ABSTRACT

The survey reported here was part of a larger project, the Wheatland Library Inter-Agency Collaboration Pilot Project. This Student User Survey summarizes data and recommendations for improved collaboration between the schools and the Wheatland Library. This report presents the findings of the survey along with recommendations. It provides a perspective on the students' perceptions and attitudes towards reading, libraries, and using information. The report begins with an introduction and an overview of the Inter-Agency Collaboration Pilot Project. Next, the methodology of the survey is reported, followed by analyses of the data. These analyses, which make up the major part of the report, are organized in eight categories: participants in survey; library membership; reasons for not having membership; frequency of library visits; reasons for going to the branch or mobile library; collection analysis; other sources accessed for student information; and additional comments. Finally, a summary of the survey and recommendations based on the findings are presented. Data analysis charts and a copy of the survey instrument are appended. (JLB)

Introduction

Most decisions are only as good as the information on which they are based. The resources to access this information are provided to individuals in many different ways by numerous agencies. The user's ability to collect, select and analyze the data varies with personal skills and attitudes.

Wheatland Regional Library is one such information provider. It provides a significant service to a large portion of Saskatchewan people. The need for inter-agency collaboration between Wheatland and other data sources is becoming increasingly important. It has become a necessity indicative of our changing times and our global focus on integration rather than isolation.

To this end, an Inter-Agency Collaboration Pilot Project was established in Wheatland for 1992-93. Several agencies have been approached and collaborative activities initiated. Of particular note has been the work with school divisions in the immediate area of Saskatoon.

The Student User Survey reported in this document summarizes data and recommendations for improved collaboration between the schools and Wheatland. At the central point for all aspects of this part of the project has been a concerted focus on the needs of students to develop skills as independent readers, learners and thinkers.

Inter-Agency Collaboration Pilot Project

Wheatland Regional Library

In May 1992, WRL Director, Bruce Cameron, initiated discussion with Gerald Brown to participate in a pilot project to explore the inter-agency collaboration among the information providers within the boundaries of Wheatland. This innovation grew out of discussions held several years previously about liaison work between school and public library programs in Winnipeg where Mr. Brown had been Chief Librarian for the Winnipeg School Division for 27 years until his retirement in June 1992. The possibilities of working on this challenging project became a reality as the following objectives were drafted.

Pilot Project

Inter-Agency Collaboration Among Information Providers
Within the Boundaries of the Wheatland Regional Library

Objectives

1. To initiate discussion among the library personnel of Wheatland Regional Library and other information providers to increase the understanding of the mandate, roles and services now available to their clients.
2. To raise the image of public libraries as information providers in the pilot communities.
3. To develop mechanisms for sharing services within the existing funding jurisdiction.
4. To participate in joint programs, projects or activities appropriate to the mandate.

The term "information providers" was used to identify the various agencies which are trying to 'get their message' across to the same clients that Wheatland serves. This gives a broader perspective to libraries as information suppliers. In these recessionary times, it is vital for all to use resources more effectively and efficiently.

The following diagram introduces the scope of who some of the information providers are. It becomes obvious that a pilot project of 40 days is not long enough to address even the initial interaction with all these groups.

Both Federal and Provincial

Therefore, the initial contacts have been narrowed down to Sask. Valley S.D. #49, Sask. East S.D. #41, and, more recently, Sask. West S.D. #42. In addition, progress has been made with the University of Saskatchewan, Prairie West Regional College, the Saskatchewan Literacy Network, and the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation.

The phases in the project were as follows:

- I Commitment
  - i) Boards, School Administration and/or Program Directors
  - ii) School and Branch Personnel
- II Awareness
  - i) Staff Meetings and Discussions
  - ii) Brochure Distribution
  - iii) Membership Recruitment
  - iv) Librarians' Meetings, including Branch Librarians' Advisory Committee
  - v) Reports and Communications
- III Survey of Users
- IV Feedback of Results - Analysis and Recommendations
- V Planning for Project Follow-up

In carrying out these activities, the support of WRL Central Office personnel has been superb. When the 'going got tough', there was always someone available with a positive word of encouragement. Forty (40) days of the project have been used to have meetings and discussions as follows:

No. of Meetings	Agents Involved
19	WRL Management Team
10	SVSD #49 Administrative and Consultative Staff
14	SESD #41 Administrative Staff
4	SWSD #42 Administrative Staff
18	Direct Visits to Schools
7	Direct Visits to Branches
39	Reports Written
3	School Staff Meetings
9	U of S Meetings and Workshops
26	Meetings with Other Groups (e.g. S.T.F., Sask. Ed., Regional Directors, BLAC, Sask. Library Week)

The response in all these sites has been positive. In most cases there has been some measurable follow-up. The most noticeable is in the Request Service. As more discussion is undertaken, the image of WRL is raised and enhanced.

In general, the willingness to collaborate is present. It needed to have someone take the initiative to start the activities, to explain who WRL is, and to show how the mandates are inter-related.

As the meetings and consultations progressed, it became apparent that data about student use of the various libraries in the region were not available. Therefore, as part of the Pilot, a survey was drafted with grassroots input. It was field-tested, and then replicated in four other schools.

This report presents the findings of that survey, along with recommendations for growth and change. It provides a perspective on the students' perceptions and attitudes towards reading, libraries and using information. It is hoped that these data may be used by other regional library systems as a type of bench-mark data for comparative purposes.

Methodology of Survey

Survey of Student Use of Branch and Mobile Library Services in Wheatland Regional Library

As the Consultant worked with various groups in Central Offices and in the schools, it became apparent that the "real" clients for the service in School Divisions were the students. They were the persons whose perceptions and attitudes needed to be addressed to see if changes were needed, if so, and of what nature.

To this end, a series of questions were tried orally in both Sask. Valley (#49) and Sask. East (#41) schools. Gradually, the questions were sorted and recorded with help from the staff in Aberdeen Composite School and Hanley Composite School. Some questions were closed and required specific answers, others were open-ended and invited information and opinions.

The first edition of the survey was field-tested in Hanley Composite School on 07 April 1993. In attendance was the surveyor, Gerald Brown, along with the Principal Ken Dodge, Vice Principal Barry Harmon, School Library Assistant Deb Suttee, and WRL Branch Librarian Sonia English.

After consultation with professional colleagues in Toronto and Edmonton, it was determined that a simple controlled random sample technique would be used to choose the candidates. Due to the complexity of the language in the questions, it was decided to select students in Grades 4 through 12. The early years children were consciously eliminated by this process. No effort was made to compensate for this omission.

To control the sample, the classroom registers or attendance lists were selected as the total population base for the school. On the day selected to do the survey (at the discretion of the surveyor, and not announced to the students in advance), every fifth name on each classroom register was chosen (in the Grades 4 through 12 rooms), and the individual was asked to come to the school library for a special project. There is an element of randomness in the fact that students who were absent were not revisited later to complete their forms. The ages in classrooms may also have varied three or more years according to the combination of grades in the room.

While this sampling technique may not be totally scientific, it was believed to be satisfactory for the purposes of the survey. The reliability of the data can always be open to question where attitudes, perceptions and opinions are being elicited from students.

The time for the survey took approximately one class period. Some students finished earlier and left sooner to return to their regular classes. There were no queries for interpretation of the wording of the questions. However, in the final analysis of the data, it should be noted that:

1. The option to move from a "No" answer in question #1, to #2, and then to #10 would have been more logical and time saving.

2. In question #4, the survey should have designated "Branch or Mobile" before the word "Library".

It is recommended that these revisions be included if this survey is used again.

Following the Field Test and discussions with the personnel at Wheatland and at Sask. East, the survey was completed using the same procedures in Aberdeen, Allan, Clavet and Colonsay Schools.

The data were compiled and analyzed by the surveyor/consultant. This report with recommendations is the result of considerable deliberation on the information supplied by the students.

SURVEY OF STUDENT USE OF BRANCH AND BOOK MOBILE SERVICES
IN WHEATLAND REGIONAL LIBRARY

Introduction:

Your name has been chosen randomly from the school classroom registers to help us provide some information about the way you use either the Wheatland Regional BRANCH LIBRARY or BOOKMOBILE LIBRARY in your community.

