ABSTRACT

This study, which focused on the 1998-99 school year, addresses dropout rates for individual schools, districts, counties, and the state of Arizona categorized by grade, gender, race/ethnicity, withdrawal type, school-year and summer dropouts, county, and district. The data include actual student enrollment and dropout counts as well as status unknown rates. According to information supplied by local school districts and charter schools, the total statewide student enrollment for academic year 1998-99 was 398,926 students in grades 7-12, including students in ungraded high school classes. Of those students, 35,637 dropped out of school by the end of the academic year, resulting in a statewide dropout rate of 8.9 percent. Of all the high school students reported as dropouts, 8.5 percent were white, 15.4 percent were African American, and 17.6 percent were Hispanic. (SM)

Research and Policy Division Mission Statement

The Research and Policy Division (R&P) is a nonpartisan research arm of the Arizona Department of Education whose mission consists of three major components. First, we are committed to supporting local school districts and charter schools. The R&P division engages in aggressive outreach in order to incorporate local inputs into all of our work. Our goal is to develop a research infrastructure to allow for a proactive approach to researching important educational issues. Second, we endeavor to establish a productive dialogue with policy makers at all levels. Third, we are dedicated to producing quality research. The R&P division is responsible for conducting various program evaluations, independent research studies, and completing mandated reports such as the Dropout Rate Study.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The annual calculation of dropout rates in the State of Arizona results from a cooperative effort between the local school districts, the Arizona Department of Education (ADE), the Arizona State Legislature, and the United States Department of Education. Presently, the emphasis on education reform mandates greater attention to performance measures, such as the dropout rate, which can serve as a key indicator of a school's success in maintaining their student population. This study, which includes the 1998-99 school year, addresses dropout rates for individual schools, districts, counties, and the state categorized by grade, gender, and ethnicity. In addition, the data presented herein includes actual student enrollment and dropout counts, as well as status unknown rates.

* * * * *

For this study, dropout rates are reported for grades 7 through 12 and are based on a calendar year that runs from the first day of summer recess through the last day of school. A school's total enrollment is used as the population figure against which a count of dropouts for that school is compared. Because Arizona law allows school districts five years in which to make necessary corrections to their data, enrollment data reported by districts may not necessarily agree with the enrollment data reported herein.

It is important to note that this particular study produces a "snapshot" of Arizona dropout activity in that it provides information only on students who drop out during one school year. The Graduation Rate Study, however, is a longitudinal study that tracks graduate and dropout activity over a four-year period for a particular cohort of students.

For purposes of this study, dropouts are defined as students who were enrolled in school at any time during the school year, but were not enrolled at the end of the school year and did not transfer to another school, graduate, or die. Summer dropouts are defined as students who were enrolled at the end of the prior school year, failed to enroll at the beginning of the following school year, and did not graduate, transfer, or die during the summer. These students are counted as summer dropouts from the grades in which they were expected to enroll.

General Overview

According to information supplied by local school districts and charter schools, the total statewide student enrollment for academic year 1998-1999 was 398,926 students in grades 7 through 12, including students in ungraded high school classes. Of those students, 35,637 dropped out of school by the end of the academic year, resulting in a statewide dropout rate of 8.9 percent.

Statewide dropout rates for academic years 1995-96 through 1998-99 are shown in Table 1 and Chart 1 below.

INTRODUCTION

The collection of dropout statistics in response to the need for more accurate, comparable, and timely student dropout information involves the cooperative efforts of local school districts, the ADE, the Arizona Legislature, and the United States Department of Education (USDOE). The present emphasis on education reform demands greater attention to performance indicators. Dropout rates in particular are frequently regarded as key indicators of the success or failure of a public school system. Successful school completion has been selected as both a state and a national goal of education reform efforts.

Dropout Data Reporting Requirement and Reporting Period

In 1987, the Arizona Legislature mandated the performance of an annual dropout rate study to measure the success of dropout prevention efforts. All Arizona public school districts and charter schools teaching students in grades 7 through 12 are required to submit dropout data annually. The dropout rate study measures the proportion of students who drop out of school during a twelve-month period, which begins the first day of summer recess and ends the last day of school. Dropout data collected under Arizona law do not meet current federal dropout data definitions and guidelines set forth by the USDOE. Thus, Arizona statistics are not comparable to dropout statistics from other states using the USDOE standards.

Definitions

Enrollment is defined as the total count of students who were enrolled on the first day of summer recess, or at any time during the following school year, and used as the population figure against which dropouts are subsequently counted. Moreover, it is seen as a roster that changes continually (even during the summer months) as students enroll, transfer to other schools, dropout, or graduate. Schools are responsible for monitoring and reporting their enrollment from the end of the prior school year to the last day of the reported school year. Students who are promoted from elementary feeder schools become the responsibility of the schools in which they are expected to enroll.

