ABSTRACT

This guive is the participant workbook for the first in a series of instructor-assisted training modules for rehabilitation counselors, supervisors, and graduate students. This workbook for the first module focuses on basic intake interviewing skills consisting of: (1) systematic interview programming including attracting, planning and structuring; (2) information exchange during the intake process including collection and dissemination effectiveness; and (3) information exchange via verbal and nonverbal interaction. The materials contain worksheets, outlines for each session, practice exercises, self-assessment checklists and suggested interview topics for use during each training session. Space for note taking is provided as well as a bibliography of recommended readings. (MCF)

Acknowledgements

A tremendous amount of support and consultation were received during the development of this training package. In fact, so many people reviewed the material that it would be most difficult to list each person's name. However, we are particularly indebted to a number of Region VI rehabilitation personnel who served on "user review teams" and provided input and suggestions from the trainer's viewpoint as well as the practitioner's viewpoint. Among these were

A. J. Baker, Arkansas Billy Brookshire, Texas -Linda Doehne, Texas Laura Ferrary, New Mexico John Garland Flowers III, Texas Clyde Martin, Oklahoma Harold Skinner, Oklahoma Alton Toms; Louisiana Lewis Urton, Arkansas Alton Wachtendorf, Arkansas fom White, Arkansas Myma Breeden, New Mexico Steve Cumnock, Arkansas Lonnie Current, Oklahoma Jorge Garcia, Texas -Leslie Palmer Louisiana Anita Wooley, Louisiana Karen Sandini, Oklahoma George Wynne, Texas

We also appreciate the help we received from members of the Arkansas Rehabilitation Research and Training Center, particularly Robert Akridge, Bob Means, Tim Milligan, Doug Rice and David Sigman, and from the Center's past and present research directors, Reed Greenwood and Jack Marr Lea Ann Crees, Tammy Bowers, Judy Herrington and barraine Hogue also deserve recognition for their typing contributions. Thanks are extended to Mary Dreydahl for her proofreading of the final manuscript.

Preface

Preface

Intake Interview Skills for Rehabilitation Counselors: A Participant's Workbook.

What is it?

This Manual contains all of the forms and training aids that would typically be distributed by the trainer during the training session. It includes material needed for the various training exercises that will be done during the session and provides space for note taking

Intake Interview Skills for Rehabilitation Counselors: `A Participant's Workbook.

What is its purpose?

- 1. To provide a record of the training session experience for you to take with you
- 2 To help you organize the information you will be getting and make note taking easier.
- 3 To provide you with information and response forms, you will need in training

Intake Interview Skills for Rehabilitation Counselors: A Participant's Workbook.

How do I use it?

The trainer will direct you as to what page to turn to as material is presented and training exercises are performed.

The workbook is yours. Use it to facilitate your learning of intake interview skills.

Intake Interview Skills Training for Rehabilitation Counselors:

The Process.

The training approach used during this training session is based on a model that requires the trainer to tell  $\longrightarrow$  demonstrate  $\longrightarrow$  elicit action  $\longrightarrow$  summarize  $\longrightarrow$  assess, which draws on the learning models of learning by listening, learning by observing, and learning by doing This will require you to listen  $\longrightarrow$  watch  $\longrightarrow$  discuss  $\longrightarrow$  do  $\longrightarrow$  assess.

The components of the training will be covered utilizing the following outline, as appropriate

- I. Definition
- II. Rationale
- III. Objectives
- IV : Guidelines
- V Demonstration of Non-Facilitative Techniques*
- VI. Results of Non-Facilitative Techniques*
- VII. Demonstration of Facilitative Techniques
- VIII Results of Facilitative Techniques
- IX. Discrimination Exercises
- X Practice
- XI. Summary

The demonstration of Facilitative and Non-Facilitative Techniques involves the demonstration of multiple counselor behaviors although the focus will be on the specific technique at a time

Group Discussion

Group discussion is an integral element in the success of the training session. Learning will be facilitated by you freely expressing your reactions, ideas, etc.

