ABSTRACT

The "ERIC Calendar of Education-Related Conferences" was begun in 1970 as a list of the meetings that the ERIC Clearinghouses planned to attend in the coming year. It was a coordinative tool informing the decentralized components of the ERIC network about the conference-related activities of each component and thereby preventing duplication of effort. It was gradually expanded to also include all conferences from which conference papers were solicited. In 1989, with the advent of ACCESS ERIC, it was further expanded to include all education-related conferences. The calendar covering 1991 lists 486 international, national, state, regional, and local events. Events are listed chronologically by date and each entry provides, when available, information such as conference dates, site, sponsor, contact person, registration information, hotel rates, estimated attendance, topics covered, and audience. For ease of use, five indexes are provided: Sponsor, Conference Name, Geographic, Subject, and Participating ERIC Component. The calendar information is updated continuously in an online database currently available via GTE Education Services. The printed calendar is published annually from this online database, usually in December immediately preceding the year covered. (TB)

Introduction

Interacting with other education professionals is vital for any educator working to stay on top of current trends, methods, and technology. For this reason, the ERIC Calendar of Education-Related Conferences is designed to help you identify conferences important to your areas of expertise.

The Calendar includes 486 international, national, State, regional, and local events scheduled for the 1991 calendar year. Events are listed chronologically by date and each entry provides, when available, information such as conference dates, site, sponsor, contact person, registration information, hotel rates, estimated attendance, topics covered, and audience.

For ease of use, the Calendar includes several indexes: Sponsor, Conference Name, Geographic, Subject, and Participating Component. Each conference has a unique entry number which is referenced in the indexes to make identification of specific conferences easier. To give you a quick overview, a list of conferences by date and name is included.

Each year the ERIC Components identify conferences they plan to be involved with in some way. The Participating Components Index as well as the codes used in the "Participation" field of each entry indicate ERIC Components' levels of involvement. A breakdown of the codes appears at the bottom of each odd numbered page.

To help us keep the ERIC Calendar of Education-Related Conferences current, please notify ACCESS ERIC of new or updated information for the conferences listed here as well as conferences that should be added.

Calendar information is continuously maintained in an online database now available through GTE Education Services. For more information about online access to this and other ERIC reference and referral files, contact ACCESS ERIC at 1-800-USE-ERIC.

ACCESS ERIC invites you to announce your upcoming conferences, meetings, or seminars in the next Calendar. Complete the conference information form in the back of this publication and return it to ACCESS ERIC at the address below. Please enclose a conference brochure or information packet if available. Appropriate events will be included in the Calendar as space allows.
