ABSTRACT

The 40 references in this annotated bibliography are intended for educators concerned with assessment of basic speaking and listening skills, especially in the context of minimal competency testing and basic skill improvement programs. The materials cited do the following: (1) address broad assessment issues; (2) review a variety of test instruments; (3) report assessment practices throughout the states; and (4) focus specifically on the assessment of speaking, listening, and functional communication skills. Ordering information for ERIC materials (ED and EJ numbers) can be found on page 4 of this bibliography.

This bibliography includes materials for educators who are concerned with assessment of basic speaking and listening skills, especially in the context of minimal competency testing and basic skills improvement programs. The bibliography is divided into two sections. The first includes materials that address broad assessment issues, review a variety of test instruments, and report assessment practices throughout the states. The second contains sources that focus specifically on the assessment of speaking, listening, and functional communication skills.

GENERAL SOURCES ON ASSESSMENT ISSUES AND INSTRUMENTS

Achievement testing and basic skills. Proceedings of the national conference on achievement testing and basic skills. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and National Institute of Education, 1979. This report covers various basic skills issues--use of test results, implications of tests for poor and minority children, cultural considerations, and the Federal role in testing.

Bloom, B. S.; Hastings, J. T.; and Maddaus, G. F. Handbook on formative and summative evaluation of student learning. New York: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1971. Distinguishes between formative and summative evaluation with chapters on evaluating language development in preschool education and elementary school language arts. Each chapter presents objectives, illustrates testing procedures, and discusses commercial tests.

Bostrom, R., (Ed.). Competence in communication, an interdisciplinary perspective. Beverly Hills, CA: Sage Publications, 1984. Book examines crosscultural, interpersonal, organizational, developmental, and mass communication perspectives on competence in communication.

Buros Institute of Mental Measurements, James V. Mitchell, Jr., (Ed.). Tests in print III. Lincoln, Nebraska: University of Nebraska Press, 1983. A standard reference for information on published tests. Lists an index to tests, test reviews, and literature on specific tests.

Clark, J. P., and Thomson, S. D. Competency tests and graduation requirements. Reston, VA: National Association of Secondary School Principals, 1976. (ERIC ED 126 160; available in microfiche from EDRS.). Provides a background to the competency testing movement and reports on nationwide initiatives in the use of applied performance tests. Reviews a variety of competency tests that measure skills achievement. The revised edition by James W. Keeffe and Nancy De Leonibus is available in microfiche from EDRS (ERIC ED 194 573); paper copy can be purchased from NASSP, 1904 Association Dr., Reston, VA 22091.

Dickson, W. P., (Ed.) Children's oral communication skills. New York, Academic Press, 1981. Chapters on a process-structuralist view of communication competency, cognitive and comprehension monitoring, skill acquisition, etc.

Fagan, W.; Cooper, C.; and Jensen, J. Measures for research and evaluation in the English language arts. Urbana, IL: National Council of Teachers of English, 1975. (ERIC ED 099 835). Reviews over 10 unpublished instruments for assessing language development, listening, and standard English as a second language, as well as literature, reading, teacher competency, and miscellaneous language skills.

- Fisher, B. A., (Ed.). Western journal of speech communication. Western Speech Communication Association (Lynn Wells, Executive Secretary, Saddleback Community College). (Vol. 48, No. 2, Spring 1984). A special issue on children's communicative development including conversational competency, acquiring sociolinguistic knowledge, differences between comprehension and production of language, impact of TV advertising, role-taking, and development from birth. (Indexed in ERIC CIJE.).
- Haney, W. Standards for tests and test use. Staff Circular No. 3. Cambridge, MA: Huron Institute, 1978. Reviews six sets of standards concerning standardized tests (including those of APA and AERA) and discusses the impact of these standards on testing practices.

- Johnson, O. G. Tests and measurements in child development: handbook II. (Vols. 1 and 2). San Francisco: Jossey-Bass Publishers, 1976. Describes 900 unpublished tests and measures of child development (birth through age 18). The measures are classified in 18 major categories.
- Perspectives on communication competency. Three articles offering differing perspectives on competency. See James C. McCroskey, "Communication Competence and performance: a research and pedagogical perspective," Communication education, (Vol. 31, No. 1, Jan. 1982, pp 1-7). McCroskey argues the need to separate concepts of communication competency and communication performance. (ERIC ED 203 401). Gerald M. Phillips, "A competent view of 'competence'." Communication education, (Vol. 33, No. 1, Jan. 1984, pp 25-36). Phillips addresses the preoccupation with definitions and measurement of competence. He suggests that the locus of interest should be shifted to techniques for training performance improvement. And, Brian H. Spitzberg, "Communication competence as knowledge, skill, and impression," Communication education, (Vol. 32, No. 3, July 1983, pp 323-329). This essay proposes that competence be viewed as a function of knowledge, skill, and motivation. Compares this perspective with McCroskey's. (Last two articles indexed in ERIC CIJE.).

