ABSTRACT

The 1975 supplement to the National Task Bank consists of 550 additional tasks in the field of human service selected and edited from task analysis projects in a number of States. The supplement is organized in the same format and numbered sequentially with the original edition published in 1973. The use, organization, and development of the Bank, which now contains a total of 1,096 task statements useful in the solution of manpower problems, are described. Tasks in the Supplement are arranged in 14 functional categories of data, people, and things for human service agency personnel including professional social workers, paraprofessionals, administrative, and clerical workers. Within each category, tasks are organized into subcategories and coded for identification purposes. The bulk of the document consists of the task statements in a form similar to that of the Upjohn Task Bank Cards. Information includes: a task description, performance standards (descriptive and numerical), training content (functional and specific), and suggested GED score levels. (Author/MS)

TO: USERS OF THE NATIONAL TASK BANK OF TASKS IN SOCIAL WELFARE

SUBJECT: THE 1975 SUPPLEMENT TO THE NATIONAL TASK BANK

Attached is a copy of the 1975 supplement to the National Task Bank, consisting of some 550 additional tasks selected and edited from the submissions of participating States in 1974.

Organization:

The supplement is organized in the same format and numbered sequentially with the original edition published in 1973. To incorporate these additional tasks, substitute the new table of contents for the existing one, and also substitute the new index pages, at the beginning of each major category. New sub-categories have been added which are not mentioned in the earlier table of contents or on the index pages.

Next, insert the new tasks by category and sub-category into the original task bank. For example; the first category in the Task Bank is labeled ADMINISTRATION, and the first sub-category, A, is (Program Planning and Development). The new tasks begin with task number A.A.12 and continue through A.A.22. Insert these eleven tasks in the bank, following task number A.A.11.

The next sub-category is A.B. (Fiscal/Budget Planning and Management). The new tasks begin with task number A.B.8 and continue through A.B.25. Insert these tasks in the bank following task number A.B.7. Follow this procedure throughout to combine the supplementary tasks with the original Bank.

In some instances, new sub-categories have been added. For example, under the category ADMINISTRATION, a new sub-category, A.F. (Personnel) has been added. Insert this sub-section following task number A.E.5. Use the new table of contents as a guide, and the process should proceed smoothly.

FUTURE ADDITIONS TO THE TASK BANK

It is respectfully requested that Task Bank users devise a means for the identification of new tasks developed in the field, which are not now included, so that new tasks can be identified quickly and easily submitted at a later date for inclusion in the next supplement. Your assistance will be appreciated.

NATIONAL TASK BANK
Revised November 1975

The National Task Bank consists of 1,096 tasks in the field of human service, arranged in 14 categories. These tasks have been taken from task analysis projects in a number of States who were concerned with a more efficient and effective use of available manpower resources, and with the development of career lattices for the advancement of all staff, especially the paraprofessional.

ORGANIZATION

Table of Contents:

The Table of Contents of the National Task Bank was developed to provide a point of reference for, and to facilitate the review of the Task Bank by Task Bank users and to provide SRS with a broad idea of the kinds of work and service areas which have been analyzed. This identification enables future efforts to focus on areas which have not been covered or analyzed, or which have been covered inadequately.

Please note that the development of a Table of Contents by an ad hoc group is inconsistent with the theories and principles of Functional Job Analysis, which looks at work not in terms of titles or positions, but in terms of functional levels and orientation. In no case do we mean to suggest that the tasks in a particular section are performed only by workers with titles associated with the title of that section. Tasks in the Social Work section are not performed only by social workers, nor are those in the clerical section performed exclusively by clerical personnel.

Format:

- A. Tasks are presented on a form similar to that of the Upjohn Task Bank cards, (McBee Keysort System) except that the mechanism for punch coding, located around the margin of the McBee card, has not been shown.
- B. Coding: Tasks are coded in the upper right-hand corner, in the box labeled, "Task No."

EXAMPLE: Task No. A.A.1

- A. (first letter) = category (Administration)
- A. (second letter) = sub-category (Program Planning and Development) of category (Administration).
- 1 (number) = unique number of task within sub-category.

