ABSTRACT

This paper presents the current PASS (Proficiency-based Admission Standards System) Proficiency Standards in English and answers the question of what students should be able to do upon admission to the Oregon University System. The PASS standards in the paper are aligned with and complement the standards, scoring guides, and test specifications for the Certificates of Initial Mastery (CIM) and Certificates of Advanced Mastery (CAM). It begins by listing six English proficiency statements: (1) read from a variety of literary genres and periods; (2) interpret literary works; (3) analyze relationships of the humanities and human/social experience; (4) conduct inquiry and research; communicate oral, visual, and written forms; and (6) write for varied purposes. It then presents charts that summarize performance criteria (what students should know and be able to do) in each of the proficiency areas. It then presents guides (organized by the proficiency statements and criteria) for making summary judgments about students' proficiency. (RS)

What PASS expects of students

The Proficiency-based Admission Standards System (PASS) has identified six proficiencies in English that students will have the option of demonstrating for admission to Oregon University System (OUS) institutions beginning in the fall of 2001. These proficiencies will become requirements for all applicants from Oregon public high schools in the fall of 2005. The following pages outline the admission standards that students must meet. These admission standards are aligned with the Oregon Content Standards and the benchmarks for the Certificates of Initial and Advanced Mastery (CIM and CAM) so that students can progress smoothly through the Oregon public education system.

How students will demonstrate proficiency

To demonstrate proficiency, students will (1) meet designated scores on state tests and (2) produce work that will be compiled into collections of evidence. Teachers will evaluate the collections by comparing students' work to the standards and judging whether the collection shows sufficient evidence of proficiency. These teacher verifications of proficiency, much like final grades, are summary judgments, but they are focused on specific student capabilities, referenced to the standards, and validated by other assessors.

What you will find here

The following pages present the current PASS Proficiency Standards in English and answer the question "What should students know and be able to do?" The PASS standards are aligned with and complement the standards, scoring guides, and test specifications for the CIM and CAM. Because PASS standards are used for making verification judgments as well as for guiding curriculum, instruction, and assessment, they are organized around criteria for making judgments about proficiency. Each proficiency has a set of criteria which organize a guide for making assessment judgments. The guides contain descriptions of proficient performance, addressing the question "How well should students perform?" and explaining further what they should know.

English

The six English proficiency statements presented below have been developed and field tested through collaborative work involving Oregon high school teachers and university faculty. The proficiencies are derived from and referenced to standards developed by the National Council of Teachers of English. The proficiencies are aligned with Oregon Content Standards and benchmarks for CIM and CAM.

Proficiency Area	PASS Proficiency Statement	Aligned with Oregon Content Standards in These Areas *
A: Read from a Variety of Literary Genres and Periods	Read and respond to a broad selection of literature from a variety of historical periods, cultures, literary perspectives, and genres, including poetry, novels, short stories, essays, and drama; understand the characteristics of literary genres, periods, and movements.	Literature * Reading
B: Interpret Literary Works	Analyze literary forms, elements, devices, and themes to interpret and critique literary texts, performances, and media.	Literature *
C: Analyze Relationships of the Humanities &amp; Human/Social Experience	Explain how the humanities reflect, influence, and comment upon human experiences and societal assumptions, traditions, structures, and changes.	Literature *
D: Conduct Inquiry and Research	Conduct inquiry and research, using a variety of primary and secondary sources and informational resources to investigate questions and topics, gather and synthesize information, and create and communicate knowledge.
E: Communicate in Oral, Visual, and Written Forms	Use oral, visual, written and multi-media communication forms to convey information and ideas for a variety of purposes, audiences, and contexts.	Communication*
F: Write for Varied Purposes	Write to discover and convey meaning, using effective processes to produce writing which is thoughtful, fluent, organized, coherent, and clear.	Writing *

* Criteria for the proficiencies align directly with benchmarks in these areas.

Summary Charts of Criteria for Determining PASS Proficiency

The following charts summarize what students should know and be able to do in English for admission to OUS institutions. The six proficiency areas to be assessed and the performance criteria for determining proficiency are listed on these pages. These criteria, which align with the Content Standards and benchmarks for CIM and CAM, suggest what students should demonstrate they can do in assessments and collections of evidence.

