ABSTRACT

This first volume of a curriculum guide for use in vocational home economics programs in Louisiana includes entry-level materials for students in grades six through eight. The topics from this level may be included in Exploratory Homemaking, an approved elective offering for students in the cited grades. The unit may be limited to nonlaboratory learning experiences, or it may include a simple construction project. Topics covered in the unit are the following: social psychological aspects of clothing, personal appearance, textiles, economic aspects of clothing, clothing care, careers in clothing and textiles, and clothing construction skill development. Each topic is complete with content, student learning activities, and resources. A complete topical outline for all levels is included in the initial pages of each volume of the guide, while topical outlines for each level precede the materials for that specific level. Student competency-based objectives are included for each topic and some suggested student learning activities are given with the content under each topic and subtopic. Teacher and student resources--such as bulletins, pamphlets, audiovisual materials, and state-approved textbooks--are suggested for each topic and subtopic. An appendix to the guide contains a list of supplementary materials with complete reference information and a brief description of the materials, bulletin board ideas, and teaching supplements. (KC)

FOREWORD

The Clothing and Textiles Curriculum Guide is a vital part of the overall revision of curricula for Louisiana Vocational Home Economics Programs.

Dr. Betty C. Harrison, teacher educator, Department of Vocational Home Economics Education in the School of Vocational Education, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, served as director of this curriculum development project. Significant contributions were also made by Mrs. Claudette Simoneaux, research associate for the project, and Mrs. Carole Nola, project secretary. The State Department of Education appreciates the concentrated and collective efforts of these professionals.

The unique contributions of the project advisory council, secondary Vocational home economics teachers and other field reviewers, LSU VHEE graduate students, and a skillful professional consultant are also appreciated.

J. KELLY NIX
State Superintendent of Education

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Clothing and Textiles Curriculum Guide is the result of a two-year project conducted by Louisiana State University, School of Vocational Home Economics Education, and funded by the Office of Vocational Education, Louisiana State Department of Education.

Appreciation is expressed to J. Kelly Nix, State Superintendent of Education; Dr. Florent Hardy, director, Coordinating Unit; Dr. Clarence Ledoux, section chief, Evaluation and Curriculum Development; and Dr. Rosalie J. Bivin, section chief, Vocational Home Economics, for their support of this research and curriculum development project.

Acknowledgements are extended to Dr. Charlie M. Curtis, director, School of Vocational Education, and to Dr. Neva F. Olsen, director, School of Home Economics, Louisiana State University, for their support of this project.

Faculty and staff in each of the schools provided additional support to the project personnel.

Special recognition goes to Dr. Betty C. Harrison, project director; Mrs. Claudette Simoneaux, research associate; and Mrs. Carole Nola, project staff, all of whom worked as a team in developing this guide at Louisiana State University. Personal dedication and sacrifice plus established standards for excellence were exemplified in the development of this guide.

Valuable assistance was provided by the project advisory council, graduate students at LSU in VHEE, in-state field reviewers, and an out-of-state consultant, Ms. Patricia Lindley of the Texas Education Agency in Austin. The research base upon which the guide was developed involved vocational home economics teachers throughout Louisiana, vocational home economics program representatives throughout the nation, and clothing specialists with the cooperative extension service in each state.

To all persons who made contributions to the Clothing and Textiles Curriculum Guide, sincere thanks are expressed.

RATIONALE

During recent years there has been a surge of interest in vocational home economics curriculum development. According to Spitze (1977) curriculum must change along with the societal changes if the profession is to continue to assist individuals to survive in an ever-changing world. Faced with changing families, diverse populations, and national concerns, educators perceived a need to modernize the clothing and textiles curriculum guide for secondary home economics teachers in Louisiana.

Clothing and textiles are a basic need of all persons. Changing conditions and life-styles affect the means by which this need is satisfied. Providing vocational home economics program participants with diverse opportunities for improving decision making, clothing and textiles consumption and care, or entering and advancing in employment at home and the marketplace can enhance the knowledge base, skill development, and attitudinal adjustments of those individuals. Preparing persons for today and tomorrow must be considered when developing curricula to expand years and constant change as well as diverse populations and ages. Seven areas of focus needed in clothing and textiles evolved from the research for this project. The areas are (1) Social-Psychological Aspects of Clothing, (2) Personal Appearance, (3) Textiles, (4) Economic Aspects of Clothing, (5) Clothing Care, (6) Careers in Clothing and Textiles, and (7) Clothing Construction Skill Development. Each of the areas appears to be necessary for the general preparedness of youth and/or adult program participants. However, limited availability of clothing and textiles curriculum guides in America was found. An eagerness to obtain this work was expressed from many areas of the country. The focus for study in clothing and textiles must be relevant to today but adaptable for tomorrow. Therefore, individuals responsible for classroom study must keep current, remain flexible, and willingly adjust classroom opportunities for students to enter and competently exit the program.

A primary goal in using the research base mentioned above in this curriculum development project was to help the classroom teacher. The intent is for the material to be used as a guide and not to delimit the creativity and enthusiasm of the teacher and/or program participant.

The format of the guide allows independent use of topics, objectives, content, student learning experiences, resources, and supplementary materials. The division of levels is for facilitating use of the guide. Orientation of the guide is aimed at relating learning opportunities in clothing and textiles to both consumer and homemaking activities and wage-earning aspects of vocational home economics programs.

ABOUT THE GUIDE

This Clothing and Textiles Curriculum Guide was designed for efficient use by teachers in vocational home economics programs. The preparation of the guide began in 1981, and it was completed in 1983.

A group of persons active in the field of clothing and textiles or a related area was asked to serve in an advisory capacity to the project personnel. The committee members from secondary and university teaching, research, extension, business, administration, and private enterprise freely gave of their time and expertise. Needs were appraised, guidelines suggested, reviews performed, and general counsel provided throughout the project.

A survey was conducted by the project personnel to assess needs and identify priorities on subject matter content at various program levels. Selected home economics teachers from each of the 64 parishes and two city school systems plus the advisory committee responded. Concepts to be addressed and the degree of emphasis for those concepts were evaluated. Inquiries were made to all offices of Vocational Home Economics and to all Cooperative Extension Offices in the United States. Based on these findings, a topical outline was prepared.

Some PIP and Summer workshops provided opportunities for topical outline revision, guide components and format ideas, teaching content information, ideas for student learning experiences, and identification of resources on selected topics.

