ABSTRACT

This document presents the strategic plan of Iowa's Board of Regents for the state's three institutions of higher education (and two special schools) for the next five years. Introductory information includes a statement of the document's purpose and overview, and the Board's mission statement, responsibilities statement, vision statement, and values statement. The Board culture statement, which emphasizes governance through delegation, a nurturing environment, academic freedom, and effective service, is followed by organizational charts for the Board, the Board office, and each institution. The following section identifies factors impacting upon the Board and the individual institutions; these include external factors (economic, social, technological, competition for students and faculty, geographic and demographic), and internal factors (institutional environment, students, curricular, facilities/equipment, finances, and faculty/staff). Next, 11 critical factors for success, four key result areas, and nine objectives are specified. Specific strategies and action steps are listed for each of the key result areas, which address quality, access, diversity, and accountability. A chart provides further planning detail, with an action plan for each action step, including responsible persons and timelines. Two appendices provide a chronology of the strategic plan and summary information about each institution. (DB)

It's all about investments.

The people of Iowa have invested their trust in the State Board of Regents. They expect — and rightfully so — that this governing body will guide each of the five Regent institutions and schools in their pursuits to become the best.

In turn, the Regents, along with leaders from each of its five charges — the University of Iowa, Iowa State University, the University of Northern Iowa, the Iowa School for the Deaf and the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School — have invested months of brainstorming, research and assessments to formulate a strategic plan for its institutions. The goal for each school is simple, yet empowering: to become the best enterprise of public education in the United States through the unique teaching, research and outreach programs established for each.

Committing ourselves to providing students with innovative yet practical educations is one of the few investments in life that can be considered virtually risk-proof. The following pages outline, in detail, those investment strategies. With the support of all Iowans, we fully anticipate exceptional returns.

Sincerely,

PURPOSE AND OVERVIEW STATEMENT

The purpose of this booklet is to provide background information and a map for achieving the objectives of the Strategic Plan of the Board of Regents State of Iowa. It is the most comprehensive action-oriented plan the Board has ever developed.

It is the result of a combined and ongoing effort by all nine Regents, the Board Office staff, and the top administrators of the three Regent universities and two special schools. It describes the current Regents system, its' aspirations and how to achieve those goals.

It is geared to objectives for both the current year and as many as five years into the future. And it is influenced by long-standing policies and guidelines from both the Procedural Guide and the Regents' vision for the future.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Board of Regents will be an exemplary model of governance and stewardship of resources of Regent institutions.

The Board establishes, coordinates and advances the individual mission and vision of each Regent institution and strives to meet the educational needs of Iowans in concert with Iowa's other educational institutions.

The Board has the responsibility for assuring effective relations with the various external constituencies of the Board of Regents, and the long-term development of the capacity of the Regent institutions to achieve their missions.

The Board challenges its institutions to become the best enterprise of public education in the United States through the unique teaching, research and outreach programs established for each university and school.

Adopted January 20, 1998
by the Board of Regents

RESPONSIBILITIES STATEMENT

Statutory Expectation

The State Board of Regents was created in 1909 to perform two functions: govern and coordinate the functions of the state institutions under its jurisdiction. Chapter 262 of the Code of Iowa authorizes the Board to “have and exercise all powers necessary and convenient for the effective administration of its office and of the institutions under its control . . .” The Board oversees the State University of Iowa, Iowa State University of Science and Technology, University of Northern Iowa, Iowa School for the Deaf, and Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School as the governing board responsible for the overall operation of the five institutions.

Operational Stewardship

The Board is responsible for the unique role of the Regent universities to provide stewardship for quality teaching, research, and service to the citizens of Iowa, including undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs in a variety of fields. The Board also is responsible for ensuring quality programs for the deaf and visually impaired at the pre-collegiate level. In all areas of responsibility, the Board is responsible for appropriate and effective articulation with other sectors of postsecondary, secondary, and elementary education in the state. In addition, the Board’s responsibilities include ongoing coordination between and among the Regent institutions, and between the Regent institutions and other organizations and agencies responsible for related educational functions. Together with other boards and agencies responsible for aspects of education, such as the Department of Education and the Iowa College Aid Commission, the Board of Regents is responsible for interagency coordination and overall planning for postsecondary and special education in the state. (Board of Regents Minutes, April 12-13, 1989, pp. 721-725.)