Have A Learning Experience!

Systematic Interview Programming

Systematic Interview Programming

Definition of Systematic Interview Programming

Major steps in programming an interview include:

- 4. Attracting the client
- 2. Planning the interview
- 3. Structuring the interview setting

The Importance of Systematic Interview Programming

There is an infinite variety of "Wrong" ways to conduct an interview and only a few "Right" ways.

Systematic Interview Programming enhances your chances of employing "Right" strategies and conducting an interview the "Right" way.

Objectives of Systematic Interview Programming Training .

- 1. Learn how to motivate the client to appear for an interview.
- 2. Learn how to plan an interview.
- 3. Learn how to structure the interview setting to insure the effective exchange of information.

Step I.- Attracting the Client

Definition of Attracting Actions

Importance of Attracting Actions

Objectives of Attracting Training

Guidelines for Effective Attracting

- 1. Decide on your mode of communication.
- 2. Decide to whom the invitation will be extended.
- 3. Be sure the person knows exactly who the interview is with.
- 4. Inform the person of what will happen.
- 5. Inform the person of where the interview will take place.
- 6. Inform the person of how to get to the interview.
- 7. Inform the person of when the interview will take place.
- 8. Inform the person of the general purpose or the why of the interview.
- 9. Present the person with a personal reason to appear.
- 10. Some referrals may need extra encouragement.
- 11. Obtain a personal commitment from the client.
- 12. Follow-up if necessary.

Summary of Attracting

- 1 Attracting action may seem like such a simple skill that it need not be addressed But remember, there are many "no shows" for interviews
- 2 Attracting will maximize the possibility that the client will "show" for the interview
- 3 Inform the client of the who, what, when, where, how, and why of the interview
- 4 Add a personal note to communicate the possible benefits of the interview for the client
- 5 Watch your "no shows" decrease

Attracting the Client Self-Assessment Check List

When making an appointment for a person to come for an interview, I perform the following behaviors

Yes	No	N/A .	•
		-	1 Consider carefully the mode of communication (whether phone, written, or in person) that is most appropriate for the person being invited.
			Consider carefully to whom the invitation is extended (interviewee, parents, guardian, spouse, etc.).
			Make sure the person knows exactly who the interview is with. I identify myself and my agency/organization clearly.
			Inform the person of what will happen. I state the type of interview the person is being requested to come for (i.e. this is an initial screening interview).
			Inform the person of where the interview will take place I am very precise in stating the interview location
		(	Inform the person of how to get to the interview I give precise directions of how to get to my location
		7	Inform the person of when the interview will take place. Time and date are included in the invitation.
		8	3. Inform the person of the general purpose or the why of the interview 1 state exactly why the person is being extended an invitation (i.e. "To talk about how this agency may help you.").
			Encourage the person to appear by presenting a personal reason I stress the benefits or advantages to the person of attending the interview.
		10	Follow-up I remind the person of the interview just before the scheduled date.

Step II - Planning the Interview

Definition of Planning

Three types of objectives include:

- 1 General
- 2. Specific (
- 3 Moment-to-moment

Examples of General Objectives for the Initial Interview

- 1 Establish Rapport
- 2 Determine appropriatèness of referral
- 3 Obtain client expectations and identify needs
- 4. Complete necessary interview forms.
- 5 Describe your and your agency's purpose

Examples of Specific Objectives for the Initial Interview

- 1 Explore client's history of previous suicide attempts/
- 2 Give client information about a known interest he/she has
- 3 Complete forms that are specific for the client.

Examples of Moment-to-Moment Objectives in an Initial Interview

- 1. Exploration of client's fear of work.
- 2 Exploration of client's hostility toward authority figures
- 3 Exploration of the joys client finds in some event

The Importance of Planning

Objectives of Interview Planning Training

Guidelines for Effective Planning

- 1 Develop a general game plan which will guide your activities no matter what client is being interviewed
- 2 Develop specific objectives for each client as appropriate
- 3 Allow your pre-interview objectives to be moderated by moment-to-moment objectives that develop during the intake interview . . . .
- 4 Do not become so involved in the content of forms that you miss what is really being communicated. Be aware of what is happening with the client and respond appropriately
- 5 Develop interview objectives and strategies in written form. Do not rely on your memory for all topics that should be discussed.
- 6 Review objectives prior to the client contact
- 7 Inform the client of the interview objectives
- 8 Be flexible! Do not rigidly and inflexibly impose your "game plan" on the client

Summary Of Meeting With Dr. Fairface

Dr Fairface appeared to be an extremely efficient and intelligent person. He literally whisked me through the interview. He used a lot of words I did not understand, but I was afraid to ask him what he meant as I aidn't want to appear stupid. What bothered me the most was that he kept referring to me as being in "refraction status" - I gotta look that up when I get home. Although Dr. Fairface was quite friendly he wasn't a real human kind of person. That was kind of a relief though, him being an analyst and all. I was a little concerned that he would put me on the couch and start asking about my sex life. After talking to him I'm not sure he is a regular kind of analyst. It may just be some type of title. On the other hand he did ask a lot of questions that you wouldn't ask just anyone. Things like my financial situation, relationships with my family, boss, what my interests were and all. I may have told him some things I shouldn't have about my finances. I'm in trouble if he is affiliated with IRS.

He told me what his agency, The Government Emptoyees Restoration and Growth Agency, was about in general terms. He said basically their goal was to get professional government people into situations where they can make their greatest contribution and more fully realize their intellectual, emotional, and physical potential. That sounds fine, but I'm not real sure what he means in more practical terms. He more or less suggested that this was a voluntary type of thing—didn't come right out and say it—but then he told me he had made an appointment for me with the State Health and Fitness Department for a complete work-up I guess I will go along with him for a while until I can find out just how much influence this guy has.

He covered some of the things it was possible for him to provide for me if I am selected, based on his work-up of my profile. He talked about being able to place me in a profession most surted to my talents and being able to provide education to that end. I'm not sure if he meant a short-course, night school, or what. He also mentioned "supportive services" such as encounter groups, a jogging program, and health foods and their contribution to overall effectiveness and independence. I think ne is a health food nut.

Basically those are the main points I got out of it I may have missed some things as I was kind of up-tight about the whole thing. He said he hoped we would have more time the next meeting and he would answer my questions. I really need to make a list

Guidelines for Effective Information Dissemination During the intake Interview

- 1 Explain the purpose of the rehabilitation agency
- 2. Explain the eligibility criteria for your rehabilitation agency services.
- 3 Provide the client with a general picture of the services that might be available to an eligible client from the rehabilitation agency.
- 4 Explain why the person was referred to the rehabilitation agency if appropriate.
- 5 Explain your role as an arranger and/or coordinator of services
- 6 Explain your role as a direct provider of services (e.g., personal counseling, joint yocational planning).
- 7 Explain your role as a client advocate.
- 8. Explain your role as a member of a treatment team
- 9 Provide the clients with information on the confidential nature of the counselor/client relationship.
- 10 Provide clients with information regarding their rights (e.g., 1) right to appeal, 2) right to administrative review, 3) civil rights).
- 11 Ensure that client has a general understanding (what, why, when, where, how) of those actions and responsibilities required of them during the early part of the rehabilitation process (e.g., 1) general medical exam, 2) specialist exam, 3) work evaluation).
- 12. Explain the contents of any form the client is asked to sign.
- 13 Summarize the significant content of the intake interview discussion as the interview approaches its end.
- 14 Ensure that information dissemination is a vehicle for promoting client independence and client involvement
- 15 Communicate information to the client at the client's level of understanding.
- 16 Avoid presenting the client with too much information at "one shot" in the interview
- 17 Present information to clients during the intake interview in a timely fashion
- 18 Do not rely solely on a standardized information dissemination vehicle
- 19 Make sure that the client has understood the information provided.