Proficiency Area	Criteria:	Students demonstrate the ability to ...
A: Read from a Variety of Literary Genres and Periods	A1: Breadth and Depth of Literary Experience	➤ Read and respond to works of recognized literary merit from a variety of cultures, genres, and historical periods; recognize the distinguishing characteristics of significant literary periods, movements, and genres.
	A2: Extending Understanding of Literary Works	➤ Identify and explain relationships among literary works, human experiences, other texts, or disciplines.
B: Interpret Literary Works	B1: Analysis of Literary Elements and Devices	➤ Recognize, examine, and understand the uses and effects of literary elements, rhetorical devices, and themes within and among literary works.
	B2: Interpretation and Use of Textual Evidence	➤ Use textual evidence to develop and support an interpretation of a literary work.
	B3: Criticism	➤ Use ideas and approaches of literary critics in analyzing and critiquing a literary work.
C: Analyze Relationships of the Humanities &amp; Human/Social Experience	C1: Understanding of Contextual and Biographical Influences	➤ Explain how works from the humanities are influenced by historical, social, cultural, political, literary, or creative contexts and individual experiences.

How the guides are organized

The following pages contain guides for making summary judgments about students' proficiency. The guides are organized by the proficiency statements and criteria, which are presented at the top of each guide. Within the guide are descriptions of proficient performance developed by PASS high school and university partners and field tested during classroom instruction, assessment, and verification processes. Currently, only one level of performance (proficient) is described, since assessors make a single judgment that student collections of evidence either meet or do not meet the standards for admission. Eventually, advanced performance levels will also be identified for use in determining readiness for advanced standing in OUS institutions.

How the guides are used to judge collections of evidence

To be judged proficient, students need to demonstrate through collections of evidence that they can do what the proficiency expects. Assessors may:

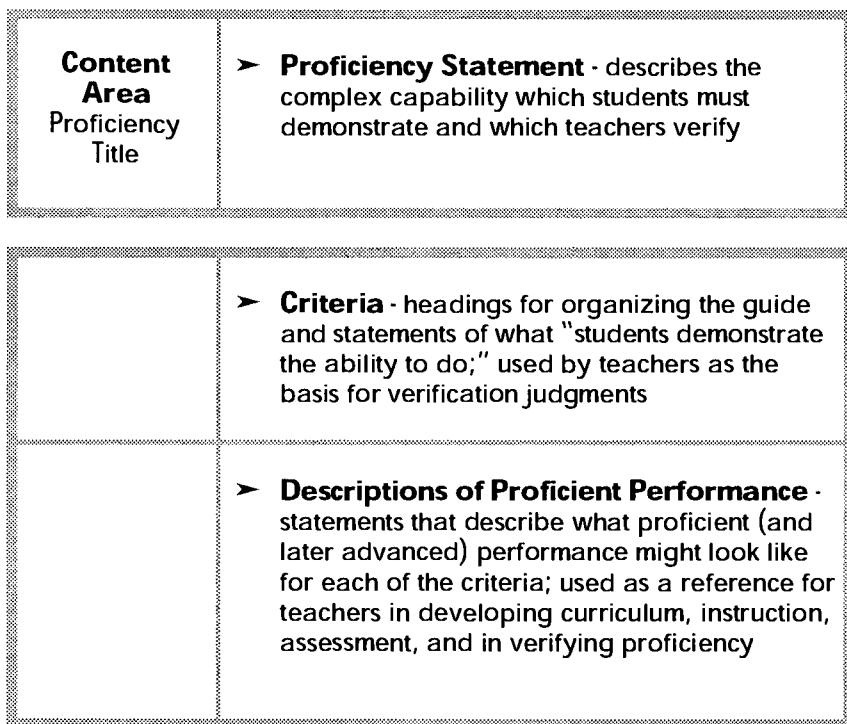

- focus on the proficiency statement at the top of the guide for making a holistic judgment about proficiency;
- focus on the criteria and statements of what "students demonstrate the ability to do" to guide more analytical judgments; or
- use the descriptions of proficient performance for more detailed analysis of student collections. While students do not need to demonstrate every descriptive statement in the guide, they should present evidence that they can perform at the level suggested by the descriptions.

How the guides can be used in the classroom

Teachers may also use the guides as the basis for developing classroom and task-specific scoring guides. To do so, they select appropriate criteria from one or more proficiencies, "cut and paste" descriptions which apply, translate descriptions to fit the assessment context, and in some cases develop multiple levels of performance. Final verification judgments, however, should be based on the summary guides as they appear in the PASS Standards.

How the guides are formatted

The diagram below highlights the information found in the guides and their general format:
