ABSTRACT

Information for the 1986-87 school year presented in this fifth annual report on microcomputer use for 1,178 public and private K-12 schools in Louisiana indicates that, overall, 92% of the schools are using computers for instruction or other purposes. Detailed survey results are presented in 15 data tables, which show: (1-2) the number and percentage of schools that do and do not use computers; (3) computer utilization by grade level; (4) distribution of computer use by subject area; (5) number of computers in schools; (6) the number of microcomputers by brand and model; (7) use of computers and number of students served; (8) number of boys, girls, and special education students in classes using computers; (9) percentage and number of schools with special programs encouraging girls or special education students to use computers; (10) locations of computer use (e.g., computer lab, classroom, library); (11) computer software sources; (12) sources of computer equipment maintenance; (13) sources of and number of teachers receiving computer training; (14) sources of funding for computer purchase; and (15) the number of schools, by type, purchasing computers from the state contract. Also included are recommendations from the Louisiana Department of Education, the survey instrument, and appendices of raw data from the survey. The appendices make up more than half of the report. ### INTRODUCTION

During the past six years, the proliferation of computers in Louisiana schools has grown at an astounding rate. The Louisiana Department of Education continues to provide information and guidance that facilitates the efficient and effective use of the computer by teachers and administrators. The current status of the use of computers in Louisiana schools was measured by this survey to identify problems and needs in our educational community. Using this information, the Department can design activities to assist Louisiana schools in the educational and administrative use of computers. This publication briefly reports the findings of the sixth annual survey of the use of computers in elementary and secondary schools. Any questions regarding the analyses of this survey should be directed to Dr. John Hubbell at (504) 771-2060, Shirley McCandless at (504) 342-0090, or Dr. Horace Olivier at (504) 342-0090. The results of the previous five surveys were described in earlier annual publications of Billetin 1679.

THE POPULATION

According to the Louisiana Department of Education's Annual Report, there are currently 1,482 public schools and 415 nonpublic schools in the State of Louisiana. The public schools are distributed among 66 Local Education Agencies (LEA's). In 1981-1982 the Superintendent of each LEA was contacted by the Department, and a short survey instrument was designed and mailed to the individual designated by each LEA Superintendent as the Instructional Computing Coordinator. Annually since then, similar survey instruments were sent to all public and nonpublic schools. For the 1986-1987 school year the survey instrument was sent to all schools by February, 1987.

THE INSTRUMENT

The survey instrument, designed to capture information on the instructional use of the computer in the schools, is shown in Appendix A.

FINDINGS

Of the schools contacted, 1,178 responded voluntarily to the survey. In the previous year, 1,368 schools responded. All 66 LEA's had schools that responded. In the first year's survey, only 40 LEA's had microcomputers in one or more schools. Currently, 1,088 of the responding schools are using computers in instruction and 90 are not (Table 1). These figures indicate 92 percent of the schools are using computers this year compared with 85 percent last year, 84 percent in 84-85, 81 percent in 83-84, 32 percent in 82-83, and 27 percent in 81-82 (Table 2). The distribution of instructional computing across grades (Table 3) shows that all grade levels--K through 12--are involved, with the most involvement at the fourth grade level. Grade 4 replaced grade 5 as the grade with the most computer use. Of interest is the increase of activities in grades 3, 4, 5, and 6. Table 4 shows the distribution of computer use across subject areas. Once again, the computer is used most in mathematics courses.

The number of computers used by the schools increased again this year. A total of 482 computers was reported by the schools in January of 1982; in 82-83 the total was 1,373; in 83-84 the total was 4,350; and in 84-85 the total was 6,844. Last year the number was 12,717. This year's total was 14,621 (Table 5).

Apple computers are the most widely used computers (Table 6). This year the Apple computers represent 40.7 percent of the units, Tandy computers are next with 18.9 percent, and IBM computers are third with 12.9 percent.

The numbers of schools using the computer in the following functional areas are listed from most used to least used (Table 7). Computer Assisted Instruction and Computer Education Instruction were first and second in number of schools.

Equal access is of major interest to educators. Table 8 indicates that of the students taking courses in which a computer is used, 50 percent are girls and 50 percent are boys. About 9 percent of these boys and girls in such courses are Special Education students other than Gifted and Talented. According to the Louisiana Department of Education's Annual Report, the general school population of 944,010 public and nonpublic students includes about 4 percent of such Special Education students. These data indicate that, though not all public and nonpublic students have access to the computer, there is no bias because of sex and that Special Education students tend to have better than average access. Last year 134 schools reported having special programs to encourage girls to take such courses, and 573 schools having special programs to encourage the Special Education group. Although the absolute number in both categories decreased, the percentages remained about the same. There are 105 schools with programs to encourage girls and 493 with programs to encourage Special Education students (Table 9).

