ABSTRACT

The Portland (Oregon) Public School Project Career Education (PCE) Activities for grades 4-6 is based on the city's overall Area 2 program goals for career education which proposed that children completing school should have sufficient knowledge and competencies to enter into a field of employment or an advanced training program in that field. Discussed in general are the project's goals in career awareness and career exploration. The remaining sections are divided by grade levels (4-6), providing integrated career awareness activities in social studies, language arts, math, health and science, and general areas of interest. For each activity the theme, grade level, curriculum area, life role, purpose, objectives, materias/resources, and teaching procedures are outlined. The document concludes with sample teaching activity blanks and evaluation forms. (BP)

Why Career Education?

Portland School Board Action Number 5338 July 12, 1971 was one of the actions by the Board of Directors. Its title was Learning Opportunities Career Education Department. This action appeared in the minutes as follows:

"WHEREAS, The public schools are responsible for providing every young person with learning opportunities that will enable him to discover his individual interests and abilities. Those learning opportunities should help him explore the many avenues of productive activity that might challenge and extend his talents, of choice, self-direction, self-discipline, and responsibility. Every person who hopes to play a productive role in society must have some sort of occupational preparation since his place in society is, to a considerable degree, determined by his work role. Therefore, an orientation to the world of work and preparation for a career are necessary to his development, therefore, be it further RESOLVED, It is recommended that the Board of Education hereby approve in principle this Career Education program, give it high priority, and provide additional financial assistance as it becomes possible."

Career Education Is ---

Career education is a developmental process which is designed to help all individuals prepare for their life roles: family, citizen, occupational and avocational. Career education enables students to examine their abilities, interests, and aptitudes, relate them to career opportunities; and make valid decisions regarding further education and/or work.

Career education becomes a part of all levels of education from kindergarten through adult life. Kindergarten through grade 6 will provide an awareness of the world of work and an understanding of the value of work to the individual and family.

Through grades 7-10, the student will explore and try out his talents and interests and make tentative occupational and educational choices.

Grades 11 and 12 will provide an opportunity for the student to prepare for entry into a broad occupational area and/or advanced educational programs after high school.

Post-secondary programs will provide for specialized training, upgrading of skills, and retraining opportunities.

Career education is not a separate course in the school curriculum, nor an isolated activity; it is a combined effort of school and community. It is a current, on-going, activity, oriented process incorporated throughout the curriculum, designed to help the individual develop the skills and knowledge for effective participation in all life roles.

(This definition was developed by principals and coordinators of the Madison Attendance Area Planning group and is derived from over 40 definitions from across the country.)

PROJECT CAREER EDUCATION K-10

Project Career Education K-10 is based on the overall Area II program goal for Career Education which proposes that:

Every child shall, upon completion of his public school education, possess sufficient knowledge of many occupational fields, including knowledge of entry requirements, to be able to make an informed selection of an occupational field and shall have developed competencies that enable him to enter into employment or an advanced training program in that field.

PCE K-10 is further divided into CAREER AWARENESS and CAREER EXPLORATION.

CAREER AWARENESS

Every learner, upon completion of the kindergarten through grade six portion of his public school education, will have developed an awareness of the world of work including:

- A. knowledge of a variety of occupations and their related tools and duties,
- B. knowledge of contribution and interdependence of work done by members of society,
- C. relationship of subject matter to the world of work,
- D. and an awareness of self as related to the life roles of family, citizen, leisure, and vocation.

Goals for Career Awareness grades K-6 that support the overall Area II Goal should be of sufficient scope and depth to enable each student to:

- A. explore and assess personal attitudes, aptitudes, attributes and interests.
- B. examine the concepts of work and work roles and the many occupational possibilities.
- C. develop attitudes, knowledge and skills needed for effective employment.
- D. develop self awareness as related to the life roles.

By the completion of grade 6, students will have attained the Area II goals and sub-goals through their involvement in career awareness activities developed in the PCE K-10 Curriculum Activity Guide, Idea Book, People In Products and Services, and teacher developed career awareness activities.

