INTRODUCTION

The 1996 session of the General Assembly began January 10, 1996, and ended March 11, 1996. More than 2,700 bills and resolutions were considered during the regular session. The General Assembly considered approximately 120 bills and resolutions related, either directly or indirectly, to higher education including academic and student issues; bonds, budgets, and procurement issues; boards, councils, and commissions; decentralization; technology; tuition and financial aid issues; and others.

The Council of Higher Education requested three bills as a result of a review of its responsibilities. These bills include: HB322/SB207, which removes from the Code the Council's responsibility for coordinating continuing education efforts at the institutions; HB626/SB372, which clarifies the statutes related to the issue of domicile; and HB1146/SB591, which reorganizes and clarifies the statute governing the approval of certain post-secondary institutions.

Several other bills and resolutions resulted from recommendations made by the Commission on the Future of Higher Education (SJR139 - Chichester), including HB322 which deals with the elimination of duplicative programs, HB796/SB407 which requests the Council to coordinate educational programs for institutional governing boards, HJR119/SJR43 which requests a study of community college funding; and HJR133/SJR65 which requests a plan for increased autonomy for the public colleges and universities.

A number of bills and resolutions did not pass or were vetoed by the Governor, but indicate areas of interest to various legislators. These bills include HB837/SB620 which would have allowed George Mason University to create a separate corporation, HB927/SB295 which dealt with surplus property, and HJR218 which requested a study of faculty teaching time.

Finally, a number of bills and resolutions were carried over to the 1997 session. These items must be acted on by the appropriate committee no later than December 20, 1996, to be eligible to be considered during the 1997 session. These bills include HB628 which would suspend certain professional licenses of persons whose student loans are in default, and HB1261 which deals with the issue of higher education enrollment data.

The 1996 General Assembly assigned a number of responsibilities to the Council of Higher Education, which were either studies or additional oversight and coordinating activities. These responsibilities are found in both the Appropriations Act and in various bills and resolutions and include reporting on institutional restructuring plans and faculty evaluation plans as well as helping to set up institutes for the technology training of K-12 teachers, administrators, and librarians.

On the budget side, higher education received a strong endorsement during the 1996 legislative session. Both the Governor and the General Assembly added significantly to funding for higher education in the 1996-98 biennium. General fund operating budget appropriations increased by $202 million, or 13 percent, over the base appropriation.

The additional state appropriations made it possible for the General Assembly to freeze tuition increases for Virginia undergraduate students for the next two years. As a result, Virginia's tuition ranking among the states will improve significantly. For example, tuition at Virginia's comprehensive institutions should drop from 2nd in the nation to 5th.

The additional general fund appropriations provide substantial increases for faculty and staff salary increases, for advanced computing and other equipment, and for general operating support. In terms of state appropriations per student, Virginia's relative ranking among the states should improve from its current rank of 43rd. The General Assembly also approved a $174 million capital outlay program to renovate existing buildings and construct new ones.

The following report summarizes higher education-related legislation and appropriations resulting from the 1996 legislative session. It addresses issues affecting all of Virginia higher education as well as those specifically affecting the Council of Higher Education.

Plan: Broad Strategic Plan for Next Six Years

Due: Prior to 1998 Session

In consultation with the presidents of the colleges and universities, the Council of Higher Education should begin to prepare a broad, strategic plan of how it sees the system developing over the next six years. This plan should be revised periodically as part of an ongoing strategic planning process. The plan should include where additional enrollment growth is expected; what kinds of new programs, campuses, and technology based delivery systems are anticipated; how the faculty and staff of the institutions will change; and what kinds of financial commitments state government should anticipate in order to keep our system of higher education among the best in the nation.

We recommend that the Council of Higher Education be directed to begin this planning process, addressing these and such other future developments as it deems appropriate. It should present its first report to the Governor and the General Assembly in advance of the 1998-2000 biennium and revisions each biennium thereafter so they can be taken into consideration in formulating policy and budget for higher education.

1996-1998 HIGHER EDUCATION APPROPRIATIONS

1996-98 APPROPRIATIONS

For budgetary purposes, the operations of an institution of higher education are normally separated into four categories: Educational and General Programs, Financial Assistance for Educational and General Services, Student Financial Assistance, and Auxiliary Enterprises.

Educational and General Programs include the instructional, research, and public service programs of an institution as well as the necessary academic support, institutional support, student services, and physical plant maintenance and operation.

Financial Assistance to Educational and General Services includes those aspects of the Educational and General Programs which usually are funded from non-state sources, primarily the federal government and private foundations. Sponsored research is the major activity within this group.

Student Financial Assistance are funds appropriated for scholarships and fellowships.

