LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, BUREAU OF EDUCATION, Washington, January 19, 1915.

SIR: On the first of May, 1913, 1 recommended the publication of a pamphlet containing lists of accredited secondary schools in the United States as a bulletin of the Bureau of Education. In my letter of transmittal I called attention to the fact that many students apply for admission to higher institutions in other States and sections than those in which they have received their high-school preparation. Many also seek certificates from examining and licensing boards, which have no direct means of knowing the standards of the schools from which the applicants come. The demand for this information led the Bureau of Education to undertake the collection and preparation of lists of high schools and academies accredited by State universities, approved by State departments of education, or recognized by examining and certifying boards. The demand proved to be even greater than had been anticipated. The edition of the bulletin was soon exhausted, and there have since been many requests from college and university officers for copies of jt, which could not be met. Moreover, changes are made in these lists of accredited schools from year to year. For these reasons, I have requested Dr. S. P. Capen, specialist in higher education in the bureau, to revise the pamphlet on a somewhat different basis. The revision is contained in the accompanying manuscript which I recommend for publication as a bulletin of the Bureau of Education.

Respectfully submitted.

ĩ

P. P. CLAXTON, Commissioner.

The Secretary of the Interior.

ACCREDITED SECONDARY SCHOOLS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The lists of accredited secondary schools which are presented in this bulletin are designed to meet the needs of officers charged with the admission of new students to secondary schools, colleges, universities, professional schools (especially schools of law and medicine), normal schools, etc.; of State examining and certifying boards, which are concerned with the status of secondary schools located at a distance; and of parents who may want to know about the high schools of any particular State or section.

The first issue of the bulletin was published in 1913. The great annual increase in the number of secondary schools (in 1910-11 there were 12,213; in 1911-12 the number had grown to 13,268; in 1912-13 it had reached 13,445), together with the sudden changes in standing, generally for the better, of many secondary schools in all parts of the country, necessitate frequent revisions. A few new lists have been added, and certain minor changes have been made in the arrangement of the bulletin. These are mentioned below. For the rest, the essential part of the introduction to the previous issue is reprinted here.

ACCREDITED SECONDARY SCHOOL DEFINED.

An "accredited secondary school," as the term is used in this bulletin, is a school which is equipped to prepare students for colleges requiring at least 14 units for unconditioned admission and which has been investigated or approved for this purpose by one of the following agencies: A State officer of education, a university or college inspector or committee on admissions, an officer or committee of an accrediting association. Except in the case of certain of the Southern States whose high-school courses are based upon seven years of elementary training, it is understood that these 14 units represent secondary work above the standard eight-grade elementaryschool course. It is assumed that the curriculum of an accredited school represents four years of 36 or more weeks each; that at least three teachers give their whole time to high-school work; ' and that the school keeps up an adequate library and laboratory equipment.

UNIT DEFINED.

The following authoritative definition of the word "unit" has been made by the National Conference Committee on Standards of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which is composed of representatives of the National Association of State Universities, the New England College Entrance Certificate Board, the College Entrance Examination Board, the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States, the New England Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, and the United States Commissioner of Education:

A unit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work.

This statement is designed to afford a standard of measurement for the work done in secondary schools. It takes-

(1) The four-year high-school course as a basis and assumes that-

(2) The length of the school year is from 36 to 40 weeks; that—
(3) A period is from 40 to 60 minutes in length; and that—
(4) The study is pursued for a crive periods a week;
but under ordinary circumstances a satisfactory year's work in any subject can not be accomplished in less than 120 sixty-minute hours, or their equivalent. Schools organized on any other than a four-year basis can nevertheless estimate their work in terms of this unit.

VARIATIONS IN REQUIREMENTS OF ACCREDITING AGENCIES.

The number of subjects recognized by the various accrediting bodies as forming an acceptable part of the college preparatory course varies greatly; for example, the subjects recognized by the College Entrance Examination Board as permissible in a standard high-school course are:

· · · ·	Units.	• • •	Units.

Mathematics up to	31	History	. 4 •

On the other hand, there endowed institutions, like Lel		State universities and priv Stanford University, which p

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT.

great enlargement of the range of electives. The University of Minnesota, for example, accepts the following:

•	Units.	1 1 1	Units,
Engliah.	3-4	Business arithme lic.	4
Mathematics	2-84	Business law
Latin	2-4	Bookkeeping.	1-2

History and social science	j8	Domestic art and science up to	- 4 °
Natural science	1-0	Agriculture	1-4
Vocationál subjects	1-1	Normal training subjects.	1-3

It will therefore be apparent that the only close correspondence among the requirements of the various institutions mentioned in this pamphlet is the quantitative one. All specify at least 14 units, except the University of South Carolina, which admits with 10. None requires more than 16 units for admission.

The requirements of each accrediting agency are briefly stated at the head of the list of schools which each accredits. At the head of each list of schools accredited by a State university or private institution the requirements for admission to the A. B. course are summarized. The schools on the accredited list generally have the privilege of certificating students to other courses as well. To outline the admission requirements for all these courses would consume much space and might lead to confusion. The requirements for admission to the A. B. course may in each case be considered fairly typical of the institution's policy with respect to entrance requirements.

METHODS OF ACCREDITING.

Two general methods are in use for carrying on the system of accrediting in those States where the State authority embraces agencies for higher education. Under the first the inspection of the work of the high schools is done through an officer or committee of the State university, and the list of acceptable or accredited high schools is published in the catalogue of the university and thus made available for other institutions within the same State or for institutions in heighboring States. Under the second, the inspection and rating are done by the State superintendent of public instruction, the State board of education, or the State education office, acting through specially appointed officers. Examples of the former method are the Universities of Michigan, California, and Texas; of the latter method, the States of New York, Ohio, and Minnesota.