Data Analysis

1. Participants in Survey

The participants in the survey ranged in age from 9 to 18 years. The number at each year of age ranged from one to fourteen persons.

2. Membership

Membership cards were held by 129 of the 225 students surveyed, or 57%. Of these respondents, students aged 9 to 14 were the most representative members - 92 of a possible 140 (66%) were members. By comparison, in the age range 15 to 18, only 37 of a possible 83, or 45%, were members.

This is significant information, when one realizes that the more senior students are at a stage when they should be developing research skills and strategies that take them to other information sources and locations outside the school. If they already had a WRL card, one might assume that they would use this opportunity locally, or reciprocally in other cooperating libraries. Maintaining a library borrower's card demonstrates an attitude toward accessing information for personal use.

Comparison Information

School	Enrolment (Approx.)	Surveyed Population	With WRL Cards No. (%)	Rank	Without WRL Cards No. (%)
Aberdeen	356	49	27 (55%)	3	22 (45%)
Allan	306	40	26 (65%)	2	14 (35%)
Clavet	565	79	38 (48%)	5	41 (52%)
Colonsay	191	23	20 (87%)	1	3 (13%)
Hanley	267	34	18 (53%)	4	16 (47%)
TOTALS	1685	225	129 (57%)		96 (43%)

Recommendations:

1. That the teachers be approached to discuss the kinds of research projects that are being given which would merit the use of resources outside both the home and school.
2. That the school staff be encouraged to provide opportunities for all students to become WRL members.
3. That arrangements be made for all students to go the Branch or Mobile Library in an organized manner, during school hours, to search for materials for their research projects (especially in the senior years).

4. That teachers of students aged 10 to 15 years be encouraged to find ways to introduce their students to the Branch or Mobile Library systematically in the fall term on an annual basis, and that opportunity be presented for non-members to join the WRL system.
5. That a WRL representative - Central Branch and/or Local Branch - attend a school meeting to answer student and teacher questions about obligations for membership and the privileges attached to same.

3. Reasons For Not Having a Membership

With respect to the reasons given for not having a WRL card, one notes a distaste for reading and that there is no need for one to use the library are quite strongly expressed. There are major global issues that can only be addressed on a personal basis with an active library program and positive mentors.

The aspect of access can be addressed through a re-examination of the hours of service, and school flexibility of movement rules. Both of these are major issues that need serious consideration and much discussion.

Recommendations:

6. That the Director of Education and Principal give consideration to evaluating the perceived reluctance to reading and use of libraries by the senior students to determine if skills in reading may be a root cause, or if there are other critical factors.
7. That the Director of Education and Principal give consideration to initiating a project with the Literacy Coordinator from Prairie West Community College to gain access to PALS (Principles of the Alphabet Literacy System) from IBM, available from the Warman office, for use with students with learning deficits, or with a similar program of equal quality and flexibility.
8. That WRL staff address the issue of providing member registration information to all schools in the Division every fall.
9. That programs such as Read Canada, Sask. Literacy Network and the school's remedial programs be used to encourage both children and adults to become life-long readers.

4. Frequency of Library Visits

Question 3 - How often do you go to the Branch Library or Book Mobile in an average month?

There was a wide range of responses to this question - from 0 to 12 times per month. These variations also included responses from individuals who indicated that they did not have a card.

The frequency of visits is most consistent in students under age 15, although two (2) 18 year olds indicate two times and five times as their average usage.

It would appear that efforts must be provided to induce the students to come to the premises in order to experience the service and materials available. While voluntary visits would be preferred and would likely have longer term effects, scheduled visits could have some introductory benefits.

Tables in the appendix document these observations.

5. Reasons For Going to the Branch or Mobile Library

It comes as little surprise that most responding card members - 126 of 129, or 97.6% indicated that they came to the library to get materials for school projects. This was further confirmed in the comments noted below.

In the case of personal reading, 106 of 129 respondents, or 82%, replied affirmatively.

Meeting friends is not a very important reason for most respondents (ages 9 to 18) to go to their Branch or Mobile Library. Only 22 of 129, or 17%, were affirmative replies.