An unduplicated enrollment count is used to calculate dropout rates more precisely at different levels of analysis. For example, a student who attends High School A in District X has the potential to be a dropout from that school and is counted as one student served at High School A. If that student transfers midyear to High School B, within the same district, the student now gains the potential of being counted as a dropout at that school and is counted as a student served at High School B. However, at the district level, the student should count as only one student served by District X in calculating the district dropout rate. The means of ensuring an unduplicated student count at each level have been built into the enrollment codes used by schools and districts statewide.

Ungraded secondary includes students who are assigned to classes or programs without a standard grade designation.

Dropouts are defined as students who were enrolled in school at any time during the school year but were not enrolled at the end of the school year and did not transfer, graduate, or die.

Summer dropouts are defined as students who were enrolled at the end of the prior school year but failed to enroll at the beginning of the following school year and did not graduate, transfer, or die.

These students are counted as summer dropouts from the grades in which they were expected to enroll.

Withdrawal type represents the unique withdrawal classifications used by school districts and charter schools to provide insight into some of the conditions associated with student dropouts. These specific codes differentiate the known dropouts (i.e., students who deliberately drop out of school, are expelled and fail to return, or leave school due to illness) from the students whose status is unknown. It is important to distinguish between known dropouts and students whose status is unknown, because each situation is different from the other and requires a different course of action to reduce the dropout rate.

Dropout rate is defined as the ratio of dropouts to the total enrollment, expressed as a percentage. The number of dropouts in any particular district, grade, gender, or racial/ethnic category is compared to the total enrollment in the same subgroup.

Status unknown rate is defined as the ratio of status unknown students to the total enrollment, expressed as a percentage. A student is coded as status unknown by a school district after accruing 10 consecutive days of unexcused absences or when the student's status or location is unknown to the district. Students whose status is status unknown are a subset of the dropout population; each student whose status is unknown is considered a dropout, while not all dropouts are coded as status unknown.

Please note that, in the case of union high school districts, students whose status is unknown for their entire ninth-grade school year are excluded from analyses (i.e. enrollment, dropout, and status unknown rates). This adjustment has been made because such students are regarded as never having attended the district in question. Statewide, a total of 1035 students fell into this subset for academic year 1998-1999. It should also be noted that, while the exclusion of these students represents a change in methodology from that previously employed for Dropout Rate Study reports, the change has not had an impact on statewide rates. Thus, statewide rates for 1998-1999 and previous academic years are still comparable.

Applying the Dropout Definition

In general, a student is not counted as a dropout if there is documented evidence of transfer to another elementary or secondary school. Some examples of applying the dropout definition to determine a student's status are given below.

The following students are not counted as dropouts:

- ◆ Students who leave school but return before the end of the same school year
- ◆ Students who are remanded to the Arizona Department of Juvenile Corrections (ADJC)
- ◆ Students who transfer to home-taught programs approved by county superintendents
- ◆ Students enrolled in alternative education programs, if the programs are (1) administered by the school district, or (2) approved by the district as full-time secondary education programs
- ◆ Students who do not return to school because they completed graduation requirements during the summer or at mid-year

- ◆ Students who enter early college admissions programs before graduating from high school, if they are enrolled full-time in programs leading to a postsecondary degree
- ◆ Students who leave school at age 22 and/or receive a completion credential, such as a certificate of attendance

The following students are counted as dropouts:

- ◆ Students who leave school because they move out of the area and who are not known to be enrolled in other schools, i.e., status unknown students
- ◆ Students transferring to adult education programs in schools with courses of study not meeting standard graduation requirements (e.g., GED preparatory classes, vocational certificate programs, technical schools), regardless of whether they earn their GED certificates
- ◆ Students who leave school and take correspondence courses, unless before the end of the same school year, they earn and transfer sufficient course credits to satisfy the graduation requirements of the schools in which they are enrolled

Transfer Documentation

The school record must indicate the withdrawal status of each student who leaves the school. Documentation of a student transfer to another school consists of either (1) a request from another school for a transfer of the student's records or (2) information from a responsible adult that the student is enrolled elsewhere.

Withdrawal codes used for students may change throughout the year as additional information becomes available. For example, a student whose status is unknown at the time of withdrawal is assigned a particular withdrawal code, but if a request is later received from another school for the student's records, the withdrawal code then would be changed to indicate a transfer to another school. The withdrawal status stated for students on each school's Year-End Enrollment Report reflects current knowledge at the time the report was filed.

Analysis

Year-End Enrollment reports are submitted by each Arizona school district or charter school that teaches students in grades 7 through 12 or in ungraded high school classes. Throughout this report, the reader should note whether the population in each analysis refers to a single grade, the elementary grades (7 and 8), the high school grades (9 through 12 and ungraded secondary) or all grades (7 through 12 and ungraded secondary).

