ABSTRACT

This Fantasy unit focuses on C. S. Lewis's "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe." Through the unit's 17 lessons (which correspond to the book's 17 chapters), students will read and analyze the text, using the literary elements of characterization, setting, plot, theme, character, climax, and resolution. The unit offers an overview; suggests length and grade level; lists subjects and subtopics; cites dimensions of learning and intelligences being addressed; notes equipment and materials needed; addresses National Standards for Arts Education and other standards; and lists teacher resources. It also presents instructional objectives and strategies; offers a warm-up instructional plan; and suggests assessment and extension activities. It then provides a detailed, step-by-step (i.e., chapter-by-chapter) instructional plan. Attached are an outline of literary elements and questions for "quality thinking." (NKA)

Any or all of the following can be used for assessment. These can be used during the ongoing teaching of the lesson as benchmarks and at the end of the unit.

1. Who are the protagonists and antagonists?
2. The characters are in conflict with either each other or themselves. Write an analysis of a conflict that is illustrated in the novel.
3. Review your journal entries and reflect upon the class discussions about problems and situations that characters had to deal with in the novel. Write a paper comparing their interests and problems to your own interests and problems.
4. What literary elements does C.S. Lewis use to make the book more suspenseful and enchanting? Give examples to support your ideas.
5. What is the message or theme C.S. Lewis presents in The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe? Write a paper.

Performance Task:

You and your classmates have been studying The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe by C.S. Lewis. You have come to appreciate a few components of a fantasy. Reflect upon your enjoyment of the enchanting qualities of fairy tales. Your teacher has asked you to review a few of your favorite fairy tales as well as The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe. Analyze the magical elements and values the author is trying to instill in the reader.

In a small group, brainstorm possible values you want to emulate. Compile as many as you can. Think about how life would improve if everybody tried to make the best choices and not necessarily the easiest. Also, compile a list of character strengths and weaknesses. Write a summary.

You are to write and illustrate a fairy tale. Remember that fairy tales are magical and try to teach a lesson. Students are to include the following literary elements studied in class:

- Character: Protagonist/Antagonist
- Setting
- Plot
- Theme
- Conflict
- Climax
- Resolution

Extensions:

Additional Activities:

1. Create a collage that depicts the enchanting setting of Narnia.
2. Research aspects of World War II. Prepare a report of your findings.
3. Look at the titles for the chapters in The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe. Write an analysis of why C.S. Lewis used chapter headings. Do the titles provoke interest, and are they relevant to the events in the chapter?
4. Write a letter to C.S. Lewis about your ideas, aspirations, and questions about his novel.
5. Read another novel from The Chronicles of Narnia. Write a paper comparing the two novels.
6. Dress up as one of the characters and write a monologue about your experiences.
7. Design a travel brochure advertising a trip to Narnia.
8. Review the death scenes in The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe. How does C.S. Lewis portray death? What message is he trying to convey?
9. Make up a detailed map of Narnia showing where everything is and label it.
10. What was your favorite part of the novel? What was your least favorite part? Why?
11. Respond in your journal to the following statements. Support your answers:
 - a. Edmund realizes he makes mistakes and takes responsibility.
 - b. The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe is a classic because the characters and situations are enchanting.
 - c. The old professor has visited Narnia.