2. As the student approaches the summer of his sophomore year he will be able to develop a personal resume by using the information contained within the folder.

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the file will be:

SELF-UNDERSTANDING SURVEYS

GOAL: A self-evaluation and understanding program will be used with students in grades 7 through 10 in each of the project schools.

CONCEPTS:

Due to the structure and complexity of society today students are frequently not familiar with job titles and descriptions of people with similar interests and aptitudes to their own.

Through use of interest inventories, aptitude tests and occupational access systems students will begin to identify and explore their personal interests and aptitudes in relationship to those of successful workers.

OBJECTIVES:

1. Each 7th grade student will have used the Job-O interest inventory Survey and completed a research of the job that is of greatest interest.
2. The 8th and 10th grade students will have been provided a computer print-out of the results obtained from using the USTES Interest Checklist. They will then be counseled individually/ or in groups concerning the results.
3. Students in the 9th and 10th grades will have an opportunity to use the Career Information System located at Marshall High School. Their computer print-out will be given to them for filing in their career folder. (The CIS needle sort is available at 8-10 levels.)
4. Most students at the 10th grade will have taken the General Aptitude Test Battery. The results of this will be interpreted to the student in group and/or individual counseling meetings.

2. In the seventh grade exposure should be of short duration and a wide variety of occupations.

OBJECTIVES:

By the end of the tenth grade students will:

1. be familiar with occupational classifications in career cluster.
2. become aware of jobs relating to data, people, and things.

Text p. 177-179
- p. 114 Teacher's Manual Harcourt Brace
- p. 100 Text Harcourt Brace
- a number of 6" square cotton patches
- needles, thread, crayons, binding, quilt batting, darning needles, yarn, length of cloth (size of quilt)

- Purpose: To make a child aware that there is more than one job involved with each place of business.
- Objectives: After following investigating procedure listed below, each group of students, in writing, will revise their lists of jobs involved in the place they investigated.
- Materials: permission slips, paper, pencils
- Procedure:
1. Each committee will investigate the place of business they have drawn in one or more of the following ways:
 - a. a telephone interview
 - b. a walking trip to the place of business as a homework assignment or during school time. If done during school time, find out procedure from your school office; can they go by themselves as a group, or could you arrange for a high school aide or a parent to accompany them? Could each group make arrangements in advance for an appointment to talk to someone at the destination?
 2. Students should take the list of jobs they have compiled with them to discuss at the place of business. Children will probably be surprised at how many jobs are involved in running each place. The purpose of the interview is for students to ask what jobs they have omitted, if any, on the lists they compiled themselves.
 3. After investigation, children can compare the lists of jobs they compiled with information they obtained and revise their list.
 - a. Are there more jobs involved than they thought of? (This will probably be the case)
 - b. Less?
 - c. If there are more, what are they?

Theme: Futuring

Grade Level	4
Curriculum Area	Social Studies
Life Role	Leisure
	Vocational

Purpose: To develop an understanding of how the past and the present may affect the future.

Objective: Given drawing paper, the child will illustrate example of how the past, present and future are inter-related.

Materials: 12 x 18 paper, pencil, magazine, scissors, glue.
Film: "Let's See: Hands Grow Up"

Procedure: Much of children's play is an imitation of and preparation for adult activities. For example, young children at play may make mud pies. In fourth grade a child may make a ceramic object. As an adult, a potter may make vases. There are a wide variety of occupations and avocations that children are training for every day.

1. Discuss: What are things you used to do that you don't do now? What can you do today that you couldn't do before? What would you like to do in the future that you can't do now?
2. Fold a 12 x 18 paper into three equal parts. Draw a picture of yourself doing something you did in the past. Next draw yourself doing something you can do now. Last draw something you might do in the future. Try to make the pictures inter-related in some way. Write a caption under each picture.

Alternate Plan: Use pictures from magazines. Begin the lesson with the film: "Let's See: Hands Grow Up".