The letters and numbers do not indicate importance or complexity of the task. They are only for identification purposes. Thus, the task coded A.A.1 is not necessarily more important or more complex than the task coded A.B.2.

- C. Identification/Location: The Table of Contents is a list of categories and sub-categories of the tasks in the National Task Bank. To find a specific task in the National Task Bank:
1. Search the Table of Contents for the category and sub-category which best fits the particular situation.
 2. Locate that category or sub-category by code (Upper right-hand corner of Task Statement Blank in box labeled, "Task No.").
 3. Read through the tasks in the sub-category to find the one which best fits the situation.

Note that there is some overlap among the categories and sub-categories. That is, there are some Clerical tasks in the Income Maintenance/APA category, etc. Because of the infinite ways tasks are organized into jobs it is necessary to review several related categories to insure that all related, or comparable, tasks in the task bank have been identified and selected to meet the needs of the analysis under investigation.

USES OF THE NATIONAL TASK BANK

The National Task Bank can be used by many people to provide information for the solution of manpower problems:

SUPERVISORS-in evaluating performance, assigning task.

TRAINERS -in identifying needs and developing curricula.

MANAGERS/ADMINISTRATORS
-in developing staffing patterns.

JOB DESIGNERS

-in developing career ladders and lattices, and restructuring assignments.

PERSONNEL OFFICERS

-in interviewing job applicants.

CLASSIFICATION SPECIALISTS

-in classifying jobs for pay purposes.

The National Task Bank does not provide complete coverage of the field, nor is every task written in the way that an individual State will find most usable. Individual users must recognize that the tasks in the National Task Bank were edited without a knowledge of the objectives to which they would contribute and without knowledge of the complexity of forms, standard operating procedures (SOP's), manuals, guidelines, etc., involved in the tasks. Editors in the field will need to develop new tasks and modify or adjust those in the National Bank to fit their specific needs and situation.

This need for individual adjustments will be particularly evident with regard to the GED levels of Reasoning, Math, and Language. The editors' lack of knowledge of the complexity, size, and information requirements of forms, complexity of SOP's, manuals, and guidelines, made it impracticable to reliably assign GED levels from the information in some of the tasks.

Procedure

Following a meeting of task analysts in November 1971, the Social and Rehabilitation Service, in March 1972 requested through the regional offices, that States submit tasks to SRS for inclusion in the selection and editing process for a National Task Bank. These tasks were subsequently delivered to the Upjohn Institute.

During this same period, the Upjohn Institute conducted a Reliability Study to determine the amount and type of consensus among editors in various States, and provide a point of reference for editing and selecting tasks from individual States. The study consisted of 15 task statements, divided into two sections. Editors were asked to rate the first 10 tasks, referring to the Upjohn Benchmarks and using their own knowledge and experience in the field. For the last five tasks, they were asked to edit, rate, and develop performance Standards and and Training Content for each task.

The analysis of the information in the Reliability Study provided the material for the development of the Editing Manual.

In April 1972, the Upjohn staff completed the initial sort of the tasks received into broad program areas. These tasks were then submitted to a detailed comparison to consolidate those with face similarity and identify those with substantive differences. The detailed comparison facilitated the initial selection of tasks to be edited within each broad program area or category. This selection was based upon the available material and the applicability of the content of the tasks to a variety of users.

The tasks were edited by the staff of the W.E. Upjohn Institute with assistance provided by selected personnel from SRS.

A coding procedure for identification purposes was developed, and each task was coded by category, sub-category, and unique number within the sub-category. Like the organization of the material, this procedure allows for inclusion of new tasks and deletion of those which may not be applicable within specific organizations.

Early in 1974, a second request was made to States using task analysis, to submit tasks which had been developed since the issuance of the National Task Bank in 1972. These tasks were sorted, screened and edited in a procedure similar to the process employed in the development of the initial Task bank.

Since the Task Bank has been developed primarily to meet the needs of State agencies, categories were included in this revision which were not included in the initial issuance, and includes programs for which the Social and Rehabilitation Service does not have administrative responsibility.