Rehabilitation Initial Interview Guide

Possible Information Dissemination Topics to Discuss with Client

i. Role and Function of the Rehabilitation Agency

- 1 General statement about the purpose of rehabilitation
- 2 Explanation of what makes a person eligible for vocational rehabilitation services
- 3. Explanation that an eligibility decision must be made in client's case
- 4 General statement about what the rehabilitation agency is.
- 5 General statement about what the rehabilitation agency is not.
- 6. Information on services that can be provided.
- 7 Information about the contribution of certain services to meeting objectives.
- 8. A statement about the referral process.
- 9 Feedback to client of any understanding of client's reaction to information about the role and function of the agency.

ii. Role and Function of the Rehabilitation Counselor

- 1. Counselor's role as an arranger and/or coordinator of services.
- 2 Counselor's role as a direct provider of services.
- 3. Client advocacy role.
- 4 Role as a team riember.
- 5. Joint approach with client.
- 6. Statements about what the counselor will do in specific situations.
- 7 Statements about what the counselor will not do in specific situations.
- 8 Statements about how the counselor will utilize information collected from client
- 9 Statements about how the counselor will utilize information collected from external sources.
- 10 Feedback to client of any understanding of client's reaction to counselor's discussion of his role.

III. Cilent Rights

- Statement about the importance of sharing information.
- 2 Statement about how information collected will be used
- 3 Statement about confidentiality
- 4 Explanations of client's right to appeal if found ineligible
- 5 Explanation of the appeal process
- 6 Explanation of client's civil rights
- 7 Explanation of client's assistance projects if these are available to client
- 8 Feedback to clent of any understanding of his reaction to counselor's discussion of client's rights

ì

IV. Client Responsibilities

- 1. Explanation of what client needs to do to get general medical exam.
- 2 Explanation of why the general medical exam is needed.
- 3 Explanation of any requested client actions related to psychological examinations
- 4. Explanation of other requested client actions.
- 5 General statement about client responsibilities throughout the rehabilitation process.
- 6 Statement of specific client responsibilities in relation to specific services.
- 7 Feedback to client of any understanding of client's reaction to information about his responsibilities.

Review of Guidelines for information Dissemination

In summary, the following information dissemination guidelines would be considered when disseminating information to the client during the intake and subsequent interviews.

- 1 Information should be provided to the client to promote client independence and to involve the client in the decision making process. Clients become better prepared to make appropriate decisions when they have sufficient information with which to make those decisions.
- 2. Specific information needed by the client might include:
  - I. The role and function of your agency/organization/section
    - A. What it is
    - B. What it is not
    - C. Eligibility criteria, if any
    - D. Eligibility process
    - E. Services provided
    - F. Potential contribution of services for reaching objectives
    - G. The referral process
  - II. Your role and function
    - A. As an arranger/coordinator of services
    - B As a direct provider of services
    - C. As a client advocate
    - D As a team member
  - III. Confidentiality
  - IV Client rights
    - A. Client's right of appeal
    - B. The appeal process
    - C. Client's right to administrative review
    - D. Civil rights
  - V. Client responsibilities
- 3 The manner in which information is disseminated is important. Hence, judgement is called upon to consider such things as.
  - A. Language level used
  - B Amount of information
  - C. Timing of information
  - D Pre-programmed material
- 4 Finally, a summarization of the significant content of the interview discussion might prove helpful to both you and client

Summary

Information Dissemination

What It is: Providing client with information or data that are not readily available to him/her

What It Does: Enhances client's decision making ability and facilitates effective joint program planning

Why It Works: Reduces the blind dimension of client's knowledge and facili tates positive relationship

How To Do It: Know the type of information needed by the client and provide it while attending to Language used, amount given, timing, and presentation method.

