discussion: The city of Bethlehem should annex its surrounding townships and boroughs.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

5. a. List the different classes of cities in Pennsylvania.
- b. Committees report to the class on the types of 3rd class city government. Include the major offices and departments of each as well as the advantages and disadvantages of each.
- c. Committees formed to take slides or pictures showing the growth of the surrounding townships and boroughs. Prepare a presentation for the total group either supporting or rejecting the annexation of these areas to the city.
- d. Interview people in surrounding townships and boroughs as to their needs, desires, and aspirations for annexation to the city. Cite taxes, services, protection, etc. Report back to your total group or prepare for your panel discussion.

Individual

5. a. Draw a chart showing the offices of the local government under which you live. Who are the people who fill these offices and how are they chosen? Post these on bulletin board.
- b. Have a student research the difference between a "strong mayor" form of government and a "weak mayor" form of government.

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

6. a. The student will be able to list some duties of local government and the services provided.

6. a. Students can bring in pictures illustrating examples of the duties and services of local government.

b. Students draw up a list of problems they might face. Find a city agency which would help with that problem (i.e., drug, alcoholic relative, noisy neighbor). Possibly interview members of these agencies or visit them.

c. Invite a city official to the class. Question him about his duties in the local government and perhaps bring up areas of complaint which arose in neighborhood services.

d. Plan a class visit to Wild Creek and identify the source of our city water and steps taken to purify it.

1) Prior to taking the trip, class should view Robin Miller's film, WILD CREEK (color 20M) (RIMC).

2) A student's response sheet or map should be prepared for student's use on trip.

e. Class discussion of any problems which they feel their neighborhood has and is not being satisfactorily dealt with by the government. If the feeling is strong, contact the appropriate department about solving this problem.

f. If possible, attend a city council meeting.

g. Field trip to the Bethlehem Civic Center.

h. Use simulation game, "Why Do We Live In Cities?" (see appendix).

i. P. 16-17, The City Today and Tomorrow.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

Individual

Teacher Notes

6. a. Committees report to the class on the duties of the officials and departments of a Mayor-Council form of government.

b. Interview a number of residents in your neighborhood and ask if they are satisfied with the job the local government is doing. What areas of complaint? Tape record these interviews for presentation to class. Utilizing taped material to support your arguments for or against services given to citizens, report back to total class outcome of interview.

c. Find examples of how city government protects the health of residents.

d. Using a road map, plan a field trip to the source of Bethlehem's water supply. Show the route you would take. Are there any interesting landmarks you could point out along the way?

e. Write a letter to the editor expressing your views about the services provided by city government.

f. Students will role play a simulated problem dealing with fighting city hall. See "You Can Fight City Hall" activity in the Croft Teachers Service in SIR.

6. a. How many examples of city services did you see on your way to school this morning?

b. Interview a local governmental official and discuss his position on current local issues.

c. Write original limericks on services provided by city government using the following guidelines:
 1) lines 1, 2, and 5 should agree
 2) lines 3 and 4 should rhyme
 3) lines 1,2, and 5 should be longer than lines 3 and 4.

d. Make up ballads about people who perform services for the public.

e. Using a map of Pennsylvania:

- 1) Identify the source of water in Bethlehem.
- 2) Trace the route of this water to Bethlehem.

Performance Objectives

Total Class

7. Given a list of taxes, students will be able to classify the types of taxes which government uses to finance its services.

7. a. Class discussion on types of taxes citizens pay. Discuss which level of government collects each tax.

b. Distribute cards to students assigning them an occupation and a realistic yearly salary for that occupation. Tell them they will receive 26 paychecks a year. Have them figure their pay and subtract deductions for the various taxes they would pay.

c. General discussion and/or committee debate: Sales tax is the fairest form of taxation because everybody must pay it.

d. Use Problem Solving Booklet pp. 115-116, "Where Do Our Taxes Go?"

S	T	R	A	T	E	G	I	E	S	Teacher Notes
Small Group

Individual

7. a. What are all the taxes you pay on a car in Pennsylvania?
- b. Bring in pictures of examples of tax money at work. Which of these expenditures are in your opinion, better than others.
- c. Write your reaction to the statement, "It is unconstitutional to force a person to pay taxes if he is opposed to what the money is being spent for." (i.e., airport boarding tax, federal tax on telephones, income tax).

7. a. Committees compile a list of how taxes are spent by each level of government. Construct pie graphs showing this information.
- b. Have committees decide how they would spend tax money if they were in charge of the government.
- c. Obtain copies of the budget of the city or county. In your opinion, which of these are good expenditures? Which are not?

Performance Objectives

8. Students will be able to discuss how local officials are elected to office.

T E A C H I N GTotal Class

8. a. Class discussion on voting, rights and responsibilities.
b. Show filmstrip Political Parties.
c. Invite local representatives from the Democratic and Republican parties to speak to the class on the philosophy of their party.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

8. a. Small groups will choose a member to run for city council. Design campaign posters and literature to distribute to the class. Try to persuade others that he is the person to vote for and have mock election.
- b. MUSIC: Look for songs which express political views, state of the country, internal or external strife such as taxes, draft, welfare.
- c. Make up a song stating a political view or preference using a popular tune.
- d. Decide through discussion what is right and what is wrong with major political parties. What can be done to rectify the wrongs, and what can we do to broaden the rights?

Individual

8. a. Research campaign slogans from the past and analyze their effectiveness.
- b. Offer to assist a candidate for local office, share your experiences with the total groups and use your persuasive talents to encourage others to follow your example.
- c. Cut out pictures of faces of candidates from newspapers and magazines. Decide what emotion they reflect. Put your own comments beneath each picture. Return to small group and exchange pictures and ideas.
- d. Interview a former candidate from a previous campaign who may have won or lost in local government. Choose a minority member if possible. Report the following factors to class.
Add questions of your own.
1) Does the minority member seek a liberal vote? How does he plan his strategy? Whose advice does he seek? Does he get support from the political machine? What were the shortest issues you considered in your platform for city council or school board?

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

Total Class

9. A student will recognize that participation in good citizenship is a concern of everyone in school, community, state and nation.

9. a. Discuss the broad dimensions of good citizenship. Invite either through personal appearance or tape recording the following:
- 1) Principal, Assistant Principal, Guidance Counselors to speak on good citizenship in school in an assembly.
 - 2) Mayor or representative from city council to speak at an assembly.
 - 3) Representative or senator from state to speak at assembly.
 - 4) Representative from Congress to speak at assembly.

Discuss with total class what each speaker had to say about topic.

- b. Involve the class in an activity that they feel is worthwhile. For example collect money for UNICEF, "adopt" a child (American Indian or foreign), "adopt" a grandparent, at local home for for aged, raise funds to build a school in a foreign country.

- c. Use Problem Solving Booklet (pp. 85-88) "What Would I Do With Student Power."

Small Group
9. a. Discuss in different committees: What is a good citizen and how do I become one?	b. Devise bulletin board displays for good citizenship.	c. Discuss how many years of experience and observation are necessary to attain practical and good citizenship wisdom. Do young people have enough experience to have this wisdom? Set out to prove it by setting up criteria for good young people citizenship.	d. Compile a list or organizations in your community that service people in need. Ask about services young people can offer to these agencies.	5. a. Devise a new award for good citizenship with a criteria for attainment to be reported back to committee, total group and then representatives would decide on a uniform good citizenship award which youth in each junior high school would receive for outstanding citizenship.	b. Select a person who is currently in the news whose actions appear to be for what is right and just. Do you agree with him? Do you admire him? Write a short essay on why you admire a person who stands for what is right and just.	c. Design an advertisement, illustrating with a poster, and/or song, an imaginary product to rid the world of all its ills (i.e., war, famine, pollution, hate).	d. Write a short composition "How Can One Individual Affect His City Government?"	e. Read "Mighty Man" from Stories of the Inner City . Find a newspaper clipping similar to this story and discuss.

Teacher Notes

2. a. Using the survey as a checklist, committees can check playgrounds, schools, and neighborhood parks to see what is present and what is lacking (see Total Class Activity 2a).

b. Committees can gather figures on the number of students attending each junior high school and the feeder elementary schools. Compute ratio of children, available facilities and programs.

c. Have a group of students compare and contrast ghetto forms of recreation as opposed to suburbia forms. Which group has more fun? Any? Why?

d. Have the students invent a ghetto and a suburbia game. How are they similar - dissimilar? Is fun - fun no matter where?

e. Search in newspapers and listen to the radio to list some "music happenings" that are now or soon to be taking place in your city.

f. What is your city doing to provide musical entertainment for all its citizens? For its poor citizen? Compile a group report for the class.

g. Read poem, "Casey at the Bat" Stories in Songs and Verse.

2. a. List recreational facilities within walking distance of each student's home as to type of facility (i.e., swimming, basketball, etc.).

b. Write an essay as to the need for more recreational facilities for your area - cite population as to adults, children, etc.

c. Write a letter to the editor citing shortcomings of recreational facilities in your immediate area.

d. Survey several different people in your neighborhood to determine what their major concerns are as far as recreation. Tape record their responses for full group. Discuss and follow up.

e. Draw a playground in your neighborhood and draw changes you would make and reasons for those changes (i.e., greater safety, more usage).

f. How is art promoted to the citizens of Bethlehem? Give examples (i.e., Art Pedlar Program in Marvine Area, DOWNTOWN Bethlehem Art Show, Bethlehem Palette Club).

g. Write an essay "Where do you spend most of your time listening to your favorite music?" List records you enjoy listening to.

Performance Objectives

3. Students will be able to discuss present recreational opportunities in the local area and future possibilities for expansion or additions to existing facilities.

4. Students will demonstrate an awareness of how people of other cultures spend their leisure time.

MUSIC/ART CLASS RELATED ACTIVITIES

1. Create your own musical drama; setting could be some place in Bethlehem, a school situation comedy; incorporate music and singing of your own choice; (original or unknown).

