Visual Arts Achievement Portfolio Foundations I (VA 1100) Student Art Teacher Parent School and District

Description of Foundations I

This is the required Junior High/Middle School Visual Arts Core course. It is designed to provide an overview of Visual Arts while studying a broad variety of art tools and materials. With an emphasis on studio production, this course is designed to develop higher-level thinking, art-related technology skills, art criticism, art history, and aesthetics.

Explanation of Standards

There are two basic goals in a visual arts education: one, creating meaning in works of art, and two, perceiving meaning in works of art. The Utah State Visual Arts Core divides each of these goals into two standards. The resulting four art standards are Making, Perceiving, Expressing, and Contextualizing. These four divisions or standards organize the curriculum into manageable and related units and guide the student toward a deep and holistic comprehension of the Visual Arts. Each standard is broken into objectives, each objective into indicators. A scoring box is placed to the left of each objective. The student scores his or her achievement within each objective using a number ranging from 0 to 10. A legend is provided wherein the student and teacher tally both the average score from the objective boxes and the total number of indicators the class has studied.

Technology requirements for this class include computers with art/graphics software, color printer, image projectors, and appropriate new technologies.

Listed below are all of the courses presented in the Visual Arts Core Curriculum. There are additional, elective courses such as AP Art History and Studio Art available in many schools.

Visual Arts Achievement Portfolio Photography (VA 1170) Student Art Teacher Parent School and District

Description of Photography

This course is for the High School Visual Arts Core Curriculum. Photography includes the inventive use of light and photographic equipment to create art. With an emphasis on studio production, this course is designed to develop higher-level thinking, art-related technology skill, art criticism, art history, and aesthetics. The prerequisite for this course is Foundations II (VA 1200).

Explanation of Standards

There are two basic goals in a visual arts education: one, creating meaning in works of art, and two, perceiving meaning in works of art. The Utah State Visual Arts Core divides each of these goals into two standards. The resulting four art standards are Making, Perceiving, Expressing, and Contextualizing. These four divisions or standards organize the curriculum into manageable and related units and guide the student toward a deep and holistic comprehension of the Visual Arts. Each standard is broken into objectives, each objective into indicators. A scoring box is placed to the left of each objective. The student scores his or her achievement within each objective using a number ranging from 0 to 10. A legend is provided wherein the student and teacher tally both the average score from the objective boxes and the total number of indicators the class has studied.

Technology requirements for this class include computers with art/graphics software, color printer, image projectors, and appropriate new technologies.

Listed below are all of the courses presented in the Visual Arts Core Curriculum. There are additional, elective courses such as AP Art History and Studio Art available in many schools.

Visual Arts Achievement Portfolio Film Making (VA 1240) Student Art Teacher Parent School and District

Description of Film Making

This course is for the High School Visual Arts Core Curriculum. It is designed to provide an overview and introduction to the four most basic phases of film making: Development, Pre-Production, Production, and Post-Production. This course covers higher-level thinking skills and art-related technology skills with an emphasis on the creation of films in either traditional or electronic media. The prerequisite for this course is any other high school fine arts course.

Explanation of Standards

The discipline of Film Making is a high tech form of story telling. It requires diverse talents from many people and a broad range of equipment and locale. This Core is designed to direct the student through the film making process from the concept of the story line to exhibition of the final project. The Core assists the student to both participate in and oversee the actual creation of a film. The Core is divided into four standards; each standard is broken down into several objectives. Each objective is further broken down into a range of actions (bulleted) that achieve the objective. The student scores his or her achievement within each objective by marking a number ranging from 0 to 10 in a box to the left of each objective. At the end of the Core is a legend wherein the student or teacher tallies the average score from the objective boxes and the number of objectives the class has studied.

Technology requirements for this class include computers with art/graphics software, color printer, image projector, image capturing devices such as digital camera and camcorder, playback device, and editing hard- and software, and appropriate new technologies.

Listed below are all of the courses presented in the Visual Arts Core Curriculum. There are additional, elective courses such as AP Art History and Studio Art available in many schools.

Description of Commercial Art and Electronic Media

This course is for the High School Visual Arts Core Curriculum. CAEM is an overview of traditional art media and new electronic art media used in modern communications. With an emphasis on studio production, this course is designed to develop higher-level thinking, art-related technology skill, art criticism, art history, and aesthetics. The prerequisite for this course is Foundations II (VA 1200).

Explanation of Standards

There are two basic goals in a visual arts education: one, creating meaning in works of art, and two, perceiving meaning in works of art. The Utah State Visual Arts Core divides each of these goals into two standards. The resulting four art standards are Making, Perceiving, Expressing, and Contextualizing. These four divisions or standards organize the curriculum into manageable and related units and guide the student toward a deep and holistic comprehension of the Visual Arts. Each standard is broken into objectives, each objective into indicators. A scoring box is placed to the left of each objective. The student scores his or her achievement within each objective using a number ranging from 0 to 10. A legend is provided wherein the student and teacher tally both the average score from the objective boxes and the total number of indicators the class has studied.

Technology requirements for this class include computers with art/graphics software, color printer, image projectors, and appropriate new technologies.

Listed below are all of the courses presented in the Visual Arts Core Curriculum. There are additional, elective courses such as AP Art History and Studio Art available in many schools.
