PREFATORY NOTE.

IN the plan of the American Year Book, as originally projected, the editor of the American Journal of Education was to have furnished the statistics of schools of different grades, and of charitable institutions, anticipating the pleasure, as his compensation for this labor of love, of being able to send a copy of the Year Book to each subscriber of the Journal for 1869. Although he was obliged to transfer the labor of compilation to another hand, he has arranged with the publishers of the Year Book, to bind up a sufficient number of copies, in the usual style of the Journal, to supply those who continue as subscribers, with this valuable manual of the statistics of area, population, government, religion, and resources of the different countries of the world.

PREFACE.

THIS work, the initial volume of a proposed annual publication, has been prepared to meet an increasing demand for information respecting the affairs of the General and State Governments, public institutions, finances, resources, and trade of this country; the political, financial, and social condition of other countries; and various other subjects relating to social and political economy.

Unwearied pains has been taken to collect full and authentic information. By means of official documents, an examination of official records, the aid of national and state officers, and an extensive private correspondence with persons in every state and territory in this country, and with officers of government, and others, in foreign countries, a large amount of matter has been collected, digested, and arranged in a form convenient for reference and study.

PART I. or the Astronomical Department, has full calendar pages, embracing the sun's rising and setting, moon's phases, length and increase of days, and beginning and end of twilight for eight different parallels; the different eras corresponding with 1869; the Jewish and Mahommedan calendars, and other important celestial phenomena. There is a full tide-table, and a table of latitude and longitude and difference of time, for the most important places in the world.

PART II. contains a full list of the principal officers of the General Government, and of the different sessions of Congress from the first Congress to the present time; the Governors of the several States and Territories from their organization; the Members of the fortieth Congress, committees and officers, and of the forty-first as far as elected; an account of the different departments of government, with the principal officers in each department; a full list of Ministers and Consuls to Foreign Countries, and of Foreign Ministers and Consuls in the United States; Collectors of Customs, Assessors and Collectors of Internal Revenue, an account of the Coast Survey, Light-House Board and Districts, with officers of each; the Army and Navy, and Army and Navy Lists, U. S. Military and Naval Academies, Military Divisions, Districts and Departments; Freedmen's Bureau; Postal service, Postal regulations, and rates of Domestic and Foreign postage; Judiciary; an account of the Pension Office, Public Lands, and Patent Office; the Department of Agriculture, and the Department of Education, lists of Colleges and Collegiate Institutions, and Professional Schools; Library of Congress; Smithsonian Institution; U. S. Mint and officers; proceedings of Congress, laws passed at the 2d session of the 40th Congress, Impeachment trial, Reconstruction, National Platforms, and miscellaneous tables and facts of interest. It also contains a brief historical notice of each state and territory, a list of the executive and judicial officers, and an account of the finances, debts, resources, educational and charitable institutions, population, and industry of each.

PART III. contains an account of Foreign Countries, their area and population, constitution and government, finances, army, navy, commerce, and other important facts.

PART IV. gives a full account of the religious condition of the world, with ecclesiastical statistics of different countries and denominations.

PART V. embraces miscellaneous essays on Agriculture, Currency and Finance, Mining, and Literature, written by persons who have made these subjects a study.

PART VI. contains full Presidential election returns for all the States from 1836 to 1868; a summary of the most important events for 1868, and obituary notices of eminent persons who have died during the year.

It is believed that all classes will find facts of importance relating to the general condition of the country and the world; and statesmen, lawyers, physicians, clergymen, teachers, students, politicians, merchants, importers, manufacturers, and farmers, will find facts pertaining specifically to their several professions or callings.

The accounts of Foreign Countries, the Ecclesiastical Statistics, the Summary of Important Events, and the Obituary Notices, were prepared expressly for this work by Prof. A. J. Schem, and the Election Returns by A. J. Cummings, both of New York.

The thanks of the editor are due to the Heads of Departments at Washington, their assistants and clerks; to members and officers of Congress who have rendered special aid; to the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau; the Director of the Mint; the Secretary and Chief Clerk of the Smithsonian Institution; the Librarian of Congress; to Inspectors of Light House Districts and of Steamboats; to the Governors, Secretaries, Auditors, Treasurers, and other executive officers of the several States; to Superintendents of Public Instruction, Presidents and Professors of Colleges and Professional Schools, Superintendents and Directors of Charitable Institutions and Prisons, and to many contributors and correspondents who have furnished valuable information and made important suggestions.

No labor or expense has been spared to make the work accurate, and to furnish the latest statistics that could be obtained. But in gathering such a variety of information from so wide a field, condensing and arranging in proper form so many facts, and transcribing a great number of names and a multitude of figures, complete accuracy in all matters of detail can hardly be hoped for; and the editor and publishers will be thankful for information relating to any errors or inaccuracies, however unimportant, that may be discovered.

- 7377-78th of the Era of Constantinople, used by the Byzantine historians.

This last is the same as the Septuagint version of the Bible, and it is the most reliable authority known. It dates the creation on the 1st of the Jewish month Tisri, 5508 B. C., or 7377 years ago. There are about a hundred and forty eras respecting the age of the world, some claiming it to be millions of years old, but without authentic written records.

JEWISH CALENDAR FOR 1869.

The Jewish year 5629, of 12 months, or 355 days and 51 Jewish Sabbaths. (Saturdays), began Sept. 17th, 1868, and ends Sept. 5th, 1869. The year 5630, of 13 months, is an embolismic year, and the 6th of the CCXCVIIth cycle, containing 385 days, and 55 Jewish Sabbaths, beginning Sept. 6th, 1869, and ending Sept. 25th, 1870.

Mercury is brightest when at an elongation of about 22° 19', which occurs about three days before its greatest elongation east, and three days after its greatest elongation west, and is always between the greatest elongation and superior conjunction. Venus is brightest between inferior conjunction and greatest elongation, and when its elongation is about 39° 44'.

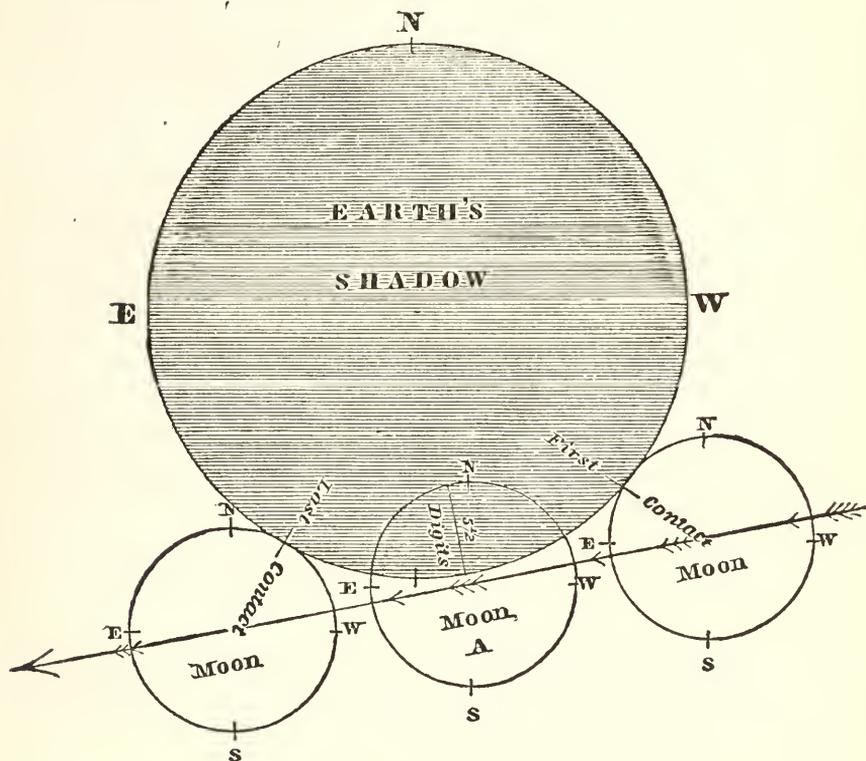

ECLIPSES FOR 1869.

There will be four Eclipses this year, two of the Sun and two of the Moon, as follows:

I. A partial eclipse of the Moon, January 27th, in the evening, visible. Size, 0.458 of the diameter, or 5.496 digits, on the northern limb. See table of Lunar Eclipse, page 14, for the time.

The first contact occurs at a point 50° from the north point towards the east, and the last contact 31° from the north point towards the west. The north point of the Moon is determined by an imaginary line drawn from the Moon's centre toward the north pole, or North Star, and not toward the north point of the horizon. When the Moon is at A the Eclipse is largest and on the northern limb.

PROJECTION OF THE LUNAR ECLIPSE OF JANUARY 27TH.

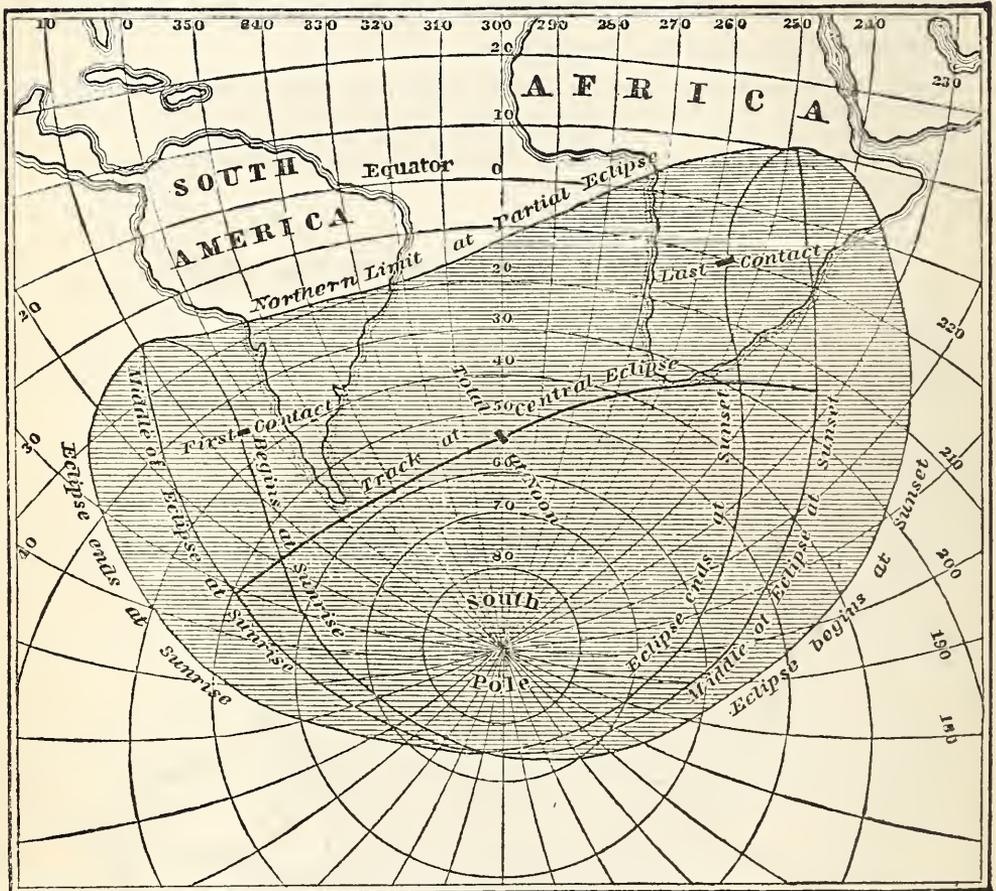

II. An annular eclipse of the Sun, February 11th, invisible in North America. Visible in the southern part of South America, south of 20° latitude, and in the southern part of Africa.

This Eclipse will be partial in the lower part of South America, and Southern Africa. The line of the Central Eclipse travels in the Ocean, and ends on the coast of Madagascar. The Eclipse begins in Lat. $35^\circ 39' S.$, Lon. $3^\circ 12.3' W.$, and ends in Lat. $9^\circ 47.4' S.$, Lon. $256^\circ 27.3' W.$

The central phase begins in Lat. $50^{\circ} 8.8' S.$, Lon. $29^{\circ} 55.3' W.$, and ends in Lat. $24^{\circ} 41.3' S.$, Lon. $232^{\circ} 39.7' W.$ of Washington. It occurs at noon, in Lat. $54^{\circ} 6.5' S.$, and in Lon. $301^{\circ} 32' W.$ of Washington.

THE ANNULAR ECLIPSE OF THE SUN FEBRUARY 11TH.

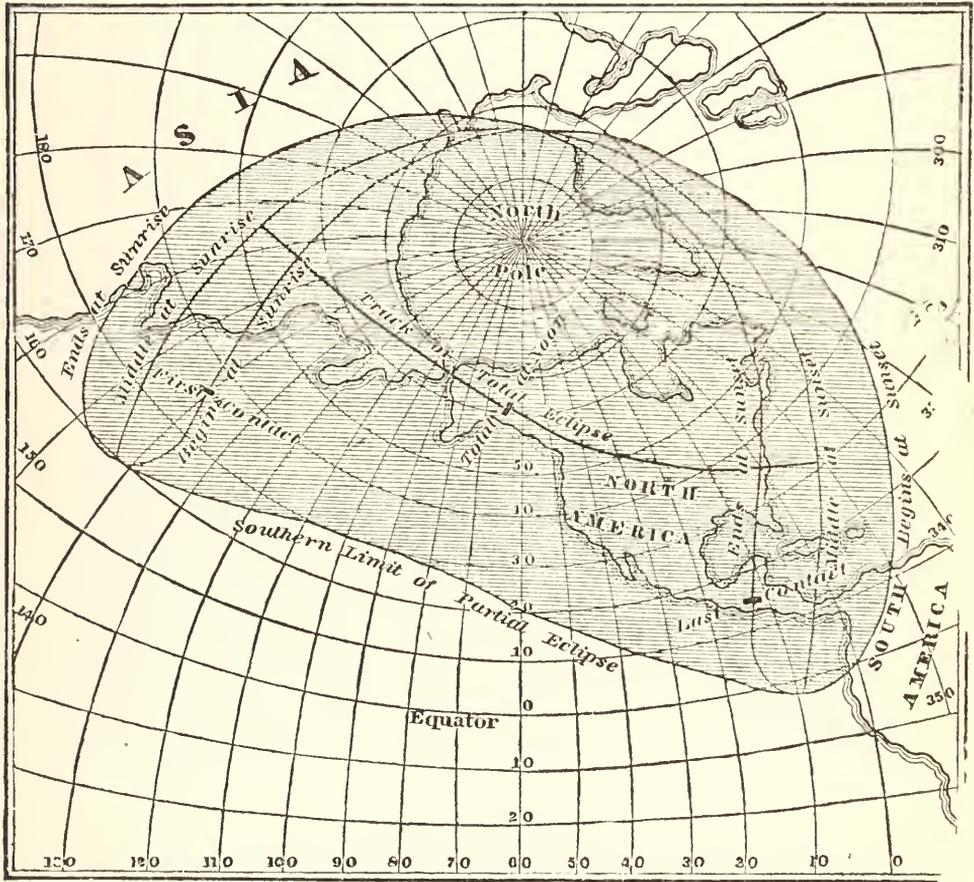

III. A partial eclipse of the Moon, July 23d, invisible in America. Visible in Eastern Asia and Australia. Size, 0.566 of the diameter, or 6.792 digits on the southern limb.

IV. A TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN, August 7th, in the afternoon, visible either as a total, or a large partial eclipse, throughout Eastern Asia, and all of North America, and the West Indies. This will be the most interesting eclipse that has occurred, or will occur, in the United States for many years.

The eclipse first begins on the Earth at sun-rise in the Pacific Ocean, east of Japan, in Lat. $36^{\circ} 53.3' N.$, Lon. $138^{\circ} 37.4' W.$ of Washington. It becomes total first upon the Earth, in Siberia, at sun-rise, in Lat. $52^{\circ} 41.9' N.$, Lon. $165^{\circ} 26.4' W.$ of Washington. The eclipse is total at noon in Alaska, Lat. $61^{\circ} 46.9'$ N., Lon. $68^{\circ} 4.6'$ West. The line of the total eclipse now runs south-easterly, grazing the coast near Sitka, thence running off into British America, and entering the United States near the origin of Milk River, Lon. 30° W. Thence through the South-west corner of Minnesota, and diagonally through Iowa, crossing the Mississippi River near Burlington, Iowa; thence through Illinois, just north of Springfield, and crossing the Ohio River near Louisville, Ky. Thence through the south-west corner of West Virginia, and through North Carolina, just south of Raleigh, and thence to Newbern, and entering the Atlantic, just north of Beaufort, N. C., and ending at sun-set, in the ocean, in Lat. $31^{\circ} 15.2'$ N., and Lon. $9^{\circ} 36.6'$ East.

THE GREAT SOLAR ECLIPSE OF AUGUST 7TH.

In all the dark part of the engraving the Eclipse will be visible and partial, except along heavy black line, where it will be total.

Along the line described above, the eclipse will be total, and at all other places in the United States it will be partial. The partial eclipse ends on the Earth at sun-set, in Lat. $14^{\circ} 48' 5''$ Lon. $13^{\circ} 10' W.$, being near the City of Guatemala. Along the Atlantic coast in the United States, the eclipse ends at about sun-set. For the times of the phases of this eclipse, see the following table. For its general outline, see the engraving.

This eclipse occurred last in 1851, July 28th, and the total phase was visible in the arctic regions of America, and in Sweden, Norway and Russia.

THE ASTEROIDS.

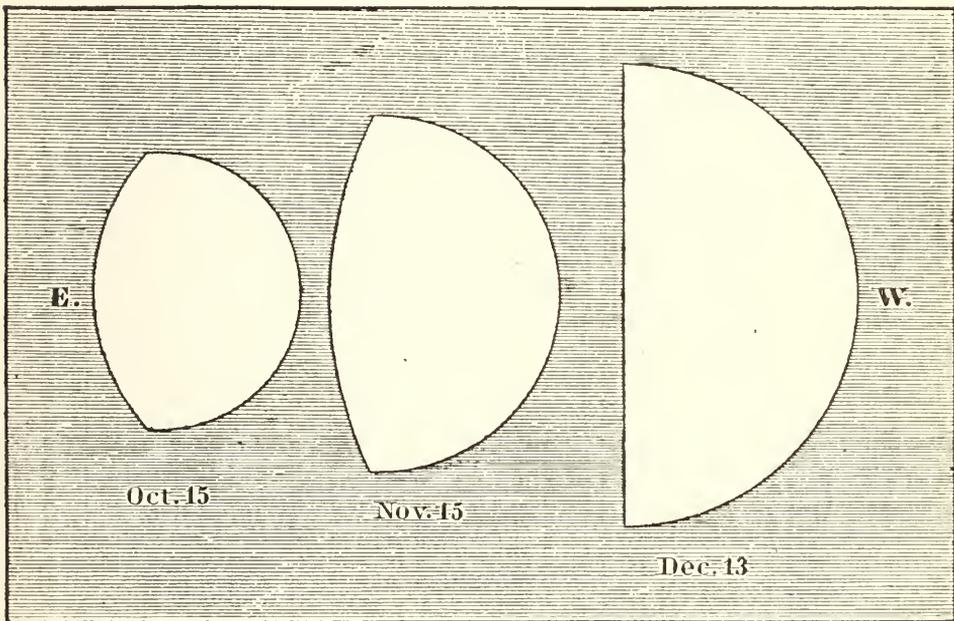

About one hundred little planets called Asteroids, have been discovered, whose orbits are between Mars and Jupiter. Every year new discoveries are made among them, and soon the number will doubtless be many more. Some of them are so exceedingly small, that it might be inappropriate to call them planets or worlds. But any solid body having an orbit, if it be larger than a cannon-ball, is entitled to rank as a world. A vast number of these may exist between Mars and Jupiter, which will never be discovered because of their littleness. Indeed, it may be said of all the inter-orbital spaces in the solar system. Asteroidal bodies appear to be revolving around the Sun, in orbits not far from that of the Earth. Others, also, revolve around the Earth like the Moon, attending our planet as invisible satellites. The Aeroliths, or falling masses of stones, are really Asteroids, whose orbits cross the Earth's track, or else wind spirally inward, as a consequence of the Earth's superior attraction. When one of these bodies and the Earth approach each other, at the intersection of their orbits, the former must strike upon the Earth, representing a miniature collision of worlds.

Venus will exhibit a gibbous phase, until December 13th, except about the 9th of May, when it is Full, or a perfect circle. At its greatest elongation, December 13th, it shows half its diameter, and after that it becomes a crescent. Mars is always gibbous, except when Full, being least at the quadratures.

PHASES OF VENUS.—DIRECT IMAGE.

The disc of Venus will be nearly circular, and not of much interest, until October. It becomes a crescent after the 13th of December.

EVENING STARS.

Venus, from May 9th to the end of the year.
 Mars, all the year.
 Jupiter, until April 17th, and after Aug. 12th.
 Saturn, from March 7th to Dec. 11th.

MORNING STARS.

Venus, until May 9th.
 Jupiter, from April 17th to Aug. 12th.
 Saturn, until March 7th.
 Mercury, March 21st, July 19th, and Nov. 7th.

NOTE.—The exterior planets are regarded as Evening Stars from their western quadrature to conjunction with the Sun, and as Morning Stars from conjunction to western quadrature, rising in the latter case between midnight and sunrise. The interior planets are Evening Stars from superior conjunction to their inferior conjunction, and then Morning Stars to superior conjunction. Venus does not reach the inferior conjunction this year, but it runs rapidly to it after its greatest elongation east, Dec. 13th, being about this time very beautiful.

NOTE.—The above table includes only those eclipses which occur when the Sun is more than 8° below, and Jupiter more than 8° above the horizon of Washington, all other eclipses occurring when Jupiter is below the horizon, or else in the daytime, or too near the Sun to be visible. Jupiter's Satellites are not visible from March 16th to May 18th, Jupiter being too near the Sun. Before the opposition of Jupiter to the Sun, Nov. 8th, the Immersions and the Emerions happen on the western side of the planet; but after the opposition these phases occur on the eastern side. These eclipses are seen only with the aid of a glass, and if it be an inverting telescope, the positions will be reversed. Im. denotes the immersion or disappearance of the satellite by entering into the shadow of Jupiter, and Em. denotes its reappearance at coming out of the shadow. The eclipses in the table are visible very generally in all the United States, and to find the time of their occurrence at other places than Washington, add the longitude in time when east of Washington and subtract it for places west. See the table of Latitudes and Longitudes.

A TABLE SHOWING THE MOON'S PLACE, OR LONGITUDE, at 7 P. M., Washington mean time. The Constellation, and not the Sign, is given. The degrees given show how far the moon has advanced into the constellation. To find the Sign, add 30°.

NOTE.—In the table above it is to be understood that the word "near" and the character ☿ (conjunction) are synonymous and mean that the two bodies are nearest each other at the time expressed, and that they are then on a line running from the North Pole through both bodies, and have the same right ascension. GR. ELON. means, greatest elongation, or greatest apparent angular distance from the Sun. STATIONARY means that the planet is then without apparent motion east or west, with respect to the stars, and is about to move in a direction contrary to that it last had. The character ☿ indicates that the planet is opposite the sun, or 180°, or a half circle east of it, and rises when the Sun sets, and sets when he rises. When a planet is a quarter of a circle, or 90° from the Sun, east or west, it is known by ☐. PLANETARY CHARACTERS: ♃ Mercury, ♀ Venus, ☿ Mars, ♃ Jupiter, ♃ Saturn, ♃ Uranus, ♃ Neptune, ☾ Moon. The above table enables us to find the planets throughout the year.

SATURN'S RINGS.

These Rings will be visible all this year, the visual line making an angle of little more than 26° with the plane of the Rings. Their northern surface is visible, the sun and earth being elevated above that side. They appear elliptical, and this year rather more than twice as long as wide.

To find the time of high-water at any of the places named in the preceding table, add time indicated in the first column of figures to the time of "Moon's South," or "Moon on Meridian," found in the calendar pages. If the result is more than 12 hours from noon, the time will be the next day in the morning, and if more than 12 hours from midnight, the time will be in the afternoon of the same day. The tide thus found is the first after the Moon's culmination. The second tide occurs 12 hours and 26 minutes later than the first.

The "Establishment of the Port," in the above table is the mean interval between the time of the Moon's meridian passage and the time of high-water succeeding that transit. The true interval varies with the Moon's age, being least when the moon culminates about 4h. 30m. and greatest when culminating about 10 o'clock, and at the mean, generally when the moon is two days old. It sometimes happens that the tide comes in several hours later or earlier than the most learned calculation would determine, in consequence of the strength and direction of the wind, which the calculator cannot reckon upon.

To ascertain when any Star found in the preceding Table will be on the upper meridian, add the numbers opposite in the left-hand column of figures to the time of "Sidereal Noon" found in the calendar pages. For the rising of a star, subtract the number opposite in the right-hand column of figures from its meridian passage. For the setting of a star, add the same number to its meridian passage. Those marked (...) revolve in a circle of perpetual apparition, and do not rise nor set north of the latitude of New York ($40^{\circ} 42' 40''$), for which latitude the semi-diurnal arcs are calculated. The civil day begins at midnight, and consequently 24 hours after midnight, or 12 hours from noon, is morning of the succeeding day; and more than 24 hours from noon, is evening of the next day. From 12h. to 24h. from midnight, or from 0h. to 12h. from noon, will be in the afternoon of the same day. This table is arranged in the order of culmination.

SURVEYORS AND CIVIL ENGINEERS may obtain the declination of the magnetic needle by observations on the Pole Star when upon the meridian, or when at its greatest elongation east or west. POLARIS and other stars pass the lower meridian 11h. 58m. after their upper transit. To the time of upper transit of Polaris, add 5h. 54m. and it gives the time of greatest western elongation. If the 5h. 54m. be subtracted from the time of upper transit, it will give the time of greatest eastern elongation. Observations made at the time of greatest elongation are less liable to error than those made at the time of transit. The mean distance of Polaris from the pole this year is $1^{\circ} 23' 20''$. To find its azimuth for any latitude, take from 18.384502 the logarithmic cosine of the latitude, and the remainder is the logarithmic sine of the azimuth.

PART II.

THE UNITED STATES.

The United States of America, exclusive of Alaska, or the territory acquired from Russia in 1867, extends from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific, and from British America to the Gulf of Mexico. It lies between Lat. 24° 20' and 49° North, and Long. 10° 14' East, and 47° 30' West from Washington. It has a coast line of 2,163 miles on the Atlantic, 1,764 miles on the Gulf of Mexico, and 1,343 miles on the Pacific. Alaska, sometimes known as North-western America, with its islands, extends from the South end of Prince of Wales Island, Lat. 54° 40', to Point Barrow, 71° 30' North, and from Lon. 53° to 116° West from Washington. The entire area of the United States and Territories is 3,578,392 square miles, or about four-ninths of North America, and more than one-fifteenth of the land surface of the globe. This area has been acquired as follows :

Territory as ceded by England, 1783.....	815,615 square miles.
Louisiana as acquired from France, 1803.....	930,928 " "
Florida as acquired from Spain, 1821.....	59,268 " "
Texas as admitted to the Union, 1845.....	237,504 " "
Oregon as settled by treaty, 1846.....	280,425 " "
California, etc., as conquered from Mexico, 1847.....	649,762 " "
Arizona (New Mexico) as acquired from Mexico by treaty, 1854.....	27,500 " "
Alaska as acquired from Russia by treaty, 1867.....	577,390 " "
Total in 1868.....	3,578,392 " "

The first European settlement was made by Spaniards at St. Augustine in Florida, in 1565, but this place was not included within the limits of the United States until 1821. The first permanent English settlement was made at Jamestown in Virginia, in 1607. Other settlements were made and colonies organized which were subject to the English government until the Declaration of Independence, July 4th, 1776. Delegates from the following States: New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, in congress assembled, adopted articles of confederation in 1777. The Constitution which was framed in 1787, and ratified by the thirteen original States, went into operation March 4th, 1789. It received ten amendments in 1791, an eleventh amendment in 1798, a twelfth in 1804, a thirteenth in 1865, and a fourteenth in 1868.

The government of the United States is based on this constitution which, with the laws made in accordance with its provisions, and treaties made under its authority, is the supreme law of the land.

By the constitution, the government is entrusted to three separate authorities, the Legislative vested in congress, the Executive vested in the President, and the Judicial vested in one Supreme court and such inferior courts as congress may from time to time establish.

