ABSTRACT

This document presents one module in a set of training resources for trainers to use with parents and/or professionals serving children with disabilities; focus is on effective community advisory committees (CACs). The modules stress content and activities that build skills and offer resources to promote parent-professional collaboration. Each training module takes about 2 hours to deliver. The module guide has eight sections: a publicity flyer, topic narrative, overview, trainer agenda, activities, summary, bibliography, and evaluation. Introductory information explains how to use the modules including conducting a needs assessment, planning the training, selecting the training module, implementation, evaluation, and followup. Objectives of this module are: (1) understand the legal origins of CACs, (2) understand the mandated functions of CAC, (3) recognize the past accomplishments of your CAC, (4) recognize the functions of an effective CAC, (5) recognize the benefits of having an effective CAC, and (6) develop goals for your CAC. A bibliography identifies six books, magazines, or other resources. (DB)

Presents a Module on:

An Effective Community Advisory Committee (CAC)

Prepared by:

Mary Ann Duganne-Glicksman

Revised by:

Pat Lesniak

This module, as well as thirteen others, were produced under the direction of Karl E. Murray and Susan Westaby of the Program, Curriculum and Training Unit, Special Education Division, CA State Department of Education. The modules are being field-tested throughout 1988. During this field-test stage, they are available by sending $ 5.00 for each module (includes tax and mailing) to: Parent Training Modules, CA State Department of Education, P.O. Box 944272 - Room 621B, Sacramento, CA 94244-2720. Make checks payable to Parent Training Modules.

INTRODUCTION

The Parent/Professional Training Modules have been developed to serve as a core set of training resources for trainers to use primarily with groups of parents. Some of the trainings were designed specifically for combined groups of parents and professionals, and all the trainings can be adapted for use with parents or profesionals as separate or combined audiences. The training modules in the series focus on content and activities that build skills and offer resources to promote parent-professional collaboration to ensure quality education for all students with disabilities. There are fourteen training modules in this series:

Parental Involvement
Stress and Support in the Family
Coping with Loss and Change
Parent Support Groups
An Effective Community Advisory Committee
Community Advisory Committee Leadership Training
Communication Skills
The Individualized Education Program: Rights and Responsibilities
Placement in the Least Restrictive Environment
Training for Professionals Working with Families
Parent Professional Collaboration in Planning for Employment
Transition Planning
Interagency Collaboration: The Parents' Role

Each training module has eight sections:

Flyer
Topic Narrative
Overview
Trainer Agenda
Activities
Summary
Bibliography
Evaluation

Within each of these sections there are these materials:

Fiyer - The Flyer highlights what participants can expect to learn by attending the training. It can be personalized for each training by adding date, time, and location in the appropriate spaces.

Topic Narrative -- The Topic Narrative contains content information specifically for the trainer. Trainers use the information to enhance their knowledge and understanding of the subject matter of the training module.

Overview -- The Overview contains the goals and objectives for the module; and the content and presentation strategy for each activity contained within the module.

Trainer Agenda -- The Trainer Agenda contains details of trainer and participant activities, materials and media. It is a suggested agenda that trainers can personalize to fit their style and the specific needs of the participants. A few modules that deal with sensitive or difficult content have Trainer Tips included in the Agenda section.

Summary -- The Summary contains highlights of all the content information presented in activities within the training. The Summary was designed to provide information to prospective participants and to workshop planners.

Bibliography -- The Bibliography contains the names of books, magazines and other resources that were used as references in developing the training modules and may serve as a list of suggested reading materials for trainers as well as participants.

Evaluation -- The Evaluation contains questions that directly assess the objectives of the module as well as some general questions to evaluate the usefulness of materials and trainer e extiveness.

The Parent/Professional Training Modules have been designed to be a flexible and expandable resource for trainers of parents and professionals. It can be housed in binders or in file folders and rearranged as needed. Trainers are urged to add articles, resources and other materials that will make each training reflect their individual style and meet the needs of the participants.

HOW TO USE THESE TRAINING MODULES

Conduct a Needs Assessment:

Gather as much information as you can about the groups that you will be working with. The following types of questions may help:

Does the group meet regularly or is it assembled specifically for the purpose of this training?

What does the group want to accomplish? Does it have a stated goal? Are there a set of outcomes that the group wants to achieve?