ART

Design costumes and scenery obtained from the natural environment such as trees, rocks, logs, school environment, or home environment. Form committees for make-up, technicians for taping, props and actors.

MUSIC AND ART

1. Search for specific localities where composers have centered a stage production for a "Broadway musical" (i.e., New York-urban-"West Side Story," New Orleans-"Porgy and Bess," "Oklahoma," Mississippi-"Showboat").

Create a miniature stage design utilizing specific features which identify the production with the location (i.e., tall building, brick structure with graffiti (decent) New York). (Newsweek, April 1967).

ECONOMIC UNIT

(Suggested time - 10 weeks)

OVERVIEW:

This learning unit aims toward a pupil understanding of how people's lives are related to the economic fabric of the local community and the relationship to the larger national and international society. The concept of interdependence is introduced. The place of large and small businesses and industry in the community is explored to find how they developed and what products or services are being provided for the community at large. What problems are experienced by people as a result of technology, impact of industry on the environment, and urban renewal? Particular emphasis is placed on the problems of the consumer. A vital part of this unit is a consideration of work; the variety of careers and job opportunities available today. Certain requirements and compensations associated with specific jobs will be examined. However, it is hoped that each student will acquire respect for the working man, whoever he is; and will understand that all work is honorable and essential for a productive society.

GENERAL OBJECTIVES: SOCIAL STUDIES

- To investigate the variety and scope of industry and business.
- To reach some understanding of the role industry and business plays in society.
- To examine the great variety of careers available in today's society and their entrance requirements.
- To gain some understanding of the problems encountered in the operation of a business today, the contribution business makes to the community, and the problems created in that community as a result of industrial activity.
- To gain some perspective on the role of organized labor, with special insight on the employment of migrant labor in agricultural operations.
- To investigate the various demands upon a consumer and the problems he faces in society.
- To show understanding of the setting in the short story.
- To show understanding of the plot development in the short story.
- To show understanding of the personality traits of the characters in the short story.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive the author's intent and/or point of view in the short story, essay, or editorial.
- To show an understanding of theme in the short story.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive the relationship of intellectual and social implications in the short story, essay, or editorial.

LITERARY EMPHASIS Short Story

Novel, Folk Ballad

- To show understanding of genre by classifying literary selections.
- To show understanding of the main and supporting ideas in the novel.
- To show understanding of the personality traits of literary characters.
- To show understanding of the novel and folk ballad making inferences based on details.
- To show understanding of cause and effect relationship in the novel and folk ballad.
- To show understanding of the setting in the novel and folk ballad.
- To show understanding of plot development in the novel and folk ballad.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive the author's intent and/or point of view in the novel and folk ballad.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive mood and tone in the novel and folk ballad.
- To make judgments involving the comparison of reading selections to personal experiences.
- To show understanding of literary devices in given selections.

INTRODUCTION TO THE OPERATIONS AND PROBLEMS OF BUSINESS (INCLUDING THE ROLE OF LABOR)

T	E	A	C	H	I	N	G
Total Class

Performance Objectives

1. The student will be able to identify the distinguishing characteristics of the American Economic System.

2. The students will be able to explain how industry raises money in order to begin and expand and how the average person can have a share in a business enterprise.

1. a. Introduce by defining key economic terms (i.e., competition, consumption, production, distribution, trading, pricing, profit, capital).

b. Discuss the free enterprise economy, utilizing audio-visuals such as: Filmstrip IT40—"Comparative Economic Systems," Film 3680—"Anatomy of a Free Enterprise."

2. a. Investigate why companies sell "shares" in their business.

b. Show film 5142—"The Modern Corporation."

c. Resource speaker—Stewart R. Rooth.

d. Have students sell stock to finance a specific class project.

e. Using the stock report in the newspaper as a guideline, each student could buy a certain number of shares of stock. After a period of time, he could sell it to see if he realizes a profit or loss.

f. Problem Solving Booklet p. 55-58, "What Resources Do We Value Most and Why?."

g. Call the roll, each pupil responding with a news headline. If challenged, the pupil should be able to relate the content of the article and tell the name of the newspaper in which the item appeared. (Pupils should be forewarned—so that they can be prepared. Adaptable to each unit but news should apply to the phase of the unit being studied. Can be used daily or weekly.)

S T R A T E G I E S	Small Group	Individual	Teacher Notes
1. a. Interview a faculty advisor for school store--How is it operated? Is it a profit-making venture? Where does this profit go? What is done with it? What is their overhead? Is there competition? b. Students could work in school store. 1) Graph merchandise that is a good seller. 2) What does not sell? 3) Participate in ordering. 4) Write advertisement posters. 5) Reduce the price of merchandise--plan and organize a sale. c. Compose limericks and nonsense verses advertising merchandise for sale. 2. a. Using the stock report, assign companies to various groups so they can chart the rise and fall of stocks over a period of time. b. DEBATE: Topics--Money invested in stocks is put to better use than money put in a savings account--or--Money invested in stocks is well spent. c. Students can bring games to class such as: Finance, Monopoly.	1. a. Write a news article for the school paper telling students all they need to know about the school store. Why should they patronize it? b. Read "Jalopies I Cursed and Loved" by John Steinbeck. Report to class about what you thought was/was not humorous. c. Student read (just for fun) Better Than Laughter, Chester Aaron. d. Problem Solving Booklet, "Who Will Buy My Lemonade?", p. 65-66. 2. Report on stocks, stock market, shares, Wall Street, Stock Market Crash.

3. The student will be able to give reasons why unions developed.	3. a. Use a film as introduction to labor. 3202 The Rise of Organized Labor 3121 The Labor Movement 1) Promote a discussion on origins of unions, need for organization, and divisions in unionism. b. Make a list of labor unions and the types of jobs they represent. Collect articles regarding these unions and discuss in class. c. Read the poem, "Richard Corey" by Edward Arlington Robinson. Discuss the attitude of people toward Richard Corey. Why were they unable to recognize his problems? 1) Play the record of "Richard Corey" by Simon and Garfunkle—discuss differences and similarities between poem and song.

S T R A T E G I E S	Teacher Notes
Small Group 3. a. Groups can report on the benefits enjoyed by each of the following groups (i.e., white collar, blue collar, service). b. DEBATE: Semi-skilled workers do most of the city's work, therefore they are more important than skilled workers. c. PANEL DISCUSSION: The effect of modern machines on the individual worker.	Individual 3. a. Reports on: 1) Medieval Guilds 2) Problems of labor in early factories 3) Beginnings of labor unions 4) Eugene Debs and the labor movement in America. 5) The origin of "Labor Day" (How was it first celebrated? What was its original intent?)

Performance Objectives	Total Class
4. Through a variety of experiences, students will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the problems faced by coal miners or other manual workers in the late 19th century America.	4. a. Using the song, "16 Tons," discuss the words and feelings of the workers. Select other songs, or ballads which reflect an attitude, feeling, or emotion toward work. b. Using tapes, films, or records, introduce the problems faced by labor at specific periods of time; excerpts from The Jungle, by Upton Sinclair, How Green Was My Valley, or other novels. c. Use record No. R304 "American Work Songs—This Land Is My Land." d. Review characteristics of a ballad—class to read "John Henry" (American ballad). Gateway—Discuss who or what was John Henry's enemy? Why was this attitude typical of this period in American history? What problems would John Henry have to face today? e. Class listen to record "Big Bad John." Why was he called Big Bad John? How did the author accomplish creating this feeling? How is he described at the end? Why?

Small Group 4. a. Committees research on the "Molly Maguires." b. (See Total Class 4 d) Rewrite this ballad (John Henry) so that it would express John Henry's feelings and anxieties if he were alive today. c. (See Total Class 4 d) Create an original ballad with an imaginative character who has these same fears today. d. (See Total Class 4 e) Write a short essay telling why you think "Big John" was/was not a hero.	Individual 4. a. Make a collage or draw pictures of life in a coal mining town in the late 19th century. b. Design a model of a coal shaft or colliery. c. Report on a "Company Town." d. Conduct personal interviews with immigrants who worked in industry in years gone by.

Performance Objectives

5. Student will give reasons to support his view either favoring or opposing membership in a labor union.

5. a. Make a survey of the unions represented by the parents of students. Find out about benefits. dues, compulsory membership, etc.

b. Have a union official, shop steward, or management representative as a resource speaker.

c. Discuss tactics such as strikes and boycotts.

d. Rewrite the following song for comprehension, then discuss the words:

The Union Makes Us Strong
 When the Union's inspiration through
 The worker's blood shall run
 There can be no power greater Anywhere beneath the sun.
 Yet what force on earth is weaker
 Than the feeble strength of one,
 But the union makes us strong.
 Solidarity forever
 Solidarity forever
 For the union makes us strong.

e. Discuss "loyalty to the union" and "faithful to each other."

S T R A T E G I E S	Individual	Teacher Notes
Small Group 5. a. Role play between representative of a union and management. Discuss a specific problem. (See p. 185, "Economics for Young Adults".) b. Make a study of a local strike, examining issues, events, and results. Decide whether it was effective. Report to class.	5. a. Read The Jungle by Upton Sinclair. b. Write a biography on one of these people. Write each one in the format of a magazine or newspaper serial (i.e., early life, middle years, later years: What were their major contributions to labor?) Samuel Gompers John L. Lewis I. W. Abel Charles Yablonski David Dubinsky c. Read Only In America by Henry Golden, the "Triangle Fire," p. 85. d. Modern Short Biographies. INTRODUCTION TO THE OPERATIONS AND PROBLEMS OF BUSINESS (INCLUDING THE ROLE OF LABOR)

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

Performance Objectives

6. Students will identify the significant role of farm labor within the Lehigh Valley area; emphasis on the migrant workers and the contribution of this menial work to the large agricultural producer.