Seven major categories evolved from the research:

- Social-Psychological Aspects of Clothing
- Personal appearance
- Textiles
- Economic Aspects of Clothing
- Clothing Care
- Careers in Clothing and Textiles
- Clothing Construction Skill Development

The topics within the above areas are organized into five levels. Some of the topics are included in more than one level, and the topical outline illustrates the distribution of the topics throughout the guide. The guide has been divided into three volumes to facilitate distribution of the guide to teachers with programs for junior high schools with grades 6 through 8, senior high schools with grades 9 through 12, and out-of-school youth and adults.

Clothing and Textiles--Volume I

This volume includes Level I for entry level students in grades 6 through 8. Topics from Level I may be included in Exploratory Homemaking, an approved elective offering for students in grades 6 through 8. The wide range of topics permits the selection of appropriate learning activities to meet the needs of students in these grades.

The unit may be limited to nonlaboratory learning experiences, or the unit may include a simple construction project, if students have access to a clothing laboratory. The teacher is not expected to include all of the topics and learning activities presented in this volume.

Clothing and Textiles--Volume II

The second volume includes Levels II, III, and IV. These levels focus on the secondary program for students in grades 9 through 12.

Level II is designed for use as the six- to eight-week unit on clothing and textiles in Consumer-Homemaking I, a comprehensive home economics course for students in the ninth and tenth grades. If students have access to a clothing laboratory, the unit may include the construction of a simple garment, such as pants, shorts, or a skirt, and/or a set of samples illustrating basic construction techniques.

Level III is designed for use as the clothing and textiles unit in Consumer-Homemaking II, a comprehensive home economics course for students who are in grades 10 through 12 and who have completed Consumer-Homemaking I. Students should have access to a clothing laboratory, and the unit should include the development of clothing construction skills necessary for the completion of a simple blouse or shirt with set-in sleeves and a collar.

Level IV includes two one-semester courses lasting 18 weeks for students in grades 10 through 12. The topics under IV-A in the topical outline are for the nonprerequisite semester course in Clothing and Textiles. The selection of topics for this course should include consideration of the students' previous experiences in clothing and textiles. Students who have completed Consumer-Homemaking II should not enroll in this semester course, because the major topics included in Consumer-Homemaking II are also included in the nonprerequisite semester course. Topics in clothing construction skill development should be included in the nonprerequisite semester course in Clothing and Textiles. The topics are not repeated, however, and the teacher is required to refer to Levels II and III for appropriate learning experiences in clothing construction.

Level IV also includes topics for the semester course entitled Advanced Clothing and Textiles. These topics are identified under IV-B in the topical outline. Students are required to complete the nonprerequisite semester course in Clothing and Textiles or Consumer-Homemaking I and II prior to enrolling in the advanced semester course.

Clothing and Textiles--Volume III

The third volume includes Level V for adults and out-of-school youth. Learning activities focus on basic and/or advanced experiences in clothing and textile subject matter to meet the needs of participants.

Scope and Sequence

Topics are in sequential order for each category at each level. Each topic is complete with content, student learning activities, and resources. This format allows for rearrangement as deemed appropriate within the levels. All topics are not expected to be included at each level in each program in the State. Selection of the topics for entry-exit competencies of the participants should be within the scope and time frame recommended by the Home Economics Section.

A complete topical outline for all levels is included in the initial pages of each volume of the guide. Topical outlines for each level precede the materials for that specific level. Adhering to the general provisions of the outlines can ensure better articulation and greater achievement.

Student competency-based objectives are included for each topic and/or sub-topic. Each objective indicates specific behavior expected under the conditions identified. The acceptable level of accuracy for each objective will need to be determined by the teacher and/or school system.

The detailed, outlined content area for each topic and/or sub-topic is intended to guide the teacher's presentation of a common body of knowledge. Teachers should feel free to add, delete, or adjust the information provided in the guide according to the needs, interests, and abilities of their students.

Some suggested student learning activities are given with the content under each topic and/or sub-topic. The activities were planned to coincide with the content being presented. Teachers are encouraged to add other unique teaching-learning strategies for the achievement of the objectives stated in the guide. Some ideas for FHA/HERO projects and ideas for special needs students are also included.

Teacher and student resources are provided for each topic and/or sub-topic. Textbooks related to clothing and textiles are those listed in Louisiana State Adopted Textbooks and Materials, 1982. Selected resources include bulletins, pamphlets, and audio-visual materials available for use by the teacher and student.

A listing of supplementary materials is provided in the appendix of each volume of the guide. Included is complete reference information with a brief description of the materials. Bulletin board ideas and teaching supplements are also included.

Reviews

An out-of-state field consultant analyzed the developed plan, provided direction and suggestions for improvement, and reviewed the materials for accuracy, progressiveness, and sound practice in the clothing and textiles content area for home economics programs.

Statewide review of the curriculum materials was done by representative local home economics teachers. Each city and/or parish system was invited to participate in the review. Ideas and suggestions for improvement were considered and incorporated where feasible.

The guide was submitted to the Louisiana Department of Education for approval prior to the printing for widespread distribution.

The Clothing and Textiles Curriculum Guide is just that--a guide--not an all-encompassing end but a beginning for those who use it.

TOPIC FABRIC SELECTION

OBJECTIVES After reading selected references on fabric selection, the student will be able to determine factors that will affect the choice of fabric for a given situation.

Given information on shopping for fabrics, the student will be able to identify quality fabrics.

Upon the completion of lesson on selecting fabrics for various needs, the student will be able to select from the suggested list on back of a pattern envelope fabrics suitable for a particular item.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Vocabulary --Grain --Bias --Lengthwise yarns --Selvage --Crosswise yarns	Illustrate the fabric terms. Display the illustration.
Factors Affecting Choice of Fabric --Style of garment --Figure type --Individual clothing need --Sewing ability --Purpose of garment	Read available resources on selecting fabric and cite factors that will affect the choice of fabric for a project.
Characteristics of Fabrics Suitable for Beginners --Firm weave --Medium-weight fabric --Solid colors or small all-over designs --Moderate price --Easy care --Durable --Stable quality --Suitability to pattern	Construct bulletin board using fabric samples suitable for specific apparel. Examine two different grades of the same type of fabric. Compare care, price, use, and appearance.
Shopping for Fabrics --Look for fiber content, fabric width, and finish. --Check for shrinkage. --Observe wrinkle-resistance. --Note the grain of woven fabric. --Secure a permanent care label. Examine care labels and note difference in care requirements and symbols.	Visit a fabric shop or department store. Identify the decision one must make and how one's knowledge of textiles and fabrics relates to sound consumer decisions. Write a report.

Common Fabric Defects

- Flaws in yarn
- Tears or cuts
- Color changes in fabric piece
- Excess sizing
- Misprinted pattern

Examine fabrics before purchasing. Identify any defects present in cloth.