The requirement of the completion of a standard four-year highschool course representing at least 14 units for admission to college, or as a part of the prescription for admission to professional schools or to the practice of professions, has produced a group of organizations among whose activities are the 'coordination of standards of 'secondary education in neighboring States and the compilation of lists of accredited secondary schools. Such sectional organizations are now at work in the North Central States, the Middle States and Maryland, New England, and the Southern States. These organizations are purely voluntary and have no legal control over the institutions which they rate. The influence which they wield, however, because of the fact that they focus representative educational opinion in their respective sections, is considerable. Occasionally also private institutions, like the University of Chicago, have carried on, their own investigation and accrediting.

CONTENTS OF THE BULLETIN.

PART I: STATE LISTS.

The bulletin is divided into three parts. The first part, as is appropriate, contains lists of schools accredited by State universities and State officers of education. Sometimes both the State university and the State department of education publish accredited lists. In such cases the list of the State university is printed first, and all schools accredited by the State education department not included in the university list are then added by way of supplement. Whenthe State department of education or the State university prints lists of high schools of different grades, only schools of the first grade are included, except in the case of Georgia and Maryland.<sup>1</sup>

Lists from every State except South Dakota are included in Part I. In this State neither the State university nor the State department of education has attempted during the last year and a half to survey the secondary schools with a view to accrediting them for college preparatory work. It therefore seemed better to omit South Dakota from Part I than to publish a list of accepted schools in that State which was admittedly antiquated. South Dakota is in the territory covered by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The list of this association, Part II, page 92, contains a number of South Dakota schools.

PART II: LISTS OF ACCREDITING ASSOCIATIONS.

Part II contains the lists of the three principal associations which undertake to accredit schools. The methods or standards of these associations are not identical. The list accredited by each is preceded by a statement of the basis upon which it is compiled.

<sup>1</sup> Schools scoredited by the University of Georgia in Group II are included in the list published for that institution. These schools meet the requirements just outlined, except that they are admitted to the certificating privilege with only 2.5 teachers of academic subjects.

The second group schools of Maryland have been certified to by the superintendent of public instruction as fulfilling the definition of an accredited school printed above.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT.

PART III: LISTS OF CERTAIN PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS.

With regard to Part III, a special explanation is in order. After the publication of the first issue of this bulletin it was found that many excellent private schools, especially in the Eastern States, which were thoroughly equipped to prepare for college, and indeed had annually for many years been sending an entirely satisfactory delegation to the best colleges in the country, were omitted from the lists of accredited schools of the States in which they were located. This was due either to the fact that the States had no State universities admitting by certificate or to the failure of the State education departments to include private schools in their lists of approved secondary institutions. The absence of the names of many of these schools from a document as comprehensive in its scope as this publication gave rise to false impressions concerning their standing. It seemed desirable to extend the scope of the bulletin so as to secure their inclusion. Accordingly the Bureau of Education asked a number of colleges and universities admitting on certificate and drawing students from the States in which private schools had previously not received official recognition to submit their own lists of accredited schools. Three considerations determined the choice of the higher institutions of whom this request was made: First, the policy of admission on certificate; second, the area from which each institution was known to draw its students; and, third, the recognized high standing of each. The lists submitted by the Catholic University of America, University of Chicago, George Washington University, Johns Hopkins University, St. John's College, Mount Holvoke College, Wellesley College, and Tulane University are printed in full in Part III. At the end of Part III are printed also the names of those schools belonging to the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Middle States and Maryland which, on account of their location, are not on any of the other lists included in the bulletin, but which have the privilege of certificating graduates to various colleges of high standing.

The schools are listed alphabetically, according to the towns in which they are located. The names of accredited private secondary schools and academies are printed in italics.

PART II.-LISTS OF ACCREDITING ASSOCIATIONS.

The Commission on Accredited Schools of the Southern States, of the Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools of the Southern States.

The minimum standard for accrediting shall be:

(a) Noschool shall be accredited which does not require for graduation the completion of a four-year highschool course of study embracing 14 units as defined by this association. A unit represents a year's study n any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. More than 20 periods per week should be discouraged.

LISTS OF ACCREDITING ASSOCIATIONS.

(b) The minimum scholastic attainment of three-fourths of all secondary school teachers of academic subjects in any accredited school on the southern list shall be equivalent to graduation from a college belonging to the Association of Colleges and Secondary schools of the Southern States, or a college approved by the commission. It is strongly advised that this attainment include, or be supplemented by, special study of the content and pedagogy of the subject taught.

(c) The number of daily periods of class instruction given by any teacher should not exceed five periods per day; and the commission will acrutinize with extreme care any school in which instructors teach as many as six daily periods.

(d) The laboratory and library facilities shall be adequate for the needs of instruction in the courses taught.

(c) The location and construction of the buildings, the lighting, heating, and ventilation of the rooms, the nature of the lavatories, corridors, water supply, school furniture, apparatus, and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both pupils and teachers.

(f) The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and speech, the general intellectual and moral tone of a school are paramount factors and, therefore, only schools which rank well in these particulars, as evidenced by rigid, thoroughgoing, sympathetic inspection, shall be considered eligible for the list.

(g) The commission will decline to consider any school whose teaching force consists of fewer than three teachers of academic subjects giving their full time to high-school instruction. When local conditions worrant the introduction of the so-called vocational subjects, such as agriculture, manual training, house-hold uris, and commercial subjects, the commission will hold that a sufficient number of teachers must be added to provide adequately for such instruction.

(i) All schools whose records show an excessive number of pupils per teacher, as based on the average number belonging, even though they may technically meet all other requirements, will be rejected. The association, recognizes 30 as maximum.

Schools accredited for the year 1913-14.
