Information in this 2010-2011 Alabama's Education Report Card meets the requirements of the Code of Alabama (1975), Section 16-3-21 and the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, Public Law 107-110.

2 – PUBLIC EDUCATION IN ALABAMA

This publication is the combination of what were formerly the Alabama Education Report Card, a federally mandated publication, and the Alabama State Department of Education Annual Report. Because much of the information previously included in the Annual Report was similar or identical to what was required in the Alabama Education Report Card, the two were collapsed into one informative, yet efficient and practical publication. This publication meets the requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, Public Law 107-110, and the Code of Alabama (1975), Section 16-3-21. This document is also available for viewing online at www.alsde.edu.

Public education in Alabama is moving in the right direction and is poised to be a national model for the college and career readiness of its students. Through some of the most challenging financial circumstances, public education in Alabama has continued to show great promise in many areas, including reading, math, and science. The success of Alabama education initiatives is lauded in national publications, research studies, and, most importantly, by the teachers and students in our classrooms. Although the momentum for increased educational quality has picked up, now more than ever we must keep our students on track to become the most highly prepared high school graduates this state has ever produced.

From classroom teachers, schools administrators, and parents, to community and business leaders, all facets of our state have a vested interest in developing graduates who are solidly prepared to become the promise of tomorrow. In every way possible, we must coalesce around the cause of quality education for every single student in the state of Alabama. Without this unwavering conviction, it will be impossible to meet this state's incredible potential. Despite the accomplishments we have made in public education, we have ambitious goals before us and there is much left to do.

From pre-kindergarten until the day our students graduate from high school, on time, prepared for the seamless transition into life after high school, we must provide safe and disciplined schools, quality teachers, challenging curricula, and effective school leaders. These are the basic tenets that the Alabama State Board of Education has adopted to ensure Alabama students receive the level of education necessary to be competitive and relevant in today's global society. Every person who comes into contact with students must strive toward these principles in order to make certain that in Alabama, every child is a graduate and every child is prepared for college/work and adulthood in the 21st century.

No Child Left Behind State Report Card

The federal No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB) requires public accountability reports at the school, system, and state levels that include the status of adequate yearly progress (AYP), attendance and dropout/graduation rates, student assessment data disaggregated into subgroups, and information on "highly qualified" teachers.

To meet these requirements, the Alabama Department of Education incorporates the NCLB State Report Card in the Alabama's Education Report Card, which provides statewide information incorporating all NCLB conditions.

SCHOOLS IN SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

A school must meet 100% of its goals in order to make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). A school that does not make AYP for two consecutive years in the same component (reading, mathematics, or the additional academic indicator) will be identified for School Improvement Year 1. If the school does not make AYP the next year in the same component, it will move to School Improvement Year 2, etc.

Once in School Improvement, if a school makes one year of AYP in the same component, it does not advance to the next level of improvement, but retains its current improvement status in the component – also known as the delay provision.

Visit www.alsde.edu/Accountability/preAccountability.asp for a complete list of the status for all schools. Once on the page, under “Select School Year” choose 2010-11 and under “Select Report” choose 2011 Adequate Yearly Progress Status of Schools List.

ALABAMA HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION EXAM – 7

Students must pass the Alabama High School Graduation Exam (AHSGE) to earn a high school diploma. The chart shows the percent of 11th and 12th graders who passed each subject-area test of the exam. The percent passing reflects Levels III and IV (meeting or exceeding academic achievement standards). Annual Measurable Objectives (AMOs) are the annual requirements for the percentage of students in Grade 11 at Levels III and IV for AYP. (To view additional years of student achievement information, go to www.alsde.edu/Accountability/Accountability.asp. Student achievement is disaggregated and displayed by school year, assessment, grade, and subject.)

8 - ALABAMA READING AND MATHEMATICS TEST

The Alabama Reading and Mathematics Test (ARMT) provides an assessment of students' mastery of the content standards contained in the Alabama courses of study for reading and mathematics. The ARMT is administered in Grades 3-8. Annual Measurable Objectives (AMOs) are the annual requirements for the percentage of students at Levels III and IV for AYP and are displayed in the graphs along with students' actual achievement. (To view additional years of student achievement information, go to www.alsde.edu/Accountability/Accountability.asp. Student achievement is disaggregated and displayed by school year, assessment, grade, and subject.)

The Alabama Alternate Assessment (AAA) is designed for special education students in Grades 3-8 and 11 whose Individualized Education Program (IEP) teams determine that the students will not participate in the regular student testing program. The AAA measures a student's mastery of academic goals based on the Alabama Extended Standards. ### ALSO KNOWN AS THE NATION'S REPORT CARD

The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) is the largest nationally representative and continuous assessment of what America's students know and can do. There are differences in NAEP and Alabama's assessments. NAEP is not aligned to any particular content standards, whereas Alabama's assessments are all aligned with the Alabama courses of study. Proficient as defined for NAEP is "competency over challenging subject matter," whereas proficient (Levels III and IV) for Alabama's assessments is defined as "at grade level." All Alabama students participate in Alabama's assessments every year at each subject and grade level, but only a small representative sample of Alabama students participate in NAEP reading and mathematics, which is administered every other year (not administered for 2010).