When and Where To Do It: Throughout your contact with client with special emphasis on the early phase and especially the initial interview

- 1 What are my objectives for this interview?
- 2 What information does the client need from me to achieve those objectives?
  - A Specific topics developed such as role and function of Rehab. agency, my role and function, client's rights and responsibilities, etc.
- 3 What information do I need from the client to achieve those objectives?
- 4 What is the most effective and efficient way to exchange that information?
  - A. Attract the client in a facilitative manner so that he/she comes to the interview with a positive attitude.
  - 8. Carry out all the guidelines for effective planning.
  - C. Structure the interview setting making it conducive to the exchange of information
  - D. When disseminating information attend to language level used, amount of information in one shot, timing, and client's comprehension of the information.

Step II - Information Collection During the Intake Interview

Definition of Information Collection

The Importance of Effective Information Collection

Objectives of Information Collection Training

Guidelines for Effective Information Collection During the Intake Interview

1. Be cognizant of what you want to achieve during the intake process.

Table 1 Program Development Information Needs

I. Physical Factors

Extent of Disability

- 1 How does the disability handicap employment potential?
- 2. Is the disability progressive or stable?
- 3 Can the client's functioning in activities of daily living be improved?
- 4. How much assistance in activities of daily living will the client always need?

Services

- 1. Which physical restoration services are needed to reduce the nandicapping effects of the disability (e.g., surgery, orthotic and prosthetic devices, physical therapy, and occupational therapy)?
- 2 Can job modifications reduce the extent of the client's physical handicap for employment?

II. Psychosocial Factors

Psychological reaction to disability

- 1 To what degree has the client adjusted to the handicapping aspects of the disability?
  - a Does the client use "disability" as an excuse for failure?
  - b. Are any physical symptoms psychologically based?
  - c Is the client excessively concerned with personal health?
  - d What secondary gains is the client receiving from remaining unemployed?

Vocation Self-concept

- 1 Does the client have a realistic perception of current
  - a strengths and weaknesses as a worker,
  - b potential for vocational skill development, and
  - c reasons for being unemployed?

Family and friends

1 What positive or negative role will the client's family and friends play in the rehabilitative process, e.g., be supportive, overprotective, or unrealistic regarding client potential?

Job acquisition

- 1 Can the client independently locate job openings?
- 2 Can the client satisfactorily fill out job application blanks?
- 3 Can the client make a good impression on an employer?

( ) ( )

Job sustension

- 1 Can the client satisfactorily meet the demands of competitive work, e.g. accepting supervision, working independently, getting along with co-workers, and maintaining an 'adequate production rate?
- 2. Would the client's present use of leisure time adversely affect job retention?

Services

1 Which personal counseling, family counseling, work adjustment and/or placement services would be necessary, e.g., psychotherapy, work adjustment training, and job seeking skills training?

III. Educational-Vocational History Factors

Educational History

- 1. Which type of vocational training or jobs does the client's educational history suggest?
- 2 Are client vocational aspirations and educational history compatible?

Work history

- 1. What vocational skills does the client currently possess?
- 2. What vocational skills can the client develop that could limit the functional impact of the disability?
- 3 Has the client developed avocational skills that have vocational relevance?
- 4. Are client vocational goals consistent with current vocational interests?

Services

1 Which educational and vocational services are needed (e.g., remedial education and/or vocational training)?

IV. Economic Factors

Financial Considerations

- 1 Do disability-related financial benefits (SSI, SSDI, Medicaid, Workmen's Compensation) create disincentives to the client's rehabilitation?
- 2. Could current debts affect the completion of the client's rehabilitation program?
- 3 Can the client manage personal finances?
- 4 Does the client have sufficient financial support at present?

Services

1 What economic support will the client need during and after the rehabilitation program (é.g., SSI, Food Stamps, Low Rent Housing, etc.)?

