ABSTRACT

Many adolescents need basic health care and other services that address risky behaviors such as sexual activity, violence, alcohol and drug abuse, and the consequences of these behaviors. This publication summarizes laws and resolutions on adolescent health issues passed in 1997 state and territory legislative sessions. No 1997 legislative session was held in Kentucky; therefore, adolescent health legislation from this state is not included. Nor was any legislation related to adolescent health passed in 1997 in American Samoa, the District of Columbia, Guam, New Mexico, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Wyoming. Brief descriptions of laws are provided pertaining to the following topics: (1) abortions; (2) abstinence, sexuality education, and pregnancy prevention; (3) adolescent general health; (4) community health, including immunizations; (5) HIV/AIDS; (6) insurance; (7) Medicaid; (8) mental health; (9) pregnancy, parenting, contraception, and family planning; (10) school health and school-based health services; (11) sexual conduct; (12) sexually transmitted diseases; (13) substance abuse, including date rape drugs, drinking and driving, penalties, and prevention; (14) tattooing and body piercing; (15) tobacco; and (16) violence prevention. The summary indicates that during the 1997 legislative session teen pregnancy, school health programs, substance

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The National Conference of State Legislatures is indebted to many state legislative staff who identified relevant legislation and sent copies of acts. This publication also includes legislative summaries produced by Lee Sanchez and Jacob Herstek and other members of the Health Policy Tracking Service in NCSL's Washington, D.C. office. Thanks to those individuals and states.

The following NCSL staff dedicated many hours to make this publication possible: Melissa Hough, Tracey Hooker and Louise Bauer edited the summary; Stephanie Wilson created graphs for the executive summary; Joanne Stroud helped with formatting the summary; Marie Baca made numerous phone calls to states and formatted the summary; and Leann Stelzer proofread the summary. Special thanks to Ponnie Kendell, who made numerous calls to clarify appendix information.

The internal illustrations are the creative works of students in grades 7 and 8 at Wood Middle School in Wilsonville, Oregon and Hazelwood Central High School in Florissant, Missouri. Special thanks to educator Ms. Geri Gates for organizing the artwork for our use. Thanks also to Bruce Holdeman of 601 Design Inc., for designing the cover.

This publication is made possible through a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Division of Adolescent and School Health (DASH) (U87/CCU810205).

PREVENTION PROJECTS PROGRAM

The National Conference of State Legislatures works in partnership with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to educate state legislators about the human immunodeficiency virus, prevention of sexually transmitted diseases and adolescent and school health issues. NCSL's Prevention Projects Program serves state legislatures as an information resource and as a forum for communicating with legislative colleagues, experts and government officials around the country.

NCSL encourages legislators and legislative staff from the nation's 50 states, commonwealths and territories to request assistance from NCSL's Prevention Projects Program. These products and services are available at no cost to legislators and legislative staff:

- Information clearinghouse with extensive state and topic files and referral to state contacts and other resources;
- Issue briefs, reports and legislative summaries;
- Testimony for legislative committees;
- Meetings for legislators and state health and education agency directors;
- Internet access to HIV, STD, school health and adolescent health state laws and information; and
- Database of school health funding in the 50 states, commonwealths and territories.

The Health Policy Tracking Service at the National Conference of State Legislatures has a new public web site that provides information on the Internet concerning state policies and legislation on adolescent health, HIV/AIDS, Sexually Transmitted Diseases, welfare reform and immigrants, youth access to alcohol and underage drinking. The web site (StateServ.hpts.org) provides current, exclusive information on developments in state legislation, and policies and programs affecting these health and policy topics. Funding for this web site is provided by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and The Ford Foundation.

Adolescent Health—A growing number of America's 30 million adolescents face high risks for substance abuse, violence and sexual activity leading to pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases, including HIV infection. Many adolescent health problems are behavior-related and preventable. The project addresses a number of adolescent health issues including mental health, violence, and alcohol and drug abuse. In addition, the project provides legislators information on state issues and research related to coordinated school health programs. The coordinated school health programs model includes eight components: health education, physical education, health services, nutrition services, health promotion for staff, counseling and psychological services, healthy school environment, and parent and community involvement.

