ABSTRACT

This training pack is designed for use with employees in the catering and hospitality industries. The material takes common workplace procedures and terminology and uses these as the basis for improving reading, writing, oral communication, and math skills. The pack is designed as a complete course of 13 modules over a period of 32-48 hours, but each module is also freestanding. The modules cover the following: notices and instructions; following instructions; accident reports; formal writing; company communications; oral communications (OC) 1; total quality management; OC 2; OC 3; numerical records; percentages and decimals; interpreting visual information; and metric and imperial conversion. A framework lists the modules and gives a detailed overview of the job areas covered by the material. Information is included about the competencies that can be achieved through each module. Each module is divided into two sections. The front page of Section A states the aim of the module and related skills, makes suggestions for the introduction, and lists material needed. The center pages are the main scheme of work and include a time guide, skills, method/activity, notes to trainer, and reference to relevant tasksheet. Section B, Extension Activities, is appropriate for employees who have more confidence in their basic skills and would like to practice them in a more advanced context. It presents aims, skills, and activities with relevant case studies, tasksheets, and exemplar materials. The pack also includes sample materials that offer further strategies for improving basic skills and give further practice and an assessment sheet with completed example sheet. (YLB)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank Les, Kristi and Jodi for their patience and support. Also to Meryl Lillis for her invaluable contribution and Sue Brennan for her advice on Numberpower. The following people also offered me advice and support: Ros Lacey, Helen Hearn of the Institute of Environmental Health, Melanie Kelcher, Mark Westwood. Finally, thanks to Jim Pateman and Judy Carreck of ALBSU for their advice and suggestions.

IMPROVING BASIC SKILLS IN THE WORKPLACE

A Core Course for the Catering and Hospitality Industries

by Lorraine Collins

ABSU
The Basic Skills Unit

This training pack is designed for use with employees in the catering and hospitality industries. The material contained in the pack takes common workplace procedures and terminology and uses these as the basis for improving reading, writing, oral communication and maths skills.

The target group for this pack would be those who would benefit from improving the above skills in a work related context. In some cases the pack may be used with employees who need to improve basic skills before embarking on job specific training. They may wish to use the pack in order to work towards a qualification, for example one of the Catering and Hospitality National Vocational Qualifications. There are also specific basic skills qualifications that act as 'stepping stones' to vocational qualifications, for example the City and Guilds 3793 and 3794 awards (Wordpower or Numberpower).

CONTENTSFRAMEWORK

- Module 1 – NOTICES AND INSTRUCTIONS

The pack is designed as a complete course of 13 Modules over a period of thirty two to forty eight hours. However, each Module is freestanding so can be selected according to the needs of the employee group. It may be necessary to run additional modules with reading material specific to the company or organisation. These will give the opportunity for the trainer to decide the content according to the specific needs of the employee group. The emphasis may be on a particular area of basic skills or on job specific training, and are likely to involve the use of in-house bulletins, company policy information, or forms that relate to the company alone.

The Framework lists the modules in the pack and gives a detailed overview of the job areas covered by the material. Information is included about the Competencies that can be achieved through each module. These relate to National Vocational Qualifications at Level 2 for the Catering and Hospitality Industries and the ALBSU Basic Skills Standards that go to make up the City and Guilds 3793 and 3794 Awards. A simplified schema for the basic skills standards is included in the Pack.

Modules 1 to 13 each comprise a four page booklet setting down a detailed Scheme of Work with related Tasksheets. Each Module is self-explanatory so the trainer may be guided by the methods, activities and materials suggested in the pack.

The Module is divided into two sections:

SECTION A

This is the main section. The front page sets down the aim of the Module and related skills. It also makes suggestions for the Introduction and lists the materials needed. A small chart shows how the content links up to the competencies required for the relevant NVQ Level 2 and how the relevant basic skills competences can be achieved.

The centre pages are the main Scheme Of Work for Module A.

TIME GUIDE: The total time envisaged for Module A is about two hours. However this acts as a guide only – it will depend very much on the size and level of the employee group. Each Scheme of Work adds up to 105 minutes. This allows 15 minutes for the Introduction and end of session assessment/evaluation.

SKILL: Shows how the skills for the session are to be achieved through the activities.

METHOD/ACTIVITY: Describes the activity to be presented to the employee group and the methods to be used.

NOTES TO TRAINER: Provides extra information to the trainer on how to carry out the activity

TASKSHEET: Tells the trainer the number and title of the relevant Tasksheet.

COMMUNICATION SKILLS/NUMERACY SKILLS: Links the activities to the relevant Stage, Unit and Element of the ALBSU Basic Skills Standards.

SECTION B

This section is called EXTENSION ACTIVITIES and is on the back page of the booklet. The Extension Activities section would be appropriate for employees who have more confidence in their basic skills and would like to practise them in a more advanced context, particularly in relation to supervisory skills.

It builds on the skills in Section A and can be used in two ways:

- As a continuation of Section A for those groups or individuals who may complete the main work within the two hours suggested
- As freestanding training for a separate group of employees who wish to 'brush up' their existing skills in a work related context.

As in Section A, Section B has the aims and skills defined. There are then suggestions for activities that underpin these skills and related Case Studies, Task sheets and Exemplar Materials.

A small chart shows the main accreditation covered.

The pack also includes a number of EXEMPLAR MATERIALS which can be found as separate sheets at the back of the Pack – these offer a range of further strategies for improving basic skills and give further practice material, including forms to complete. The exemplar materials should be used with those employees who are still unsure of their competence in a particular skill.

An Assessment sheet at the end of the Pack, is designed for use at the end of each session. This gives the trainer and employee an opportunity to evaluate progress immediately for individual modules. Therefore assessment does not depend on completion of all the Modules. The sheet outlines a consistent format to be completed for each Module according to the skills and accreditation covered. Only the relevant parts need be completed. Space is also provided to write suggestions for further training. The sheet can be prepared before the session begins as the completed Example Sheet illustrates. Where appropriate, the assessments can be added to the employees' existing Portfolio or Record of Achievement as evidence of training.

MODULE AREA

Notices and Instructions

SUBJECT AREA

Health and Safety

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employee competence in understanding and acting upon Health and Safety notices and instructions.

SKILLS

1. To identify the four categories of safety signs.
2. To understand relevant vocabulary including negative and positive messages.
3. To understand that each instruction is part of a complete process.
4. To use observation and listening skills in following instructions.

NOTES TO TRAINER

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- It is useful to stress the importance of understanding notices and following instructions. You may wish to define the terms "notices" and "instructions" so the employees are clear about the difference.
- Ask the employees to think of any accidents that have occurred in the workplace or at home which could have been avoided by following instructions or reading notices correctly.
- Illustrate the session by bringing in examples of notices and instructions that are in every day use in your workplace. Make sure these follow the "house style" of your company, if appropriate.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart or Board.
- Marker pens in red, yellow, blue and green plus one to write content.
- Photocopies of Tasksheets 1 and 2.
- Piece of equipment used in the workplace that is easily transportable!

20 minutes

1.

IDENTIFY THE 4 CATEGORIES OF SAFETY SIGNS

- WITH GROUP – Divide flip chart into 4 columns. Give them the following headings:
Column 1 Category of symbol Column 2 Definition of symbol Column 3 Drawing of symbol Column 4 Example of symbol.
- Ask employees to complete column 2 with you.
- Select a willing employee to draw or suggest answers for column 3.
- Ask employees to suggest examples for each sign and together complete column 4.

30 minutes

UNDERSTAND RELEVANT VOCABULARY

- Discuss instructional vocabulary with emphasis on positive and negative as in Tasksheet 1.
- Give out Tasksheet to complete.
- Examine the negative messages created by the addition of prefix:

25 minutes

3.

TO UNDERSTAND THAT EACH INSTRUCTION IS PART OF A PROCESS.

- Give out Tasksheet 2 for completion.
- Feedback on the importance of reading instructions through first.
- Select a volunteer.
- Ask the person to close their eyes.
- Introduce a new object into the room.
- Ask another employee to guide their colleague towards it.

30 minutes

4.

TO USE OBSERVATION AND LISTENING SKILLS

- Demonstrate how to use a particular piece of equipment, talking through each stage.
- To check their understanding give the employees the "Cloze" exercise that you have designed.

