ABSTRACT

This report presents data from 116 U.S. and Canadian research libraries that were members of the Association of Research Libraries (ARL) during the 1995-96 fiscal year. The 1995-96 Preservation Statistics questionnaire was designed to yield statistical information on the current level of preservation efforts in research libraries and on the key organizational, functional, and fiscal components that characterize preservation programs. "Part I: Summary Data Tables" displays the aggregated statistics describing the current level of preservation efforts in ARL libraries. The data tables contain statistics from all respondents for five major data categories, i.e., personnel, expenditures, conservation treatment, preservation treatment, and preservation microfilming. "Part II: Analysis of Core Data for All Reporting ARL Libraries" provides analysis of the responses without displaying the data from individual libraries. The analysis includes data from all reporting university and nonuniversity libraries. The key organizational, functional, and fiscal components that characterize preservation programs in ARL libraries and that distinguish between program levels are analyzed. "Part III: Analysis of Core Data Based on Size of Collection" provides statistical measure in four groupings by size of library. A copy of the questionnaire and a list of ARL member libraries are attached. (Contains 18 references.) (MES)

INTRODUCTION

ARL Preservation Statistics 1995-96 presents data from 116 U.S. and Canadian research libraries that were members of the Association of Research Libraries during the 1995-96 fiscal year.<sup>1</sup> The ARL membership consisted of 109 university libraries and 11 public or private, independent research libraries in 1995-96.<sup>2</sup>

The 1995-96 Preservation Statistics questionnaire is designed to yield statistical information on the current level of preservation efforts in research libraries and on the key organizational, functional, and fiscal components that characterize preservation programs.

Among the significant developments that took place in research libraries in the 1980s was the emergence of preservation programs, configured as distinct administrative units, separately staffed, funded, and administered. Since 1987-88 the number of programs managed by a preservation administrator has grown irregularly from 66 to around 80 in more recent years.<sup>3</sup> A fluctuating growth in preservation expenditures and staffing across the ARL membership accompanied this development. Since 1993 preservation expenditures have begun to level off and 1995-96 data indicate for the first time a slight decline. Preservation expenditures for ARL's 116 reporting member libraries as a whole were $77,069,334, about two million less than last year's expenditures. Total preservation staff, as well as conservation activities, generally declined. Only Level 2 and 3 contract conservation treatment numbers increased, whereas all indicators of microfilming activity (titles, volumes, and exposures) declined in 1995-96.

Availability of external funds continues to play a critical role in preservation activities. In 1988, the National Endowment for the Humanities began a multi-year, expanded cooperative preservation microfilming program. Since then, ARL libraries have participated extensively in that program. University libraries in the aggregate reported that special grants from external sources accounted for about 11% of the total preservation expenditures. Grant funds were expended predominantly on preservation microfilming projects. The chart on page 7 shows that ARL member libraries preserved 154,805 volumes on microfilm in 1995-96.

ARL Preservation Statistics provides a broad range of quantitative data and should not be used as a measure of quality of preservation programs. Preservation efforts encompass a diverse array of activities, and there are substantial differences in the nature of preservation work. ARL Preservation Statistics cannot completely capture the richness, sheer variety, and full extent of each library's preservation commitment. Much progress has been achieved, however, in increasing the consistency and hence comparability of the reported quantitative data.

Most of the data contained in this publication are descriptive indices of preservation activities in research libraries, including preservation staffs and expenditures, and productivity.

<sup>1</sup> The Newberry Library withdrew from membership in the Association of Research Libraries in January 1993. This library's data are included in ARL Preservation Statistics prior to 1992-93. The University of Alberta, California- Riverside, Howard, and the Canada Institute for Scientific and Technical Information (CISTI) were unable to report 1995-96 data. Ohio University became a member of ARL in 1995-96 and its data appear for the first time in this year's preservation statistics.

<sup>3</sup> Figures revised to accommodate the new definition of preservation administrator -- starting in 1994-95, a preservation administrator is defined as one who "spends at least 25% of his or her time managing a partial or comprehensive preservation program."

