ABSTRACT

The 1973-74 survey is a combination of past years Faculty Salary Survey and Administrative Salary Survey. In addition, the present survey has been greatly attentuated because of a reduced budget and the commitment to collect less data from the community colleges where applicable. The survey instrument was designed to collect the information about faculty and administrative salaries which was deemed essential by the Council of Presidents and the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB) staff. Each community college reported data on a comparable basis as closely as was possible. The document consists of 15 tables and brief summaries of the tables. A copy of the survey questionnaire is also included. (Author/SGM)

PREFACE

The Faculty and Administrative Salary Survey: 1973-74 is a combination of past years Faculty Salary Survey and Administrative Salary Survey. In addition, the 1973-74 salary survey has been greatly attenuated because of a reduced budget and the commitment to collect less data from the community colleges where applicable.

The survey instrument was designed to collect the information about faculty and administrative salaries which was deemed essential by the Council of Presidents and the ICCB Staff. Every attempt was made to insure that each community college reported data on a comparable basis.

The ICCB Staff appreciate the cooperation of the personnel in the community colleges in completing the salary survey promptly and accurately. We hope that the information in this survey report will serve the needs of each of you.

INTRODUCTION

The Faculty and Administrative Salary Survey for 1973-74 has been greatly abbreviated from the survey of the past few years. Only the most needed basic salary information was collected for the 1973-74 survey. This information will serve the needs of most community colleges in their salary considerations.

Every attempt was made to insure that the data presented were reported on a comparable basis by each college. Due to the great diversity among the community colleges in their administrative structures and their salary policies it is very difficult to make comparisons on the basis of any salary figure by itself. For example, although the academic year base salary seems to be a very comparable type of figure, it may be very misleading for some institutions that put major emphasis in providing their staff members with overloads, summer contracts, and other extra compensations. Hence, all relevent data must be considered when attempting to make comparisons on an equitable basis.

In this report we have attempted to explain and analyze the data presented in each table. Additional analysis may be desired on an individual need basis. For example, a community college may want to compare itself with five other community colleges that it considers to be in the same category with itself. This type of comparison is probably the most meaningful for local use.

NUMBER OF FACULTY MEMBERS IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 2 shows the number of full-time and part-time faculty members in each of the public community colleges of Illinois distributed by male and female. The total number of full-time and part-time faculty ranges from 58 at Spoon River College to 1,330 at the Chicago City Colleges. This great range represents the large diversity among the community colleges of Illinois. The total number of full-time and part-time faculty in all the public community colleges of Illinois for the fall term 1973 was 9,180.

A summary of the distribution of the Fall 1973 faculty headcount in Illinois public community colleges is shown in Table 1.

INSTITUTION POLICIES RELATED TO FACULTY SALARIES AND FACULTY CONTRACTS AT ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

Table 4 shows the institutional policies at each public community college in Illinois which are related to faculty salaries and faculty contracts. These policies often have a considerable impact on the salaries presented elsewhere in this report. For example, the minimum weekly contact hours per full-time instructional faculty has a bearing on the number of faculty that an institution must have to meet its needs. The length of a full-time academic year contract also has a bearing on academic year salary for full-time faculty.

Of the thirty-eight community colleges in Illinois, nine have professional rank although not all of these use rank as a criteria for salary determinations. Thirty of the thirty-eight districts have faculty tenure while eight community colleges do not have faculty tenure. Twenty-eight public community college districts in Illinois have master contracts with the faculty and of these nine are multiple year contracts.

ACTUAL 1973-74 ACADEMIC YEAR CONTRACTUAL BASE SALARIES PAID TO TEACHING FACULTY

Table 6 shows the low, mean, median, and high academic year contractual base salaries paid to full-time teaching faculty at each community college in Illinois. Academic year contractual base salaries were utilized in this table to obtain as much comparability as possible among all the colleges.