NOTES FOR TRAINER

- This can be done using an O.H.P.
- In column 1 write: Prohibition, Warning, Mandatory, Safe Conditions.
- EXAMPLES:
 Prohibition = Smoking
 Warning = Machinery
 Mandatory = Head Covering
 Safe Conditions = First Aid

TASKSHEET

...

- DO NOT explain this tasksheet before giving out.
- Inform the employees that it must be done individually and ask them to indicate when they have finished.

- DO NOT put the object at table height.
- This activity should show the importance of giving and following instructions correctly.

- If you are unable to use a piece of equipment, this activity can be done using an aspect of food handling.

SECTION B

AIM

To write a set of instructions demonstrating appropriate awareness of sequencing, structure, vocabulary and spelling.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate competent note taking skills.
2. To demonstrate awareness of sequencing instructions.
3. To use the appropriate vocabulary.
4. To use spelling strategies in order to tackle difficult words.

ACTIVITIES

SKILL 1

- Demonstrate an activity without any verbal clues.
- Ask the employees to write a set of accompanying instructions.

SKILL 2

- Find individual illustrations that describe each stage of a process.
- Present them in the incorrect order.
- Ask the employees to write accompanying instructions.

SKILL 3

- Discuss appropriate vocabulary using workplace material.

SKILL 4

- Look at the following spelling strategies:

LOOK, SAY, COVER, WRITE, CHECK.

WORD BREAKING.

ADDING PREFIXES AND SUFFIXES TO ROOT WORDS.

(For examples of these strategies, see Exemplar Materials Section)

MODULE 2

MODULE AREA

Following Instructions – Reading and Understanding

Pest Control

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employee competence in understanding the format and content of written instructions.

SKILLS

1. To appreciate that following instructions correctly is a vital part of working as a team.
2. To demonstrate an understanding of the Food Hygiene regulations pertaining to Pest Control.
3. To demonstrate an understanding of the text by selecting appropriate content.

NOTES TO TRAINER

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- Ensure that the employees have the skills level as demonstrated in Module 1 "NOTICES AND INSTRUCTIONS".
- The emphasis of this Module is on selecting information. In order to do this, the employee must show an understanding of what is being read. You may wish to develop this activity with work specific materials in other relevant areas.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart or Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 3.

1.

FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS CORRECTLY IS A VITAL PART OF WORKING AS A TEAM

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Discuss what is meant by “team work.”
- Who do they consider to be part of their team?
- PAIR WORK – If a member of the team did not follow instructions correctly which led to pest infestation, what would be the consequences for the individual and other colleagues?
- FEEDBACK.

2.

FOOD HYGIENE REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO PEST CONTROL

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Discuss the reasons for following pest control instructions correctly.

3.

SELECTING APPROPRIATE CONTENT

- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Give out Tasksheet 3.
- Feedback.
- Did they make adjustments as they went along?
- Were there key words which helped?
- GROUP ACTIVITY – Relate reasons discussed in Skill 2 to the appropriate heading on the work sheet.

NOTES FOR TRAINER

- Draw a spidogram on the board to illustrate team.

- PREVENTATIVE
e.g. cockroaches are tiny, so can squeeze into a mm gap.
- They hate air movement and draughts.
- They require moisture and warmth.
- They eat anything.
- Therefore unsuitable conditions must be created to discourage them.
- Note these facts on the board.

SECTION B

AIM

To demonstrate understanding of instructions by converting a text into a flow chart.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate an understanding of the text.
2. To extract the main points from the text.
3. To sequence instructions in appropriate stages.
4. To express the information on a flow chart.

ACTIVITIES

These relate to Tasksheet 4.

BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE – Ensure that employees understand the purpose and format of a flow chart.

1. Introduce text.
2. Ask employees to consider the main points from the text.
3. Ask employees to order points logically.
4. Ask employees to create flow chart.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FURTHER ACTIVITIES

Select another procedure and ask employees to present instructions to the group in a suitable format. (e.g. point form, pictorial, flow chart).

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employees competence in completing accident reports.

SKILLS

1. To understand the differences between formal and informal language.
2. To identify and be familiar with appropriate vocabulary.
3. To separate essential facts from unnecessary detail and opinion.
4. To present factual information in a logical sequence.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- It may be useful for you to use your own company/organisation's accident report form. If so, you may wish to add to or amend the vocabulary task which the employees will be working on.
- A sample Accident Report form has been included in the Exemplar Materials section.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheets 5 and 6.
- Copies of your own or Exemplar Material Accident Report form.
- Copies of Spelling Strategies 'Look, Say, Cover, Write, Check' and 'Word breaking' from Exemplar Materials section.
- Dictionaries for reference.

1.

UNDERSTAND FORMAL/INFORMAL LANGUAGE

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Ask two employees to read out Reports 1 and 2 from the Case Study (Task A).
- Ask the group to consider the style and language used in the two reports.
- Stress the importance of using an appropriate style in reporting accidents.

UNDERSTAND RELEVANT VOCABULARY

- Using the list of key vocabulary in Tasksheet 5, ask employees to work in pairs to complete the exercise.

30 minutes

3.

SEPARATE ESSENTIAL INFORMATION

- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Give out Tasksheet 6.
- Employees need to read through two reports to complete a table of information about an accident.

PRESENT FACTUAL INFORMATION IN A LOGICAL SEQUENCE

- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Using information from the accident in Tasksheet 6, complete the Accident Report form.

SECTION B

AIM

To write an accident report showing awareness of selecting relevant information and presenting this in a logical sequence using appropriate style and vocabulary.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate competence in taking notes.
2. To demonstrate competence in presenting information in logical sequence.
3. To use an appropriate reporting style.

ACTIVITIES

1. Give employees two reports from Tasksheet 6.
DO NOT give them the chart or the Accident Report form.
Ask them to make their own notes on the key points from the report.
2. Put the notes into logical sequence.
When they have finished, have they answered these questions?
Who?
What?
When?
Where?
How?
3. Discuss appropriate style of report writing:
Formal language
Passive style
Factual – unambiguous
Unbiased – avoiding personal comments
• Analysis of information
Summary Skills – The KISS formula – Keep It Short and Simple.
Ask employees to write up their notes as a report. They should use their own format and sub headings.

SUBJECT AREA

Memo/Report Writing

SECTION A :

AIM

To give the employee an awareness of the format and vocabulary suitable for memo writing.

SKILLS

1. To identify the purpose of a memo.
2. To use the appropriate format.
3. To differentiate between tones and styles.
4. To write a memo.

NOTES TO TRAINERS

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- In Module 5 "COMPANY COMMUNICATIONS" a range of communications is looked at, including Memos.
- You may wish to refer briefly to this in order to place Memos in their correct context.

- Board/Flip Chart.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 7.
- Your company's memo sheets or copies of Memo sheet in Exemplar Materials Section.
- Copies of Punctuation, Sentences and Paragraphs and Proofreading from Exemplar Materials Section.

10 minutes

TO IDENTIFY THE PURPOSE OF A MEMO

- GROUP ACTIVITY
POINT TO EXPLAIN – a form of 'internal letter', only sent to people within organisation.
- Short for 'Memorandum' meaning 'a note to help the memory.'
- DISCUSS – Have the employees had any memos sent to them, if so, on what subject?
- What is the purpose of a memo?

20 minutes

4.

TO WRITE A MEMO

- Ask the employees to write a memo to their line manager regarding release for this training course.
- The manager has already agreed verbally but needs details.

FEEDBACK

- Essential points?
- Tone, Style?

TASKSHEET

- To give instructions, provide information, make requests or suggestions, confirm facts and agreements made orally.

- Show your company's memo or the example from the Exemplar Materials Section.
- A copy should always be kept.

- Avoid jargon.
- Explain specialist terms if unknown to receiver.
- Consider relationship with receiver-senior or junior to sender.
- Is the memo to be sent to more than one person?
- Different departments?
- Is it formal or informal?
- Is a reply expected?

- Use your company's memo headings or from Exemplar Materials Section.
- Check if there are any other current memos employees have to write.

e.g. dates, times, any extra time to get to and from training room.

- Polite confirmation, thanks for agreement.