In its role as the Board of Trustees for the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics (UIHC), the Board is responsible for reviewing periodic reports on planning, programs, operation, and finance, and for governing the UIHC. As provided in the Bylaws approved for the UIHC, the Chief Executive Officer of the UIHC shall submit through the president of the university reports to the Board of Regents in its capacity as the Board of Trustees for the UIHC at least quarterly. (Board of Regents Minutes, April 21, 1993, p. 717.)

CHRONOLOGY OF STRATEGIC PLAN
State Board of Regents
1997-98

This strategic plan evolved during a series of public planning retreats held by the State Board of Regents between January 1997 and January 1998. Each retreat included board members, outside consultants and board office personnel. (A list of participants at each planning retreat is attached.)

Following are highlights from those sessions:

January 15-16, 1997, University Park Holiday Inn, Des Moines.

The Board of Regents reviewed its previous strategic plan, assisted by William Anthony and Kenneth Boutwell, MGT of America, a Tallahassee, Florida-based consulting firm. The existing plan was modified and changed. Draft statements of the plan's mission, responsibilities, vision, values, culture, objectives and strategies were reviewed. Those modifications include:

---Added emphasis on efforts to raise private funds, especially to support those innovative programs falling outside the categories recognized by government-funded agencies (Original goal 9.0.0)

---Added statement "Contribute to the economic development of the state." (Original goal 11.0.0)

---Added Goal 5: Assure that exemplary systems of accountability are developed and implemented by adding "Improve the flexibility, efficiency and accountability of governance at all levels throughout the system." (Original goal 10.0.0)

October 9-10, 1997, Marriott Hotel, Des Moines.

The goal of this retreat, facilitated by Robert Smith of Strategies and Teams, Inc., was to affirm the statements reviewed at the previous retreat, work on four Key Result Areas (previously termed "goals") and develop measurable objectives, strategies and action steps.

Those in attendance divided into several small working groups, one for each Key Result Area (KRA). Each group then formulated strategies, objectives and action steps to implement the KRAs.

January 20, 1998, Marriott Hotel, West Des Moines.

The board reviewed a revised draft of the plan previously reviewed and adopted by the Organizational Audit Study Group. The board then reviewed each KRA and their related objectives, strategies and action steps, and subsequently adopted each KRA. The board also adopted the strategic planning statements (mission, responsibilities, vision, values and culture). Assisting in this final process were institutional staff, board office staff and Kenneth Boutwell and Dan Layzell, MGT of America, and Robert Smith, Strategies and Teams, Inc.

The University of Iowa

unded by Iowa's first legislature in 1847, The University of Iowa is entrusted with a threefold mission of teaching, research, and public service.

The University's 10 colleges offer graduate and undergraduate degrees in more than 150 areas of study. Iowa's liberal arts tradition and its ever-changing curriculum provide students with the breadth of a classic education and the focus of modern specialties. Iowa's colleges are liberal arts, engineering, graduate, dentistry, business administration, education, law, medicine, nursing, and pharmacy.

Researchers at Iowa attract more than $200 million annually in external support from public, private, and corporate funding sources. Iowa's research prominence is recognized internationally in such areas as space physics, hydraulics, driving simulation, the book arts, medical imaging, the human genome, biocatalysis, public opinion polling, African-American studies, and women's studies.

More than 400 university programs provide service to the state in the areas of health care and disease prevention, economic development, contract research, continuing education, and resources for local government agencies.

The University's 27,800 students hail from all 99 Iowa counties and more than 100 countries.