Sources For The Above Information

2. The majority of the social/vocational history can be obtained during the intake interview.

List topics that can be covered during the intake interview under each of the four major categories below

- I. Physical Factors
- II. Psychosocial Factors
- III. Educational-Vocational Skills Development
- IV. Economic Factors

Table 2 A Topical Information Collection Guide for the Intake Interview

I. Physical Factors

- 1 What specific physical impairments are present?
- 2 What caused the disability?.
- 3 How long has the client been disabled?
- 4 Has the client received any disability related treatment in the past (e.g., physical therapy, occupational therapy, prosthetics, or orthotics)?
- 5 Has the client's disabling condition become worse over the last year?
- 6 Is the client currently receiving any disability related treatment?
- 7 Is the client taking any medication with potential side effects?
- 8 Do any recent medical test results clarify extent of physical impairment?
- 9 How does the client's physical disability handicap daily functioning?

II. Psychosocial Factors

1. Personal Adjustment

- a Do recent psychological test results pertain to the question of client psychological adjustment?
- b Is there any agency or professional from whom the client is presently receiving psychological services?
- c *Has the client ever received professional treatment for a personal adjustment problem?
- d Is the client taking any tranquilizers or sleeping pills?
- e Does the client report unnecessary avoidance of work and, or social situations since disabled?

2. Relationships with Family and Friends

- a What is the client's marital, status?
- b Is the client living with his/her family?
- c Does the client have any dependent-age children?
- d Will the most significant family members (i.e., spouse) be supportive of the rehabilitation plan?
- e How does the client feel about his/her home environment?
- f How does the client get along with other members of the family?
- g. Does the client have any close friends?
- h Is the client satisfied with his/her social life?
- 1 How does the client fill the hours of the day?
- Would the client's family be willing to relocate geographically for him, 'her to acquire work?

III. Educational—Vocational Skills Development Factors

1. Educational History

- a How far did the client go in school?
- b What did the client like or dislike about school?
- c Why did the client leave school (graduate, other)?
- d If the client did not complete high school, has he she passed a high school equivalency exam?
- e Has the "lent received vocational training which prepored him her to enter a particular occupation?

2. Work History

- a Whar were the last 3 jobs held by the client?
- b For each of those jobs, determine
  - i Weekly earnings
  - ii Length of employment (Was it long enough to acquire specific skills?)
  - iii Time since job held (Has sufficient time passed for significant skill loss to take place?)
  - N Aspects of the job performed well and poorly by the client
  - v Aspects of the job liked most and least Why?
  - vi Reasons for lemination of employment
- c Prior to onset of disability, were there any significant interruptions in work history? Why?
- d Is the client presently unemployed? if yes, how long?
- e Has the client been employed since he/she was disabled?

IV. Economic Factors

- 1 What is the client's primary source of support?
- 2 Does the client have other sources of support?
- 3 Does the client have any unpaid debts of significant size?
- 4 What fixed living expenses such as medication costs cannot be reduced?
- 5 Does the client have a workmen's compensation case pending?
- 6 Is the client receiving or has the client applied for Welfare or SSI benefits?
- 7 Does the client have any medical insurance?
- 8 Is the client concerned about his/her economic situation?
- 9 What minimal level of earnings from work must the client receive?
- 3. It is unnecessary to collect every conceleable piece of information about the client either directly from him or via the efforts of other more specialized evaluators in order to get a full understanding of him/her.

Ċ,

4. A piece of information is important to collect if it will help you understand the client.

Example

John Smith tells the VR counselor that he would like to enter a one year training program to become a draffsman. All evaluation data suggest that such an occupational choice would be appropriate from both a client interest and aptitude standpoint. However, the counselor does not inquire about the client's wife's attitude toward the rehabilitation plan. The client drops out of the training program two months later. The counselor wonders why. The counselor checks with the client and finds out:

1 That the client's wife resented the poverty lifestyle for a year She threatened to leave him if he remained in the program.

In retrospect, the counselor realized that he missed a significant piece of information during the evaluation phase.

2 Had he known he could have arranged for family counseling or switched the client to an Q-T objective.

The counselor resolves to obtain that information from future clients who are married

- 5. Review any available pre-intake interview (referral) information on a client prior to the intake interview. That review of already available information along with a review of the intake interview questions found on Table 2 in your workbook (pp. 65-66) should provide a basis for developing an intake interview plan for a particular client.
- 6. Avoid a "Facts With Minimum Meaning" Information Collection approach.