Selecting Specific Fabrics

- Wovens
 - .Correct grain lines
- Knits
 - .Test stretch and recovery of knit fabric by using the knit gauge on the pattern envelope.
 - .Check for wrinkle and run resistance.
- Plaids, stripes, napped, or one-way designs
 - .May need to purchase extra amounts of fabric.
 - .Fold fabric to match stripes or plaids.
 - .Lay all pieces of pattern in same direction on fabric.

Working in groups, list factors to consider when selecting fabric for specific garments. Visit a fabric shop and identify appropriate fabrics to use for specific garments.

Discuss problems associated with use of plaids, stripes, or one-way designs.

Demonstrate how to lay a specific pattern on fabric with special considerations.

Considerations when Selecting Fabric

- Be sure that line, color, texture, and designs complement the figure, coloring, and personality.
- Select fabric appropriate for the pattern.
- Be sure that the fabric is suited for the intended use of the garment.
- Use natural light to look at the fabric.
- Read the label.

Divide into small groups. Each group selects a fabric and coordinates with a suitable pattern. Share findings with class members.

ECONOMIC ASPECTS OF CLOTHING

TOPIC WARDROBE PLANNING

SUB-TOPIC Situation and Need

OBJECTIVES Following a discussion on wardrobe planning, the student will be able to identify factors that influence personal wardrobe planning.

Using the information acquired from the discussions on wardrobe planning, the student will be able to assess a well-planned wardrobe.

Given selected resources to study, the student will be able to identify the steps in planning a personal wardrobe.

Using the information on wardrobe assessments and specific situations, the student will be able to determine clothing needs for a personal wardrobe.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Wardrobe --Collection of clothing worn during a given season of the year	Read references to find a definition of wardrobe. Illustrate the components of a wardrobe--show ways to add to basic clothing.
Factors that Influence Wardrobe Planning --Income --Geographical location --Composition of the family --Varied activities --Present wardrobe --Available shopping facilities --Climate --Friends	On the board list factors that influence a person's wardrobe requirements. Decide which factor(s) have the most influence in planning wardrobe. Evaluate a personal wardrobe. Identify items as "essential" or "non-essential" for inclusion in wardrobe.
Characteristics of a Well-Planned Wardrobe --Adequate number of garments to meet daily requirements --Accessories to enhance or extend use of basic garments --Basic color schemes for which garments can be combined --Garments that are attractive, becoming, and comfortable --Suitable items for all occasions	Brainstorm to identify characteristics of a well-planned wardrobe. Construct a bulletin board to illustrate the characteristics of a well-planned wardrobe. List reasons why wardrobe planning may be profitable. Compare the benefits of a well-planned wardrobe vs. the effects

- Clothes express personality
- Appropriate fabric selections for climatic conditions
- Mix and match items
- Wearer has a "total look" on every appearance of poor wardrobe planning. Role play specific situations.

Evaluate finished wardrobe plan according to characteristics developed in class.

Guidelines to Follow in Wardrobe Planning

- Buy, make, or repair only garments that will be used.
- Plan for combination of garment pieces.
- Use a color-coordinated plan for wardrobe.
- Prepare a list of garments on hand with colors to use when shopping.
- Coordinate accessories with additions to the wardrobe.
- Make a plan for care of clothing.
- Revise and change wardrobe plans as wants and needs change.
- Develop a spending plan.

Invite a fashion coordinator to show how to coordinate and extend a wardrobe for personal use.

Interview a person who is considered to be well-dressed.

Discuss importance of planning a wardrobe.

(FHA) Assess existing clothing to determine future wardrobe needs.

Rules for Planning a Minimum Wardrobe

- One to wear
- One being washed or cleaned
- One to serve as a spare

Using clippings from magazines or mail order catalogs, plan a personal school wardrobe for a special event or vacation.

Describe how weekend activities can influence one's choice for clothing.

Adding Clothing to Present Wardrobe

- Plan to suit situation and/or need.
- Select and use becoming designs.
- Recycle or repair clothing as needed.
- Decide whether to buy and/or make garments.

- Possible discards

The Inventory

- Purpose or value
- Procedure
- Evaluation

Preparing for Inventory of Clothing

- Clothes in good condition that can be worn as they are
- Mending or altering a usable item
- Clothing item cannot be worn

Making a Clothing Inventory

- List of garments on hand
- Description of each garment
- Condition
- Needed repairs
- Fit and style
- Where each garment is to be worn
- Garments to be discarded

Develop guidelines which could be used to help one in making decisions in taking a clothing inventory.

Develop a method for grouping clothes while removing them from the closet

Assess clothing in your wardrobe. Determine reasons for not wearing specific clothing items.

Devise a chart or organized way of listing clothing items to be retained. Note all repairs or alterations needed.

Summarize points that should be included in making a clothing inventory.

Give concrete reasons for discarding garments from closet.

Determine how discards will benefit other friends, relatives, or charity.

Conduct a personal clothing inventory to assess needs and wants and provide a guide for future purchases. (Appendix)

Plan Your Clothing

To be able to plan your clothing, first you need to look in your closet. Pull everything out and sort it on the bed or chairs according to use. Then make your plan using the chart below.

THINGS I DO AND PLACES I GO	CLOTHES THAT I WEAR	ACCESSORIES	NEED TO ADD	I WILL MAKE	I WILL BUY
Example: School	Blue Wool Skirt	Blue blouse loafers white hose and suede belt	Printed blouse

Are there clothes on the bed which you did not list in your plan? Why? Do they need repairs? Can they be remodeled? Should they be given away? If you have not worn them in two years, repair, remodel or give them away.

OBJECTIVES After studying selected resources on shopping for clothing, the student will be able to name and briefly explain setting pre-shopping goals.

Given information on budgeting, the student will be able to design a budget for a specific situation and individual.

Following a study of policy and procedures for shopping, the student will be able to demonstrate the procedures established by the marketplace.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Pre-determined Goals --Needs --Wants --Budgets	Discuss reasons for planning one's wardrobe.
Variations in Clothing Budgets --Income --Family size --Locality --Socioeconomic status	Study family clothing budgets from commercial sources. Determine the division of the clothing budget for family members. Design a clothing budget for a hypothetical family.
Planned Spending --Where to shop --When to shop --Ways to purchase --Cost effectiveness	Discuss factors that influence cost of clothes. List ways that savings in the clothing budget can be effected. Estimate money spent on clothing during the past year. How can that expenditure be extended to the current year? Determine if the amount spent for each family member is a fair share of the clothing dollar.
Policies and Procedures for Shopping --Return items --Damaged goods --Bargains vs. Specialities	Plan a clothing budget for a year for a family of four using quotes from Sears, Penney's, or Montgomery Ward catalogs. Role play situations that illustrate use of policies in shopping (Example: Returning items or damaged goods.)