The enrollment count at each level represents an unduplicated count of every student enrolled for any length of time during the twelve-month reporting period. For example, a student who attended three different schools in the same district during a specific school year would be counted in enrollment at each school of attendance. However, that student would have been counted only once at the district, county and state levels. It is important to note that under Arizona law, school districts have up to five years in which to make necessary corrections or reviews to their enrollment data. Subsequently, school district and charter school data may not agree with the data reported herein.

RESULTS:

Dropout Rates

Enrollment Count, Dropout Count, Dropout Rate, and Status Unknown Rate

The total student enrollment for academic year 1998-1999 was 398,926 students in grades 7 through 12, including students in ungraded high school classes. The total number of dropouts was 35,637, representing a statewide dropout rate of 8.9 percent.

Table 1 provides descriptive measures of dropout rates for individual grades and combined grades in the categories of elementary, high school, ungraded secondary, and all grades. Also provided are enrollment counts, dropout counts, dropout rates, and status unknown rates for individual and combined grades. The dropout rate was calculated by dividing the total number of students coded as dropouts by the total enrollment figure. The status unknown rate was calculated by dividing the total number of students coded as status unknown into the total enrollment figure.

Dropout Rates by Withdrawal Type

Table 2 shows the proportion of dropouts attributed to each type of withdrawal by grade. Each withdrawal type represents a specific classification through which school districts and charter schools provide insight into some of the conditions associated with student dropouts. Each classification is unique and requires a different course of action to reduce the dropout rate.

School-Year and Summer Dropouts

Dropout data submitted by schools must indicate whether students left during the school year or during the summer. The total numbers of school year dropouts, summer dropouts and the subsequent dropout rates are provided in Table 3.

Dropout Rate by Gender and Grade

The enrollment count, dropout count, and dropout rate by gender and grade is provided in Table 4. The dropout rate for females and males was calculated by dividing the total number of dropouts into the total number of students enrolled.

For example, in academic year 1998-99, there were 123,477 female students enrolled in Arizona's public high schools. Of that, 13,353 high school females were coded as dropouts by local school districts. The total number of female dropouts was then divided into the total female enrollment, resulting in a 10.8 percent dropout rate for female high school students.

Dropout Rate by Race/Ethnicity and Grade

The enrollment count, dropout count, and dropout rate are each shown by race/ethnicity and by grade in Table 5. Dropout rates are calculated by dividing the dropout count for each individual racial/ethnic group into each group's total enrollment.

For example, in the 1998-1999 school year, 147,643 White students were enrolled in Arizona's public high schools. Of that, 12,531 White high school students were reported as dropouts by local school districts, resulting in a 8.5 percent dropout rate for White high school students.

Dropout Rate by County

School district data were aggregated to calculate enrollment counts, dropout counts, and dropout/status unknown rates by county and grade. Table 6 provides dropout and status unknown rates by county, state, and an overall dropout rate for the students in state juvenile corrections facilities. The Arizona Department of Juvenile Corrections (ADJC) operates juvenile correctional facilities and serves as a school district for incarcerated students.

Dropout Rate by District and School

School districts are identified by the grade range for which instruction is provided. Unified districts typically offer instruction in all grades, kindergarten through 12. Elementary districts offer instruction from kindergarten through grade 8. Union high school districts offer instruction in grades 9 through 12. Accommodation districts and special programs serve students with academic needs that cannot be accommodated within an existing type of district. Because of the various district types, aggregated school district data cannot be used for comparison purposes. For example, unified districts should not be compared to elementary school districts or union high school districts. However, data contained in Table 7 and Table 8 have been disaggregated (i.e. data from elementary and secondary school have been separated) so that accurate comparisons of disparate districts may be made within each table.

1998-1999 District/School Dropout Rates
Grades 9 through 12

Table 7 contains the alphabetical listing of districts and schools that provide instruction in grades 9-12, dropout rates for districts and schools, and the status unknown rates for districts. Information pertaining to Arizona state charter schools is designated with a † symbol.

Please note the sum of school enrollment may be greater than the district enrollment because the school level dropout rate formula takes into consideration student migration between schools in the same district. In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, data containing information about five or fewer students have been replaced with an asterisk (*) to protect student privacy.

Table 8
1998-1999 District/School Dropout Rates
Grades 7 through 8

Table 8 contains the alphabetical listing of districts and schools that provide instruction in grades 7 and 8, dropout rates for districts and schools, and status unknown rates for districts. Information pertaining to charter schools is designated with a † symbol.

The sum of school enrollment may be greater than the district enrollment because the school level dropout rate formula takes into consideration student migration between schools in the same district. In accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, data containing information about five or fewer students have been replaced with an asterisk (*) to protect student privacy.
