The American CRISIS.

NUMBER I.

By the Author of COMMON SENSE.

THESSE are the times that try men's souls: The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it NOW, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly:—'Tis dearness only that gives every thing its value. Heaven knows how to set a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange, indeed, if so celestial an article as FREEDOM should not be highly rated. Britain, with an army to enforce her tyranny, has declared, that she has a right (not only to TAX, but) "to BIND us in ALL CASES WHATSOEVER," and if being bound in that manner is not slavery, then is there not such a thing as slavery upon earth. Even the expression is impious, for so unlimited a power can belong only to GOD.

WHETHER the Independence of the Continent was declared too soon, or delayed too long, I will not now enter into as an argument; my own simple opinion is, that had it been eight months earlier, it would have been much better. We did not make a proper use of last winter, neither could we, while we were in a dependent state. However, the fault, if it were one, was all our own; we have none to blame but ourselves. But no great deal is lost yet; all that Howe has been doing for this month past is rather a ravage than a conquest, which the spirit of the Jerseys a year ago would have quickly repulsed, and which time and a little resolution will soon recover.

I have as little superstition in me as any man living, but my

* "The present winter" (meaning the last) "is worth an age if rightly employed, but if lost, or neglected, the whole Continent will partake of the evil; and there is no punishment that man does not deserve, be he who, or what, or where he will, that may be the means of sacrificing a season so precious and useful."
COMMON SENSE.

Thomas Paine's The Crisis (1776)

This is a first printing of Number 1 of The Crisis, probably the most eloquent of all the pamphlets written during "The times that try men's souls." Composed during the bleak and discouraging winter of 1776 Paine lashed out at the "summer soldiers" and the "sunshine patriots."

Text of The Crisis Title by Colonel Richard S. G. G.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for ^{one} people to ~~dissect the political bands which have connected them with another, and to~~ ~~assume~~ ~~among~~ ~~the~~ ~~powers~~ ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~earth~~ ~~the~~ ~~position~~ ~~to~~ ~~which~~ ~~the~~ ~~laws~~ ~~of~~ ~~nature~~ ~~&~~ ~~of~~ ~~nature's~~ ~~god~~ ~~entitle~~ ~~them~~, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to ~~take~~ ~~the~~ ~~separation~~.

Jefferson's Rough Draft of the Declaration of Independence (June 11-28, 1776)

The original manuscript draft of the immortal statement of American liberties, by Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, with verbal changes by Benjamin Franklin and John Adams noted thereon. This draft contains all changes and additions made from inception of document to its presentation to the Continental Congress. One of the most invaluable documents of American history. Note the marginal notations, "Franklin's handwriting" and "Adams' handwriting."

Not have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren, we have warned them from time to time of attempts by their Legislature to extend a jurisdiction over ^{an unaccountable} these our states, we have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration & settlement; here, for one of which could warrant so strange a pretension: that these were effected at the expense of our own blood & treasure, unassisted by the wealth or the strength of Great Britain: that in constituting indeed our several forms of government, we had adopted one common king, thereby laying a foundation for perpetual league & amity with them: but their submission to their orders: and ^{we} have appealed to their ^{own} justice & magnanimity, ^{as well as to the ties} of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations which ^{we} were likely to interrupt ^{our correspondence}. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice & of concinnity, ^{we must therefore} when occasions have been given them, by the regular course of their laws, of removing from their councils the disturbers of our harmony, they have by their free election established them in power. at this very time they are permitting their chief magistrates to send over not only soldiers, of ^{our} blood, but Scotch & foreign mercenaries to invade ^{our} territories: ^{and} ^{we} ^{are} ^{at} ^{the} ^{same} ^{time} ^{reducing} ^{the} ^{last} ^{state} ^{to} ^{agonizing} ^{afflictions} ^{and} ⁱⁿ ^{many} ^{of} ^{our} ^{brethren} ^{bid} ^{us} ^{to} ^{be} ^{remorseless} ^{for} ^{ever} ^{these} ^{unfeeling} ^{brethren}. we must endeavor to forget our former error, and to hold them as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends. we might have been a free & a great people together; but a communication of grandeur & of freedom it seems is below their dignity. but it is, since they will have it, the road to ^{eternal} happiness, is open to us too, we will ^{not} ^{desert} ^{it} ^{on} ^{any} ^{account}. ^{and} ^{we} ^{are} ^{at} ^{the} ^{same} ^{time} ^{reducing} ^{the} ^{last} ^{state} ^{to} ^{agonizing} ^{afflictions} ^{and} ⁱⁿ ^{many} ^{of} ^{our} ^{brethren} ^{bid} ^{us} ^{to} ^{be} ^{remorseless} ^{for} ^{ever} ^{these} ^{unfeeling} ^{brethren}. we must endeavor to forget our former error, and to hold them as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.