TOPIC STORAGE
SUB-TOPIC Principles and Procedures

OBJECTIVES Following a discussion on storage for clothing and after viewing a variety of storage accessories, the student will be able to explain how storage space can be used effectively.

After viewing examples of improperly stored items, the student will be able to recognize the effect proper storage has on the appearance and life of the garment.

After reviewing storage procedures for clothing, the student will be able to organize storage for personal clothing.

Upon completion of a study about garment storage, the student will be able to explain when and how clothes should be seasonally and continuously stored.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Reasons for Storing Clothes --Protection .Cleanliness .Good Condition --Convenience .Easy to see .Easy to reach	Discuss reasons for proper storage of clothing.
Characteristics of a Good Storage System --Saves time and energy --Protects fibers, fabrics, and shapes of garments --Makes best use of available storage space --Provides convenience for people served	List clothing that requires storage. Describe personal situations which reveal that clothes storage is ineffective.
Storing Clothes in the Home --Closets --Chests --Drawers --Trunks --Shelves --Garment bags --Boxed --Shoe racks	Cite areas in home where clothes can be stored. Draw a diagram of personal space for storage. Make a plan for improving the available closet and drawer space.
Accessories used for Clothing Storage --Poles --Drawer dividers --Garment bags	Collect and mount pictures; examples of various storage accessories for clothing. Determine personal use of the selected accessories.

- Hooks
- Hangers
- Various shapes and sizes of boxes
- Sweater bags

Principles Used in Clothing Storage

- Store items at the point of first use.
- Store items together.
- Store clothes and other items so that they are easy to locate at a glance.
- Store items used frequently at a point of easy reach.
- Store similar items together.
- Use all the space you have.

Organizing a Clothing Storage Area

- Group garments that are equal in length and size.
- Store shoes in a small area.
- Place accessories on open shelves.
- Store folded garments in shallow units.
- Plan for easy access to the storage area.

Seasonal Storage of Clothes

- Wash or dry clean all garments prior to storing.
- Remove belts from garments.
- Store sweaters flat and use tissue paper in folds.
- Moth proof stored garments.
- Provide adequate air space in storage areas.

(FHA) Make a storage accessory for closet and/or drawer.

Discuss the reasons for using good hangers for support of garments.

Design a checklist for personal storage habits.

Discuss principles involved in clothing storage.

Using problems of clothes storage, point out ways to solve the problems.

Demonstrate clothing storage arrangements with use of accessories.

Establish a hypothetical situation. Organize clothing according to type and frequency of use within the framework of the situation.

Arrange storage space for storage of clothing items.

Re-organize and arrange personal clothing storage area.

Devise a plan for storing your seasonal clothes.

(FHA) Develop a brochure on storage of clothing. Distribute as a part of a service project.

TOPIC SEWING EQUIPMENT

SUB-TOPIC Selection, Use, and Care of Small Equipment

- OBJECTIVES Given resources to study, the student will be able to identify basic sewing equipment used in construction.
- Following a demonstration of cutting equipment, the student will be able to describe suitable cutting tools needed for sewing.
- Given samples of fabric ready for marking, the student will be able to determine the marking tool needed for the given fabric.
- Given information on measuring aids, the student will be able to select and use measuring tools for a specific situation.
- Given samples of other sewing tools, the student will be able to list and explain other sewing tools needed for successful machine sewing.
- After observing a demonstration on the use of sewing equipment, the student will be able to demonstrate proper use of specific sewing equipment.
- Given a variety of sewing equipment, the student will be able to explain how to care for sewing equipment used in construction.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Basic Sewing Equipment --Hand sewing needles --Pins --Pin cushion and emery bag --Dressmaker shears and scissors --Thread clippers --Pinking shears --Measuring equipment --Marking tools --Thread --Thimbles --Sewing box	Identify the basic small equipment used in construction. Group tools and supplies according to area of use or function.
Cutting Tools --Shears --Scissors --Pinking shears	Make and decorate a personal sewing box or purchase one.

- Scalloping shears
- Clipper
- Buttonhole scissors

Marking Supplies

- Tracing wheel
- Dressmaker's carbon paper
- Tailor's chalk and pencil

Measuring Aids

- Tape measure
- Sewing gauge
- Skirt marker
- Yardstick or meterstick

Other Sewing Tools

- Needles: sharps, betweens, crewel
- Pins: dressmaker, silk, ballpoint
- Thread: cotton and synthetic
- Thimble
- Seam ripper

Use and Care of Sewing Equipment

- Safety
- Convenience
- Productivity

Storage of Equipment

- Consider use location.
- Determine placement, safety.
- Review space requirements.

Collect and place in a sewing box the most essential small sewing equipment.

Demonstrate the proper way to use cutting tools, marking tools, and measuring tools.

Show how to use small equipment safely.

Demonstrate how large and small sewing equipment should be cared for and stored.

CLOTHING CONSTRUCTION SKILL DEVELOPMENT

TOPIC SEWING EQUIPMENT

SUB-TOPIC Use of Sewing Equipment (Sewing Machine)

OBJECTIVES Following a study of the sewing machine, the student will be able to identify and match parts of the sewing machine to their function.

Given information on threading the sewing machine, the student will be able to identify the basic threading points on a sewing machine.

Given tools and materials, the student will be able to demonstrate how to thread and operate the sewing machine.

After practice stitching on the sewing machine, the student will be able to stitch straight lines, sew curves, and turn corners.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Essential Parts of Sewing Machine --Hand wheel --Bobbin winder --Stitch, length dial --Tension regulator --Thread guides --Take-up lever --Spool pin --Bobbin case	Study and compare the parts of different models. Learn the names and the functions of the different parts. Relate the sewing machine to other kinds of machines operated by individuals.
Threading the Sewing Machine --Winding the bobbin --Position of needle --Threading the upper part of the sewing machine --Threading the lower part	Display large chart on how to thread the machine. Discuss the difference in the different models. Thread the machine and fill the bobbin.
Operating the Sewing Machine --Lighting --Posture --Speed control --Stitching a straight line --Stitching corners and curves --Stitching a circle	Practice stitching by following lines drawn on paper or lines of a seam allowance on a pillow top or miniature item.

TOPIC PATTERN SELECTION

SUB-TOPIC Commercial Patterns

OBJECTIVES Given commercial pattern samples, the student will be able to identify the various types of commercial patterns used by consumers.