Example

"Facts With Minimum Meaning"

An example of "Facts with Minimum Meaning" interviewing style used with a 26 year old divorced woman with an alcoholism-psychoneurotic disorder disability that yielded information for agency forms but provided little information for purposes of rehabilitation plan development follows.

- Co. What was the last job you had?
- CI: I worked as a waitress at Joe's Diner
- Co How long did you work there?
- CI About a year
- Co How much did you eam?
- CI: $100 a week.
- Co Have you had any other jobs?
- CI I worked as an order-filler in a shoe factory for nine months

Co: How much did you eam?

Cl: About $90.00 a week.

Co. Have you had any other jobs?

CI: No.

Co. Who is your family doctor?

The work history information yielded by the above example has little meaning because the following questions cannot be answered:

- 1 What the client liked and did not like about the two jobs.
- 2 The reason for the termination of each employment situation
- 3 The client's personal adjustment in the two work situations (i.e., how does she respond to authority?)
- 4. How well the client could meet the skill demands of the jobs.
- 7. Facts often gain in significance through additional exploration of related client feelings, actions, and thinking.
- 8. Systematic exploration of relevant topic areas during the initial interview increases the likelihood that you will obtain "factual information with maximum meaning" from the client.

Example

"Shotgun Approach"

An example of "Shotgun Approach" interviewing style is observable in part of the intake interview with a 27 year-old woman that follows

1	. Co	You're how old now? 27
2	Co CI	Have you been trained for any jobs? Yeah, I had secretarial training through the WIN program
3	Co . CI	I see Have you had contact with vocational rehabilitation before, uh? Yes, in Springfield
4	Co CI	Oh, and how long ago was that? Oh, boy, 62. '63?
5	Co CI	What type of medical problem do you have? Diabetes I have to take insulin
6	Co CI	Okay: how many units, uh, do you take? 50, once a day
7	Co CI	Do you have any restrictions of any kind? No. no

28	Co Cl	What were your reasons for quitting school? I just didn't like it I couldn't get anywhere I was reaslow at learning nothing would stick with me

Co Who is your family doctor?

9. You will more likely learn more relevant information about the client if, while interviewing, you offen covertly ask yourself questions about the client which tend to guide your focus.

For example:

- a "What do I know about the client?"
- b 'What do I need to know about the client?'

Examples of Covert Questions that Guide Further Exploration

1 Knowing that a client has recently been fitted for a functional hand prosthesis to replace his nonfunctional cosmetic hand is an important fact that gains in significance through additional relevant exploration.

For example:

- How does the client feel about wearing the functional prosthesis in public, e.g., does the client feel too self-conscious to wear it in many social situations?
- 2 Knowing that a client has been receiving psychotherapy for adjustment problems for the last year is another important fact that gains in significance through additional relevant exploration.

For example:

Does the client think that he has been helped by the psychotherapist? In what ways?

- 10. Use questions with moderation during the intake interview.
- 11. When you already have information about the client, pretending to not possess such can be counterproductive.

For example:

- Co Come in. Joe How are you doing? CI Ah. I'm okay Co Glad you came in today I see that you were attending Allstar High School until recently CI Yes, sir 3 Co That right? CI Yes, sir Co How old are you? CI Eighteen Co Ahh what's the highest grade you've com-5
  - pleted?
    - CI Uh well the highest grade that I have completea is the tenth
- Co You were in the tenth at Allstar uh when you dropped out?
  - CI Yes sir