The data are also useful in determining the organization of preservation units and the components of preservation programs. Each library's total expenditures and materials expenditures, as reported in ARL Statistics 1995-96, are displayed in the tables together with the percentage of preservation expenditures. To aid comparability in ARL Preservation Statistics, expenditures of Canadian libraries are expressed in U.S. dollars at the rate of 1.3613 Canadian dollars to one U.S. dollar. This exchange rate is the average monthly noon exchange rate published in the Bank of Canada Review for the period from July 1995 to June 1996. Expenditures reported in Canadian dollars are given in the "Footnotes to the ARL Preservation Statistics."

Those using ARL Preservation Statistics to compare activities in individual institutions will need to consult the definitions used in the instructions as well as the "Footnotes" section. Although the definitions and procedures used in the Preservation Statistics questionnaire aim to achieve consistency, variant reporting practices do exist among ARL libraries. Care should be taken in comparing this year's data to data collected in previous years.

The report is divided into three parts: Summary Data Tables, Analysis of Core Data for All Reporting ARL Libraries, and Analysis of Core Data Based on Size of Collection.

Part I: Summary Data Tables displays the aggregated statistics describing the current level of preservation efforts in ARL libraries. The data tables contain statistics from all respondents for five major data categories.

Part II: Analysis of Core Data for All Reporting ARL Libraries provides analysis of the responses without displaying the data from individual libraries. The analysis includes data from all reporting university and nonuniversity libraries. The key organizational, functional, and fiscal components that characterize preservation programs in ARL libraries and that distinguish between program levels are analyzed.

Part III: Analysis of Core Data Based on Size of Collection provides statistical measures in four groupings by size of library.

Again, all the data in this publication are quantitative and descriptive and are not indicative of qualitative factors. When comparing any individual library preservation program to ARL medians or to other ARL members, one must be careful to make such comparisons within the context of differing institutional and local goals and preservations needs.

PART II: ANALYSIS OF CORE DATA FOR ALL REPORTING LIBRARIES

1. Organizational Structure

a. Preservation Administration

The most significant means for measuring the progress of ARL libraries in their preservation efforts is to track the existence of preservation programs managed by a preservation administrator. The data offer persuasive evidence that preservation programs have become a standard unit in research libraries although there has not been any increases in the number of new programs established. As displayed in the data tables, 80 institutions indicated that the library has appointed a preservation administrator, and of those, 60 libraries reported that the preservation program is managed by a full-time preservation administrator. Responses are summarized below.

Table 1. Administration of Preservation Programs

Full-time preservation administrator	60 (52%)
Part-time preservation administrator who devotes 50% or more time to preservation activities, but not 100%	13 (11%)
Part-time preservation administrator who devotes 25% to 50% of time to preservation activities	7 (6%)
Preservation administrator with less than 25% of time to preservation activities or no preservation administrator <sup>4</sup>	36 (31%)

b. Reporting Relationships

While most ARL libraries have separate preservation units, their placement is far from uniform. The 80 responses to the question on reporting relationships show that about a third of the preservation administrators report to the library director or associate library director. The next most frequently found organizational pattern is a reporting relationship to the assistant/associate director for collection development. The third most-cited reporting relationship is to the assistant/associate director for technical services. The remaining libraries chose a variety of organizational options, including placing the preservation administrator within special collections, public services, or administrative services. Although the placement of preservation departments within the library structure varies, with few exceptions, the preservation administrator reports to senior library management.

<sup>4</sup> Western Ontario reported a professional preservation administrator who devotes less than 25% of his or her time to preservation activities.

Table 2. Position to Which Preservation Administrator Reports

Director of Libraries/Associate Director	28 (35.0%)
Assistant/Associate Director for Collection Management	20 (25.0%)
Assistant/Associate Director for Technical Services	14 (17.5%)
Assistant/Associate Director for Public Services	8 (10.0%)
Other	10 (12.5%)

2. Personnel

The size of the staff reporting to the preservation administrator is a key factor in defining a library's level of preservation program development. The table below displays the relation between number of professional staff FTE and the number of support staff FTE and student assistant FTE in preservation units. The preservation administrator is included in the number of professional staff. Compared to last year, the larger programs are slightly smaller this year and the smaller ones have increased their staffing. (Total of 80 programs reported.)