Who is involved in the group (agencies and organizations)?

If the group is an ongoing group, how is the group organized? (officers, executive committee, standing committees, task groups, etc.)

What has the group already done? What training has the group already received?

What is the group working on now?

How does the group get things done?

Has the group conducted a needs assessment to determine the group's need for training and the training topics of interest?

Plan the Training

Typically, this is a dialogue between the trainer and the client. Often, the client will have a specific topic or activity in mind. Sometimes additional topics will be suggested during the needs assessment process when the trainer probes to get more information. The trainer can share a list of module topics and/or several module summaries to aid the client in selection of a topic(s) from the series.

Select the Training Module

The Parent/Professional Training Modules offer a wide selection of topics and activities. The trainer can select the module that deals with the topic chosen by the client.

Review the Training Module

The module provides the core activities and a suggested trainer agenda. The trainer can adjust both to reflect their individual style and the needs of the client.

Identify Additional Resource Materials

The trainer can add articles, resources, and other materials to the core training module. Often a trainer will introduce local resources or pertinent sample materials.

Deliver the Training

The Parent/Professional Training Modules are best delivered by a training team of a parent and a professional. Collaboration is modeled by the team as each member of the team displays unique perspectives, abilities and knowledge as they enhance each others presentation styles.

Evaluate the Training

Evaluation is an essential element of any training. Each module includes an evaluation that assesses the specific objectives of the module and the usefulness of materials. These evaluations can assist the trainer in refining the module content and modifying presentation style, if needed.

"Follow-Up" the Training

It is a good practice to follow-up any training with a personal visit, letter, or a phone call. The trainer may wish to keep a list of names, addresses, and phone numbers of participants to facilitate follow-up. The follow-up usually consists of discussion about how the training may have impacted the client's personal or professional life. Clients may express the desire for further training and/or materials and resources.

Topic Narrative

Community Advisory Committees (CACs) for Special Education were instituted in California as a vital part of California's Master Plan for Special Education. Legislation under Senate Bill 1870 of 1980 enacted Education Code Sections 56190-56194, which set CACs in place, the underlying intent being the formation of a collaborative group of parents, educators and community people. Membership was defined so as to include key people:

- parents of individuals with exceptional needs enrolled in public or private schools,
- parents of other pupils enrolled in schools,
- handicapped pupils or adults.
- regular education teachers.
- special education teachers,
- other school personnel,
- representatives of other public and private agencies.

At the same time, the door is left open to all people who are concerned with individuals with exceptional needs (56192). The exact membership of each local CAC will be defined by its bylaws.

At least the majority of the CAC must be composed of parents with children enrolled in schools participating in the local plan, and a majority of such parents must be parents of individuals with exceptional needs(56193).

Education Code, Article 7, Section 56194 defines the responsibilities of a CAC as:

- advising the policy and administrative entity of the district, local planning agency, or county office regarding the development and review of the local plan. Such entity shall review and consider comments from the community advisory committee,
- recommending annual priorities to be addressed by the plan,
- assisting in parent education and in recruiting parents and other volunteers who may contribute to the implementation of the plan,
- encouraging community involvement in the development and review of the local plan,
- supporting activities on behalf of students with exceptional needs,
- assisting in parent awareness of the importance of regular school attendance.

Both administrators and parents have discovered that apart from the legal mandate there are benefits in having a CAC. Effective CACs can:

- promote communication among school administrators, the Board of Education, and the community through regular non-crisis contact,
- provide a forum to test out ideas,

An Effective CAC Topic Narrative Trainer Information Page 2

- share responsibility for important decisions and therefore share commitment to see decisions successfully implemented.
- offer a united front when lobbying before school boards and legislative bodies on special education issues,
- provide much needed support for local parents.

CAC members can also identify characteristics of an effective CAC in the areas of relationships between parents and staff, membership, and procedures. It is beneficial for CAC members to take time to:

- consider the legislative mandate for CACs,
- set goals to address the mandate,
- explore the benefits and characteristics of effective CACs.

Overview

The goal of this module is to provide participants with knowledge of the origins, benefits, and functions of Community Advisory Committees (CACs) to enable participants to improve the effectiveness of their local CACs.

Objectives

- 1. Understand the legal origins of CAC.
- 2. Understand the mandated functions of CAC.
- Recognize the pest accomplishments of your CAC.
   Recognize the functions of an effective CAC.
   Recognize the benefits of having an effective CAC.

