The Profile of Graduate Management Admission Test® (GMAT®) Candidates 2007–08 to 2011–12

The 2011–2012 testing year held a number of significant milestones for the Graduate Management Admission Test exam.

A total of 286,529 GMAT exams were administered, with 831,337 score reports sent to more than 5,200 graduate-level management programs around the world—all record numbers. This record volume reflects the increase in graduate-level business and management programs, both MBA and other programs using the exam in their admissions process. It also may reflect increased interest in the exam brought on by the addition of the Integrated Reasoning section on June 5, 2012. Historically, test volume rises just before changes are made to a standardized exam as test takers opt for a familiar format at transition time.

The Graduate Management Admission Council’s annual Profile of GMAT Candidates captures key data about GMAT volume and the candidates who take the exam. The Profile presents data about tests taken based on examinee gender, age, citizenship, residency, and world region. Additional analyses examine undergraduate major and intended degree.

Inside the Profile

This edition of the Profile summarizes GMAT data over five testing years, from 2007–08 through 2011–12. “Testing years” run from July 1 to June 30, mirroring many academic calendars. Descriptions of each individual table offer specific insights about how to interpret the data. At a glance, here’s what the Profile can tell you:

- The total number of GMAT exams administered each year for the past 10 years
- Mean GMAT scores each year for the past 10 years¹
- Where examinees claim citizenship and residence, with breakdowns by world region for each of the last five years
- Test volume breakdown by gender, age, intended degree (e.g., MBA, EMBA, PhD), and undergraduate major

¹ When comparing mean scores in this report, keep in mind that the individuals represented in this report are self-select samples and their means are not necessarily representative of the population.

More detailed data on student mobility are available in the Geographic Trend Reports and online interactive GMAT Trends Tracker tool, which provide a closer look at GMAT volume and score-sending trends over the past five years.

Current titles include:

- Asian Geographic Trend Report for GMAT Examinees
- European Geographic Trend Report for GMAT Examinees
- North American Geographic Trend Report for GMAT Examinees
- World Geographic Trend Report for GMAT Examinees

Notes About the GMAT Exam

The GMAT exam is an important part of the admissions process for more than 2,000 schools worldwide. The GMAT exam consists of four sections: Verbal, Quantitative, Analytical Writing, and Integrated Reasoning. GMAT “Total” scores, which are reported in the Profile, are calculated based on performance on the Verbal and Quantitative sections of the exam. Total scores are reported in increments of 10, on a scale ranging from 200 to 800.

Notes About the Data

Unique Examinees: Data in this report reflect the total number of GMAT exams that generated valid, reportable scores during a given testing year. Examinees who took the exam more than once during the year are included in the aggregate data each time they generated a valid score. For example, if an individual took the GMAT exam twice during the 2011–12 testing year, he or she would represent a total of two exams taken during that year.

Since 2007–08, the annual percentage of individuals taking the GMAT exam has ranged from 80 to 84 percent of total GMAT exams taken globally. In the most recent testing year, 228,971 unique test takers submitted valid scores, which translates to 80 percent of the 286,529 GMAT exams reported for the year. Although the overall rate has remained relatively constant over the five-year period analyzed for this report, there is often significant variation across global regions. US citizens, for example, had a unique examinee rate of 86 percent in 2011–12, compared with just 68 percent for citizens of East and Southeast Asian countries.

The percentage of tests taken by non-US citizens has gone from 49% in 2007–08 to 59% in 2011–12.

Biographical information: During the test session, GMAT examinees are asked to provide the biographical and demographic information that is used in this Profile and for the Graduate Management Admission Search Service® (GMASS®) database.² Examinees are not required to provide this information, and some choose not to do so.

“No response” data: “No response” data included in Table 1 of the Profile refer to a small number of examinees who did not respond to the question about gender. “No response” data are not specified in the other tables. Consequently, for tables other than Table 1, grand sums will not necessarily equal the total in Table 1. Note, however, that all test takers responded to the questions about gender, citizenship, and residency for testing years 2007–08 through 2011–12.

