ABSTRACT

The 2001 Florida Legislature passed Ch. 2001-125, Laws of Florida, Section 40, which is often referred to as the Safe Passage Act. It requires all school districts to conduct a self-assessment of their school safety and security using best practices developed by the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA). It also requires that OPPAGA and the Partnership for School Safety and Security make annual recommendations for adding, deleting, or revising those practices. The practices cover six school-safety goals requiring that each school district: (1) ensures that its safety and security program has clear direction, and is effective at meeting its intended purpose in a cost-efficient manner; (2) has comprehensive plans and procedures to ensure student and employee safety and security; (3) has developed a clearly written code of student conduct and communicated with students and parents; (4) identifies, minimizes, and protects others from disruptive and/or violent student behavior; (5) ensures that educational facilities and equipment are safe and in good working condition; and (6) takes steps to ensure student and staff safety and security during transportation. Appendix A provides a complete listing of safety and security practices approved by the Commissioner of Education and their associated indicators. (RT)

School Safety and Security Best Practices Approved by the Commissioner of Education at a glance

The 2001 Legislature passed Ch. 2001-125, Laws of Florida, Section 40, which is often referred to as the Safe Passage Act. This act requires all school districts to conduct a self-assessment of their school safety and security using best practices originally developed by OPPAGA. The act also requires that OPPAGA and the Partnership for School Safety and Security make annual recommendations for adding, deleting, or revising those practices.

- OPPAGA and the Partnership for School Safety and Security worked collaboratively through the summer to revise the best practices.
- OPPAGA and the Partnership for School Safety and Security collected feedback from legislative and executive branch staff as well as soliciting input from all 67 school districts.
- The practices were approved by the Commissioner of Education on October 31, 2001 and are available on OPPAGA's website.

Background

The 2000 Legislature directed OPPAGA to add safety and security to the Best Financial Management Practices reviews. OPPAGA developed the safety and security best practices and the Commissioner of Education subsequently adopted them.

The Safe Passage Act, enacted in 2001, changed the way the safety and security best practices were to be used. Under the act

- each school district shall conduct an annual self-assessment using the adopted safety best practices;
- based on self-assessment findings, superintendents shall provide recommendations to their school boards by July 1, 2002, and annually thereafter;
- the recommendations shall identify strategies and activities to improve school safety; and
- within 30 days of their school boards' meetings, superintendents shall provide reports to the Commissioner of Education identifying the result of their self-assessments and their school board actions.

Revising the Safety and Security Best Practices—

The Safe Passage Act directed OPPAGA and the Partnership for School Safety and Security to make annual recommendations to the Commissioner of Education for the addition, deletion, and revision of the safety and security best practices.¹

OPPAGA and the partnership worked collaboratively to update and improve the safety and security best practices in a thorough and efficient manner. This process included collecting feedback from multiple stakeholders and drafting revisions to the best practices adopted by the Commissioner of Education in the fall of 2000. OPPAGA and the partnership met monthly throughout the summer of 2001 to receive feedback and drafted revisions to the safety and security practices.

Each set of revisions to the best practices has resulted from the input of stakeholders and state and national experts. First, OPPAGA staff and the partnership members reviewed and revised the safety practices. Second, the revised practices were distributed to legislative, executive, and Department of Education staff for their input. Third, the updated practices were submitted by OPPAGA and the Department of Education to all school districts in the state to solicit feedback and ideas for improvement. Based on these comments a final draft was created by OPPAGA and the partnership and presented to the Commissioner of Education for approval. On October 31, 2001 the Commissioner approved the revised best practices.

¹ The partnership is an independent, non-partisan body that is administratively assigned to the Department of Education. The partnership is composed of 11 members who are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate.

Safety and Security Best Practices Cover Six School Safety Goals —

The safety and security best practices cover a wide range of school safety goals. The thoroughness of the scope will help districts conduct comprehensive reviews of their safety and security programs and policies. The six goals embodied in the safety and security best practices are

- the school district ensures that its safety and security program has clear direction and is effective at meeting its intended purpose in a cost-efficient manner;
- the school district has comprehensive plans and procedures to ensure the safety and security of students and employees;
- the school district has developed a clearly written code of student conduct and communicated with students and parents;
- the school district identifies, minimizes, and protects others from disruptive and/or violent student behavior;
- educational facilities and equipment are safe and in good working condition; and
- the district takes steps to ensure the safety and security of students and staff during transportation.

Appendix A provides a complete listing of the safety and security practices approved by the Commissioner of Education and their associated indicators.

After all superintendents have provided the Commissioner of Education with a copy of their self-assessment reports and recommended actions, OPPAGA will issue a follow-up review of the results and recommended actions of the safety and security best practices assessments.

 - school and campus territorial integrity; securing courtyards, site lighting, building lighting;
 - audio and motion detection systems covering ground floor doors, stairwells, offices and areas where expensive equipment is stored;
 - exterior stairs, balconies, ramps, and upper level corridors around the perimeter of buildings should have open-type handrails or other architectural features to allow surveillance;
 - open areas, such as plazas, the building's main entrance, parking lots, and bicycle compounds should be designed so they are visible by workers at work stations inside the buildings; and
 - designs which will promote the prevention of school crime and violence. Exterior architectural features without footholds or handholds on exterior walls, tamper-proof doors and locks, non-breakable glass or shelter window protection system; also landscaping and tree placement should be designed so they do not provide access to roofs by unauthorized persons. Sections of schools commonly used after hours should be separated by doors or other devices from adjacent areas to prevent unauthorized access. Install locks on roof hatches and apply slippery finishes to exterior pipes.
- b. The district can demonstrate that Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design and other appropriate safety features are incorporated into the design of all new construction.^{64, 65}

⁶¹ Note that s. 235.06, F.S., requires life-threatening deficiencies be corrected immediately.

⁶² Information must not be sanitized. It should include such information as incidents on crime and misbehavior, trends over time, comparisons to the community, and steps taken to improve safety.

⁶³ Depending on how it is done, this practice could be met through the superintendent's report to the school board pursuant to s. 985.401, F.S.

⁶⁵ Training in Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design is available from the state's Department of Education.

⁶⁶ These needs and designs include lighting, break proof doors, security systems, fencing, and window or door bars. Essentially, is safety reviewed and addressed as part of the renovation process?

⁶⁷ Such as territoriality and ownership.