Health Promotion Project—addresses state tobacco issues as they relate to youth access. Youth smoking continues to increase and the state role in prevention and control is critical. The project also addresses physical activity and nutrition issues primarily aimed at state legislators. As elected leaders, state legislators can be effective public role models of healthy behavior.

HIV/AIDS—HIV/AIDS has surpassed accidents, cancer and heart disease as a leading killer of all Americans aged 25 to 44. While the spread of HIV appears to be leveling off, the epidemic is making disturbing inroads in women, adolescents and young gay and bisexual men. Increased knowledge and progress in prevention has stimulated the most recent state legislation. Advances in HIV/AIDS drug treatments compel legislatures to assess funding levels for AIDS drug assistance programs.

Sexually Transmitted Diseases (STDs)—are among the most prevalent infectious diseases in the United States, according to the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases. More than 50 infections and syndromes can be sexually transmitted. Among the most preventable diseases, they affect more than 13 million people throughout the nation annually. Although STDs infect people of every age, background and socioeconomic level, patients under age 25 account for nearly two-thirds of all reported STDs.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The 10 worst influences from the viewpoint of teens aged 14 to 18 are drugs, peer pressure, sex and poor morals, violence, gangs, alcohol, crime, cigarettes, television, and unemployment. Improving the lives of adolescents continues to be a priority in state legislatures. During the 1997 legislative session teen pregnancy, school health programs, substance abuse and tobacco were the top adolescent health issues addressed by state legislatures.

Abstinence Education

Although many teens are not sexually active, more teens today are having sex than in previous decades, according to the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy. In the 1997 legislative session, nine states passed legislation regarding abstinence education programs for teens. Georgia provides funds to ensure the primary emphasis of teen pregnancy education is focused on abstinence. Iowa emphasizes abstinence during adolescent years as the only safe and effective means of avoiding pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. "Chastity Awareness Week" was created in Pennsylvania, and Rhode Island created the Teen Pregnancy Prevention Partnership Act to integrate statewide involvement in a comprehensive abstinence education program.

HIV/AIDS/STDs

A study by the MTV cable network and Yale University found that 53 percent of unmarried respondents said they did not use a condom the last time they had sex, yet 87 percent of young people do not believe they are vulnerable to the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV). According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, HIV infection and AIDS is the sixth leading cause of death among young people between the ages of 15 and 24. Sixteen states passed HIV/AIDS legislation pertaining to adolescents during the 1997 legislative sessions. Illinois appropriated over $11 million for HIV/AIDS education, services, counseling, testing and referral. Tennessee mandates that prison inmates younger than age 21 must undergo HIV testing, unless previously tested, with or without giving consent.

Michigan appropriated $3 million for AIDS education and outreach programs, ensuring that adolescents receive priority for prevention services. According to the American Social Health Association, approximately 12 million new cases of sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) are diagnosed each year in the United States, and 86 percent of those cases occurred in 15- to 29-year-olds. In the 1997 legislative session, six states passed legislation related to STDs and adolescents.

Insurance

In the 1997 legislative session, 19 states passed legislation concerning adolescents and insurance coverage. Pennsylvania, added an additional cigarette tax to be allocated to the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Colorado created the Dental Program Act of 1997 to provide a dental assistance program for youth under age 21who lack dental insurance and are ineligible for Medicaid. In the United States, more than 10 million children are uninsured.

Medicaid

For the past several years, state Medicaid programs--which constitute the better part of the nation's health care safety net for low-income populations--have been moving from traditional fee-for-service to capitated managed care in an effort to control costs. Both voluntary and mandatory enrollment efforts have focused on populations of younger women and children. Twelve states passed legislation concerning Medicaid and adolescents. Arkansas established the ARKids First program, which expands Medicaid eligibility to children 18 and younger whose families have incomes that do not exceed 200 percent of the federal poverty level and currently have no available health coverage. Florida expanded the categories of Medicaid-eligible children for whom a school district could receive reimbursement. Wisconsin created BadgerCare, a program for low-income families that lack employer-sponsored medical insurance.