- 6. Develop goals for your CAC.

Dr. Ken Moses has mentioned that parents first need information and resources when their children are identified. Next they need emotional support. Parents are then ready for skill building in a variety of areas. Finally, they can become interested in working toward systems charge and improvements. It is appropriate for the CAC to become involved in some of these functions as a part of their mandated roles, or to sponsor activities in other areas. For example, a CAC might provide parent education around the issue of community resources for children with special needs. It might also sponsor a parent support group which would meet outside the context of the CAC to provide emotional support.

Article 7. Community Advisory Committee

56190. Each plan submitted under Section 56170 shall establish a community advisory committee. Such committee shall serve only in an advisory capacity.

56191. The members of the community advisory committee shall be appointed by, and responsible to, the governing board of each participating district or county office, or any combination thereof participating in the local plan. Appointment shall be in accordance with a locally determined selection procedure that is described in the local plan. Where appropriate, this procedure shall provide for selection of representatives of groups specified in Section 56192 by their peers. Such procedure shall provide that terms of appointment are for at least two years and are annually staggered to ensure that no more than one half of the membership serves the first year of the term in any one year.

56192. The community advisory committee shall be composed of parents of individuals with exceptional needs enrolled in public or private schools, parents of other pupils enrolled in school, handicapped pupils and adults, regular education teachers, special education teachers and other school personnel, representatives of other public and private agencies, and persons concerned with the needs of individuals with exceptional needs.

56193. At least the majority of such committee shall be composed of parents of pupils enrolled in schools participating in the local plan, and at least a majority of such parents shall be parents of individuals with exceptional needs.

56194. The community advisory committee shall have such authority and fulfill such responsibilities as are defined for it in the local plan. Such responsibilities shall include, but need not be limited to, all of the following:

- (a) Advising the policy and administrative entity of the district, special education services region, or county office, regarding the development, amendment, and review of the local plan. Such entity shall review and consider comments from the community advisory committee.
  - (b) Recommending annual priorities to be addressed by the plan.
- (c) Assisting in parent education and in recruiting parents and other volunteers who may contribute to the implementation of the plan.
- (d) Encouraging community involvement in the development and review of the local plan.
  - (e) Supporting activities on behalf of individuals with exceptional needs.
  - (f) Assisting in parent awareness of the importance of regular school attendance.

Suggested Activities for Community Advisory Committees

1. Dissemination of information, resources to parents:

what services are available in district where to go for services outside the district regional centers disability parent groups community activities information about disabilities through newsletters

2. Emotional support:

sponsor parent support group (which meets separately from CAC) disseminate information re: parent support groups in community

3. Skill building for parents:

through parent education workshops - at CAC meetings and on separate occasions for parents in general

4. Working toward positive system change, improvement:

input to revisions of local plan input to local school boards, administrations ongoing parent input re: program, priorities, fiscal priorities suggestions of ways to deal with unmet needs input from parents to staff re:
 parental concerns, questions needs for parent education staff development planning attitude change: disability awareness programs action campaigns to support or oppose budget allocations which might affect special education

networking with other CACs and parent groups for advocacy and dissemination of information

An Effective CAC Activity/Handout 4A Large Group Brainstorm and Discussion 15 Minutes

Brainstorming

Brainstorming is one of the most useful and misunderstood of the problem solving methods. It is useful because any group of 4 to 12 persons can quickly learn to manufacture scores of ideas for any problem situation in very short periods of time. Fifty ideas in five minutes is not an unusually large number using brainstorming rules.

Brainstorming Rules:

- 1. Make no evaluation, positive or negative, of any idea presented.
- 2. Work for quantity, not quality.
- 3. Expand and elaborate on ideas.
- 4. Encourage the unusual and unconventional.
- 5. Record each idea.
- 6. Set a time limit and hold to it.

The whole idea is to let creative thinking run free. Brainstormed ideas are written on paper, not set in stone.

Benefits of an Effective Community Advisory Committee

FOR THE PARENTS?