Some students have part-time or evenings-only jobs such as: paper routes, babysitting, mowing lawns or dog walking. When introducing an Application Form, be sure to explain that an application requires a signature instead of just your printed name. It is important that a signature always appears the same way for identification purposes. It would be good to discuss why an employer needs an Application Form from the employee.

- Objectives: Given paper and pencil each student will write an autobiography.
- Materials: Paper
pencil
- Procedure: Discuss what kind of information would be included in an autobiography. Write autobiography, illustrate and develop into a class book. "Our Room"
- Idea:
The autobiographies usually prove to be interesting if they are written as a series of episodes in the life of the child rather than a running tale. Work out a plan with the class to include information such as:

My earliest memory
 My best (or first) friend
 My first trip
 My new dress
 I was so embarrassed
 I was all mixed up
 My happiest day
 When I was sick
 The pet I love
 My favorite toy

Theme: Growing Up As a Family Member

Grade Level	4
Curriculum Area	Science
	Health
Life Role	Citizen
	Family

Purpose: To learn that growing up as a family member involves feelings, emotions, decision making, fairness and aspects of togetherness.

Objectives: Students will be able to:

1. Perform questioning strategies to create new data about their traits, responsibilities, etc. as a family member.
2. Listen, analyze, and then respond to created questions about the family.
3. Conceive that each child in the family be treated according to his special needs and according to his age.

Materials: Health and Growth, Scott Foresman, Book 4 p.42

Procedure: Read and discuss the role of family members from the textbook. The student will identify ways they can grow in being a good family member, in learning how to handle troublesome feelings, in showing kindness to others, and in being willing to appreciate the differences in other people. Review with children the things they can do to help to be a good family member.

Talk about:

1. What are some advantages of learning to get along with brothers and sisters?
2. Does quarreling mean brothers and sisters do not like each other?
3. What is one thing to do that sometimes helps prevent a quarrel?
4. When can a quarrel at times be helpful? (When angry feelings are brought into the open -- so that one person can come to see another's viewpoint or at least see why the other person feels as he does.)

Many other aspects of being a good family member could be discussed.

Theme: Growing Up As a Family Member

Follow-up:

1. Inquiry game developed by John Davies, Specialist, Career Awareness, State Board of Education. Follow form as detailed in the handout. Have the cards titled to relate with feelings and emotions.

INQUIRY

Concept: The process of the Inquiry Approach produces, processes and applies data

Objectives: Students will be able to:

- Use the inquiry process as one technique for obtaining data about occupations.
- Exhibit a change in skills of communication by improving their data collection and application.
- Perform questioning strategies to create new data about occupations; their traits, responsibilities and tools.
- List the types of questions that will give them large concepts contrasted with those that will give them specific facts.
- Listen, analyze and then respond to created questions.

Statement:

This activity can be adapted to any grade level. The process of the activity is the major focus and should be carried out, at least, three times a week. As students become more skillful, try colors, concepts, words that define concepts, tools, behaviors, feelings, etc.

Materials: 1 felt pen
35 3 x 5 cards

Activity

Day 1

20 min. Explain the rules of the simulation.

Rules: You may ask questions

You may only ask 3 questions per person

If a person has identified their card then you take it off of their back and put it on front of them

Questions can be answered with only yes or no

Place cards on backs on every one in the room and then allow them to ask their questions. If anyone identifies their occupation they are to continue to answer questions for the others.

- 15 min. After 20-30 minutes stop the activity and have them place their cards on the front and have them group themselves according to similar services performed. Have each group define why they have grouped themselves in particular group.
- 10 min. Discuss the large concept of how and why we group things such as occupations, services, people, society, etc.
- 5 min. Finalize lesson by answering questions the students may have on how to ask questions to get data for new questions. Prepare them for the session the next day.

Day 2-3-4-5

- 60 min. Continue to use various occupations until students have developed some sort of sophistication in questioning strategy.

Be sure to use the same strategy as in Day One.

Have the students develop and hand in their jobs they have found, that are different, for the next days cards.