6. a. Students will be introduced to the large business of fruit growers and other major farm producers such as potatoe growers.
 b. Invite the Migrant Service Team of the Community Action Council to show the film "Seeds of Harvest" edited by R. W. Roberts, and discuss the problems identified in the film.

1) Taped interviews also available from CAC.

7. Students will classify major Lehigh Valley commercial farms according to their products.

7. a. Introduce the students to the various local growers who raise and market their own produce (i.e., Trexler Farms, Amore Orchards, Mohr Orchards.)

S T R A T E G I E S	Individual	Teacher Notes
6. a. Write to the National Council of Churches for literature on the migrant problems and make a group report on solutions to the major problems as you see them. b. Dramatize a negotiation between a migrant worker and a farmer, asking for better living conditions, higher pay. c. Investigate the farmers' view on conditions of living and working conditions of the migrants. d. INTERVIEW: Migrant Service Team of CAC. What services are provided for migrants? Make a group report of findings to the class. e. Form a committee to interview a local grower as to how his farm business operates. f. DEBATE: The farmer should pay a lower real estate tax on his farm land than the home owner.	6. a. Interview Migrant Service Team. b. Investigate through research the average life expectancy, percentage of child labor employment, accidents, diseases and wages of migrant workers. c. Write an opinion on the topic: 1) Is it fair for a family of four to receive $3900 from public assistance while a migrant gets $1300 for working? 2) Why do migrants work and not go on welfare? d. Discuss "Human Dignity." 1) Should the government subsidize farmers who employ migrant workers? e. Trace migrant workers in other parts of the country, (i.e., where they work, identification). f. Interview former migrants now living in Bethlehem.

Performance Objectives

8. The student will be able to explain the need for and problems connected with transportation in an urban setting.

8. a. Identify all segments of the mass transit system in the area. Is it an effective system? Why or why not?
- b. Consider the effects of the car situation in the city (i.e., pollution, accidents, new roads, repairs, one way streets, etc.).
- c. Have each student survey three workers to find out how they get to work.
- d. Use audio-visual aids to promote discussion.
 1) Film No. 107 "Development of Transportation in the United States."
 2) Filmstrip "Problems of Our Cities—Traffic."
- e. Collect newspaper articles dealing with any type of traffic problems. Discuss.
- f. Discuss reasons and solutions for a traffic jam. (Identify local trouble spots as examples. Consider Rome's drastic measures to curb the use of cars.)
 1) Invite a traffic control police officer to discuss the traffic situation with the class.
- g. Discuss what businesses might do as a result of transportation problems in the city (i.e., move to a shopping center, build parking garages).
- h. Consider what Bethlehem is doing to improve transportation. How have people been affected by it?
- i. Discuss how shopping centers have affected city traffic.
- j. Field trip to New York Port Authority (Newark Airport). See Jack Waidner, East Hills, Social Studies, for details. (See SIR.)

S T R A T E G I E S	Individual	Teacher Notes
8. a. Create posters to illustrate all available means of transportation in the city, and examples in other nations. b. Bulletin boards with pictures of older methods of transportation (i.e., horse and buggy, cable car, canal, ferry). c. Report on a specific method of modern transportation. Describe the vehicle and consider the facilities needed, the history and services performed. d. Make a large poster relating to traffic problems. Have students identify the pictures (i.e., accidents, construction, etc.). e. Investigate the means by which the area industries transport their raw materials. f. Role play on how people would act after being evicted because of a new highway. g. Groups could be formed to trace a route to a specific destination by means of some mode of travel. Time, mileage, cost, advantages, and disadvantages of different types of transportation should be taken into consideration. Maps should be used. h. Write an original skit with dialogue of plane being hi-jacked. i. Compose a "letter to the editor" protesting an eviction (state specific reasons).	8. a. Write and illustrate reports on: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1) "Odd means of transportation"2) Future means of transportation3) Invention of automobile4) Subway system b. Interview representatives of various transportation systems to find out problems, improvements, future of systems. c. Interview a traffic officer, bus driver, taxi driver, representative of Department of Motor Vehicles. d. Using pictures, models, filmstrips, reference books, etc., the student should become familiar with flight development beginning with the legend of Daedalus and Icarus and proceeding through Leonardo da Vinci's designs, early balloons, and the Wright Brothers to modern jets and space flight. The student will draw 12 by 12 inch pictures which will be mounted on cardboard and write a brief explanation of each. Present to class. Pictures could be projected with opaque projector. e. Interview the airport manager to find answers to such questions as these— <ul style="list-style-type: none">—Do planes always arrive and depart on schedule? Why or why not?—How safe is air travel?—Is air traffic at ABE Airport a threat to the surrounding community?—How many passengers arrive and depart daily from the airport?—How many different airlines are represented at ABE?—Is a tax on passengers at ABE Airport a fair source of revenue to support the airport?

8. j. Write a letter to your state representative urging him how to vote on the building of a new highway through your city. k. Write an "editorial" expressing your views on the effect of new highways in the community. l. Form groups to do activities i, j and k listed above but taking opposite points of view. m. Groups will investigate the problems society faces because of the increasing number of vehicles. Each member will think of himself as a specific type of vehicle—Rolls Royce, Taxi, bus, dump truck, buggy, etc. Thought should be given to what they consider their problems as vehicles in today's society. Acting as "Car Personalities," each group will then present a "spontaneous" dialogue before the class. n. Investigate the Energy Crisis with regard to transportation. Does it affect the Lehigh Valley and what are some possible solutions to the problem.	8. f. A tape could be made of different traffic sounds to be identified by the class. g. Read the Spirit of Saint Louis Charles Lindbergh—report to class how the airplane has changed, etc. h. Write an essay about the time you had to wait for your parents to arrive at the airport on a plane that was ten hours late because it was hijacked. i. Read Amelia Earhart—Burke Davis. Review your emotional reaction to this book. Design a cover for the book. j. Make a time table out of oaktag. List the type of transportation, departure time and place, time span, and mileage, arrival time and place. Compare the time difference between each type of transportation each going to the same place. k. Read "Daedalus and Icarus" Myths and Folk Tales Around The World, Potter and Robinson. 1) Describe the human characteristics that the author has given to these characters. 2) Why did these characters seem real to you?

9. Given a list of environmental problems, the student will identify those which are related to industrial operations and will be able to comment on the steps being taken by industry and by government to remedy the situation.

9. a. Discussion: Solicit from the students their individual definitions of pollution.
- How has it happened?
 - Why is it so prevalent today?
 - What are the dangers?
 - What are the major sources of pollution in the area?
 - Is there one major source?

- 1) Supplement discussion with either film 879 "Effects of Air Pollution" or sound filmstrip "Problems of our Cities Pollution."
- 2) From factual information have students give a "pollution of the month" award.

b. Ask for individual compositions on how your neighbors pollute the environment. Discuss.

c. Ask for individual true confession stories of how the students themselves contribute to pollution.

- 1) Discuss ways in which the student can preserve and improve his environment.
- 2) Develop an anti-pollution campaign within the school.
- 3) Each student should concentrate on his own block and list the sources of pollution he can detect there.

d. Obtain a resource speaker from the City Department of Health or possibly a representative from the steel or cement industries to talk about steps being taken to combat the problems of pollution.

e. Problem Solving Booklet, p. 111-114, "What Does Pollution Mean to You?"
P. 119-124, "Decision Time in Blightsville."

9. a. Collect newspaper and magazine pictures for bulletin boards.
- b. Divide into groups to research specific types and/or sources of pollution in the Lehigh Valley area (i.e., air, water, solid waste, overcrowding, noise, etc.).
- c. A group can prepare a fictitious newscast of an environmental crisis with concentration on a certain metropolitan area (i.e., Los Angeles—killer smog, Chicago—drinking water).
- d. A follow up news cast dealing with the fact that the smog has suddenly disappeared and "Everything is Beautiful."
- e. Make a collage representing illustrations of air and/or water pollution.
- f. Debate: Americans in general are unconcerned about the pollution problems in the United States.
- g. Construct an ecology mobile on a specific pollution problem (i.e., auto pollution—old spark plugs, tail pipe, etc.).
- h. Students should bring to class a newspaper or magazine article describing how an industry or individual company innovated, devised, or invented a method or process to combat pollution. Report on articles to class.

9. a. Report on the Environmental Quality Council.
- b. Write a letter to the Department of Health on inquire about literature available on ecological problems. Report to class.
- c. Report on specific effects of pollution (i.e., detergent problems, Great Lakes, Donora, Pa. October 1948, London, England, December 1952).
- d. A photographic project can be done by having a student take pictures of polluted areas and present to class as a slide lecture to be followed by discussion.
- e. Write an automobile manufacturer to see what steps are being taken to control pollution from cars.
- f. List ways cars have been made safer. Research—people killed in auto accidents prior to safety features.
- g. Student to write an editorial congratulating a local company on what it has done to combat pollution.
- h. A student will write a "letter to the editor" or an article for the school newspaper criticizing or complimenting a company about pollution. Student may make a poster, collage, or mobile describing the article.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES AND SMALL BUSINESS

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

Performance Objectives

1. In a brief study of the development of early industries in the Lehigh Valley area, the student will reach some understanding of how industry played a major part in the growth of Bethlehem.

1. a. Introduce the students to the early industries of Bethlehem by use of lecture and audio-visual materials.

- 1) Junior Craftsmen Along the Monocacy (slides—see J. Waidner, East Hills)
- 2) See catalog for TV channel 39—Lehigh Valley series
 - a) 19th Century Life
 - b) Era of Transition

LOCAL INDUSTRY AND SMALL BUSINESS

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

Performance Objectives

2. Through interview and research the student will be introduced to small business and its development in the city, and will be able to discuss the operation and problems of a representative business.