SECTION B

Communication Skills

AIM

To give the employee competence in writing reports.

SKILLS

1. To understand the purpose of a report.
2. To be familiar with the layout and style of a short, informal report.
3. To write a report.

UNIT 15 ELEMENT 2
Present material in a specialised format

UNIT 15 ELEMENT 3
Convey information and opinions in written form

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

- Accident reports have been looked at in Module 3 HEALTH AND SAFETY, ACCIDENT REPORTS. Refer to this first for specific details on differentiating between fact and opinion and the tone that should be used.
- Also refer to Exemplar Materials Section for help with Spelling, Punctuation, Paragraphs and Proofreading.

SKILL 1

Think of appropriate subjects for the following type of reports:

- To gain accurate information
- To assist in decision making processes
- To obtain informed insights
- To help in the solving of problems.

(Example: installation of new machinery and associated problems)

SKILL 2

Examine the division of material.

- Introductory section should include terms of reference, background information. Puts the reader 'in the picture.'
- Informational section should include the details. Clear headings or numbering of paragraphs will help the reader.
- Conclusions/recommendations section should summarise the main points and recommend a course of action, if required.

STYLE

- Should be factual and impersonal. The first person 'I' should be used as little as possible.

SKILL 3

- You will need to refer to the Case Study in Module 8 'DEALING WITH CUSTOMERS FACE-TO-FACE', (Extension Activities, Section B).

In the Case Study, you were the assistant manager of the Galaxy Hotel restaurant and had to deal with conflict between customers. Your senior manager has requested a report on the incident. Using the questions c. a guide, write the report.

MODULE 5

MODULE AREA

Company Communications

SUBJECT AREA

Content and Purpose

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employees competence in identifying the content and purpose of company communications.

SKILLS

1. To identify the range of company communications.
2. To differentiate between internal and external communications.
3. To select appropriate forms of communication for different purposes.
4. To design a specific format taking account of the intended audience.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- Discuss what written communications were involved in the employees' placements on this course.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Bring a wide selection of company examples to the session (e.g. letters, memos, leaflets, circulars etc.).
- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopy of Tasksheet 8.
- You may also decide to give the employees a photocopy of the Questionnaire from the Exemplar Materials. Alternatively, you may prefer to use this for your reference only.

15 minutes

TO IDENTIFY THE RANGE OF COMPANY COMMUNICATIONS

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Ask employees how many different types of company communications they can think of including specific examples they have recently seen.
- Ask the employees to identify the intended recipients of the communications.

DIFFERENTIATE BETWEEN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMMUNICATIONS

- Return to the diagram you have drawn.
- GROUP ACTIVITY – ask employees to identify the three areas.

25 minutes

3.

SELECT APPROPRIATE COMMUNICATIONS FOR DIFFERENT PURPOSES

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Consider the list of definitions at the top of the Tasksheet.
- Then in small groups ask the employees to complete Tasksheet.

DESIGN A SPECIFIC FORMAT TAKING ACCOUNT OF THE INTENDED AUDIENCE

- Devising a questionnaire – divide the employees into two groups.
GROUP 1 – quality of food in staff canteen.
GROUP 2 – staff uniform.
- The employees should design a list of about ten questions for their subject.
- The employees should then try out their questionnaire on the other group.

FEEDBACK:

- Did any of the questions need rephrasing?
- Was the method chosen for noting answers satisfactory? (e.g. yes/no, choice of answers, etc.)

- Draw a diagram like this:

At employees' suggestions write in:

Circle one – note, memo, company newsletter

Circle two – standard letter, leaflet

In the overlap – questionnaire, form, circular letter.

- Add any further suggestions.
- TERM TO DEFINE – recipient.

- Circle 1 = External
- Circle 2 = Internal
- Overlap = Both

- Use company examples.

- Group 1 to include price, service, choice
- Group 2 to include comfort, presentation, laundry facilities.

SECTION B

AIM

To use the correct style, tone and content for a formal letter.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate awareness of suitable format.
2. To demonstrate awareness of suitable vocabulary and tone.
3. To use correct spelling and punctuation.

SKILL 1

Ensure employees are familiar with the standard layout of a formal letter.

SKILL 2

Ask for their comments on the letter written in Tasksheet 9.

SKILL 3

Refer to Exemplar Materials Spelling Strategies, Punctuation, Drafting and Proofreading.

The following Case Study underpins all three skills.

CASE STUDY

Due to increased concern over security, LOMEL CATERING SERVICES LTD has instigated a new system for delivery vehicles. In future there will be a supervisor on duty at the main gate. All vehicles will check in at this point to be ticked off the supervisor's list. The driver will then go to the unloading area where warehouse staff will confirm receipt of the delivery.

Write a letter to all suppliers explaining this change in procedure and asking for their support.

REMEMBER – think about the tone, format and presentation of the letter.

Taking Responsibility – Communicating with Colleagues

SECTION A

AIM

To demonstrate the advantages of taking responsibility and to give competence in the relevant oral skills.

SKILLS

1. To appreciate the advantages of working as a team.
2. To understand the different mechanisms of teamwork.
3. To be able to give and receive criticism.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- In Module 2 "FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS – READING AND UNDERSTANDING", teamwork was looked at from the Health and Safety point of view.
- You may wish to use that as a basis before continuing on to this Module.
- If the employees represent different groups of workers, it would be useful for them to sit with their colleagues during the group activities.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheets 10 and 11.

1.THE ADVANTAGES OF WORKING AS A TEAM

- POINT TO EXPLAIN – “The House that Jack Built” Syndrome – each task is a link in a chain, if one link is broken, the chain doesn’t function.
- GROUP ACTMITY – starting from the most basic task in the kitchen, examine what effect not doing the task properly would have on the other jobs to be performed.

15 minutes

2.DIFFERENT MECHANISMS OF TEAMWORK

- POINT TO EXPLAIN – teams may be informal or part of the company structure but their success relies on the same principles.
i.e. mutual support and encouragement from its members.
- GROUP ACTMITY – how is a supportive atmosphere created?

TASKSHEET

- TERM TO DEFINE – a team.
- You could express this as a flow chart on the board. You may prefer to ask the employees to do this in relation to their own jobs.

- By showing interest and concern, developing other people's ideas, allowing people to take risks, not laughing at other people.

e.g. talking behind people's back-what effect does that have?

e.g. getting upset, losing temper, not responding.

SECTION B

AIM

To take appropriate action when dealing with an unexpected situation.

SKILLS

1. To use appropriate listening skills.
2. To use reassuring skills.
3. To make a quick and effective decision.
4. To brief colleagues on a particular course of action.

All these skills are underpinned in the following Case Study.

CASE STUDY

The time is 11.45 a.m.

You are temporarily in charge of your section as the supervisor has taken her lunch hour.

A colleague approaches you very distressed as she has lost her handbag. Inside the bag are some tablets which she must take straight after her meal. It was when she was on her lunch break that she discovered the bag was missing. She had not eaten at this stage.

She said that she took it out of her locker and then remembered that she had a message for someone. She left her bag in the rest room while she delivered the message and when she returned a few minutes later the bag was gone.

There were several other members of staff in the restroom at the time, some of whom have returned to their duties.

How would you deal with this situation in an efficient and effective way?

MODULE AREA

Total Quality Management (TQM)

SUBJECT AREA

Defining Your Job Role and Responsibilities

SECTION A

AIM

To enable employees to use the mechanism of T.Q.M. in order to improve job motivation and company involvement.

SKILLS

1. To understand the functions of Total Quality Management.
2. To be able to ask questions effectively.
3. To be able to put across a point of view.
4. To be able to summarise the main points in order to take appropriate action.

NOTES TO TRAINER

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- It would be helpful to refer to Module 6 'ORAL COMMUNICATION', as a basis for communicating with colleagues.
- Your organisation may have various approaches towards T.Q.M. e.g. Team Briefings, Improvement Groups, Quality Circles.
- If your organisation wishes to establish a similar system, this session could be used as a basis for starting the process. It could also help in developing team work approaches.
- You are going to run this session as a Quality Circle meeting with yourself as the chairperson!
- Ask the employees to take relevant notes throughout the session.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 12 cut into three sections and pasted onto card for extra durability.

15 minutes

TO UNDERSTAND THE FUNCTIONS OF T.Q.M.