Table 3. Staffing Patterns of Preservation Programs

Number of Professionals	Median of Support Staff	Median of Student Assistants	Median of Total FTE
4 or more (15%)	18.50	3.00	28.74
2 - 3.9 (30%)	5.13	2.20	9.90
1 - 1.9 (37.5%)	4.19	1.45	7.40
less than 1 (17.5%)	2.00	1.12	4.12

Reporting accurate statistics regarding the number of FTE staff engaged in preservation activities library-wide remains problematic. The variety and complexity of organizational structures make collecting the data a time-consuming and difficult burden for libraries. Even in libraries with large-scale preservation departments the data show that preservation cannot be completely assigned to that single organizational unit. Instead it is evident that there are preservation aspects in the work of almost every library unit and that preservation is a library-wide responsibility. The more decentralized preservation activities are and the more scattered staffs involved in preservation activities are, the more difficult it becomes to provide accurate data. Caution should be used in interpreting the data below because of these problems. (Total of 116 libraries reporting data.)

Table 4. Staffing Patterns of Preservation Activities Library-wide

Number of Professionals	Median of Support Staff	Median of Student Assistants	Median of Total FTE

2 - 3.9 (23.5%)	6.89	3.50	13.25
1 - 1.9 (27%)	5.75	1.62	9.05
less than 1 (29.5%)	4.20	1.00	5.50

3. Expenditures

The financial support for preservation activities in ARL university libraries shows a substantial range from approximately $123,970 to $3.8 million during fiscal year 1995-96. As a corollary, ARL university libraries spent from slightly more than 1% to as much as 7.5% of total library budgets for preservation.

Table 5 summarizes preservation expenditures by displaying the midpoint for three ranges for all reporting ARL libraries. It also indicates corresponding median preservation expenditures as a percentage of total operating expenditures and as a percentage of materials expenditures.

The pie chart on page 40 highlights the allocation of preservation expenditures. Local needs and capabilities will determine the exact allocation of budgetary resources to various activities, but it is useful to look at the aggregate apportionment for ARL member libraries. As in past years, the largest category is salaries and wages, followed by binding expenditures. The chart displays the allocation of preservation expenditures based on data from all reporting ARL libraries.

Table 5. Preservation Expenditures

	Median of First Quartile	Median of All Responses	Median of Third Quartile

Preservation Expenditures as Percent of Materials Expenditures	14.60%	8.56%	4.71%

Preservation Expenditures 1995-96

4. Conservation Treatment

Conservation treatments encompass an array of activities as defined in the instructions that accompanied the survey. Beginning in 1989-90, the amount of time required to complete conservation treatments has been used (i.e., "treatments that require 15 minutes or less to perform, more than 15 minutes but less than 2 hours, and more than 2 hours"). While the resulting data tell only how long the treatments take rather than how technically complex they are, results are more reliable and do not invite facile assumptions about the nature of an institution's conservation program. The table below provides information on the number of volumes that received minor (Level 1) treatment and the number of volumes that were given more time-consuming intermediate (Level 2) and major (Level 3) conservation treatment. It is recognized that significant differences exist in the nature of treatments performed.

	Median of First Quartile	Median of All Responses	Median of Third Quartile
Number of Volumes: Level 1 Treatment	11,285	3,360	300
Number of Volumes: Levels 2 & 3 Treatment	5,282	1,274	71

5. Preservation Microfilming

ARL Preservation Statistics actually underreports total production among ARL members because the reporting of preservation microfilming production remains problematic. The best indicator of preservation microfilming output is the total number of exposures or number of frames filmed. Another convenient measure is the number of physical volumes filmed supplemented by the bibliographic count of the number titles filmed. Several libraries do not provide complete counts of exposures and other libraries do not report data for either the number of titles or volumes filmed. The data tables display figures as reported by member libraries for these three categories.

As noted earlier, the national preservation microfilming program, initiated by the National Endowment for the Humanities in 1988, has had a substantial impact on preservation microfilming among the members of ARL. The chart below highlights the trend of the last eight years and shows an important decline in microfilming activities in the most recent year.

PART III: ANALYSIS OF CORE DATA BY SIZE OF COLLECTION

This section analyzes the organizational, fiscal, and functional components of preservation programs in relation to collection size. Many factors, including the age, nature and scope of the collection, the environmental conditions under which the collections have been housed, and the level of use, shape the ways in which a library's preservation program develops. However, size of collection is the most significant factor in measuring the level of preservation effort.