2. a. Invite 3 local merchants who have remained independent from affiliation with a major chain, despite the growth of the city, to speak to the class. (Refer to SIR.)
- b. Brief tours to different businesses and factories with the possibility of each class touring a different location. A representative of one class might then report to another class. (See SIR.)
 - i) When feasible, walking tours to neighborhood places of business can be taken.

Teacher Notes

2. a. Make a comparison of any one business in Bethlehem using its early years and its present situation (i.e., Just Born Candy Company, Groman's Bakery, Sawyer and Johnson, Schoenens, Brown and Borhek, Laufer's Hardware).

b. A group may interview a businessman to tell about the changes that have taken place in his business over the years.

c. Prepare a bulletin board display concerning local industry or small business.

d. Committees can identify and list the greatest number of different owner-operated (up to 3 employees) businesses, including personal service establishments, which they can locate in Bethlehem.

- 1) Each committee member should attempt to interview an owner, using tape recorder, and report back to committee or class on such questions as:
 - Do you like owning your own business?
 - How did you get started?
 - What is your greatest satisfaction in your business?
 - Approximately how much money does it take to enter a small business?
 - What special education or training is required?

e. Research "franchise." Give examples and explain to class how they operate.

2. a. Choose one present business and dramatize in a monologue the changes that occurred in the business through the years.

- b. Interview a small businessman involved in an urban renewal project.
 - How did his business begin?
 - How long has been at this present location?
 - How will the urban renewal affect his business?
 - Will he re-locate?

c. Research any early factory in Lehigh Valley. (i.e., garment, candy, etc.) (See SIR.)

d. Find out if an individual with a new idea or invention can market it successfully today. How does one go about it? What is a patent? (Contact Sam Verrett, Bethlehem School District Attendance Officer and part-time inventor.)

e. Research topics—What is the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce? How does it operate? In what ways is it typical of chambers throughout the United States? How does it benefit the community?

		T E A C H I N G

3. a. Research the following type questions for class discussion.
 - 1) Does Bethlehem depend on one major industry for survival?
 - 2) How is urban renewal related to the expansion of Bethlehem Steel?
 - b. Research the growth of the South Side of Bethlehem in relation to the growth of the steel corporation.
 - c. What happened to the South Side as a result of Bethlehem Steel expansion?
 - d. Using a specific ethnic group, trace its settlement pattern, type of work and customs followed.
 - e. Research famous, well-known personalities associated with the steel industry. Write and present a 'This Is Your Life' program (i.e., Charles Schwab, Eugene Grace, Arthur B. Homer, Edmund F. Martin, Stewart S. Cort).

Individual

3. Research on famous men of steel (i.e., Andrew Carnegie, Andrew Mellon).

4. a. Compile a listing of the various industries found in the Globe Times Almanac, Telephone Directory (yellow pages), and Directory of Community Resources into the following categories.

- 1) Manufacturing and Processing
- 2) Distribution and Transportation
- 3) Service
- 4) Extractive (using resources of soil)

b. Prepare a graph of the number of different industries or businesses located within the local area into the following categories.

- 1) Number of employees
- 2) Number of locations
- 3) Quantity of product produced for local, national, international markets.
- 4) Type of ownership

c. Form a group to search and compile a listing of various industries in area according to similar products produced, location (i.e., suburban, urban, Industrial Park, type of operation, or number of employees).

d. You are the "City of Bethlehem Welcoming Committee" assigned to guide a group of Japanese industrialists around the city. Compile a tour guide that would show the diverse economy of this area.

e. On the maps of Lehigh and Northampton Counties, locate the major industrial parks. Also list what industries are located there and why did the industrial parks select their respective locations?

4. a. Identify the various examples of firms in the city and the Lehigh Valley area by:

- 1) Marking transparent overlays
- 2) Inserting numbered flags on a map to indicate their location
- 3) Report to class types of businesses that predominate; any kind of geographic concentration of industry; also number that are located within school population boundaries.

b. Research the following Public Services:

- Transportation
Commercial Service Industries
Make a list of examples.

c. Have student construct a model of a specific factory or production facility.

T E A C H I N G

Performance Objectives

1. Through verbal or non-verbal expression the student will be able to discuss the "world of work" and his own attitude toward work.

1. a. Discuss work by introducing the question—People work to get money to make a living. Is this the only reason people work? Other discussion starters—

- 1) Occupations exist for a purpose.
- 2) Work means different things to different people.
- 3) Individuals differ in their interests, abilities, attitudes and values.
- 4) Persons need to be recognized as having dignity and worth regardless of the job held.

b. Use introductory filmstrip, 3183 "Planning Your Career."

c. Each student should interview two people to find out the type of job held and qualifications for the job. These findings should be reported back to class.

d. See catalog for channel 39, "Man and His World—Man At Work."

e. Use resource speakers (see list at end of Careers sub-unit).

2. The student will demonstrate his awareness of employment opportunities by listing specific sources one can use in job hunting.

2. a. Using the classified ads in the newspaper, the students will make a list of available jobs and qualifications needed.

b. Each student should write a brief story on the "oddest job" they ever heard about.

c. Students can survey 9th grade or above students to determine the various types of jobs they hold or have held—both compensated and non-compensated jobs (i.e., newspaper routes, lawn mowing, carrying bags at supermarket, baby-sitting, selling arts and crafts, volunteer work in camps and hospitals).

Teacher Notes

1. a. Groups could write to various agencies to determine types of positions and job qualifications (see appendix).
- b. Have groups write some important or influential people asking them their "secrets of success." Slogans might be made up as a result of the answers.
- c. Use telephone-in-classroom; arrange for interviews of local people over this telephone, with committee conducting interview for entire class.

1. a. Research the various state or federal programs designed to train young people for jobs.
 - b. Make up a news report about the various jobs one encounters each day in downtown Bethlehem. Present to class.
 - c. Draw cartoons depicting certain types of jobs (i.e. see "Simpkins" in Morning Call).
 - d. Write a letter of application to a potential employer stating your qualification for job and why you think you should be accepted for the position.
 - e. Read "The Career of Igor Ivanov." Compare Igor to someone you know and report this to the class or write about this situation. (From Myths and Folktales Around the World by Potter and Robinson.)
2. a. Interview the head of an employment agency. Tape and replay to class.
 - b. Check on summer employment opportunities in the area.
 - 1) Neighborhood Job Corps
 - 2) Community WorkerFind out how these programs provide job experience. Can anyone apply? What are the requirements? Is there a quota? Is there a possibility of permanent summer employment? Can students continue throughout the year on a part-time basis? Who sponsors the program?
 - c. Interviews with employers to find out what they expect of their employees.

T E A C H I N G

Performance Objectives

3. Given a list of fifteen job clusters, a student will be able to give two examples of specific jobs in each cluster.

3. a. A list of opportunities will be compiled throughout the unit. Use the job cluster list (SIR) as a guideline. Place list on bulletin board so it is always available for additions by the students. Class will discuss the accuracy of the categorization, consulting the Guidance Counselor when necessary.

b. Invite school guidance counselor or District Coordinator of Guidance to class.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

3. a. Groups could work on lists of job classifications under topics such as: skilled, unskilled, para-professional, professional, voluntary. Topics must be defined by the group.
- b. Make a large chart for bulletin board listing jobs under these categories:
- literary
 - scientific
 - mechanical
 - clerical
 - persuasive
 - outdoor
 - social service
 - artistic

Total Class

Performance Objectives

1. The student will be able to articulate the role he plays as a consumer and illustrate that role with examples.

1. a. Introduce this unit by discussing "What Is A Consumer?" In what ways are you a consumer? What does being a wise consumer mean?
- b. Develop a list of vocabulary words as the unit evolves (i.e., consumer, goods, services, boycott, advertising, producer).
- c. Write a short essay about your normal day from the time you awaken until you retire. Show how you are a consumer by listing the goods and services you use throughout the day.
- d. Discussion on whether the student would rather buy from a locally owned business or from a chain store.
 - 1) Develop a list of advantages and disadvantages and attempt to balance them.
 - 2) Discuss whether the locally owned grocery store will soon be a thing of the past.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

1. a. Assign each group a shopping area so that they can make a survey and list the stores and articles available in each store. Make a list of the locally owned and also the chain stores.
- b. Select a secretary. Discuss reasons why you prefer to patronize a locally-run store. Have them listed. What are the advantages and disadvantages? Report back to class.
- c. Use a mail order catalog. Write a letter to order merchandise. Check procedure you must follow to order from a catalog.
- d. Have students rate present commercials according to their effectiveness in getting you to watch them, and, as a result, purchase the product.
- e. Have students study commercials and pick out flaws in them.

Individual

1. a. Report on President Nixon's consumer "bill of rights" guarantee.
- b. Students can investigate the Consumers Guide. Report back to class all information one can obtain from it.
- c. Individual students should carry out tests to try out specific products and see if the advertisers claims are true.
- d. Write mock ads or commercials for an on-the-market product.
- e. Have the student design a commercial to spoof products.
- f. Have a student design a commercial for his own invented product, giving all the reasons why someone should purchase it.
- g. As a result of our space program, have students design ads for present day products aimed at the year 2000.
- h. Have a student watch TV on Saturday morning from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and count the number of commercials aimed at him; list types of products and total time span for each commercial.
1) Watch again from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Is there any change? If so, why?
- i. Read The First Book Of Supermarkets Jeanne Bendick. Report to class any unusual information you learned from this book.
- j. Students select products and research these products in Consumer Reports. Report their findings to the class.

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

2. The student should be able to develop and enumerate sound buying practices for both major and routine purchases of goods and services.