- GROUP ACTIVITY – What is T.Q.M. and what are the benefits to the company and the employees?
- Ask employees to take notes.
- Explain that this session will be run like a Quality Circle – the issue discussed will be how to participate in them effectively.

40 minutes

2.

TO ASK QUESTIONS EFFECTIVELY

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Divide the employees into groups of three.
- Give each member of the group one of the cards from Tasksheet 12.
- Allow five minutes for this activity.
- FEEDBACK – How did each member feel about their part in the activity?
- Explain that Card 2 had closed questions and Card 3 had open questions.
- Discuss the advantages of open questions.
- Ask employees to take notes.

30 minutes

3.

TO PUT ACROSS A POINT OF VIEW

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Why are people sometimes afraid to say what they think?
- How can these fears be overcome?
- Ask employees to take notes.

4.

SUMMARISE THE MAIN POINTS

- Ask employees to summarise the main points of the session verbally from the notes they have taken.

TASKSHEET

- A system that monitors the quality of company service by offering the opportunity for all staff to become involved in the process.
(e.g. Quality Circles, Improvement Groups).
- Quality Circle – A team of volunteers who meet regularly to identify, analyse and solve work related problems.

- The purpose of this Tasksheet is to explore responses to open questions (Card 3) and closed questions (Card 2).
- Open questions require a greater response.
- Ensure that the employees are clear about their task before the activity begins.
- They should not disclose to other group members what is on their card.

- Fear of stammering or blushing.
- Fear of being thought stupid.
- Afraid they won't express themselves clearly.
- Supportive, non-threatening atmosphere.
- Listen before speaking.
- Have good reasons to support your case.
- Make a positive opening statement.

SECTION B

AIM

To carry out team briefings effectively.

SKILLS

1. To make effective preparation notes.
2. To consider the order in which the meeting should be presented.
3. To consider appropriate presentation techniques.

These skills are underpinned in the following Case Study.

CASE STUDY

You are going to be running the next team briefing in your department. This is an informal occasion where information is given out and issues are raised. Below is a list of items you need to mention. Make appropriate notes for the meeting, considering the order in which the items should be presented and the best ways to present them.

1. Staff taking too long over breaks, causing delays in relief change overs. Some members of staff getting annoyed when they are not relieved in time. Also puts the work schedule out.
2. Suggestions invited for next social club event. Should partners be invited too?
3. Reminder of Health and Safety training next week. Staff involved should take their confirmation of attendance letter to the training.
4. New system of signing out when uniform is collected from the laundry. Uniform must not be collected on someone else's behalf.
5. Introduce new member of staff.
6. Dates for the next four team briefings will be posted on General Notice Board.
7. Suggestions invited for next fund raising event to support local charity.

Dealing with Customers Face-to-Face

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employees competence in dealing with customers face-to-face.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate appropriate interactive skills.
2. To demonstrate appropriate listening skills.
3. To provide information effectively.
4. To handle customer complaints effectively.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- Stress the importance of each employee being the public face of a company. A good impression given by the employee is a positive image for the company. Equally, a bad impression will mean a dissatisfied customer who is less likely to use the company again.
- You may have a Customer Care policy at your place of work which you could look at together. This may include a means of customer feedback, e.g. questionnaires.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Copy of Company Customer Care policy if available.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 13.

10 minutes

15 minutes

APPROPRIATE INTERACTIVE SKILLS

- PAIR ACTIVITY – Divide employees into pairs. One person should be Number 1, the other should be Number 2.
- Number 1 should talk on a chosen subject for two minutes.
- Number 2 should listen but NOT RESPOND IN ANY WAY, either by verbal or non-verbal means.
- FEEDBACK – How did Number 1 feel? Were they able to continue despite apparent lack of interest from Number 2? What did they feel was missing from Number 2?
- How did Number 2 feel? Were they able to concentrate on what was being said without responding?

IMPROVING LISTENING SKILLS

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Create a check list for listening skills including verbal and non-verbal means.

20 minutes

3.

PROVIDING INFORMATION TO CUSTOMERS

- GROUP ACTIVITY – What sort of information might customers ask for at a Reception Desk or in a Restaurant/Bar?
- How would this information be presented to the customer? (i.e. verbal, written).
- Would anyone else need evidence of the request?
- How would the employees deal with a request they couldn't answer themselves?
- How would they ensure that the customer had understood the information?

INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY

- Tasksheet 13.

25 minutes

4.

DEALING WITH CUSTOMER COMPLAINTS

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Why do people complain?
- What should an employee NOT do when confronted with a complaining customer?
- How can an employee diffuse the situation?
- If the complaint is justified, what measures should the employee take to ensure the situation doesn't occur again?

TASKSHEET

- Tell each group separately what they must do. It is vital that Number 1 does not know the instructions you have given to Number 2.
e.g. no smiling, nodding, eye contact, confirming phrases, sitting forward.
- Did they feel uninteresting?

- This should arise from the previous activity.

- Write list on board.
- You may wish to divide into two groups.

- Ask questions, summarise information.

- Nervous, anxious, lack of confidence, blame others, interrupt, be defensive.
- Stay calm.
- Listen carefully, be sympathetic.
- Notify the appropriate authority.

SECTION B

AIM

To demonstrate the ability to deal with conflict between customers.

SKILLS

- 1 To diffuse a difficult situation.
- 2 To use appropriate listening skills
- 3 To respond in an appropriate manner
- 4 To use initiative in resolving an issue

These skills are underpinned in the following activity

- Below is a situation that could arise in a restaurant
- Read the case study and then answer the questions

CASE STUDY

You are the assistant manager in the Galaxy Hotel restaurant.

One of the waiters approaches you very upset. He tells you that one of the customers is becoming quite abusive both to the staff and other customers. She has complained that the diners at the table next to hers are constantly smoking which has spoiled her meal. The waiter overheard her being very rude to the smokers on the next table who were then rude back. She then called the waiter over and demanded that her table did not pay for their meal as she felt it had been ruined. The waiter explained that he was unable to do anything without consulting a senior colleague.

She then became abusive to the waiter. The other diners in the restaurant were being affected by the scene as the noise was interrupting their meal. The smokers on the next table who are regular customers were continuing the argument with the complaining customer.

QUESTIONS

- 1 Where would you try and resolve this problem?
- 2 How would you deal with the complaining customer?
- 3 How would you deal with the smoking party?
- 4 How would you deal with the other customers in the restaurant?
- 5 How would you deal with the waiter?
- 6 Are there any recommendations you would make for the future as a result of this situation?

NOTE: If the employee group are not involved in restaurant services a similar situation could be used in the staff canteen.

To give the employee competence in using the telephone effectively.

SKILLS

1. To identify the appropriate organisation or individual to whom the call should be made.
2. To plan an outgoing call.
3. To use appropriate listening, verbal and recording skills.
4. To receive calls and take relevant messages.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- The Tasksheet for this Module is linked to the Case Study in Module 8 "Dealing with Customers Face-to-Face." You will therefore need to refer to it before starting the Tasksheet for this Module.
- Tasksheet 14 is based on a list of London Museums. You can substitute this with a list of your local museums.
- Discuss with the employees the difference between face-to-face communication and interaction over the telephone.
- What are the advantages and disadvantages?

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 14 and 15.

SECTION B

AIM

To identify and make use of appropriate oral sources to book an external service.

SKILLS

1. To identify the problem.
2. To select the relevant service.
3. To complete appropriate documentation.

These skills are underpinned in the following activity.

The following activity relates to the Case Study in Module 8.

You will need to refer to Tasksheet 13 "Dealing with Customers Face-to-Face".

Although the Tasksheet suggests London Museums, you can substitute this for your local museums.

You will also need a copy of the Booking Form in the Exemplar Materials Section.

ACTIVITY

You are now going to book a taxi-cab for the customer and his wife to visit one of the London Museums.

1. Find a list of cab firms.
2. Telephone the companies you think may have the necessary facilities.
3. Explain the special requirements necessary as tactfully as you can. Remember – the customer is standing beside you.
4. Find out what facilities the firms can offer.
5. Explain the arrival and departure times that your guests will require.
6. Compare costs.
7. Decide which firm can offer the most convenient service for the customer, taking the above into account.

