

Developmental Education Policies

Does state statute include reporting requirements?

Filters:

April 2021

Only statutorily created requirements are included in this resource. In this resource, the following categories are used:

- Student populations (e.g., recent high school graduates, total number or percentage of students enrolled in developmental courses).
- Student characteristics (e.g., demographics, developmental education needs, college readiness, high school GPA).
- Student success (e.g., pass rates, graduation rates, successful completion of gateway courses).
- High school feedback data.
- Cost of developmental education.

50-State Comparisons on each data point are here.

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
Alabama	No statute identified.
Alaska	No statute identified.
Arizona	No statute identified.

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
Arkansas	Yes.	The Department of Education must annually report on the following measures: student populations, student characteristics, and cost of developmental education.	Ark. Code Ann. § 6-61-221
California	Yes.	The Legislative Analyst's Office, in consultation with CSU, must produce a report on or before January 1, 2019 that includes the following measures: student success, student characteristics.	Cal. Educ. Code § 89007.7
	Yes.	The Chancellor of community colleges must annually report on the the following measures: student populations.	Cal. Educ. Code § 84757.5 Cal. Educ. Code § 84757
Colorado	Yes.	The Department of Higher Education must annually report on the the following measures: student populations, cost of developmental education, student success, and high school feedback data.	Colo. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 23-1-113.3(3) and (4)
Connecticut	No statute identified.
Delaware	No statute identified.
District of Columbia	No statute identified.
Florida	Yes.	Each Florida College System must annually report on the the following measures: student success.	Fla. Stat. Ann. § 1008.30
Georgia	No statute identified.
Hawaii	No statute identified.

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
Idaho	No statute identified.
Illinois	Yes.	The Board of Higher Education and the Illinois Community College Board must report on the following measures: student characteristics and student success.	110 Ill. Comp. Stat. Ann. 175/100-30
Indiana	No statute identified.
Iowa	No statute identified.
Kansas	No statute identified.
Kentucky	Yes.	Public universities and the Kentucky Community College and Technical College System must report on the following measures: student characteristics and student success.	13 Ky. Admin. Regs. 2:020
Louisiana	No statute identified.
Maine	No statute identified.
Maryland	No statute identified.
Massachusetts	No statute identified.
Michigan	Yes.	The Center for Educational Performance and Information must coordinate the collection of all data required from postsecondary institutions, and ensure the reports include the following measures: student populations.	Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 388.1694a

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
Minnesota	Yes.	The Commissioner of the Office of Higher Education must annually report on the the following measures: high school feedback data, student populations, and student success. The data must be aggregated by school district, high school and postsecondary institution. Data must be disaggregated by race, ethnicity, free or reduced-price lunch eligibility and age.	Minn. Stat. Ann. § 136A.055
	Yes.	The Board of the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities must annually report on the the following measures: student success and student populations. The data must be disaggregated for each college and university by race, ethnicity, Pell Grant eligibility, and age.	Minn. Stat. Ann. § 136F.303
Mississippi	No statute identified.
Missouri	Yes.	The Coordinating Board for Higher Education must annually report on the the following measures: high school feedback data including student populations and student characteristics. Data must be disaggregated by race and gender.	Mo. Ann. Stat. § 173.750
Montana	No statute identified.
Nebraska	No statute identified.
Nevada	Yes.	The Nevada System of Higher Education must produce a high school feedback report that includes the following measures: student populations and cost of developmental education.	Nev. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 396.548

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
New Hampshire	Yes.	Each postsecondary institution must annually report on the following measures: student populations.	N.H. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 193-E:3
New Jersey	No statute identified.
New Mexico	Yes.	A high school or school district superintendent may request a report from a postsecondary institution that includes the following measures: student populations and characteristics.	N.M. Stat. Ann. § 21-1-43
New York	Yes.	Each State University of New York community college must annually report on the following measures: student populations, student characteristics, and student success.	N.Y. Educ. Law § 6303-a
North Carolina	Yes.	The Board of Governors, the State Board of Community College and the State Board of Education are tasked with planning an information exchange system that includes the following measures: student populations and student characteristics.	N.C. Gen. Stat. Ann. § 116-11
North Dakota	No statute identified.
Ohio	Yes.	Each public higher education institution must annually report on the following measures: cost of developmental education.	Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3345.061
	Yes.	Each state university must annually report on the following measures: student populations, student characteristics, and the cost of developmental education.	Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3345.062

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
	Yes.	The Chancellor of Higher Education must annually report on the following measures: high school feedback data including student populations and student characteristics.	Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3333.041
Oklahoma	No statute identified.
Oregon	No statute identified.
Pennsylvania	No statute identified.
Rhode Island	No statute identified.
South Carolina	Yes.	Four year institutions must annually report on the following measures: student populations and student success.	S.C. Code Ann. § 59-101-350
South Dakota	No statute identified.
Tennessee	No statute identified.
Texas	Yes.	Junior colleges must report on the following measures: student populations.	Tex. Educ. Code Ann. § 130.0036
	Yes.	The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board must report on the following measures: student success.	Tex. Educ. Code Ann. § 51A.103
Utah	No statute identified.
Vermont	No statute identified.

STATE	Does state statute include reporting requirements?	Reporting requirements description	Source
Virginia	Yes.	The State Council of Higher Education must provide annual report on the following measures: student populations.	Va. Code Ann. § 23.1-204.1
Washington	Yes.	Four year institutions must annually report on the following measures: student populations, student success. To the extent possible, the data must be disaggregated by race and ethnicity, gender, state and country of origin, age and socioeconomic status.	Wash. Rev. Code Ann. § 28B.77.090
West Virginia	Yes.	The governing boards of higher education institutions must annually report on the following measures: high school feedback data including student populations and student characteristics.	W. Va. Code Ann. § 18B-1-1e
Wisconsin	Yes.	The University of Wisconsin System must annually report on the following measures: high school feedback data.	Wis. Stat. Ann. § 36.65(5)
Wyoming	No statute identified.		