Total Class

2. a. Let each student use an imaginary amount of money to buy specific items in several categories; food, cleaning products, sports items. Students report buying to class to see who got the best prices and goods and where goods are available. Supplement by showing film: 3350 "The Country Store"
- b. Make a list of the ways in which consumers can help themselves.
- 1) Read ads carefully
 - 2) Shop around
 - 3) Examine merchandise
 - 4) Know your seller
 - 5) Check guarantee
- c. Ask each student to describe the last articles of clothing he bought and tell:
- 1) Why he bought it
 - 2) When he bought it
 - 3) Whether he still likes it
 - 4) Whether he would buy again
 - 5) What influenced his choice
- d. Each student write a short paragraph describing this article of clothing using the five senses—sight, touch, taste, smell, feel. (Check survey list on page 101-Economics For Young Adults.)

Small Group 2. a. After making up a list of commodities several groups should visit three food stores in order to compare prices on specific items and number of brands available of each item. Where did the items originally come from? Did the store give trading stamps? b. Panel Discussion: The advantages and disadvantages of packaged and convenience goods. c. ROLE PLAY: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Resisting high pressure sales 2) Eager salesgirl pressuring undecided customer 3) Overzealous, fast talking salesman 4) Indifferent salesgirl 5) Rude salesperson Total class should be assigned certain points to look for in presentation. d. DEBATE: Food shopping was easier and the quality better in 1900. e. List buying pointers for specific types of products (i.e. textiles and clothing, appliances, gasoline). f. Have students select certain products, record the prices of the different sizes and the amount to determine which size would be the best buy.	2. a. Interview some elderly people to find out what it was like to be a consumer when they were young. How do they compare it to today? Discuss findings with class. b. Tell the class a story about an experience your parents or grandparents had at the "neighborhood grocery store." Why did they enjoy going there very often? What could they buy there that couldn't be purchased in stores today? c. Write an anecdote about an experience you had at a store trying to buy something or exchange a purchase. Be sure you select one that would be interesting to your reader. d. Do some comparison shopping for items you might buy. Report on brands available; features, prices, guarantees, store services, and policies. 1) Compare prices on specific items in 3 mail order catalogs. Chart your findings.

Performance Objectives

3. The student should be able to recognize methods used to sell goods and services, including advertising and various sales promotions and incentives.

Total Class

3. a. Have class react to certain ads or commercials clipped from periodicals or taped from radio and TV. See "Analyzing Ads" from The Croft Teachers Service in SIR.
- b. Collect ads for analysis and persuasion techniques
- 1) Analyze specific ads (i.e., Jose Feliciano uses Lifeguard Deodorant).
 - 2) Only $149.98 buys a complete bedroom.
 - 3) Enzo Stuarti sells Ragu Spaghetti Sauce
- c. Make a list of all advertising one is exposed to in one day. Does the consumer buy the person or the product?
- d. Conduct an auction in class, with the proceeds to go to a worthy cause. Be sure you remember to use sales techniques that were discussed.
- e. Play excerpts from "The Music Man." Discuss the techniques used by Harold Hill to persuade the townspeople to buy his wares.
- f. Discuss factors that influence people to buy one product rather than another. Why would someone deliberately buy something he knows he can't pay for? Why do some people buy things they do not need or want?
- g. See "The Persuasive Pitch" from the Croft Teacher's Service in the SIR.
- h. Read, then discuss the article entitled "Bugs Bunny Says They're Yummy." (See SIR.)
- i. Have each student compose a letter, based on personal experience, to a manufacturer or store manager asking for information or complaining about a product or service, or complimenting a product or service, or making a suggestion.

S T R A T E G I E S	Individual	Teacher Notes
Small Group 3. a. Groups could define advertising techniques (i.e., appeal to feelings, keeping up with the Jones's, brand names, ethnic-sex appeal, status). Find examples to fit each category. b. Write commercials or ads for specific products. Use phrases, slogans, songs. c. Collect ads for bulletin boards. d. Collect public service commercials. Discuss their effectiveness. e. Using a specific item, find out if you're really getting a bargain when buying the so-called "Giant Economy Size." Check prices on all sizes and divide the price by the ounces on the box. Discuss findings. f. Survey ten advertisements—classify them under established advertising techniques. Are the ads convincing? Do they mislead the public? g. Form a group and write several songs using popular music: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Satisfaction with a product 2) Dissatisfaction with a product 3) Satisfaction with some merchandise (furniture) 4) Dissatisfaction with the merchandise (furniture). h. (See Total Class 3h) Students form groups according to type of letter they are writing. After the letters are written, show them on the overhead or chalkboard and have class discuss whether the letters would be effective. Be sure your letter is written in the proper form used for business letters.	Individual 3. a. Attend an auction and report to class. (The auction could be taped in part and played in class presentation.) b. Compare sale ads with regular priced items in other stores. c. Report on types of buying incentives such as trading stamps, glassware, and other giveaways. d. Interview a businessman to see if he feels his advertising is effective. Why or why not? e. Review "The Music Man" (if not used in total class). What type of salesman was Harold Hill? f. Research consumer credit. g. On a shopping trip to the food store, list all the brand names for soap powder (i.e., Tide, Dash, etc.). List also the colors and design of package. Which would you buy solely from the above information? Soap, cosmetics, shampoo, etc. can also be used.

3. j. Survey parents to find out where they shop and why they shop there.

k. See Resource List for simulation game, "The Consumer."

l. Arrange to interview one or more store managers, owners, or complaint department personnel using telephone-in-classroom.

4. The student will learn to identify by means of research, discussion, and films, the more important laws and well-known agencies that protect and serve him as a consumer.

4. a. After reading People and the City Series, "Buyer Beware," pp. 30-44, major points can be discussed. Use sound filmstrip "Protecting the Consumer."

b. Students can be asked to bring in labels so the information on them may be discussed. Is information helpful? Is it readable and understandable to the average consumer? Is provision made for the Spanish-speaking buyer?

c. Invite a member of the Better Business Bureau to speak to the class.

Performance Objectives

1. Through study and discussion of real life situations, the student will give examples of family financial problems and budget management, and discuss the factors that determine his standard of living.

Total Class

1. a. Draw up a list of personal expenditures on a chalkboard and divide them into "fixed" and "flexible." Then ask each student to make up a weekly spending chart based on his own or fictitious income and expenses. Discuss ways to balance both when income doesn't cover expenses.
- b. Conduct a class or school survey to find out how much students have to spend; how they spend it; and how they use money management skills. Follow up with discussion of spending patterns and management techniques.
- c. Discuss the following questions:
 - How might lack of money affect a person's attitude toward life?
 - How would it make you feel to have plenty of money? Not enough money?
 - What are some of the factors that influence ways in which people spend their money.
- d. Write an essay on what you would do with $1,000,000 if you won or inherited it.
- e. Set up panel discussion by group from class (see Small Group 1b). Follow up with discussion of:
 - 1) Factors that contribute to financial security
 - 2) Factors that threaten financial security
 - 3) How can one plan for financial security?
 - 4) How might one lose his financial security?
 - 5) How important is financial security?
- f. Discuss standard of living. Let each student write a short paper on the goods and services he considers essential to live a good life.

Performance Objectives

1. The students will demonstrate a knowledge of the elements of the novel plot through gaming and discussion (setting characterization, theme, point of view).

1. a. Introduce the students to the elements of dramatic plot through the use of the Cemrel package.
- b. Using large group presentation, the teacher will develop through film or other audio-visual material, the concept of the novel.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

- 1. a. Play the various level games.
- b. Write and/or dramatize the stories developed.
- c. Through committee activity, discuss and evaluate the dramatic presentation through the following criteria:
 - 1) setting
 - 2) character
 - 3) conflict
 - 4) incident
 - 5) crisis
 - 6) resolution

Individual

- 1. a. Student will demonstrate their understanding of main idea and supporting details via one of the following presentation methods:
 - 1) oral
 - 2) visual
 - 3) written

School District

Bethlehem, Pa.

PHYSICAL STRUCTURES UNIT

LITERARY EMPHASIS: Poetry

PHYSICAL STRUCTURES UNIT

(Suggested time - 5 weeks)

OVERVIEW:

This learning unit will provide the pupil with a new concept of what he sees around him. The student will develop an awareness of form in many things as it relates to function. He will begin to see that the environment has a direct relationship to the structure and design of his own home and to other homes. The student will also be able to see commercial structures and design in their direct relationship to the needs man must fulfill as basic essentials for living. It is hoped that the student will perceive that all forms and design ideally have a specific function.

GENERAL OBJECTIVES: SOCIAL STUDIES

- To demonstrate an awareness of the great variety of structures present in his community.
- To be able to identify the principal styles of homes used historically and used today in the United States.
- To gain some understanding of the idea that, ideally, form follows function in the structures we build.
- To recognize through examples the relationship between man's environment and its resources and the structures he builds.
- To give some evidence that the student recognizes that people can express individuality or conformity or a combination of both in the buildings and furnishings that share their lives.

LITERARY Poetry

- To show understanding of the genre by classifying poetic selections.
- To show understanding of the main and supporting ideas of the poem.
- To show understanding of the personality traits of the literary characters.
- To show understanding of the poem by making inferences based on detail.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive the author's intent and/or point of view in the poem.
- To demonstrate the ability to perceive mood or tone in the poem.
- To show your understanding of literary devices in given selections.

FUNCTIONAL Writing:

- Comparisons
- Lyric reports
- Reports
- Paragraphs
- Compositions
- Short stories
- Poetry
- Letters
- Ballads
- Jingles
- Metaphors
- Similes

PHYSICAL STRUCTURES

CONCEPTS

1. Recognition of limitations of environment and opportunity
2. Recognition that man is capable of altering his environment
3. Willingness to make decisions and take action
4. Respect for rights and values of others
5. Needs and wants
6. Land or property
7. Efficiency
8. Resources
9. Government regulations
10. Spatial relationships

19. Social mobility

PROCESSES

1. Draw inferences from printed and non-printed sources
2. Comparative analysis
3. Interview
4. Role playing
5. Locating resources
6. Critical thinking
7. Classification of data
8. Clarify and substantiate one's own values
9. Creative writing

T E A C H I N G

Performance Objectives

1. Through observation and categorizing, students will draw up an inventory of the types of structures—both as to function and form, found in the community.