PRINCIPAL OFFICERS OF THE GOVERNMENT FROM THE FIRST CON-TINENTAL CONGRESS TO THE PRESENT TIME.

CONGRESS.

The first section of the Constitution provides that all legislative powers therein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives. Congress must meet at least once in every year, on the first Monday in December, and also at the commencement of each Congress on the 4th of March.

The Senate of the United States is composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof for six years. At their first meeting under the Constitution, the Senators were divided into three classes, so that the terms of one-third of the Senators might expire every second year. By this means one-third of the Senate is renewed biennially. No person can be a Senator who is under thirty years of age, nor unless he has been nine years a citizen of the United States, and, when elected, is an inhabitant of the State for which he is chosen. By an act of Congress, approved July 25th, 1866, it is provided that the Legislatures of the several States shall elect Senators of the United States in the following manner: Each House shall by a viva voce vote of each member present, name a person for Senator on the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization thereof. On the day following, the Houses shall meet in joint assembly, and if the same person shall have received a majority of all the votes cast in each House, he shall be declared duly elected Senator of the United States; but if not, then the joint assembly shall proceed to choose, by a viva voce vote, a person for the purpose aforesaid, and the person who shall receive a majority of all the votes of the joint assembly, a majority of the members of each House being present, shall be declared duly elected. If such Senator is not elected on the first day, the joint assembly shall meet and take at least one vote per day until an election is secured. When a vacancy shall happen during the session of a Legislature, the same proceedings shall be held on the second Tuesday after notice of such vacancy shall have been received.

Besides its ordinary capacity, the Senate is invested with certain judicial functions, and its members constitute a High Court of Impeachment. The judgment only extends to removal from office and disqualification.

The House of Representatives is composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States. No person can be a Representative who is under twenty-five years of age, nor unless he has been seven years a citizen of the United States, and, when elected, is an inhabitant of the State for which he is chosen. Representatives are apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, which numbers are ascertained by an actual enumeration or census of all the inhabitants, made within every term of ten years. By the law of 23d of May, 1850, under which the existing apportionment of Representatives was originally made, it was enacted that the number of Representatives in Congress should be 233, that the representative population determined by the census of that year and thereafter should be divided by said number 233, and that the quotient so found should be the ratio of representation for the several States.

The ratio thus ascertained under the census of 1860 was 126,823; and upon this basis the 233 Representatives were apportioned among the several States, one Representative for every district containing that number of persons; giving to each State at least one Representative. Subsequently, by the act of March 4th, 1862, the ratio was changed, and the number of Representatives from and after March 3d, 1863, was increased from 233 to 241, by allowing one additional Representative to each of the following States, viz: Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont; and this number has been increased by the admission of Nevada and Nebraska with one representative each, to 243.

In addition to the Representatives from the States, the House admits a delegate from each organized Territory, who has the right to debate on subjects in which his Territory is interested, but is not entitled to vote. The members of each House receive a salary of $5,000 per annum, and mileage at the rate of 20 cents per mile. For each day's absence, except when caused by sickness, $8 per diem is deducted from the salary. The President of the Senate pro tem. receives the same compensation as the Vice President. The Speaker of the House of Representatives receives double the salary of a member.

EXECUTIVE GOVERNMENT.

The President is chosen by Electors, each State having as many as it has Senators and Representatives in Congress. He holds office four years; is Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States; has power to grant pardons and reprieves for offenses against the United States; makes treaties by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; nominates, and with the consent of the Senate, appoints all Cabinet, Diplomatic, Judicial, and Executive officers; has power to convene Congress, or the Senate only; communicates to Congress by message at every session, the condition of the Union, and recommends such measures as he deems expedient; receives all Foreign Ministers; takes care that the laws are faithfully executed, and the public business transacted.

The Vice-President is chosen by the Electors at the same time and in the same manner as the President; is President of the Senate, and has the casting vote therein. In case of the death, resignation, disability, or removal of the President, his powers and duties devolve upon the Vice-President for the residue of his term. In case of the death of both the President and Vice-President, or if those offices for any reason become vacant, the President pro tempore of the Senate acts as President of the United States, or if there be none, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives, until a new election can be had, which must take place within thirty-four days preceeding the first Wednesday in December following, provided the space of two months intervenes between the date of the notice of such special election and said first Wednesday in December; if such period does not intervene, then the election is to be held during the same period in the year ensuing, provided the term of office does not expire prior thereto. The notice of election is to be issued by the Secretary of State, and addressed to the respective Governors. In cases of vacancy, where the Vice-President succeeds to the Presidential office, the President of the Senate becomes ex officio Vice-President.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

This Department, established July 27th, 1789, was originally styled the Department of Foreign Affairs, but its name was changed by an Act of Congress to the Department of State. The Secretary, who is the principal officer of the Department, is charged with all duties relative to correspondences, commissions, or instructions to or with our foreign ministers or consuls; negotiations with public ministers from foreign states or princes; and with such other matters respecting foreign affairs as the President shall assign to the Department. He is also charged with the duty of receiving and preserving the Enrolled Acts of Congress, and with the publication of printed copies of them. He is made by law the custodian of the seal of the United States, and it is his duty to affix the said seal to all civil commissions, and other instruments and acts, whenever he has the special warrant of the President therefor.

The Diplomatic Branch has charge of all correspondence between the Department and other diplomatic agents of the United States abroad, and those of foreign powers accredited to this government.

The Consular Branch has charge of the correspondence, etc., between the department and the consuls and commercial agents of the United States.

The Disbursing Agent has charge of all matters connected with accounts relating to any fund disbursed by the department.

The Translator furnishes such translations as the department may require, and records the commissions of consuls and vice-consuls, when not in English, upon which exequaturs are issued.

The Clerk of Appointments and Commissions makes out and records commissions, letters of appointment, nominations to the Senate, exequaturs, and records, when in English, the commissions on which they are issued; and has charge of the Library.

The Clerk of Rolls and Archives takes charge of the enrolled acts and resolutions of Congress, as they are received from the President; prepares authenticated copies thereof; superintends their publication, and that of treaties; attends to their distribution, and that of all documents and publications in regard to which this duty is assigned to the department; writing and answering all letters connected therewith; and has charge of all Indian treaties, and business relating thereto.

The Clerk of Authentications has charge of the seals of the United States and of the department, and prepares and attaches certificates to papers presented for authentication; receives and accounts for the fees; and records all letters from the department, other than the diplomatic and consular.

The Clerk of Pardons and Passports prepares and records pardons and remissions, and registers and files the papers on which they are founded, and makes out and records passports.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

Secretary's Office. The Secretary of the Treasury is charged with the general supervision of the fiscal transactions of the government, and the execution of the laws concerning commerce and navigation; the survey of the coast; the light-house establishment; the marine hospitals of the United States, and the construction of certain public buildings for custom-house and other purposes.

The First Comptroller prescribes the mode of keeping and rendering accounts for the civil and diplomatic service, as well as the public lands, and revises and certifies the balances arising thereon.

The Second Comptroller prescribes the mode of keeping and rendering the accounts of the army, navy, and Indian departments of the public service, and revises and certifies the balances arising thereon.

The Commissioner of the Customs prescribes the mode of keeping and rendering the account of the customs, revenue, and disbursement, and for the building and repairing custom-houses, etc., and revises and certifies the balances arising thereon.

The First Auditor receives and adjusts the accounts of the customs, revenue and disbursements, appropriations, and expenditures on account of the civil list, and under private acts of Congress, and reports the balances to the Commissioner of the Customs and the First Comptroller respectively for their decision thereon.

The Second Auditor receives and adjusts all accounts relating to the pay, clothing, and recruiting of the army, as well as the armories, arsenals and ordnance, and all accounts relating to the Indian department, and reports the balances to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon.

The Third Auditor receives and adjusts all accounts for subsistence of the army, fortifications, military academy, military roads, and the quarter-master's department, pensions, and claims arising from military services previous to 1816, and for horses, and other property lost in the military service, and reports the balances to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon.

The Fourth Auditor adjusts all accounts for the service of the Navy Department, and reports the balances to the Second Comptroller for his decision thereon.

The Fifth Auditor adjusts all accounts for diplomatic and similar services performed under the direction of the State Department, and reports the balances to the First Comptroller for his decision thereon.

The Sixth Auditor adjusts all accounts arising from the service of the Post Office Department. His decisions are final, unless an appeal is taken within twelve months to the First Comptroller. He superintends the collection of all debts due the Post Office Department, and all penalties imposed on post-masters and mail contractors for failing to do their duty. He directs suits and legal proceedings, civil and criminal, and takes legal measures to enforce the prompt payment of money due to the department; instructing attorneys, marshals, and clerks relative thereto; and receives returns from each term of the United States Courts of the condition and progress of such suits and legal proceedings; has charge of all lands and other property assigned to the United States in payment of debts due to the Post Office Department, and has power to sell and dispose of the same for the benefit of the United States.

The Treasurer receives and keeps the moneys of the United States in his own office, and that of the depositories, and pays out the same upon warrants drawn by the Secretary of the Treasury, countersigned by the First Comptroller, and upon warrants drawn by the Postmaster-General, and countersigned by the Sixth Auditor, and recorded by the Register. He also holds public moneys advanced by warrant to disbursing officers, and pays out the same upon their checks.

The Register keeps the accounts of public receipts and expenditures; receives the returns, and makes out the official statement of commerce and navigation of the United States; and receives from the First Comptroller and Commissioner of Customs all accounts and vouchers decided by them, and is charged by law with their safe-keeping.

The Solicitor superintends all civil suits commenced by the United States, (except those arising in the Post Office Department,) and instructs the United States attorneys, marshals, and clerks in all matters relating to them, and their results. He receives returns from each term of the United States Courts, showing the progress and condition of such suits; has charge of all lands and other property assigned to the United States in payment of debts, (except those assigned in payment of debts due to the Post Office Department,) and has power to sell and dispose of the same for the benefit of the United States.

The Light-House Board. The Secretary of the Treasury is ex officio, president of this board. It directs the building and repairing of light-houses, light-vessels, buoys, and beacons, contracts for supplies of oil, etc.

United States Coast Survey. The coast survey officer is charged with the superintendence of the survey of the coast of the United States, and its superintendent is the superintendent of weights and measures.

The Comptroller of the Currency has charge of every thing connected with the issuing of money.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has charge of all matters connected with the Tax Laws.

The Supervising Architect has charge of the construction of public buildings.

The Special Commissioner of Revenue is required by law to investigate the sources of national revenue, the best methods of collecting revenue, the administration of existing revenue laws, and the relation of foreign trade to domestic industry.

UNITED STATES COAST SURVEY.

Superintendent	BENJAMIN PIERCE	$6,000
Hydrographic Inspector	C. P. PATTERSON	2,825
Assistant in charge of Office	J. E. HILGARD	2,300
General Disbursing Agent	SAMUEL HEIN	2,500

The coast survey has for its object the production of accurate charts of the coasts and harbors of the United States. With a shore line, including bays and islands, and exclusive of Alaska, of more than 21,000 miles in length; and with a commerce extending to all parts of the world, and rapidly increasing, the importance to the country of this branch of the public service will be readily appreciated.

The work was commenced on the Eastern or Atlantic coast in 1832, under the superintendence of Professor F. R. Hassler, and after his death in 1843, was continued under the superintendence of late Prof. Alexander D. Bache, and extended to the Gulf of Mexico. On the acquisition of California, the Pacific coast was included in the survey, and since the treaty with Russia, by which Alaska was brought under the government of the United States, the survey has been extended to that Territory. The whole work is under the administrative direction of the Treasury Department. Upon the Superintendent devolves the duty of planning its operations, for the scientific accuracy of which he is responsible. The Corps of Assistants is composed of three classes,—civilians, and army and navy officers. The work is divided into three branches,—the geodetic, topographic, and hydrographic surveys. The geodetic survey accurately determines the relative positions on the surface of the earth of a great number of prominent points, by a system of triangulation and observation of the true meridian lines, and of latitude and longitude. The positions fixed by the triangulation form the ground-work of the topographic survey which delineates the shore-line of the coasts, bays, and rivers; the shape and heights of hills; the position of roads, houses, woods, marshes, and fields,—in short all noteworthy features of the country. The hydrographic survey based upon the points and shore-lines furnished by the triangulation and topography, delineates the hidden configuration of the sea bottom, discovers channels, shoals, and rocks, assigns their true positions, and shows the depth of water and character of the bottom over the whole extent of the chart.

The observations made in the progress of the survey are arranged and published with illustrative plates, topographic maps and hydrographic charts.

LIGHT-HOUSE BOARD.

President, ex-officio	HUGH McCULLOCH, Secretary of the Treasury.
Chairman	Rear Admiral, W. B. SHUBRICK.
Naval Secretary	ANDREW A. HARWOOD.
Engineer Secretary	O. M. POE.
Chief Clerk	BENJ. U. KEYSER.

LIGHT-HOUSE DISTRICTS AND OFFICERS.

In conformity with the Act of Congress of August 31, 1852, 12 Light-House Districts have been established.

In the First District, extending from the N. E. boundary of the United States to Hampton Harbor, New Hampshire, there are 46 light-houses and light beacons, 39 beacons, 271 buoys,* and one light-house tender. Inspector, JOHN POPE, Portland, Me. Engineer, W. A. GOODWIN, Boston, Mass.

In the Second District, extending from Hampton Harbor, New Hampshire, to Gooseberry Point, Massachusetts, there are 63 light-houses and light beacons, 50 beacons, 7 light vessels, 451 buoys, 1 steam tender and 1 sailing tender. Inspector, GEORGE S. BLAKE, Boston, Mass. Engineer, W. A. GOODWIN, Boston, Mass.

In the Third District, extending from Gooseberry Point, Massachusetts, to Squam Inlet, New Jersey, including the Hudson River and Lake Champlain, there are 92 light-houses and lighted beacons, 44 beacons, 6 light vessels, 335 buoys, 1 steam tender, and 1 sailing tender. Inspector, A. L. CASE, Tompkinsville, Staten Island, N. Y. Engineer, JOSEPH LEDERLE, Tompkinsville, Staten Island, N. Y.

In the Fourth District, extending from Squam Inlet, N. J., to Metompkin Inlet, Va., including Delaware Bay and its tributaries, there are 18 light-houses and lighted beacons, 2 beacons, 2 light vessels, 75 buoys and 1 light house tender. Inspector, W. H. GARDNER, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Engineer, G. CASTOR SMITH, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

In the Fifth District, extending from Metompkin Inlet, Va., to New River Inlet, N. C., including Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, Albemarle and Pamlico Sounds, there are 62 light-houses and lighted beacons, 85 beacons, 4 light vessels, 460 buoys, and 2 steam tenders. Inspector, J. M. BERRIEN, Norfolk, Va. Engineer, W. J. NEWMAN, Baltimore, Md.

In the Sixth District, extending from New River Inlet, N. C., to Cape Canaveral light-house, Florida, inclusive, there are 49 light-houses and light beacons, 123 beacons, 5 light vessels, 146 buoys and 2 sailing tenders. Inspector, A. K. HUGHES, Charleston, S. C. Engineer, JERE P. SMITH, Charleston, S. C.

In the Seventh District, extending from south of Cape Canaveral, to Egmont Key, Florida, there are 10 light-houses and lighted beacons, 18 beacons, 57 buoys, and 1 sailing tender. Inspector, B. M. DOVE, Key West, Florida. Engineer, M. C. DUNNIER, Key West, Florida.

In the Eighth District, extending from St. Mark's, Florida, to the Rio Grande, there are 64 light-houses and lighted beacons, 41 beacons, 80 buoys, 1 steam tender and 3 sailing tenders. Inspector, CHARLES GREEN, New Orleans, La. Engineer, M. D. Mc ALISTER, New Orleans, La.

On July 1, 1867, by authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the former eighth and ninth districts were consolidated, the new district being styled the eighth. This had become necessary, owing to the provision in the Act of Congress organizing the present light-house establishment, limiting the number of districts to twelve, and the extension of our coast upon the Pacific, which created the necessity for an additional district there. Under the present arrangement, there is no ninth district, and the aggregate number of districts remains at twelve.

In the Tenth District, embracing Lakes Erie, and Ontario, and the rivers St. Lawrence, Niagara, and their tributaries, there are 44 light-houses and lighted beacons, 79 buoys, and 1 steam tender. Inspector, F. B. ELLISON, Buffalo, N. Y. Engineer, W. F. RAYNOLDS, Detroit, Mich.

In the Eleventh District, embracing all that portion of the lake region (including affluents) above Detroit, Michigan, there are 63 light-houses and lighted beacons, 80 buoys, and 1 steam tender, which attends to this and the Tenth District. Inspector, T. H. STEVENS, Detroit, Mich. Engineer, W. F. RAYNOLDS, Detroit, Mich.

In the Twelfth District, extending from the southern boundary of California, to the 41st parallel of latitude, there are 9 light-houses and lighted beacons. Inspector, J. C. CARTER, San Francisco, Cal. Engineer, R. S. WILLIAMSON, San Francisco, Cal.

In the Thirteenth District, embracing the Pacific coast north of the 41st parallel of latitude, there are 9 light-houses and lighted beacons. Inspector, J. M. WATSON, Astoria, Oregon. Engineer, R. S. WILLIAMSON, San Francisco, Cal.

*In all the districts the buoys are exclusive of spare buoys to supply losses.

SUPERVISING INSPECTORS OF STEAMBOATS AND THEIR DISTRICTS.

Salaries $1,500 each, and traveling expenses.

President of Board, WILLIAM BURNETT.

First District—Embraces all waters and rivers of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains. Supervisor, WILLIAM BURNETT, San Francisco, Cal.

Second District—Embraces the waters of the Atlantic coast, rivers and tributaries between the bay of Passamaquoddy and Cape Charles. Supervisor, WILLIAM BRADFORD, New York City.

Third District—Embraces the waters of the Atlantic coast, rivers and tributaries between Cape Charles and Cape Sable. Supervisor, GEORGE W. MORRIS, Baltimore, Md.

Fourth District—Embraces the Mississippi river and tributaries, from the mouth of the Ohio river to Quincy, Ill. Supervisor, DANIEL G. TAYLOR, St. Louis, Mo.

Fifth District—Embraces the upper Mississippi and its tributaries from and including Alton, and the Red river of the North. Supervisor, CHARLES L. STEPHENSON, Galena, Ill.

Sixth District—Embraces the Ohio river and tributaries below Madison, and the Mississippi river and tributaries (below the Ohio) down to and including the Arkansas river. Supervisor, JAMES V. GUTHRIE, Louisville, Ky.

Seventh District—Embraces the Ohio river and tributaries above and including Madison. Supervisor, JOHN S. DEVINNY, Pittsburgh, Penn.

Eighth District—Embraces all the waters of the lakes north and west of Lake Erie, with their tributaries. Supervisor, ALFRED GUTHRIE, Chicago, Ill.

Ninth District—Embraces all the waters of Lakes Erie, Ontario, Champlain, Mcmphemagog and George, and the river St. Lawrence, with their tributaries. Supervisor, A. S. BEMIS, Buffalo, N. Y.

Tenth District—Embraces the coast and tributary waters of the Gulf of Mexico between Cape Sable and the mouth of the Rio Grande, and the Mississippi river and tributaries to the mouth of the Arkansas river. Supervisor, WILLIAM ROGERS, New Orleans, La.

ARMY AND NAVY.

By the eighth section of the first article of the Constitution, Congress is empowered in general to raise and support armies; to provide and maintain a navy, and to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces. By the second section of the second article, the President is appointed commander-in-chief of the army and navy, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States. On August 7, 1789, Congress established a Department of War to enable the President to carry out the provisions of the Constitution for military affairs. A number of "Original Rules and Articles of War," which were enacted by the Congress of 1776, were continued in force under the Constitution, with several modifications. These rules were the basis of the actual Articles of War, enacted in 1806, which, with slight alterations, form the military code which govern all troops when mustered into the service.

At the commencement of the year 1861, the army consisted of about 14,000 regular troops, stationed chiefly in the Southern states. A large number of these joined the cause of the Southern confederacy, so that at the breaking out of the rebellion the Federal army numbered only about 8,000 men. April 15, 1861, the President called out 75,000 volunteers for three months to defend the national capital; and on May 3, he called out 75,000 volunteers to serve for three years, or to the close of the war. By subsequent proclamations and acts of Congress the army was increased; the whole number enrolled to the end of the civil war amounted to 2,653,062. Since the close of the war, the army has been reduced to about 50,000 men.*

* For organization of Army and Navy, see pages 122 and 132.

The executive duties growing out of the management of the naval forces were by Congress committed to the War Department by act of August 7, 1789, but in 1798, a separate department was created, with a Cabinet officer called the Secretary of the Navy.

At the breaking out of the civil war in 1861, the naval forces consisted of 41 men of war on active service, most of which were sailing vessels. This number was largely increased during the war by purchase and the construction of new vessels. The naval force has been diminished since 1865.

WAR DEPARTMENT.

The Secretary of War has charge of all the duties connected with the army of the United States, fortifications, etc., issues commissions, directs the movement of troops, superintends their payment, stores, clothing, arms, and equipments, and ordnance, and conducts works of military engineering.

The following bureaus are attached to this department :

Commanding General's Office. The Commanding General has charge of the arrangement of the military forces, the superintendence of the recruiting service, and the discipline of the army. He is to see that the laws and regulations of the army are enforced. The office is at Washington and is called the Head-quarters of the army.

Adjutant-General's Office. In this office are kept all the records which refer to the personnel of the army, pay-roll, etc., and all military commissions are made out. All orders which emanate from Headquarters, or the War Department proper, pass through this office, and the annual returns from the army are received by it.

The Quartermaster-General's Office provides quarters, storage, and transportation for the army, and has charge of the barracks and the National Cemeteries.

The Paymaster-General's Office has charge of the disbursements to the regular army and the Military Academy.

The Commissary-General's Office provides subsistence stores for the troops and military forts.

The Ordnance Bureau has charge of the Ordnance stores, and the various arsenals and armories.

The Engineer's Office has charge of the military defenses of the country, the improvement of rivers, the surveys relating thereto, and the care of the Military Academy.

Surgeon-General's Office. All matters connected with medicine and surgery, the management of the sick and wounded, and the hospitals are under the control of this office.

Topographical Bureau. This bureau has charge of all topographical operations and surveys for military purposes, and for purposes of internal improvement, and of all maps, drawings, and documents relating to those duties.

The Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands, the Bureau of Military Justice, the Inspector General's Office, and the Signal Corps of the Army are also connected with the War Department.

APPOINTMENT AND ADMISSION OF CADETS.

I.—Application may be made at any time (by letter to the Secretary of War) by the applicant himself, his parent, guardian, or any of his friends, that his name may be placed on the register in the office of the Inspector of the Military Academy at Washington, D. C. The precise age and permanent abode of the applicant, as, also, the number of the Congressional District in which he resides, must be stated, and no application will be considered wherein these instructions are not complied with. No preference is given to applications on account of priority, nor can any information be communicated as to the probable success of an application before the appointments are made.

By an act of Congress, the appointment of a person who has served in any capacity in the military or naval service of the so-called Confederate States is prohibited, and, as a general rule, no person will be appointed who has had a brother educated in the Academy.

By provision of law, each Congressional and Territorial District and the District of Columbia, is entitled to have one Cadet at the Military Academy, and no more. In addition to these, the appointment annually of a number, not exceeding ten "at large," not confined to a selection by Congressional Districts, is authorized. The District and Territorial appointments are made upon the nomination of the member of Congress or Delegate representing the District or Territory at the date of appointment, and the law requires that the individual selected shall be an actual resident of the District or Territory, or District of Columbia, from which the appointment purports to be made. The selections "at large" and from the District of Columbia, are made by the President.

Appointments are required by law to be made one year in advance of the date of admission,—that is to say, about the 1st of July in each year, except in instances where it may be impracticable, from any cause, so to make them. Persons, therefore, receiving appointments have ample time afforded them in which to prepare for a successful examination prior to their admission.

II.—To prevent the disappointment, mortification, and useless expense that might attend the acceptance of a Cadet appointment by a person not possessing the necessary qualifications for admission, and for the instruction and aid of others, the following information is communicated:

Candidates must be over seventeen and under twenty-two years of age at the time of entrance into the Military Academy; no modification of the law in this respect can be made; but any person who has served honorably and faithfully not less than one year as an officer or enlisted man in the army of the United States either as a volunteer or in the regular service, during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, shall be eligible for appointment up to the age of twenty-four years. They must be at least five feet in height, and free from any deformity, disease, or infirmity, which would render them unfit for the military service, and from any disorder of an infectious or immoral character. They must be able to read and write well, and perform with facility and accuracy the various operations of the four ground rules of Arithmetic, of reduction, of simple and compound proportion, and of vulgar and decimal fractions. The Arithmetic is to be studied understandingly, and not merely committed to memory. They will also be required to have a knowledge of the elements of English Grammar, of Descriptive Geography, particularly of our own country, and of the History of the United States.

III.—It must be understood that a full compliance with the above conditions will be insisted on—that is to say: the candidate must write a fair and legible hand, and without any material mistakes in spelling such sentences as shall be dictated by the examiners; and he must answer promptly and without errors, all their questions in the above-mentioned rules of Arithmetic and in the other branches; failing in any of these particulars, he will be rejected.

IV.—Every candidate will, soon after his arrival at West Point, be subject to a rigid examination by an experienced Medical Board, and should there be found to exist in him cause of disqualification to such a degree as will immediately, or in all probability may at no very distant period, impair his efficiency, he will be rejected.

V.—During the months of July and August, the Cadets are engaged in military duties and exercises, living in camp. The Academic exercises commence the beginning of September. The semi-annual examination takes place in January. At this time the Cadets are rigidly examined in the subjects they have studied, and the new Cadets, if found proficient therein, (their conduct having been correct in all respects,) will receive the warrant of Cadet, and take such a station in their class as their respective merits, as determined at the examination, may entitle them to. If any have been unable to master the course, they will be pronounced deficient by the Academic Board, and their connection with the Academy will cease.

VI.—It is important that it be clearly understood, that this examination, like all subsequent ones, is very thorough, does not permit any evasion or slighting of the course, and exacts a very close and persevering attention to study. The examining officers have no option; they must reject the deficient.

VII.—In June there is held the "Annual Examination," which, in its character of searching scrutiny, is like the Semi-Annual examination in January. Cadets who have failed to make the requisite proficiency, and are not likely to succeed in future, are discharged.

VIII.—The pay of a cadet is $41.66 per month, with one ration per day, and is considered sufficient, with proper economy, for his support.

ARMY LIST.

All officers named in this list are graduates of the Military Academy, except those to whose names this [*] mark is prefixed.

The column "appointed from," in cases where officers have not served continuously, refers to the State from which they were last appointed.

EXPLANATIONS OF THE PRECEDING TABLE.

1. Double rations are allowed by law to the General-in-Chief Commanding the Army of the United States; to each general officer commanding in chief a separate army actually in the field; to each general officer commanding a geographical division embracing one or more geographical departments; and to each officer commanding a military geographical department. In the above table the rations of the general and lieutenant general are doubled.

2. Every commissioned officer of the United States Army, including retired officers, is entitled to one additional ration per day for every five years' service.

3. The rations of surgeons and assistant surgeons are doubled after ten years' continuous service in the same grade. This is in addition to the longevity rations to which they would otherwise be entitled.

4. Subaltern officers, employed on the General Staff, and receiving increased pay therefor, are not entitled to the additional or fourth ration provided by the Act of March 2, 1827, Sec. 2.

5. Officers retired from active service are entitled to the pay proper of the highest staff or regimental rank held at time of retirement and four rations per day. Officers retired from active service for disability from wounds received in battle, upon the full rank of the command they held at the time such wound was received, are entitled to the retired pay of that rank or grade. Retired officers assigned to appropriate duty by the President are entitled, while so assigned and employed, to the full pay and emoluments of the grade upon which they may have been retired.

6. Ten dollars additional pay per month is allowed to each "Company officer" in actual command of a company.

7. If a fixed salary has been given by law to any military employé of the government, while in active duty, and a defined military rank, either actual or assimilated, has also been conferred upon him by law, his rank and not his salary will control his pay on retirement. This decision is applicable to all chaplains of the army, holding the military rank of captain of infantry, under the provisions of section 7, act of March 2, 1867, when retired from active service.

8. The forage allowances to mounted officers for their horses are required by law to be drawn in kind from the quartermaster's department; but whenever commuted, because the quartermaster is unable to furnish in kind, the commutation value for each horse actually kept in use and allowed by law is eight dollars per month.