Iowa's faculty of 1,712 includes teachers and scholars of international renown. Among them are winners of their field's highest awards, practicing artists and writers, and eminent discoverers whose work has pioneered whole new fields of learning. In a typical year, 85 percent of the faculty will have teaching contact with undergraduate students.

More than 13,600 staff members make up a talented and diverse work force that serves the University's broad missions.

The University has awarded more than 250,000 degrees over the past century and a half. Its more than 188,000 living graduates are spread throughout the nation and the world, including nearly 60,000 who live in Iowa.

Each year more than a million visitors come to cheer I-Hawkeye athletic teams, to receive care at University Hospitals and Clinics, and to attend arts events, museum exhibits, and continuing education courses. In addition, popular University sites on the World Wide Web, including the innovative Virtual Hospital, attract millions of virtual campus visitors.

The University operates on an annual budget of more than $1.2 billion. Less than a fourth of its revenue comes as general education fund support from the state. The remainder is a combination of federal and corporate grants, tuition and fees, fees for services, and private support.

The University's general education fund receives the largest portion of the state appropriation, which in 1997 totaled $282 million. Tuition revenues account for approximately 30 percent of the general education fund.

In the fall of 1997, TIME magazine placed the University of Iowa in an elite group of seven schools in the nation recognized in its 'best school for you' category. Also in the fall of 1997, U.S. News & World Report ranked Iowa as the 15th best public university in the country. Likewise, the Fiske Guide to Colleges, Money magazine, and Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine have all ranked the University as one of the nation's best values in higher education.

Iowa State University

Iowa State University was created by the Iowa General Assembly in 1858 as the Iowa Agricultural College and Model Farm. It was designated Iowa's land-grant institution in 1864 and held its first classes in 1869. It was renamed the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts in 1898 and became Iowa State University of Science and Technology in 1959.

Iowa State has the distinction of being the nation's first chartered land-grant university, and the first land-grant university to admit women. It's where the first electronic digital computer was built, where the Cooperative Extension Service and Agriculture Experiment Station systems were born, and where plant scientist George Washington Carver began his career, earning both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Iowa State. With this rich history, Iowa State continues to carry out a three-fold mission: education, research and outreach.

Iowa State's nine colleges are: Agriculture, Business, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences, Liberal Arts and Sciences, Veterinary Medicine, and the Graduate College. More than 100 undergraduate majors, numerous pre-professional programs and nearly 200 fields of study leading to graduate and professional degrees are available to ISU students. Nearly 5,000 students earn degrees at Iowa State each year.

Iowa State is a Carnegie Foundation "Research I" university, with particular strengths in the biological and physical sciences. It ranks second among all universities in the number of R&D magazine's "R&D 100" awards (18) for technology innovation, third in licenses and options executed on its intellectual property, and fifth in patents received. It is home to the Ames Laboratory of the U.S. Department of Energy; C2, one of the world's most advanced computer virtual reality rooms; and seven faculty who are members of the National Academy of Science or National Academy of Engineering.

Iowa State holds title to more than 300 active patents, including patents that have led to the creation of new companies, such as Engineering Animation Inc.; new products, such as LoSatSoy and an environmentally friendly corn gluten-based lawn herbicide; and new devices, including one that could lead to breakthroughs in the fight against cancer and AIDS.

More than 25,000 students attend Iowa State, representing every state in the U.S. and nearly 125 other nations. Iowa State ranks sixth among all public universities in the U.S. in the number of new National Merit Scholars. It is one of Yahoo! Internet Life magazine's top 100 "wired" universities, one of 14 colleges and universities in the nation recognized for a high quality of student life, and the nearly 1,800-acre campus has been rated as one of America's 25 most beautiful campuses. With nearly 500 clubs and organizations and extensive university, residence hall and Greek governing systems, Iowa State offers students thousands of opportunities to pursue leadership growth and development.

Iowa State has one of the highest rates in the nation for student participation in intramural and recreational activities. A member of the prestigious Big 12 Conference, Iowa State's teams consistently rank among the top third in the conference in overall competition and lead the conference in graduation rate of student-athletes.