In 1991, ARL published preservation program benchmarks for selected core activities in the Preservation Program Models report.<sup>5</sup> The benchmarks were intended to serve as indicators of the level of effort that can be expected as a library's preservation program develops. The benchmarks reflect targets and are a useful tool for measuring progress toward meeting preservation needs. The tables in this section parallel the four size groupings of ARL libraries used in the Preservation Program Models report.<sup>6</sup> These are collections of more than 5 million volumes, 3 to 5 million volumes, 2 to 3 million volumes, and less than 2 million volumes. For each size grouping, the tables provide medians for personnel, budget, and production. In this report, median figures are used as indicators of the midpoint in the distribution at which values cluster. The medians offer a composite measure for assessing the scale of local effort based on four different size groupings. The benchmarks reflected an ideal progression of preservation program development. They provide a useful tool for comparing the level of preservation services needed with the current level of activities. Libraries interested in that comparison may wish to consult the Preservation Program Models report.

The size groupings and number of libraries in each category are:

Group 1:*	over 5 million volumes (21 libraries)
Group 2:+	3 to 5 million volumes (22 libraries)
Group 3:†	2 to 3 million volumes (55 libraries)
Group 4:‡	under 2 million volumes (18 libraries)

The tables on pages 44 and 45 summarize the responses in five categories for each of the four size groupings.

Please note the following when reading the tables:

*	2 libraries in this group reported no Preservation Unit
+	3 libraries in this group reported no Preservation Unit
†	22 libraries in this group reported no Preservation Unit
‡	9 libraries in this group reported no Preservation Unit

ARL PRESERVATION STATISTICS QUESTIONNAIRE, 1995-96

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING THE QUESTIONNAIRE

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

Please enter your data on the ARL Preservation Statistics diskette. The printed copy of the questionnaire is a worksheet provided for your convenience. Be sure to read the "ARL Preservation Statistics Disk Documentation," as well as these Instructions, before beginning to input data.

Return one copy of the diskette to the ARL Office by November 30, 1996 as well as a copy of the worksheet and retain a copy of the diskette and the worksheet for your records. If you have problems with your diskette or have questions about the procedure to be followed in completing the survey, contact the ARL Office.

Please read all instructions carefully before you answer the questionnaire. Make your responses as complete and accurate as possible. Give estimates where you must, but please do not make wild guesses. Use the "FOOTNOTES" section to expand upon or clarify your responses.

All questions assume a fiscal year ending June 30, 1996. If your library's fiscal year is different, please use the "FOOTNOTES" section to explain.

Do not leave entries blank. If your library does not perform a given function or had no activity on this function, enter 0. If your library performs a function but data are not available, enter -1 (for Unavailable).

Use the same basis for reporting as is used in responding to the main ARL Statistics questionnaire. For example, if in ARL Statistics you normally include data for a law library and/or a medical library, also include those libraries in response to this survey. Please indicate these inclusions in the appropriate blanks within the "FOOTNOTES" section.

In a university that includes both main and branch campuses, an effort should be made to report figures for the main campus only. (The U.S. National Center for Education Statistics, Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) defines a branch campus as one "located in a community different from that of its parent institution ... beyond a reasonable commuting distance from the main campus ... The educational activities at the location must be organized on a relatively permanent basis ... and include course offerings for one or more complete college-level programs of at least one full year.") If figures for libraries located on branch campuses are reported, please explain in a footnote in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

A branch library is defined as an auxiliary library service outlet with quarters separate from the central library of a system, which has a basic collection of books and other materials, a regular staffing level, and an established schedule. A branch library is administered either by the central library or (as in the case of some law and medical libraries) through the administrative structure of other units within the university. Departmental study/reading rooms are not included.

Preservation data are not always easy to define or to record in precise categories. If you have difficulty interpreting the questionnaire or are uncertain how its data categories apply in your situation, contact Martha Kyrillidou, ARL Program Officer, (202) 296-2296; e-mail: martha@cni.org.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS

For the purposes of this survey, the elements of a "preservation program" include: conservation treatment, commercial binding, mass treatment, and reproduction (i.e., preservation photocopying and preservation microfilming). While shelf preparation activities (e.g., plating, labeling, insertion of security devices) and stack maintenance have obvious preservation implications and may be supervised by the preservation administrator, they fall outside the scope of this survey.

The terms commercial binding, conservation treatment, preservation photocopying, mass deacidification, and preservation microfilming are defined in the instructions below.