Question 4 - Other Reasons for Going to the Library

12. To do projects.
13. To find knowledge.
18. If you need to learn about something, you could just go to the library.
20. To warm up (sometimes) in the wintertime.
23. To read the daily paper.
25. I go to the library for a place to hang out.
26. Just to have a peaceful place to read.
29. So you can read to yourself.
30. To hang around.
45. Go to the library just to work on my homework.
46. Work on an essay or homework.

Tables in the appendix support these observations.

Recommendations:

10. That, when collections are developed for these Branch and Mobile Libraries, attention needs to be given to a discrete balance between personal general reading and school assignments.
11. That, when teachers are willing and able to provide project or assignment outlines in advance, or when they are willing to meet with the Branch Librarian to plan the projects cooperatively, every effort should be made to provide thematic display collections to support the preplanning process.
12. That, where there is both a School Librarian and a Branch Librarian in the same community, efforts be made to develop close working liaisons in the exchange of information about forthcoming programs, sharing of assignment and planned project notes, and putting in place a system for handling Special Book Title Requests from the school to the Branch Library.

6. Collection Analysis

6.1 The simple open-ended question asked "What kinds of books do you find at the Branch or Mobile Library that you like most?" elicited a wide range of topics from all age groups. The emphasis appears to be mostly on the fiction, comics, magazines, and lighter entertainment genre. Few respondents noted the non-fiction or reference areas as being of most interest.

These data should be of particular interest to the Branch Co-ordinator and the Branch Librarian as new materials are acquired and as blocks are rotated.

The school personnel may be interested to note these areas also, and consider allowing the Branch to emphasize these collections while the school concentrates on more current non-fiction items.

These results are generally congruent with the literature on current teenage interests in school collections.

6.2 When the students were asked to identify topics where they couldn't find material, the responses were very limited. In this case, almost all the items were of a non-fiction nature. In light of the nature of the responses to the previous question, it may be that most of the respondents see the role of the Branch Library to meet their fiction and humour needs rather than of factual content.

These are needs to be addressed with some individual discussion interviews for both students and teachers.

Recommendations:

13. That School Library and Branch Library staff review the student identified topics where they couldn't find material, to prioritize them within the scope of their collection development plan.
14. That the school and branch librarians consider these lists to develop displays, exhibits, bibliographies or other promotional materials on these topics during the year as resources are acquired, and in response to student's identified topics of interest.

6.3 In the area of use of the Specific Book Request from the Branch, only 51 students, or 39.5%, indicated that they had used the service. This would indicate that only a small percentage of students with membership cards either know about or choose to use this service.

Of these 51 students, 40 (78%) indicated that they had received the material. Thirty-four of the 40 (85%) items received were what was expected. On the other hand, 27 of 40 (67.5%) said that they had received the item soon enough to use it for their project or assignment. In addition, some students said that they enjoyed the book regardless of the speed of delivery. Most of the students, 34 of 45 (85%), noted that the material was current enough (recent copyright date) to provide the information needed. Most of the clients indicated that they had only asked for the material from one to six weeks in advance of the date needed. In the comments, several students appreciated these items for personal reading.

Aberdeen Composite School - Comments

- I think the book mobile should come every two weeks instead of every three weeks.
- Our mobile should have movies or filmstrips about a country.
- Requesting books is one of the most frequent ways I get books.
- I feel the library should get more fantasy books, popular authors, and more new releases.
- It would have been nice to get the book on time (sooner).
- It takes too long to receive a pre-ordered book.

- The majority of the books are old.

Recommendations:

15. That the Specific Book Request service needs to be promoted to both students and teachers in all the schools.
16. That the teachers have an opportunity to experience success using the microfiche at the Branch Library, and from it to submit specific book titles.
17. That students doing research be encouraged to use the microfiche catalogue to request specific titles on a more frequent basis.
18. That all clients be made aware of the lead time needed to obtain materials on inter-branch-library loan.
19. That teachers be encouraged to provide unit outlines to both the School and Branch Librarians six (6) weeks in advance of giving the assignments to the students.
20. That teachers be encouraged to subdivide the assignment into topics appropriate to the student ability level so that a wider range of resources might be accessible.
21. That teachers be made aware of books with cassettes for most age groups.