Given resources to study, the student will be able to name the criteria used to select a beginner and/or advanced pattern.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Patterns --Basic to sewing	Select an easy-to-make pattern. Explain reasons for choice.
Widely Publicized Brands of Commercial Patterns --Butterick --McCall's --Simplicity --Vogue --Kwik Sew	Compare examples of different brands of patterns.
Buying Patterns --Department stores --Variety stores --Specialty shops --Magazines --Mail catalogs/papers	Assemble a list of stores and brands of commercial patterns that are available in your community.
Selecting Beginners' Pattern --Pattern with few pieces --Simple neck finish --Sleeve or armhole finish --Few sewing details	Display an easy-to-make pattern. Demonstrate how a pattern can be uniquely personalized.
Selecting Advanced Pattern --Large number of pieces --Much construction detail --Combining parts of patterns	Compare patterns to determine the most difficult.
Factors Affecting Pattern Choice --Kind of item one will make --Type of fabric being used --Figure type and pattern size --Sewing ability --Availability of funds for payment of needed materials	Demonstrate how to transfer pattern pieces (Ex: sleeves, collars, etc.). Select a pattern for a project.

Categories of Patterns used by Pattern Companies

- Fast and Easy
 - .Simple to sew with few pieces
- Special How-to-do
 - .Detailed instructions for specific construction on garment (collar)
- Special Fabric Patterns
 - .Designed for specific fabric (stretch knit)
- Multi-sized patterns
 - .Adjustable or multi-cutting lines and/or extra instructions for altering or fitting
- Specialized design patterns
 - .Basic, classic, casual, contemporary, or designer looks

Categorize selected patterns from the major pattern companies. Defend the decision.

Determine reasons for placing a specific pattern in a category.

Prepare a bulletin board to show patterns that illustrate each of the categories used by pattern companies.

CLOTHING CONSTRUCTION SKILL DEVELOPMENT

TOPIC PATTERN SELECTION

SUB-TOPIC: Size and Measurement

OBJECTIVES. Using information on figure types, the student will be able to describe the various figure types.

Following a demonstration, the student will be able to take accurate body measurements for pattern selection.

With body measurements and information on figure types, the student will be able to determine personal pattern type and size.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Guidelines to Determine Category for Figure-type <ul style="list-style-type: none"> --Compare personal basic body measurements with the various figure-type categories in a pattern book. --Use try-on patterns of non-woven fabric. --Use sample garments or shells. Basis for Selecting Pattern Type <ul style="list-style-type: none"> --Height --Basic body measurements --Back waist length (for girls and women) --Overall body build Categories of Figure Types <ul style="list-style-type: none"> --Junior Petite --Junior --Miss Petite --Misses --Half-size --Women's --Men's --Children Categories of Figure Types for Pre-Teens and/or Teenage Groups <ul style="list-style-type: none"> --Girls --Young Junior/Teen --Chubbies --Boys 	Select a partner and use standard tools to take measurements required by each person. Make a chart of the measurements for each person. Make personal measurement charts using metric measurements. Refer to a wall chart on figure types and list figure types for which patterns are made. Design a bulletin board illustrating various characteristics of different figure types.

To Determine Pattern Size

- Bust measurement/chest measurement
 - .Blouses, dresses, coats, or shirts, jackets
- Hip measurement
 - .Fitted skirts
 - .Slacks
 - .Shorts
- Waist measurement
 - .Skirts with fullness
 - .Trousers/slacks

Other Factors to Consider if Size of Pattern Falls Between Sizes

- Body build
- Desired fit
- Consider measurement area(s) of greatest agreement
- Type of garment

Principles of Measuring for a Pattern

- Measure over the undergarments.
- Take measurements snugly.
- Have someone help take body measurements.
- Use an accurate measure of non-stretchable material.
- Keep measurement tools around the body parallel to the floor.
- Stand straight and relaxed.
- Tie string around natural waistline prior to taking actual measurement.
- Slightly bend elbow to measure sleeve length.

Selecting Pattern Size

- If bust measurement falls between two sizes, select the larger or smaller size according to other measurements.
- If measurements fall between pattern sizes and bone structure is small, select smaller size pattern.
- If the figure is fuller through the bust than other parts of the body, select pattern one size smaller than

Identify body measurements that are necessary for selecting pattern size.

Analyze personal figure type. Discuss other factors to consider if pattern does not fit exactly.

Demonstrate how to take body measurements.

Take and record individual body measurements.

Use pattern size charts to determine pattern type and size that best corresponds to individual body measurements.

Bring ready-made garment to class. Measure garment in same area as for pattern. Compare sizing.

- the bust measurement,
 --For skirts, slacks or pants,
 buy pattern by waist
 measurement; if hip
 measurement is larger than the pattern buy pattern by hip measurement and adjust
 pattern at waist.
 --For shirts, consider neck
 size, shoulder width, and sleeve length.

Types of Ease in Patterns

- Basic
 .Ease that pattern companies allow in excess of the basic body measurements
 --Design
 .Amount of ease is dependent upon design or style of pattern.
 -Styles with fashion details
 calling for fullness will have more ease.
 -Tight fitting and strapless
 styles have less ease.
 -Patterns designed for knits
 have less ease because of elasticity of fabric.

KEY GRAIN LINES IN PATTERN FITTING

The real problems in fitting are solved by studying the key grain lines and learning which alterations are needed. For a perfect fit, grain is your key to success. To begin with, the pattern is in perfect line. This perfect grain must be kept to insure a well-fitted finished garment.

Check a basic pattern on your figure to see if:

- * Center front and back grain lines are straight and are at right angles with the floor
- * Crosswise grainline is exactly parallel to floor at bustline and hipline.
- * The lengthwise grain follows a vertical line from shoulder tip to elbow, and that the crosswise grain runs parallel to the floor above the elbow.
- * Underarm seams run in a straight, vertical position, at right angles to the floor from underarm to bottom of skirt.
- * The bustline darts point to the fullest part of the bust; the sleeve darts to the elbow.
- * Waistline, sleeve length, and neckline fit is correct.

If certain details need changing, make the necessary alterations keeping the above key grain lines in mind.

REMEMBER: Do not overfit. the necessary amount of ease must be maintained for sitting, walking, raising arms and bending.

CLOTHING CONSTRUCTION SKILL DEVELOPMENT

TOPIC PATTERN PREPARATION, ALTERATION, AND PLACEMENT

SUB-TOPIC Placement

OBJECTIVES Given resources to study, the student will be able to list the factors to consider in placing the pattern on fabric.

After studying markings on pattern pieces, the student will be able to identify markings designed for pattern placement.

After a review of available information on fabrics, the student will be able to determine the right and wrong side of a fabric.

After studying information on methods of fold fabrics, the student will be able to demonstrate the kinds of fabric folds necessary for the layout of a pattern.