Standard deviations: The only statistics reported in this summary are group sizes and mean Total scores. Another statistic commonly reported for data of this kind is the standard deviation, a measure of the spread of score distribution. For the data reported in the Profile, nearly all of the standard deviations for GMAT Total scores are in the 90 to 110 range. Because these standard deviations are redundant across subgroups tabulated in this summary and across the Profile’s testing years, they are not reported here.

Dashes in tables: Dashes that appear in tables throughout this report are used to indicate “not applicable,” such as when there are no examinees in a given subgroup and, thus, no scores exist. For examinee privacy, dashes are also used in place of mean Total scores when there are fewer than five examinees from a given subgroup or country.

Graduate Management Admission Council

The Profile of Graduate Management Admission Test Candidates is a product of the Graduate Management Admission Council (GMAC), owner of the Graduate Management Admission Test exam. Based in Reston, Virginia, GMAC is a nonprofit education organization of leading graduate business schools worldwide, dedicated to creating access to and disseminating information about graduate management education. More information is available at gmac.com.

² The Graduate Management Admission Search Service® (GMASS®) database is an annual, subscription-based service with a pool of names of potential applicants who have chosen to make their contact and other information available to schools. The database pool frequently renews as individuals move through the decision-making process. For more information, visit gmac.com/gmass.

What's in the Table:

- Table 1 presents the number of and mean GMAT Total scores for all examinees by gender and testing year.
- The “Total: Number” value reported in each column represents the total number of tests taken recorded in the Graduate Management Admission Council database and serves as a reference for subsequent tables in this report that exclude test takers who did not submit valid demographic information for the characteristics reported.

*Note:

Testing figures for testing year 2011–12 partially reflect increased interest in the exam brought on by the addition of the Integrated Reasoning section on June 5, 2012. Historically, test volume rises just before changes are made to a standardized exam as test takers opt for a familiar format prior to the transition.

GMAT Volume and Total Score Means by Age Group, Gender, and Testing Year

What's in the Table:

- Table 2 presents the number of and mean GMAT Total scores for men and women by age and testing year.
- Examinees are not asked to give their age but are asked for their birthdates. Ages have been calculated, therefore, from birthdates and dates when these examinees sat for the GMAT exam.
- Age totals for testing year 2007–08 do not sum to global total due to missing age data.
- Testing numbers by age in the following table may not match editions of the Profile published prior to 2011, as age calculation methods were updated in testing year 2010–11 for improved accuracy across years.
- Percent of Year totals may not sum to 100 percent due to rounding.
- The categories for age are:

Younger than 20 years	26–27 years	40–49 years
20–21 years	28–30 years	50+ years
22–23 years	31–34 years

GMAT Volume and Total Score Means by Intended Degree, Gender, and Testing Year

*Note:

Testing year 2010–11 marked the first full year of data reflecting a more precise listing of intended degrees. The updated list was implemented to provide schools with a better understanding of prospective business school students in the GMAT pipeline. Comparisons with historic data prior to testing year 2010–11 are therefore no longer appropriate. Consequently, only two years of full data are reported in Figure 3 and Table 3.

The category for All Other Degrees in Figure 3 includes examinees who selected Master's in Health Care Administration, Master's of Public Administration, or "Other" degree as their intended degree.

GMAT Volume and Total Score Means by Residence, Gender, and Testing Year

What's in the Table:

- Table 7 presents the number of and mean GMAT Total scores for men and women by testing year and world region of residence, as indicated by their mailing address at the time of registration for the GMAT exam.
- Testing numbers by world region of residence published in this report may not match previous editions of the Profile, as adjustments were made to ensure a complete representation of each region.

What's in the Table:

- Table A presents the number of and mean GMAT Total scores for men and women by US subgroup population and testing year. (This table includes GMAT tests taken by US citizens only.)
- US examinees select from the following subgroups:

African American	Asian American	Multiethnic
American Indian/Alaskan Native/Pacific Islander/Other Native American	Mexican American	Multiracial
	Puerto Rican	Other
	Other Hispanic American	White (Non-Hispanic)

- Indication of US subgroup became optional for US citizens living abroad in 2012. Annual totals therefore no longer match the US citizen total.