Total Class

1. a. Through the use of filmstrips, slides, or field trip, class will identify buildings—their physical structure, materials, and function. Students will draw six different styles of buildings (i.e., single frame, twin, row, apartment, rancher, split level, Cape Cod).
- b. Compare downtown Bethlehem with a mall in the area as far as design and function. Which would be preferable for shopping and why?

S T R A T E G I E S	Individual	Teacher Notes
---------------------	------------	---------------

Small Group

1. a. Research design and function of various banks, theaters, shopping mall, grocery stores, city center, library, town hall, the police station.
- b. Compare an older school in Bethlehem with a newer one. Are there any changes in design in the newer that show a change in function or which seem to better carry out a function.
- c. Students list the different kinds of building materials in the area and label them "personal" or "impersonal."
- d. Write a comparison of Martin Towers with the PP&L building in Allentown. How do they differ in size, materials, function, texture, and overall beauty.
- e. With paper mache and other materials, construct a model of an ideal shopping area.

Individual

1. a. Collect pictures of furniture, appliances, flatware, jewelry, clothing, dinnerware, and report back to the class on how their design reflects their function.
- b. Design what you would consider the most comfortable chair (3-d if possible).
- c. Design the house of your choice and the interior (3-d if possible).
- d. Write a lyric poem on a structure in Bethlehem.
- e. Research and report on skylines of the following cities: New York, Chicago, London, and Tokyo. Report to the class on why they are different.
- f. Begin a collection of pictures from the media:
 - 1) Types of architecture categorized according to function
 - 2) Famous buildings
 - 3) Buildings in various stages of completion
 - 4) Design as it appears in nature

PHYSICAL STRUCTURES

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

Performance Objectives

2. Students will be able to identify the activities which take place in each of the following urban zones:
 - 1) The Central Business District
 - 2) A Zone in Transition
 - 3) A New Residential Suburb

2. a. Using a large map of Bethlehem, locate each area-use colored pins to show where each is located.
- b. Discuss the rise and fall of the South Side Business District and its implications to the city.
- c. Why did each area develop where it did?
- d. Show slides with tape of Old Bethlehem available from BIMC. Utilize those slides which have been included of present day Bethlehem. Using two slide projectors, ask students to identify locations in Old Bethlehem. Then test for correctness of responses by projecting modern scenes - comparing both slides, side by side.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

Individual

Teacher Notes

- 2. a. Have students photograph their neighborhood. What kind of neighborhood was it once? Use their slides to analyze why it has changed.
- b. Make a survey of the Southside business district through photographs of buildings and taped interviews. Write up results as a feature newspaper story. Make maps of business area. Make graphs or charts of the business area. (Keep in mind the theme "The Demise of the Southside Business District.") Write editorials and letters to the editor concerning this project.
- c. Using the format, "I Was There," students select a certain period of Bethlehem's past and report on the people, structures, etc., at that time through a report or skit.

- 2. a. Take a walk through downtown Bethlehem. Take notes on the types of stores represented. (Kinds of merchandise sold.) Report to the class.
- b. Arrange a photographic display of the business establishments of downtown Bethlehem.
- c. Have students classify the neighborhood in which they live as one of the three types.

PHYSICAL STRUCTURES

Performance Objectives

3. Students will be able to discuss how physical structures reflect man's dependence on his changing environment throughout history, and will recognize contrasting styles in architectural designs.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

3. a. Compile a list of natural resources in the Lehigh Valley area. How many of these are used in local buildings today?
- b. Visit the Moravian Buildings in Bethlehem. Make a list of building materials they used. How far did they have to travel to obtain their building supplies?
- c. On a walking tour, take pictures of buildings built between the early 19th century and 1930, and a building under construction today. How have the style of the architecture and building materials changed? What possible reasons are there for these changes?
- d. Have students study homes in various geographic regions as to their design, materials and structure. Why did they build the way they did? (See filmstrip "Nature, Man, and Architecture.")
- e. The teacher will show slides of early Bethlehem which the class will attempt to identify as to location. Follow up by projecting slides showing the same locations today for contrast. (See slide collection on scenes of early Bethlehem in BIMC and in public library.)
- 1) The students viewing the slides can categorize the buildings:
 - Public building
 - Church
 - Private building
 - 2) On a map of the city of Bethlehem color code the following structures:
 - Residential - red
 - Commercial - blue
 - Industrial - black
 - Public - yellow
 - Parks - green
 - Vacant - white
- f. The following topics can be handled in general class discussion:
- 1) Should buildings change in design over time?
 - 2) Will center city always be considered modern?

Small Group

- 3. a. Construct models of homes lived in by the American Indians of the Lehigh Valley. On each model, list the materials used for construction by the Indians. Were these available in the area?
- b. Collect examples of building materials used by the Moravians and used today. Combine these in a collage to show the differences.
- c. Visit a building supply store. From where does the merchandise come? Why can we rely on these sources rather than only our own in the Lehigh Valley?
- d. Given several characteristics of world other students can draw homes suitable for the residents.
 e.g. London - clay base
 New York - rock base
 Tokyo - earthquake zone

Individual

- 3. a. Compile a list of building materials used in the construction of your home. Report to the class on how many of these materials are found in the area.
- b. Research brick (masonry) making. When was the first brick house built in Bethlehem? What might have been probable sources of this brick?
- c. Research a European castle. What reasons can you find for the materials from which it is built, and the form it takes.
- d. Compile a list of materials used in the furnishings in your kitchen. Compare to those found in an early Moravian kitchen. Why are they different?
- e. ART: From their study of various homes from geographic regions have students construct a collage of various homes and materials. (i.e., pictures, wood, grass, glass, dirt, etc.)
- f. ART: From building materials a student could construct a mobile. Possible materials:
 - Hinges
 - Screening
 - Roofing nails
 - Siding
 - Tile
 - Wood
 - Cloth

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

4. Through research, students will be able to discuss new trends in city planning.

- 4. a. Invite the local city planner or redevelopment authority director to speak to the class on plans for downtown Bethlehem.
- b. Invite a businessman to speak to the class on his reaction to the redevelopment plans.
- c. Invite a homeowner about to be displaced on his/her reaction to the redevelopment plans.
- d. If possible arrange for a panel discussion with above-named persons presenting their views.
- e. Class writes up Interview Report (See Individual Activity 6g).
- f. Class writes up debate (See Small Group Activity 6e) as a news story.
- g. Class writes up an editorial stating individual views on new trends in city planning.
- h. Show films: GEOGRAPHY OF NEW ENGLAND and SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND: NEW INDUSTRIES.

Performance Objectives

5. The student will recognize that limited space determines what you build and how you build as well as where you build.

Total Class

5. a. Explain why the Freedom-East Hills complex was built where it was (i.e., parking-access roads, future expansion possibilities),
 1) Could these schools have been built in the city? If so, where? Support position with reasons.
- b. Explain why the Industrial Park and A.B.E. Airport were built in their present locations.
- c. If the Lehigh Valley Area was finally to erect a cultural center for the staging of performances, festivals, and conventions, where should it be placed? Why?
- d. Where could the school district build a junior high football stadium? Justify your choice of a site.

5. a. What conveniences or facilities are available at urban sites as opposed to suburban sites. b. List those places in the Lehigh Valley that are easily accessible. c. Discuss the topic: Does the city need the suburbs—Vice versa?

Performance Objectives

6. The student will be able to explain the basic difference between public and private housing, and between a rental and ownership situation.

6. a. Either through class discussion or by assigning small groups to prepare panel discussions or debates the following items might be explored:
 - Who is affected most by public housing, tenant or community?
 - Should rents in public housing developments be stabilized?
 - Should public housing be temporary or permanent?

b. See 4b Small Group Activity.

c. On the topic of Public Housing discuss:

- Who is affected?
- Which government agency can help?
- What results follow from public housing for individual families and for the community?

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

Individual

Teacher Notes

- 6. a. Students will compare public housing to private housing as to — space needed, materials (inside and out), people per acre, design, and the feelings derived from each.
- b. Committee will prepare the following role-playing situation which will then be presented to the total class to spark general discussion:
The tenant is arguing that his rent has gone up—the landlord argues that the increase is due to maintenance. Tenant argues that to raise the rent every time he gets an increase in pay is unjust.
- c. The students will study the countries of Russia and Japan to identify their housing problem. How are other nations handling it?
- d. Students will compile a list of all the housing agencies and explain the basic purpose and services of each. Make a presentation to total class (i.e., H.U.D., Housing and Urban Development, Bethlehem Housing Authority).

- 6. a. Design a 100 unit public housing project on paper—list apartments, parks, roads and any other needed features.
- b. Make a list of the public housing projects in Bethlehem — Allentown — Easton and locate them on a map.
- c. Read poem “Ballad of the Landlord” by Langston Hughes (in Housing Conflicts, People and the City). Pretend you are a lawyer and write a brief defending your client’s actions.

Performance Objectives

7. The student through research and discovery will identify the factors which enable a person to choose where he wants to live, or which limit his choice.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

7. a. Each student will write a brief paragraph stating where he would like to live in the future and why. Compare variety of answers and discuss. Individuals should try to persuade others of the wisdom of their choice.

b. GENERAL DISCUSSION: How does a home contribute to your total being?

- 1) Feelings
- 2) Health
- 3) Comfort

c. DISCUSS:

- 1) What have you added to your home to make it more personal?
- 2) Do you think people should change a house to suit them? Why? _____
- 3) What makes a home more attractive?