The total strength of the Army September 30, 1868, was 48,081.

ARTILLERY SCHOOL.

The Artillery School was organized at the close of 1867, by order of the General of the Army, and Brevet Major General Barry, Colonel Second Artillery, was assigned to its command. It was established at Fortress Monroe, and one battery from each of the five regiments of artillery was ordered to that post as the instruction batteries for the first year. The course of instruction adopted for the school is both theoretical and practical, embracing a variety of subjects, and is pursued both by the officers and non-commissioned officers of the batteries. The practical course for the first year, closed November, 1868.

FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

The Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands was established March 3, 1865, and attached to the War Department. By its terms the law was limited to one year after the close of the rebellion. On the 16th of July, A. D. 1866, the law was amended and continued in force for two years, and again on the 25th of July, 1868, an act was passed continuing the educational department of the Bureau, and the collections and payments of money due soldiers and sailors or their heirs, until otherwise ordered by Congress, but the other operations of the bureau were to be withdrawn from the reconstructed states on the 1st of January, 1869.

Major General O. O. Howard, was appointed Commissioner of the Bureau on the 12th of May, 1865, and entered upon his duties on the 15th. Ten Assistant Commissioners were appointed in the different states embraced under the Bureau; with one exception, these were officers in the army who were changed from time to time as changes were made in the different military departments.

The Bureau was organized with four departments embracing that of Lands, Records, Financial Affairs, and the Medical Department. The Claim Division was subsequently organized under the head of the land department.

The Bureau at first had supervision of farming property only, but the orders issued under the act by the President on the 2d of July, 1865, and by the Secretary of the Treasury soon after, placed the Bureau in charge of all real property which had been abandoned, captured, or confiscated, including building lots in cities and towns as well as plantations and farms.

As soon as possible after its organization, the land division proceeded to ascertain as accurately as possible the amount and character of the property committed to its charge.

By act of Congress approved June 21, 1866, all the public lands in the states of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida were opened for entry by colored and white men without distinction, in half-quarter sections, or 80 acre lots. The officers and agents of the Bureau have been directed to instruct freedmen respecting the location and value of these public lands, and the mode of procedure in order to obtain possession of them. By order of assistant commissioners, surveys have been made and some assistance given in transporting families to their new homes. In February of 1868, 450 entries had been made by freedmen. Nearly 3,000 families have acquired homes in Florida, and great benefits have resulted from their settlement on these public lands.

Though less progress has been made in other states many freedmen have secured lands in Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana.

When the Bureau was established, no appropriation was made for its support. There were however in the several states, funds to a limited amount derived from various sources which properly come under the control of the Bureau officers. The whole amount received from these sources from January 1, 1865, to January 1, 1868, or three years, was $1,605,694.19; the whole amount expended was $1,544,092.80, leaving in hands of disbursing officers January 1, 1868, $61,601.39.

Congress has made two appropriations for the support of this Bureau, as follows:

From July 1, 1866 to July 1, 1867.....	$6,944,450.00
From July 1, 1867, to July 1, 1868.....	3,836,300.00
Total.....	$10,780,750.00

The expenditures have been for

Amount in hands of disbursing officers December 31, 1867.....	645,911.33
Amount on hand December 31, 1867.....	$6,382,895.61

The Bureau has received from the hands of Superintendents of negro affairs and other officers a portion of the state bounties of certain colored soldiers amounting to $112,396.44, of which $77,288.96 had been paid back January 1, 1868.

The resolution of Congress of March 29, 1867, provided that certain checks and treasury certificates issued in settlement of claims due colored soldiers or sailors who had resided in slave states should be made payable to the Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau. From April 17, 1867, to January 1, 1868, 7,362 certificates and checks had been received, amounting to $1,536,024.35, of which 5,892 amounting to $950,822.89 had been paid.

The bureau for some time after its organization afforded relief to the destitute of all classes in the southern states, but the number thus relieved has gradually diminished. In September, 1865, it was 74,951; in September, 1866, 29,819; and in September, 1867, 11,658. In addition to the regular relief furnished, Congress in March, 1867, authorized a general issue of provisions "to prevent starvation and extreme want in those southern and southwestern states, where a failure of the crops and other causes have occasioned wide-spread destitution." Under this act, corn and meat were distributed to 58,343 persons daily for a period of four months, at a cost of $2 each per month.

A surprising thirst for knowledge on the part of the colored people was discovered soon after the National forces entered the southern states, and provision was made for their instruction as early as 1861. After the organization of the Bureau, schools were taken in charge and, in some states, carried on entirely by aid of its funds and under its supervision. In September, 1865, J. W. Alvord, the present General Superintendent, was appointed inspector of schools. He traveled through most of the Southern States, examining the condition of the freedmen, and providing for the establishment and supervision of schools. Various benevolent societies co-operated with the Commissioner and Superintendent in establishing schools and providing teachers. The act of Congress of July 16, 1866, continuing the bureau appropriated $521,000 for school purposes, the bill also provided for the sale or lease of property formerly belonging to the so called confederate states and the use of the avails for school purposes. After the passage of this act, the schools assumed a more enlarged and permanent character.

During the progress of the war, medical aid was frequently required by colored refugees, which was supplied by the medical department of the army. Upon the organization of the Bureau, the care and management of this class of the helpless sick devolved upon it, and stores, medicines, &c., were supplied by its medical division.

Land Department. Whole number of acres reported in possession of the Bureau from its organization to December 31, 1867, 636,389. Whole number restored, 400,517. Number of pieces of town property in possession, 4,238; number restored, 3,375. Number of acres in possession Dec. 31, 1867, 235,872. Number of pieces of town property Dec. 31, 1867, 863.

Statistics of Schools for Freedmen. January 1, 1866, the whole number of colored schools was 740; teachers of these schools, 1,314; pupils, 90,589. For the six months ending January 1, 1868, there were reported 1,486 day or night schools with 1,744 teachers, and 81,878 pupils; 772 sabbath schools with 2,105 teachers, and 57,177 pupils; and 39 industrial schools with 1,603 pupils.

Of the above, 25 are high or normal schools. There are also within knowledge of the superintendent, but not regularly reported, 389 day or night schools with 458 teachers and 18,589 pupils; and 389 sabbath schools, with 2,185 teachers and 30,270 pupils. Schools of all kinds, 3,084; teachers, 6,492; pupils, 189,517. Of the whole number of schools, 1000 are sustained wholly or in part by the freedmen, and they own 364 of the buildings used for school purposes. Number of day and night schools, for six months ending July 1, 1868, 1,831; teachers, 2,291; pupils, 104,327; average attendance, 78,402, or over 75 per cent. Tuition was paid by 32,675 pupils, amounting to $95,860.84. Number of Sabbath schools, 1,009; teachers in same, 4,738; pupils, 89,466. Number of industrial schools, 46; pupils, 1,873.

The bureau expended for rents, repairs and construction of school buildings during the previous six months, $361,205.48; and for other educational purposes during the same period, $97,201.67; making a total of $458,407.15. The whole amount expended for the support of the above schools by all parties during the last half year has been $571,446.11. As showing the advancement of pupils, 21,032 are studying geography, 31,539 arithmetic, 30,567 are in writing, and 4,675 are in the higher branches. The whole amount expended for all school purposes from the commencement of the bureau to January 1, 1867, was $1,066,394.28.

Medical Department. The whole number of freedmen and refugees treated from the organization of the bureau, to December 31, 1867, was 388,516 freedmen, of whom 19,257 died; 19,722 refugees, of whom 677 died. Greatest number of hospitals existing at any one time, 48; number in operation in 1868, 25; number discontinued during year ending December 31, 1867, 28; largest number of medical officers at a given time, (September, 1866), 118; number employed in 1868, 84; greatest number of hospital attendants, stewards, &c., 430; number of attendants employed in 1868, 317.

. NAVY DEPARTMENT.

Secretary's Office. The Secretary of the Navy has charge of every thing connected with the naval establishment, and the execution of all laws relating thereto under the general direction of the President. All instructions to commanders of squadrons, and commanders of vessels; all orders to officers; commissions of officers, both in the navy and marine corps; appointments of commissioned and warrant officers, and orders for the enlistment and discharge of seamen, emanate from the Secretary's office. All the duties of the different bureaus are performed under the authority of the Secretary, and their orders are considered as emanating from him. He has a general superintendence of the marine corps, and all the orders of the commandant of that corps are approved by him.

The Bureau of Navy Yards and Docks has charge of all the navy yards, docks and wharves, buildings and machinery in navy yards, and every thing immediately connected with them. It is also charged with the management of the Naval Asylum.

The Bureau of Navigation has charge of the Naval Observatory and Hydrographical Office. It furnishes vessels with maps, charts, chronometers, &c., together with such books as are allowed to ships of war. The Naval Academy, Naval Observatory, and Nautical Almanac are attached to this bureau.

The Bureau of Ordnance has charge of all ordnance and ordnance stores, the manufacture or purchase of cannon, guns, powder, shot, shells, &c., and the equipment of vessels of war, with every thing connected therewith.

The Bureau of Construction and Repair has charge of the building and repairs of all vessels of war, and purchase of material.

The Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting has charge of providing all vessels with their equipments, as sails, anchors, water tanks, &c.; also, charge of the recruiting service.

The Bureau of Steam Engineering has charge of the construction, repair, &c., of the machinery of steam vessels of war. The Engineer-in-Chief superintends the construction of all marine steam engines for the navy, and, with the approval of the Secretary, decides upon plans for their construction.

The Bureau of Provisions and Clothing contracts for all provisions and clothing for the use of the navy.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery manages every thing relating to medicine and medical stores, treatment of sick and wounded, and management of hospitals.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING ADMISSION INTO THE NAVAL ACADEMY.

I. The number of midshipmen allowed at the Academy is one for every member and delegate of the House of Representatives, one for the District of Columbia, ten appointed annually at large, and ten selected each year from boys enlisted in the navy who have been at least one year in the service on board a naval vessel.

II. The nomination of candidates for admission from the District of Columbia, from the enlisted boys, and at large, is made by the President. The nomination of a candidate from any Congressional district or Territory is made on the recommendation of the member or delegate, from actual residents of his district or Territory.

III. Each year, as soon after the fifth of March as possible, members and delegates will be notified, in writing, of vacancies that may exist in their districts. If such members or delegates neglect to recommend candidates by the first of July in that year, the Secretary of the Navy is required by law to fill the vacancies existing in districts actually represented in Congress.

IV. The nomination of candidates is made annually, between the fifth of March and the first of July. Candidates who are nominated in time to enable them to reach the Academy between the twentieth and thirtieth of June, will receive permission to present themselves at that time to the Superintendent of the Naval Academy for examination as to their qualifications for admission. Those who are nominated prior to July 1st, but not in time to attend the June examination, will be examined between the twentieth and thirtieth of September following: and should any candidate fail to report, or be found physically or mentally disqualified for admission in June, the member or delegate from whose district he was nominated will be notified to recommend another candidate, who shall be examined between the twentieth and thirtieth of September following.

V. No candidate will be admitted into the naval academy unless he shall have passed a satisfactory examination before the Academic Board, and is found (in the opinion of a medical board, to be composed of the Surgeon of the Naval Academy and two other medical officers designated by the Secretary of the Navy) physically sound, well formed, and of robust constitution, and qualified to endure the arduous labors of an officer in the navy.

VI. Candidates for appointment as midshipmen must be between fourteen and eighteen years of age when examined for admission. All candidates for admission will be required to certify, on honor, to their precise age, to the Academic Board, previous to examination, and none will be examined who are over or under the prescribed age. They must be of good moral character, satisfactory testimonials of which, from persons of good repute in the neighborhood of their respective residences, must be presented; and testimonials from clergymen, instructors in colleges and high schools, will have special weight. They must also pass a satisfactory examination before the Academic Board in reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, and English grammar, viz: in Reading, they must read clearly and intelligibly from any English narrative work—as, for example, Bancroft's History of the United States; in Writing and Spelling, they must write from dictation, in a legible hand, and spell with correctness both orally and in writing; in Arithmetic, they will be examined in numeration and the addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers and vulgar and decimal fractions, and in proportion, or the rule of three; in Geography, they will be examined as to the leading grand divisions—the continents, oceans, and seas, the chief mountains and rivers, and the boundaries and population of the chief nations, their government, capitals, and chief cities; in English Grammar, they will be examined as to the parts of speech and the elementary construction of sentences, and will be required to write an original paragraph of a few sentences. The Board will judge whether the proficiency of the candidate in these branches is sufficient to qualify him to enter upon the studies of the Academy.

Attention will also be paid to the stature of the candidate; and no one manifestly undersized for his age will be received into the Academy. In case of doubt about the physical condition of the candidate, any marked deviation from the usual standard of height will add materially to the consideration for rejection*.

The Board will exercise a proper discretion in the application of the above conditions to each case; rejecting no candidate who is likely to be efficient in the service, and admitting no one who is likely to prove physically inefficient.

VII. If both of these examinations result favorably, the candidate will receive an appointment as a midshipman, become an inmate of the Academy, and be allowed his actual and necessary traveling expenses from his residence to the Naval Academy, and be required to sign articles by which he will bind himself to serve in the United States Navy eight years, (including his term of probation at the Naval Academy), unless sooner discharged. If, on the contrary, he shall not pass both of these examinations, he will receive neither an appointment nor his traveling expenses, nor can he by law have the privilege of another examination for admission to the same class unless recommended by the board of examiners.

* * * * *

VIII. Each midshipman must, on admission, deposit with the paymaster the sum of one hundred dollars, for which he will be credited on the books of that officer, to be expended by direction of the Superintendent for the purchase of text-books and other authorized articles.

IX. A midshipman found deficient at any examination cannot, by law, be continued at the Academy or in the service, unless upon the recommendation of the Academic Board.

X. A midshipman who voluntarily resigns his appointment within a year of the time of his admission to the Academy will be required to refund the amount paid him for traveling expenses.

XI. A midshipman may be advanced to any class which he may be found qualified to join either upon his admission or at any subsequent examination; and he may be graduated at any June examination at which he shall be found fully qualified to pass a graduating academic examination.

REGULATIONS FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF CADET ENGINEERS IN THE NAVY.

I. In pursuance of acts of Congress of July 4, 1864, and of March 2, 1867, applications will be received by the Navy Department for the appointment of Cadet Engineers.

II. The application is to be addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, and can be made by the candidate or by any person for him, and his name will be placed on the register. The registry of a name, however, gives no assurance of an appointment, and no preference will be given in the selection to priority of application.

III. The number of Cadet Engineers is limited by law to fifty. The candidate must be not less than eighteen nor more than twenty-two years of age, and his application must be accompanied by satisfactory evidence of moral character and health, with information regarding date of birth and educational advantages hitherto enjoyed. Candidates who receive permission will present themselves to the Superintendent of the Naval Academy between the 20th and 30th of September, for examination as to their qualifications for admission.

IV. The course of study will comprise two academic years. All Cadets who graduate will be immediately warranted as 3d Assistant Engineers in the Navy. The pay of a Cadet is the same as that of Midshipmen.

V. The academic examination previous to appointment will be on the following subjects, namely: Arithmetic; the candidate will be examined in numeration and the addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers, and of vulgar and decimal fractions; in reduction; in proportion, or rule of three, direct and inverse; and in involution and the extraction of square and cube roots. Algebra, (Bourdon); Geometry, (Davies' Legendre); Rudimentary Natural Philosophy; Elements of Inorganic Chemistry; English Grammar and English

*The Medical Board of 1864 adopted the following standard for the height of candidates; 14 years of age, 4 feet 10 inches; 15 years, 5 feet; 16 years, 5 feet 2 inches; 17 years, 5 feet 3 inches; 18 years, (nearly), 5 feet 4 inches; the candidates to be of proportionate size, especially with regard to cerebral, osseous, and muscular development; the youngest to weigh not less than 100 pounds, and the oldest not less than 120 pounds.

Composition; History of the United States; also, a brief outline of Ancient and Modern History. The candidate will also be required to exhibit a fair degree of proficiency in pencil-sketching and right-line drawing, and he must be able to describe all the different parts of ordinary condensing and non-condensing engines, explain their uses and operation; also, the ordinary tools used for construction purposes.

* * * * *

VI. If these examinations result favorably, the candidate will receive an appointment as a Cadet Engineer, become an inmate of the Academy, and be allowed his actual and necessary traveling expenses from his residence to the Naval Academy; and be required to sign articles by which he will bind himself to serve in the United States Navy six years, (including his term of probation at the Naval Academy), unless sooner discharged. If, on the contrary, he shall not pass both of these examinations, he will receive neither an appointment nor his traveling expenses, nor can he have the privilege of another examination for admission to the same class unless recommended by the board of examiners.

* * * * *

VII. Each Cadet Engineer must, on admission, deposit with the paymaster the sum of seventy-five dollars, for which he will be credited on the books of that officer, to be expended by direction of the Superintendent for the purchase of text-books and other authorized articles.

VIII. While at the Academy the Cadets will be examined, from time to time, according to the regulations prescribed by the Navy Department; and if found deficient at any examination, or dismissed for misconduct, they cannot, by law, be continued in the Academy or naval service, except upon recommendation of the Academic Board.

IX. A Cadet Engineer who voluntarily resigns his appointment will be required to refund the amount paid him for traveling expenses.

PAY OF THE NAVY.

All officers, while at sea or attached to a sea-going vessel, shall be allowed one ration.

The pay of all naval officers appointed by virtue of an act entitled "An act to provide for the temporary increase of the navy," approved July 24, 1861, shall be the same as that of officers of a like grade in the regular navy. The law provides that the rate of pay of officers of the navy on the retired list, and not on duty, nor retired on furlough pay, in cases where such rate of pay has not heretofore been fixed by law, shall be one half of the pay to which such officers would be entitled if on duty at sea.

The pay of clerks of navy yards, of clerks to commandants of navy yards, and of clerks to naval store-keepers was increased twenty-five per cent. upon their salaries from the commencement of the fiscal year, July 1, 1867. And the retired pay of Surgeons, Paymasters, Engineers and other staff officers in the navy was made the same as that of the retired officers of the line with whom they have relative rank.

Officers on the retired and reserved lists of the navy are entitled to promotion as their several dates upon the active list are promoted; but such promotion does not entitle them to any pay beyond that to which they were entitled when retired, unless upon active duty, when they shall receive the full pay of their respective grades.

The List of Vessels in the Navy was corrected at the Navy Department, October, 1868. From that time to December, several changes were made by which the naval force was still further reduced. The changes in the squadrons are as follows:

The Gettysburg of 9 guns, and the Nipsic of 6 guns, have at different times been in Haytien waters, connected with the North Atlantic Squadron. The Shamokin, from the South Atlantic Squadron; the Canandaigua, from the European Squadron, and the Shenandoah, from the Asiatic Squadron, have returned, or have been ordered home, and the Idaho, (store and hospital ship) of 7 guns, is attached to the Asiatic Squadron.

Exhibit of the Naval Force, December, 1868. The number of vessels in squadron service, as cruisers, storeships and returning is 42, carrying 411 guns—a reduction during the year of 14 vessels, carrying 96 guns. The number of vessels of all descriptions in use as cruisers, storeships, receiving ships, tugs, &c., is 81, carrying 693 guns—a reduction from last year of 22 vessels; carrying 205 guns. The total number of vessels borne upon the navy list is 206, carrying 1,743 guns—a reduction during the year of 32 vessels, carrying 126 guns.

The Constitution provides that the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, hold their offices during good behavior ; and at stated times receive for their services a compensation, which is not to be diminished during their continuance in office.

The judicial power extends to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls ; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction ; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party ; to controversies between two or more states ; between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and of foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court has original jurisdiction. In all other cases before mentioned, the supreme court has appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such obligations as congress shall make.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Chief Justice, Salmon P. Chase, Ohio.
Associate Justices, Samuel Nelson, New York; Robert C. Grier, Pennsylvania; Nathan Clifford, Maine; Noah H. Swayne, Ohio; Samuel F. Miller, Iowa; David Davis, Illinois; Stephen J. Field, California.
Clerk, D. W. Middleton; Marshal, R. C. Parsons; Reporter, John Wm. Wallace.
 Salary of Chief Justice, $6,500; of each Associate Justice, $6,000.

CIRCUIT COURTS.*

This country is divided into nine Judicial Circuits, in each of which a Circuit Court is held twice every year, for each State within the Circuit, by a Justice of the Supreme Court, assigned to the Circuit, and by the District Judge of the State or district in which the Court sits.

The Circuit Courts have both original and appellate jurisdiction. They have concurrent jurisdiction with the State Courts, where the matter in dispute exceeds the sum of $500, and the United States are plaintiffs; or where an alien is a party; or where the suit is between citizens of different States. They have exclusive jurisdiction in all cases of crimes against the laws of the United States, except where the law especially confers the power on other Courts.

The District Courts have exclusive original jurisdiction in all admiralty and maritime causes.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

[Corrected at Post Office Department, October, 1868.]

The management of the Post Office Department is assigned by the Constitution and laws to the Postmaster General.

The Appointment Office, at the head of which is the First Assistant Postmaster General, attends to the establishment and discontinuance of post offices, changes of sites and names, appointment and removal of postmasters and route of local agents, and giving of instructions to postmasters. It provides marking and rating stamps and letter balances for postmasters, and blanks and stationery for the use of the department, and superintends the several agencies established for supplying postmasters with blanks, wrapping paper and twine. It has the supervision of the ocean mail steamship lines and of the foreign and international postal arrangements.

The Contract Office, at the head of which is the Second Assistant Postmaster General, arranges the mail service, and places the same under contract, corresponds and acts respecting the trips, conveyance, departures and arrivals on all the routes, the course of the mail between the different sections of the country, the points of distribution, and the regulations for the government of the domestic mail service. It prepares the advertisements, receives the bids, and takes charge of the annual and occasional mail lettings; the adjustment and execution of the contracts; application for the establishment or alteration of mail arrangements, and the appointment of mail messengers. All claims for transportation service not under contract are to be recognized by the Contract Office as authority for the proper credits at the Auditor's Office. Postmasters at the end of routes receive from it the statement of mail arrangements prescribed for the respective routes. It reports weekly to the Auditor all contracts executed, and all orders affecting accounts for mail transportation; prepares the statistical exhibits of the mail service, and the reports of the mail lettings, giving a statement of each bid; also, of the contracts made, the new service originated, the curtailments ordered, and the additional allowances granted within the year.

To the Inspection Division of this Office, is assigned the duty of receiving and examining the registers of the arrivals and departures of the mails, certificates of the service of route agents, and reports of mail failures; of noting the delinquencies of contractors, and preparing cases thereon for the action of the Postmaster General; furnishing blanks for mail registers, and reports of mail failures; providing and sending out mail-bags and mail locks and keys; the suppression of all cases of mail depredation, of violation of law by private express, or by the forging or illegal-use of postage stamps.

All communications respecting lost money, lost letters, mail depredations, or other violations of laws should be directed to this division.

The Finance Office, the head of which is the Third Assistant Postmaster General, supervises the financial business of the department not devolved by law upon the Auditor, embracing accounts with the draft officers and other depositaries of the department, the issuing of warrants and drafts in payment of balances reported by the Auditor to be due to mail contractors and other persons, the supervision of the accounts of officers under order to deposit their quarterly balances at designated points, and the superintendence of the rendition by postmasters of their quarterly returns of postage. It has charge of the dead-letter office, of the issuing of postage stamps and stamped envelopes for the prepayment of postage, and of the accounts connected therewith.

To the Third Assistant Postmaster General, all postmasters should direct their quarterly returns of postage; those at draft offices, their letters reporting quarterly the net proceeds of their offices; and those at depositing offices, their certificates of deposit. To him should also be directed the weekly and monthly returns of the depositaries of the department, as well as all applications and receipts for postage stamps and stamped envelopes, and for dead letters.

REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES OF POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The ordinary postal revenue for the year ending June 30, 1868, was $16,292,600.80; the expenditures for the same time, including service for which special appropriations were made, $22,730,592.65; excess of expenditures, $6,437,991.85. The receipts were: From postages, $16,292,600; amounts drawn from the treasury under acts making appropriations for "carrying free matter," $3,800,000; under acts making special appropriations for "overland mail and marine service between New York and California," $1,125,000; "steamship service between San Francisco, Japan and China," $125,000; between the "United States and Brazil," $150,000; for "carrying the mail on routes established by acts passed during the first session of the Thirty-ninth Congress," $486,525; "for preparing and publishing post route maps," $10,000, making the receipts from all sources, $21,989,125. The expenditures of all kinds were $22,730,592, as above stated; excess over receipts, $741,466.

The ordinary expenses of the department, not including mail transportation provided for by special appropriations, were $21,555,592.65; and the ordinary receipts, including the amount drawn under appropriation for carrying free mail matter, were $20,092,600.80, showing an excess of expenditures of $1,462,991.85, for $741,466.85, of which, a special appropriation will be required. The receipts for postages, as compared with the previous year, show an increase of 6 per cent., and the expenditures an increase of 18.1 per cent.

POSTAL CONVENTIONS.

Postal Conventions with Great Britain and Countries on the Continent of Europe. Liberal postal conventions, with general uniformity of principles and details, have been concluded with the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Belgium, Switzerland, the Netherlands, the North German Union, and Italy, securing important reductions of postage, and introducing other valuable improvements in our postal intercourse with those countries. The new postal convention concluded with the United Kingdom, which goes into operation January 1, 1869, establishes the following rates of international postage, viz:

1. Letters—Twelve cents per single rate of 15 grammes (half ounce) in the United States, and sixpence (12 cents) in the United Kingdom, prepayment optional. A fine of five cents in the United States, and twopence (4 cents) in the United Kingdom will, however, be levied and collected in addition to the deficient postage on each unpaid or insufficiently prepaid letter received by one country from the other.

2. Newspapers—Two cents each in the United States, and one penny each in the United Kingdom, if not exceeding four ounces in weight.

3. Book-packets (including printed papers of all kinds, &c.), and patterns or samples of merchandise (including seeds and grain): When not exceeding one ounce in weight, two cents in the United States, and one penny in the United Kingdom. When exceeding one ounce and not exceeding two ounces in weight four cents in the United States, and twopence in the United Kingdom. When exceeding two ounces and not exceeding four ounces in weight six cents in the United States, and threepence in the United Kingdom. When exceeding four ounces in weight, an additional rate of six cents in the United States, and threepence in the United Kingdom will be charged for every additional four ounces or fraction thereof. The postage chargeable as above, upon all articles of printed matter, including patterns or samples of merchandise, must be fully prepaid at the mailing office in either country, and is in full to destination—the receiving country delivering the same without charge.

4. Each country to make its own arrangements for the dispatch of mails to the other by well appointed ships, and to pay for the transportation of the mails which it dispatches.

5. The free transfer of extra territorial mails in the seaports of the two countries is provided for.

The conventions concluded with Belgium, the Netherlands, the North German Union, Italy, and Switzerland, respectively, contain substantially the same principles and provisions as the convention with the United Kingdom, with such slight modifications as were necessary to meet the peculiarities of the postal system of each country.

The single rate for letters between the United States and Belgium, by closed mails through England, is reduced from 27 to 15 cents; between the United States and Prussia embracing all the States now included within the North German Union, the single letter rate is reduced from 30 to 15 cents; and the same rate of fifteen cents has been established to the Netherlands, Italy, and to Switzerland, respectively, by closed mails through England, thus securing a uniform rate of letter postage to each of these countries.

The conventions with Belgium and the North German Union also establish a reduced international rate of ten cents for letters transmitted by regular lines of mail steamships plying directly between any port of the United States and any port of the north of Europe.

The principle of free transit for correspondence transmitted in closed mails is adopted in the conventions with the Netherlands and Italy, and in each of the other conventions very low transit charges are established.

Postal Convention with Hong Kong, China. A postal convention, with simple provisions avoiding postage accounts, has also been concluded with the colonial government of Hong Kong, China. The arrangements made with the Hong Kong office embrace correspondence originating in the United States and addressed to Hong Kong or to the dependent Chinese ports with which Hong Kong maintains postal relations, including Canton, Amoy, Swatow, and Foo Chow; and vice versa of correspondence originating in Hong Kong or the dependent Chinese ports, and addressed to the United States. Prepayment is compulsory.

Each office retains the postage which it collects at the established rates on the correspondence which it forwards to the other, and the receiving office delivers free of charge.

