ABSTRACT

An annotated, selective list of reading materials for children and instructional aids for parents, teachers, and librarians is presented in this digest. The 24 entries, many written by American Indians, are drawn from a variety of sources and deal with tribes from several regions. Many of the materials are intended to help American Indian children and parents gain a positive concept of themselves and their heritage and to promote among non-Indian children and educators a greater understanding and appreciation for the American Indian people and their culture. Each entry includes author, title, date, number of pages, source, and a brief annotation. Most entries are available in ERIC collections. (JHZ)

Digest — 1984

American Indian Children's Literature: An Update

What role does literature play in children's lives?

Literature informs and entertains; it also reflects the values of society and helps to instill those values in the reader. Children's literature participates in all of these functions but is planned for a particularly limited audience. Accepting that, it is imperative that those of us responsible for sharing books with children in our homes, in our schools, and in our libraries select with care the materials that acquaint these children with the world in which they live. Nowhere is that more true than for literature written for and about American Indian children.

What kinds of materials are found in this digest?

This digest presents an updated, selective list of reading materials for children, as well as a second list of instructional aids for parents, teachers, and librarians. The materials have been drawn from a variety of sources and include many written by American Indians.

Who should use these materials?

Many of the materials are intended to help American Indian children and parents to gain a self-concept of themselves and their heritage and to promote among non-Indian children and educators a greater understanding and appreciation for the American Indian people and their culture.

Books for Children

Bia, F.; And Others. (1982). Our community - today and yesterday. Book one. Fourth grade Navajo bilingual-bicultural social studies curriculum. Rough Rock, AZ: Navajo Curriculum Center. 193 pp. ED 228 010

The community of Rough Rock illustrated with photographs and described in Navajo and English.

Brescia, B., & Reeves, C. (1982). By the work of our hands: Choctaw material culture and Teacher's guide. Philadelphia, MS: Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians. 73 pp. and 53 pp. ED 226 921 and ED 226 920

A portion of Mississippi Choctaw culture is described with pictures illustrating the process by which some traditional Choctaw items are made.

Brewer, L.S. (1981). O Wakaga activities for learning about the Plains Indians. Seattle, WA: United Indians of All Tribes Foundation. 47 pp. ED 219 201

This student activity book teaches about Plains Indian cultures through a series of activities such as coloring, making a mobile, reading and preparing food.

Cohen, F.G., & Heaving, J. (1979 and 1981). Tribal sovereignty: Indian tribes in U.S. history and Teacher's guide. Seattle, WA: United Indians of All Tribes Foundation. 93 pp. and 14 pp. ED 195 369 and ED 219 202

This book examines the issue of tribal sovereignty from before the arrival of the white man on the North American continent to the present day.

Goldman, M. (1980). The Pueblo revolt of 1680: A set of materials for classroom learning. Santa Fe, NM: Locally developed learning materials. 95 pp. ED 209 007

This teaching unit on the Pueblo Revolt of 1680 presents student materials, a teacher's guide, and a play about the Pueblo Revolt.

Gray, M.A.; And Others. (1981). Old beliefs = Talmaknaqtal. Anchorage, AK: National Bilingual Materials Development Center. 89 pp. ED 229 177

Written in English and Upper Kobuk Inupiaq Eskimo, the booklet presents several examples of Eskimo "old beliefs" to be taught to younger people.

Jacobs, L. (1983). Plant communities of Rough Rock. Rough Rock, AZ: Navajo Curriculum Center. 26 pp. ED 228 001

A unit of study on plants grown in the Navajo community of Rough Rock, Arizona, is presented in sketches with a brief description of each.

Mathers, S.; And Others. (1979). The Mamook book: Activities for learning about the northwest coast Indians. Seattle, WA: United Indians of All Tribes Foundation. 38 pp. ED 214 720

A student activity book about the Northwest Coast tribes provides "to-do" activities such as reading, coloring, cutting out, and putting together.