Co So you actually completed the ninth grade 7 then? CI Yes, str 8 Co Completed? CI Yes, sir you were taking all tenth grade 9 Co You're subjects? Cr Yes, sir Co At Allstar 10 CI Yes, sir Co What subjects were you making your low-11 est grades in? CI To tell you the truth, I was making my lowest grades in all four of my subjects except PΕ Co Uh-huh According to the, uh, school rec-12 ords. I have here, uh, you were actually failing English and History and Math, and uh. Science Is that right? Cl Yes, sır. Co How many people are there in your family? 13 Cl Ah it's four Co Okay And, uh, is your father, uh, in the 14 home? CI Uh, no. sir My real father's not in the home, but my stepfather lives there Co Okay What kind of work does he do? 15 Cl Uhh, I really don't know 16 Co Your stepfather? CI Yes sir? Co. Uh, does your mother work? 17 CI Yes Uh, no sir She isn't working right now but she will be going back-pretty soon

Co Uh, was it your mother that said that your

Is that right?
CI Yes sir, that's right stepfather works at a. uh. as a construction worker at Perfect Construction Company?

Review of Guidelines for Information Collection

Often it is helpful to obtain a comprehensive understanding of the client during the initial interview. That understanding is greatly a function of your ability to achieve the objectives found in your interview plan. Although, you do not have to collect every concel able piece of information about a client, you must obtain as much information as possible relevant to the achievement of your objectives.

More relevant information will be yielded through your interviews if you:

- 1. Can discriminate between relevant and irrelevant information to collect,
- 2. Have a pre-intake interview plan,
- 3. Systematically explore relevant topic greas.
- 4. Ask relevant questions at appropriate times but do not act like a "grand inquisitor,"
- 5. Avoid a "facts with minimum meaning" information collection approach.
- Facilitate the development of rupport by allowing the client sufficient freedom of expression within a logically structured interview. How to do that will be the focus of our next two sections—Non-Verbal and Verbal Interaction Techniques.

Guidelines for the Facilitative Use of Moment-to-Moment Responses

- 1. Use exploratory-focus and check responses to open the intake interview.
- 2. Use exploratory-focus responses to gather information from the client's perspective.
- Utilize exploratory-focus and check responses to break unproductive pauses during the interview.
- 4. Use exploratory-focus, check, and continue responses frequently to build, strengthen, and maintain rapport.
- 5. Use exploratory-focus, check, and continue responses when you want to gather additional information about a topic being discussed.
- 6. Use exploratory-focus, check, and continue responses to facilitate client self-exploration.
- 7. Use restricted-focus responses to gather specific bits of information.
- 8. Use restricted-focus résponses to narrow the area of conversation.
- 9: Use continue responses freely to encourage the client to keep talking without interrupting his/her/momentum.
- 10. Utilize check responses to communicate your understanding of what the client is saying
- 11. Use declarative responses to present factual information needed by the client.
- 12. Make your declarative responses as descriptive in character and neutral in tone as possible.
- 13. Make your declarative responses in a language the client can understand.
- 14. When you think the client can benefit from information from your own frame of reference, use self-expressive responses.
- 15. Avoid self-expressive responses in the form of inappropriate advice.
- Avoid self-expressive responses that communicate low levels of respect and negative regard.

Guidelines for a Facilitative Response Style Behold the Facilitator:

- 1. Assume a position to exchange information in the most effective manner.
- Observe the client.
- 3. Listen to your client. .
- 4. Open the interview with responses that will focus on the concerns of the client.
- 5. Continue to facilitate the information exchange process by focusing on the client concerns.
- 6. Allow the client as many atternatives for self-expression as possible.
- 7. Facilitate the client's elaboration of topics.
- 8. Use responses that tend to widen the client's perceptual field.
- 9. "Train" your clients to freely express themselves.
- 10. Establish this "training" process early.
- 11. Build, strengthen, and maintain a positive relationship.
- 12. Communicate you attentiveness, concern, and involvement.
- 13. Avoid the use of questions as your only tool for gathering information.
- 14. Let the client know you are hearing him/her correctly.
- 15. Communicate your empathic understanding of the client frequently.
- 16. Do not hesitate to clear up your thinking of what the client's communication may mean.
- 17. Break unproductive pauses during the interview with responses that keep the focus on the client.
- 18. When factual information is needed by the client, utilize declarative responses appropriately.
- When information from your frame of reference seems appropriate, use self-expressive responses wisely.