Day 6

- 60 min. Implement the student cards. Use the same strategy as in Day One.

Day 7

Initiate new concepts and dimensions of the game. Try behaviors or people traits.

Comment:

Sometimes we should treat the program and not the child. The child is a product of the program. This approach should be used in a non-authoritarian manner. Structuring students natural questioning strategy too much creates un-natural communication. Children should have the opportunity to develop freely with personal guidance from the teacher. There should be no condition to right or wrong but should be considered a fact of human frailty.

Theme: Craftsmanship

Grade Level	5
Curriculum Area	Social Studies
Life Role	Vocational
	Leisure

- Purpose: To demonstrate to children that items made in colonial times were hand constructed.
- Objectives:
1. Through observation each child should be able to identify and list at least two tools used then that are still used today.
 2. To develop concept of Supply and Demand, Mass Production, and demonstrate pride in workmanship of the finished product.
- Materials: Films, "The Cooper's Craft", "Gunsmith of Williamsburg", "Basketmaker in Colonial Virginia" or "The Silversmith, the Hammerman".
Order films. Only one film is necessary for this lesson. All are excellent films. All films are 40 minutes each.
- Procedure:
1. Through discussion the class should become aware that some hand tools change and others do not. Change takes place when there is a need. Bring out the idea of "Supply and Demand". Discuss what "Mass Production" means.
 2. See film. Have class keep a record of tools used and how they were used. What skills were needed? What tools are used today?
 3. Teacher should preview film first if possible.
 4. Use with new Social Studies Adoptions.

CAREER AWARENESS

Theme: Dependence of Industry on Raw Materials, Workers and a Market

Grade Level 5
 Curriculum Area Social Studies
 Life Role Vocational

Purpose: Each child will become aware through discussion that an industry is dependent on workers, raw materials, and a market.

Objectives: Each child will listen and generalize and understanding of Raw Materials, Workers, and Market and see how they are related.

Materials: None

Procedure: Why do various industries locate in a given area?

Raw materials
 people (workers)
 Market

1. Define raw materials and discuss difference between finished product. Explain that a finished product can be converted into still another finished product. Example--Iron ore to sheet steel--Sheet steel to parts for a car and then to the finished automobile. There are many examples of this.
2. What things create a market for goods? Discuss with class.
 Discuss supply and demand. Discuss how a scarcity of goods forces the price to increase.
3. Discuss with class why workers are necessary in the production of a product. Discuss how one person who is employed then creates jobs for others. (It has been stated that one job creates seven other jobs.) The converse of this also applies.
4. These discussions should be continued over a period of time.
5. Use discussions in conjunction with new Social Studies Adoption.

Life Role	Vocational

Purpose: To identify various job roles and how each is necessary in a block in the school neighborhood.

Objectives: Children placed in teams of two will identify and plot on a map objects observed in a block of the school neighborhood (i.e., Telephone poles, houses, cars).

Materials: Dittoed outline of area walked with boundaries labeled.
Something sturdy to write on Pencils

Procedure:

1. Discuss with class the purpose of walk.
2. Divide class into teams of two. Each couple will make note of what they see by plotting and identifying on dittoed map.
3. When return to class, each team may revise or discuss what they have seen and plotted.

Grade Level 5
 Curriculum Area Social Studies
Science
 Life Role Vocational

- Purpose: To identify various job roles and how each is necessary in a block in the school neighborhood.
- Objectives: Given pencil and paper or flow chart
1. Each child will construct a simple flow chart.
 2. Through the use of a flow chart, each child will be able to identify at least four inter-related job roles to produce a product.
- Materials: Dittoed map of trip
 Paper for flow charts (optional)
 Butcher paper or tagboard for flow charts (optional)
- Procedure:
1. Through the use of teacher led classroom discussion, list on the board things students saw on their trip.
 2. Take one item and develop job roles involved in production of it -- flow chart example -- : House - logger, sawmill worker - carpenter, plumber, etc. (see Pages 5-6 or page 10 for instructions on constructing a flow chart.)
 3. Have each team of two choose one item from the board and make a flow chart. This can then be recopied and placed on a bulletin board. Class constructed flow chart should also be copied and put on board.
 4. Teacher can ditto form for flow chart. Also work can be done as whole class instead of groups or as homework.

