ABSTRACT

This tentative agreement form and organizational structure was proposed to create a broad-based policy and decisionmaking boy for operation of the Consortium to Produce Performance Objectives and Criterion-Referenced Measures in Occupational Education. It is part of a project designed to develop a multi-State consortium whose primary concern will be educational? accountability. Five major topics are discussed: (1) Proposed Consortium Agreement (consortium agreement, general conditions of the agreement, State or agency responsibilities, and central consortium staff responsibilities); (2) Introduction to Proposed Organizational Plan; (3) The Role of the Administering Agency (responsibilities of the administering agency, fiscal control and auditing, and consultation services); (4) The Board of Directors for the Proposed Consortium (role of the Board of Directors, membership of the Board of Directors, qualifications of the Board members, length of terms of Board members, schedule of meetings, attendance of meetings, and advisory committee); and (5) The Role and Scope of the Central Staff (executive director--duties and responsibilities, and initial central staff requirements. INTRODUCTION TO PROPOSED

ORGANIZATIONAL PLAN

INTRODUCTION

The following tentative organizational structure is proposed to create a broad-based policy and decision-making body for operation of the Consortium to Produce Performance Objectives and Criterion-Referenced Measures in Occupational Education. This structure is recommended until such time as an in-depth study of the organizational structures and management procedures of currently operating educational consortia is completed. The study will also include an analysis of educational consortia which, for one reason or another, are no longer operational. The results of this study will include additional organizational recommendations to the policy-making body for their consideration. The primary emphasis of the study will be five-fold:

- (1) to develop and recommend a structure and management process designed to facilitate the development of performance objectives and criterionreferenced measures in Occupational Education
- (2) to assure that the procedures, policies, and practices of the consortium are developed and administered through a broadly representative body
- (3) to assure that the management structure adopted for the consortium is based on the accountability processes developing in education, i.e., performance contracting, independent achievement audits, third party assessment, etc.
- (4) to provide structural and management roles of all the groups forming the consortium so that conflict which develops can be properly resolved
- (5) to assure that the management process recommended has as a chief emphasis a high degree of responsiveness by the Board of Directors and Central Staff to the needs of the consortium members

Additional input will be obtained from the conference participants and cooperating states during a meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, beginning on April 3 and extending through April 5, 1973. When the results of the comprehensive study are complete, the Board of Directors will have the opportunity to review, alter, and either accept or reject the procedures and structure recommended. They may require additional study or adopt a different structure and management process.

PART III

THE ROLE OF THE ADMINISTERING AGENCY

THE POLE OF THE ADMINISTERING AGENCY

The administering agency must have a recognized capability to perform the developmental, coordination and administration activities required by the consortium. In addition, the administration agency must have sound contacts within the area served by the membership of the consortium and at the national level. These contacts should be such that they facilitate the purposes and functions of the consortium. The administering agency must be non-governmental and non-profit with a capability to provide the basic needs of the consortium at the lowest cost. The administering agency must possess a comprehensive involvement in Occupational Education demonstrated by past activities and interests.

Responsibilities of the Administering Agency

The primary responsibility of the administering agency is to provide a base of operation for the consortium. The administering agency will be selected by the Board of Directors from those agencies which are nominated from the floor of the conference April 3-5, 1973 in Atlanta, Georgia. Those agencies nominated will be asked, in writing, if they desire to provide the operating base for the consortium. The results of these inquiries will become a part of the third report of the project with the selection of an agency made by a poll of those who will form the Board of Directors. The selection will be made based upon the criteria identified in the Role of the Administering Agency (preceding this part of the report).

Fiscal Control and Auditing

The administering agency will serve as fiscal agent for the consortium. All receipts and dispersements will be through the established procedures of the administering agency. Expenditures and receipts will be audited, by a firm designated by the administering agency, on an annual basis.

Consultation Services

The administering agency will provide, upon request, consultative services from its staff members to the Board of Directors and the Executive Director of the consortium. Such consultative assistance will be provided on the basis of staff availity and in each case upon a request by the Board of Directors or its Executive Director. The nature of the consultative services will be for educational contacts, proposal development, program development and other related activities vital to the success of the consortium.

PART IV

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

FOR THE PROPOSED CONSORTIUM

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS FOR THE PROPOSED CONSORTIUM

The Role of the Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors is a representative body which has as its primary function to serve as the policy-making body for the consortium and is the chief source of direction and development of the consortium. Its policies are carried out by its Executive Director who serves as the administrative officer. The Board of Directors reviews and adjusts the budget, determines priority of expenditures, recommends employees to the administering agency.

Membership of the Board of Directors

The membership of the Board of Directors consists of one (1) person from each paying member state or agency. The head of the administering agency or his designated representative serves as an ex officio member but does not have voting privileges. The Executive Director completes the make-up of the Board of Directors and serves as the administrator for the consortium but does not exercise voting privileges.

Qualifications of the Board Members

The qualifications of the members of the Board of Directors are not rigid. Members should have expressed in curriculum development and/or related research in Occupational Education. As a representative of a state or agency, the member must be appointed by a person designated as the State Director of Vocational Education in their State Plan for Vocational Education or the appropriate head of the agency. This representative may be the State Director of Vocational Education. Other members may be appointed to the Board of Directors by a two-thirds vote of the total membership. The Executive Director of the Board of Directors shall meet the qualifications for the position established by the administering agency.

Length of Terms for Board of Directors

The length of term, replacement of representatives, and other matters regarding the membership of the Board of Directors will be determined as the consortium develops. These items will be described in detail and will become a part of the Board of Directors' operating policies.

Schedule of Meetings

The Board of Directors and its Executive Director will set the number and regularity of meetings. In the beginning, meetings will, by necessity, be more frequent but should diminish to the minimum of at least one per quarter. Additional meetings may be called by a majority of the Board of Directors or its Chair—man in cooperation with the Executive Director.

Attendance of Meetings

The meetings will be called sufficiently in advance to allow for each member to attend. Continuity and understanding of previous actions of the Board of Directors is vital to the efficient conduct of business for this type of consortium.

Because of the need for continuity and the understanding of previous decisions, no substitutes will be accepted for attendance during called business meetings of the Board of Directors.

Advisory Committee

The Board of Directors will appoint advisory committees or ad-hoc committees representing business and industry as the need for such committees arises. A general advisory committee will be appointed within the first twelve months which will be representative of the major divisions of business and dustry as identified in the cluster designations published by the U. S. Office of Education.
