ABSTRACT

This curriculum guide provides information on how a Texas high school for adolescents and adults (ages 15-21) with severe disabilities was able to coordinate the Life Centered Career Education (LCCE) curriculum with Dallas Public Schools district curricula and other best practices. Part 1 discusses why the LCCE curriculum has been adopted and the competency units of the curriculum: daily living skills, personal social skills, and occupational guidance and preparation. The competencies and subcompetencies contained in the LCCE curriculum are listed. Part 2 describes academic excellence indicators and teacher effective indices that can be used for special populations for identifying progress and success in educational performance. Part 3 provides matrices of LCCE and Dallas Public Schools initiatives; LCCE, district curricula, and current best practices; and LCCE and local campus assessment instruments. Part 4 includes blank forms for measuring student progress on individual education plan goals and objectives, lesson plans, and profile and data sheets. Appendices include competencies for the developmental center, work activity center, transition adjustment, total communication, deaf education, and adapted physical education. A campus improvement plan and a list of the national education goals are included. (Contains 27 references.) (CR)

History of E. D. Walker

The E. D. Walker High School (EDWHS) is located at the Ewell D. Walker Special Education Center. E. D. Walker was originally opened in 1972 as one of the Dallas Independent School District's first "middle schools." The Dallas Independent School District now refers to itself as the Dallas Public Schools (DPS). The 142,000 square foot facility was renovated in 1985 to become the Special Education Center. It currently houses the E. D. Walker High School, Cluster 5 Administrative Offices, Early Childhood-Autism Program, the Ruth Turner Technology Wing, and the DPS Special Education Department administrative staff.

The E. D. Walker High School is a school for adolescents and adults ages 15 to 21 with disabilities. It is coordinated by a principal and staff, functioning as an independent unit within the building. The focus of the school is to provide an alternative placement for students with severe handicaps. The students learn daily living, personal-social adjustment, and occupational preparation skills, preparing them to be as independent as possible and to transition to community services after graduation.

Programmatic Remedies

Programmatic Remedies in the DPS were developed to enhance student performance. For EDWHS this is defined as skills required for the students to live as independently as possible. The Life Centered Career Education (LCCE) (Brolin, 1993) curriculum was adopted because it provides a framework from which teachers can correlate competencies with the various DPS required curricula for their students' specific needs. Reading, language arts and mathematics are adapted and are addressed in areas of the LCCE.

Reading is defined for the students at E. D. Walker as the recognition of symbols and functional signs. For example, in the Developmental Center this involves the use of an object-swap system. Objects are used to identify an activity. For example, the picture of a toothbrush indicates the personal hygiene objective of brushing teeth. An object is defined for the student to have meaning. The Work Activity Center program addresses the recognition of functional sight words. Students may learn to recognize the symbol "MEN" to mean the boys' bathroom. Reading at some level is essential for all students to communicate, live with others, and to live independently.

E. D. Walker High School (EDWHS)

Mission and Programs

The E. D. Walker High School provides six (6) special education program components. The mission of the E. D. Walker High School is to provide an alternative placement for students with severe handicaps in the Dallas Public Schools. This will be accomplished by providing the following:

1. Instruction to assist each student to progress in independent living skills and vocational readiness skills to reach his/her current developmental level.
2. A safe, nurturing environment for instruction.
3. Involvement of students, parents, community resources, and Dallas Public Schools staff in comprehensive planning for each student's school and post-school learning programs.

The school motto is "TRANSITION TO INDEPENDENCE."

Developmental Center (DC)

The Developmental Center (DC) serves profoundly handicapped students who function at an early developmental age. The instructional program provides training in areas such as self-help, motor and language development, independent living, and vocational skills (See Appendix A for a curriculum outline.).

Work Activity Center (WAC)

The Work Activity Center serves students ages 16 to 22. Daily living, personal-social adjustment, and occupational preparation skills continue to be taught, but work production becomes the central focus of the curriculum. Fully certified by the U. S. Department of Labor, the WAC is allowed to pay students on a piece-rate basis. Contract work is provided by North Texas Rehabilitative Services, Inc. and local businesses. Students are staffed into work production from 2 to 5 hours daily, depending upon their ages and abilities, (See Appendix B for a curriculum outline.).

Total Communications (TC)

The Total Communications classes serve autistic students with disorders in the areas of affect, relating, cooperation, and language. This program assists the students in the development of a system of communication as well as mastery of basic skills areas (See Appendix C for a curriculum outline.).