University of Northern Iowa

The University of Northern Iowa, considered to be one of the top 10 public comprehensive universities in the nation, is the state's only public university distinguished by its emphasis on undergraduate education. Founded in 1876 as an institution for preparing public school teachers, teaching has been at the heart of UNI's mission ever since. UNI contributes to the development of its students by providing a diverse, dynamic learning environment characterized by excellence in teaching. Small classes enable UNI to foster one-on-one working relationships between faculty and students. More than 90 percent of UNI's classes have 50 or fewer students.

Enrollment stands at 13,108 with students from all 99 Iowa counties, 46 states and 55 countries. UNI's medium size enables it to offer the faculty, facilities and academic choices of a larger university, while retaining a friendly, small college atmosphere. Students choose from 110 undergraduate majors offered through the Colleges of Business Administration; Education; Humanities and Fine Arts; Natural Sciences; Social and Behavioral Sciences. The university also offers complementary graduate programs at the master's, specialist's and doctoral levels. U.S. News and World Report has recognized UNI in recent years by ranking it among the best values, most efficient and number one in academic reputation among comparable universities in the midwest.

UNI is dedicated to providing students learning experiences outside the classroom, providing ways for students to make connections between classroom knowledge and real world experience. Opportunities vary from undergraduate research, internships, cooperative education and student teaching to international study programs. UNI ranks first on the national list of Carnegie-classified master's level universities for its number of students studying abroad. Students supplement classroom learning through more than 180 university-recognized academic, social, recreational and religious organizations. The residence system also contributes to students' learning environment. UNI has been recognized as "school of the year" by the midwest affiliate of College and University Residence Halls for the quality and quantity of social, educational and cultural programming available to residents.

One of the most visible dividends for the state is the partnership UNI has forged with Iowans as they work to diversify and expand the state's economy. UNI's "service to Iowa" programs are an exciting and tangible link between on-campus expertise and the needs of Iowa communities, businesses and industries. These programs include: the Iowa Waste Reduction Center, the Institute for Decision Making, the Metal Casting Center, the Ag-Based Industrial Lubricants Research Program, the Management and Professional Development Center, and the Recycling and Reuse Technology Transfer Center

UNI's campus combines the grandeur of early 1900s architecture with striking, modern buildings that have characterized a particularly impressive growth period during the 1990s. The park-like campus features more than 40 major buildings on 850 acres, 127 of which are preserve acres, yet is compact enough to cross in a 10-minute walk.

The University of Northern Iowa's 19 men's and women's intercollegiate athletics programs compete at the NCAA Division I level in the Missouri Valley Conference (IAA football is in the Gateway Conference). The Panthers regularly are recognized as champions in football, volleyball, track and field and are highly competitive in other conference sports.

UNI's FY 99 budget totals nearly $210 million.

Iowa School for the Deaf

Iowa School for the Deaf (ISD) is a public facility open to all students in Iowa and Nebraska whose hearing loss is too great for them to get along satisfactorily in a neighborhood public school.

Situated on a beautiful 115-acre campus, on the southeastern edge of Council Bluffs, the school's education program is designed to provide successful and satisfying learning experiences that promote balanced intellectual and social growth.

Currently, the Iowa School for the Deaf provides direct instructional services to some 240 students from throughout the state of Iowa. Some 140 of these students receive a significant amount of their educational program on the main campus of the school. The others (100 students) are educated in satellite programs in Lewis Central, Council Bluffs, Missouri Valley and Atlantic. Some 110 students reside in the dormitories of the school.

In the fall of 1998, deaf and hard-of-hearing students from Nebraska will have the option of enrolling at ISD. Already some 30 Nebraska students have been approved for enrollment.

