A publication of the American Association of Community Colleges

Note. Although every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information contained in this book, all information respecting third parties, including but not limited to the government of the United States and institutions, is subject to change. Readers are urged to verify the currency and accuracy of all information before acting in reliance upon it. All information about individual institutions has been provided by the institutions, and AACC has not independently verified any such information.

Welcome

On behalf of the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC), I am pleased that you will be attending one of our international fairs during Fall 2007 in Jakarta and Surabaya, Indonesia; Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam; Hong Kong and Macau, China; and Seoul, Korea.

AACC is the primary advocacy, leadership, and service organization for community colleges in the United States. The association represents approximately 1,200 associate degree-granting institutions (all of which are regionally accredited) and more than 11 million students. AACC works with other sectors of the higher education community, state and federal governments, and business and industry to serve the needs of students, colleges, and communities.

AACC is holding these tours to acquaint international students in Asia with the benefits of community colleges and to show you how these institutions are the gateway to higher education in the United States.

Many students can begin their undergraduate studies at community colleges and finish with a bachelor's degree at a 4-year college or university in the United States. Our colleges will work with students who graduate with an associate of arts or associate of science degree to make this transfer a reality.

Community colleges offer a unique environment to their students. Classes are small, focus is on teaching and learning, technology is state-of-the-art, and special services for academic counseling, orientation to U.S. culture, and assistance with English language are widely available. Many community colleges have adopted a global focus and welcome international students to their campuses, emphasizing their mission of access and equity.

The colleges participating in these fairs represent the wide variety of opportunities available to international students. Some are large and urban with several campuses, while others are in rural settings serving small student populations. All offer a wide variety of majors and in-demand programs. And they are committed to the success of every student.

We look forward to welcoming you to the United States.

George R. Boggs, President and CEO
American Association of Community Colleges

About Butte College

Butte College is an accredited Northern California community college, located 75 miles north of the state capital, Sacramento. The college is the largest in California, housed on 928 acres situated at the foothills of a beautiful mountain range. More than 13,000 students currently attend Butte College, pursuing either undergraduate transfer course work, 2-year associate degrees, or certificates. Butte College offers challenging academic course work in a small classroom setting that will enable you to transfer your first 2 years of general education course work to a 4-year university. Our students have transferred to UC Berkeley, UC Davis, USC, and many other prestigious universities. You will save thousands of dollars, increase transfer opportunities, and live in a safe community while making lasting friendships.

Bothell, WA

"The small size of class in Cascadia is really good for learning, especially because the teacher cares and helps each single one. My English has also improved a lot. I get a lot of chances to use it with my teachers and American friends. I'm glad I chose Cascadia!"

Student from Hong Kong

About Cascadia Community College

Cascadia is a safe, unique, and affordable college for international students. It is close to Seattle, on the same campus as University of Washington-Bothell, and is a great place to learn English and make friends. We have 2-year associate degree programs in business, integrated studies, pre-nursing, and science. In April 2008, we will start our English language program, and international students will no longer need a TOEFL score. We also have a dual-enrollment program with the UW-Bothell, so that you can go to both schools at the same time to get your bachelor's degree. As the newest community college in Washington state, we have new buildings and computers. Our faculty are well-qualified and appreciate international students' perspectives in class.

About Clark College

Located in the Pacific Northwest, Clark College is located near Portland, Oregon, very close to Portland International Airport. Students can visit the Pacific Ocean or the snow-capped mountains by traveling one hour by car. Our climate is beautifully mild, and the winters are rainy. We offer a wide variety of academic certificates, and our associate degree programs transfer well to area universities. We also offer a year-round five-level intensive English language program. Our international students are warmly welcomed by our campus and community. Students live with host families that are arranged by ANDEO International Homestays. Our services for students include a language laboratory, writing and tutoring center, health center, safety department, academic advising, and personal counseling. The student's international advisor will take great care to make sure that the students are happy and successful while in the United States.

"CSN is a great institution to pursue various careers. The facilities are excellent. From the very beginning of class I have had such a great time learning and interacting with friends and peers. CSN is truly a great place to be."

Ryan Austria, Philippines

About College of Southern Nevada

CSN is best known for its highly respected programs in hotel management, casino management, and travel and tourism. However, there are more than 100 programs that students can choose from. Nursing, telecommunications, engineering, computer information technology, and international business are popular areas of study among international students. Students can pursue a 1-year certificate of achievement or a 2-year associate degree or complete the first 2 years of a 4-year bachelor's degree. For many international students, the support services prove most beneficial. Students can take advantage of free tutoring, writing and math labs, and counseling services. CSN has an excellent ESL program and hosts a private intensive English language program (ELS Language Centers) for students who do not meet the English admission requirements.

Cypress, CA

"Orange County in southern California is one of the best places to live in the United States, and Cypress College is a very good college in terms of its programs and faculty. Students and faculty are very friendly and kind toward international students."