Transitional Adjustment Program (TAP)

The Transitional Adjustment/Intensive Transition classes serve students who are in transition from mental health agencies and who cannot function on the regular campus. The curriculum emphasizes the Dallas Public School's (DPS) Learner Standards and transitions students into a work-study program or to a return to a least restrictive environment as appropriate (See Appendix D for a curriculum outline.).

Deaf Education (DE)

The Deaf/Hearing Impaired program at EDWHS provides an emphasis in the area of transitioning to the community. Academic subject areas are taught with emphasis on survival skills, deaf culture, and work ethics necessary to live in society either independently or in a group setting. Deaf students may be placed in the work production area of the Work Activity Center which teaches and supports skills and attitudes which are necessary for entry into competitive employment. A certified teacher of the deaf and a sign language interpreter provide the specialized skills to team with the special education staff in order to meet the needs of this unique population. (See Appendix E for a curriculum outline.).

Adapted Physical Education (APE)

The Adapted Physical Education and regular physical education programs are both available to E. D. Walker students. The relationship of adapted physical education to the educational environment depends on the individual's diagnosis and handicapping condition. The adapted physical education specialist is responsible for the diagnosis of developmental motor delays, prescription of remedial activities, and implementation of model remedial activities (See Appendix F for a curriculum outline.).

Campus Improvement Plan (CIP)

The Campus Improvement Plan is the road map for the school. It has been developed with input from staff, parents, and a review of current "best practices." The Walker School CIP incorporates the Life Centered Career Education Curriculum (Brolin, 1993) and commercial tests of adaptive and vocational behaviors. The CIP is revised annually and is available in every teachers room and the principal's office. The CIP Objectives are listed in the appendix. Other best practices at EDWHS are supported in related professional literature (Brolin, 1993; Brolin 1981; Campbell & Essex, 1994; Colond & Wieseler, 1995; Ford, et. al., 1989; Gumpel, 1994; McCarron, et. al., 1982; Power, 1984; Schleien, et. al., 1995; Smith, et. al., 1995; Smith & Polloway, 1995; and Smith & Puccini, 1995.).

School Community Council (SCC)

The SCC is the local school body which addresses the Texas Education Agency (TEA) mandate for Site-Based Decision Making and School Centered Education. The SCC has input on the CIP and insures input from all the constituents (consumers) of services from the E. D. Walker High School. The SCC has 12 members and meets monthly.

Multi-Cultural Infusion

Multi-Cultural Infusion (MCI) is an important target established by the Dallas Public Schools. MCI targets in the Local Campus Improvement Plan insure that diversified race and cultures are addressed. The LCCE curriculum specifically provides lesson plans for MCI. The school calendar, lesson plans, and school committee agendas show school and classroom activities related to MCI.

PART I

Life-Centered Career Education (LCCE) Curriculum

The LCCE Curriculum (Brolin, 1976) has been adopted for use for the following reasons: 1) it is currently a "best practice" and nationally recognized in the field of special education; 2) it is a vocational curriculum and meets the needs of our special population; and 3) it is an "inclusion" curriculum because its final goal is the transition of students to cope in the community at large.

The LCCE provides a complete approach to prepare the student for productive and successful transition to community life and work. The LCCE curriculum is divided into three broad competency units: Daily Living Skills, Personal Social Skills, and Occupational Guidance and Preparation.

Daily Living Skills

Nine different competencies are identified in this curriculum area. Each competency is focused on teaching the student to manage a home, family and finances as effectively as possible. Reading, math and science are academic subjects covered in Daily Living Skills. For example, reading involves identifying the correct food item for a recipe, math utilizes measuring the ingredients accurately, and science may address understanding the reaction heat has on cake batter. Each competency is designed to help the student live as independently as possible, whether he/she is living at home or on his/her own. Daily Living Skills are addressed in Campus Improvement Plan Objectives 4I, 4b, and 4c.

Personal-Social Skills

Personal Social Skills are developed within seven different competencies. Each competency is focused on developing skills that will help the student to adjust within a community. Independence, self-confidence, socially acceptable behaviors and maintaining personal friendships are four targets of this curriculum area. Social Studies are adapted to meet the needs of the students served at E. D. Walker High School. Physical Education and Art help to support the development of personal social skills. Personal Social Skills are addressed in the Campus Improvement Plan Objectives 4d, 4e, and 4f.