Mental Health

As many as three million young people may have a serious emotional disturbance that impairs their ability to function appropriately, according to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Nineteen states passed laws addressing mental health issues and youth. Idaho created the Children's Mental Health Services Act to provide mental health services that are individually planned to meet the unique needs of each child and family. Nebraska allows peace officers to take custody of juveniles for mental health reasons. Montana states that minors who are at least 16 years of age can consent to mental health services without the approval of their parents, and West Virginia expands services by enabling minors to benefit from early intervention.

Pregnancy and Parenting

According to the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy, approximately four out of 10 girls become pregnant at least once before age 20. The teen birth rate in the United States is the highest of any industrialized nation. In 1997, 18 states passed legislation addressing teen pregnancy, parenting and contraception. Louisiana appointed a joint committee to study the feasibility of implementing the "Baby Think it Over Program." This program currently is being used by several states as a learning tool for young adults, allowing them to experience hands-on the responsibility of caring for an infant. In New York, $7 million is appropriated to the Department of Health for community health education and outreach to address the pregnancy needs of both adults and adolescents.

School Health/School-Based Health Services

Schools are in a unique position to have a positive effect on the health of 13-to-17-year-olds. During the 1997 legislative session, 25 states passed legislation regarding school health issues. Connecticut Legislature appropriated $175,000 to the Department of Public Health for school-based health centers and school based dental clinics. Missouri appropriated approximately $5,368,764 for the purpose of funding school health grants and related expenses. The Making the Grade project at George Washington University estimates that, as of 1997, more than 1,000 school-based health centers were established in the United States.

Substance Abuse

At least 41 states passed legislation regarding adolescents and substance abuse in the 1997 legislative sessions. Idaho makes it a misdemeanor for anyone over age 18 under the influence of alcohol to transport a child in a vehicle; it is a felony if a child is injured or killed. California encourages parents, school teachers, administrators, law enforcement agencies and community leaders to continue their efforts to provide sober graduation activities. Pennsylvania establishes the Kids Interacting Drug-free Coalition and the Teen Anti-drug coalition and encourages schools to implement these models.

Legislation pertaining to date rape drugs were passed in 16 states during the 1997 legislative session. Nevada increases the penalties for secretly administering date rape drugs with the intent of committing a violent crime, and New Jersey increases the penalties for sexual assault committed with the use of certain substances and criminalizes the sale and possession of "rape drugs."

National Conference of State Legislatures

Tobacco

It is estimated that 18 percent of youth aged 12 to 17 (4.1 million adolescents) were current smokers in 1996. Trends in cigarette use show that the younger the person starts smoking the more likely they are to continue smoking. In the 1997 legislative session, 27 states passed legislation relating to adolescents and tobacco. lowa requires that a driver's license issued to those between the ages of 18 and 21 have the words "under 18" on the face of the minor's license in order to prevent retailers from selling tobacco products to minors. North Carolina requires retail distributors to display a sign stating it is illegal for anyone under age 18 to purchase tobacco products. California created a resolution that would require R.J. Reynolds to conduct 10 years of antismoking education for teenagers. Because vending machines are an anonymous, easily accessible source of cigarettes for adolescents, Arizona, Colorado, Florida, lowa, Montana, South Dakota, Texas and Vermont have created laws in the 1997 legislative sessions that would limit a minor's access to vending machines.

Violence Prevention

According to the Division of Adolescent and School Health at the U. S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), arrest rates for homicide, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault are consistently and substantially higher for young people than for all other age groups. Eleven states created laws in the 1997 session that deal with adolescents and violence and, of those states, California created the most laws —a total of eight— on violence. One law created a program targeted to youth at-risk, and another requires school districts to develop safety plans for their schools and an assessment of school-based crimes and strategies for improving school safety. Oregon requires the Department of Education to establish a two-year pilot program targeted at disruptive students in schools, and Alaska authorizes enforcement of municipal curfew violations and sets punishments that include a fine of up to $250. Based on the 1997 Federal Bureau of Investigation's clearance data, 464.7 arrests were made for violent crimes for every 1,000 youth between the ages of ages 10 and 17.