Mail Steamship service to Japan and China. The mail steamship service between the United States and China authorized by the act of Congress, approved February 17, 1865, was commenced on the 1st of January, 1867, by the departure of the steamship Colorado from San Francisco with the mails for Japan and China. The average duration of the first three voyages of the Colorado was as follows, viz.:

	Days.	Hours.	Minutes.
From San Francisco to Yokohama.....	22	17	41
From San Francisco to Hong Kong including detention at Yokohama.....	30	11	10
From Yokohama to Hong Kong.....	6	2	48
From Hong Kong to Yokohama.....	7	12	46
From Yokohama to San Francisco.....	21	9	0
From Hong Kong to San Francisco including detention at Yokohama.....	30	22	7

A supplemental contract was executed on the 20th of March, 1867, for the conveyance of the United States mails without additional charge, in lieu of the Honolulu service released, by a branch line of steamers between Yokohama, or other port in Japan used by the main line, and the port of Shanghai, in China, making continuous regular monthly trips between said ports in connection with the main line, both on the outward and homeward voyages.

POSTAL SERVICE.

Post Offices and Delivery of Letters. A large majority of offices discontinued are in the southern states, the service at which was suspended by order of the Postmaster General, in May, 1861, and were not in operation thereafter, but not regularly discontinued. These offices were reported by the Auditor to the appointment office as having failed to make returns for five years, and their discontinuance recommended as necessary to enable that officer to close the accounts of the late postmasters on the books of his office, and for that reason it was deemed advisable to formally discontinue them.

The free delivery of letters by carriers has been in operation during the past year in forty-eight of the principal cities. The number of carriers employed was 1,198, at an aggregate compensation of $995,934.34. This mode of delivery continues to grow in public favor, and experience justifies the belief that it will supersede the system of box delivery, increase correspondence, and not only pay its expenses, but yield a revenue to the department.

Postage Stamps and Stamped Envelopes. There were issued during the year, 371,599,605 postage stamps of the value of $11,578,607; 44,566,150 plain stamped envelopes, representing $1,290,588.50; 16,662,150 stamped envelopes bearing printed cards and requests, representing $494,712.50; and 1,857,750 newspaper wrappers, valued at $37,155. The aggregate value was $13,401,063. The issue of postage stamps compared with the previous year shows an increase of about 6.5 per cent., whilst the issue of stamped envelopes increased almost 61 per cent. The sales of postage stamps and stamped envelopes during the year amounted to $12,988,134.32, leaving unsold in the hands of postmasters, $412,928.78.

Contracts and Mail Routes. There were in the service of the department on the 30th June, 1867, 6,376 contractors for the transportation of mails. Of mail routes in operation there were 7,743; aggregate length, 203,245 miles; aggregate annual transportation, 78,982,789 miles; aggregate annual cost, $9,336,286; including the compensation of postal railway clerks, route agents, local agents, mail messengers, mail route messengers, and baggage masters in charge of mails, $1,020,871, the aggregate annual cost was $10,357,157. This service was divided as follows, viz:

Railroad Routes: Length, 34,015 miles; annual transportation, 32,427,900 miles; annual cost, $3,812,600; about 11.75 cents per mile.

Steamboat Routes: Length, 15,094 miles; annual transportation, 3,210,740 miles; annual cost $472,206; about 14.7 cents per mile.

Celerity, Certainty, and Security Routes: Length, 153,136 miles; annual transportation, 43,334,149 miles; annual cost, $5,051,480; about 11.65 cents per mile.

The length of routes was increased over the preceding year 22,324 miles; the annual transportation, 7,144,875; and cost, $1,705,812; to which add increased cost for railway postal clerks, route, local, and other agents, $241,161, makes an aggregate of $1,946,973.

Fines and Deductions. The amount of fines imposed and deductions made from the pay of contractors, for failures and other delinquencies during the year, was $188,839.46, and the amount remitted for the same period was $42,921.79, leaving the net amount of fines and deductions $145,907.97.

Mail Bags. The amount expended for mail bags was $80,440, an excess of $26,812.50 over the expenditure of the previous year, but less by $11,275.86 than that of the year next preceding.

Railway Postal Service. There are now in operation in the United States eighteen railway postal routes, extending in the aggregate over 4,435 miles, upon 879 miles of which twice daily service is performed, making a total equal to 5,314 miles of railway postal service daily each way. There are employed in this service 160 men, as head clerks, and clerks, at a cost of $187,900 per annum.

Foreign Mail Service. The aggregate amount of postage upon the correspondence exchanged with foreign countries was $2,441,242.52, an increase of $152,023.22 over the previous year. Of this amount, $1,969,605.55 accrued on the correspondence exchanged in the mails with Great Britain, France, Prussia, Bremen, Hamburg and Belgium, $248,303.88 on correspondence exchanged with the British North American provinces, and $123,333.09 on mails transmitted to and from the West Indies, Mexico, Central and South America, the Sandwich Islands, Japan and China. The United States portion of the postage on correspondence exchanged with Great Britain and the continent of Europe, amounted to $871,223.45; with the British North American provinces, $196,848.13; and with the West Indies, &c., $123,333.09, making the total United States postages on foreign mails, $1,191,404.67. The number of letters exchanged with foreign countries (exclusive of the British North American provinces) was 10,298,224, of which 5,312,401 were sent from, and 4,985,833 received in the United States. Of this number 9,442,111 were exchanged with European countries, an increase of 877,264 as compared with the previous year. The estimated number exchanged with the British provinces was 2,806,000, making a total of over 13,100,000 letters exchanged in the mails with foreign countries. The number of newspapers sent to foreign countries, exclusive of the British North American provinces, was 2,956,599, and the number received, 1,871,710, making a total of 4,828,482. Of this number, 4,418,482 were exchanged with European countries.

The cost of the trans-Atlantic mail steamship service under the provisions of the law allowing sea and inland postages to American, and sea postages only to foreign steamships was $551,338.01. The amount paid for the transportation of mails to and from the West Indies, was $60,711.77, and the amount paid for sea and Isthmus conveyance of mails to and from Central and South America via Panama, was $22,956.79; making a total expenditure for ocean transportation of $635,006.57, exclusive of the payments made to the Brazil and China lines, receiving subsidies for mail service under special acts of Congress.

Balance due Foreign Post Departments: The excess of postage collections in the United States on the correspondence exchanged with Great Britain and countries on the continent of Europe was $564,757.13, and the balance against the United States on adjustment of the international postage accounts with those countries amounted to $357,223.77.

Dead Letters. The number of letters consigned to the dead letter office during the past fiscal year, was 3,619,062 dead domestic letters, partly estimated; 443,786 unmailable letters, chiefly held for non-payment of postage; 179,466 dead letters mailed in foreign countries, and 64,191 letters mailed in the United States, and returned as "dead" from the foreign countries to which they were originally addressed; making a total from all sources of 4,306,508, a decrease of 892,097 letters from the same total as estimated for the previous year. The whole number of dead letters, of domestic and foreign origin, and returned from the local offices of the United States, was 3,798,528; a decrease of 789,514 as compared with the returns of the previous year.

The whole number of unmailable letters was 443,786, a decrease since last report of 94,337. Of the number received, 7,961 letters were directed to places having no mail service.

The number of money letters containing sums of one dollar and upwards was 21,365, enclosing $138,365, of which 668, containing $8,564.56, were registered. There were restored to owners 18,577 letters, containing $127,135.43.

The number of money letters containing sums of less than one dollar was 12,770, enclosing $3,369.24; of these, 10,372 containing $3,485.09, were restored to owners.

The amount of money taken from unclaimed letters filed prior to July 1, 1867, was $19,914.67, which, together with $5,159.20 realized from the sale of waste paper, amounting to $25,073.87, was deposited in the treasury.

The number of letters enclosing bills of exchange, checks, deeds, and other papers, classed as "minor" letters, was 21,262 with a nominal value of $5,109,554.48. Of this class 19,991 letters were restored to owners.

The number of letters enclosing photographs, jewelry, and other articles, classed as "property" letters, was 49,386, of which 34,892 were restored to owners.

The number of foreign letters returned unopened to the countries where they originated was 186,189, and those received from foreign countries was 64,194.

The number of ordinary letters remained to writers was 1,677,875; of these, 1,421,871, or 84 per cent. were delivered. It thus appears that of 4,306,508 letters consigned to the dead letter office during the year, there have been restored to owners 1,611,686; filed and held for future disposition, 18,553; and returned to foreign countries 186,189, leaving a balance of 2,490,080 indicative of the number that were properly or unavoidably destroyed. Of these, about 1,500,000 were worthless, being mostly circulars and gift or lottery advertisements; 256,004 were sent out but not delivered, leaving about 1,000,000 without signatures, or so written as to be unintelligible.

In 1859, there were 381 dead letters to every one thousand dollars of postage revenue; in 1861, 339; in 1862, 302; in 1863, 246; in 1864, 301; in 1865, 326; in 1866, 347; in 1867, 278.

Postal Money Order System. The whole number of money order post offices in operation at the close of the fiscal year, 1867, was 1,234.

RATES OF DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

The law requires postage on all letters (including those to foreign countries when prepaid) excepting those written to the President or Vice-President, or members of Congress, or (on official business) to the chiefs of the executive departments of the government, and the heads of bureaus and chief clerks, and others invested with the franking privilege, to be prepaid by stamps or stamped envelopes, prepayment in money being prohibited. Postmasters can send official letters to other Postmasters free.

The Adjutants General of the several States and Territories, are authorized to transmit through the mails, free of postage, any medals, certificates of thanks or other testimonials, awarded, or which may be awarded by the Legislatures of said States and Territories, to the soldiers thereof, under such regulations as the Postmaster General may direct.

All drop letters must be prepaid. The rate of postage on drop letters, at offices where free delivery by carrier is established, is two cents per half ounce or fraction of a half ounce; at offices where such free delivery is not established the rate is one cent.

The single rate of postage on all domestic mail letters throughout the United States is three cents per half ounce, with an additional rate of three cents for each additional half ounce or fraction of a half ounce. The ten cent (Pacific) rate is abolished.

Letter postage is to be charged on all handbills, circulars, or other printed matter which shall contain any manuscript writing whatever.

Daguerreotypes, when sent in the mail, are to be charged with letter postage by weight.

Photographs on cards, paper, and other flexible material (not in cases) can be sent at the same rate as miscellaneous printed matter, viz., two cents for each four ounces or fraction thereof.

POSTAGE ON TRANSIENT PRINTED MATTER.

[All printed matter (except single copies of newspapers, magazines, and periodicals sent to regular subscribers from publishers) intended to go by mail westward from the western boundary of Kansas, or eastward from the eastern boundary of California, must be prepaid by stamps at letter postage rates. See 259, P. O. Laws, Edition of 1866].

Books, not over four ounces in weight, to one address, 4 cts.; over four oz. and not over eight oz., 8 cts.; over eight oz. and not over twelve oz., 12 cts.; over twelve oz. and not over sixteen oz., 16 cts.

Circulars, not exceeding three in number, to one address, 2 cts.; over three and not over six, 4 cts.; over six and not over nine, 6 cts.; over nine and not exceeding twelve, 8 cts.

On Miscellaneous Mailable Matter (embracing all pamphlets, occasional publications, transient newspapers, handbills and posters, book manuscripts and proof-sheets, whether corrected or not, maps, prints, engravings, sheet music, blanks, flexible patterns, samples and sample cards, phonographic paper, letter envelopes, postal envelopes or wrappers, cards, paper, plain or ornamental, photographic representations of different types, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots and scions) the postage to be prepaid by stamps, is, on one package to one address, not over four oz. in weight, 2 cts.; over four oz. and not over eight oz., 4 cts.; over eight oz. and not over twelve oz., 6 cts.; over twelve oz. and not over sixteen oz., 8 cts.

The weight of packages of seeds, cuttings, roots and scions, to be franked, is limited to thirty-two ounces.

All mail matter not sent at letter rates of postage, embracing books, book manuscripts, proof-sheets, and other printed matter, and all other mail matter, except seeds, must be so wrapped or enveloped with open sides or ends as to enable the postmaster to examine the package without destroying the wrapper, otherwise such packages must be rated with letter postage. No communication, whether in writing or in print, can be sent with any seeds, roots, cuttings or scions, maps, engravings, or other matter not printed, except upon the separate payment of postage upon each separate matter at the established rates.

Exchange newspapers and periodicals cannot be remailed without being chargeable with postage.

Where packages of newspapers or periodicals are received at any post office directed to one address, and the names of the club of subscribers to which they belong, with the postage for a quarter in advance, shall be handed to the postmaster, he shall deliver the same to their respective owners. But this does not apply to weekly newspapers which circulate free in the county where printed and published.

Weekly newspapers and all other printed matter to the British North American Provinces, although sent from countries bordering on the line, are chargeable with the same rates as when sent to any point in the United States.

All transient matter must be prepaid by stamps. But if it comes to the office of delivery without prepayment, or short-paid, the unpaid postage must be collected on delivery at the prepaid rate.

FOREIGN LETTERS, &c.

Letters to foreign countries, where prepayment of postage is compulsory, when insufficiently paid, are sent to the Dead Letter Office, to be opened and returned to the writers, and are thereby delayed one or two mails.

When the United States official postage entries on the letters received from Great Britain or the Continent of Europe, are in red ink, the letter is to be considered as paid, when in black ink, as unpaid.

Unpaid and insufficiently paid letters, to or from Great Britain and Ireland, or to or from the North German Union (including Austria and its States), the Netherlands, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland, are chargeable with a fine on delivery, in addition to the postage, when sent or arriving either by North German Union mail direct, or in closed mail via England. In the case of such letters arriving in the United States, the fine is five cents on each letter. This is marked on the letters at the various exchange offices, and collected at the offices of delivery.

Registering Foreign Letters.—Letters can be registered in the United States for Great Britain and Ireland, for the North German Union, (including all the German States and Austria), and for all of the countries and places reached via the North German mails, except the following places in Turkey; Alexandretta, Latakia, Mersina, Retimo and Tripoli; also for Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy and Switzerland. Letters to Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward's Island can be registered, but not to Newfoundland. Letters can be registered (by British mail, via England) to Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, Constantinople, East Indies, Egypt (viz.: Alexandria, Cairo and Suez), Falkland Islands, Gambia, Gibraltar, Gold Coast, Hong Kong, Java, Lagos, Labnan, Liberia, Malta, Mauritius, Natal, New South Wales, Queensland, St. Helena, Sierra Leone, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria and Western Australia, on payment of a registration fee (in stamps) of sixteen cents. This is in addition to the postage, which must be fully prepaid by stamps.

The registry fee to be charged on registered letters and other postal packets to Germany, (as well as on letters to all countries and places reached via the North German mails, except the places in Turkey mentioned in the preceding paragraph, and except also the Papal States and Egypt,) to Austria and its States, or to Belgium and The Netherlands, via North German Union, direct or by closed mail, via England, and to Italy and Switzerland by closed mail via England, is eight cents, and on letters to Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward's Island, it is five cents — on letters and other postal packets to Great Britain and Ireland, eight cents. No other postal packets than letters can be sent registered beyond North Germany. The registration fee on letters to the Papal States via North German Union is twelve cents per half ounce—to Egypt, twenty cents each. All registered letters and other postal packets must be prepaid in full to destination.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON PRINTED MATTER FOR FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

1. To or from France, Algeria, &c., in French Mail or via England.—Newspapers, periodical works, books stitched or bound, pamphlets, catalogues, papers of music, prospectuses, circulars, and all other kinds of printed matter addressed to France, Algeria, or cities of Turkey, Syria and Egypt, in which France has post offices [viz.: Alexandria, Alexandretta, Beyrout, Constantinople, Dardanelles, Galatz, Gallipoli, Ibraila, Ineboli, Jaffa, Kerassund, Latakia, Mersina, in Asiatic Turkey, Mitylene, Rhodes, Salonica, Samsoun, Sinope, Smyrna, Sulino, Trebizond, Tripoli, in Syria, Tultcha, Varna and Volo], can be dispatched to France direct, or by way of England, on prepayment of the following postage, viz.: newspapers, two cents each; books, periodical works, catalogues or pamphlets, four cents per four ounces or fraction thereof; to be in all cases collected in the United States, whether sent or received. France in like manner collects its own postage on all kinds of printed matter, whether sent or received.

2. To or from the North German Union (including all the German States and Austria), and to or from Belgium and the Netherlands, by Closed Mail via England.—Newspapers 4 cents each, if not exceeding four ounces in weight, and an additional rate of four cents for each additional weight of four ounces or fraction thereof; prepayment required. Book packets, prints of all kinds, and patterns or samples, 8 cents per four ounces or fraction thereof; prepayment required. If, however, the postage on any article shall be insufficiently prepaid, it will be, nevertheless forwarded to its destination, charged with the deficient postage, and also subject to a fine on delivery.

3. To or from Italy and Switzerland, by Closed Mail, via England, Belgium and Germany.—The rates and conditions on newspapers, book packets, prints of all kinds, and patterns or samples, are the same as the above, (paragraph 2).

4. To or from the North German Union (including all the German States and Austria), by direct Mail via Bremen or Hamburg.—Newspapers, if not over 4 ounces in weight, 3 cents each, and if over 4 ounces an additional 3 cents for each additional weight of 4 ounces or fraction thereof; prepayment required. Book packets, prints, patterns and samples, 6 cents per four ounces or fraction thereof; prepayment required. But unpaid or part paid letters and other articles insufficiently prepaid will be forwarded, charged with the deficient postage, and subject to a fine on delivery. The registration fees on registered letters or other postal packets is 8 cents to all the above mentioned countries; prepayment of postage and fee compulsory.

The above rates (paragraphs 2, 3 and 4) are in full to destination; and no charge is to be made on the delivery of newspapers, book packets or samples arriving from Germany, Austria, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy or Switzerland, by the above mails, except the deficient postage or fine on such matter when insufficiently prepaid.

REGULATIONS WITH RESPECT TO NEWSPAPERS, BOOK PACKETS, PATTERNS, SAMPLES, &C., TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

1. Newspapers and other Printed Matter.—Newspapers, circulars, pamphlets, periodicals, books or other printed papers, (including maps, plans, prints, engravings, drawings, photographs, lithographs, sheets of music, &c.), must be wrapped or enveloped in covers open at the sides or ends, so as to admit of the inclosures being removed for examination.

No newspaper, pamphlet, periodical, or article of printed matter, may contain any word or communication, whether by writing, printing, marks or signs, upon the cover or wrapper thereof, except the name and address of the person to whom it is sent, the printed title of the publication, the printed name of the publisher or vendor who sends it; or, in case of newspapers or other regular publications, when sent to subscribers direct from the office of publication, the printed date when subscription expires. It must not contain a letter or any communication in writing, or other inclosure.

The law and regulation of this department which excludes all obscene books, pamphlets, pictures, prints, or other publications of a vulgar or indecent character from the mails of the United States, are also to be enforced with respect to books, pamphlets, pictures, prints, or other publications of like character, addressed to foreign countries.

2. Book-Packets.—No book-packet may contain anything that is sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter, nor any communication of the nature of a letter, whether separate or otherwise, unless the whole of such letter or communication be printed. But entries merely stating from whom or to whom the packet is sent shall not be regarded as a letter.

No book-packet must exceed two feet in length, or one foot in width or depth.

Any book-packet which is not open at the sides or ends, or has any letter or communication in the nature of a letter, written in it, or upon its cover, cannot be received or forwarded in the mail; and it is the duty of postmasters, whenever they have ground for suspecting an infringement of any of the above conditions, to open and examine book-packets, patterns, samples, or other postal packets, posted at or passing through their offices.

3. Patterns or Samples of Merchandise.—Patterns or samples of merchandise must not be of intrinsic value; which rule excludes from the mails all articles of a saleable nature, or whatever may have a market value of its own apart from its mere use as a pattern or sample; or where the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern or sample is so great that it could fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value.

No packet of patterns or samples must exceed 24 inches in length or 12 inches in breadth or depth, or 24 ounces in weight. Patterns or samples of merchandise exceeding the weight of 7 1-2 ounces cannot be sent by mail to the North German Union.

Patterns or samples must not bear any writing other than the addresses of the persons for whom they are intended, except the address of the sender, a trade mark and numbers, and the prices of the articles.

There must be no enclosures other than the patterns or samples themselves. The particulars allowed to be furnished under the preceding paragraph must in all cases be given, not on loose pieces of paper, but on small labels attached to the patterns or samples, or the bags containing them. Patterns or samples must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be of easy examination. Samples, however, of seeds, etc., which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bags of linen or other material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened for examination. Patterns, samples or other packets containing liquids, poisons, explosive chemicals, or other articles likely to injure the contents of the mail-bags, or the person of any officer of the post office, are positively excluded from the mails.

San Francisco is an office of Exchange for British Mails only.

TABLE OF POSTAGES TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The Asterisk (*) indicates that in cases where it is prefixed, unless the letter be registered, prepayment is optional; in all other cases, prepayment is required.

a.—When the letter a is prefixed, the foreign postage (which in each case is 12 cents) is increased by an additional rate for every $7\frac{1}{2}$ grammes ($\frac{1}{4}$ oz.) or fraction thereof. The United States inland and Atlantic sea postage (which in each case is 10 cents the single rate) is increased by an additional rate for every 15 grammes ($\frac{1}{4}$ oz.) or fraction thereof.

b.—Where the letter b is prefixed, an additional rate is to be added to the foreign portion of the postage for each 4 ounces or fraction thereof, if the newspaper exceeds 4 ounces in weight. The foreign postage, in each case, is ascertained by deducting from the amount set down the sum of 2 cents, which is the United States portion of the postage on a single newspaper, regardless of weight. In all other cases, the postage is for each newspaper without regard to its weight, when sent in British mail.

c.—The book and pattern post to Egypt via British mail extends only to Alexandria, Cairo and Suez.

d.—Registration to Egypt by British mail extends to Alexandria, Cairo and Suez only.

e.—The rates of postage on Printed Matter to the Argentine Republic, Uruguay and Paraguay, by the direct lines of American and French mail packets, via Rio de Janeiro, (Brazil), are as follows:

Newspapers, pamphlets and periodicals weighing 1 oz. or under.....	4c.
Weighing over 1 oz. and not over 2 oz.....	5c.
“ “ 2 oz. “ “ 3 oz.....	7c.
“ “ 3 oz. “ “ 4 oz.....	8c.
“ “ 4 oz. “ “ 5 oz.....	11c.
“ “ 5 oz. “ “ 6 oz.....	13c.

and so on for greater weights, adding 1-4-10th cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof, and 2c. for each additional weight of 4 oz. or fraction thereof.

The above rates cover the United States and French charges only, to or from port of debarkation or embarkation in countries of the La Plata.

f.—The charge on Newspapers to Belgium, The Netherlands, the North German Union, or via the North German Union to countries beyond, and to Italy and Switzerland, increases a single rate for every four ounces of weight.

g.—Cannot be sent.

i.—12 cents per 15 grammes (half ounce).

k.—Transient pamphlets, magazines and periodicals, two cents per four ounces. Domestic rates are chargeable to and from the line on all mail matter, except letters, to or from British North American Provinces.

l.—Letters, if unpaid, or insufficiently paid, are subject to a fine on delivery, in addition to the deficient postage. Other matter insufficiently paid is also forwarded (but not if wholly unpaid) subject to a similar fine, when addressed to Germany, Austria, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, or Italy; but no other matter than letters will be forwarded to Great Britain or Ireland, unless fully prepaid.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

This department was established by an act of Congress, approved March 3, 1849. To its supervision and management are committed the following branches of the public service:

1st. The Public Lands.—Its head is the Commissioner of the General Land Office. The Land Bureau is charged with the survey, management, and sale of the public domain, the revision of Virginia military bounty-land claims, and the issuing of scrip in lieu thereof.

2nd. Pensions.—The Commissioner of this bureau is charged with the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under the various and numerous laws passed by Congress, granting bounty land or pensions for the military or naval service in the revolutionary and subsequent wars.

3d. The Indian Office has charge of all matters connected with the Indians.

4th. The Patent Office is charged with the performance of all "acts and things touching and respecting the granting and issuing of patents for new and useful discoveries, inventions, and improvements."

The Department of the Interior has, besides, the supervision of the accounts of the United States marshals and attorneys, and of the clerks of the United States Courts, and the management of the lead and other mines of the United States; the duty of taking and returning the censuses of the United States, and the management of the affairs of public institutions in the District of Columbia.

1. PUBLIC LANDS.

The Land Bureau was first established in 1812 as an office in the Treasury Department, but was transferred to the Department of the Interior in 1859.

The public Lands that have belonged, and now belong, to the General Government are situated as follows: 1st.—Within the limits of the United States, as defined by the treaty of 1783, and which are embraced by the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, all formed out of the Northwestern Territory as conveyed with certain reservations to the United States by New York, in 1781, by Virginia, in 1784, by Massachusetts, in 1785, and by Connecticut, in 1786; also the lands within the boundaries of the States of Mississippi and Alabama north of the 31° North Latitude, as conveyed to the United States by Georgia in 1802. 2d.—Within the Territories of Orleans and Louisiana, as acquired from France, by the treaty of 1803, including the portion of the states of Alabama and Mississippi south of 31°; the whole of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oregon, and the Territories of Colorado, Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and Washington. 3d.—Within the state of Florida, as obtained from Spain by the treaty of 1819. 4th.—In New Mexico, Utah, Nevada and California, as acquired from Mexico by the treaty of 1848. 5th.—The "Gadsden Purchase" 23,161,000 acres south of the Gila River from Mexico, in 1854. 6th.—The Russian purchase of Northwestern America or Alaska, in 1867.

The area of the public lands, exclusive of the Russian purchase is 1,465,468,800 acres. The extent of that purchase is estimated at 577,390 square miles, or 369,529,600 acres, making a total of 1,834,998,400 acres.

The aggregate of public lands which have been surveyed is 485,311,778 acres, leaving a residue of 1,349,686,622 acres yet unsurveyed.

The public land or rectangular system of survey and transfer of landed property was adopted May 20, 1785; it has been modified and enlarged by subsequent laws until it has reached proportions and completeness of scientific structure which make it pre-eminently valuable and in some respects unrivaled.

Under that system base lines are first established, corresponding with latitude. These are then intersected at right angles by principal meridians in coincidence with longitude. From such bases, townships of six miles square are run out and established with regular series of numbers counting north and south from these bases, while the ranges are counted by like series of numbers as running east and west of the meridians.

The six mile square townships are divided into sections of one mile square or 640 acres, again into half sections of 320, quarters of 160, half quarters of 80, and quarter quarters or sixteenths of 40 acres.

Since the adoption of the system, covering a period of 82 years, twenty principal bases, and twenty-three principal meridians have been established, and it has been initiated, in all the land States and Territories of the Union, in several of which it has completed the work of surveying. In its progress the whole of the surveys everywhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are referable for the identification of any division or subdivision, great or small, to the initial points or intersections of the surveyed base lines with the principal meridians.

The first principal meridian divides the states of Ohio and Indiana; the second is a controlling line in the surveys of Indiana, and in part in Illinois; the third also governing to a certain extent the latter state; the fourth traverses the western part of Illinois, extending through Wisconsin and Minnesota to our northern international boundary; the fifth passing through Arkansas, Missouri and Iowa, with a common base line running due west from the St. Francis river in Arkansas, governs the surveys in these states, also in part of Minnesota west of the Mississippi, and in Dakota west of the Missouri; then there is the sixth principal meridian, the initial point of intersection being coincident with the 40th parallel and 92° 13' west longitude from Greenwich. Upon this line depend the surveys in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and that part of Dakota west of the Missouri.

In addition to these 6 principal meridians and bases, 17 subordinate meridians and corresponding bases have been established. These meridians and bases with their auxiliary standard parallels and guide meridians have required perambulations of surveyors in the field amounting to 1,476,673 lineal miles.

Upon this system thus established over the greater portion of the country rests the whole work of dividing and subdividing the national territory, and of making out the same into different sizes for farms and settlements.

The service has been steadily advancing from the foundation of the government, and in its progress has completed the extension of the lines of survey over the whole surface of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, (the Upper and Lower Peninsula), Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, and nearly so in Louisiana and Florida.