Question 1. Does the library have a preservation administrator who spends at least 25% of his or her time managing a partial or comprehensive preservation program? If it does not, respond no and skip Questions 2, 3, and 4.

Question 2. What percentage of the preservation administrator's total job assignment is dedicated to preservation activities and preservation management? If the library has a full-time preservation administrator, general management activities (e.g., meeting attendance, committee participation) should be considered an integral part of the administrator's responsibilities, and the answer to this question recorded as 100%. In contrast, where the preservation administrator has a dual assignment (e.g., where he or she also has significant responsibilities as a serials librarian, bibliographer, or curator), or is a part-time staff member, the percentage of time devoted to preservation activities and preservation management should be recorded. If the library has no preservation administrator, leave blank.

Question 3. Record the job title (e.g., "Associate Director for Collection Development"), not the name of the person to whom the preservation administrator reports. If the library has no preservation administrator, leave blank.

Questions 4-5. FTE (i.e., "Full-Time Equivalent") is the numerical representation of full- and part-time work activities. A person working full-time is represented by an FTE of 1.00; a person working half-time by an FTE of 0.50. Three persons working half-time are represented by a combined FTE of 1.50. The number of FTE staff should be determined on the basis of the length of the work week in the reporting library. Round figures to the nearest two decimal places.

Record FTE staff in filled positions or positions that are only temporarily vacant on the date that ends the library's fiscal year. Also record staff hired for special projects, internships, and grants, but provide an explanatory note in the "FOOTNOTES" section indicating the FTE of such staff. The "FOOTNOTES" section should also be used to record such information as the number of hours worked by volunteers (this figure is not recorded in the survey itself), and the number of months that a full-time position was vacant during the year.

Report trained professional conservators and photographers (senior practitioners rather than technicians) in the "professional" category, whether or not they have a master's degree in library science.

Question 4. Only the preservation administrator and staff who report directly to him or her, or to someone supervised by him or her, should be recorded here. If the library has no preservation administrator, or if the administrator does not have direct line responsibility for staff, leave blank.

Question 5. This figure includes staff who report to the preservation administrator, as recorded in Question 4, and staff outside the preservation unit who are involved in preservation activities. The following activities should be included regardless of the department or library to which staff report: conservation, preparation for commercial binding, preservation microfilming and photocopying, mass treatment, preservation related bibliographic searching and decision-making, and service on preservation committees and in preservation awareness and training activities.

For staff members with split assignments, record only that time devoted to preservation activities. For example, a student assistant who works 0.20 FTE, devoting half-time to pamphlet binding and the rest to non-preservation-activities, would be recorded as 0.10 FTE. A staff member who devotes half-time to preparing volumes for commercial binding and half time to serials check-in would be recorded as 0.50 FTE.

Question 6-11. Sources of funds are irrelevant in responding to Questions 6-11. Report all expenditure of funds that come to the library from the regular institutional budget and from other sources, such as research grants and fees for services.

Questions 6-11. Canadian libraries should report expenditures only in Canadian dollars. These amounts will be translated into U.S. dollars using a conversion exchange rate of 1.3613 Canadian dollars to 1 U.S. dollar, which was determined using the average monthly noon exchange rate published in the Bank of Canada Review for the period July 1995 through June 1996.

Questions 6a-6d. These questions refer to salaries paid to staff engaged in preservation activities library wide; therefore record salaries for staff reported in response to Question 5. Do not include fringe benefits.

Question 6d. This answer is the sum of the answers to Questions 6a through 6c. Attach any footnotes for questions 6a-6c here, as only this figure appears in the data tables.

Question 7. Contract expenditures refers to expenditures for preservation services for which the library is invoiced by an outside vendor, organization, or individual (e.g., a commercial library binder, commercial microfilming service, or professional conservator).

Question 7a.

Conservation treatment: Refers to the remedial and protective treatment (both mechanical and chemical) of hard-bound and soft-bound volumes, manuscripts, maps, posters, works of art on paper, photographic materials, magnetic tapes, disks, and other library materials to restore them to usable condition and/or to extend their useful lives. Also refers to the construction of protective enclosures (e.g., wrappers, jackets, boxes) for library materials. The term "conservation" implies item-by-item examination of materials for the purpose of making appropriate treatment decisions, and use of archivally sound methods and materials. Rehousing does not constitute conservation treatment. For examples of types of conservation treatments see instructions for Questions 12-18.