24. That the suggestions for both Branch and School Library improvement be addressed jointly by WRL and SE personnel to see if collaborative action can be taken to fill these needs.

7. Other Sources Accessed for Student Information

The following table indicates student response to question 11: "Where, other than the Branch Library/Book Mobile or School Library, do you most often get materials for your projects?"

	Aberdeen	Allan	Clavet	Colonsay	Hanley
Home/Personal Collection	21	18	38	13	17

No Answer	15/49 10%	8/40 20%	22/79 28%	9/23 39%	9/34 26%

These responses showed a wide variation of sources in the community that are available to students. The need for collaboration among these agencies, and planning by teachers to use and access these resources is imperative.

Recommendations:

25. That teachers of grade 11 and 12 classes be encouraged to schedule field trips to the University of Saskatchewan in November to have the Reference Services Unit provide a systematic orientation to the library; and that planning for these visits should be done in advance by contacting the Head of Reference Services at the U of S.
26. That, where schools have computer labs and modems, at least one teacher take responsibility for teaching the students how to use Infoaccess from the University of Saskatchewan, subsequent to the tour of the facilities.

8. Additional Comments

Aberdeen Composite School

Question 12 - Do you have any additional comments you would like to share?

- I feel that Wheatland should seriously take a look at their books. Some people I know have been charged with overdues that have been false.
- You lose interest in libraries after a while (age 16).
- I like the book mobiles. They provide quite good reading material for us in rural areas.
- I think the book mobile is a good idea, but it needs to have newer books.
- When does it come? I can't tell because there is no notice.
- Get a machine to make signing out books faster. If you get behind someone who is signing out 50 books, you have to wait a long time.
- I think every town should get a permanent branch library so everyone can read... not just students.

Allan Composite School

Question 12 - Do you have any additional comments you would like to share?

- Yes, sorry I was surveyed because I hardly ever read and never go to the library so I am not much use to your survey (age 18).
- Not really. I just don't read much, but the school library has good magazine selections (age 17).
- The rules are stupid. Why do teachers assign topics if the books are not in the library? If you have a school project, you usually don't find the right books here (age 17).
- This was fun and very helpful for me (age 16).
- I'm not much help because I don't go to either library much. When I read I get books from the city because no books around here appeal to me (age 15).

Clavet Composite School

Question 12 - Do you have any additional comments you would like to share?

- I hope somebody will listen to what we say. Most adults are too busy to pay attention to us.
- Please stop at our school (4).
- I like to go to the library and just rewarding even if I don't sign anything out.
- I like going to the Wheatland.
- I feel that limiting books to the people is degrading. You are discriminating against the people in the country. You are limiting our education. And from that I get the impression that the city people's education is more important. Personally, I feel that people should open their eyes and see that, if people weren't limited to what they could or could not take out, and didn't have any restriction on them, then more people would use the library. Also, I feel that the book mobile should be made more accessible. It should stop at the school too. I have nothing against the library, just some of its policies and regulations against people who live in the country.

Colonsay Composite SchoolQuestion 12 - Do you have any additional comments you would like to share?

- I think that our school libraries should be geared more towards new non-fiction resources for projects, reports, etc., rather than recreational reading. The Wheatland should be geared towards recreational reading because of the time it takes to order in books. I prefer the Saskatoon Public Library System.
- The Wheatland Library is good for this community. It is open in the summer time, when I usually take out books, whereas the school library is not.
- I feel that the library is a good place to broaden your reading ability.
- The library is good, but I am just too lazy to go down there and get a book and read it.
- I think the libraries are all very good. If you could order books from the school library, it would be more convenient.
- The Wheatland Regional Library could have more current material.
- I like the Branch Library the way it is now.

Hanley Composite SchoolQuestion 12 - Do you have any additional comments you would like to share?

- I like how they have a modern way of looking up books.
- I live in Dundurn, therefore it makes it hard for me to go to Hanley Library whenever I feel like it. If there was one in Dundurn, I would probably go more often.
- I don't go to Wheatland Library because I don't think it has more information than the school library.
- I utilize the school library quite regularly, but never use the town library.

Summary

The responses directly from students provide a glimpse of their perceptions and expectations of library services in the school and in the Branch or Mobile Libraries provided through Wheatland Regional Library.