Small Group

Teacher: Notes

S T R A T E G I E S

7. a. MUSIC: Compile a listing of popular ballads which convey what makes a home (i.e., "There's No Place Like Home," "A House Is Not A Home," "There's No Place Like Home For The Holidays.")

1) Write a group composition on what meaning these words convey to you.

b. MUSIC: Form a group; choose a popular ballad to write your own words about what a home means to you. Suggestions: Using Burt Bacharach's "A Home Is Not A Home," change the lyrics to suit your feelings. If tape is not obtainable let group choose a ballad of its own choice.

c. MUSIC: Students in two groups bring in pictures—one of physical structures—one of musical instruments. The class can match the instrument which best expresses the building.

1) A montage or mural could then be considered.

7. a. Choose a home shown in the film, "A World Full of Houses," that best suits your needs today and tomorrow—Write reasons why.

b. What neighborhood would you choose to live in whose physical structures suit your needs.

- 1) List the neighborhood
- 2) List the "physical structures"
- 3) List recreational facilities

c. Compose your own song or poem—"What My Home Means to Me."

d. Make a film traveling from home to school studying the architectural environment.

e. Make a film based on "Life In My Neighborhood."

f. Make handbooks on urban problems for your neighborhood.

Performance Objectives

8. Students will begin to explore the role of the individual in architectural design.

Total Class

8. a. Take a walking tour of the neighborhood near your school. Which homes stress individuality, which conformity?
- b. Have students cover empty milk cartons from the cafeteria with brown wrapping paper. Arrange these to resemble a neighborhood. With paint or colored felt pens, change the neighborhood from one of conformity to one reflecting individuality.
- c. Discuss with students how certain architectural features make them feel (i.e., a small cramped room, a large room with a high ceiling, a domed ceiling, a skylight, a sloping floor, a room with no windows, a revolving door, a high balcony).
1) Invite an architect or architectural student to class to comment on these concepts.

S T R A T E G I E S	I N D I V I D U A L	T E A C H E R N O T E S
Small Group	Individual

8. a. Research modular housing and prefabrication and report to the class. Do these foster conformity or individuality?

b. Committee research Life Magazines for series on unusual homes reflecting the creativity of the designer and/or owner. Show examples to class using opaque projector. Class can vote on its favorite and state reasons.

c. Take slides of various buildings in the area: Air terminal, a house of worship, a grocery store, a factory, a sports stadium. Next using records or tapes play various musical selections as they are projected. The class can relate the musical selection to the building form.

d. Have students study natural forms and what kind of buildings might be inspired by each (i.e., sponge, spider, suspension bridge, mushroom-geodesic dome, sea shells-?, etc.).

8. a. Research and report to the class on the following people:

Frank Lloyd Wright

Eero Saarinen

Buckminster Fuller

Walter Gropius

Mies VanDerRho

Obtain pictures of their work.

b. Draw a floor plan of your house. How did the person who designed your house take into account the needs of the family who would live there? What changes would you make so that your family's needs could be more adequately met?

c. Design a school room that allows for individual differences rather than stressing conformity.

d. Use transparency No. 5 from Writing Through Pictures and write a paragraph describing how a child or adult would use this ancient building today.

e. Use transparency No. 44 from Writing Through Pictures and write a composition or short story on your experiences on spending a night in this house alone.

f. Write a poem depicting either beauty or ugliness as to the feelings of a house in your neighborhood.

Performance Objectives

9. Students will develop criteria that should be considered in making a structure into a more attractive and livable place with only minor changes.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

9. a. Using pictures of unattractive homes, have students discuss what minor changes would make it more attractive (i.e., paint, flower boxes, curtains, landscaping, repairs, etc.).
- b. Invite an interior decorator, landscaper, home repair contractor, or a member of the Jaycee Home Renewal project to class to discuss redecorating ideas.
- c. Draw up a list of possible improvements to your school. Rank them in order of desirability and practicality. Discuss with principal, superintendent of buildings and grounds, deputy superintendent, or superintendent.
- d. Class members could obtain several large cartons (i.e., TV, refrigerator crates).
 - 1) Students will crawl into boxes to relate their feelings while inside.
 - 2) Decorate interior of boxes in a variety of ways (bright paint, neutral paint, plush fabric, rough surface such as brick, straw). Again students sit in each box and record how they feel.
 - 3) On one exterior side of each box, students can draw a picture of a house they feel is especially unattractive.
 - 4) On the opposite exterior side of each box, draw a picture of the same house, making changes to render it attractive.
 - 5) Arrange boxes as in a neighborhood, placing all "before" houses on one side and all "after" on the other.

LITERARY EMPHASIS: POETRY

Performance Objectives

1. Through observation and discussion, a student will be able to demonstrate his awareness of what poetry is.

1. a. Film No. 807 What is Poetry? Filmstrips with cassette and records.

b. Class discussion on various types of poetry emphasizing that a poem contains the following characteristics:

- 1) Imagination
- 2) Emotion
- 3) Truth
- 4) Sense impressions
- 5) Concrete language
- 6) Rhythm
- 7) Pleasure

c. A poem illustrating each characteristic should be read to the class and discussed.

Teacher Notes

1. a. Committees will research types of poetry which will be studied (i.e., poems tell a story, express feelings, express ideas, and describe).
 1) Committees formed to research and report back to the total class what is meant by topic assigned? How does the poem fit the area?

1. a. Research poems and poets from your small group which does what you wish it to do (i.e., show pleasure, emotion, truth, and/or imagination). Prepare to read to total class the poem of your choice.
- b. Research and tape advertisements from TV or radio which reach you. Are they a form of poetry? Why? Write your own advertisement to sell a product using lyrics and music.
- c. Bring to class a well-known ballad from the native country of your forebears, play it to total class, translate it for class, and lead a discussion as to its story—Is there an American ballad which tells this particular story?
- d. Design a record jacket about a ballad—Use for bulletin board display. Write a short story about a ballad (i.e., John Henry), use dialogue effectively, and present to total group.
- e. Write a ballad about someone in your class whom you feel would make the perfect subject (i.e., Good looks, athletic ability, intelligence, and personality). Begin your campaign to “sell” your subject to the total class. Write lyrics for your ballad and tape with musical background.
- f. Make up a two or four line jingle that pokes fun at some product. Here are some first line starters:
 - 1) “Get Prell, the hairspray that’s different.”
 - 2) “Your dog will howl for Alpo.”
 - 3) “Crest keeps teeth white.”
 Read these to the class.
- g. Select a poem that you really like and describe its content in a prose summary. Compare your summary with the poem itself. Which do you think is more effective? Why?

Performance Objectives

2. Student will demonstrate the ability to write poems, simply and naturally, about things that are part of their lives.

T E A C H I N G

Total Class

2. a. Teacher distributes pictures of scenes or characters.

b. Teacher plays classical, jazz, rock and electronic music.

c. Teacher discusses nature poetry - if possible class should go outdoors.

d. "Five Step Poetry" - teacher introduces five steps:

1) write down a noun

2) on the line below that write two adjectives

3) third line - three verbs that tell what the noun on the first line does

4) fourth line - write a thought about your noun

5) fifth line - repeat the word in line one, or a synonym or related word.

e. "Forming a Diamond" - teacher introduces directions:

1) line one - a noun

2) line two - two adjectives describing the noun

3) line three - three participles

4) line four - four nouns related to the subject

5) line five - three participles indicating change or development of the subject

6) line six - two adjectives carrying on the idea of change or development

7) line seven - write a noun that is the opposite of the subject

f. Teacher introduces poetry games

1) "Hidden-door game" - student imagines what's behind a "door" and writes it in poetry.

2) "I wish...." poem - student completes the statement with whatever he wishes or dreams.

3) "I used to....but now...." - using their imagination poem can be finished with fact or fiction.

g. Teacher writes a word on the board (i.e., "noises" - teacher will elicit suggestions from the class - committees formed to write original poetry.

h. Teacher introduces Haiku poetry. Class creates a Haiku poem.

Teacher Notes

- 2. a. Write poetry using the pictures.
- b. Write a poem creating images and feelings given by each type of music.
- c. Class writes poetry dealing with nature and surroundings.
- d. Write "Five Step Poetry."
- e. Students will write Diamond poetry.
- f. Committee work suggested for all games.
- g. Write a poem of a special moment in your life - include the colors and sounds of the moment.

Recall some strenuous physical activity (i.e., swimming, hiking) describe in poetry the sensations experienced.
- "Unfinished Poetry" - Write a second line that rhymes with one of the following verses:
1) "There's one thing I'll say for my brother."
2) "My father always has lots to say."
3) "Give me something to wish for, here's what it'd be."
- h. Committees write Haiku poetry - poems will be illustrated by pictures, collages, drawings, paintings, mobiles, or construction.

Performance Objectives

Total Class

3. Given selected poems, a student will demonstrate his ability to recognize that poems tell stories; poems can be sung.

3. a. Teacher reads to the class a few lines of prose and a few lines of poetry. Discuss which is poetry and why.

b. Have class write down or sing some of the rhyming jingles and singing commercials heard on radio and television. Be sure all poetry written in class is heard through reading aloud.

c. Form groups to do the following activities:

1) Finish these first line starters—"A flea and a fly in a flue."

— "There was a pup named Banners"

— "There was a young speedster called Slim"

2) Add a last line for humorous epitaphs—

— "Here lies Jud Hall—May he rest in peace—"

— "Here lies Jezebel Mills—It's too bad she died—"

3) Describe the following:

A cold wind? A sunset? A drum? Dancing? A lawnmower? A fire siren? Summer clouds?

d. Write an original poem in which you really feel something (i.e., excitement, pleasure, anger, unhappiness, pain, etc.). Use topics such as: Loneliness, an airport, the city, a trip to the Bethlehem Steel, a story of a flood, fire, etc.

e. Draw a "door" on the board and show class a picture of a door. Have class write a short poem as to what or who is on the other side of the door.

f. Initiate a group poem. Class will choose subject for a poem. Elicit prominent features of the subject. Have students suggest words, which best describe each of its features. List on Board. Construct the poem line by line from the suggestions given by the students.

g. Introduce class to ballads by the following techniques:

- 1) Play ballads with musical instrument if possible and explain as they are being sung.
- 2) Play records of ballads for the same reason.
- 3) Read collection of ballads from Literary Heritage to tell a story (i.e., Mrs. McGrath, John Henry).

