ABSTRACT

Based upon data collected annually by the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges (AACJC), this directory provides information on 1,165 community, junior, and technical colleges, and two-year branch campuses of four-year institutions in the United States and its territories, including 1972 and 1973 data on enrollments and personnel. Following introductory material on the scope of the directory, abbreviations and key terms are explained. Next, the directory lists the colleges alphabetically by state or country and provides the following information for each: location; chief administrative head; telephone number; year college classes began; type of control or affiliation; AACJC membership; state recognition or accrediting agency; enrollments for October 1972 broken down by full- and part-time enrollment of freshman, sophomore, unclassified, and total students; total October 1972 enrollment; enrollments in summer session 1973; total enrollment in October 1973; full- and part-time faculty and administrators in 1973-74; tuition or all-inclusive fee; and type of academic calendar. Next, tables provide enrollment and personnel summaries by state for all institutions, and for public and independent colleges, and show the distribution of size of enrollments in two-year colleges. Changes in institutions since the previous year are examined next, followed by lists of community and junior college organizations and state administrators and an alphabetical listing of schools. INTRODUCTION

This is the 1974 edition of the Community and Junior College Directory. It lists a total of 1165 community and junior colleges, technical institutes, and two-year branches of four-year colleges and universities. This is an increase of twenty-four over the preceding year. Fifteen new institutions enrolled students for the first time in September 1973. Additionally, the new Directory lists fourteen institutions that were not included last year because information was not available. Twelve institutions listed in the 1973 Directory are not listed this year; five of these became four-year institutions, three merged with other institutions, and four ceased operations. The institutions added or dropped from this Directory are listed in the appendix.

The Directory indicates enrollments totaling 3,144,643, which represents a percentage increase of 9.7 percent over last year's total of 2,866,062. Enrollments in the public institutions total 3,014,211 or 10.4 percent over the preceding year. Private institutions showed enrollments of 130,432, down about 4 percent from the preceding year. Seventy-four percent of the public institutions and 41 percent of the independent colleges show increases in enrollments for the current reporting period.

In addition to the listing of colleges, the Directory contains names and addresses of state directors of community and junior college education and state and regional organizations of two-year colleges. Not an AACJC membership directory per se, the book includes names and data for many non-profit, non-member institutions. We have tried to make it as comprehensive as possible by including non-profit educational institutions that are organized on a two-year basis, have state recognition and/or regional accreditation, and offer two-year associate degree programs.

The eighth edition of American Junior Colleges, published by the American Council on Education, contains more detailed information on many of the colleges listed in the Directory. The Association in general follows the criteria established for American Junior Colleges in determining the institutions to be included in the annual Directory. It should be noted that the Directory does not include information on proprietary colleges.

Staff of the publication have relied heavily on the reporting colleges for accuracy of data. We are most grateful to the institutions for their support and cooperation.

EDMUND J. GLEAZER, JR.
President, AACJC