From this information, a series of recommendations has been presented to involved WRL staff, school system administrators, Principals, Teacher-librarians, and teachers. Using these guides, new links can be forged between the two services - school and regional - to make it possible to develop both the skills and the attitudes of life-long learners.

Summary of the Recommendations

1. That the teachers be approached to discuss the kinds of research projects that are being given which would merit the use of resources outside both the home and school.
2. That the school staff be encouraged to provide opportunities for all students to become WRL members.
3. That arrangements be made for all students to go the Branch or Mobile Library in an organized manner, during school hours, to search for materials for their research projects (especially in the senior years).
4. That teachers of students aged 10 to 15 years be encouraged to find ways to introduce their students to the Branch or Mobile Library systematically in the fall term on an annual basis, and that opportunity be presented for non-members to join the WRL.
5. That a WRL representative - Central Branch and/or Local Branch - attend a school meeting to answer student and teacher questions about obligations for membership and the privileges attached to same.
6. That the Director of Education and Principal give consideration to evaluating the perceived reluctance to reading and use of libraries by the senior students to determine if skills in reading may be a root cause, or if there are other critical factors.
7. That the Director of Education and Principal give consideration to initiating a project with the Literacy Coordinator from Prairie West Community College to gain access to PALS (Principles of the Alphabet Literacy System) from IBM, available from the Warman office, for use with students with learning deficits, or with a similar program of equal quality and flexibility.
8. That WRL staff address the issue of providing member registration information to all schools in the Division every fall.
9. That programs such as Read Canada, Sask. Literacy Network and the school's remedial programs be used to encourage both children and adults to become life-long readers.
10. That, when collections are developed for these Branch and Mobile Libraries, attention needs to be given to a discrete balance between personal general reading and school assignments.
11. That, when teachers are willing and able to provide project or assignment outlines in advance, or when they are willing to meet with the Branch Librarian to plan the projects cooperatively, every effort should be made to provide thematic display collections to support the preplanning process.

12. That, where there is both a School Librarian and a Branch Librarian in the same community, efforts be made to develop close working liaisons in the exchange of information about forthcoming programs, sharing of assignment and planned project notes, and putting in place a system for handling Special Book Title Requests from the school to the Branch Library.
13. That School Library and Branch Library staff review the student identified topics where they couldn't find material, to prioritize them within the scope of their collection development plan.
14. That the school and branch librarians consider these lists to develop displays, exhibits, bibliographies or other promotional materials on these topics during the year as resources are acquired, and in response to student's identified topics of interest.
15. That the Specific Book Request service needs to be promoted to both students and teachers in all the schools.
16. That the teachers have an opportunity to experience success using the microfiche at the Branch Library, and from it to submit specific book titles.
17. That students doing research be encouraged to use the microfiche catalogue to request specific titles on a more frequent basis.
18. That all clients be made aware of the lead time needed to obtain materials on inter-branch-library loan.
19. That teachers be encouraged to provide unit outlines to both the School and Branch Librarians six (6) weeks in advance of giving the assignments to the students.
20. That teachers be encouraged to subdivide the assignment into topics appropriate to the student ability level so that a wider range of resources might be accessible.
21. That teachers be made aware of books with cassettes for most age groups.
22. That the Director of Education and Principal be invited to discuss these suggestions for ways to make the School Library a better place, and to prioritize them according to system directions for programs and funding.
23. That feedback be provided to the students and/or Student Council respecting their ideas, inviting them to offer suggestions on how some of these needs can be addressed jointly with the Administration.
24. That the suggestions for both Branch and School Library improvement be addressed jointly by WRL and SE personnel to see if collaborative action can be taken to fill these needs.

25. That teachers of grade 11 and 12 classes be encouraged to schedule field trips to the University of Saskatchewan in November to have the Reference Services Unit provide a systematic orientation to the library; and that planning for these visits should be done in advance by contacting the Head of Reference Services at the University of Saskatchewan.
26. That, where schools have computer labs and modems, at least one teacher take responsibility for teaching the students how to use Infoaccess from the University of Saskatchewan, subsequent to the tour of the facilities.
