ABSTRACT

Salient facts about white control and minority oppression are provided for major areas such as the economy, health, housing, education, the media, government, and the census. Economic data on white control cover topics such as wealth, the stock exchange, businesses, banks, union control and membership, and others. Data per training to minority oppression address median income, income and education, poverty and unemployment. Minority oppression in the health field is examined in terms of life expectancy, death rates, birth, health care, and diseases. Findings of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights for 1974, banking realtors, suburbs and jobs, segregation and rents, and ownership and quality issues are examined under housing. The section on education addresses white control over school boards, professional staffs, and college faculty. Minority oppression information includes a minority profile, suspensions, college, and representation in various professions. White control of the news media addresses newspapers, magazines, publishing, T.V. and radio broadcasting. White control of government discusses the presidency, congress, elected officials, government agencies, federal employees, and others. Facts on minority oppression and government include punishment, sentencing, bail, prisons, and jailers. Judges, attorneys, the military, and punishment are the focus of a section on the courts in government. The census section notes that minorities are undercounted for 1970. (Author/AM)

"A racist society is one in which social policies, procedures, decisions, habits and acts do in fact subjugate a race of people and permit another race to maintain control over them . . . Racism may be expressed as an individual act or as an institutional practice."

INSTITUTIONAL RACISM IN AMERICAN SOCIETY:
A Primer, Mid-Peninsula
Christian Ministry

"Racism may be viewed as any attitude, action, or institutional structure which subordinates a person or group because of his or their color . . . This is true of Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican Americans, Japanese Americans, Chinese Americans, and American Indians. Specifically, white racism subordinates members of all these other groups primarily because they are not white in color, even though some are technically considered to be members of the 'white race' and even view themselves as 'whites'.

". . . subordination of colored people provides definite benefits to those who do the subordinating. . . .

"A necessary step in weakening . . . racism is clearly identifying the benefits which whites receive from continued subordination of colored people.

"Overt racism and institutional subordination provide the following economic benefits to a significant number of whites:

1. Reduction of competition by excluding members of certain groups from access to benefits, privileges, jobs, or other opportunities or markets . . .
2. Exploitation of members of the subordinated groups through lower wages, higher prices, higher rents, less desirable credit terms, or poorer working or living conditions than those received by whites. . . .
3. Avoidance of certain undesirable or "dead-end" jobs by creating economically depressed racial or ethnic groups which will be compelled by necessity to carry out these jobs, even though their potential skill levels are equal to those of other groups.

"All the political benefits of racism involve receipt by whites of a disproportionate share of the advantages which arise from political control over government."

RACISM IN AMERICA AND HOW TO COMBAT IT
United States Commission on Civil Rights

"Basically black folks in America do not hate white folks. We hate this stinking white racist system with these stinking white racist institutions, not you. The United States Constitution that gives a man freedom of expression gives you a right to hate me. Individual racism we're not worried about. It's this damn institutionalized racism that's choking us to death. Here's what black folks is talking about today: a white racist system that keeps me locked in a black ghetto all my life so I've got to develop a different culture to survive with the rats and the roaches. And when I break out and come to your institutions, you ask me the wrong tests. You don't ask me about the ghetto. You ask me about the Eiffel Tower."

Dick Gregory

WEALTH

Economist Henry S. Terrell finds that Blacks own 1.2% of business equity, 1.2% of farm equity and 0.1% of stock equity in U.S.A.

NEW YORK TIMES, 1974

STOCK EXCHANGE

Out of 650 membership seats on the American Stock Exchange, only one belongs to a Black firm. The same firm has a seat on the 1,366-seat New York Stock Exchange, and an integrated firm has purchased a seat for its Puerto Rican business partner. All other seats are white owned.

Public Information offices of American Stock Exchange and New York Stock Exchange, July/75

BUSINESS

In the 1,000 largest corporations, Blacks are 72 of 14,000 members of the Boards of Directors.

BLACK ENTERPRISE, June/73

Gross receipts of Black-owned business represented only 0.3% of gross business receipts, and other minorities had 0.4% of the total.