Auxiliary Enterprises are operated by an institution to provide non-educational services to students, faculty, staff, or the general public. Typical self-supporting enterprises include residence halls and food services

1996-98 OPERATING BUDGET APPROPRIATIONS

Biennial general fund appropriations for higher education Educational and General Programs total $1.9 billion under the budget approved by the 1996 General Assembly. This represents about a 15 percent increase over 1994-96 general fund appropriations for Educational and General Programs. Biennial general fund appropriations for colleges and universities now make up 11.7 percent of total state general fund operating expenses, compared to 11.4 percent in 1994-96.

For the first time in seven years, the budget of the Commonwealth provides substantial increases for faculty and staff salary increases, for advanced computing and other equipment, and for general operating support. The additional general fund appropriation will make it possible for colleges and universities to hold tuition for undergraduate Virginia students at 1995-96 levels for the next two years.

The General Assembly gave institutions authority to collect additional tuition revenue from enrollment growth and tuition increases for students other than Virginia undergraduates. Institutions can use this additional revenue to meet salary obligations, to make technology improvements, and to advance restructuring plans. Biennial nongeneral fund appropriations for higher education Educational and General Programs for 1996-98 total $1.7 billion, a 7 percent increase over 1994-96.

Salary Increases

For 1996-97, the General Assembly provided salary increases of 4 to 6 percent, depending on an institution's relative ranking to its peers, for instructional faculty, part-time faculty, and graduate assistants, and 4 percent for administrative and professional faculty. In 1997-98, the General Assembly provided an additional 2 percent increase for all categories of faculty. Faculty salary increases are conditioned on an institution having satisfactory faculty evaluation plans. For classified employees, the General Assembly appropriated funds for a 4.35 percent increase in 1996-97 and a 2 percent increase in 1997-98. All salary increases are effective December 1 of the respective year.

The General Assembly also moved forward by two weeks the payroll dates of state employees. Between January 1997 and August 1997, the payroll dates are moved forward about one day per month. At the end of the transition period, payrolls will have been moved from a prospective system to a retrospective system, where employees are paid for a prior period actually worked.

Staffing

The General Assembly added 833 positions to the staffing for Educational and General Programs for a total of 28,600 positions. Additional positions were provided for base adjustments, new facilities, enrollment growth, and institution-specific initiatives.

Equipment Trust Fund Lease-Purchase Payments

The General Assembly provided $9.2 million for lease-purchase payments for technology and equipment purchased through the Equipment Trust Fund. These lease-purchase payments will allow institutions to purchase $79.3 million in new equipment during the 1996-98 biennium. Institutions are expected to spend a significant part of their Equipment Trust Fund allocation on new technology to improve instruction and administration.

The General Assembly also moved $28.6 million in general fund appropriations for equipment lease-purchase payments out of a central account and into the institutions' Educational and General Programs appropriations. These amounts represent lease-purchase payments on equipment purchased through the Equipment Trust Fund prior to the 1996-98 biennium.

Virtual Library

The General Assembly appropriated $5 million for the public academic libraries to continue and expand the virtual library project. The appropriation will be used for electronic subscriptions and data bases, to digitize institutions' collections, to purchase additional computer workstations, and to expand interlibrary loan support.

Nonpersonal Services

The General Assembly added $25.8 million for the maintenance, software, and training associated with new technology and equipment. It also increased nongeneral fund appropriations to make technology improvements.

Institution-Specific Issues

The General Assembly added funds to support specific institutional requests, including the Teletechnet program at Old Dominion University, the new engineering program at Virginia Commonwealth University, generalist medical education, equity funding, support costs for new campuses, and other initiatives.

Tuition and Fee Increases

The General Assembly added the following language to the 1996-98 appropriation act: "It is the intent of the General Assembly that there be no increase in tuition and mandatory educational and general fees for Virginia resident undergraduates in fiscal year 1997 and in fiscal year 1998." The General Assembly placed no restrictions on increases to graduate and professional students and nonresident students. Nonresident students are required to pay 100 percent of the average cost of education. However, the Council of Higher Education "may authorize a phased approach to meeting this requirement when, in its judgment, it would result in annual tuition and fee increases for nonresident students that would discourage their enrollment."

The General Assembly added $18.3 million in nongeneral fund authority based on tuition and fee revenues from enrollment growth and tuition increases for students other than Virginia undergraduates. Institutions can use this additional revenue to meet salary obligations, to make technology improvements, and to advance restructuring plans.

Student Financial Aid

The General Assembly added $25,000 in each year for graduate student financial aid at Virginia State University. There were no other general fund increases for student financial aid over 1995-96 levels. The General Assembly appropriated additional nongeneral funds for student financial aid at the University of Virginia, the College of William and Mary, and Virginia Military Institute.

Tuition Assistance Grant Program

The General Assembly increased the appropriation for the Tuition Assistance Grant Program to $47.4 million, a 25 percent increase over 1994-96. The maximum award will increase to $1,750 in 1996-97 and $2,000 in 1997-98. The program serves approximately 12,300 students.