Congress by proclamation in 1785, and by acts of 1804 and 1807, protected the public domain from occupation or settlement unauthorized by law, and by the general pre-emption laws of 1830, 1832, 1834, 1841, and 1843, secured to actual settlers pre-emption rights to a certain portion of the public lands. These laws concede the actual settler 160 acres, but require of him the erection of a dwelling with actual inhabitation and cultivation. Congress by subsequent enactments has legislated still further in aid of actual settlers, by holding out encouragement to take possession of the national soil and confirming occupants in their improvements on lands afterwards withdrawn by grants to railroads and for educational purposes. It has also by acts of 1844, 1864, 1865, and 1867, encouraged the growth of towns and cities.

The law of pre-emption extends the privilege to three classes, each having the qualification of citizenship or having filed a declaration to that end.

1. "Every person being the head of a family."
2. "A widow."
3. "A single man over the age of twenty-one years."

The Homestead act of May 20, 1862 and supplements hold out still further inducements to settlements of public lands.

By this act any person who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of 21 years, or has performed service in the army or navy, and is a citizen of the United States, or shall have filed his declaration of intention to become such, and has never borne arms against the Government of the United States or given aid and comfort to its enemies, shall from and after the 1st of January, 1863, be entitled to enter a quarter section (160 acres) of unappropriated public land upon which he or she may have already filed a pre-emption claim or which is subject to pre-emption at $1.25 per acre; or 80 acres of unappropriated land at $2.50 per acre. In order to make his or her title good to such lands, however, such person must make affidavit that such application is made for his or her exclusive use and benefit, and that said entry is made for the purpose of actual settlement and cultivation, and not, either directly or indirectly for the use or benefit of any other person or persons whomsoever; and upon filing the affidavit, and paying the sum of $10 to the register or receiver, such person shall be allowed to enter the land specified; but no certificate or patent is issued for the land until five years from the date of such entry, and the land must during that time be improved and not alienated (it cannot be taken for debt). At any time within two years after the expiration of said five years, the person making the entry, or, in case of his or her death, his widow or heirs, may on proof by two witnesses that he or she has cultivated or improved said land, has not alienated any part of it, and has borne true allegiance to the United States, be entitled to a patent if at that time a citizen of the United States.

In case of the abandonment of the lands by the person making the entry for a period of more than six months at one time, they revert to the United States.

Bounty Land warrants have been issued to the soldiers of the war of the revolution and to those who have served in subsequent wars under acts of 1847, 1850, 1852, and 1855, which from the commencement of operations under these acts to June 30, 1867 have amounted as follows:

Warrants issued, 542,248; number of acres embraced thereby, 59,631,610; number of warrants located, 488,336, embracing 54,028,390 acres. The whole quantity conceded for military and naval services from 1776 to 1855, was 71,714,555 acres.

The Continental Congress, by the ordinance of May 20, 1785, respecting the territory northwest of the Ohio, prepared the way for the advance of settlements and education as contemporaneous interests. It determined that in every six miles square there should be established the school system, to be supported from a fund derived from the grant of section sixteen, of 640 acres, in every township; and at a later period for indemnity where the section in place was not available; thus conceding one thirty-sixth part of the public lands in the interests of public education.

It was afterwards determined in the new land states and territories, the localities of which were distant from the political centre or centres of settlements, to increase the school concessions to two sections or 1,280 acres in each township, so that the school house, high school, and seminary, could be so advantageously placed in the township as to avoid inconvenience in daily attendance.

Besides the school allotment, provision has been made on a liberal scale for seminaries of learning and colleges, so that the land fund may be adequate to the support of institutions in which are taught all the higher branches of a liberal education.

To each organized Territory the sections in place and townships for seminaries have been reserved, and by the act of admission as a state into the Union, the reservation has been carried into a grant and confirmed. If there be added to the quantity already conceded to the public land states for school purposes, the area that will pass according to the principles of existing legislation to the organized territories when they shall become states, it will be found that the aggregate will reach 70,559,112 acres. Besides there have been granted for seminaries of learning 1,244,160 acres, making an aggregate thus conceded in the cause of learning of 71,803,272 acres, much of it of great value, and from which, if properly invested, ample funds may be derived for the continual support of the great object contemplated by the munificent grant.

For the support of colleges for education in agriculture, mechanics, and in the mineral interests, the act of July 2, 1862, and its supplements, made provisions not only for the states holding public domain, but for others which have none, giving to the former the right to select within their limits, and to the latter scrip redeemable in land; the amount conceded being 30,000 acres for each senator and member of the House of Representatives, which when made applicable to all the states, will include an area of 9,600,000 acres.

Most of the older states have received the allotment in scrip which has been disposed of, and the avails appropriated to the object designed; in the newer or land states, selections have been made by the state authorities for the same purpose.

By various acts of Congress from 1849 to 1860, large quantities of swamp and overflowed lands have been granted to several states. The first swamp land grant was made to Louisiana in 1849 to aid that state in constructing levees and drains along the Mississippi and other rivers to prevent the overflow of the bottom lands. In 1850 the grant was made general, so as to apply to other states in which such swamp and overflowed lands were situated.

At the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1867, state selections had been made under the internal improvement grant of September 4, 1841, as follows:

Grants by acts of Congress for Canal purposes from the year 1827 to June 30, 1867. Illinois, 290,915; Indiana, 1,439,279; Michigan, 1,250,000; Ohio, 1,100,361; Wisconsin, 325,431. Total quantity acres granted, 4,405,986.

Private Land Claims. In lands acquired by purchase or conquest from other nations, the grants of the government to individuals constitutes a class of private land claims. The principle adopted by the government has been that a well authenticated and clearly defined title from a former government was to be respected, and upon the presentation of such title a patent is always issued to the claimant; but where the boundaries, as is often the case, are loosely defined and comprise a much larger territory than that granted, or where the metes and bounds are of uncertain position, and especially where there is ground for presumption of fraud, a severe scrutiny is instituted.

Since the act of Congress of September 4, 1841, large quantities of land have been claimed on pre-emption, i. e. as having been settled and improved by persons before they were surveyed or came into the market; and, these persons having thereby established a claim to purchase them at Government price before all others, this claim has been allowed, with some restriction, and the lands, thus pre-empted, withdrawn from public sale and reserved for private entry.

2. PENSION OFFICE.

The Pension Office was established temporarily in 1833, and continued by subsequent legislation until it was made permanent by act of 19th of January, 1849. It constitutes a Bureau in the Department of the Interior, and is under the charge of the Commissioner of Pensions. The persons entitled to pensions have been designated by different acts of Congress.

The only surviving revolutionary soldiers receiving a pension died during the year closing June 30, 1867. Two other veterans were granted pensions by special acts of Congress passed that year. Of the widows of revolutionary soldiers married before the close of the war, but one enrolled pensioner was living in 1867.

There were, however, at the close of that fiscal year, 997 widows of revolutionary soldiers, of whom 119 were married previous to 1800.

Army Pensions. The number of original applications for invalid pensions, by reason of casualties occurring in the army service, admitted during the year closing June 30, 1867, was 16,452, at an average annual rate of $71.73 each, and an aggregate annual rate of $1,180,194.72.

The number of applications for increased pensions of the same class admitted during this period was 13,946, at an average annual rate of $78.09 each, and an aggregate annual rate of $1,089,003.62.

Of original applications of widows, orphans, and dependent relatives for pensions by reason of deaths incident to the army service, 19,660 were admitted during the year, at an average individual rate of $100.66 per annum, and an aggregate yearly rate of $1,979,062.67. Of applications for increased pensions of the same class, 19,309 were admitted, at an average additional rate (chiefly on account of minor children under the age of sixteen years, as provided by the act of July 25, 1866), of $59.59 each, and at a total annual rate of $1,150,646.

The total number of enrolled invalid pensioners on the 30th of June, 1867, was 70,802, the total amount of whose pensions was $6,478,004.14; and the total number of widows, orphans, and dependent relatives, enrolled as pensioners was, at the same date, 82,291, and the yearly amount of their pensions $9,664,075.83; making an aggregate of 153,093 army pensioners of both classes, at a total annual rate of $16,142,079.97.

The whole amount paid to invalid military pensioners during the last fiscal year was $6,428,532.58; and to widows, orphans, and dependent relatives, $11,873,182.71; making the grand total of payments to army pensioners (including expenses of the disbursing agencies), for the year, $18,301,715.26.

Navy Pensions. The original applications for invalid pensions, by reason of casualties occurring in the navy service; admitted during the year ending June 30, 1867, numbered 137, at a total yearly rate of $10,317; and the admitted applications for increased pensions of the same class 206, at an annual aggregate of $17,892. Of original applications of widows, orphans, and dependent relatives for navy pensions 233 were admitted during the same period, at an aggregate rate of $31,856 per annum; and 120 pensioners of this class were increased, at a total yearly rate of $6,792. The total number of navy invalid pensioners whose names appeared on the rolls, June 30, 1867, was 1,054, at an aggregate yearly rate of $89,652.25; and the total number of widows, orphans, and dependent relatives whose names were on the navy pension rolls at the same date was 1,327, requiring an aggregate annual amount of $305,742.25.

The whole amount paid to navy invalid pensioners during the last fiscal year was $77,241.28; and the whole amount paid to widows, orphans, and dependent relatives of officers or seamen of the navy was $240,999.92, making the total amount of navy pensions paid during the year $318,241.20.

The balance of funds in the hands of the agents for paying navy pensions was, on June 30, 1867, $175,796.82.

Aggregate. The total number of pensioners of all classes whose names remained on the rolls June 30, 1867, was 155,474. The number of new pensioners added to the rolls during the year was 36,482, and the number of pensioners dropped from the rolls on account of deaths, remarriages, or other causes, was 7,932. The number of pensions increased during the last fiscal year, chiefly under the acts of June 6, and July 25, 1866, was 33,581. The total annual amount of pensions was, at the close of the year, $16,447,822.22, and the amount paid during the year, (including arrears and expenses of disbursement), $18,619,956.46.

The navy pension fund, invested under direction of Secretary of the Navy as trustee, now amounts to $13,000,000. There is an uninvested balance of $229,246.37. The income of this fund largely exceeds the annual amount at present required for the payment of navy pensions. Provision was made by the sixth section of an act of Congress approved March 2, 1867, for awarding from the surplus income of this fund additional pensions to disabled officers, seamen, and marines, for meritorious service, under certain specified conditions. Seven claims of this character, favorably reported by the Secretary of the Navy, as provided by law, were certified for payment by the Pension Office, in 1867.

Amount paid for army pensions at the agencies in the several States and Territories for the year ending June 30, 1867.

Under the act of February 11, 1847, 4 warrants for 160 acres each, total, 640 acres; under the act of September 28, 1850, 3 warrants for 40 acres each, total, 120 acres; under the act of March 3, 1855, 887 warrants for 160 acres each, total, 141,920 acres; 39 warrants for 120 acres each, total, 4,680 acres; 19 warrants for 80 acres each, total, 1,520 acres; 2 warrants for 40 acres each, total, 80 acres. Whole number of warrants, 954. Whole number of acres, 148,960.

There were 39 duplicates issued during the same period, in lieu of lost warrants, and 32 warrants were canceled. Original applications to the number of 908 were received, and 3,114 suspended applications were re-examined.

3. BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Congress, by act of July 9, 1832, authorized the President to appoint a Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to have the direction and management of all matters arising out of Indian relations, subject to the revision of the Secretary of War, (now Secretary of the Interior).

The duties of the Bureau are administered by the Commissioner, Chief Clerk, and assistants at Washington, and by a number of superintendents, agents, farmers, school teachers, and other appointees in the Indian country.

The estimated number of Indians is about three hundred thousand, spreading from Lake Superior to the Pacific Ocean. Those east of the Mississippi, with few exceptions, are on reservations; so also are the tribes in Kansas north of the Arkansas, and those located between the western border of Arkansas and the country known as the "leased lands."

During the last few years the attention of the government has been drawn, in an unusual degree, to its relations with the Indians, on account of depositions which have been committed by them upon the white settlers, and the obstructions to travel, and insecurity which their continued enmity has caused. New military posts have been established, forts garrisoned, and troops sent in pursuit of the hostile Indians.

Early in the spring of 1867, General Hancock, of the Department of the Missouri, started on an expedition among the hostile tribes of the south. He met several of the chiefs, but did not succeed in arranging terms of peace; an important Indian village on the Pawnee Fork was burned, and skirmishes took place between the troops and the Indians in which several of both parties were killed. The Indians were exasperated; depredations were continued; the work on the railroads was retarded; laborers and employees were murdered; and property and life were insecure in a large part of the territory occupied by the Indians.

On the 20th of July, 1867, an act was passed "to establish peace with certain hostile Indian tribes," which provided for the appointment of commissioners, with a view to the following objects:

1. To remove, if possible, the causes of war.
2. To secure, as far as practicable, our frontier settlements, and the safe building of the railroads looking to the Pacific.
3. To suggest, or inaugurate some plan for the civilization of those Indians.

The commissioners selected were as follows: N. G. Taylor, president; J. B. Henderson; W. T. Sherman, lieutenant-general; W. S. Harney, brevet major-general; John B. Sanderson; Alfred H. Terry, brevet major-general; S. F. Tappan; C. C. Augur, brevet major-general.

These commissioners organized at St. Louis on the 6th of August, and set about obtaining interviews with the chiefs of the hostile tribes. Runners were employed to signify the pacific purposes of these commissioners to the Indians, and to endeavor to arrange a general council. In the mean time they visited various posts of the Military Division of the Missouri, taking evidence of the officers with regard to the conduct of the Indians and the causes of the war; they also issued orders through the military departments to the various superintendents and agents of Indian affairs, that appointments be made for a great council of the northern hostile tribes at Fort Laramie, on the 13th of September, and of the southern tribes at Fort Larned on the 13th of October.

The commissioners held conferences with several bands of Indians, both of the northern and southern tribes. Treaties of peace were signed with the Kiowas, Camanches, Apaches, and the southern Cheyennes and Arrapahoes. The commissioners presented a report in July, 1868, in which the treatment of the Indians is reviewed, the causes of the war pointed out, and important suggestions made regarding the future course of the government. They recommend the selection of two districts or territories, and the location of the Indians in them, as follows:

First.—The territory bounded north by Kansas, east by Arkansas and Missouri, south by Texas, and west by the 100th or 101st meridian. In this territory, the Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws, and other of the civilized tribes already reside. In process of time, others might gradually be brought in, and, in the course of a few years, we might safely calculate on concentrating there the following tribes, to wit:

Present Population.
Cherokees.....	14,000
Creeks.....	14,396
Choctaws.....	12,500
Chickasaws.....	4,500
Seminoles.....	2,000
Osages.....	3,000
Wachitas, (various tribes).....	3,508

Present Population.
Kiowas and Camanches.....	14,800
Cheyennes, Arrapahoes and Apaches...	4,000
Pottowatomies.....	1,992
Kansas Indians, (various tribes).....	4,039
Navajoes of New Mexico.....	7,700
Total.....	86,435

Second.—The Second District might be located as follows, viz: The territory bounded north by the 46th parallel, east by the Missouri River, south by Nebraska, and west by the 104th meridian. If the hostile Sioux cannot be induced to remove from the Powder River, a hunting privilege may be extended to them for a time, while the nucleus of settlement may be forming on the Missouri, the White Earth or Cheyenne River. To prevent war, if insisted on by the Sioux, the western boundary might be extended to the 106th or even the 107th meridian for the present. The following tribes might, in a reasonable time, be concentrated on this reservation, viz:

Present Population.
Yancton Sioux.....	2,530
Pancos.....	980
Lower Brules.....	1,200
Lower Yanctonars.....	2,100
Two Kettles.....	1,200
Blackfeet.....	1,320
Minneconyous.....	2,220
Umpquas.....	1,800
Ogallalas.....	2,100
Upper Yanctonars.....	2,400
Sans Arcs.....	1,680
Arickarees.....	1,500
Gros Ventres.....	400
Mandans.....	400
Assinaboines.....	2,640
Flatheads.....	558

Present Population.
Upper Pend d'Oreilles.....	918
Kootenoys.....	287
Blackfeet.....	2,450
Piegau.....	1,870
Bloods.....	2,150
Gros Ventres.....	1,500
Crows.....	3,900
Winnebagoes.....	1,750
Omahas.....	998
Brule and Ogallalla Sioux.....	7,865
Northern Cheyennes.....	1,800
Northern Arrapahoes.....	750
Santee Sioux.....	1,350
Total.....	54,126

It may be advisable to let the Winnebagoes, Omahas, Ottoes, Sante Sioux, and perhaps others remain where they are, and finally become incorporated with the citizens of Nebraska, as suggested in regard to the Kansas tribes.

4. PATENT OFFICE.

The Constitution, Art. 1, Sec. 8, confers upon Congress the power to promote the progress of science and useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their writings and discoveries. The rights of the latter class are secured by letters patent issued from the Patent Office in accordance with acts of Congress. The office as now organized was established by act of July 4, 1836.

The building erected under the authority of that act is one of the most imposing in the city of Washington. It extends over two entire blocks, and is used for storing and preserving models as well as for offices for the Commissioner, clerks, and examiners.

During the year ending September 30, 1868, there were 20,112 applications for patents; 14,153 patents (including re-issues and designs) were issued; 1,692 applications were allowed, but patents were not issued thereon, by reason of the non-payment of the final fees; 3,789 caveats were filed; 180 applications for extension were received, and 133 extensions of patents were granted.

During the same period, the receipts were $696,786.00, and the expenditures, $696,957.00. An appropriation of $360,000 will be required for the balance of the fiscal year.

The foregoing table shows a rapid increase in the number of applications for patents, and in the number of patents issued. The number of applications in 1867, was 55 per cent. greater than in 1865; and 116 per cent. greater than in 1860.

The Commissioner in his report for 1867, says that great inconvenience has been experienced by the examiners for the want of sufficient room. Additional accommodations are also needed for the proper arrangement and preservation of the drawings of inventions.

The library of the Patent Office has vastly grown in importance within the last few years. It is not only needed and used as an absolute necessity by the examiners in the performance of their duties, but it is now much consulted by inventors and those engaged in their interest. It is not an uncommon thing for persons to come from distant parts of the United States to consult books which can only be found in the Patent Office. The collection is now one of the best technical libraries in the world.

The Department of Agriculture was established by an act of Congress, approved May 15, 1862. The act provides that the department shall be located at the seat of government of the United States, and that its designs and duties shall be to acquire and to diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with agriculture in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and to procure, propagate, and distribute among the people new and valuable seeds and plants.

The chief Executive officer is the "Commissioner of Agriculture," who holds his office by a tenure similar to that of other civil officers appointed by the President. The Commissioner is to acquire and preserve in his department all information concerning agriculture which he can obtain by means of books and correspondence, and by practical and scientific experiments, (accurate records of which experiments shall be kept in his office), by the collection of statistics, and by any other appropriate means within his power; to collect as he may be able new seeds and plants; to test, by cultivation, the value of such of them as may require such tests; to propagate such as may be worthy of propagation, and to distribute them among agriculturists. He annually makes a general report in writing of his acts to the President and to Congress, and he also makes special reports on particular subjects whenever required to do so by the President or either house of Congress, or whenever he thinks the subject in his charge requires it. He directs and superintends the expenditure of all money appropriated by Congress to the department, and renders accounts thereof.

The chief clerk in the necessary absence of the Commissioner, or whenever the office becomes vacant, performs the duties of the office. The Commissioner under the provisions of Congress, appoints and employs chemists, botanists, entomologists, and other persons skilled in the natural sciences pertaining to agriculture.

The new building of the Department which was contracted for in August 1867, was so far completed that the offices of the Commissioner and his assistants were removed to it in the summer of 1868. This building, situated just west of the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution, is 171 feet in length, and 62 feet in width, with a projection at each end extending 6 feet beyond the central portion, and one on the south front for hall and staircase. In the basement, are the operating rooms of the chemical laboratory, folding and packing rooms, and rooms for boiler and steam apparatus. On the first floor are the principal offices and library. The Commissioner's rooms on this floor are decorated with the new wood wall paper, not only for the purposes of ornament but to illustrate the effect of different kinds of this material when properly applied. The principal room of the second story is 103 feet long, 51 feet wide, and 26 feet high, and is designed for a grand agricultural museum. The seed rooms are in the third story; and the attic, when completed, will furnish rooms for a variety of work connected with the operations of the department now performed in other places.

The propagating garden has been successfully conducted. During the first 13 weeks of 1867, the number of plants distributed from it was 42,173, principally through members of Congress. The distribution of seeds for 1867, amounted to 1,426,637 papers. Of this number 352,000 were distributed through Senators and members of the Thirty-Ninth and Fortieth Congresses; 88,482 through agricultural and horticultural organizations; 164,953 to corps of statistical correspondents in acknowledgment of valuable gratuitous services; 299,975 to individuals upon letters of members of Congress, or upon personal application, or in answer to letters from individuals; and 521,227 to the southern states, under the special appropriation for that purpose.

The present Commissioner has made arrangements for exchanges of cereals, rare seeds, and medicinal and other plants, with various institutions, agricultural departments, and societies, and several governments of different divisions of the globe. The arrangements include the governments of Austria, Prussia, China, Japan, Guatemala, and British Honduras; the botanical gardens of Melbourne, in Australia, and of Kew, in England; the India museum, in London; the Cape of Good Hope Agricultural Society; and the commissioner of patents of the Argentine Republic. The hearty co-operation of scientific men representing these governments and institutions has been secured. By these exchanges which are to extend to all parts of the world where practicable, there will be collected at the Department of Agriculture, Washington, the best variety of trees, shrubs, plants and seeds adapted to the climate and soil of any part of this country.

At the experimental farm, tests of seeds, cereals and vegetables, both foreign and domestic, have been successfully continued, though the area cultivated has been too limited for the best results. Since the erection of the new building, the farm has, from necessity, been appropriated to other purposes.

In the chemical laboratory of the department, analyses and tests have been made to ascertain the value and utility of various products, fertilizers, minerals and fibers, the benefits of which the country are reaping.

The museum already contains a large collection of seeds, models of fruits, substances used for clothing, as silk, cotton, flax, &c., in different stages of growth or manufacture; preserved specimens of insects, birds and other animals injurious or beneficial to vegetation, all carefully classified and placed so as to be of the most service. The arrangements adopted, embrace: 1st. A general classification by subjects, including all the varieties and illustrations necessary under each head. 2d. A classification by states, exhibiting the products or noxious animals of each. 3d. An economic classification exhibiting the substances and products adapted to economic purposes.

Selections from the information obtained from correspondents and otherwise are published by the Department in monthly and annual reports.

The following statistics have been compiled principally from the monthly reports for 1868, or have been furnished directly by the Department.

TABLE I. gives the Mean Temperature and Rain Fall for each month, from July, 1867, to June, 1868, inclusive, compiled from reports made by the observers for the Smithsonian Institution.

TABLE II. gives the average yield per acre and the average prices of the principal crops for 1867.

TABLE III. gives the average prices of farm stock in January, 1868.

TABLE IV. gives the condition of crops September 1, 1868, as compared with an average crop, where the crop had been harvested, or an average prospect of crop, where it had not.

The highest temperature noted, was 103°, at Raleigh, North Carolina, July 25, 1867; at San Francisco, California, July 30, 1867; at Allentown, Missouri, August 18, 1867; and at Baxter Springs, Kansas, June 28, 1868. The lowest temperature noted, was -40°, at Minneapolis, Minnesota, January 12, 1868.

During the "heated term" in July, 1868, the maximum temperature reported, was July 20, at Houton, Kansas, where the thermometer stood at 113° in the shade for an hour; on 20 days, it was 100° and above. At Leavenworth, Kansas, the thermometer was 100° and upwards, on 16 days. The maximum temperature at other places on July 20, was, at Atchison, Kansas, 107; Glendale, Nebraska, 106; Omaha, 105; and Warrensburg, Missouri, 104.

Wheat. The wheat crop in the following states is represented below the average, 10 representing an average crop: Maine, 9.5; New Hampshire, 9.5; New Jersey, 9.3; Delaware, 7; Virginia, 8; North Carolina, 7.5; South Carolina, 8.3; Georgia, 7.3; Alabama, 8; Mississippi, 8.8; Texas, 4.8; Arkansas, 9.1; Tennessee, 9.1; Kentucky, 8.6; Illinois, 9.2; Wisconsin, 9.8; Iowa, 9.5; Nebraska, 9.8; and the following up to or above the average: Vermont, 10.5; Massachusetts, 10; New York, 10.3; Pennsylvania, 10.4; Maryland, 10.1; West Virginia, 10.1; Missouri, 10.6; Indiana, 10.6; Ohio, 10; Michigan, 10.5; Minnesota, 11.4; Kansas, 10.8.

Corn. The most remarkable fact in connection with the corn crop of 1868, is the great increase of its acreage in the south, the difference in number of acres between the present and preceding year being more than two millions and a half. A slight decrease is apparent in the eastern seaboard states, resulting from the unpropitious character of the cold, wet, and backward spring, which sadly interfered with planting. A careful estimate of the acreage shows a decrease of 49,609 acres in eight states, and an increase of 3,108,215 acres in the remaining states, as follows:

		DECREASE.
	Aeres.		Aeres.		Aeres.
Maine	3,300	Rhode Island	1,719	New Jersey	8,818
New Hampshire	3,184	Connecticut	9,511	Maryland	8,204
Massachusetts	1,985	New York	12,888
		INCREASE.
	Aeres.		Aeres.		Aeres.
Vermont	1,679	Mississippi	313,109	Kansas	63,411
Pennsylvania	57,106	Louisiana	397,291	Iowa	236,682
Delaware	6,697	Texas	132,229	Minnesota	25,500
Virginia	70,775	Arkansas	376,762	Wisconsin	32,361
North Carolina	216,927	Tennessee	127,215	Michigan	48,146
South Carolina	89,764	West Virginia	13,131	Ohio	178,397
Georgia	255,987	Kentucky	207,307	Indiana	100,626
Alabama	43,827	Nebraska	16,145

These figures show an increase of over 3,000,000 of acres in corn, making about 36,000,000 in the United States, an advance of 9 per cent. The per centage of Louisiana reaches 65; Arkansas, 47; Kansas, 30; Mississippi, 25; Nebraska, 25; Missouri, 22; Texas, 18; Minnesota, 17; Iowa, 15; Illinois and Ohio, 8; Indiana, 4.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

As this Department has been only recently established, and will hereafter be looked to by school officers, teachers, and students of educational progress, at home and abroad, for the most recent and most reliable information respecting the whole subject of Education and Schools in this country, we give the following account of its organization and its modes of operation and practical results for the first year, drawn from the following documents:

- (1). Official circulars of the department of Education, Numbers I to XIII.
- (2). Report of the Commissioner of Education, dated March 15, 1868.
- (3). Special Report on the condition and improvement of Public Schools in the District of Columbia, with an account of the System, Digest of the Regulations and the Subjects and Courses of Instruction of Public Schools, in the principal cities of the United States, dated July, 1868.

(4). The American Journal of Education—National Series, Vol. I, 1867–68. This quarterly publication has no official character, and although under the editorial supervision of the Commissioner, is published without any expense to the Department.

The Act creating a National Department of Education approved March 2, 1867, is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That there shall be established, at the city of Washington, a Department of Education for the purpose of collecting such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and of diffusing such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems, and methods of teaching, as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a Commissioner of Education, who shall be intrusted with the management of the department herein established, and who shall receive a salary of four thousand dollars per annum, and who shall have authority to appoint one chief clerk of his department, who shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum, one clerk who shall receive a salary of eighteen hundred dollars per annum, and one clerk who shall receive a salary of sixteen hundred dollars per annum, which said clerks shall be subject to the appointing and removing power of the Commissioner of Education.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Education to present annually to Congress a report embodying the results of his investigations and labors, together with a statement of such facts and recommendations as will, in his judgment, subserve the purpose for which this department is established. In the first report made by the Commissioner of Education under this act there shall be presented a statement of the several grants of land made by Congress to promote education, and the manner in which these several trusts have been managed, the amount of funds arising therefrom, and the annual proceeds of the same, as far as the same can be determined.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Public Buildings is hereby authorized and directed to furnish proper offices for the use of the department herein established.

On the 11th of March, HENRY BARNARD* was nominated by President Johnson, and on the 16th was confirmed by the Senate, Commissioner of Education.

Rooms were provided by the Commissioner of Public Buildings for the

*Dr. Barnard, at the time was President of St. John's College, at Annapolis, Maryland, but since 1837 has been connected with the administration of public schools in the States of Connecticut and Rhode Island, and in varied efforts to advance the work of educational reform and improvement in different parts of the country.

Department; the three clerks provided for were appointed, and the following plan of operations was adopted by the Commissioner.

