ABSTRACT

The Michigan State Data Center Program, a source of statistical information on the people of Michigan and its economy, creates custom products and mapping profiles from its deposit of major decennial, economic, and agricultural products from the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The Michigan State Data Center Program is an umbrella organization enhanced by a statewide network of 41 affiliates representing academic institutions, city/state agencies, community organizations, councils of government, libraries, and planning commissions. This document provides information about the participating agencies. Organized alphabetically by city, the entries uniformly give address, phone and fax numbers, hours of service, key staff, typical clientele, and any possible search fees. An appendix lists contacts and addresses for other census resources, including the U.S. Bureau of the Census, 6 Michigan census depository libraries, and 29 depository libraries not affiliated with the Michigan State Data Center. INTRODUCTION

This Directory is prepared and published as one of the Library of Michigan's objectives outlined in the Joint Statistical Agreement with the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Comments and suggestions about the Directory should be forwarded to the Library of Michigan.

Where to go?

For statistical information on the people of Michigan and its economy, the Michigan State Data Center Program is an excellent source. Participating agencies geographically cover the state and handle thousands of requests each for year for data and data analysis. Requests come from state agencies, businesses, researchers, students and community groups all over the state. The MSDCP creates custom products and mapping profiles from its deposit of major decennial, economic and agricultural products from the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Who can help?

The Michigan State Data Center Program is an umbrella organization with a Lead Agency: Michigan Information Center (in the Demographic and Statistics Unit of the Michigan Department of Management and Budget); and two Coordinating Agencies: Library of Michigan and the Michigan Metropolitan Information Center - MIMIC (in the Center for Urban Studies, Wayne State University). The Program is enhanced by a statewide network of forty-one affiliates representing diverse assortment of public agencies. They are as follows:

Academic institutions	3
City/state agencies	2
Community organizations	2
Councils of government	3
Libraries	15
Planning commissions	16

All Michigan State Data Center Program agencies routinely fill requests for population, housing or economic statistics. By prior arrangement, many affiliates can supply custom reports using Census Bureau data and locally collected information. Since fees may be charged for custom reports, users should request a quote.

How to use this directory:

This directory will enable you to locate the nearest participating agency, determine the hours of service and identify key staff. The Table of Contents (page 2) lists each agency in alphabetical order. To find an agency in a particular city, turn to the Directory itself.

Other Census Resources can be found in a special section following the Directory. This section includes, the Regional Census Center, the information section of the Detroit Field Office, and participants in two related library networks: Bureau of the Census depository libraries and U.S. Government Printing Office depository libraries.