Minority-owned businesses are likely to be small operations. Only 2% are corporations. Over 3/4 of Black-owned, and 2/3 of other minority-owned, firms had no paid employees.

U.S. Bureau of the Census, July/72

Blacks received 6.5% of total U.S. income in 1970, but less than 1% of all investment and property incomes.

EBONY, Oct/72

Of the $8.5 billion spent annually by the nation's school systems to acquire the buildings, books, pencils and paper consumed in the process of educating more than 50 million children, only a microscopic percentage will go to Black firms.

BLACK ENTERPRISE, Sept/72

In 1969, there were 1,099 minority-owned printing and publishing establishments, just under 3% of the total. About half of these firms have Black ownership. Employment within these firms amounted to less than 1% of total industry employment, and business receipts amounted to less than 0.5% of industry receipts.

U.S. Bureau of the Census, July/72

BANKS

Of about 14,000 banks in U.S., there are 37 Black controlled banks and 44 Black controlled savings and loan associations. Minority banks had less than 1% of nation's bank assets, yet accounted for over 33% of loans to minorities.

BLACK ENTERPRISE, June/73

Assets of 37 Black controlled banks are $600 million. White controlled banks have $700 billion in assets.

JET, 9/6/73

At the end of 1970, the total assets of the top ten Black National Bankers Association member banks were less than the assets of the 300th largest white bank in the U.S.

RACE RELATIONS REPORTER, 1/3/72

In 1970, non-white minorities accounted for 2.7% of bank officials and managers.

ECONOMIC PRIORITIES REPORT, Sept-Oct/72

"In positions above office and clerical level, minority women consistently fare the worst—in no case do more than 3% of these employees attain either professional and technical, or official manager status. In contrast, over half of all white men are employed at these levels, and bank employees in general average 10% professional and technical, and 15% officials and managers."

UNION MEMBERSHIP

In 1972 minorities were 15.6% of all union members. They represented a higher proportional rate of membership in the work force than whites, but were under-represented in policy making positions.

In large unions employing more than 100 people each, the total white collar officials in 1973 were 85.7% white and the blue collar workers were 57% minorities.

FINDINGS of
U.S. Commission on Civil Rights
1974 (edited by F.F.C.)

1. Minorities, particularly Blacks, have been largely excluded from suburban areas.
2. This exclusion was created primarily by explicit discrimination in the sale and rental of housing.
3. It is perpetuated by both racial and economic discrimination. Economic discrimination is often intentionally directed at, and falls most heavily upon, minorities whose incomes generally are significantly below the national average.
4. Suburbanization has been accompanied by the movement of the affluent, white population to the outer rings of the metropolitan areas. Central cities often have been left racially and economically isolated and financially deprived. This process also has:
  - a. prompted a movement of industry to suburbia which frequently results in minorities being excluded from job opportunities, owing to inaccessibility;
  - b. caused cities increasingly to find themselves without financial resources to meet the needs and demands of their residents; including school financing;
  - c. resulted in the growth of racially segregated schools in metropolitan areas.
5. Since the bulk of new housing is in suburban areas, the exclusion of minorities often forces minorities to live in substandard inner city housing.
6. The private sector has been a major contributor to this racial polarization.
  - a. Real estate practices reinforce the existing dual housing market. Among these practices are steering, failure to admit sufficient Black brokers to white real estate boards, control of listings, and reluctance of brokers to establish affirmative marketing procedures.
  - b. Many financial institutions have discouraged integrated community development both by restrictive practices and by lack of affirmative programs.
  - c. The homebuilding industry, has not made an adequate attempt to market housing in a nondiscriminatory manner.
  - d. Corporation officials generally have failed to consider the effect of corporate site selection upon low- and moderate-income employees, a practice which reduces minority employment.
7. Suburban governments have acted almost exclusively in their own economic interests, often to the detriment of the central city. Devices as exclusionary zoning, failure to enact or enforce fair housing ordinances, and failure to utilize Federal housing assistance programs have been used to preserve suburban interests. Thus, white homeowners often were able to purchase moderately priced suburban homes in the 1940's and 1950's when such housing was denied to minorities. Today, this exclusionary pattern works to keep out further moderate-income development through these devices.
8. Past policies of the Federal Government, which openly encouraged racial separation, were instrumental in establishing today's patterns of racial polarization. Present policies of racial neutrality or of encouraging racial integration have failed.
9. Present Federal programs often are administered so as to continue, rather than reduce, segregation.
  - a. Although Federal highway programs helped the movement of jobs and housing to the suburbs, Federal highway officials failed to use their leverage to alter exclusionary housing patterns.
  - b. Federal programs involving housing loans and guarantees are creating even more segregation, rather than promoting equal housing.
  - c. The Federal Government has not required Federal contractors to consider the availability of housing for their employees prior to selecting a new site.
  - d. In selecting sites for Federal facilities, the Federal Government only recently has begun to give priority to communities with an adequate supply of nondiscriminatory housing.
10. Despite its past responsibility for racial polarization, the Federal Government has not enforced fair housing laws.
  - a. The Department of Justice, whose function is limited in the enforcement of Title VII, has been handicapped by inadequate staffing. The Justice Department has failed to take a sufficiently active role in coordinating Title VI enforcement among Federal agencies.
  - b. The Department of Housing and Urban Development has been similarly understaffed and confined in its activities to answering complaints. Until recently, HUD did not conduct systematic reviews of HUD-funded programs for compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Further, HUD has failed to use its own programs adequately to promote fair housing, as required by Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