Record fees paid to regional conservation centers and to private conservators. Also record fees paid to commercial binders for conservation services such as box making, deacidification, and encapsulation. If fees paid to commercial binders for phase boxes and other items and treatments have been recorded on the main ARL Statistics 1995-96 in Question 21, please note instructions for answering Question 7b herein.

Question 7b.

Commercial binding: Refers to the binding, rebinding, and recasing performed by commercial library binderies, as described in the Library Binding Institute Standard for Library Binding, 8th edition (Rochester: Library Binding Institute, 1986). Commercial library binderies use oversewing machines; Smythe-type sewing machines; double-fan adhesive binding equipment; and automated rounders and backers, hydraulic presses, and spine stamping equipment, in a high-production environment.

This figure should be the same dollar amount reported on the main ARL Statistics 1995-96 survey in Question 21, unless the library purchases conservation services from a commercial library binder. In the latter case, record fees paid to a commercial library binder for conservation services in response to Question 7a. Subtract this figure from the dollar amount reported in response to Question 21 of the main ARL Statistics 1995-96; and record the resulting figure in response to Question 7b. Explain the discrepancy between Question 21 of the main ARL Statistics and Question 7b of the ARL Preservation Statistics in the "FOOTNOTES" section for Question 7b.

Those libraries that pay fees to a university-operated "commercial"-type bindery that operates on a cost recovery basis should record expenditures in the blank provided and make a note in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Question 7e. Other contract expenditures might include fees paid for commercial freeze-drying, fumigating, or mass-deacidification of library materials, membership fees for use of regional conservation facilities, and equipment repairs. Use the "FOOTNOTES" section to note the amount and nature of major expenditures.

Question 7f. This answer is the sum of the answers to Question 7a through 7e.

Question 8. Supplies include materials used for conservation treatment (e.g., papers, book cloths, adhesives, pamphlet binders, box board, chemicals, disposable filters for water systems); prefabricated archival quality boxes, wrappers, file folders, and envelopes available through supply catalogs; paper used for preservation photocopying; and film, chemicals, and other supplies used for preservation microfilming. Expenditures for equipment and tools costing under $100 should be recorded here. Expenditures for security labels and stamps, book pockets, call number and bar code labels, and book plates fall outside the scope of this survey and should not be recorded.

Since use of prefabricated boxes, wrappers, folders, and envelopes can involve very large numbers that would mask the size and nature of the in-house conservation effort, the use of prefabricated supplies to protect books, manuscripts, maps, microfiche, microfilm, photographic prints and negatives, videotapes, and other library materials is recorded only here, and not in response to Questions 12-16.

Question 9. Record expenditures for equipment and tools costing over $100, such as machinery (e.g., board shears, fume hoods, microfilming cameras, photocopy machines used exclusively for preservation photocopying), furniture (e.g., laboratory benches, chemical supply cabinets), and computer hardware purchased for exclusive use by a preservation department for such purposes as conservation management, bindery preparation, and bibliographic searching related to preservation decision making. Capital expenditures for building renovations (e.g., the construction of a conservation facility) or for construction that results in improved housing of library materials (such as replacement of heating, ventilating, and air conditioning systems) should be recorded in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Question 10. This answer is the sum of the answers to Questions 6d, 7f, 8, and 9. At this time, it is not possible to enter the total independently of the component figures, i.e., "U/A" will count as "0." If you can provide a total figure in one of these fields, even though one or more of the component fields are "Unavailable," please provide this information in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Certain preservation-related expenses are not requested in this survey (e.g., the cost of staff training, conference attendance, and other staff development activities; printing brochures and posters; purchase of reference materials). If significant, these should be noted in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Question 11. These are expenditures that are funded by special grants from external sources, e.g., include staff salaries, equipment purchases, and fees for services.

Record total preservation expenditures that came from external agencies in the form of grants from July 1, 1995 through June 30, 1996 (or the library's equivalent fiscal year). Funds allocated from the library's regular operating budget (including gifts, royalties, endowment income, and special funds provided to the library by its parent institution) are regarded as internal and should not be reflected here.