3. h. Show film No. 3077 Folk Songs of America's History as an introduction for American folk music from early colonial days through far western expansion in the late 19th Century.
- i. Play recordings of ballads (i.e., Burl Ives, etc.). Discuss ballads as a story in verse and relate to recordings.
- 1) Initiate writing a class ballad by starting with a recent happening in the school (city) or something original. Write line by line suggestions from the students on the board for the first stanza. Class or groups can complete the ballad. Read and discuss.
- 2) Select committees to write a ballad about a popular personality (i.e., Muhammed Ali, Chris Evret, George McGovern, Evel Knievel, etc.).
- j. Introduce pop/rock recording of "Where Do The Children Play?" by Cat Stevens (Freshwater Music, Ltd., Irving Music, Inc. BMI, 1970). Class writes down their own answers to the question that the title of this lyric asks. Where do the children in your neighborhood play? Is it a good place to play? Will there ever be so many buildings and roads that there will be no empty space left for parks and recreation areas?
- k. Form groups and have each group select their own pop/rock song. Present lyrics to class as modern poetry. Play recording to class and discuss.

4. a. Using transparencies or mounted pictures of people, places and/or things, have students recognize and discuss what type of feeling is expressed by pictures. Poets paint pictures with words, and artists paint pictures with colors. Transparencies No. 28-32.
- b. Read poems or verses to the entire class. Elicit from students what is the mood of each? How does the rhythm and the sound of the words help to create this mood for the reader?
- c. The teacher discusses emotions (i.e., fear, excitement, etc.). A specific situation is discussed concerning a specific emotion:
- 1) Fear: You are alone in your tent on a dark, threatening night, trying to fall asleep; a dog barks and branches creak. The class responds to this specific situation by writing a poem revealing their fear.
 - 2) Sympathy: Pictures/posters on board with children with begging bowls, display of crutches and bandages on desk, etc. class responds by writing a poem revealing their feeling of sympathy.
 - 3) Happiness: Pictures on board of a smiling child wearing a party hat, cake on desk with lighted candles, etc. class responds by writing a poem revealing this feeling of sympathy.
- d. Start a poem with "I wish...." then complete the statement with whatever you wish for. The form is up to the student.
-Start a poem with "I used to....but now...."
-Start a poem with "Who am I?"
- e. Present a mood picture of a person to the class that sets off vibrations in your mind. Ask questions: Who is this person? Why is he doing what he is doing? What are his thoughts? Try to become this person. Write a poem about your feelings.

Performance Objectives

5. Given selected poems, a student will be able to recognize simile, personification, and metaphor as literary devices.

5. a. Class discussion—teacher lecture, with examples as to what literary devices can be employed to convey ideas for poetic interpretation and writing. Use transparencies and mounted pictures to convey literary devices such as simile and metaphor.

b. Discuss the language of poetry in everyday speech (i.e., weeping willow, White Horse Pike, brown-eyed Susan, skeleton in the closet, bull in a china shop, etc.). Explain the literary devices of metaphors and similes as comparisons in poetry.

c. Have class create their own comparisons giving them incomplete sentences (i.e., Martin Towers loomed like For her, home was)

d. Select words for class to write in one sentence comparisons (i.e., A razor blade is like a stainless steel theater ticket, etc.).

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

- 5. a. Research literary devices (i.e., simile, personification) and explain what they mean, and bring to total class examples showing how poet utilized them in his writings.
- b. Carry out the group activities suggested in Total Class discussion (7d). Bring pictures to class that you find will illustrate your poem. Mount these pictures and write your poem below it.

Individual

- 5. Find similes and metaphors in books, magazines, and newspapers. Listen and record them from radio and television programs. Bring them to class. Be prepared to tell what is being compared and why you find these comparisons effective. Can you make up some of your own?

RELATED MUSIC ACTIVITIES

T E A C H I N G

Performance Objectives

1. Students will discover the function of form in musical composition.
2. Students will discover the components of simple song form and distinguish them in the ballad.

Total Class

1. Introduce Lesson 7 "Making Music Your Own," page 16. (This lesson corresponds with the unit designed for Language Arts and Social Studies Physical Structure.)

Through the content of this lesson, the students should be able to gain knowledge of a musical sentence and the other components such as:

- 1) Organization and balance of musical ideas.
- 2) Repetition and contrast of musical ideas.
- 3) Order and sequence of musical ideas.

2. Introduce second part of lesson 7 - explain a paragraph of music (i.e., Haydn's Symphony No. 94).

From the example given in the lesson, the students will know the Marines Hymn is an example of three-part song form (ABA). "The King of Yvetot" (A French Folk Song) is a two-part song form (AB).

VISION OF THE FUTURE

VISION OF THE FUTURE

(Suggested time — 3 weeks)

OVERVIEW

The purpose of this concluding unit is to enable each student to utilize the information and insights he has gained through a year's study of city life. It is hoped that now he can reassess his earlier concepts of the city and its problems, express them in greater depth, and support his conclusions with reasons. The activities in this unit will encourage the student to form hypotheses about the future of the cities, and to consider whether tomorrow's cities can realistically meet the needs of their residents. The student will attempt to plan a city where people can enjoy a quality of life known to only a limited degree today.

GENERAL OBJECTIVES: SOCIAL STUDIES

- The student will review and restate his understanding of the overall favorable and unfavorable aspects of urban living by listing pros and cons and offering reasons and evidence for his choices.
- Students will hypothesize as to ways in which the environment of urban areas will change with the advent of modern technology.
- Students will be able to apply the knowledge gained in this course and relate it to a city of the future, real or imaginary.
- Debating
- Reading novels
- Writing character sketches, news articles, poetry, short stories, diaries

FUNCTIONAL

CONCEPTS

1. Interdependence
2. Recognition of limitations of environment and opportunity
3. Respect for rights and values of others
4. Commitment to one's own values
5. Clarification of values
6. Objectivity
7. Recognition that man is capable of altering his environment
8. Cultural change
9. Social organization
10. Institutions
11. Needs and wants
12. Land or property
13. Industrialization
14. Distribution
15. Resources
16. Production
17. Efficiency
18. Trade
19. Public services
20. Technology

PROCESSES

1. Critical thinking
2. Clarify and substantiate one's own values
3. Develop hypotheses:
 - a.) Develop a hypothesis on basis of data
 - b.) Test hypothesis in light of evidence
 - c.) Modify, reject or restate hypothesis to form generalizations
 - d.) Synthesize by combining concepts, principles and generalizations relating to a particular problem which has been analyzed
4. Locating resources

Total Class

Performance Objectives

1. Drawing on the knowledge acquired in the earlier units, the student will demonstrate an understanding of the overall favorable and unfavorable aspects of urban living by listing pros and cons and offering reasons and evidence for his choices.

1. a. Based on investigation D, "Why do People Live In a City?" Patterns of the City, pp. 170-171, a discussion will be held toward some agreement on the major advantages and disadvantages of city life.

- 1) List each point on board and compile a total class list.
- 2) A majority and minority class report can be given.
- 3) Using information gathered in this course and using Patterns of the City, students will be able to plan a city incorporating the advantages of urban life and avoiding as many of the disadvantages as possible.

b. NOTE: See SIR for language arts activities.

S T R A T E G I E S

Small Group

1. a. Groups using investigation D "Why Do People Live in a City" Patterns of the City, pp. 170-171, will draw up a list of pros and cons of city life.
- b. Of the list drawn up by the class, how many of the advantages are found in Bethlehem? The disadvantages?
- c. Report to the class on your group's findings and try to resolve opposing viewpoints—insist on supporting evidence.
- d. Debate: Resolved: the city of the future will develop around the core rather than suburban sprawl.

Individual

1. Language Arts (Vision of the Future Workbook, SIR.)

Teacher Notes

Performance Objectives

Total Class

2. Students will be able to hypothesize how modern technology will change urban areas as they now know them.

2. a. Show filmstrip "Our Alabaster Cities."

b. Class discussion of problems faced by cities.

- 1) Lack of money for schools, buildings
- 2) Pollution and the role of industry
- 3) Flooding, natural disasters
- 4) Unemployment
- 5) Crime
- 6) Overcrowding, etc.

c. Discuss the concept of "people and nature" now and in the future. Do you expect any change? Why?

d. Discuss the possibilities for home building in the future. (i.e., underwater, glass homes, suspended in air)

e. Invite an architect to class and interview him on homes and building materials of the future.

- 1) See Teacher's Resource Volunteer Directory, p. 3.

f. Problem Solving Booklet, "What Will They Invent Next?" pp. 101-104.

Performance Objectives

3. Students will be able to use the knowledge gained in the course and relate it to his own city or a hypothetical city.

- 3. a. Using quarter inch graph paper, groups can chart out an imaginary city in the year 2000. Different colored pencils might stand for different things (i.e., blue-industry, red-homes, etc.). Use "Investigation E" "How would you build a city?" in Patterns of the City (pp. 174-178) as a guide. The teacher may want to give some of the groups an obstacle to their city's construction. (i.e., a mountain, a body of water, etc.)
- b. Play game, "Make Your Own World," from Coca Cola's Man In His Environment Kit.
- c. The students, through a simulation activity, will discover the assets of the strict gridiron street pattern as opposed to the random patterns found in many urban areas. (See "Patterns for Learning," SIR.)