Given illustrations of pattern placements, the student will be able to select the correct pattern layout for the width, the type of fabric, and the pattern design of the chosen fabric.

Given supplies and materials, the student will be able to demonstrate the placement of a pattern on selected fabric.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Pattern Layout --Diagram showing how each pattern piece is laid on the fabric	Demonstrate knowledge of pattern.
Reasons for Pattern Layout --Save time. --Eliminate placement problems of patterns. --Avoid extra expenses.	Discuss reasons for using a prescribed pattern layout.
Selecting a Pattern Layout --Pattern size --Pattern view or style --Width and type of fabric	Students will circle information on the pattern envelope which is required for selecting the correct pattern layout.
Determine Right Side of Fabric --Observe outside while fabric is folded on the bolt.	Using pattern pieces for a simple blouse (size 10 and 16) and pieces of fabric (same yardages but.

- Examine fabric for flaws and defects.
- Right side selvage is usually smoother.
- Right side of weave usually looks more finished than the wrong side.

Types of Folds

- Open fabric
 - .Fabric in a single thickness, is spread out flat, usually with the right side up.
- Lengthwise center fold--fold in which the selvages are even and parallel to the fold
- Lengthwise fold less than half the fabric width--a fold in which one selvage is parallel to the other and the width of the fold is adapted to the pattern pieces.
- Crosswise center fold--fold is crosswise center ending with two complete, full-width layers of fabric and even alignment to the ends.
- Off-center crosswise fold--fold is less than half the fabric length, in which one end is parallel to the other and the length of the fold is adopted to the pattern piece
- Double fold--fold is made by opening the fabric out flat and folding in the two ends of the two sides with the ends of selvages meeting or lying parallel to each other.
- Combination fold--combining two or more types of folds with one pattern layout
- Bias fold--made by folding the selvage parallel to the crosswise grain

Pattern Markings for Placement

- Straight grain of the fabric line--solid line with arrows at both ends, to help one place the pattern piece on the line with the fabric grain different widths: 36", 45", 54") work in small groups to determine length of each width of fabric needed for the given blouse size.

Examine different types of fabric samples. Determine right side of fabric samples.

Discuss reasons for knowledge of fabric folds.

Demonstrate different types of fabric folds that can be used for pattern placement.

Study a pattern and identify markings designed for placement.

- Fold line--arrow points curved into brackets indicate that pattern edge must be placed on fold of fabric as well as on the grain

Rules for Laying Pattern Pieces on Fabric

- Circle the layout which best describes the type and width of the fabric.
- Fold the fabric as suggested by the guide sheet.
- Place pattern pieces on the fabric according to the sketch.

Other Guidelines for Laying Pattern on Fabric

- Lay large pattern pieces first.
- Wide ends of pattern piece are usually placed at cut-ends of the fabric.
- Place pieces as close together as possible with no seamlines overlapping.
- Make sure straight-of-grain markings are an equal distance from selvages or fold of fabric.
- Lay pattern pieces that must be located on the fold first.

Value of Securing Pattern Pieces

- Keep pieces on straight grain and in place while you are cutting.

Pinning Pattern to Fabric

- Place pins at right angles to stitching, cutting, and fold lines and diagonally toward the corners.
- Start by pinning the grain line on each pattern piece.
- Space pins 4 to 6 inches apart around pattern piece.
- Smooth the tissue gently from the secured grain line as opposite sides of the pattern are pinned.
- Place a pin inside each notch.
- Keep pins from extending over the cutting line.

Review rules for laying pattern pieces on fabric.

Study selected pattern layout.

Place pattern on fabric.

Demonstrate pinning pattern piece to fabric.

SUB-TOPICS Fabric Preparation
Woven; Knit, Nonwoven

- OBJECTIVES Given available resources to study, the student will be able to define terms that are associated with fabrics.
- Given information on grainlines, the student will be able to identify characteristics of different grainlines.
- Following a demonstration, the student will be able to explain different methods used for straightening fabric grain.
- Given supplies and materials, the student will be able to demonstrate two ways to make fabric thread perfect.
- Given supplies and materials, the student will be able to demonstrate two ways to make a fabric grain perfect.
- Given fabric samples, the student will be able to demonstrate an acceptable method for pre-shrinking fabrics.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Terminology --Grain --Fitting or crosswise grain --Selvages --True bias --Pre-shrunk --Thread perfect --Grain perfect --Warp or lengthwise grain --Bias grain --Off-grain --Straightening the grain	Define and illustrate the terms associated with fabric preparation.
Characteristics of Grain for Woven Fabrics --Lengthwise grain--parallels the lengthwise threads .Fabric strong, stiff, and least likely to stretch --Crosswise grain--perpendicular to the lengthwise grain .Less strong, less stiff, and	Show on samples the various grainlines in woven, knit, and nonwoven fabrics by drawing lines in with pencil, ink, or a marker.

- stretches.
- Selvages--smooth finished lengthwise edges of woven fabric
- .Strong and stiff
- ✓ True bias--direction of the fabric 45 degrees from the lengthwise and crosswise grains
- .Stretches
- Bias--any fabric direction other than lengthwise, crosswise, or true bias
- .Tendency to stretch

Characteristics of Grain for Knit Fabrics

- Ribs (wales)--lengthwise grain
- Courses--crosswise direction

Characteristics of Nonwoven Fabrics

- Lengthwise grain--least stretchy direction
- Crosswise grain--most stretchy direction

Fabric Widths

- 18, 22, and 25 inches
- .Interfacing fabrics--woven, knit, nonwoven
- 35-36 inches
- .Cottons, cotton blends, silk
- 42, 44, and 45 inches
- .Cotton blends, woven synthetics, silks, some nonwoven fabrics
- 54-60 inches
- > .Wools, knits
- 72 inches
- .Knits

Straighten Fabric Ends (Thread Perfect)

- Tearing
- Pulling a thread
- Cutting along a prominent crosswise thread or line
- Basting a thread line along lengthwise rib (knit)

Straighten Fabric Grain (Grain Perfect)

- Pulling on the diagonal (except wool)
- Steam pressing

Draw the lengthwise grain and crosswise grain on a knit fabric.

Find examples of nonwoven fabric. Observe the amount of stretch in the various grains.

Collect samples of different fabric widths. Label fabrics and widths.

Explain and demonstrate the different methods used to straighten the fabric ends.

Mount samples of fabrics that can be made thread perfect by cutting along a woven design.

Discuss various methods used to straighten fabric grain on woven and knitted fabrics.

- Submerging in water (use with washable fabrics only)
- Marking with chalk on knit-- place lengthwise grain of folded fabric against one side of a square table or a cutting board.