This Profile document is our annual compilation of GMAT testing data and serves as a historical record of tests taken around the world. It is a rich resource for school professionals looking to understand the landscape of potential students for graduate management education programs. To assist in evaluating the trends that emerge from this Profile data, GMAC also provides free interactive tools for viewing, sorting, and capturing this data to all schools that use the GMAT exam. To access these free tools, school professionals can log into the gmac.com website at the specific addresses listed. Contact customer service if you have any questions related to the login process or your eligibility to access the tools.

GMAT Trends Tracker 2012: Supplement to the Profile of GMAT Candidates

The GMAT Trends Tracker 2012: Supplement to the Profile of GMAT Candidates is an Adobe Flex tool, which presents nearly all of the data in this Profile document in a dynamic format. The advantages of the GMAT Trends Tracker tool include graphical representation of the data tables to more easily identify trends and changes over time, the ability to select and view just the regions and demographics of interest to you, and the ability to download and save that data to your own computer for additional use in presentations, reports, or supplemental analysis. Save options include screenshots of individual graphs and the ability to save the accompanying data tables in a format compatible for use in an external program, such as Excel.

To access the GMAT Trends Tracker 2012: Supplement to the Profile of GMAT Candidates, visit gmac.com/profile.

The GMAT Interactive Profile

The GMAT Interactive Profile lets you mine the GMAT test-taker databases and perform customized searches across multiple variables. With this powerful online tool, you can view summaries of test-taking trends and create your own reports to print or download at your convenience.

RECRUITING RESOURCES

Individuals with accounts on mba.com, the online portal to registration for the GMAT exam, have the free option to be included in the Graduate Management Admission Search Service (GMASS) database. For these individuals, inclusion in the GMASS database opens opportunities for communication with schools looking for candidates like them and potentially increases their exposure and visibility to programs they otherwise might not have considered.

For schools, the GMASS database provides direct access to qualified potential candidates who have shown a strong interest in graduate management education. These potential candidates have created an mba.com profile, may have taken the GMAT exam, and have specifically chosen to make their contact and other information available to schools.

Participation in this service provides school professionals with information about these potential candidates that is updated daily.

New features added to the GMASS application in 2012 include area mapping to allow users to search for contacts using geographic ranges.

To get more information or enroll in the GMASS program, visit gmac.com/gmass.

Get Even More Data to Inform Your Decisions

Savvy graduate management education professionals use GMAC research every day to make informed business decisions. Our rich data offer customizable insights into key issues that affect your recruitment success. Detailed research reports track important trends in graduate management admissions. Here are just some of the available resources you will find at gmac.com/research:

1. GMAC Interactive Research Reports, the latest edition to our online research offerings, provide dynamic displays of data segments you select for easy access to the data points most relevant to your needs. Current offerings include detailed presentations of the data displayed in this Profile as well as comprehensive findings from our GMAC Survey Series and other research.
 - ▶ GMAC Interactive Research is available for free on our website.
 - 🖱 For more information go to gmac.com/interactiveresearch.
2. Geographic Trend Reports for GMAT Examinees compare score-sending patterns of examinees along with their geographic and biographical data from the most recent testing year against data from four years earlier. First introduced as part of the Research Report Series, the Geographic Trend Reports were separated into their own series in response to requests for annual updates and specialized reports on individual regions, including Asia, Europe, and North America.
 - ▶ Geographic Trend Reports are available to the public for free on our website.
 - 🖱 For more information go to gmac.com/geographictrends.
3. The GMAC Research Report Series analyzes data and identifies trends and implications gleaned from a variety of sources, including the GMAC Survey Series, the Validity Study Service, and GMAT testing data. Reports are available in these categories: education programs; students, alumni, and prospective students; populations; validity studies; and high-stakes testing.
 - ▶ The GMAC Research Report Series is available to the public for free on our website.