HOW TO MAKE A FLOW CHART

A flow chart is a diagram which enables the child to have a picture of a theme in its entirety. It involves choosing a topic and breaking it into its various parts. This is done by choosing an area of study, then listing the major categories, and progressively breaking them into sub-divisions.

An approach to making a flow chart is to brainstorm, to list the ideas in appropriate sequence, and finally to revise them into a useable framework.

An example entitled "Seed Through Sawmill" is provided.

Theme: Supply and Demand - Simulation Game

Grade Level 5
 Curriculum Area Social Studies
 Life Role Citizen
Vocational

Purpose: To develop the idea of supply and demand and relation to price.

Objectives: 1. The class as a unit will discover and define the concept of supply and demand and observe the relationship to price.
 2. At least 10% of class will demonstrate bartering between students.

Materials: 1. good supply of beans (or any easily available medium) each child to receive equal number of beans.
 2. items to be auctioned in various quantities, but total amount should be at least 5 times size of class. (i.e. tongue depressors, magazines, crayons, clay, sponges, candy, cookies. Teacher can decide which best for him. May want to use items student can keep.)
 3. Tally sheet or blackboard.

Procedure: 1. set up rules for the auction (raise hand, shout out, stand--whatever class decides).
 2. Teacher may either keep a personal tally or use blackboard. To be used as reference for discussion.

i.e.

ITEM	QUANTITY	# SOLD	COST
KIDDEX	10	7	1 BEAN

3. Game should take 20-30 min. depending on interest, ability, etc.
 4. Teacher announces item to be auctioned and tells quantity. Children decide if they want to "buy" and decide cost.
 5. As children run out of beans, may "buy" new items with those they have. (Can also barter among selves--but shouldn't be mentioned, it should be an objective.)
 6. As game progresses, teacher can "discover" more of an item previously announced as a limited item. Should also mention something few if any children

7. After game, discuss as class what was noted - might take each item and discuss (use tally sheet).
8. In conclusion, class should be able to state that supply and demand highly related and can, if not definitely, affect price.
9. As a continuing activity, the newspaper ads and want ads can be used over a period of days and weeks to see direct application of law. Can relate to natural resources, labor problems, etc.

Theme: Tools

Grade Level	5
Curriculum Area	Social Studies
Life Role	Vocational

- Purpose: To make each child aware of the tools that are used in industry, home and elsewhere.
- Objective: Each child will successfully demonstrate his knowledge of one tool by name.
- Materials: 3 x 5 cards
Marking pen
Pictures of tools (Use Wards or Sears catalogs)
- Procedure: Before a game is played, teacher will have constructed a series of 3 x 5 cards with tool names printed on them. Pictures of tools may be used instead of names. Teacher will need to discuss types of tools before game is played. Put cards on backs of children. Children do not know what card they have on their backs. Children are to discover what tool they are by the use of questioning others in room. They are to ask only three questions from any one child. Set a time limit of 15 to 20 minutes.

Grade Level	5
Curriculum Area	Health, Science, Art
Life Role	Vocational, Leisure

Purpose: To correlate design of a tool, and specially tooth design, to use or function.

Objectives:

1. Each child will design a tool for a specific task using modeling clay.
2. Through discussions and tool models, the class will formulate the idea that a tool's design is directly related to its use or function.
3. The class will generalize through discussion that the above premise also applies to teeth and/or bone design and function.