The first step taken was to make known the provisions of the Act, establishing the department, and at the same time to map out the field of inquiry into which the Commissioner was about to enter.

SCHEDULE OF INFORMATION SOUGHT.

MODES OF OBTAINING INFORMATION.

The sources of information respecting Educational Institutions relied on, are:

(1). The annual reports and special replies of officers charged with their administration in the several states, or personal visitation of institutions by the Commissioner, or inspectors qualified to judge and report upon subjects in regard to which information is sought.

(2). The annual meetings and published proceedings of national societies devoted to general or special educational objects, and similar meetings of state, county, and town Teachers' Associations.

(3). Correspondence with the active school men of the day, both at home and abroad, respecting systems of public instruction, and institutions of learning of every kind.

(4). A library and cabinet of education, based on a collection commenced thirty years ago, of text-books and school documents, giving the results of the experience of states, institutions and individuals, in the work.

(5). The daily and weekly press for current information of all important educational movements and discussions.

MODES OF DISSEMINATING INFORMATION.

The several agencies employed for collecting information, viz: The annual meetings of educational associations, national, state and municipal; correspondence with officers, teachers and friends of educational improvement, the press, as well as personal interviews, have been resorted to, to disseminate information as to the objects and needs of the department. In addition to these, the following plan of publication has been adopted.

PLAN OF PUBLICATION.

“As at present advised, the following plan of publication will be pursued :

1. Monthly Circular. To be issued monthly—each number to be devoted to such special subject as the correspondence or investigations of the Department may require; and if the requisite clerical labor can be devoted to its preparation, to a monthly summary of Education Intelligence and Statistics in different States and Countries.

These Circulars will not be printed for general distribution, and as a general rule will be mailed, in answer or inquiry, to correspondents, or to persons known to be, or who may write, that they are specially interested in the subject.

The matter contained in them, in addition to the official, will not always be new, but such articles will be introduced from former publications of the Commissioner, or of others, as he may think illustrative of the special subject to which the Circular is devoted.

2. A Quarterly Publication. It is proposed to begin a National Series of the American Journal of Education, with a view of completing the encyclopediac view of Education—its History, System, Institutions, Principles, Methods, and Statistics; begun several years since, and prosecuted thus far with a special reference to the condition and wants of our own schools, and with a studious avoidance of all matters foreign to the main object. The range and exhaustive treatment of subjects can be seen by the Classified Index, which will be forwarded if desired.

Although the Journal will remain for the present under the editorial supervision of the Commissioner, who will receive no compensation for this service, it will be entirely the private enterprise of its publisher, who will soon announce his plan and terms.

The Department will be in no way responsible for the matter or the expense, but will avail itself of this mode of printing documents prepared by, or at the request of the Commissioner, which it may be desirable to issue in advance or aside of any other form of publication.

The numbers will be sent only to subscribers, or to special orders addressed to the Publisher, Hartford, Conn.

3. Educational Documents and Tracts. The Commissioner, with such coöperation as he can enlist, will at once begin the preparation or rather the revision and completion of a series of Educational Documents (A) begun several years ago, after consultation with several of the most eminent educators of the country; each of which will be devoted to an exhaustive treatment of a particular subject, and at the same time be so prepared as to give a brief summary of the general principles and statistics connected with the same for circulation by itself.

The plan of publication (B) will be set forth in his first Annual Report.

4. An Annual Report. As is provided for in the Act establishing this Department, a Report will be submitted to Congress annually, in which, after the preliminary arrangements have been completed for obtaining full and reliable information, the progress and condition of Education in different States and countries during the year will be presented.

The following is the series of Educational Documents referred to above (A):

1. A Catalogue of the best publications on the organization, instruction and discipline of schools, of every grade, and on the principles of education, in different languages, which can be consulted in the Library of the Department of Education at Washington.
2. A History of Education, ancient and modern, with reference to the original authorities, where the systems and institutions of each country can be more fully investigated.
3. An Account of Elementary Instruction in Europe.
4. National Education in the United States; or contributions to the history and improvement of common or public schools, and other institutions, means and agencies of popular education in the several States.
5. School Architecture; or the principles of construction, ventilation, warming, acoustics, seating, &c.; applied to school rooms, lecture halls, and class rooms, with illustrations.
6. Normal Schools, Training Schools, Teachers' Institutes, and other institutions, means, and agencies, for the professional training and improvement of teachers.
7. System of Public Education for large cities and villages, with an account of the schools and other means of popular education and recreation in the principal cities of Europe and in this country.
8. System of Popular Education for sparsely populated districts, with an account of schools in the agricultural portions of different countries.
9. Schools of Agriculture, and other means of advancing the special instruction of persons engaged in agriculture.
10. Schools of Science applied to the mechanic arts, civil engineering, &c.
11. Schools of Trade, Navigation, Commerce, &c.
12. Female Education, with an account of different systems and seminaries in this country and in Europe.
13. Institutions for Orphans.
14. Schools of Industry, or institutions for truant, idle or neglected children, before they have been convicted of crime.
15. Reform Schools, or institutions for young criminals.
16. Houses of Refuge, for adult criminals.
17. Secondary Education, including a, institutions preparatory to college, and b, institutions preparatory to special schools of agriculture, engineering, trade, navigation, &c.
18. Colleges and Universities.
19. Schools of Theology, Law, and Medicine.
20. Military and Naval Schools.
21. Supplementary Education, including adult schools, evening schools, courses of popular lectures, debating classes, mechanic institutes, &c.
22. Libraries, with hints for the purchase, arrangement, catalogueing, drawing, and preservation of books, especially in libraries designed for popular use.
23. Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb, Blind, and Idiots.
24. Societies for the Encouragement of Science, the Arts, and Education.
25. Schools and Academies of Art, Public Museums and Galleries.
26. Public Gardens, and other arrangements for popular recreation.
27. Educational Tracts, or a series of short essays on topics of immediate practical importance to teachers and school officers.
28. Educational Biography, or the lives of distinguished educators and teachers.

This series will embrace the most important institutions and agencies by which the education of the country is secured."

WORK DONE OR IN PROGRESS.

1. National Land Grants for Educational Purposes. In pursuance of the requirement of the Act, establishing the department, an investigation into the history "of the several grants of land made by Congress to promote education, and the manner in which these several trusts have been managed," was the first step taken after organizing the Department. A preliminary report giving the legislation of Congress, and the action of the several states, in regard to "the public lands devoted to the several states to provide colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," was at once prepared and printed in official circular, No. VI, and the supplement, and submitted to Congress in the first general report of the department. To the report on Colleges of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, will be added in a subsequent communication a notice of similar institutions in the different states, not aided by the national grants, together with a comprehensive survey of the whole field of realistic and special scientific education in the principal states of Europe—much of the material of which has been already collected without any expense to the department.

2. Condition of Public Schools in the District of Columbia. In pursuance of a Joint Resolution of Congress, approved March 29, 1867, the Commissioner instituted an exhaustive inquiry "as to the number of children of the ordinary school age; the number of the same in any school, public or private, and such other facts as were necessary to form an intelligent opinion as to the relative efficiency of the school system in operation in the District, and what additional legislation was necessary to secure the advantages of the best system to all the children." The results of that inquiry are embodied in a Special Report to Congress, which includes besides the history and condition of public schools and other means of education in the District of Columbia, an account of the organization and operation of public schools of all the principal cities of the United States—a digest of the regulations adopted by school authorities of these cities, and the subjects and courses of instruction in detail of the cities of Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, New Bedford, New Haven, New York, Philadelphia, and St. Louis. To this account of the system of public schools in our principal cities is appended a full account of the public schools of Berlin, the Capital of Prussia, with the programme of instruction in several schools of each grade, with a full account of Froebel's Infant Gardens, of the Real Schools, and the Gymnasium of that city. To this account of the school system of Berlin, the Commissioner proposes to add in a supplementary report, an account of the educational system of Paris, London, Edinburgh, Dresden, Vienna, Brussels, and the other capitals of Europe.

3. Constitutional Provisions respecting schools. In answer to inquiries in numerous letters from those who were engaged in revising and framing constitutions in thirteen states, during the last year (1867-8), a document was prepared intended to embrace every provision found in the successive constitutions of each state respecting Education, Literature, and Science. This was printed as Circular Nos. IV and V, and supplement.

4. Legislation respecting Systems of Elementary Instruction. A collection of the school codes of the several states has been prepared, embracing the earliest law of each state, and a brief notice of all subsequent modifications, and the last revisions. The historical portion of this document was mainly prepared before the establishment of the Department, but will be placed at its disposal in case the publication of this valuable document is authorized by Congress. [No provision for its publication was made by Congress].

5. European Systems of Instruction. In addition to a series of articles on the relations of the state to education, an account of the school system of the Canton Zurich, together with a literal translation of the school code, was published in official circular, No. VII, to illustrate the manner in which the question of the authority and duty of the state in popular education, has been practically solved by a republic of the old world. This will be followed by an account of the school system of the other Cantons of Switzerland, and a full account of the school system and statistics of all the principal European States.

6. Female Education. To the discussion of the problems yet unsolved in many states and cities, as to the limitation and modification of courses of instruction required by the peculiarities of constitution and occupation of women, the Commissioner proposes to bring the experience of systems, institutions and individuals in different states and countries. Sources of information on the subject, and the experience of one leading institution, Oberlin College, Ohio, are given in official circular, No. VIII.

7. Academic or Secondary Education. On the important subject of institutions for Secondary Education—including Public High Schools and Academies for either or both sexes—although the means for exhibiting their present condition in every State are not sufficiently collected, yet to aid in the further collection of materials and in the discussion of the subject, the Commissioner has already published a general view of the system as it exists in New England (circular IX,) as well as a full account of the system of several of the principal countries of Europe, one of which (Prussia) is printed in official circular, No. X. This subject is still further discussed in the Special Report on the Public Schools of the District of Columbia.

8. School Houses. To numerous inquiries respecting school houses, the Commissioner, as an expeditious and economical mode of returning answers, has commenced the preparation of a document containing plans of buildings recently erected for schools of different kinds and grades. A selection from these relating to graded schools in cities, including 133 illustrations, will be found in official circular, No. XI.

9. Professional Training and Improvement of Teachers. To help teachers in their work, and to contribute to the highest improvement of special institutions for this object, a document has been prepared, showing what has been done, or is now doing in the different states for the special training of teachers for their work,—portions of which will be found in official circular, No. XII. This includes descriptions of twenty-three State Normal Schools, and ten city Training Schools. The main facts in the history and condition of these state institutions will be found in Table X.

We are indebted to the Department for the use of valuable material in the preparation of several of the following tables, particularly for those relating to the United States Land Grants to the several States for Educational uses, and the cost of education in cities.

Table I. embraces the Colleges and Collegiate Institutions, both male and female, from which we have been able to obtain information by letter or otherwise. It was the intention to classify these, separating the colleges authorized to confer degrees from the others, but it was impracticable to make an accurate classification in time for this year. Table II. embraces the principal Theological Seminaries; Tables III. and IV. the Medical and Law Schools; Table V. the State and City Normal Schools; and Table VI. the Agricultural and Scientific Schools.

New York and several other cities have Saturday Normal and Training Schools, designed principally for the teachers of the public schools. In several of the Western States there are county and private Normal Schools, and in the Southern States more than 30 Normal Schools have been established for freedmen, which are not included in the above tables.

AGRICULTURAL AND SCIENTIFIC SCHOOLS.

The following table shows the number of acres to which each State is entitled under the Act donating land to the States and Territories for Agricultural Colleges, (provided Congress removes the disability of States that have not complied with the provisions of the bill), and other general facts relative to the acceptance of the grant by the State legislatures and the location of Colleges, so far as they have been established :

Note.—By comparing the above table with similar tables, (cf. p.) one prepared by S. A. Briggs for the Chicago report of 1867, the other by W. H. Panker for the Philadelphia report for 1867, it will be seen that the results differ in some respects; but the difference may be accounted for, in the main, by the fact that the original reports, from which these tables are drawn, either cover different points of time, or include different elements. For instance, the total expense of schools in San Francisco and St. Louis does not include the cost of lots, new buildings, and the debts of previous years, which, in San Francisco, amounted to $207,000, and in St. Louis, according to their "historical table," to $192,158.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

Librarian of Congress	AINSWORTH R. SPOFFORD.
Assistant Librarians	FREDERIC VINTON, C. H. W. MEEHAN, THEODORE GILL, GEORGE A. MORRIS, JAMES C. STROUT, W. H. ROBERTS, LOUIS SOLYONE.

An act passed during the first session of the 6th Federal Congress and approved April 24, 1800, was the first provision for establishing the National Library of Congress. Subsequent acts from 1802 to 1811 provided for the appointment of librarian, authorized regulations and restrictions, and appropriated $1,000 annually for the increase of the library. About 3,000 volumes had been collected, when after the battle of Bladensburg, August 24, 1814, the library was burned by the British under General Ross and Admiral Cockburn.

Congress, by an act approved January 30, 1815, authorized the purchase of the library of Mr. Jefferson, consisting of 6,700 volumes, for $23,950. This library, which contained many rare and valuable books, was first placed in a room of the building temporarily occupied by Congress, but was removed to the north wing of the capitol in 1818 or 1819. An act approved December 3, 1818, directed that suitable apartments be fitted up and furnished for it, and $2,000 was appropriated for the purchase of books. Additional appropriations were made which from 1820 to 1828 amounted to $26,000, for the purchase of books, and $5,490 for furniture, stoves, &c. Additions of books, maps, charts, and works of art were made from time to time until, in 1851, the number of volumes in the library was over 55,000, and the Library room was the favorite resort of visitors to the metropolis. On the 24th of December, the library took fire and 35,000 volumes of books, and many valuable paintings and works of art were destroyed. An appropriation of $10,000 was immediately made to commence the restoration of the library. Another appropriation of $72,500 was made March 19, 1852, for repairs of the library room. August 31, 1852, $75,000 was appropriated for the purchase of books.

The Law Department of the Library, which is in a separate room, contains the largest and best selection of law books in America, and up to 1867, had cost about $63,000.

The Library of the Smithsonian Institution was transferred to the library of Congress under an act approved April 5, 1866. There were about 40,000 volumes in this collection, comprising many scientific books, journals, and transactions of learned societies. The whole number of volumes in the Library, December 1, 1867, was 165,467, exclusive of unbound pamphlets, periodicals, manuscripts and maps; 23,915 volumes belong to the Law Department.

The library of Peter Force of Washington, comprising with other works, a large collection of early books, newspapers, pamphlets, manuscripts, and maps, relating to America, was purchased in 1867 for $100,000 and added to the library of Congress.

The classification of the library has been much improved by Mr. Spofford, the present librarian. A complete catalogue of the books arranged alphabetically under the head of authors, has been prepared and printed under his direction, and a full catalogue by subjects is now (November, 1868), passing through the press.

The Library embraces the whole of the western projection of the center of the original Capitol, and consists of a hall occupying the center of the western front flanked by two other halls, one on the north, and the other on the south side of the projection. The west hall, which formerly embraced the whole Library, was 91 feet 6 inches in length, 34 feet wide, and 38 feet high; the other two halls, of the same height, are 29 feet 6 inches wide, and 95 feet long.

The halls are lighted by windows and skylights. The ceiling is iron and glass, and rests on foliated iron brackets, each weighing a ton. The pilasters and panels are of iron painted a delicate buff color and burnished with gold leaf. The floor is laid in tessellated black and white marble.

There are successive stories of iron cases for books; the upper stories are traversed by galleries, protected by railings and floored with cast-iron plates. Light wire screens prevent the books from being disturbed or stolen. The north and south halls have four galleries, while the west hall has but three.

The total length of iron shelving is 21,360 feet, affording space for about 172,000 volumes. If to this be added the shelf accommodation of the Law Library Room (formerly occupied by the United States Supreme Court) and the long attic room communicating with the upper gallery of the main library, the entire length of shelving is 26,148 feet, or nearly five miles, affording space for about 210,000 volumes.

There are (November 1868), more than 175,000 volumes in the library.

The privilege of taking books from the Library extends to the President and Vice President of the United States, the Cabinet officers, the Judges of the Supreme Court, members of the Senate and House of Representatives, the Secretary of the Senate, the Clerk of the House, the agent of joint committee on the Library, and the Diplomatic Corps. The use of books within the Library is free to all.

The Senate and House have also separate libraries of documents kept in other apartments, which, including duplicates, number many thousands of volumes.

The President of the United States appoints the Librarian of Congress, and he in turn, the assistants he may require. A Joint Committee of the two Houses of Congress have charge of the affairs of the Library.

The Library is kept open every week day throughout the year, from 9 o'clock A. M. until 4 P. M., except during one month at mid-summer, when it is closed for renovation.

James Smithson of London, bequeathed his property to the United States for the purpose of founding in Washington an establishment to be known as the Smithsonian Institution for the purpose of increasing and diffusing knowledge among men.

Congress accepted the bequest, and Aug. 10, 1846, passed an act incorporating the institution. The original amount of money received from the bequest was $515,169, to which should be added the principal of an annuity received in 1865, amounting to $26,210.63, making in all from the bequest of Smithson, $541,379.63. At the time of passing the act establishing the Institution, in 1846, the sum of $242,000 had accrued in interest, and this the Regents were authorized to expend on a building. But, instead of appropriating this sum immediately to this purpose, they put it at interest, and deferred the completion of the building for several years, until over $100,000 should be accumulated, the income of which might defray the expenses of keeping the building, and the greater portion of the income of the original bequest be devoted to the objects for which it was designed.

The permanent fund of the Institution, January, 1868, was $650,000, besides $72,500 in Virginia state bonds, the market value of which was about $30,000.

The act of 1846, provides "That the President and Vice President of the United States, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Postmaster General, the Attorney General, the Chief Justice, and the Commissioner of the Patent Office of the United States, and the Mayor of the City of Washington, during the time for which they shall hold their respective offices, and such other persons as they may elect as honorary members, be and they are hereby constituted an 'establishment' by the name of the 'Smithsonian Institution' for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

The law also provides for a "Board of Regents" to be composed of the Vice President of the United States, the Mayor of the City of Washington, three Senators, three Representatives, together with six other persons, other than Members of Congress, two of whom shall be members of the National Institute, in the City of Washington, and residents in the said city, and the other four shall be inhabitants of other States, and no two of them from the same State.

The Establishment exercises general supervision over the affairs of the Institution. The Board of Regents conducts the business of the Institution, and makes annual reports to Congress. The Secretary of the Institution is elected by the Board. His duty is to take charge of the building and property, discharge the duty of librarian, keeper of the museum, etc., and has power, by consent of the Regents, to employ assistants.

The Institution has received and taken charge of such government collections in mineralogy, geology, and natural history, as have been made since its organization. The Institution has also received, from other sources, collections of greater or less extent, from various portions of North America, tending to complete the government series. The collections thus made, taken as a whole, constitute the largest and best series of the minerals, fossils, rocks, animals, and plants of the entire continent of North America, in the world. Valuable collections from other countries have also been received.

Three classes of publications are issued by the Institution: 1. A quarto series, entitled "Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge." 2. An octavo series, entitled "Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections." 3. Another octavo series, consisting of the Annual Reports of the Institution to Congress, called "Smithsonian Reports."

The Institution has devoted special attention to meteorology, and organized a voluntary system of observations, extending as widely as possible over the whole of the North American continent. It has also contributed to other departments of Natural Science, and by its system of international exchanges, has been of great service to institutions and governments. Compilations from the reports of observers are published in volumes, and also by the Department of Agriculture, in its monthly reports.

Total number of contributions—in 1865, 102; in 1866, 168; in 1867, 163. Total number of packages received—in 1865, 257; in 1866, 318; in 1867, 320.

Number of Smithsonian observers in 1867, 385 in forty-two states and territories, and four foreign countries. Meteorological registers were received from forty-three colleges and other institutions.

Number of societies sending their publications in exchange to the Smithsonian Institution—from Germany, 334; Great Britain and Ireland, 194; France, 113; United States, 100; Italy, 70; Holland, 48; Russia, 46; Switzerland, 35; Canada, 20; Belgium, 19; Australia, 15; Denmark, 13; Sweden, 12; Hindostan, 11; Norway, 9; Spain, 7; Cuba, 6; East Indies, 4; Chili, 4; Portugal, 3; Turkey, 3; Mauritius, 2; Africa, 2; China, 2; Brazil, 2; Greece, 1; Egypt, 1; Bogota, 1; Buenos Ayres, 1; Jamaica, 1; Mexico, 1; Trinidad, 1; making in all, 1,081. Number of books, maps and charts received by exchange, in 1867—Octavo, 1,088; Quarto, 383; Folio, 86; total, 1,557. Number of parts of volumes and pamphlets—Octavo, 2,689; Quarto, 1,057; Folio, 200; total, 3,946; maps and charts, 328; making in all, 5,831.

UNITED STATES MINT.

The Constitution (Article 1, section 8), gives Congress the sole power to coin money, and regulate the value thereof. The act of April 2, 1792, provided that a mint for the purpose of National Coinage should be established and carried on at the seat of government of the United States, which was then at Philadelphia. Subsequent acts continued the mint at the same place temporarily, until by act of May 19, 1828, its location was permanently fixed in that city.

The officers of the mint are—a Director, a Treasurer, an Assayer, a Melter and Refiner, a Chief Coiner, and an Engraver. These officers are appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Director has the control and management of the mint, the superintendence of the officers and persons employed, and the general regulation and supervision of the several branches.

The Treasurer receives all moneys for the use or support of the mint, and all bullion brought to the mint for coinage; he has the custody of the same except while legally in the hands of other officers; and on the warrant of the Director, he pays all moneys due by the mint, and delivers all coins struck at the mint to the persons to whom they are legally payable.

The Assayer assays all metals used in coinage, and all coins, whenever required by the operations of the mint, or instructed by the Director.

The Melter and Refiner conducts the operations necessary to form ingots of standard silver and gold suitable for the Chief Coiner.

The Chief Coiner conducts the operations necessary to form coins from the ingots, &c., delivered to him for the purpose.

The Engraver prepares and engraves with the legal device and inscription all the dies used in the coinage of the mint and its branches.

Besides the mint at Philadelphia, Congress has from time to time established branches and an Assay Office at the following places:

At New Orleans, for the coinage of gold and silver.....	March	3, 1835.
At Charlotte, North Carolina, for the coinage of gold only.....	March	3, 1835.
At Dahlonega, Georgia, for gold only.....	March	3, 1835.
At San Francisco, California, for gold and silver.....	July	3, 1852.
At Denver, Colorado Territory, for gold and silver.....	April	21, 1862.
At Carson City, Nevada, for gold and silver.....	March	3, 1863.
At New York City, an Assay Office for the receipt, melting, refining, parting, and assaying of gold and silver bullion and foreign coin, and for casting the same into bars, ingots, or disks.....	March	3, 1853.
At Dallas City, Oregon, for gold and silver.....	July	4, 1864.

Deposits of bullion are received at the mint and its branches to be separated and refined, or cast into bars or ingots, the charges for refining, casting, or forming bars or ingots being the actual cost of the operation, including labor, wastage, use of machinery, materials, &c., to be regulated from time to time by the Secretary of the Treasury.

In 1867, the rate of charges on deposits of gold and silver bullion at the mint in Philadelphia and at the Assay Office in New York, were as follows:

For toughening or refining, in proportion to fineness of metal. On gold, from 1 cent to $2\frac{3}{4}$ cents per ounce, gross weight. On silver, from $\frac{1}{2}$ cent to 3 cents per ounce.

For refining coppery gold, already ductile, in order to return stamped bars, 5 cents per ounce.

For separating gold from silver when the mixture is free from copper, according to proportion of gold, from $1\frac{1}{2}$ cents to 5 cents per ounce. When the alloy is partly copper, if over fifty thousandths copper, from 1 cent to $3\frac{1}{2}$ cents additional.

For melting gold, nearly fine, and returning the same in stamped bars, 6 cents per hundred dollars.

For making standard bars, of gold or silver, 50 cents per hundred dollars.

For melting silver after parting, in order to return fine stamped bars, $\frac{1}{2}$ cent per ounce, fine.

On partable gold or silver intended for fine bars, there are two charges; for parting, and for making bars.

Deposits. The deposits of bullion at the Mint and branches during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1868, were as follows: Gold, $25,472,894.82; silver, $1,693,423.88; total deposits, $27,166,318.70; deducting re-deposits, the amount will be $24,591,325.84.

Coinage. The coinage for the same period was as follows: Gold coin, pieces, 976,539; value, $18,114,425; unparted and fine gold bars, $6,026,810.06; silver coin, pieces, 3,321,067; value, $1,136,750; silver bars, $456,236.48; nickel, copper and bronze coinage, pieces, 45,438,000; value, $1,713,385. Total number of pieces struck, 49,735,840. Total value of coinage, $27,447,606.54.

Bullion. The distribution of the bullion received at the mint and branches, was as follows: At Philadelphia, gold deposited, $4,043,048.63; gold coined, $3,864,425; fine gold bars, $98,848.03; silver deposits and purchases, $342,635.72; silver coined, $314,750; silver bars, $6,729.94; nickel, copper and bronze coinage, value, $1,713,385. Total deposits of gold and silver, $4,385,684.25. Total coinage, $5,892,560.

At the Branch Mint, San Francisco, the gold deposits were, $14,979,558.52; gold coined, $14,250,000; silver deposits and purchases, $713,867.66; silver coined, $322,000. Total deposits and purchases, $15,693,426.18. Total coinage, $15,073,000.

The Assay Office in New York received during the year in gold bullion, $6,092,352.56; silver bullion, including purchases, $631,837.83; number of fine gold bars stamped, 4,084; value, $5,567,082.77; silver bars, 3,992; value, $449,506.54. Total, $6,016,589.31.

At the Branch Mint, Denver, Colorado, the deposits for unparted bars were: Gold, $357,935.11; silver, $5,082.67. Total, $363,017.78. The deposits at this institution during the preceding fiscal year amounted to $139,559.70.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

The first session of the fortieth Congress was much occupied with questions growing out of the relations of the government to the Southern states, and these or similar questions again came up for consideration and action at the session which commenced December 2, 1867. The bill conferring additional civil rights on the negro in the District of Columbia which passed both Houses in July, 1867, but failed to receive the approval of the President, was passed in the Senate on the 5th and in the House on the 9th of December, by large majorities in each branch.

A bill abolishing the internal revenue tax on cotton, and another suspending the further contraction of the currency, passed the House, the first on the 4th and the last on the 7th of December; both afterwards passed the Senate.

Various subjects of general or local interest were introduced, but the questions which awakened the deepest interest in the country and received the greatest attention during the session, were those relating to the Impeachment of the President, Reconstruction of the Southern States, and the Finances.

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL.

The subject of the impeachment of the President had been agitated at different times during 1867. On the 7th of January, Mr. Ashley of Ohio, in the House of Representatives, introduced the following proposition:

"I do impeach Andrew Johnson, Vice-President and acting President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors.

"I charge him with a usurpation of power and violation of law:

"In that he has corruptly used the appointing power;

"In that he has corruptly used the pardoning power;

"In that he has corruptly used the veto power;

"In that he has corruptly disposed of public property of the United States;

"In that he has corruptly interfered in elections, and committed acts which, in contemplation of the Constitution, are high crimes and misdemeanors: Therefore,

Be it resolved. That the Committee on the Judiciary be, and they are hereby, authorized to inquire into the official conduct of Andrew Johnson, Vice-President of the United States, discharging the powers and duties of the office of President of the United States, and to report to this House whether, in their opinion, the said Andrew Johnson, while in said office, has been guilty of acts which are designed or calculated to overthrow, subvert or corrupt the Government of the United States, or any department or office thereof; and whether the said Andrew Johnson has been guilty of any act, or has conspired with others to do acts, which, in contemplation of the Constitution, are high crimes and misdemeanors, requiring the interposition of the constitutional power of this House; and that said committee have power to send for persons and papers, and to administer the customary oath to witnesses."

This resolution was adopted, by a vote of 107 to 38.

The Judiciary Committee reported to the House on the 2d of March, that it had not concluded the investigation, but that in the opinion of the majority (eight to one) "sufficient testimony had been brought to the notice of the committee to justify and demand a further prosecution of the investigation." This report was signed by Messrs. James F. Wilson, Francis Thomas, D. Morris, F. E. Woodbridge, Geo. S. Boutwell, Thomas Williams, Burton C. Cook, and William Lawrence. Mr. A. J. Rogers presented a minority report, in which he stated that there was no "evidence to sustain any of the charges which the House charged the committee to investigate," and that he could see "no good in a continuation of the investigation." The reports were laid on the table, and ordered to be printed. The thirty-ninth Congress closed its session on the 4th of March, and the fortieth Congress commenced the same day.