Stock Rotation

SECTION A

AIM

To give employees awareness of the importance of stock rotation and competence in performing this activity.

SKILLS

1. To understand numerical sequencing.
2. To read and identify different methods of presentation, e.g. serial numbers, "use by" dates.
3. To count in batches and calculate quantity.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- Ensure employees are aware of the reasons for stock rotation and the consequences of using out of date food.
- Check that employees feel confident about using simple calculations for the problem solving tasks.
- You may wish to reinforce the activities in an on site location by visiting the stock room used by employees.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Workplace examples of stock control/"use by" labelling.
- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheets 16 and 17.

1.

NUMERICAL SEQUENCING

- GROUP ACTIVITY – identify chronological order of employees' birthdays.

DIFFERENT METHODS OF PRESENTATION

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Discuss alternative methods of labelling to denote:
 - a) type of stock
 - b) use by dates.
- What type of goods will have a short life and therefore a quick use by date?
- Ensure employees understand the alternative methods of date presentation.
- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Tasksheet 16.

3.

COUNTING IN BATCHES AND CALCULATING QUANTITY

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Discuss what sort of sums are necessary to work out quantities.
- What other things need checking when removing stock?
- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Tasksheet 17.
- Feedback.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- TERMS TO DEFINE – sequencing, serial numbers, chronological order.
- Ask each employee to give their birthday (NOT year of birth) and write them on the board at random. Then put the dates into chronological order.

- Illustrate using work place examples.
- Perishables/Non-perishables. Make list on board.
e.g. 050294 could be written as 5FEB94.

SECTION B

AIM

To examine the practical considerations of stock control.

SKILLS

To use knowledge of stock control procedures for problem solving.

GROUP ACTIVITY

- Divide the employees into four groups.
- Give each group one of the following headings:
 1. DAIRY PRODUCE EXAMPLE Eggs
 2. FROZEN FOOD EXAMPLE Ice cream
 3. TINNED FOOD EXAMPLE Baked Beans
 4. DRY STORES EXAMPLE Flour

Each group should add other items to their list.

They should consider the size and frequency of use of the items and devise a system which will make the stock most accessible to staff. The system should illustrate a good stock rotation method. This could include a system of coding to denote the order in which the items are stored.

The information should then be presented in a table or chart.

SECTION A

AIM

To understand the concepts and functions of percentages and decimals.

SKILLS

1. To express percentages in terms of quantity.
2. To put percentages into a vocational context.
3. To express decimals in terms of quantity.
4. To put decimals into a vocational context.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- As the vocational areas covered in this section include both Reception Work and Food Preparation, you may wish to concentrate on what is appropriate for your employee group. Alternatively, you could introduce the skills involved as being transferable to many work related situations.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Photocopies of Tasksheets 18 and 19.
- Optional – Calculator with percentage function.
- Copies of your company/organisation's form for payment of bills.
(If you would prefer to use this rather than the one provided in the Tasksheet).

PERCENTAGES IN TERMS OF QUANTITY

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Ask the employees how many situations they can think of where percentages are used – what is the % demonstrating?
- POINT TO EXPLAIN – 100% does not have to mean a quantity of one hundred – it stands for the total number/ amount before the percentage is worked out.
- GROUP ACTIVITY – Choose eight employees and ask them to stand up. Then tell two of them to sit down ($\frac{1}{4}$ of the total). Explain that the two sitting down = 25% of the total employees present.
- Ask the remaining six to decide how many more of them need to sit down to equal 50% ($\frac{1}{2}$). Repeat the activity to demonstrate 75% and 100%.

15 minutes

2.

PERCENTAGES IN A VOCATIONAL CONTEXT

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Divide into two groups.
Group 1 – think of tasks that involve percentages for Reception staff.
Group 2 – the same for Food Preparers.
- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Tasksheet 18

3.

DECIMALS IN TERMS OF QUANTITY

- POINT TO EXPLAIN – A decimal is a part of a whole number – it is separated from the whole number by a 'decimal point'.
- Discuss the meaning of the phrase '2.4 children'.
- The most common use of decimals is in the use of money.
- Write a list of £s and p.s on the board that includes 25p, 50p and 75p.
- Ask each employee to express one of the figures in decimal terms (£1 = 100%).
- POINT TO EXPLAIN – Decimals can also be expressed in fractions, e.g. $0.5 = \frac{1}{2}$.

10 minutes

4.

DECIMALS IN A VOCATIONAL CONTEXT

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Discuss areas of work that involve decimals.
- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Tasksheet 19.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- TERM TO DEFINE Per cent means 'per hundred'.
Symbol = %
e.g. personal tax, VAT, discounts, to show questionnaire or survey results.
- You can do this activity with any number divisible by four. Objects can be used if you do not have the right number of employees.

- Reception – totalling bills.
- Food Preparers – calculating weight and volume in recipes.

- TERM TO DEFINE – 'Decimal' means 'of ten'. (like decade, decathlon, December was originally the tenth month).
- Explain that the decimal point is moved to the right to increase place value.
e.g. 10.00 becomes 100.0
- It moves to the left to decrease place value.
e.g. 10.00 becomes 1.000
- Refer back to '8 employee' exercise.

e.g. payments, quantity in cooking.

Presenting information on tables and charts

AIM

To understand the relationship between percentages and decimals.

SKILLS

1. To convert percentages into decimals.
2. To convert decimals into percentages.
3. To show one number as a percentage of another using fractions.

ACTIVITIES

1. Explain the following:
16% is the same as $\frac{16}{100}$.
0.16 is the same as $\frac{16}{100}$.
Therefore 16% and 0.16 have the same value.

RULE

To change a percentage to a decimal, just divide the percentage by 100 which means moving the decimal point 2 places to the left.

e.g. $16\% \div 100 = 0.16$.
 $6\% \div 100 = 0.06$

Give the employees some more examples of percentages to change.

2. Explain the following:
To change a decimal into a percentage, the same rule applies but in reverse. i.e. multiply the decimal by 100 which means moving the decimal point two places to the right.
e.g. $0.16 \times 100 = 16\%$
 $0.06 \times 100 = 6\%$

Give the employees some more examples of decimals to change.

3. Explain the following:
It is often the case that the total number from which the percentage is taken is not 100. In order to find out the percentage, the numbers must first be converted into a fraction. These are the steps to take:

EXAMPLE: to express 96 out of 240 as a percentage:

1. $96/240 \times 100 = 9600/240$.
2. $9600 \div 240 = 40$
3. Answer = 40%

Now ask the employees to solve this problem:

At a recent survey taken at the Galaxy Hotel, 90 out of 150 guests expressed a desire for twenty four hour room service. What percentage of the guests who answered the survey is this?

Express this information in a pie chart. (For information on pie charts see Module 12)

MODULE 12

MODULE AREA

Interpreting Visual Information

SUBJECT AREA

Understanding Bar Charts and Pie Charts

SECTION A

AIM

To give the employee competence in interpreting visual information.

SKILLS

1. To appreciate the advantages of visual information and to discuss its uses.
2. To read off and interpret bar charts.
3. To read off and interpret pie charts.

NOTES TO TRAINER

SUGGESTIONS FOR INTRODUCTION

- Ask the employees to suggest ways they know of presenting visual information, e.g. bar charts, pie charts, pictograms, line graphs.
- You may wish to illustrate the session with some company examples, especially any found in an in-house publication.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Flip Chart/Board.
- Company examples of bar and pie charts.
- Calculator with percentage function.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 20.

20 minutes

20 minutes

1.

THE ADVANTAGES OF VISUAL OVER TEXTUAL INFORMATION AND ITS USES

- DISCUSS – Graphs can often present information more clearly and quickly than written information.
- POINT TO EXPLAIN – graphs are best used for presenting statistical information.
e.g. "how many".
- GROUP ACTMITY – to create a bar chart on the age range of employees present.

TO READ OFF AND INTERPRET BAR CHARTS.

- INDMDUAL ACTMITY – Food poisoning bar chart.
Tasksheet 20 Part A.
- Feedback to the group.

15 minutes

20 minutes

15 minutes

3.