Questions 12-23. Contract services are those for which the library is invoiced by an outside organization (e.g., a regional microfilming service), by an individual (e.g., a private conservator), or by a university-run "commercial" type bindery that operates on a cost-recovery basis. In-house activities are those that are performed within the library and funded directly.

Questions 12-14. These figures should include the number of volumes (bound and unbound, as well as pamphlets) given remedial treatment, not the total number of treatments performed. Answers to these questions should be mutually exclusive. While any given volume may receive several conservation treatments, it should be recorded only once, as a Level 1, 2, or 3 treatment, depending on the amount of time devoted to the volume. For example, when an errata sheet is tipped into a volume, three pages are repaired, and its hinges are tightened, and these procedures take a total of 25 minutes to perform, the volume should be recorded only once, as Level 2 treatment. The repair of several pages of a volume or pamphlet should not be recorded under "unbound sheets" (Question 16), even if the volume is disbound at the time the pages are treated. Rather, treatment of the volume should be recorded once, as a Level 1, 2, or 3 book treatment, depending on the time required to perform all procedures.

When a volume receives conservation treatment and a box is made for it, however, the conservation treatment should be recorded as a Level 1, 2, or 3 treatment, and the boxing should be recorded in response to Question 18. In the same vein, when two pages of a book are repaired and the book is sent to a commercial bindery, the volume should be recorded as a Level 1 conservation treatment and as a "commercial binding" (Question 19).

Conservation encompasses a wide range of treatments, including in-house pamphlet- and paperback-binding, temporary serials binding, tipping-in errata sheets and other inserts, making pockets for loose parts such as maps and charts, slitting uncut pages, making page repairs, removing tapes and stains from pages, repairing sewing structures (either before, or instead of sending them out for commercial binding), tightening hinges, replacing endpapers, rebacking, recasing, and rebinding. Treatments range from minor procedures that can be done relatively quickly by technicians to major procedures that require the skill and judgment of a conservator, involve written and photographic documentation, and are mechanically and chemically complex. Rehousing does not constitute conservation treatment.

Conservation may also include item-by-item treatment (NOT mass treatment) of individual items damaged by water, fire, and mold. Because mass treatment can involve very large numbers that would mask the size and nature of the in-house conservation effort, activities such as freeze drying and fumigation, are recorded only in response to Question 7e, "other contract expenditures." Exhibit preparation is recorded as conservation activity when an item is treated (e.g., a print is matted), but not when a temporary support (e.g., a book cradle) is constructed to support an item on display. In the latter case, total FTE staff suffices as a measure of effort.

Because the nature of procedures and the level of in-house conservation expertise varies significantly across ARL libraries, treatments are recorded based on the length of time that they require to perform (time being a meaningful and comparable measure of effort). Use of archivally sound methods and materials is presumed.

Question 12. Level 1 conservation treatments require 15 minutes or less to perform.

Question 13. Level 2 treatments require more than 15 minutes but less than two hours to perform.

Question 14. Level 3 conservation treatments require more than two hours to perform. Where an extraordinary number of hours is required to treat selected items, this information can be recorded in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Question 15. This answer is the sum of the answers to Questions 12-14. It should reflect the total number of volumes (bound and unbound, as well as pamphlets) that were treated, and not the total number of treatments performed.

Question 16. Unbound sheets include items such as manuscripts, maps, posters, and works of art on paper. Procedures include a variety of mechanical and chemical treatments (e.g., paper repair, surface cleaning, washing, deacidifying, encapsulating, mounting, matting) that lengthen the life of the item. Use of archivally sound methods and materials is presumed. Report the total number of sheets of paper that were treated, and not the total number of treatments performed.

Question 17. Non-paper items include such materials as films, magnetic tapes, disks, and globes. Treatment of all photographic materials is also reported here, including photographs printed on paper. Treatments might include cleaning, splicing, reformatting (e.g., from film to video tape), and re-recording (e.g., from deteriorated videotape to new tape).

Question 18. "Custom-fitted enclosures" are distinguished from the prefabricated boxes and other enclosures identified in Question 8 as "supplies," in that the former are custom-made for the item that they are meant to protect, and the latter are standard-size enclosures available from supply catalogs. Custom-fitted enclosures include paper and polyester book jackets, paper and board wrappers, portfolios, phase boxes, double-tray boxes, and other boxes. (Polyester encapsulation of single sheets should be reported in response to Question 16 rather than here.) Use of archival quality methods and materials is presumed.