On the 7th of March, the Judiciary Committee were instructed to continue the investigation, which it did, and on the 25th of November, again reported; the majority, Messrs. Boutwell, Thomas, Williams, Lawrence, and Churchill in favor of impeachment, the other members in two separate minority reports, opposed thereto. Debate on these reports began in the House on the 5th of December, and was continued until the 7th, when the impeachment resolution was lost by a vote of 57 to 108.

On the 10th of February, 1868, on motion of Mr. Thaddeus Stevens, the evidence taken on impeachment by the committee on the Judiciary, was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction, and the committee had leave to report at any time. Feb. 21, the subject was again introduced, when Mr. Covode of Pennsylvania offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors.

This resolution was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction, together with the following communications, which had been laid before the House by the speaker:

WAR DEPARTMENT, }
WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 21, 1868. }

SIR,—Gen. Thomas has just delivered to me a copy of the inclosed order, which you will please communicate to the House of Representatives. Your obedient servant,

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

To the Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, }
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21, 1868. }

SIR,—By virtue of the power and authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and laws of the United States, you are hereby removed from office as Secretary of War, and your functions as such will terminate upon receipt of this communication.

You will transfer to Brevet Major-Gen. Lorenzo Thomas, Adjutant-General of the Army, who has this day been authorized to act as Secretary of War ad interim, all records, books, papers, and other public property now in your custody and charge. Respectfully yours,

ANDREW JOHNSON, President.

To the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Washington, D. C.

The same day a resolution from the Senate relating to the removal of Mr. Stanton, was delivered to the President. It read as follows:

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION, }
SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, Feb. 21, 1868. }

WHEREAS, The Senate have read and considered the communication of the President, stating that he had removed Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and had designated the Adjutant-General of the Army to act as Secretary of War ad interim; therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate of the United States, that under the Constitution and laws of the United States the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that officer ad interim.

Feb. 22, the Committee on Reconstruction, through their chairman, Mr. Stevens, made a report, in which, after alluding to the matters referred to the committee, they say:

Upon the evidence collected by the committee, which is hereafter presented, and in virtue of the powers with which they have been invested by the House, they are of the opinion that Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors. They, therefore, recommend to the House the adoption of the accompanying resolution:

THADDEUS STEVENS,
F. C. BEAMAN,

GEORGE S. BOUTWELL,
C. T. HULBURD,

JOHN A. BINGHAM,
JOHN F. FARNSWORTH,
H. E. PAINE.

Resolved, That Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors.

The report was discussed in the House, February 22, until 11 P. M., and resumed on Monday, the 24th, when, at the close of the discussion, the resolution was adopted—yeas, 128, nays, 47.

Messrs. Thaddeus Stevens and John A. Bingham were appointed to notify the Senate, and another committee, consisting of Messrs. Boutwell, Thaddeus Stevens, Bingham, James F. Wilson, Logan, Julian, and Ward, was also appointed to prepare and report Articles of Impeachment. On the following day, February 25, Messrs. Stevens and Bingham appeared at the bar of the Senate and delivered the following message:

“MR. PRESIDENT,—By order of the House of Representatives, we appear at the bar of the Senate, and in the name of the House of Representatives and of all the people of the United States, we do impeach Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors in office; and we further inform the Senate that the House of Representatives will in due time exhibit particular articles of impeachment against him, and make good the same; and in their name we demand that the Senate take due order for the appearance of the said Andrew Johnson, to answer to the said Impeachment.”

The message was referred by the Senate to a select committee, and the chair appointed Messrs. Howard, Trumbull, Conkling, Edmunds, Morton, Pomeroy and Johnson. This committee reported rules to govern the Senate in the impeachment trial, which were adopted March 2. The House of Representatives, on the same day, adopted Articles of Impeachment.

Articles exhibited by the House of Representatives of the United States, in the name of themselves and all the people of the United States, against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, in maintenance and support of their impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors in office.

ARTICLE I. That the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and of the requirements of the Constitution that he should take care that the laws be faithfully executed, did unlawfully, and in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States, issue an order in writing for the removal of Edwin M. Stanton from the office of Secretary for the Department of War, said Edwin M. Stanton having been theretofore duly appointed and commissioned, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, as such Secretary, and said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, on the 12th day of August, in the year of our Lord 1867, and during the recess of said Senate, having suspended by his order Edwin M. Stanton from said office, and within twenty days after the first day of the next meeting of said Senate, that is to say, on the 12th day of December, in the year last aforesaid, having reported to said Senate such suspension with the evidence and reasons for his action in the case and the name of the person designated to perform the duties of such office temporarily until the next meeting of the Senate, and said Senate thereafterwards on the 13th day of January in the year of our Lord 1868, having duly considered the evidence and reasons reported by said Andrew Johnson for said suspension, and having refused to concur in said suspension, whereby and by force of the provisions of an act entitled “An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices,” passed March 2, 1867, said Edwin M. Stanton did forthwith resume the functions of his office, whereof the said Andrew Johnson had then and there due notice, and said Edwin M. Stanton, by reason of the premises, on said 21st day of February, being lawfully entitled to hold said office of Secretary for the Department of War, which said order for the removal of said Edwin M. Stanton is in substance as follows that is to say:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21, 1868. }

SIR,—By virtue of the power and authority vested in me as President by the Constitution and laws of the United States, you are hereby removed from office as Secretary for the Department of War, and your functions as such will terminate upon receipt of this communication.

You will transfer to Brevet Major General Lorenzo Thomas, Adjutant General of the Army, who has this day been authorized and empowered to act as Secretary of War ad interim, all records, books, papers, and other public property now in your custody and charge.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW JOHNSON.

To the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Washington, D. C.

Which order was unlawfully issued with intent then and there to violate the act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, and with the further intent, contrary to the provisions of said act, in violation thereof, and contrary to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, and without the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, the said Senate then and there being in session, to remove said Edwin M. Stanton from the office of Secretary for the Department of War, the said Edwin M. Stanton being then and there Secretary for the Department of War, and being then and there in the due and lawful execution and discharge of the duties of said office, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit, and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE II. That on the said 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office, of his oath of office, and in violation of the Constitution of the United States, and contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, without the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, said Senate then and there being in session, and without authority of law, did, with intent to violate the Constitution of the United States, and the act aforesaid, issue and deliver to one Lorenzo Thomas a letter of authority in substance as follows, that is to say:

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21, 1868. }

SIR,—The Hon. Edwin M. Stanton having been this day removed from office as Secretary for the Department of War, you are hereby authorized and empowered to act as Secretary of War ad interim, and will immediately enter upon the discharge of the duties pertaining to that office.

Mr. Stanton has been instructed to transfer to you all the records, books, papers, and other public property now in his custody and charge.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW JOHNSON.

To Brevet Major General Lorenzo Thomas, Adjutant General U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

Then and there being no vacancy in said office of Secretary for the Department of War, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE III. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office, in this, that, without authority of law, while the Senate of the United States was then and there in session, he did appoint one Lorenzo Thomas to be Secretary for the Department of War ad interim, without the advice and consent of the Senate, and with intent to violate the Constitution of the United States, no vacancy having happened in said office of Secretary for the Department of War during the recess of the Senate, and no vacancy existing in said office at the time, and which said appointment so made by said Andrew Johnson, of said Lorenzo Thomas, is in substance as follows, that is to say: (Same as above).

ARTICLE IV. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully conspire with one Lorenzo Thomas, and with other persons to the House of Representatives unknown, with intent, by intimidation and threats, unlawfully to hinder and prevent Edwin M. Stanton, then and there the Secretary for the Department of War, duly appointed under the laws of the United States, from holding said office of Secretary for the Department of War, contrary to and in violation of the Constitution of the United States, and of the provisions of an act entitled "An act to define and punish certain conspiracies," approved July 31, 1861, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high crime in office.

ARTICLE V. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, and on divers other days and times in said year, before the 2d day of March, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully conspire with one Lorenzo Thomas, and with other persons to the House of Representatives unknown, to prevent and hinder the execution of an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, and in pursuance of said conspiracy did unlawfully attempt to prevent Edwin M. Stanton, then and there being Secretary for the Department of War, duly appointed and commissioned under the laws of the United States, from holding said office, whereby the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE VI. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully conspire with one Lorenzo Thomas, by force to seize, take and possess the property of the United States in the Department of War, and then and there in the custody and charge of Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary for said Department, contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act to define and punish certain conspiracies," approved July 31, 1861, and with intent to violate and disregard an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit a high crime in office.

ARTICLE VII. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully conspire with one Lorenzo Thomas, with intent unlawfully to seize, take and possess the property of the United States in the Department of War, in the custody and charge of Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary for said Department, with intent to violate and disregard the act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE VIII. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, with intent unlawfully to control the disbursements of the moneys appropriated for the military service and for the Department of War, on the 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully and contrary to the provisions of an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, and in violation of the Constitution of the United States, and without the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, and while the Senate was then and there in session, there being no vacancy in the office of Secretary for the Department of War, and with intent to violate and disregard the act aforesaid, then and there issue and deliver to one Lorenzo Thomas a letter of authority in writing, in substance as follows, that is to say: (Same as foregoing). Whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE IX. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, on the 22d day of February, in the year of our Lord 1868, at Washington, in the District of Columbia, in disregard of the Constitution and the laws of the United States duly enacted, as commander-in-chief of the army of the United States, did bring before himself then and there William H. Emory, a major general by brevet in the army of the United States, actually in command of the department of Washington and the military forces thereof, and did then and there, as such commander-in-chief, declare to and instruct said Emory that part of a law of the United States, passed March 2, 1867, entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the army for the year ending June 30, 1868, and for other purposes," especially the second section thereof, which provided, among other things, that, "all orders and instructions relating to military operations issued by the President or Secretary of War, shall be issued through the General of the army, and in case of his inability through the next in rank," was unconstitutional, and in contravention of the commission of said Emory, and, which said provision of law had been theretofore duly and legally promulgated by General Order for the government and direction of the army of the United States, as the said Andrew Johnson then and there well knew, with intent thereby to induce said Emory in his official capacity as commander of the department of Washington, to violate the provisions of said act, and to take and receive, act upon, and obey such orders as he, the said Andrew Johnson, might make and give, and which should not be issued through the General of the army of the United States, according to the provisions of said act, and with the further intent thereby to enable him, the said Andrew Johnson, to prevent the execution of the act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, and to unlawfully prevent Edwin M. Stanton, then being Secretary for the Department of War, from holding said office and discharging the duties thereof, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then and there commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

And the House of Representatives, by protestation, saving to themselves the liberty of exhibiting at any time hereafter any further articles or other accusation, or impeachment against the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, and also of replying to his answers which he shall make unto the articles herein preferred against him, and of offering proof to the same, and every part thereof, and to all and every other article, accusation, or impeachment which shall be exhibited by them, as the case shall require, DO DEMAND that the said Andrew Johnson may be put to answer the high crimes and misdemeanors in office herein charged against him, and that such proceedings, examinations, trials, and judgments may be thereupon had and given as may be agreeable to law and justice.

March 3, the following additional articles of impeachment were agreed to, viz.:

ARTICLE X. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and the dignity and proprieties thereof, and of the harmony and courtesies which ought to exist and be maintained between the executive and legislative branches of the government of the United States, designing and intending to set aside the rightful authority and powers of Congress, did attempt to bring into disgrace, ridicule, hatred, contempt and reproach the Congress of the United States, and the several branches thereof, to impair and destroy the regard and respect of all the good people of the United States for the Congress and legislative power thereof, (which all officers of the Government ought inviolably to preserve and maintain), and to excite the odium and resentment of all the good people of the United States against Congress and the laws by it duly and constitutionally enacted; and in pursuance of his said design and intent, openly and publicly, and before divers assemblages of the citizens of the United States convened in divers parts thereof to meet and receive said Andrew Johnson as the Chief Magistrate of the United States, did, on the 18th day of August, in the year of our Lord 1866, and on divers other days and times, as well before as afterward, make and deliver with a loud voice certain intemperate, inflammatory, and scandalous harangues, and did therein utter loud threats and bitter menaces as well against Congress as the laws of the United States duly enacted thereby, amid the cries, jeers and laughter of the multitudes then assembled and in hearing, which are set forth in the several specifications hereinafter written, in substance and effect, that is to say:

SPECIFICATION FIRST. In this, that at Washington, in the District of Columbia, in the Executive Mansion, to a committee of citizens who called upon the President of the United States, speaking of and concerning the Congress of the United States, said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, heretofore, to wit, on the 18th day of August, in the year of our Lord 1866, did, in a loud voice, declare in substance and effect, among other things, that is to say:

"So far as the executive department of the government is concerned, the effort has been made to restore the Union, to heal the breach, to pour oil into the wounds which were consequent upon the struggle, and (to speak in common phrase) to prepare as the learned and wise physician would, a plaster healing in character and coextensive with the wound. We thought, and we think, that we had partially succeeded; but as the work progresses, as reconstruction seemed to be taking place, and the country was becoming reunited, we found a disturbing and marring element opposing us. In alluding to that element, I shall go no further than your convention and the distinguished gentleman who has delivered to me the report of its proceedings. I shall make no reference to it that I do not believe the time and the occasion justify.

"We have witnessed in one department of the Government every endeavor to prevent the restoration of peace, harmony, and Union. We have seen hanging upon the verge of the Government, as it were, a body called, or which assumes to be, the Congress of the United States, while in fact it is a Congress of only a part of the States. We have seen this Congress pretend to be for the Union, when its every step and act tended to perpetuate disunion and make a disruption of the States inevitable. * * * We have seen Congress gradually encroach step by step upon constitutional rights, and violate, day after day and month after month, fundamental principles of the government. We have seen a Congress that seemed to forget that there was a limit to the sphere and scope of legislation. We have seen a Congress in a minority assume to exercise power which, allowed to be consummated, would result in despotism or monarchy itself."

SPECIFICATION SECOND. In this, that at Cleveland, in the State of Ohio, heretofore, to wit, on the 3d day of September, in the year of our Lord 1866, before a public assemblage of citizens and others, said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, speaking of and concerning the Congress of the United States, did, in a loud voice, declare in substance and effect, among other things, that is to say:

"I will tell you what I did do. I called upon your Congress, that is trying to break up the government. * * * * *

"In conclusion, beside that, Congress had taken much pains to poison their constituents against him. But what had Congress done? Have they done anything to restore the union of these States? No; on the contrary, they had done everything to prevent it; and because he stood now where he did when the rebellion commenced, he had been denounced as a traitor. Who had run greater risks or made greater sacrifices than himself? But Congress, factious and domineering, had undertaken to poison the minds of the American people."

SPECIFICATION THIRD. In this, that at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, heretofore, to wit, on the 8th day of September, in the year of our Lord 1866, before a public assemblage of citizens and others, said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, speaking of and concerning the Congress of the United States, did, in a loud voice, declare, in substance and effect, among other things, that is to say:

"Go on. Perhaps if you had a word or two on the subject of New Orleans you might understand more about it than you do. And if you will go back—if you will go back and ascertain the cause of the riot at New Orleans perhaps you will not be so prompt in calling out 'New Orleans.' If you will take up the riot at New Orleans, and trace it back to its source or its immediate cause, you will find out who was responsible for the blood that was shed there. If you will take up the riot at New Orleans and trace it back to the radical Congress, you will find that the riot at New Orleans was substantially planned. If you will take up the proceedings in their caucuses you will understand that they there knew that a convention was to be called which was extinct by its power having expired; that it was said that the intention was that a new government was to be organized, and on the organization of that government the intention was to enfranchise one portion of the population, called the colored population, who had just been emancipated, and at the same time disfranchise white men. When you design to talk about New Orleans, you ought to understand what you are talking about. When you read the speeches that were made, and take up the facts on the Friday and Saturday before that convention sat, you will there find that speeches were made incendiary in their character, exciting that portion of the population, the black population, to arm themselves and prepare for the shedding of blood. You will also find that that convention did assemble in violation of law, and the intention of that convention was to supersede the reorganized authorities in the State government of Louisiana, which had been recognized by the Government of the United States; and every man engaged in that rebellion in that convention, with the intention of superseding and upturning the civil government which had been recognized by the Government of the United States, I say that he was a traitor to the Constitution of the United States, and hence you find that another rebellion was commenced, having its origin in the radical Congress. * * * *

"So much for the New Orleans riot. And there was the cause and the origin of the blood that was shed; and every drop of blood that was shed is upon their skirts, and they are responsible for it. I could test this thing a little closer, but will not do it here to-night. But when you talk about the causes and consequences that resulted from proceedings of that kind, perhaps, as I have been introduced here, and you have provoked questions of this kind, though it does not provoke me, I will tell you a few wholesome things that have been done by this radical Congress in connection with New Orleans and the extension of the elective franchise.

"I know that I have been traduced and abused. I know it has come in advance of me here as elsewhere—that I have attempted to exercise an arbitrary power in resisting laws that were intended to be forced upon the Government; that I had exercised that power; that I had abandoned the party that elected me, and that I was a traitor, because I exercised the veto power in attempting, and did arrest for a time, a bill that was called a 'Freedmen's Bureau' bill; yes, that I was a traitor. And I have been traduced, I have been slandered, I have been maligned, I have been called Judas Iscariot, and all that. Now, my countrymen, here to-night, it is very easy to indulge in epithets; it is easy to call a man Judas and cry out traitor, but when he is called upon to give arguments and facts, he is very often found wanting. Judas Iscariot—Judas. There was a Judas, and he was one of the twelve Apostles. Oh! yes, the twelve Apostles had a Christ. The twelve Apostles had a Christ, and he never could have had a Judas unless he had had twelve Apostles. If I have played the Judas, who has been my Christ that I have played the Judas with? Was it Thad. Stevens? Was it Wendell Phillips? Was it Charles Sumner? These are the men that stop and compare themselves with the Saviour; and everybody that differs with them in opinion, and to try to stay and arrest their diabolical and nefarious policy, is to be denounced as a Judas. * * * * *

"Well, let me say to you, if you will stand by me in this action, if you will stand by me in trying to give the people a fair chance—soldiers and citizens—to participate in these offices, God being willing, I will kick them out. I will kick them out just as fast as I can.

"Let me say to you, in concluding, that what I have said I intended to say. I was not provoked into this, and I care not for their menaces, the taunts, and the jeers. I care not for threats. I do not intend to be bullied by my enemies nor overawed by my friends. But, God willing, with your help, I will veto their measures whenever any of them come to me."

Which said utterances, declarations, threats, and harangues, highly censurable in any, are peculiarly indecent and unbecoming in the Chief Magistrate of the United States, by means whereof said Andrew Johnson has brought the high office of the President of the United States into contempt, ridicule, and disgrace, to the great scandal of all good citizens, whereby said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did commit, and was then and there guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

ARTICLE XI. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office, and of his oath of office, and in disregard of the Constitution and laws of the United States, did, heretofore, to wit, on the 18th day of August, A. D. 1866, at the city of Washington, and the District of Columbia, by public speech, declare and affirm, in substance, that the Thirty-Ninth Congress of the United States was not a Congress of the United States authorized by the Constitution to exercise legislative power under the same, but, on the contrary, was a Congress of only part of the States, thereby denying, and intending to deny, that the legislation of said Congress was valid or obligatory upon him, the said Andrew Johnson, except in so far as he saw fit to approve the same, and also thereby denying, and intending to deny, the power of the said Thirty-Ninth Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution of the United States; and, in pursuance of said declaration, the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, afterwards, to wit, on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1868, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, did, unlawfully, and in disregard of the requirement of the Constitution, that he should take care that the laws be faithfully executed, attempt to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, by unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive means by which he should prevent Edwin M. Stanton from forthwith resuming the functions of the office of Secretary for the Department of War, notwithstanding the refusal of the Senate to concur in the suspension theretofore made by said Andrew Johnson of said Edwin M. Stanton from said office of Secretary for the Department of War; and, also, by further unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive, means, then and there, to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1868, and for other purposes," approved March 2, 1867; and, also, to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 2, 1867, whereby the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then, to wit, on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1868, at the city of Washington, commit, and was guilty of, a high misdemeanor in office.

The vote on these articles was as follows: On the first, sixth, seventh and eighth, yeas 127, nays 42; on the second and third, yeas 124, nays, 41; on the fourth, yeas 117, nays 40; on the ninth, yeas 108, nays 41; on the tenth, yeas 88, nays 44; on the eleventh, yeas 109, nays 32.

Messrs. John A. Bingham, George S. Boutwell, James F. Wilson, Benjamin F. Butler, Thomas Williams, John A. Logan and Thaddeus Stevens were elected managers to conduct the impeachment, and they presented the foregoing Articles to the Senate, March 4. On the 5th, the Senate was organized as a Court of Impeachment, Chief Justice Chase presiding, and on the 7th, the summons requiring the President to appear and answer the articles, was served upon him. He employed as counsel, Messrs. Henry Stanberry, B. R. Curtis, Thomas A. R. Nelson, William M. Evarts and W. S. Groesbeck. His counsel entered his appearance the 13th, and on the 23d, returned answer to the articles. The replication of the managers was presented on the 24th, and on Monday, March 30, the trial began, Mr. Butler making the opening argument on the part of the managers. The testimony on the part of the prosecution was then introduced, occupying the time until April 4, when at the request of the President's counsel, the case was adjourned until April 9. Mr. Curtis then made the opening argument for the defense, concluding on the 10th, and the testimony introduced on the part of the President occupied the time until April 18. Further testimony was introduced by both sides, and the argument began April 22, when Mr. Boutwell on the part of the managers commenced to sum up the case. The arguments of both sides were concluded May 6. The next two days were spent by the Senate in deliberation, determining rules, form of questions, &c. The final vote was to have been taken May 12, but in consequence of the illness of a Senator, it was deferred until the 16th. It was then ordered that a vote be taken on the eleventh article first. The vote was "guilty," 35, "not guilty," 19, as follows:

For Conviction. Messrs. Anthony, Cameron, Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbett, Cragin, Drake, Edmunds, Ferry, Frelinghuysen, Harlan, Howard, Howe, Morgan, Morrill (Me.), Morrill (Vt.), Morton, Nye, Patterson (N. H.), Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Wade, Willey, Williams, Wilson, Yates.

For Acquittal. Messrs. Bayard, Buckalew, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Fowler, Grimes, Henderson, Hendricks, Johnson, McCreery, Norton, Patterson (Tenn.), Ross, Saulsbury, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers.

May 26, the second and third articles were voted upon with the same result as on the eleventh, when a motion was made and carried that the Court adjourn sine die. Judgment of acquittal was then entered by the Chief Justice on the three articles voted upon, and the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment was declared adjourned without day.

RECONSTRUCTION IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

The Thirty-ninth Congress by act of March 2, 1867, provided a government for the insurrectionary States by dividing them into military districts, and making them subject to the military authority of the United States. For this purpose, Virginia constituted the 1st District, North Carolina and South Carolina the 2d, Georgia, Alabama and Florida the 3d, Mississippi and Arkansas the 4th, and Louisiana and Texas the 5th. To each of these Districts a General of the Army was assigned, with a sufficient military force to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish all disturbers of the public peace. The act had also the following provisions:

When the people of any one of said Rebel States shall have formed a constitution and government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State 21 years old and upward, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the Rebellion or for felony at common law, and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates, and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification who are qualified as electors for delegates, and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same, and when said State by vote of its Legislature elected under said constitution shall have adopted the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States proposed by the XXXIXth Congress, and known as Article 14, and when said article shall have become part of the Constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom on their taking the oath prescribed by law, and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said Rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. Until the people of the said Rebel States shall by law be admitted to representation to the Congress of the United States, all civil governments that may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and shall be in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States, at any time to abolish, modify, control, and supersede the same, and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act. And no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said Constitutional Amendment.

Under this act, the President appointed as commanders of the Military Districts: For the 1st, Major General John M. Schofield; for the 2d, Major General Daniel E. Sickles; for the 3d, Major General John Pope; for the 4th, Major General E. O. C. Ord; and for the 5th, Major General Philip H. Sheridan. By order of the President, before the close of the year, most of these commanders were removed and others appointed in their places.

A supplemental act of March 23, directed the commanding General in each District to cause a registration to be made of the male citizens qualified to vote by the provisions of the act. After the completion of the registration, an election was held to choose delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government in each State, and also to vote for or against a convention. Under these acts and a second supplementary reconstruction act of July 19, 1867, and the amendatory act of March 11, 1868, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina, and South Carolina framed and adopted constitutions of State government, and they were admitted to representation in Congress as States of the Union, by the acts of June 22 and June 25, 1868. (For the Specific Acts admitting these States, see "Public Acts," page 248.) Soon after the passage of the above acts, the commanders of the Military Districts in which these States were situated, withdrew the military authority, and civil rule was again established. In most cases, to facilitate the inauguration of the executive officers elected in the different States, they were appointed by the military commanders to the positions they were to occupy, before the meeting of the legislatures. The number registered in each State, and the election returns under the reconstruction acts were as follows:

Mississippi, Texas and Virginia having failed to comply with the requirements of the reconstruction acts, have not been admitted to representation in Congress. In Texas and in portions of other Southern States, the lawlessness of some districts has required the presence of the military force of the General Government to preserve peace and order. A special committee of the Texas Constitutional Convention reported, July 21, 1868, 1,035 homicides committed in Texas in three years, of which 319 were committed in 1868.

FINANCES.

During the year 1867, the aspect of the finances was much improved by the consolidation of the public debt, and a reduction of its amount. From December 1, 1866, to December 1, 1867, the Legal Tender notes had been reduced upwards of $107,000,000 by a gradual contraction of the currency. This measure had been urged by the Secretary of the Treasury in his report as necessary for the maintenance of the credit of the government, and as advantageous to the industrial and social interests of the country; but a wide difference of opinion existed both in the public mind and among members of Congress, in regard to this policy. Some persons advocated continued contraction, while others opposed it; the latter urging that there was no excess of money in the country, all being needed for the movement of crops, and the uses of healthful trade. One party favored the suppression of "Greenbacks," or Government notes, while another advocated an increase of these and a withdrawal of National Bank notes. Congress repealed the law giving the Secretary power to reduce the currency, January 1, 1868.

A difference of opinion also existed in reference to the mode of payment of the National loans, especially the bonds known as "Five-twenties." There were some who recommended the payment of the principal as it became due in legal tender notes, while others urged that the faith of the nation was pledged to the full payment of principal and interest in coin. Various measures were brought before Congress, and the question entered very largely into the discussion of political questions in the Presidential campaign of 1868, but no decisive measures were passed by Congress.

The whole subject of Currency and Finance will be discussed in another place, in a paper prepared expressly for this volume, and we simply add here the following statistical tables. They serve to present the condition of the finances of the country, and exhibit the changes in duties levied on leading articles, the receipts and expenditures of the government, the public debt at different dates, the kinds of United States bonds, the number and condition of the National Banks, and the debts of the several States.

VI. PUBLIC DEBT.

On the following page, in the statement of the Public Debt of the United States, the amount from 1791 to 1842, is given for January 1; from 1843 to 1847, and for 1853, 1854, and from 1857 to 1860, for July 1; for 1849 and 1850, December 1; 1851, November 20; 1852, December 30; and from 1861 to 1869 at different dates as given in the table compiled from the Treasury statement.

* This amount includes all kinds of merchandise, including liquors sold by retail liquor dealers, cigars, tobacco, groceries, &c. No official return of the retail sales of liquors alone, is made; but the following estimate is nearly accurate. The receipts from licenses indicate that there were at least 129,716 retail liquor dealers in the United States, whose annual sales of liquors may be estimated at about $5,000 each, making the aggregate sales of liquor $648,580,000 in the year ending June 30, 1868.

These Bonds are issued by the Government, under Acts of July 1, 1862, and July 2, 1864, to Companies receiving their charter from Congress, which gives them the right to construct Railroads to and from the Pacific Coast, and on the completion of each twenty miles of track, to receive at the rate of $16,000, $22,000 or $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulty of constructing the same. They are payable thirty years from date of issue, and are registered in Bonds of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Amount issued up to January 1, 1869, $50,097,000. All of the Government Bonds are issued "Compon" or "Registered." Compon Bonds can be changed into Registered Bonds, but Registered Bonds cannot be changed into Coupons. Compon Bonds are in denominations of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000; the Registered Bonds the same, with addition of $5,000 and $10,000.