TO READ OFF AND INTERPRET PIE CHARTS

- Introduce some examples of pie charts.
- POINTS TO EXPLAIN – information is presented in percentage form.
Each section is represented as a "piece of pie".
- GROUP ACTMITY – Return to age range bar chart. Using calculator work out % of age range and draw pie chart to illustrate.
- INDIVIDUAL ACTMITY – Specific types of food poisoning pie chart.
Tasksheet 20 Part B.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- TERMS TO DEFINE – variable, legend, key, data, scale.
- Illustrate using work specific examples.
- Ask the employees which age range they fall into, e.g. 'under 20, 20-25' etc.
Write the information on the board, then draw a bar chart to illustrate.

TASKSHEET

- You can look at this chart in greater detail, e.g. read off figures for each bar.

TASKSHEET 20

Extension Activities

SECTION B

AIM

To understand the method by which bar charts are created with particular emphasis on statistical combinations.

SKILLS

1. To demonstrate knowledge of bar chart reading.
2. To interpret the data available.
3. To analyse a table of statistics.
4. To relate the statistics to the bar chart.

ACTIVITIES

These relate to TASKSHEET 21.

Background knowledge: ensure the employees have knowledge of bar charts as set out in SECTION A.

SKILL 1

- Group discussion on bar chart data.
- Relating this bar chart showing monthly incidence of food poisoning to the bar chart illustrated in Tasksheet 21.
- Make the connection between the two bar charts.

SKILL 2

- Answer Question 1 on Tasksheet 21

SKILL 3

- Study the table of figures on Tasksheet 21

SKILL 4

- Answer Question 2 on Tasksheet 21

SUGGESTIONS FOR FURTHER ACTIVITIES

- Using other work related statistics, ask the employees to present further bar charts.

MODULE 13

MODULE AREA

Metric Conversion

SUBJECT AREA

Measurement of Weight, Volume and Length

SECTION A

AIM

To demonstrate the ability to convert imperial units of weight and volume into the appropriate metric units.

SKILLS

1. To identify the appropriate units for measuring weight and volume.
2. To convert imperial units into metric units.
3. To use appropriate equipment to weigh required quantities.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- It will depend very much on the age of your employee group as to whether they feel more comfortable with imperial or metric measurement. Younger people may have gone through the school system using only metric and therefore may be more confident than their more 'mature' colleagues!
- You may wish to refer back to Module 11, PERCENTAGES AND DECIMALS, to reinforce the concept of a measurement based on units of ten.
- Discuss with the group the reasons why some people feel uncomfortable with the metric system. You could compare it to people's fears over decimalisation in 1971.

MATERIALS YOU NEED

- Bathroom scales.
- Metric kitchen scales.
- Litre measuring jug.
- Photocopies of Tasksheet 22.
- Ingredients for recipe on Tasksheet 22 or facilities to simulate the weighing activities.
- A small spice jar, a bag of sugar, a litre bottle, a medicine spoon (or equivalent items).
- The concept of metric units of weight and volume is best demonstrated visually, so take as many items to the session as possible!
- Calculators.

1.

TO IDENTIFY METRIC UNITS FOR MEASURING WEIGHT AND VOLUME

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Ask the employees to suggest items that they might buy in kilograms. Then do the same for grams.
- POINT TO EXPLAIN – there are 1000 grams in a kilogram. Repeat this activity with litres and millilitres.
- Ask the employees to guess the weight of the items you have brought in.

30 minutes

TO CONVERT IMPERIAL UNITS INTO METRIC UNITS

- GROUP ACTIVITY – Ask the employees to guess the equivalent weight of the items in pounds and ounces, pints and fractions of pints.
- POINT TO EXPLAIN – there are about 2.2 pounds to one kilogram. So to convert pounds into kilograms, divide the number by 2.2.
- There are about one and three quarter pints in one litre. So to convert pints into litres, divide the number by 1.75
- PAIR ACTIVITY – Ask the employees to calculate their partner's body weight in kilograms. Then compare to actual weight.
- INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY – Tasksheet 22.

30 minutes

3.

TO WEIGH REQUIRED QUANTITIES

- Weigh the items you have brought in. Compare actual weight to earlier estimates.

NOTES TO TRAINER

- Kilograms are a measure of weight, e.g. potatoes, cement (kg), tins of food, box of drawing pins (grams).
- Litres are a measure of volume, e.g. – petrol, bottle of squash (litres), medicine, food colouring (millilitres).

- You may wish to compare litres and gallons of petrol.
- Use calculators.
- If anyone is sensitive about their weight, this activity can be done individually. Use bathroom scales to check weight.

Measuring weights

ELEMENTS 1, 2 & 3

Extension Activities

SECTION B

AIM

To demonstrate competence in converting imperial units of measurement into metric units and to show evidence of this in a practical situation.

SKILLS

1. To identify appropriate measurement.
2. To measure length accurately.
3. To calculate area accurately.

CONVERSION CHART

IMPERIAL	METRIC
1 mile	1.6 kilometres
1 yard	0.9 metres
1 foot	0.3 metres
1 inch	25 millimetres
1 inch	2.5 centimetres
1 square mile	2.6 square kilometres
1 square yard	0.8 square metres

- To convert from the imperial to the metric measurement multiply the number you want on the left with the figure on the right.

Example

$$3 \text{ yards} = 3 \times 0.9 = 2.7 \text{ metres.}$$

- A kilometre is 1000 metres.
- A metre is 100 centimetres.
- A centimetre is 10 millimetres.
- Therefore there are 1000 millimetres in a metre (100 x 10).

ACTIVITY

- The room you are in is due to be refurbished. The builders want to know how much wall and floor space there is so they can estimate costs for paint and floor covering.
- Take the measurements in imperial units and then, using the Conversion Chart as a guide, convert them into metric units.

SECTION B TITLE: FROZEN POULTRY

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Read the text below and extract the main points to create a flow chart. There are nine stages to complete.

FROZEN POULTRY

Most food taken from the freezer can be cooked immediately but poultry and large joints must be completely thawed before cooking. For example a 2.25 kg (5lb) bird should be allowed to thaw for approximately 15 hours at room temperature. This must take place in an area entirely separate from other foods which may be exposed to risk of contamination from thawed liquid, e.g. where cooked food may be cooling down prior to refrigeration. Thawing should be carried out at a temperature of 10-15°C or in a thawing cabinet. The poultry will be ready for cooking when the body is pliable and the body cavity is free from ice crystals. The giblets should be removed. Once thawed, keep in the refrigerator and cook within twenty four hours. All utensils and surfaces used for the preparation of raw meat and poultry should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before being used for high risk food.

Accident Reports

SECTION A TITLE: ACCIDENT REPORT STYLE AND VOCABULARY

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Task A

Consider these two reports about the same incident. Make a list of the differences between them.

Report 1

"Oh, it was horrible. There was blood everywhere. It all happened so quickly. Poor Sue! Turn off the machine' I said. Good job Ali came in. He knew what to do."

Report 2

On 20th September 1993 Sue Hartley (Catering Assistant) cut her finger using the meat slicing machine in the main food preparation area. Mr A. Khan (supervisor) administered First Aid. Mrs Hartley was sent to the hospital to be checked.

Task B

Match a word from List A to a definition from List B. The first one is done as an example.

List A

- applicable
- behalf
- delete
- incapable
- incapacity
- independent
- undersigned
- location
- major
- minor
- nature
- retained

List B

- kept
- place
- appropriate
- small, unimportant
- unable, unfit
- for someone else
- type or kind
- cross out
- serious
- person who has signed below
- not directly involved
- inability

Now use a dictionary to check the meaning of any words you didn't know.

MODULE 3TASKSHEET*6*MODULE AREA*Accident Reports*SECTIONS A & B*TITLE: SELECTING RELEVANT INFORMATION*HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Below are two reports about the same incident but they contain different information. Read the two reports carefully.

REPORT 1

At about half past eleven I was carrying a large bowl of carrots over to the sink when I accidentally spilt some water out of the bowl. I strained the rest of the water off the carrots because Chef wanted them in a hurry. I was just on my way to fetch the mop and bucket to wipe the floor when the phone rang.

While I was talking on the phone, Pete came in with the boxes of savoury biscuits we needed for the cheese course. He was carrying at least six boxes and he couldn't really see where he was going. Next thing I heard a crash and Pete shout as he fell down. He was clutching his arm and the boxes went everywhere. In fact most of the biscuits were broken.