Again this year the computer laboratory was the common location for the computers (Table 10), followed by the regular classroom, which was number two last year and number one the year before.

The most frequent source of computer software was the commercial software vendor again this year (Table 11). Software from the Minnesota Education Computing Corporation (MECC) distributed through the Louisiana Department of Education was second. The public domain software and software written by teachers were third and fourth in numbers of schools. Other responses included software written by students and software from lending libraries.

The parish/school district maintenance staff was the most common source of computer maintenance (Table 12).

During the past year, 11,641 teachers received training through inservice workshops (Table 13). The 1085 schools that reported teachers trained in workshops averaged 11 teachers trained. Training provided through college courses and seminars increased over the previous year.

Schools indicated that the most popular single source of funds used to purchase computers was Chapter 2. Vocational Education funds and parent teacher organizations were next. The category entitled "other" included bond issue monies, federal funds, and school fund raisers (Table 14). Of the schools that responded to the question concerning purchasing computers from the state contract, 315 (43%) of the public schools used the contract and 31 (24%) of the Catholic Schools used the contract (Table 15).

Certain questions from earlier surveys were dropped, since the past data collected indicated that probably no new information would be gained from repeating the questions each year. Over the past few surveys, inservice teacher training was selected as a top need.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

This study indicated that the number of computers used in Louisiana elementary and secondary schools continues to increase. This year, even with 14 percent fewer schools responding, the schools reported an increase of 1,904 computers, or 15 percent over the number reported last year. Our educational community has embraced this technological aid by providing both equipment and programs on its own initiative at the LEA level. Over half of the computers in the schools run Apple-compatible software. This represents the largest compatible group that can share software. Next is Tandy Radio Shack at 18.9 percent, followed by IBM at 12.9 percent.

The Louisiana Department of Education should continue to provide assistance in the following areas:

1. Workshops on hardware and software innovations for teachers and administrators.
2. Preparation and distribution of packages providing information concerning (a) instructional uses of the computer, (b) guidelines for acquisition of microcomputer hardware and software, and (c) guidelines for integrating the computer into the curricular of the schools. Curriculum Guides for Computer Literacy and Computer Science have been developed by the Bureau of Curriculum, Inservice, and Staff Development of the Louisiana Department of Education. These guides are distributed free to all public schools.

3. Support of a statewide network of Computing Resource Centers through which the Department can assist in the development and distribution of instructional computing resources and services to the educational community.
4. Participation on a state level in regional and national educational computing organizations, such as the Minnesota Educational Computing Corporation, that develop, distribute, and/or evaluate instructional software.
5. Support of a structure and process to identify problems and the changing needs in this area.

The microcomputer is in our homes and schools. The Department's continued active guidance in Computer Education is needed to reduce waste and confusion and to encourage maximum educational benefits from this technological tool.

APPENDICES AND THEIR USES

Four appendices were included in this survey. Appendix A shows the survey instrument. Appendix B indicates in which grade levels and subject areas schools reported using computers. The schools were listed within the parish. The left-most column contains the name of the school. The other columns represent grade levels K through 12 and the subject areas. A nonblank character in a column indicates that the school listed reported using the computer in that grade level or subject area. Appendix C displays the brand and model of computer listed by school. Appendix D shows the schools using computers listed by brand.

The appendices were designed to help educators locate schools that are using similar computers in the same curriculum areas in order to share ideas, educational materials, software, and hardware information. For example Ms. Brown, a teacher in Caddo Parish, plans to use the computer in a business class. Appendix B could be used to locate schools in Caddo and neighboring parishes that are using computers in business classes. Appendix C provides information about the brand and model of the computers used by those schools. This information indicates if any software being used by neighboring schools is compatible with Ms. Brown's computers. Appendix D allows users of a particular brand or computer system to locate other schools using the same system. Thus, the information in the appendices facilitates the distribution of software and software information to users of compatible systems.

Computers of all kinds are being used more frequently in our schools. We support this trend but feel that teachers need more resources in order to use computers effectively. We are trying to determine what resources should be provided to the schools and to the Central Offices. If you have questions please call Shirley McCandless at (504) 342-0090. Please return by February 16 in the enclosed envelope.