Materials: modeling clay paper for labels
table with labels of four functions large model of teeth (optional) check AV catalog or Dairy Council
Scratch paper (optional)

Procedure:

1. Provide a table to display the tools according to function with labels:
 - a. cutting tool
 - b. tearing tool
 - c. crushing tool
 - d. grinding tool
2. Divide the class into teams of four. Each team is to design four tools to cut, tear, crush, grind. The team should discuss design then each person in the team make a tool. Each child should be able to substantiate his design. (They may wish to draw first.)
3. When each child has finished, give out modeling clay.
4. As each child finishes, he should put his tool on the table in the appropriate category card with team names. should be displayed with the tool.

Follow-Up Activities:

1. The tool designs should be discussed and children should express reasons for design. Could have class vote as to which tool has the best design for its use or function.
2. Correlate to teeth unit--Health and Growth, p. 157-161. Compare clay tools with teeth design and use. Could use model of teeth.

5. Children desiring jobs will make an application using specified form. Jobs should be held to a definite time limit.

A further development may be to have a board of directors, elected by class members, appoint applicants to the jobs. Pay for good work in the form of special privilege time activities could build incentive for good performance in jobs.

A transparency of application form may be useful to help children understand and use.

Procedure:

1. If family members are unemployed, then student may choose to report on neighbor, relative, etc. (Don't forget that "Home making" is a career.)
2. Using classroom discussion, class and teacher will develop a simple questionnaire to be used. Teacher will need to lead class in proper direction.

Example: Job Title _____ What do you do? _____
 Training necessary _____
 Tools needed _____ Are uniforms needed? _____
 Length of time needed for training _____
 Do you learn skills on the job or in school? _____

3. Teacher is to make enough dittos for use in Activity II and at home. Also, some students may want to interview more than one person in a home.
4. Follow with Activity II.

INTERVIEWING PARENTS

In answer to questions regarding parental occupations, children usually answer that father works downtown, in an office, a factory, a mill, and so on. But not many children are able to describe the nature of the work in which their parents engage. Each child may ask his parents to describe to him the nature of their work. As each child reports on his parents' occupations in class, the other children ask questions and begin to explore ways in which the occupations contribute to the welfare of the people in the community.

Purpose: To enable the student to conduct an interview with family members.

Objectives: Through role-playing

1. Each child will acquire skills in using a questionnaire
2. Each child will conduct an interview or be interviewed

Materials:

1. Questionnaire (ditto from previous lesson)
2. Pencil

Procedure:

1. 2 students before the class play the role of child and family member. Share feelings about how one felt in his particular role.
2. Each child has an opportunity to be an interviewer and to be interviewed.
3. Homework assignment is to conduct an interview with member(s) of family at home. (Allow sufficient time for all students to complete task.)

INTERVIEWING PARENTS

In answer to questions regarding parental occupations, children usually answer that father works downtown, in an office, a factory, a mill, and so on. But not many children are able to describe the nature of their work. As each child reports on his parents' occupations in class, the other children ask questions and begin to explore ways in which occupations contribute to the welfare of the people in the community.

ROLE PLAYING

Role playing is useful to reinforce knowledge children have already gained about a particular career. Two or three children may act out the part of job applicants while another child pretends to be the employer. Some other situations could be: an employer confronts a worker who is repeatedly late; an office worker asks for a raise; an employer confronts a careless worker; a waitress confronts an irate customer; a sales man tries to convince a customer to buy his product; solve an argument which has ensued between two employees using the same tool. The climate of the class should provide room for mistakes as role playing usually causes laughter. This merriment should be laughing together instead of laughing at the performance.

Purpose: To allow children to identify that there is a real difference in types of jobs roles that people have.

Objectives: Given a strip of paper each child will be able to classify and post his parent's job role into one of the three areas--They are "Data--People--Things" (See following page.)

Materials: Large bulletin board covered with plain paper. Divide board into three areas. Data, People, Things. Teacher has strips of paper 2" x 14".
Questionnaire from previous Activity II.

Procedure:

1. Discuss with class the difference between the classifications.
2. Students then print parents job title on strips of paper.
3. As they finish, they then go to bulletin board and pin up their parents' job title in one of the three areas.
4. A general discussion is held concerning this activity and corrections are made. Allow each child to explain his decision as to why they choose a certain area.