REPORT 2

I was bringing back a few boxes that Mr Amin had told me to fetch from the stock room. Next thing I knew I had skidded on a great puddle of water that someone had left on the floor. I fell down awkwardly on my right arm. There was a sickening crack and the pain was awful. The boxes fell everywhere – it's a good job it wasn't fins I was carrying. Chef came through to see what all the noise was about. Then he told Anna to get off the phone. He called Reception to send for an ambulance. My arm is broken and the hospital says it will be in plaster for six weeks.

Although these reports are about the same incident they contain different information.

Below is a chart with different key points. Tick the appropriate column to show where the information can be found.

	Report 1	Report 2	Both Reports
The accident happened after 11.00 a.m.
Water was on the floor
Mr Amin wanted biscuits
Pete was carrying six boxes
Anna was on the phone when the accident happened
Chef phoned Reception to send for an ambulance
Pete's arm was broken

Now use the information you have found in both reports to complete the Accident Report form.

SECTION A TITLE: WHICH COMMUNICATION?

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Here is a list of some forms of company communications and the ways in which they should be used.

MEMO

An internal communication (not sent outside the company) with a specific company format. A copy is usually kept by the sender.

STANDARD LETTER

A letter sent by the company in response to a standard enquiry. It may also contain a form to complete.

CIRCULAR LETTER

A letter sending general information to a wide group of people outside of the company. They are usually dispatched at the same time.

FORM

A communication which asks for specific information. This may be attached to a standard letter or be complete within itself.

QUESTIONNAIRE

A survey form which is used to gather information and opinions. This could be internal, for staff use, or external for customer/client use. Usually presented in a "tick box" format.

NOTICE

A company communication which is displayed in places where all staff can see them (e.g. Notice Board).

LEAFLET

A printed communication advertising a service or product, or providing information.

IN-HOUSE PUBLICATIONS

For internal use – e.g. Newsletters, Magazines, Training programmes.

HERE ARE SOME SITUATIONS THAT REQUIRE A COMPANY COMMUNICATION TO BE SENT. WHICH TYPE OF CORRESPONDENCE FROM THE LIST DO YOU THINK IS MOST APPROPRIATE?

(You may have more than one answer).

- A customer wants a price list for buffet menus.
- Confirmation of your request to go on a training course.
- Your opinions are asked regarding a change in shift times.
- Details of the social club events for next year.
- Informing customers of special offers available next month.
- Details and dates of your annual leave.
- A reminder to a supplier that invoices must be submitted by a specific date.
- An article about long service awards to employees.

SECTION A TITLE: ROLE PLAY – GIVING CRITICISM

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

When people think of criticism, they often think of "finding fault". If criticism is not handled correctly it can make people very defensive and make the situation worse. However, if it is handled in the right way it can be very useful because – CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM CAN MAKE A POSITIVE CHANGE!

Below are some examples of situations at work that might make you critical.

1. He's always late.
2. She always calls in sick on Mondays.
3. They're always busy chatting.
4. He's always interrupting me when I'm trying to do something.
5. Their work is really sloppy and we get blamed for it.
6. She's quick to tell me my mistakes but never says when I'm doing something well.

IN PAIRS

- Take one of these situations and discuss how you would deal with it.
- The checklist below should help you.

CHECKLIST

- Avoid being personal and stick to the facts and figures.
- Make sure you're honest and don't avoid the truth.
- Give the other person an opportunity to explain how they feel.
- Make positive suggestions as to how the problem could be solved.
- Agree a course of action with the other person.
- Make sure that you give your criticism in private.

SECTION A TITLE: ROLE PLAY – RECEIVING CRITICISM

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

You are now going to put the previous activity into practice and at the same time have a go at receiving criticism! Change your partner from the previous activity so you are now with someone else. One of you will be number 1, the other person will be number 2.

NUMBER 1

- Tell your partner what point you had chosen from the previous activity.
- Now criticise your new partner on that point, using the checklist from the previous Tasksheet.
- REMEMBER – BE CONSTRUCTIVE!

NUMBER 2

- You are going to be on the receiving end! Use this checklist for receiving criticism to help you.

CHECKLIST

- Listen carefully so you know exactly why you're being criticised.
- Be fair – you may deserve the criticism.
- Express your own feelings and opinions – you may have a genuine reason.
- Ask for advice which will help you in the future.
- Say "Sorry" if you have been wrong, but try to be positive.
- Try to remain calm – losing your temper won't help!

When you have completed this activity, swap roles so that number 2 criticises number 1 about the point discussed in the previous Tasksheet.

SECTION A TITLE: ASKING QUESTIONS

HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Divide the employees into groups of three. Each group member should be given one of the cards below. They must not know what is on the other cards!

Card 1 – SPEAKER

Think of any work related subject that you have an opinion on, for example pay, holiday leave, uniform, shift patterns, customer care. Introduce the topic to the other members of your group in one or two sentences. They are going to ask you questions to find out more about your opinions. If your answer could be only YES or NO do not say anything else! If the question needs a longer answer then reply accordingly.

Card 2

The speaker in your group is going to introduce a topic for you to ask him/her questions on. Take it in turns with the other member of your group to ask the questions. Only ask questions that begin with the following:

- Where
- When
- Do you like
- Do you have

Card 3

The speaker in your group is going to introduce a topic for you to ask him/her questions on. Take it in turns with the other member of your group to ask the questions. Only ask questions that begin with the following:

- What do you think
- What are your reasons for
- What sort of things
- Why do you think

MODULE 8TASKSHEET*13*MODULE AREA*Oral Communications (2)*SECTION A TITLE: THE RECEPTION DESK*HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

Below is a situation you may come across if you are working at a Reception Desk. Read through the Case Study and then answer the following questions.

CASE STUDY

- You are working at the Reception Desk of the Galaxy Hotel. A customer is hovering around the desk but has not yet approached you. He is looking at the Museum Information Guides but doesn't seem to have found what he wants.
- You ask if you can help. He explains that he would like to go out for the day to visit some London museums with his wife but she is in a wheelchair and going out can be very difficult if the place isn't suitable.
- He also requires transport for the trip.
- You do not have individual details of all the museums in London but you do have a very long list of their addresses and telephone numbers. It would be impossible to contact them all!

QUESTIONS

1. What further information would you ask the customer before finding out anything else?
2. What questions would you ask the museums when you contacted them?
3. How would you arrange the transport and what questions would you need to ask both the customer and the transport firm?
4. How would you ensure the information was available for future customers?

MODULE 9TASKSHEET*14*MODULE AREA*Oral Communications (3)*SECTION A TITLE: REFERRING TO EXTERNAL SOURCES TO PROVIDE CUSTOMER INFORMATION*HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

The tasksheet is divided into three parts, A, B and C. Do each section as your trainer tells you. In the Tasksheet "The Reception Desk", we looked at helping the customer choose a suitable museum to visit and arranging transport. The following activities relate to that Case Study.

PART A

- You have found out that the customer is particularly interested in old toys.
- From the list below, select two museums that might have these on display.

MUSEUMS LIST

- British Museum, Great Russell St, London WC1, 071-636 1555
- London Toy and Model Museum, 21 Craven Hall, London W2 3EN, 071-262 7905
- Museum of Childhood, Cambridge Heath Rd, London E2, 081-980 2415
- Museum of Mankind, 6 Burlington Gdns, London W1, 071-437 2224

- Science Museum, Exhibition Rd, London SW7, 071-938 8000
- Victoria and Albert Museum, S. Kensington, London SW7, 071-938 8500

PART B

- Plan your telephone call to the museums.
- Remember to refer to the Case Study first.

Pie Charts can show the same information in percentage form.

The circle equals 100%.

The incidence of food poisoning in 1985 equals 8 per cent of the circle, so we can say that between 1982 and 1990, 8% of the total food poisoning for that period occurred in 1985.

QUESTION: Estimate what the percentage of the other years appears to be.

MODULE 13TASKSHEET*22*MODULE AREA*Metric Conversion*SECTION A TITLE: BEEF CASSEROLE*HOW TO USE THIS TASKSHEET

You are working in the kitchen of the Galaxy Hotel, and have been asked to prepare the ingredients for a beef casserole. Unfortunately, the recipe only gives you imperial units. Convert the recipe into metric units.