The rationale for inclusion in the "Program Areas" section of the Task Bank, tasks from such fields as Mental Health, Corrections, Juvenile Court, Rehabilitation Services and Medicine, has to do with the organizational structure of State programs. An increasing number of States now operate their various human service agencies in a variety of configurations which have been collectively referred to as "umbrella" agencies. In some States where task analysis is being employed, the Social and Rehabilitation Service related agencies are administratively housed in such umbrella agency. It is these States who have submitted tasks in the above-mentioned categories. Since other States may be able to make use of these tasks, they have been incorporated into the Task Bank with this revision.

- How to interpolate the general needs of a given population from statistics and reports.
- How to assess the effectiveness of foster parents in dealing with specific problems.
- How to define role responsibilities in clear, concise language.

NUMERICAL:

- In X time, fewer than X number of complaints from line supervisors about confusion over the role of the foster parent.
- In X time, fewer than X number of complaints from supervisor that existing role of the foster parent is unrealistic, unclear, poorly defined.

SPECIFIC:

- Specific problems in foster care currently occurring.
- Statistics/reports on foster children/parents/ homes.
- Relationship between central office, line supervisor, worker, and foster home.
- Existing agency definitions/policy.

TASK: Explains/describes/discusses with members of different units and outside the department, uses/benefits methods of ADP systems in use, describing systems, and sharing information available, based on own knowledge of ADP systems and agency S.O.P., guides, and technical manuals, in order to foster cooperation and good rapport between the Data Processing Department and the sections they serve.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDSDESCRIPTIVE:

- . Worker uses good judgment in selecting materials to discuss with the various representatives of the different units.
- . Worker discusses the systems clearly, providing accurate information in a polite and warm manner.
- . Follows proper procedures for interdepartmental communications.

NUMERICAL:

- . Fewer than X complaints in X amount of time about worker's manner.
- . Fewer than X complaints in X amount of time from workers in other departments that they cannot understand the explanations.
- . No cases of departments failing to cooperate because of the worker's methods or attitude, as judged by supervisor.

TRAINING CONTENTFUNCTIONAL:

- . The capabilities of a computer and how data can be used
- . An understanding of interpersonal relationships
- . How to communicate technical information
- . Efficient uses of data

SPECIFIC:

- . The type of data processed by the department and how it applies to the various sections
- . Opportunities available for discussing data processing with sections within and outside the department

OBJECTIVE:

TASK: Exchanges information on legal adoption requirements, using letters and phone calls, with agencies in other states according to the Interstate Compact on Placement of a Child and the State's adoption laws, to ensure that adequate plans are made for children moving from one state to another.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

DESCRIPTIVE:

- Worker's information is accurate and complete.
- Information is sent promptly.
- Worker's plans are consistent with laws.

NUMERICAL:

- Over X period of time no more than X number of adoption cases are delayed due to poor planning and/or illegalities.
- Worker sends information to other states and agencies in time for them to benefit by it.

TRAINING CONTENT

- How to request needed information.
- How to apply legal requirements to specific situations.

SPECIFIC:

- Knowledge of State's adoption laws.
- Knowledge of the information needed for this specific case.
- Knowledge of content of Interstate Compact on Placement of a Child.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

TRAINING CONTENT

OBJECTIVE:

TASK: Evaluates the suitability of child for placement in adoptive home following agency guidelines/procedures/examines the evidences of adjustment or maladjustment through observation and general supervision (i.e., counseling with adoptive parents and child, supportive services) relying on knowledge of human behavior, observations, judgement, in order to determine whether or not to recommend approval of the adoption at the end of the specified time period.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

DESCRIPTIVE:

- Recommendation for or against adoption is based on thorough and objective consideration of the adjustment of both child and adoptive parents to the placement.
- Counseling and supportive services are offered to both child and adoptive parents as a means of establishing the feasibility of the relationship.
- Observation/supervision of the placement is unobtrusive and courteous, yet thorough and sensitive.