Question 19. Record all volumes (including pamphlets) bound or rebound by a commercial bindery. In cases where a university operates a "commercial"-type bindery on a cost-recovery basis, and fees are paid to that bindery, enter data under "Contract" and make a note in the "FOOTNOTES" section.

Questions 20-21.

Mass deacidification is a process by which books and papers are treated to neutralize acidity and to introduce an alkaline buffer. Materials are mass-deacidified in batches, in chambers that hold several (or many) items. Item-by-item deacidification of volumes and papers, performed by conservators and technicians, should be recorded in response to Question 14, not here.

Question 21. Record the number of linear feet of manuscripts and other papers actually treated, not the number of linear feet of shelving emptied for treatment.

Questions 22.

Preservation photocopying refers only to items photocopied on paper that has a minimum pH of 7.5, a minimum alkaline reserve equivalent to 2% calcium carbonate based on oven dry weight of the paper, and includes no groundwood or unbleached pulp. Images must be properly fused to the paper.

Record the number of bound volumes and pamphlets photocopied in their entirety (i.e., each page has been photocopied to produce a facsimile volume).

Question 23.

Preservation microfilming includes preparation of materials for microfilming, filming itself, processing, inspection, and subsequent disposition of both film and materials filmed. Adherence to relevant American National Standards Institute standards and Association for Information and Image Management standards for film stock, production, and storage is presumed.

Record data only for first-generation microforms. For monographs and serials (including newspapers), record data in all three categories (i.e., "volumes," "titles," "exposures") if possible. If only partial information is available for a category (i.e. only Contract Microfilming Exposures figures are available and not contract volumes or titles), record "U/A" for those figures not included. "Volumes" refers to bibliographic or physical units and is unrelated to the amount of space occupied by the volume on a microfilm reel (or reels). For materials such as archives, manuscripts, maps, and photographs, record exposures only. Use the "FOOTNOTES" section to indicate the nature of projects, e.g., "1,590 photographs filmed from the 19th Century Russian Collection; 12,493 manuscripts filmed from the Johnson Historical Collection."

An "exposure" is one frame of film. Please indicate in the "FOOTNOTES" section if the number of exposures reported includes all filming, or if the number reflects only filming of such materials as archives, manuscripts, maps, and photographs, where no title or volumes counts are available.

Include data for projects that are undertaken cooperatively with other libraries, but not for commercial projects in which the library participates (e.g., where a commercial vendor borrows library materials for filming and subsequent sale of the film). When the library serves as a commercial microfilming vendor for another institution, this filming should be recorded by the library that contracts to have the filming done, and not by the filming library.

Record preservation microform masters produced by copying non-archival or damaged film, or produced from digitalized text. Use the "FOOTNOTES" section to indicate the scope and nature of this activity.

Dissertations that are sent to University Microfilms International for filming should not be recorded.

Footnotes. Reporting libraries are urged to use the "FOOTNOTES" section to report any information that would clarify the figures submitted. Explanatory footnotes will be included with the published statistics. Please make an effort to word footnotes in a manner consistent with notes appearing in the published report, so that the ARL Office can interpret footnotes correctly. For your convenience, a copy of your footnotes from the ARL Preservation Statistics 1994-95 is included with the printed copy of the questionnaire. Please update these notes, indicating whether or not the notes are still valid. (Note that the numbers on the printed worksheet refer to the columns in the main data tables, e.g. I-5 is line 5 in Table I in the published Preservation Statistics. If you add new footnotes, please number them to correspond to numbered questions in the questionnaire.

Please return a printed version of the completed questionnaire together with the disk version to the ARL Statistics and Measurement Program by November 30, 1996.

APPENDIX

ARL MEMBER LIBRARIES

The Association of Research Libraries (ARL) represents the interests of 120 libraries that serve major North American research institutions. ARL operates as a forum for the exchange of ideas and as an agent for collective action to influence the forces affecting the ability of these libraries to meet the future needs of scholarship. The ARL Statistics and Measurement Program is organized around identifying, collecting, analyzing, and distributing quantifiable information describing the characteristics of research libraries. The program offers publications and special member services, and collaborates with other national and international library statistics programs. Data collected include salaries, library holdings, expenditures, staff, interlibrary lending, and preservation activities.