Demonstrate how to straighten fabric grain by making a fabric length grain perfect.

Pre-Shrinking Fabric

- Submerge in warm water, dry on a flat surface, steam press
- Professional dry-cleaning
- ~~Not~~ necessary to pre-shrink Sanforized fabric
- Shrink interfacings, zippers, and trims when shrinking fabric

Demonstrate several ways to pre-shrink fabric.

Pressing Fabric

- Remove wrinkles.
- Press out center fold of fabric.

Show how to press fabric on correct grain.

SUB-TOPIC Cutting

OBJECTIVES Given examples of various types of equipment used for cutting, the student will be able to identify tools used for cutting fabrics.

After reading selected references on cutting tools, the student will be able to recall the characteristics of good cutting equipment.

Given specific cutting tools and a fabric sample, the student will be able to explain and demonstrate directional cutting.

Using selected pieces of cutting equipment, fabric, and a pattern, the student will be able to cut a pattern layout correctly.

 - . 4-5 inches long
 - . Pointed blades
 - . Blades set to cut a prescribed length
- Thread clips
 - . Short blade
 - . Cuts stray threads quickly
 - . Used with a clipping motion
- Seam ripper
 - . Used for removing stitches

Directional Cutting

- Cut fabric in the same direction in which the seams will be stitched, usually from the wider part of the pattern to the narrower (direction of arrows on seam line).

Basic Guidelines for Cutting

- Handle fabric as little as possible in cutting.
- Use single or double solid line for cutting.
- Use sharp shears.

Before Cutting

- Pin all pattern pieces in place.
- Parallel grainlines to selvage or place on fold.
- Allow adequate space for pieces labeled: "cut four."
- Study special notes for cutting pieces without a pattern.
- Make sure pins are all inside cutting lines.

Procedures for Cutting Fabrics

- Keep fabric flat on surface.
- Use long, firm cutting strokes.
- Cut notches away from the pattern piece.

Compare use and cost of cutting tools. Identify places where equipment can be purchased.

Demonstrate how to cut directionally and discuss the advantages of the cut.

List basic guidelines for cutting out a pattern.

Cut out fabric using correct cutting tool.

- Cut slash and clip lines together.
- Use small clips for center lines, fold lines, top of sleeve.
- Use full length of blade to cut long straight areas and points to cut corners, curves, and small details.

SUB-TOPIC Marking

OBJECTIVES Given selected pattern pieces, the student will be able to identify pattern markings that need to be transferred from pattern to fabric.

Given available resources to study, the student will be able to explain the purpose of markings on selected pattern pieces.

After studying methods of transfer and given needed supplies and equipment, the student will be able to explain the different methods of transferring pattern markings to fabric.

Given examples of fabric, the student will be able to use the marking equipment to transfer markings from pattern to fabric.

Purpose of Markings

- Show location of construction details

Types of Markings to Transfer to Fabric

- Lines
- Dots
- Notches to show where to alter
- Seam lines
- Placement positions of darts, pockets, centers, fold lines, buttons and buttonholes, pleats, and tucks

Methods of Marking

- Dressmaker carbon paper and tracing wheel--firmly woven fabrics
- --Tailor's tacks--use on knits, sheers, lightweights, wools
- Pins
- Tailor's chalk and dressmaker's chalk pencils
- Basting

Advantages and Disadvantages of Each Marking Method

- Tracing wheel and paper
 - .Quick method
 - .Markings sometimes are hard to remove and may show on right side of fabric
- Tailor's chalk
 - .Desirable to use on heavy fabric
 - .May leave grease spot after pressing
- Tailor's tacks
 - .Best method to use on white, heavy fabrics, and sheers
 - .Time consuming
 - .Less accurate
- Pins
 - .Usually readily available
 - .Least accurate and least effective of all marking tools

Transfer Markings to Fabric

- Select marking method to use on fabric.

Show a pattern piece that is properly marked and one that is not. Discuss.

Review the various construction detail markings on commercial patterns. Compare similarities and differences between the major pattern companies--Simplicity, Butterick, McCalls, Vogue, Kwik-Sew.

Have students bring in a used pattern from home. Identify markings to be transferred by type and reason for transfer.

Summarize procedure for using each method of marking.

Display samples showing ways of marking on different kinds of fabric.

Using a small sized pattern, transfer markings by each method. List reasons for using one method over another.

Explain advantages and disadvantages of each method for transferring pattern markings.

Choose a marking method suitable, for selected fabric.

Cut out small scale pattern pieces and transfer marking using the different marking methods.

--Decide on markings that need to be transferred from pattern to fabric.
 --Trace markings. Use ruler as a guide for straight lines.

Use correct marking techniques to transfer pattern markings to fabric.

TOPIC UNIT CONSTRUCTION

SUB-TOPICS Advantage of Method
Developing a Work Plan
Basic Steps in Unit Method

OBJECTIVES Using a commercial guide sheet for a pattern, the student will be able to describe the unit method of clothing construction.

Given resources to study, the student will be able to explain the advantages of the unit method in constructing a project.

Given information on the unit method, the student will be able to define unit construction and list the basic steps in the unit method of construction.

Given a guide sheet for a specific pattern, the student will be able to develop a work plan for a specific situation.

parts are joined, and shows the relationship of one part to another

Basis for Selecting Unit Method
Gradual progression of learning from the simple to the more complex decisions, procedures, and techniques

General Steps in Developing a Work Plan

- Top with cut-on sleeve
 - .Front
 - .Back
 - .Facings
 - .Seams and hems
- Simple shirt with darts, zippers, and waistband
 - .Front
 - .Back
 - .Seams and Zipper
 - .Waistband
 - .Fasteners and Hemming
- Simple Dress with back zipper
 - .Dress front
 - .Dress back and zipper
 - .Prepare facings
 - .Shoulder seams and neck facings
 - .Side seams
 - .Hemming and fasteners

Steps for the Unit Method of Construction

- Complete each unit before beginning work on another unit.
- When two units are completed, they can be joined.
- Complete another unit and join to others; repeat procedure until all units are joined.
- Finish all construction details.
- Give project a final pressing.

Demonstrate the use of unit construction vs. construction steps randomly selected.

Study guide sheet of the pattern selected for a project.

Make a plan for a project you select.

Plan a display of each type of garment listed at left. Identify units to use in construction.

Brainstorm steps to follow in the unit method of construction. Then outline specific steps and a time line for a selected personal project.

- . Press seam allowance on edge of point presser.
- Open seam with tip of iron.
- Press waistline seam upward.
- . Press seam flat on both sides.
- . Press seam open before pressing both seam allowance up.
- Standing seam allowances (armhole and crotch)
- . Press together and turn up.
- . Press open the top position of center front and center back seams, above the notches.