A study of 29 urban areas containing over 40% of the U.S. population showed that a higher proportion of white families earning $5,000-$7,000 live in suburbs than the proportion of Black families earning $15,000-$25,000. The Michigan State University researchers who made the study blame discriminatory real estate and lending practices.

If Detroit Blacks were represented in the suburbs in the same proportion as whites of similar incomes, then 67% of the Black families would be suburban residents.

SUBURBS AND JOBS

Cities all over the country are short of livable, low-income housing. Poor Blacks are concentrated in central cities where 40% of the housing is dilapidated, while rings of affluent whites live in the suburbs where 80% of all new housing is being built and where 80% of all new industrial jobs created in the 1960's are located.

EBONY, Sept/72

Chicago has a nearby industrial park where blue collar workforce is 40-60% non-white, though suburb is 98% white.

More than 85% of non-white workers in low income city areas spend over $2 a day in car pools to reach their jobs.

Cleveland suburbs are 98% white, yet acquired over 5000 jobs from city over past six years. Black unemployment in city is 18.2%, white is 6.9%. Suburban unemployment is 3.2%.

NAT. COMM. AGAINST DISCRIMINATION IN HOUSING, May-June/1973

DID THE U.S. CENSUS UNDERCOUNT MINORITIES?

The 1970 Census missed 5.3 million people, according to the Acting Director, Robert L. Hagens.

1.9% of whites and 7.7% of Blacks were not represented in the Census: the undercount for Black children was especially high—8.6% of Black children went uncounted.

The Bureau could not estimate its undercount for Spanish-surnamed people because “no reliable data” for doing so was available.

The consequences for non-whites of this undercount are both economic and political:

State and Federal programs which help the poor are allocated on the basis of population and percent-population of people living in a given area. (For example, one-third of a city’s revenue-sharing monies are based on population figures).

The determination of districts for elections is dependent on knowing the apportionment of population in a district. Variances of 7 or 15% can make differences in reapportionment of these districts—so the political loss for non-whites (especially in local elections) could be just as crucial as the economic loss in terms of gaining power in most of the nation’s big cities.

NEW YORK TIMES, 4/25/73

To the President and Congress:

“We found that the Bureau’s (of the Census) procedures have been insensitive to the Spanish speaking background population.

“ . . . persons of Spanish speaking background were probably undercounted by appreciably more than 7.7 percent—the percent of the Black population which the Bureau acknowledges was missed in the 1970 census.”