Daniel, Indonesia

About Cypress College

Conveniently located in beautiful southern California near five major free-ways and three airports (Los Angeles International, John Wayne in Santa Ana, and Long Beach), Cypress College is easily accessible and enjoys a sunny and mild climate. Just 10 miles from the campus is the Pacific Ocean. In addition to its 58 university transfer and 48 associate degree programs, Cypress also offers 122 certificate programs including airline and travel careers, auto technology, and hotel/restaurant/culinary arts. The Office of the International Students Program (ISP) assists international students with the application and admission process, assessment testing, orientation, academic counseling, and course registration and provides support services to promote student success. With 150 international students (and growing) from 30 different countries, it is one of the smaller international student programs in the area, which enables the office staff to provide strong support services.

About Herkimer County Community College

Herkimer County Community College's hilltop location overlooking the scenic Mohawk Valley is an ideal learning environment in which to begin your college education. Our modern campus provides quality education at an affordable cost to more than 3,500 students each year. HCCC is located in the small, safe town of Herkimer (population 8,000), near many beautiful lakes and mountains, yet within a 4-hour drive of Niagara Falls, New York City, Toronto, Boston, and Montreal. A dedicated international programs staff is available to assist you with your adjustment to life in the United States. The office provides cultural, academic, and social activities throughout the year. HCCC offers over 40 degree programs leading to 1-year certificates and associate degrees in arts, sciences, and applied sciences. The Internet Academy offers 18 associate degree programs and 3 certificate programs, which can be completed entirely online; 73% of all courses offered by the college are taught by full-time faculty. Although over 3,500 students attend HCCC, our class sizes are small (22:1 faculty/student ratio), therefore allowing faculty to devote their attention to each and every student. Quality teaching and concern for student learning are at the forefront of faculty interests and pursuits.

"When I first arrived, the new student orientation was very good. I learned everything I needed to know. The academic counselors helped me a lot. They answered my questions and I had a really clear transfer plan. I transfer to San Diego State University in aerospace engineering in fall."

Quang, Vietnam

About MiraCosta College

MiraCosta College has two beautiful campuses along the Pacific coast, 35 miles north of the San Diego airport. With more than 60 academic departments, academic quality is the reputation of our college. MiraCosta has the highest transfer rate in San Diego to University of California campuses and other universities. Students receive personal attention through small class sizes, free tutoring, ESL classes, a full-time ESL program, and academic counseling. International students participate in campus clubs, Phi Theta Kappa Academic Honor Society, and team sports. Our new buildings, safe and suburban area, ocean views, and sunny climate (the average daily temperature is 19–27° C) make our college a great place to study.

About Olympic College

Founded in 1946, Olympic College is a community college located in Bremerton, Washington, a short ferry ride from Seattle across spectacular Puget Sound. We welcome and invite students to live and study in the Pacific Northwest, where the tall trees, Olympic Mountains, and Puget Sound waterways create a comfortable and fresh environment. Bremerton is a safe and scenic study abroad destination with the Bremerton campus three blocks from waterfront parks. Olympic College offers an English language program and the first 2 years of university-level (freshman and sophomore) studies in academic and professional/technical programs. Our multicultural center and International Office work together to provide activities for our small, but growing, international student population.

About Portland Community College

Studying in the United States is an enriching, life-changing experience. Portland Community College is a multi-campus college with centers in various locations around the Portland, Oregon area. Designated as the "Best Big City" by Money magazine, Portland is located in the heart of the Pacific Northwest. Portland's big-city excitement, friendly people, and no sales tax make the "City of Roses" a wonderful place to live and study. Improve your language skills by participating in our intensive English language program (no TOEFL score is required), take special interest courses, or pursue courses in over 100 areas of study. PCC's international education staff can help you plan courses that will transfer to a 4-year university, complete a 2-year associate degree, or obtain a 1-year certificate.

Salt Lake City, UT

"My best experience at SLCC was ESL. The professor explained about studying and living in the U.S. She worried about me and taught me very kindly. If I had a problem, she always taught me again. My favorite class was the Health class for CPR. I got a certification from the American Red Cross."

Shin Kim, South Korea

About Salt Lake Community College

Salt Lake Community College welcomes international students who seek a rewarding education in the United States. For over 50 years, students from more than 100 countries have chosen SLCC because of the affordable, safe, and relaxed Utah lifestyle. SLCC offers a program providing international students the opportunity to start with the ESL program, earn a 2-year associate degree, and then transfer to a 4-year university to complete a bachelor's degree. SLCC also offers technical and vocational programs to prepare students for employment. Salt Lake City is a metropolitan area in the center of the Rocky Mountains. Outdoor adventurers enjoy world-class skiing and snowboarding at nearby resorts, hiking, fishing and mountain biking. SLCC provides a supportive center for international students.

About Sheridan College

Sheridan College is located in the quaint town of Sheridan, Wyoming (population 16,000). Wyoming is arguably one of the most beautiful states in the West, where residents and visitors enjoy open spaces, mountains, and endless outdoor opportunities. Wyoming is also the least populated state in the United States. Sheridan College serves about 1,400 students each year from all ages and ethnic backgrounds. It's easy to make friends at Sheridan College. With the small class sizes, it's easy to talk to your instructors one-on-one. Sheridan College also features very modern on-campus residence halls. The campus is located at the base of the Bighorn Mountains, where you have access to hiking, biking, camping, fishing, skiing, snowmobiling, and much more.