- 1. Parents can have access to decision makers, can have input into decision making, can learn how the system works and can make a difference in the system.
- 2. Parents can receive information about programs, services and resources.
- 3. Parents can receive training and skill-building activities.
- 4. Parents have an opportunity to raise questions, express concerns and share common concerns with staff.
- 5. Parents lose their sense of isolation, find support and feel connected with other parents of children with special needs.
- 6. Parents receive education in how to work more effectively with their children in cooperation with the teacher.
- 7. Parents have an opportunity for personal growth, leadership development.
- 8. Trust building takes place.
- 9. A vehicle is provided to promote cooperation and participation from community agencies.
- 10. Networking takes place with parent organizations and advocacy groups.

FOR THE DISTRICT/SELPA?

- 1. Adversarial atmosphere is reduced through trust building.
- 2. Parents become more aware of constraints on the system and less apt to make unrealistic demands.
- 3. Parents and staff become positive and mutually supportive.
- 4. Parents can provide community support to administration at the local school board and the legislature. A vehicle for advocacy is provided.
- 5. A pool of workers the districts can call upon for various tasks emerges.
- 6. Community contacts are made which can be useful for vocational education programs.
- 7. There is a means for assessing parent needs and concerns, their point of view.
- 8. Teachers and staff get a good idea of parent point of view.
- 9. Child's program is more effective when parents are working cooperatively with the teachers toward individual student progress.

Characteristics of an Effective Community Advisory Committee

1. Relationship between parents and staff - An effective CAC has:

- A. top administrators who embrace the philosophy that parent participation in the system is worthwhile and who recognize the benefits to the systems of parent involvement.
- B. an atmosphere where administrators and parents work cooperatively rather than as adversaries.
- C. SELPA and district administrators who actively participate in the CAC so that parents have direct access to decision makers.
- D. allocation of staff time and resources for CAC.

2. Membership - An effective CAC has:

- A. well-defined procedures for recruitment, selection and terms of appointment of CAC members.
- B. a selection process which produces a representative cross-section of the constituency the SELPA serves. Consideration is given to such factors as balance of staff and parents, geographical areas, disabilities of students served, ethic background of the community, and a balance of experienced and new members.
- C. an open system so all interested people have an opportunity to be considered.
- D. in multi-district or large SELPAs, consideration of district-level or local-level parents groups which can then designate representatives to the SELPA-wide CAC.
- E. a constituency (both parents and staff) that is aware of the existence of the CAC.

3. CAC Procedures - An effective CAC has:

- A. meetings on a regular basis (preferably monthly).
- B. parents who feel that real consideration is being given to their input and that they can influence the decision making process. Parents receive information AND parents give input to district/SELPA.
- C. CAC members who set specific goals and tasks for the year. Members participate in the planning.
- D. made an effort to provide "team building" experiences, ways for members to get to know each other as people (e.g.,get acquainted activities, dinners, potlucks).
- E. CAC members participate in subcommittees concerned with reviews.
- F. meetings that are publicized. The general public is welcome.

An Effective Community Advisory Committee

Summary

- Community Advisory Committees for Special Education were instituted in California as a vital part of California's Master Plan for Special Education
- California Education Code, defines the membership and the responsibilities of CACs:

Membership

- parents of individuals with exceptional needs enrolled in public or private schools,
- parents of other pupils enrolled in schools,
- handicapped pupils or adults,
- regular education teachers,
- special education teachers.
- other school personnel,
- representatives of other public and private agencies,
- other persons concerned with individuals with exceptional needs.

Responsibilities

- advising the policy and administrative entity of the district, local planning agency, or county office regarding the development and review of the local plan. Such entity shall review and consider comments from the community advisory committee,
- recommending annual priorities to be addressed by the plan.
- assisting in parent education and in recruiting parents and other volunteers who may contribute to the implementation of the plan,
- encouraging community involvement in the development and review of the local plan,
- supporting activities on behalf of students with exceptional needs,
- assisting in parent awareness of the importance of regular school attendance.

An Effective CAC Module Summary Page 2

The underlying intent of the mandate of SB 1870 (1980) was that of collaboration of parents, educators, and community people for the benefit of special education students.

There are four areas or functions that may be addressed by CACs which will help to ensure active parent participation.

- * dissemination of information and resources
- * support
- 'skill building activities
- * working toward a positive systems change, improvements

There are multiple benefits derived from building an effective CAC, both for administrators of programs and for parents.

It is beneficial for CAC members to take time to set goals for the future.