INTRODUCTION

Adolescent Health Issues: State Actions 1997 summarizes laws and resolutions on adolescent health issues. This publication is the fourth in a series of adolescent health summaries. To avoid duplication, certain adolescent health issues, including juvenile justice and adolescents with developmental disabilities, are not summarized in this publication. Additional information about access and reform, injury prevention, insurance and managed care, Medicaid, preventive and primary care, providers, and adolescents with special health care needs appears in forthcoming: Health Care Legislation 1997. Information about child abuse and neglect, child care and early childhood education, child health, child support enforcement, child welfare, custody and visitation/family support, family law, welfare reform and public assistance, juvenile justice, substance abuse and control, and youth-at-risk appears in forthcoming: Children, Youth and Family Issues: 1997 State Legislative Summary. Both reports will be available from the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL).

Appendix A provides a list of adolescent health legislation from 1992 to 1997. The information contained in the appendix is compiled from this summary and the three previous legislative summaries completed by the Prevention Projects Program at NCSL. Appendix B lists a number of issue-related organizations for reference, and Appendix C provides a list of the adolescent health coordinators of the 50 states and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

In 1997, a legislative session was not held in Kentucky; therefore, adolescent health legislation from this state is not contained in this document. Legislation passed in 1997 related to adolescent health was not identified in American Samoa, the District of Columbia, Guam, New Mexico, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Wyoming.

ABORTION

- AL 1997 Ala. Acts, Act 485 (SB 314) states that any physician or anyone who knowingly performs a partial-birth abortion within the state shall be guilty of a Class C felony. If the mother has not attained the age of 18 at the time of the procedure, the father and the maternal grandparents may in civil action obtain monetary punitive compensation for all injuries, including psychological and physical compensation.
- AK

  1997 Alaska Sess. Laws, Chap. 14 (SB 24) amends the current parental consent requirement and makes consent mandatory for an unmarried unemancipated minor under the age of 17 to get an abortion. The minor must have the consent of a parent, guardian or custodian before an abortion will take place. Establishes the judicial bypass procedure where a minor may petition the court for the authorization of an abortion without the consent of a parent, guardian or custodian.
- 1997 Ga. Laws, p. 142 (SB 357) bans partial birth abortions and fines anyone who performs them up to $5,000 or five years in prison or both. This law does not apply to a partial birth abortion performed to save the life of the mother. At the time of the abortion, if the mother has not yet reached the age of 18, the father and the maternal grandparents may obtain appropriate relief in a civil action suit, including money for all injuries, psychological and physical relief, and statutory damages equal to three times the cost of the partial birth abortion. If the pregnancy resulted from the plaintiff's criminal misconduct or if the plaintiff consented to the abortion, the father and the maternal grandparents will not be able to obtain relief.
- 1997 lowa Acts, Chap. 173 (HB 121) requires that a licensed physician shall not perform an abortion on a pregnant minor until prior notification of at least 48 hours is provided to the parent or a grandparent of the pregnant minor. A physician who performs an abortion must provide notification in person or by restricted certified mail. Describes the court system protocol for the hearing of a minor's petition to override the notification law.
- 1997 III. Laws, P.A. 90-560 (HB 382) states that if the mother has not turned 18 at the time of the abortion, the father of the fetus and the maternal grandparents, may in civil action attain appropriate relief. Exceptions will apply if the pregnancy resulted from the plaintiffs criminal conduct or if the plaintiff consented to the abortion.
- LA 1997 La. Acts, P.A. 933 (SB 1558) amends the law relative to the abortion procedure for minors and clarifies provisions regarding a minor's application for judicial authorization of an abortion. Makes provisions for hearings, delays, determinations, appellate supervisory power and expedition. Clarifies the provisions relating to evaluations, counseling sessions and court notification of parents.
- 1997 R.I. Pub. Laws, Chap. 76 (HB 5159) prohibits partial-birth abortions except to save the life of a mother. If the mother has not reached age 18 at the time of the partial-birth abortion, which is illegal under this section, the father of the fetus and the maternal grandparents can seek appropriate relief. This includes monetary damages for all injuries, psychological and physical relief, and statutory damages equal to three times the cost of the partial-birth abortion.
- 1997 S.C. Acts, Act 11 (HB 3502) adds a section to specify that the father, if married to the mother (under age 18) at the time she receives a partial-birth abortion, and the maternal grandparents of the fetus have a cause of action against the physician or other person unlawfully performing a partial-birth abortion. They may attain appropriate relief, unless the pregnancy resulted from the plaintiff's criminal conduct or the plaintiff consented to the abortion. Such relief includes, but is not limited to, actual damages, punitive damages, psychological and physical relief, reasonable costs and attorney's fees.
- 1997 S.D. Sess. Laws, Chap. 129 (HB 1088) states that, if the mother has not attained the age of 18 at the time of the partial-birth abortion, the father and the maternal grandparents of the human fetus or infant may file a civil action to attain appropriate relief from the physician or person that performed the abortion, unless the plaintiff consented to a partial-birth abortion or the plaintiff's criminal conduct caused the pregnancy. Civil relief includes monetary damages for all injuries and psychological or physical relief.