SOURCES ON ASSESSMENT OF SPEAKING, LISTENING, AND FUNCTIONAL COMMUNICATION SKILLS

- Allen, R. R., and Brown, K. L. (Eds.). Developing communication competence in children. Skokie, IL: National Textbook Co., 1976. (May be purchased from SCA). Literature review, behavioral study of children's communication competencies, and an assessment of teachers' attitudes regarding goals of speech communication instruction. Also contains a framework and objectives for functional communication instruction.
- Allen, R. R., and Wood, B. S., "Beyond reading and writing in communication competence," Communication education, (Vol. 27, Nov. 1978, pp 286-292). Argues for developing competencies in an array of communication situations involving speaking and listening as well as reading and writing. Five functions of communication are offered as the communication focus of a language arts program. (ERIC EJ 201 016).
- Backlund, P.; Gurry, J.; Brown, K.; and Jandt, F., "Evaluating speaking and listening skills assessment instruments: Which one is best for you?" Language arts, (Vol. 57, No. 6, Sept. 1980, pp 621-627). Focuses on need for assessment of skills that accounts for differences between those unique to oral language and those unique to written language. (ERIC EJ 233 979).
- Backlund, P.; Gurry, J.; Brown, K.; and Jandt, F., "Recommendations for assessing speaking and listening skills," Communication education, (Vol. 31, No. 1, Jan. 1982, pp 9-18). Authors continue to clarify and develop criteria introduced in the 1980 article. (ERIC EJ 257 625).
- Bassett, R. E.; Whittington, N.; and Staton-Spicer, A., "The basics in speaking and listening for high school graduates: What should be assessed?" Communication education, (Vol. 27, Nov. 1978, pp 293-303). Recommends twenty speaking and listening competencies for high school graduates. Illustrates how each competency can be applied in occupational, citizenship, and maintenance situations. (ERIC EJ 201 017).
- Faires, C. L., "The development of listening tests," (ERIC EO 220 528). Paper presented at the annual meeting of the Mid-South Educational Research Association, Nov. 1980. Critical of most test instruments for poor construction, sample size, reporting of test item analysis data, and lack of replication.
- Illinois State Board of Education, Assessing oral communication skills, Springfield, IL: ISBE, (free from ISBE, 100 North First Street, Springfield, IL, 62777). Booklet suggesting classroom observation techniques for assessing oral communication skills. Uses a checklist approach.
- Larson, C. E., "Problems in assessing functional communication," Communication Education, (Vol. 27, Nov. 1978, pp 304-309). Emphasizes that problems in assessing functional communication have their origin in conceptual ambiguity. Contrasts communicative competence with functional effectiveness and proposes the latter as a more appropriate construct for older children and adults. (ERIC EJ 20, 018).
- Larson, C.; Backlund, P.; Redmond, M.; and Barbour, A. Assessing functional communication. Falls Church, VA; Speech Communication Association, 1978. (ERIC EO 153 275; also available from SCA). Part I identifies and describes conceptual and methodological issues involved in evaluating the major components of interpersonal interaction related to functional communication. Part II contains brief reviews of 90 instruments designed to generate information on some aspect of functional communication.
- Lederman, L. C., and Ruben, B. O., "Systematic assessment of communication games and simulations: an applied framework," Communication education, (Vol. 33, No. 2, April 1984, pp 152-159). Establishes a framework for the assessment of communication games and simulations. Specifies criteria and provides a model for the selection/design, use, and assessment of activities. (Also indexed in ERIC CIJE).
- Lundsteen, S. W. Listening: its impact at all levels on reading and the other language arts. (Rev. ed.). Urbana, IL: National Council of Teachers of English, 1979. (ERIC EO 169 537). A review of research in listening including definitions and evaluation methods. Presents a listening taxonomy and describes commercial, unpublished, and teacher-designed assessment instruments and procedures.