The low salaries represent the lowest base salary paid to a full-time teaching faculty at each of the community college districts. These lowest salaries range from $6,250 to $11,290 at the various colleges. The high salaries represent the highest salary paid to a full-time teaching faculty at each of the colleges. The range of highest salaries was from $13,875 to $24,540. The mean and median salaries represent the mean and median salaries at each college district. The mean faculty salary for all districts was $13,695 and the median faculty salary for all districts was $13,550.

SALARIES BASED ON SALARY SCHEDULE FOR FULL-TIME TEACHING FACULTY WITH MASTERS DEGREE PLUS ZERO HOURS

Table 8 attempts to show the lowest salary, highest salary, and the number of steps in the masters degree plus zero hours column of the salary schedule at each community college in Illinois. Since several colleges do not use the masters degree as a basis for determining position on a salary schedule, alternative but comparable ranges from their salary schedules based on faculty rank (beginning instructors column) was utilized. At least one college used levels on the salary schedule which were based on experience and merit and not on degree or credit hours beyond the highest degree. In this particular case a faculty member with a masters degree plus zero hours beyond could earn the lowest or highest salary paid by the college depending upon other criteria.

The range of salaries for each category at the thirty-eight community college districts as well as the median salary and mean salary for each category are shown in Table 7 below.

SALARIES BASED ON SALARY SCHEDULE FOR FULL-TIME TEACHING FACULTY WITH DOCTORATE DEGREE

Table 10 attempts to show the lowest salary, highest salary, and number of steps in the doctorate degree column of the salary schedule at each public community college in Illinois. For colleges that use rank as the basis for their salary schedule the professor column was utilized. A few colleges do not require the doctorate degree for faculty to attain the highest salary. These exceptions are footnoted on the table.

The range of salaries, mean salary, and median salary for each category shown in Table 10 are shown below in Table 9.

SALARIES PAID TO TOP ADMINISTRATORS IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES DURING 1973-74

Table 12 shows the salaries paid to the chief administrative officer, chief academic officer, chief financial officer, and chief student services officer in each of the public community colleges in Illinois. Although these positions are readily identified at most of the colleges, there are a few instances in multi-campus institutions where administrators share both district as well as campus responsibilities. In addition, in some cases one administrator performs two of the functions listed in the table.

A summary of the salaries paid to top administrators in Illinois public community colleges during 1973-74 appears below in Table 11.

SUMMARY OF SALARIES PAID TO TOP ADMINISTRATORS
IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMPUNITY COLLEGES DURING 1973-74

ADMINISTRATIVE POSITION	RANGE	MEDIAN	MEAN
Chief Administrative/ Executive Officer	$23,500* to $47,500	$31,375	$31,788

FACULTY ORGANIZATIONS THAT ARE INVOLVED IN VARIOUS FACULTY SALARY AND WELFARE ACTIVITIES IN ILLINOIS PUBLIC COMMUNITY COLLEGES

that are involved in various faculty salary and welfare activities at each of the public community colleges of Illinois. The predominate faculty organizations recognized as the negotiating body for the faculty are the AFT, the Faculty Senate and the local faculty association at the community colleges. The local faculty associations are not affiliated with any state or national faculty organization although the individual members often belong to one or more state or national organizations.

A summary of the involvement of each organization in the community colleges of Illinois is shown below in Table 13.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES REPRESENTATION IN FACULTY NEGOTIATIONS

Table 15 shows who represents the Board of Trustees in faculty negotiations at each of the public community colleges of Illinois. In thirteen of the thirty-eight community college districts the Trustees represent themselves either as a group or by some of the Trustees serving on a special negotiation committee. The president or chancellor has the entire responsibility of representing the Board of Trustees at nine of the thirty-eight community college districts in Illinois. The remaining sixteen community colleges utilize a variety of other personnel to represent the trustees in faculty negotiations with other top administrators being the most commonly used representatives. Only four of the community colleges hire outside negotiators to represent the trustees at faculty negotiations.