National Conference of State Legislatures

- SD 1997 S.D. Sess. Laws, Chap. 204 (HB 1087) requires the delivery of a written notice to the parents or guardian of an unemancipated minor. Mandates that no notice is required if any judge of a court of competent jurisdiction shall, upon petition or motion, authorize a physician to perform an abortion if the judge determines the pregnant female is mature and capable of giving informed consent to the proposed abortion.
- VA 1997 Va. Acts, Chap. 708 (SB 1148) grants the juvenile and family courts jurisdiction over a procedure requiring notice to a parent, a person standing in loco parentis, or a duly appointed guardian or custodian of an unemancipated minor prior to performing an abortion upon the minor. Exceptions are provided for suspected cases of abuse and neglect, medically necessary procedures to avert death or impairment of a major bodily function and cases where substantial injury could occur. A penalty provision of a Class 3 misdemeanor is included for performance of an abortion without notification, judicial approval or an exception.

ABSTINENCE/SEXUALITY EDUCATION/PREGNANCY PREVENTION

- AL 1997 Ala. Acts, Act 933 (SB 35) of the 1997 First Special Session appropriates $300,000 for abstinence education programs.
- AR 1997 Ark. Acts, Act 1159 (HB 2206) designates the Department of Health to coordinate interagency efforts for the Unwed Birth Teenage Pregnancy Prevention Program. This program provides ways to reduce unwed births and teenage pregnancies, including abstinence education initiatives, family planning services, a comprehensive media campaign, grants to local communities and program evaluations. State agencies that currently provide services will cooperate with the Department of Health in administering this program.
- GA 1997 Ga. Laws, HR 457 provides funds to ensure that the primary emphasis of teen pregnancy education is focused on abstinence. Ensures that teenagers are taught the social, psychological and health benefits of abstaining from sexual activity. Creates a prevention program that focuses on the importance of self-sufficiency before engaging in sexual activity.
- 1997 Iowa Acts, Chap. 208 (HB 715) appropriates $2,270,000 for community-based adolescent pregnancy prevention programs with the condition that family planning services are funded. Provides for a focus on preventing pregnancies during adolescent years by emphasizing abstinence as the only safe and effective means of avoiding pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. Provides information regarding contraceptive failure.
- OK 1997 Okla. Sess. Laws, Chap. 414 (HB 2170) provides that the Department of Human Services, in conjunction with the state Department of Health and any appropriate federal, state or local entity, will encourage teens in Oklahoma to abstain from sexual activity.
- OR 1997 Or. Laws, SJR 33 encourages the Department of Education to disseminate information about the Best Friends Program, which includes teaching abstinence, goal setting and career planning to girls in grades five 12. Also provides for three teen pregnancy prevention pilot projects to be established.
- PA 1997 Pa. Laws, SR 33 & HR 122 proclaims April 20 April 26, 1997, as "Chastity Awareness Week."
