History

The Tennessee Higher Education Commission was created in 1967 by the Tennessee General Assembly to achieve coordination and foster unity with regard to higher education. The Commission coordinates two systems of higher education: the University of Tennessee institutions governed by the University of Tennessee Board of Trustees, and the state universities, community colleges, and technology centers governed by the Tennessee Board of Regents. There are currently nine public universities, 13 community colleges, and 27 technology centers in Tennessee that serve over 225,000 students collectively.

The Commission is composed of nine lay members appointed by the Governor for six year terms representing congressional districts of the State, three Constitutional Officers who are ex-officio voting members (Comptroller of the Treasury, State Treasurer, and Secretary of State), two ex-officio student members who serve two year terms, and the Executive Director of the State Board of Education as an ex-officio non-voting member.

Our Vision

From the Tennessee Higher Education Commission 2005-2010 Master Plan

Through the establishment of a public agenda built upon civic, corporate, and community partnerships, Tennessee higher education will be able to better serve the broad needs of the state and create a workforce that is able to compete in the knowledge economy. Such partnerships will ensure that all students are prepared for post-secondary education and have access to high quality educational programs that expand knowledge creation and civic responsibility.

- ◆ Nationally, the percentage of state tax revenues appropriated to support higher education declined steadily over the past 20 years.
- ◆ This trend is also apparent at the regional level, although the rate of decline slowed in the past decade.
- ◆ Tennessee maintains its rank in the second highest quartile of all states for tax contributions to higher education, but continues to show a decline in the percentage contributed.

*Southern Regional Education Board

Notes: The state appropriations include funds for medical and health programs, state-level financial aid programs for students, state funds for private colleges and universities, and state funds for coordinating or governing boards of public colleges and universities. State appropriations exclude dollars for capital construction and debt payments. Also excluded are funds from sources other than state tax funds, including all funds from student fees, federal sources, and local sources. Seven SREB states excluding Tennessee also provide significant additional local funding for higher education operations.

Percentage of Family Income Needed to Pay for College* at Public 4-Year Institutions 2008
SREB States and the US

Net tuition as a percentage of income is low at Tennessee public universities and moderate at community colleges both nationally and in relation to SREB peers. Net attendance costs in public institutions amount to one-fourth or less of family income.

Percentage of Family Income Needed to Pay for College* at Public Community Colleges 2008
SREB States and the US

*The percentage of family income (average of all income groups) after financial aid needed to pay for college tuition, fees, room, and board for first-time, full-time certificate or degree seeking undergraduate students.

Note: Methodology change from 2006 to 2008 changed the source of data for family income.

- ◆ The Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship program expended over $225 million in 2007-08, up from $191 million the year before.
- ◆ The number of students served grew to 76,000 in 2007-08, up from 67,000 the year before. This growth came from an increasing dual enrollment grant program, the creation of the math and science teachers program, as well as an increasing number of students in the TELS programs.

Section 4:

GLOSSARY

Definitions

Auxiliary Enterprise: An entity that exists to furnish goods or services to students, faculty, or staff, and that charges a fee directly related to the cost of the goods or services (essentially self-supporting). Examples include: residence halls, food services, college stores, parking lots, etc.

Census Date: The date on which all degree credit headcount and full-time equivalent enrollment reports are generated for all Tennessee public institutions. The census date is the 14th calendar day from the beginning of classes, including the day on which classes begin.

Degree Credit: Credit that the institution designates as regular, occupational, or certificate, extension or co-op.

Formula Unit: Includes public universities, community colleges, and technology centers.

Full Time Equivalent (FTE) Enrollment: For undergraduate students, the total number of credits attempted divided by 15. For graduate students, the total number of credits attempted divided by 12. For students in clock hour courses, the total number of clock hours divided by 900.

Full-Time Student: A student who is enrolled for 12 or more hours of degree credit.

Mandatory Fees: A required fee for all students.

Non-Formula Units: Includes all entities other than universities, community colleges, and technology centers. Examples include the UT Veterinary School, the Space Institute, and the Centers of Excellence.

Part-Time Student: A student who is enrolled for less than 12 hours of degree credit.

Restricted Current Funds: Funds expendable for operating purposes but restricted by donors or other outside agencies as to the specific purpose for which they must be expended.

Southern Regional Education Board (SREB): The nation's first interstate compact for higher education, the SREB is a coalition of educators, government officials, and civic leaders interested in advancing knowledge and improving the social and economic life of the South.

Special Student: At the undergraduate level, a student who does not hold a Bachelor's or advanced degree and who is not working toward a certificate or degree. At the graduate level, a student who holds a bachelor's degree or higher, is not working toward a degree and is not a post-doctoral student.