Pressing Darts

- Press on both sides along the line of stitching.
- Press to one side over a tailor's ham (for shaping).
- Darts that are wide or of a heavier fabric may be split and pressed open.
- Vertical darts at waistline or neckline are pressed toward the center.
- Horizontal darts at bustline or elbow are pressed downward.

Pointers on Pressing

- Press with the grainline and in the same direction as stitched.
- Press on wrong side of fabric.
- Remove bastings and pins.
- Set iron temperature on lowest heat for a blend.
- Pound sharp creases after fitting the garment is checked.
- Press gathers toward line of gathers.
- Use a pressing cloth for touch up or final pressing.
- Avoid overpressing your garment.

Construct an illustrated pamphlet on pressing.

Describe the appearance of seam and fabric after pressing has been completed.

Demonstrate pressing various kinds of darts.

Develop general guidelines for pressing.

Write a news release on the value of pressing items during the construction process.

Compare two garments for qualities of pressing. On a check sheet rate each garment according to a selected scale for using correct guidelines in pressing.

TOPIC SEAMS

OBJECTIVES Given resources to study, the student will be able to cite the factors affecting choice of seams for a selected project.

Following a study of seams, the student will be able to identify and select seams appropriate for a specific project.

Given materials and tools, the student will be able to construct samples of seams.

Using samples of seams, the student will be able to demonstrate the correct procedure for pressing seams.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACITVITIES

.Versatile

--Enclosed seams

Variations of the Plain Seam

--Topstitched seam

--Lapped seam

--Welt seam

--Corded seam

--Slot seam

Preparing a Plain Seam

--Reinforce the beginning and end of each seam.

--Remove pins from seam as you stitch.

--Keep the two edges evenly as you stitch.

--Clip curved seams before being pressed so they will be flat.

Characteristics of a Well Made Plain Seam

--Lies flat

--Is a uniform width

--No puckers

--No tangled or broken threads

--Stitched on grain

Examples of Enclosed Seam

--French seam

.Seam within a seam

--Flat fell seam

Differences in French Seam and Plain Seam

--Two rows of stitching

--Raw edges enclosed

--Narrower finished seam allowance

Use of French Seam

--Sheer fabrics

--Fabrics that ravel

Constructing a French Seam

--Join wrong side of fabric pieces with a 3/8 inch seam.

--Trim seam allowance to 3/16 inch.

--Press seam open.

--With right sides together, press or crease the first row of stitching.

--Stitch 1/4 inch from folded edge, encasing raw edges.

Identify the basic seams and discuss reason for use with specific fabrics.

Show examples of variations of the plain seam.

Prepare a bulletin board on the different variations of the plain seam.

Design a score card to evaluate the construction of a plain seam.

Demonstrate procedure for making selected seams.

Construct a sample of a plain seam.

Show transparency of the French seam and a fabric sample.

Discuss differences between a plain seam and a French seam.

Demonstrate the making of a French seam.

Construct a catalog of uses for the French seam.

Mock French Seam

- Variation of plain seam .
- Seam allowances given special treatment .
- Especially desirable on curved seams on sheer fabric,

Use of a Simulated French Seam

- Crisp, sheer fabrics
- Used only on straight seams

Making a Simulated French Seam

- Place right sides of fabric together and stitch a regular seam.
- Press seam open and flat.
- Turn in both sides of the seam allowance $\frac{1}{4}$ inch, press.
- Edge stitch the folded edges together .

Flat Fell Seam

- Enclosed seam
- Tailored appearance
- Decorative
- Durable

Use for Flat Fell Seam

- Sportswear
- Men's shirts
- Pajamas

Qualities of a Flat Fell Seam

- Strong
- Neat
- Serviceable finish
- Comfortable

Constructing a Flat Fell Seam

- Stitch a $\frac{5}{8}$ inch seam with wrong sides together
- Press seam open
- Press both allowances to one side.
- Trim one seam allowance to $\frac{1}{4}$ inch.
- Turn under $\frac{1}{4}$ inch on raw edge of other seam allowance.
- Press the trimmed edge.
- Top-stitch close to folded edge on garment.

Steps in Pressing Seams

- Press seam allowance together flat.
- Press seams open or to one side according to pattern directions.

Show transparency and sample of a flat fell seam.

Display clothing items that make use of the flat fell seam.

Observe a flat fell seam. Evaluate seam according to criteria listed.

Using examples explain the construction of a flat fell seam.

Demonstrate the pressing of a plain seam.

- Turn garment to right side.
- Press along the seam crease with a press cloth.

TOPIC HEMS

SUB-TOPIC Kinds, Construction

OBJECTIVES Given samples of various hems, the student will be able to identify the kinds of hems.

After discussions and demonstrations on the steps in making a hem, the student will be able to explain and show the steps involved.

Following a demonstration on distributing fullness in a hem, the student will be able to select and demonstrate one method of distributing ease in a hem.

CONTENT	STUDENT LEARNING ACTIVITIES
Vocabulary Hemline Hem width Seam tape Inconspicuous hem	Browse through references. Define terms used with hems.
Hem --Finished bottom edge of a garment or garment part
Factors Affecting Hem Length --Fabric type --Garment style --Garment cut --Personal desire	Study fashions in current magazines. Select hem length for an individual and explain the reason for the selection.
Kinds of Hems --Plain .Straight edges --Narrow .Clean finish for tailored garments --Shaped .Curved hem edge on flared or circular garments --Rolled .Very narrow hem for lightweight and sheer fabrics	Study examples of hems in various garments. Identify the advantages and/or disadvantages of the kind of hem used.
Basic Steps in Hemming --Turn up desired hem allowance. --Pin or press to establish and hold the hemline.	Read references on basic steps in hemming. Demonstrate correct procedure for making a hem..

- Select width for hem allowance.
- Trim excess fabric for desired hem width.
- Apply appropriate edge finish to hem.
- Hand or machine stitch hem.

Distributing Ease in a Hem

- Shrinkable fabrics
 - .Align seams of skirt with seams of the hem.
 - .Insert brown paper between hem and skirt.
 - .Steam-press to shrink out fullness.
- Non-shrinkable fabrics
 - .Stay-stitch-plus
 - .Fabric threads crowded together during the stitching process to provide extra ease
 - .Ease line
 - Machine stitching $\frac{1}{4}$ inch from edge with a long stitch and pulling machine-stitching to align seams of the hem with seams of skirt

Observe a demonstration on ways to distribute fullness in hems.

Choose and demonstrate one method to distribute ease in a hem.