REMEMBER

- To convert pounds into kilograms, divide the number of pounds by 2.2.
- There are about 28 grams to one ounce. (round down to 25 grams)*.
- To convert pints into litres, divide the number of pints by 1.75.
- There are about 142 millilitres to a $\frac{1}{4}$ of a pint (round up to 150 millilitres)*.

RECIPE FOR BEEF CASSEROLE

INGREDIENTS	IMPERIAL	METRIC
Stewing Steak	10 lbs
Margarine	5 ozs
Tomatoes	4lbs
Tomato puree	5 ozs
Mushrooms	1 $\frac{1}{4}$ lbs
Stock	2 pts
Red Wine	$\frac{1}{2}$ pt

* Using these figures makes it easier to work out the conversion into metric units.

In certain pastry and cake recipes you must use a more accurate conversion to produce a balanced recipe.

PUNCTUATION

- Punctuation is a collection of written marks and signs to break up words and to make the sense clear.
- The two most important punctuation marks are the full stop and the comma.
- The full stop tells the reader where the end of the sentence comes.
- A new sentence should always begin with a capital letter.
- Names of particular people, places and things must also begin with a capital letter.
Example: John, London, Gone with the Wind, Prime Minister, Wednesday.
- The word 'I' meaning 'me' should always be a capital letter.
- The comma can be used in four ways:
 1. When you want the reader to pause slightly, but not enough to end the sentence.
Example: When you have finished this pack, you should be more confident with your writing.
 2. To mark off items in a list.
Example: Spelling, punctuation, grammar and sentence structure are all important for effective writing.
Note: There is no comma between the last two items because you use the word 'and'.
 3. To show extra information within a sentence.
Example: Spelling rules, which are useful to learn, are easier to remember than you think!
 4. To mark off from the rest of the sentence any actual words that are spoken.
Example: Kuldip said, "My writing is much better."

Exemplar Materials

SENTENCES AND PARAGRAPHS

- A sentence is a collection of words that make complete sense on their own.

Example: My supervisor told me about the new shifts is a complete sentence.

My supervisor told me about is not a complete sentence because it doesn't say what she told you about.

My supervisor told about the new shifts is not a complete sentence because it doesn't say who she told.

- A sentence should not be too long, otherwise the reader will forget the beginning by the time she/he reaches the end! A useful guide is not to have more than two ideas in a sentence.

Example: The training room is booked tomorrow. (one idea)

The keys are missing. (one idea)

- You could join these ideas up to make one sentence by adding a 'joining word'.

The training room is booked tomorrow but the keys are missing. (two ideas)

- A paragraph is a collection of sentences that have a linking theme. The first sentence in a paragraph is often called the topic sentence. This tells you what the paragraph is about.

Example: The training room is booked tomorrow but the keys are missing. It turned out that Mary had used the room yesterday and taken the keys home. I had to telephone her at home because she is on leave for two days. She said that she would bring them in later today.

- This is the end of one paragraph. I am now going to start a new paragraph because I am going to change the subject.

Example: It's not the first time that keys have disappeared. I remember last month when I had to lock the supply cupboard. The keys weren't in their usual place and I eventually found that Chef had them in his pocket! He had meant to put them straight back but forgot he had a meeting. He was in such a hurry he walked off with them.

Note: If you are hand writing start a new paragraph a few spaces into the line like this:

It's not the first time the keys have disappeared

If you are typing or wordprocessing new paragraphs can start at the beginning of the line.

PROOFREADING

- Proofreading means checking your work for mistakes.
- When you read through your work, you will be concentrating on what it means and you may not notice mistakes.
- Proofreading is quite different. All your attention is on checking for mistakes. These could be spelling, punctuation or grammar mistakes.
- It's a good idea to proofread a little while after you have done your writing. Otherwise you will read what you think you have written and you may not spot the mistakes. You might like to check for one type of correction at a time.

Example:

1. Check for spelling.
 2. Check for Capital Letters.
 3. Check for other punctuation.
 4. Check that you have written complete sentences.
 5. Check that your sentences are not too long.
 6. Check that you have put the paragraphs in the right place.
- It is useful to go through the whole piece of writing putting a pencil ring around the things you are not sure about. You can then check spellings in a dictionary – you may be surprised at how many were right!
 - Get someone else to check your work if you can. They will often see mistakes you have missed.
 - When you have completed proofreading, write your final copy.

TEN TIPS FOR USING THE TELEPHONE

IF YOU ARE MAKING THE CALL:

1. Plan. Think what you want to get from the call you are making. List the points you want to make in order of importance. Have paper and any other relevant information ready.
2. Identify yourself. Always say 'Good Morning' or 'Good Afternoon' first. This gives the other person time to gather their concentration. Then give your name and the name of your organisation.
3. Tell the person your reason for calling.
4. Be polite. If you have phoned at an inconvenient time, arrange another time to call back, or leave a message to have your call returned.
5. Make sure the call is complete. Check the message has been understood and sum up.
6. Agree any action you want to take.

IF YOU ARE RECEIVING THE CALL:

Many of the above points apply and you could add these to your list.

7. Try and answer the phone in three rings. This stops the caller from getting impatient and frustrated.
8. Listen carefully to the caller's reasons for phoning.
9. Don't interrupt!
10. Ask the caller to repeat anything you are not sure of.

REMEMBER: Always write down the purpose of the call and the action to be taken.

SPELLING STRATEGIES

Look, Say, Cover, Write, Check

- This is a technique to help you remember spellings.
- Pick a word you want to learn (Make sure you have the right spelling):

Step 1 Look at it carefully

Step 2 Say the word

Step 3 Cover the word up

Step 4 Write the word in one go, without looking back at the original

Step 5 Check to see if you are right by looking back at the original.

- A useful way of practising this strategy is to take a long strip of paper and when you have written the original word, fold it over so you can't see it. You can keep folding it over for each attempt. Don't forget to check the spelling against your original!

Exemplar Materials

WORD-BREAKING

- This is a technique that allows you to tackle one small part of a word at a time. This means that you are more likely to get it right because you can identify the mistake more quickly and concentrate on that part of the word.
- Another word for this strategy is syllabification.
- A syllable is the smallest part of a word which can be spoken separately. It is like a musical beat.
- A syllable will always contain at least one vowel or the letter 'v' which can act like a vowel.
- The vowels are the letters a,e,i,o,u.
- The consonants are all the other letters.

Example: ap pli ca ble
ap pro pri ate
im me di ate

If there is a double consonant in the word like 'pp' or 'mm' it is helpful to divide them into separate syllables. You are more likely to remember them that way!

Exemplar Materials

MNEMONICS

- This is a way of using memory aids to help with spelling. We often use this strategy for helping to remember telephone or cash card numbers.

- There are many words that don't follow an obvious pattern or rule and so are harder to remember.

- Here are some examples of mnemonics:

Words within words: You can highlight with a different colour to make it stand out in your memory.

For example: There is sin in business

A secretary keeps a secret

There is a rat in separate

The couple wed on Wednesday

- Make up a mnemonic:

necessary – You wear one collar (one c) and two socks (double s).

Exemplar Materials

ROOT WORDS

- Most long words end up that way because bits have been added to the beginning and end of the root word.
- The beginning bits are called prefixes.
- The end bits are called suffixes.

For example:

Root word grace

Suffix ful

Suffix ly

Complete word gracefully

Prefix dis

Complete word disgracefully.

When you try to spell a longer word, think about the root and then add the prefixes and suffixes.

- NOTE: Sometimes when you add a suffix, the spelling of the root word changes.

For example: If the root word ends in 'e' and you want to add an ending beginning with a vowel, you take away the 'e' first.

The vowel endings are: -ing, er, ious, est, able, ed and y.

For Example: hoping maker gracious bravest believable raced juicy

CLOZE

This activity can be used in a variety of ways:

- As a reading exercise by putting a word that makes sense in the gaps (there could be a choice of more than one word).
- As a spelling exercise by leaving out "key words" that you want to be able to spell.

Make sure that the words you leave out are obvious choices – it's a good idea to try your Cloze exercise out on a colleague first!