The Iowa School for the Deaf employs approximately 175 staff, with a Full Time Equivalent (FTE) of some 124. A significant majority of the staff are school year employees. There are some 55 faculty, administrators and institutional officials on staff. Approximately 30 staff are in the Professional and Scientific classification series (e.g., registered nurses, residential counselors). We have a food service staff of some seven (7) persons, a housekeeping staff of seven (7) persons, and a power plant/grounds staff of nine (9) persons. Other staff include houseparents (in the dormitories), teacher aides, business office staff, and human resource staff.

The faculty of the Iowa School for the Deaf is basically a veteran one. The average tenure is in excess of 15 years. More than 70% of the faculty have attained a master's degree in their chosen field. All but five have additional national certification, beyond the required state certification. All faculty have certification in deaf education, as well as their teaching area.

The residential program staff of the Iowa School for the Deaf have a tenure average of approximately five years. New staff that have associate degrees in interpreting, four year college degrees, or are deaf themselves constitute the large majority of new hires. A social worker position, residential counselor positions, and a clinical psychologist consultant service are among the services added during the past ten (10) years to address significant mental health concerns among the student population.

The Iowa School for the Deaf has one of the most unique educational programs of any residential school for the deaf in the United States. The uniqueness is directly related to the cooperative endeavors with local school agencies, the regional area educational agency, and the state department of education (K - 12 programming).

Examples of unique, cooperative programming that the School has pursued include: elementary and secondary mainstream programs for our students; a private day care program; the Southwest Iowa Regent Resource Center, the Iowa State University West Pottawattamie County Extension Service, the AEA Manawa Office, the reverse mainstream program at high school level, the high school interpreter program, the off-campus satellite programs, the statewide consultant coordination effort for instructional programs for deaf and hard-of-hearing students, the Student Enrichment Program, the Student Assistance Center, the Southwest Iowa Child Hearing Loss Center, and several special programs funded by local school districts..

The Iowa School for the Deaf was the first school of its kind to acquire accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and the Conference of Educational Administrators Serving the Deaf, while obtaining state status as an approved educational program.

The School provides multiple programming options. Early childhood programming, pre-school programming, elementary school programming, secondary school programming, "mainstream" classes in the local public schools, post secondary early enrollment option programming, reverse mainstreaming, alternative education programming, and an extensive, updated vocational education program, are among the alternatives available to students.

The fiscal year 1998 budget was approximately $7.8 million. Approximately 95% of the budget come from state appropriations. Federal funds are in the form of IDEA allocations, school lunch reimbursements, and special media projects. Approximately 85% of the budget is spent on salaries, and salary related expenditures.

R. Wayne Richey
*Executive Director,
State Board of Regents*

The numbers go beyond impressive.

During Executive Director R. Wayne Richey's 32-year tenure with the State Board of Regents, he:

- advised three different governors
- offered counsel to nearly five dozen Regent board members
- assisted literally hundreds of state lawmakers as they contemplated and created crucial educational legislation
- managed a budget that grew to more than $2 billion today.

Through a multitude of reorganizations, transitions and significant growth, Wayne Richey maintained a steadfast presence that translated into imaginative and dependable leadership for the Board, its staff, and the Regents institutions. The Illinois native drew heavily on his academic training in government and history to fashion an organization that both respected tradition and embraced change. Likewise, his professional background in state budget analysis brought a practical and profitable outlook to the stewardship of valuable Iowa resources.

His achievements were not without recognition. In the mid-1970s, his peers saluted his expertise by voting him national president of the State Higher Education Executive Officers Association. In 1989, the National Governor's Association presented Wayne with the prestigious Distinguished Service Award for Service in State Government. Wayne has also known personal success. He and his wife, Anita, are the parents of four children, and are devoted to their three grandchildren. Some call his a "clan," so loyal are they to one another.

It is hard to envision the Iowa Board of Regents without him. It becomes harder still to imagine the state of Iowa without his unwavering enterprise in educational endeavors. But as he retires from the post that has become synonymous with the name "R. Wayne Richey," the former railroad brakeman imparts a legacy that long will be acknowledged with the highest regard.

They were years that go beyond impressive.