Occupational Guidance and Preparation

Six competencies address the needs of occupational awareness and counseling, work evaluation, work adjustment, vocational education, job tryouts, job placement, and follow up. The curriculum assists the teacher and student through the process of exploring job possibilities, making choices and preparing to follow through on that choice. Occupational Guidance and Preparation are addressed in the Campus Improvement Plan Objectives 5a, 5f, and 4f.

The competencies and sub competencies contained in the LCCE curriculum are listed below (Brolin, 1993, pp. 12-13). The LCCE competencies have been reproduced here for local campus use only. The late Dr. Brolin as been a consultant to the EDWHS and Dallas Public Schools (DPS) Special Education programs. Distribution of this document out of this facility will have only a reference to the LCCE curriculum, which is published by the Council for Exceptional Children.

PART II

Academic Excellence Indicators and Teacher Excellence Indicators for Special Populations

Dr. William A. Quinones, Ph.D.

Academic Excellence Indicators (AEIs) were established by the Texas Education Agency for the purpose of identifying progress in educational performance. In addition, the Dallas Public Schools has adopted Teacher Effective Indices [TEI] for measuring success in student performance. AEIs and TEIs have not been clearly defined for handicapped (mentally and physically challenged) populations. Proposals have been made to DPS administrators and the DPS Research and Evaluation Department to examine the AEIs established for the Walker program.

In the Fall 1994 semester, the Work Activity Center was used for the pilot project to establish AEIs for secondary special education populations. The staff examined tests related to the program (LCCE and other curricula) to determine which tests would do the following: 1) relate to instructional goals of the program, 2) measure individual progress, 3) show program progress, 4) show individual progress from evaluation period to evaluation period, and 5) demonstrate that standardized tests, are available which can be used as AEIs for secondary special education population. In the Fall 1995 semester, selected tests were used with all instructional programs at the school.

The following tests have been used and are available for use: Achieving Behavioral Competencies (ABC) (McCarron, Fad, & McCarron, 1992), Adaptive Behavior Scale-Residential and Community 2 (ABS-RC2) (Nihira, Leland, & Lambert, 1993), Behavior Rating Scale (BRS) (Dial, 1973), Observational Emotional Inventory (OEI) (McCarron & Dial, 1986), Survey of Functional Adaptive Behavior (SFAB) (Dial, Mezger, Massey, Carter, & McCarron, 1986), and the Street Survival Skills Questionnaire (SSSQ) (Linkenhoker & McCarron, 1986). The San Francisco Vocational Competency Scale (SFVCS) (Levine & Elzey, 1968) has been added as a specific tool to assess work behaviors.

In summary, data has been used successfully in planning for ability level placements within the Work Activity Center for the 1995-96 school year. The final Spring 1995 pilot testing using the ABC, ABS-RC2, OEI, SFAB, SSSQ, and BRS were completed in May, 1995. The Local Campus Testing Program for 1996-97 has continued to show that AEIs and TEIs can be established for secondary special education populations at this facility.

PART III

LCCE Matrices

The LCCE, DPS initiatives, DPS curricula, current best practices, and assessment matrices have been developed for the following reasons:

- 1) To show how each program goal relates to DPS and local special education practices.
- 2) To correlate “best practices” with DPS and special education instructional goals.
- 3) For teachers to assist in the development of established local Academic Excellence Indicators (AEI) for the program (i.e., standardized measures of student progress).
- 4) To develop teacher effectiveness indicators for special populations.

Various curricula used in the DPS special education department are not excluded but incorporated into this model. These various locally developed curricula address the following programs:

- 1) Developmental Center, serving students with severe to profound mental and physical handicapping conditions,
- 2) Work Activity Center, serving students with moderate mental and physical handicapping conditions,
- 3) Total Communications, serving students with autism,
- 4) Deaf Education, serving students with moderate to severe disabilities handicapping conditions and hearing impairment,
- 5) Intensive Transition Class (ITC), serving students who are in transition from mental health agencies and who cannot function on the regular campus.

The DPS ABCD core curriculum will be included in the matrix when the completed version is released. Additional curricula are integrated into the individualized instructional plans The Boys Town Classroom Social Skills Curriculum (Father Flanagan’s Boys’ Home, 1995) . The Syracuse Community - Referenced Curriculum Guide (Ford, A., Schnorr, R., Meyer, L., Davern, L., Black, J., & Dempsey, P., 1989) and the Street Survival Skills Curriculum (McCarron, L., Cobb, G., & Barron, P., 1982) are used in all programs under the framework of the LCCE to provide a comprehensive program.