Restructuring

The General Assembly included language on policy and other matters of interest to higher education, including language that directs colleges and universities to submit restructuring progress reports by October 1 of each year of the 1996-98 biennium. Another item states the General Assembly intent that "staffing patterns of the institutions of higher education reflect the objectives of restructuring," and it directs the Council to report to the General Assembly on each institution's staffing patterns and resource allocations.

1996-98 CAPITAL OUTLAY APPROPRIATIONS

The General Assembly provided funding for a significant program of capital outlay: renovations of older buildings, new buildings to accommodate students already enrolled and those to come, and maintenance reserve funding to help maintain buildings.

Virginia College Building Authority

The General Assembly funded 32 educational and general projects with a total value of $163 million from bonds to be issued by the Virginia College Building Authority (VCBA). These projects are referred to as the "21st Century College Trust Fund." Debt service on these bonds will be paid by the state general fund. Included in the 21st Century College Trust Fund is $11 million to construct a teaching and research facility for use by the new School of Engineering at Virginia Commonwealth University.

The General Assembly passed legislation that authorizes the VCBA to issue bonds for both educational and general and auxiliary enterprise (dormitories, dining halls, parking facilities, etc.) capital outlay projects. Debt service on the bonds for auxiliary enterprise projects will be paid by nongeneral funds.

General Fund Projects

The General Assembly provided $5.6 million in general fund for 13 projects and $3.2 million in general fund for planning for seven projects. It also provided $2.2 million from excess bond proceeds of the Virginia Public Building Authority (VPBA) for three projects.

New Campuses

The General Assembly authorized new campuses for the Midlothian Campus of John Tyler Community College, the Fauquier Campus of Lord Fairfax Community College, the Virginia Beach Campus of Old Dominion University, and the Stafford Campus of Mary Washington College. The projects at John Tyler, Lord Fairfax, and Mary Washington received a general fund capital outlay appropriation through the 21st Century College Trust Fund. The General Assembly authorized Old Dominion University to enter into a development and lease agreement with the City of Virginia Beach to construct a facility in Virginia Beach.

Maintenance Reserve

The General Assembly provided $31.8 million for maintenance reserve projects and included language that asks the Governor to allocate up to $9.9 million in additional funds for maintenance reserve if revenue collections exceed official estimates. The General Assembly also clarified and broadened the types of projects on which colleges and university may spend maintenance reserve appropriations. They include asbestos abatement and fire protection, energy conservation, and handicapped access projects.

Nongeneral Funds

The General Assembly appropriated $329.4 in nongeneral funds for various projects. Included in the proposed projects are residence halls, health facilities, research facilities, athletic facilities, and parking facilities.

The VCBA legislation passed by the General Assembly would allow institutions to finance most of these nongeneral fund projects through a pooled bond program. This helps institutions obtain a higher credit rating and lower interest rate than they could obtain as individual institutions.

- (1) All appropriations exclude Central Appropriations in the year in which they are appropriated, unless otherwise noted. Central Appropriation adjustments for Financial Aid in 1994-96 are reflected. Appropriations for 1988-90 reflect a 2 percent general fund reversion in 1989-90. Appropriations for 1990-92 reflect all general fund reductions, including those found in Chapter 834 of the 1992 General Assembly. To make them consistent with prior years, appropriations for 1992-94 include relevant Central Appropriations.
 - (2) The decrease in general fund appropriations in 1994-96 reflects changes in federal matching funds for indigent care.
- (3) Funds for the Virginia Work Study Program and the Virginia Teaching Scholarship Program were merged into institutions' discretionary financial aid appropriations in 1994-96.
 - (4) Beginning in 1990-92, this program was transferred from SCHEV to the Department of Education.
- (5) The 1988-90 appropriation included $420,000 to be allocated to a total of seven institutions of higher education for the Virginia Writing Project, and $150,000 to be paid to the Virginia Association of Museums. For 1990-92, the amounts were $149,625 for the Writing Project and $53,437 for the museum association. In 1992-94, the activities of the Center were transferred to the University of Virginia.
- (6) General fund amounts are appropriated in Central Appropriations. In 1996-98, lease payments of $28,635,442 general fund and $4,845,200 nongeneral fund are included in institutions' appropriations.
 - (7) Only the higher education related (student financial assistance) portion of the agency budget is reflected in this summary.
 - (8) General fund amounts are appropriated in Central Appropriations.

Notes:

- (1) Projects are funded from excess bond proceeds of the Virginia Public Building Authority (VPBA). The excess bond proceeds are available as a result of interest earnings on bond proceeds which are expended from the VPBA Construction Fund more slowly than expected.
- (2) The 1996-98 Appropriation Act, Chapter 912, authorizes this project to be financed either as 9 (d) debt under the Virginia College Building Authority (VCBA) pooled bond program or as a lease or lease-purchase financed by the City of Virginia Beach.