NOTE.—West Virginia and Nebraska have no debt; Kentucky, Iowa, and Minnesota virtually none.

(a). Deducting the present market value of the resources of this State ($13,685,263), the debt is reduced to $13,868,672.

(b). Deducting the balance in sinking funds, the debt is reduced to $38,864,449.

(c). This State holds productive property and a sinking fund, aggregating over $9,500,000—nearly sufficient to cover the amount of the State debt.

(d). Deducting the amount of bonds loaned to Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Co. ($3,000,000), the aggregate debt is reduced to $17,557,000.

(e). The resources of this State are more than sufficient to meet her obligations, and practically she has no debt.

(f). The treasurer reported the debt, July 1, 1867, at about $6,000,000, and the State assets over all liabilities, $5,751,965.

* The debts of these States, as here given, were obtained from unofficial sources.

NOTE.—A discrepancy sometimes occurs between the amount of debt as given elsewhere under each state, and the amount in the above table. The difference is due to the fact that these amounts were taken at different dates.

TITLES AND ABSTRACTS OF THE PUBLIC LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

PASSED AT THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FORTIETH CONGRESS.

No. 1.—An Act granting a certain right of way to the Hudson River West Shore Railroad Company. December 14, 1867.

No officer of the army of the United States who has been or shall hereafter be cashiered or dismissed from the service by the sentence of a general court-martial, formally approved by the proper reviewing authority, shall ever be restored to the military service except by a re-appointment, confirmed by the Senate of the United States. July 20, 1868.

No. 79.—Imposing taxes on distilled spirits and tobacco, and for other purposes: Provides, That there shall be levied and collected on all distilled spirits on which the tax prescribed by law has not been paid, a tax of fifty cents on each and every proof gallon, to be paid before removal from distillery warehouse; the tax on such spirits shall be collected on the whole number of gauge or wine gallons when below proof, and shall be increased in proportion for any greater strength than the strength of proof spirit as defined in this act; and any fractional part of a gallon in excess of the number of gallons in a cask or package shall be taxed as a gallon. The tax on brandy made from grapes shall be the same and no higher than that upon other distilled spirits; the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is authorized, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to exempt distillers of brandy from apples, peaches or grapes exclusively, from such other of the provisions of this act relating to the manufacture of spirits as in his judgment may seem expedient.

Every distillery, whether intended for use or otherwise, must be registered with the Assessor of its district. Its owner must file with that officer notice of its location, description and boundaries, its mashing, fermenting and distilling capacity, and its fermenting period, together with the number, kinds and contents of the stills, boilers, tubs and cisterns employed. An accurate plan of the distillery and its apparatus, showing the relative location of every still, boiler, doubler, worm-tub, cistern, pipe-valve, and other parts of the machinery, must be displayed upon the premises, and a copy filed with the Assessor. With the aid of a person, skillful and competent for such purpose, the Assessor is required to make a survey of every distillery, and to estimate and determine its true producing capacity, for the purpose of assessment in case of deficient returns. Copies of all the papers above referred to are sent to the revenue office, where a full and complete record is kept of every distillery.

A warehouse must be established for every distillery, and, under the direction and control of the Collector of the district, placed in charge of a storekeeper appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury. A bond in the penal sum of double the tax upon the possible production of the distillery for fifteen days must be given by the distiller, with at least two sureties approved by the Assessors, conditioned, among other things, to a faithful compliance with all the provisions of the law.

All this must be done before a distillery is allowed to commence operations. Afterwards daily reports are made by its storekeeper of all spirits entered and withdrawn from warehouse, and monthly reports of materials used, beer made, and spirits produced at the distillery.

Reports of like character are made each month by the assessors, based upon the tri-monthly reports to them from distillers, and including also their assessments of deficiencies, and of the per diem and per barrel taxes imposed by law. These various reports when received, compared with and checked by each other, are duly recorded and filed. July 20, 1868.

PUBLIC RESOLUTIONS.

The following are the Public Resolutions of general interest:

No. 1.—Resolution excluding from the electoral college votes of certain States lately in Rebellion. That none of the States whose inhabitants were lately in rebellion shall be entitled to representation in the electoral college for the choice of President and Vice President of the United States, nor shall any electoral votes be received or counted from any of such States, unless at the time prescribed by law for the choice of electors the people of such States, pursuant to the acts of Congress in that behalf, shall have, since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, adopted a constitution of State government under which a State government shall have been organized and shall be in operation, nor unless such election of electors shall have been held under the authority of such constitution and government, and such State shall have also become entitled to representation in Congress, pursuant to the acts of Congress in that behalf: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply to any State which was represented in Congress on the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven. (Vetoed and repassed).

No. 4.—That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized to dispose of such iron-clad vessels, except those of the “Dictator,” “Kalamazoo,” “Monadnock,” and “Passaic” classes, as in his judgment are not required by the interests of the service, at a price to be determined by appraisal, to be made by a board of not less than five naval officers, two of whom shall be engineers.

No. 5.—That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to take immediate measures for the reduction of the expenses of the army and of the war department at and in the vicinity of New York city, at as early a day as practicable, by concentrating the business of the quartermaster, commissary, clothing, ordnance, and medical bureaus, and recruiting service in said city.

No. 6.—“For the relief of destitute persons at the South,” allows the issue of desiccated potatoes, &c., to “destitutes” in the South, under the direction of the Commissioner of the Freedmen’s Bureau.

No. 8.—“To provide for a commission to examine and report on metres for distilled spirits,” to report before March 1, 1869.

No. 9.—That all moneys which have been received by any officer or employe[e] of the government, or any department thereof, from sales of captured and abandoned property in the late insurrectionary districts, under or under color of the several acts of Congress providing for the collection and sale of such property, and which have not already been actually covered into the treasury, shall immediately be paid into the treasury of the United States, together with any interest which has been received or accrued thereon. That a sum of the proceeds of such sales not exceeding seventy-five thousand dollars is hereby appropriated for the payment of the necessary expenses incurred by or under the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, for incidental expenses in acting under the laws respecting the collection and disposition of captured and abandoned property, and for the necessary expenses of defending, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, such suits as have been brought against him or his agents in the premises, and for prosecuting suits in the United States for the recovery of such property, and for providing for the defence of the United States against suits for or in respect to such property in the court of claims.

No. 11.—“To authorize the Secretary of War to employ counsel in certain cases,” to provide counsel for Generals Meade and Ruger, and any other persons intrusted with the re-enforcement of the reconstruction acts. [Passed through lapse of time, without President's approval.]

No. 14.—That section eight of an act entitled “An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Lake Superior to Puget Sound, on the Pacific coast,” is hereby so amended as to read as follows: That each and every grant, right, and privilege herein, are so made and given to and accepted by said Northern Pacific Railroad Company upon and subject to the following conditions, namely: That the said company shall commence the work on said road within two years from and after the second day of July, eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, and shall complete not less than one hundred miles per year after the second year thereafter, and shall construct, equip, furnish, and complete the whole road by the fourth day of July, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy-seven.

No. 15.—“Authorizing the Lighthouse Board to place warnings over obstructions at the entrance of harbors, or in the fairway of bays and sounds, and for other purposes,” the “other purposes” being the appointment of a commissioner to examine the wreck of steamer Scotland, in the harbor of New York.

No. 17.—That the time fixed and limited by an act entitled “An act granting lands to aid in the construction of certain railroads in the State of Wisconsin,” approved May fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, for the completion of the railroad from Tomah, in the county of Monroe, to Saint Croix river or lake, between townships twenty-five and thirty-one, be, and the same is hereby, further extended for a period of three years to the West Wisconsin Railroad Company, a corporation established by the laws of the State of Wisconsin, and which by the laws of said State, is entitled to the land grant made in the second section of said act: Provided, That if said railway company shall not have completed said railroad from Tomah to Black River Falls, on or before the expiration of one year from the passage of this resolution, this act shall be null and void.

No. 19.—That all who served as officers, non-commissioned officers, privates or other enlisted men in the regular army, volunteer or militia forces of the United States, during the war of the rebellion, and have been honorably discharged from the service or remain still in the same, shall be entitled to wear, on occasions of ceremony, the distinctive army badge ordered for and adopted by the army corps and division, respectively, in which they served.

No. 23.—That the people of the United States renew the expression of their sympathy with the suffering people of Crete, to whom they are bound by the ties of a common religion and of the gratitude due to the Greek race, of which the Cretans are a part; that they rejoice to believe that the suffering of this interesting people may be happily terminated by a policy of forbearance on the part of the Turkish Government.

PROCLAMATIONS OF THE PRESIDENT.

FIRST AMNESTY PROCLAMATION.

Whereas. In the month of July, A. D. 1861, in accepting the condition of civil war, which was brought about by insurrection and rebellion in several of the States which constitute the United States, the two houses of Congress did solemnly declare that the war was not waged on the part of the government in any spirit of oppression, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for any purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of the States, but only to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution of the United States, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that so soon as these objects should be accomplished, the war on the part of the government should cease:

And whereas, The President of the United States has heretofore, in the spirit of that declaration, and with the view of securing for it ultimate and complete effect, set forth several proclamations, offering amnesty and pardon to persons who had been or were concerned in the aforesaid rebellion, which proclamations, however, were attended with prudential reservations and exceptions, then deemed necessary and proper, and which proclamations were respectively issued on the 8th day of December, 1863, on the 26th day of March, 1864, on the 29th day of May, 1865, and on the 7th day of September, 1867:

And whereas, The said lamentable civil war has long since altogether ceased, with an acknowledged guarantee to all the States of the supremacy of the Federal Constitution and the government thereunder; and there no longer exists any reasonable ground to apprehend a renewal of the said civil war, or any foreign interference, or any unlawful resistance by any portion of the people of any of the States to the Constitution and laws of the United States :

And whereas, It is desirable to reduce the standing army, and to bring to a speedy termination military occupation, martial law, military tribunals, abridgment of freedom of speech and of the press, and suspension of the privilege of habeas corpus, and the right of trial by jury—such encroachment upon our free institutions in times of peace being dangerous to public liberty, incompatible with the individual rights of the citizen, contrary to the genius and spirit of our republican form of government, and exhaustive of the national resources :

And whereas, It is believed that amnesty and pardon will tend to secure a complete and universal establishment and prevalence of municipal law and order, in conformity with the Constitution of the United States, and to remove all appearances or presumptions of a retaliatory or vindictive policy on the part of the government attended by unnecessary disqualifications, pains, penalties, confiscations, and disfranchisements; and on the contrary, to promote and procure complete fraternal reconciliation among the whole people, with due submission to the Constitution and laws :

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do, by virtue of the Constitution and in the name of the people of the United States, hereby proclaim and declare, unconditionally and without reservation, to all and to every person who directly or indirectly participated in the late insurrection or rebellion, excepting such person or persons as may be under presentment or indictment in any court of the United States having competent jurisdiction upon a charge of treason or other felony, a full pardon and amnesty for the offence of treason against the United States, or of adhering to their enemies during the late civil war, with restoration of all rights of property, except as to slaves, and except also as to any property of which any person may have been legally divested under the laws of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have signed these presents with my hand, and have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the fourth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-third.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By the President : WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

PROCLAMATION OF GENERAL AMNESTY INCLUDING ALL POLITICAL OFFENDERS.

By the President of the United States of America, a Proclamation.

Whereas, The President of the United States has heretofore set forth several proclamations, offered amnesty and pardon to persons who had been or were concerned in the late rebellion against the lawful authority of the Government of the United States, which proclamations were severally issued on the 8th day of December, 1863, on the 26th day of March, 1864, on the 29th day of May, 1865, on the 7th day of September, 1867, and on the 4th day of July, in the present year : and

Whereas, The authority of the Federal Government having been re-established in all the States and Territories within the jurisdiction of the United States, it is believed that such prudential reservations and exceptions as, at the dates of said several proclamations were deemed necessary and proper, may now be wisely and justly relinquished, and that an universal amnesty and pardon for participation in said rebellion, extended to all who have borne any part therein, will tend to secure permanent peace, order, and prosperity throughout the land, and to renew and fully restore confidence and fraternal feeling among the whole people, and their respect for, and attachment to the National government, designed by its patriotic founders for the general good :

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, by virtue of the power and authority in me vested by the Constitution, and in the name of the sovereign people of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare, unconditionally and without reservation, to all and to every person who directly or indirectly participated in the late insurrection or rebellion, a full pardon and amnesty for the offence of treason against the United States or of adhering to their enemies during the late civil war, with restoration of all rights, privileges and immunities, under the Constitution and the laws which have been made in pursuance thereof.

In testimony whereof I have signed these presents with my hand and have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the twenty-fifth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-third.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

By the President : F. W. SEWARD, Acting Secretary of State.

August 13, 1868.—Proclamation of treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between United States and Nicaragua.

THE FOURTEENTH CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The following is the text of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, as passed at the first session of the XXXIXth Congress, June 16, 1866:

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing the insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

On the 20th of July, 1868, Secretary Seward issued a circular reciting the action which had been had by the respective States, and on the 21st, Congress adopted a resolution declaring the foregoing article to be a part of the Constitution.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF ITS RATIFICATION.

TO ALL WHOM THESE PRESENTS MAY COME, GREETING: Whereas, By an act of Congress passed on the 20th of April, 1818, entitled "An act to provide for the publication of the laws of the United States, and for other purposes," it is declared that "whenever official notice shall have been received at the Department of State that any amendment which heretofore has been and hereafter may be proposed to the Constitution of the United States has been adopted according to the provisions of the Constitution, it shall be the duty of the said Secretary of State forthwith to cause the said amendment to be published in the newspapers authorized to promulgate the laws, with his certificate, specifying the statute by which the same may have been adopted, and that the same has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States."

And Whereas, The Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, on the 21st day of July, 1868, adopted and transmitted to the Department of State a concurrent resolution, which concurrent resolution is in the words and figures following, to wit:

Whereas, The Legislatures of the States of Connecticut, Tennessee, New Jersey, Oregon, Vermont, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota, New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Michigan, Nevada, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Maine, Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Alabama, South Carolina, and Louisiana, being three-fourths and more of the several States of the Union, have ratified the 14th article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States, duly proposed by two-thirds of each House of the XXXIXth Congress; therefore

Resolved, By the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), that said Fourteenth Article is hereby declared to be a part of the Constitution of the United States, and it shall be duly promulgated as such by the Secretary of State.

And whereas, Official notice has been received at the Department of State, that the Legislatures of the several States next hereinafter named have, at the time respectively herein mentioned, taken the proceedings, hereinafter recited, upon or in relation to the ratification of the said proposed amendment, called Article 14, namely: The Legislature of Connecticut ratified the amendment, June 30, 1866. The Legislature of New Hampshire ratified it July 7, 1866. The Legislature of Tennessee ratified it July 19, 1866. The Legislature of New Jersey ratified it September 11, 1866, and the Legislature of the same State passed a resolution in April, 1866, to withdraw its consent to it. The Legislature of Oregon ratified it Sept. 19, 1866. The Legislature of Texas rejected it Nov. 1, 1866. The Legislature of Vermont ratified it on or previous to Nov. 9, 1866. The Legislature of Georgia rejected it Nov. 13, 1866, and the Legislature of the same State ratified it July 21, 1868. The Legislature of North Carolina rejected it Dec. 4, 1866, and the Legislature of the same State ratified it July 4, 1868. The Legislature of South Carolina rejected it Dec. 20, 1866, and the Legislature of the same State ratified it July 9, 1868. The Legislature of Virginia rejected it Jan. 9, 1867. The Legislature of Kentucky rejected it Jan. 10, 1867. The Legislature of New York ratified it Jan. 10, 1867. The Legislature of Ohio ratified it Jan. 11, 1867, and the Legislature of the same State passed a resolution in January, 1868, to withdraw its consent to it. The Legislature of Illinois ratified it Jan. 15, 1867. The Legislature of West Virginia ratified it Jan. 16, 1867. The Legislature of Kansas ratified it Jan. 18, 1867. The Legislature of Maine ratified it Jan. 19, 1867. The Legislature of Nevada ratified it Jan. 22, 1867. The Legislature of Missouri ratified it on or previous to Jan. 26, 1867. The Legislature of Indiana ratified it Jan. 29, 1867. The Legislature of Minnesota ratified it Feb. 1, 1867. The Legislature of Rhode Island ratified it Feb. 7, 1867. The Legislature of Delaware rejected it Feb. 7, 1867. The Legislature of Wisconsin ratified it Feb. 12, 1867. The Legislature of Pennsylvania ratified it Feb. 13, 1867. The Legislature of Michigan ratified it Feb. 15, 1867. The Legislature of Massachusetts ratified it March 20, 1867. The Legislature of Maryland rejected it March 23, 1867. The Legislature of Nebraska ratified it June 11, 1867. The Legislature of Iowa ratified it April 3, 1868. The Legislature of Arkansas ratified it April 6, 1868. The Legislature of Florida ratified it June 9, 1868. The Legislature of Louisiana ratified it July 9, 1868, and the Legislature of Alabama ratified it July 13, 1868.

And now, therefore, be it known that I, William H. Seward, Secretary of State of the United States, in execution of the aforesaid act, and of the aforesaid concurrent resolution of the 21st of July, 1868, and in conformance thereto, do hereby direct the said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States to be published in the newspapers authorized to promulgate the laws of the United States, and I do hereby certify that the said proposed amendment has been adopted in the manner herein before-mentioned by the States specified in the said concurrent resolution, namely: the States of Connecticut, New Hampshire, Tennessee, New Jersey, Oregon, Vermont, New York, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, Kansas, Maine, Nevada, Missouri, Indiana, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Iowa, Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Louisiana, South Carolina, Alabama, and also by the Legislature of the State of Georgia. The States thus specified being more than three-fourths of the States of the United States, I do further certify that the said amendment has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Department of State to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 28th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-third.

WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Penalties. Penalty for making, signing, or issuing any instrument, document, or paper of any kind whatsoever, without the same being duly stamped, $200, and the instrument shall be deemed invalid and of no effect; or for counterfeiting stamps or dies, $1,000, and imprisonment to hard labor not exceeding five years.

Penalty for making, signing, issuing, accepting or paying any Bill of Exchange, Draft, Order, or Promissory Note without stamp, $200.

Penalty for accepting or paying a foreign Bill of Exchange without first affixing a stamp, $100.

Penalty recoverable from any Telegraph for receiving or transmitting any message without the proper adhesive stamp being affixed to a written copy thereof, $10.

General Remarks. In all cases, the person affixing the stamp should write upon it the initials of his name and the date when used.

The law does not designate which of the parties to an instrument shall furnish the necessary stamp, nor does the Commissioner of Internal Revenue assume to determine that it shall be supplied by one party rather than by another; but if an instrument subject to stamp duty is issued without having the necessary stamps affixed thereto, it cannot be recorded, or admitted, or used as evidence, in any court, until a legal stamp or stamps, denoting the amount of tax, shall have been affixed as prescribed by law, and the person who thus issues it is liable to a penalty, if he omits the stamps with an intent to evade the provisions of the internal revenue act.

No stamp is necessary upon an instrument executed prior to October 1, 1862, to make it admissible in evidence, or to entitle it to record.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand, or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "promissory notes."

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law may be affixed and cancelled by either of them; and "when more than one signature is affixed to the same paper, one or more stamps may be affixed thereto, representing the whole amount of the stamp required for such signatures."

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required; and, whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers—such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

POLITICAL CLASSIFICATION OF CONGRESS.

Were the States all reconstructed and represented in Congress, the number of Senators would be 74, and the number of members of the House of Representatives 243. But as Mississippi, Texas, and Virginia are not represented, the present number is, in the Senate 66, and in the House of Representatives, 225.

In the Fortieth Congress, the members are politically classified as follows: In the Senate—Republicans, 54; Democrats, 12; Republican majority, 42. In the House—Republicans, 174; Democrats, 48—3 vacancies; Republican majority, 126.

In the Forty-first Congress, the members elect are: In the Senate—Republicans, 56; Democrats, 11—7 vacancies; Republican majority, 45. In the House—Republicans, 132; Democrats, 74; Republican majority, 58,—37 vacancies, or not yet elected.

NATIONAL PLATFORMS OF 1868.
REPUBLICAN, AT CHICAGO, MAY.

The National Republican party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Chicago, on the 21st of May, 1866, make the following declaration of principles:

1. We congratulate the country on the assured success of the reconstruction policy of Congress, as evinced by the adoption, in a majority of the States lately in rebellion, of constitutions securing equal civil and political rights to all; and it is the duty of the Government to sustain those institutions and to prevent the people of such States from being remitted to a state of anarchy.

2. The guaranty by Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude, and of justice, and must be maintained; while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States properly belongs to the people of those States.

3. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime; and the national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the uttermost good faith to all creditors at home and abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted.

4. It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized, and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.

5. The national debt, contracted as it has been for the preservation of the Union for all time to come, should be extended over a fair period for redemption; and it is the duty of Congress to reduce the rate of interest thereon, whenever it can be honestly done.

6. That the best policy to diminish our burden of debt is to so improve our credit that capitalists will seek to loan us money at lower rates of interest than we now pay, and must continue to pay so long as repudiation, partial or total, open or covert, is threatened or suspected.

7. The Government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy; and the corruptions which have been so shamefully nursed and fostered by Andrew Johnson call loudly for radical reform.

8. We profoundly deplore the untimely and tragic death of Abraham Lincoln, and regret the accession to the Presidency of Andrew Johnson, who has acted treacherously to the people who elected him and the cause he was pledged to support; who has usurped high legislative and judicial functions; who has refused to execute the laws; who has used his high office to induce other officers to ignore and violate the laws; who has employed his executive powers to render insecure the property, the peace, liberty and life, of the citizen; who has abused the pardoning power; who has denounced the national legislature as unconstitutional; who has persistently and corruptly resisted, by every means in his power, every proper attempt at the reconstruction of the States lately in rebellion; who has perverted the public patronage into an engine of wholesale corruption; and who has been justly impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, and properly pronounced guilty thereof by the vote of thirty-five Senators.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, that because a man is once a subject he is always so, must be resisted at every hazard by the United States, as a relic of feudal times, not authorized by the laws of nations, and at war with our national honor and independence. Naturalized citizens are entitled to protection in all their rights of citizenship, as though they were native-born; and no citizen of the United States, native or naturalized, must be liable to arrest and imprisonment by any foreign power for acts done or words spoken in this country; and, if so arrested and imprisoned, it is the duty of the Government to interfere in his behalf.

10. Of all who were faithful in the trials of the late war, there were none entitled to more especial honor than the brave soldiers and seamen who endured the hardships of campaign and cruise, and imperilled their lives in the service of the country; the bounties and pensions provided by the laws for these brave defenders of the nation are obligations never to be forgotten; the widows and orphans of the gallant dead are the wards of the people—a sacred legacy bequeathed to the nation's protecting care.

11. Foreign immigration, which in the past has added so much to the wealth, development, and resources, and increase of power to this republic, the asylum of the oppressed of all nations, should be fostered and encouraged by a liberal and just policy.

12. This convention declares itself in sympathy with all oppressed peoples struggling for their rights.

13. That we highly commend the spirit of magnanimity and forbearance with which men who have served in the rebellion, but who now frankly and honestly co-operate with us in restoring the peace of the country and reconstructing the southern State governments upon the basis of impartial justice and equal rights, are received back into the communion of the loyal people; and we favor the removal of the disqualifications and restrictions imposed upon the late rebels in the same measure as the spirit of disloyalty will die out, and as may be consistent with the safety of the loyal people.

14. That we recognize the great principles laid down in the immortal Declaration of Independence, as the true foundation of democratic government; and we hail with gladness every effort toward making these principles a living reality on every inch of American soil.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' NATIONAL CONVENTION AT CHICAGO, MAY.

1. Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors, steadfast now as ever to the Union and the flag, and fully recognizing the claims of General Ulysses S. Grant to the confidence of the American people, and believing that its victories under his guidance in war will be illustrated by him in peace by such measures as shall secure the fruits of our exertions and the restoration of the Union upon a loyal basis, we declare it as our deliberate conviction that he is the choice of the soldiers and sailors of the Union for the office of President of the United States.

2. That in the maintenance of those principles which underlie our Government, and for which we fought during four years, we pledge our earnest and active support to the Republican party as the only political organization which, in our judgment, is true to the principles of loyalty and equality before the law.

3. That speaking for ourselves and the soldiers and sailors who imperilled their lives to preserve the Union, we believe that the impeachment of Andrew Johnson by the House of Representatives, for high crimes and misdemeanors in office, and his trial by the United States Senate, have presented unmistakable proofs of his guilt, and that whatever may be the judgment of the tribunal before which he is arraigned, the verdict of guilty has been rendered by the people, and we regard any Senator who has voted for acquittal as falling short of the proper discharge of his duty in this hour of the nation's trial, and as unworthy of the confidence of a brave and loyal people.

4. That the soldiers and sailors recognize no difference between native and adopted citizens, and they demand that the Government shall protect naturalized citizens abroad as well as those of native birth.

GENERAL GRANT'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 29, 1868.

General JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, President National Union Republican Convention:

In formally accepting the nomination of the National Union Republican Convention of the 21st of May instant, it seems proper that some statement of views beyond the mere acceptance of the nomination should be expressed.

The proceedings of the convention were marked by wisdom, moderation, and patriotism, and I believe express the feelings of the great mass of those who sustained the country through its recent trials. I endorse their resolutions. If elected to the office of President of the United States, it will be my endeavor to administer all the laws in good faith, with economy, and with the view of giving peace, quiet and protection everywhere. In times like the present it is impossible, or at least eminently improper, to lay down a policy to be adhered to, right or wrong, through an administration of four years. New political issues, not foreseen, are constantly arising; the views of the public on old ones are constantly changing, and a purely administrative officer should always be left free to execute the will of the people. I always have respected that will and always shall.

Peace and universal prosperity, its sequence, with economy of administration, will lighten the burden of taxation, while it constantly reduces the national debt. Let us have peace.

With great respect, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT.

MR. COLFAX'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

WASHINGTON, May 30, 1868.

Hon. J. R. HAWLEY, President National Union Republican Convention:

DEAR SIR; The platform adopted by the patriotic convention over which you presided, and the resolutions which so happily supplement it, so entirely agree with my views as to a just national policy, that my thanks are due to the delegates, as much for this clear and auspicious declaration of principles as for the nomination with which I have been honored, and which I gratefully accept.

When a great rebellion, which imperilled the national existence, was at last overthrown, the duty of all others devolving on those intrusted with the responsibilities of legislation evidently was to require that the revolted States should be readmitted to participation in the Government against which they had warred only on such a basis as to increase and fortify, not to weaken or endanger, the strength of the nation.

Certainly no one ought to have claimed that they should be readmitted under such rules that their organization as States could ever again be used, as at the opening of the war, to defy the national authority, or to destroy the national unity. This principle has been the pole star of those who have inflexibly insisted on the congressional policy your convention so cordially endorsed. Baffled by executive opposition, and by persistent refusals to accept any plan of reconstruction proffered by Congress, justice and public safety at last combined to teach us that only by an enlargement of suffrage in those States could the desired end be attained, and that it was even more safe to give the ballot to those who loved the Union than to those who had sought ineffectually to destroy it. The assured success of this legislation is being written on the adamant of history, and will be our triumphant vindication. More clearly, too, than ever before does the nation now recognize that the greatest glory of a republic is, that it throws the shield of its protection over the humblest and weakest of its people, and vindicates the rights of the poor and powerless as faithfully as those of the rich and powerful.

I rejoice, too, in this convention, to find in your platform the frank and fearless avowal that the naturalized citizens must be protected abroad, "at every hazard, as though they were native-born." Our whole people are foreigners or descendants of foreigners. Our fathers established by arms their right to be called a nation. It remains for us to establish the right to welcome to our shores all who are willing by oaths of allegiance to become American citizens. Perpetual allegiance, as claimed abroad, is only another name for perpetual bondage, and would make all slaves to the soil where first they saw the light. Our national cemeteries prove how faithfully these oaths of fidelity to their adopted land have been sealed in the life blood of thousands upon thousands. Should we not then be faithless to the dead if we did not protect their living brethren in the enjoyment of that nationality, for which, side by side with the native-born, our soldiers of foreign birth laid down their lives.

It was fitting, too, that the representatives of a party which had proved so true to national duty in time of war should speak so clearly in time of peace for the maintenance untarnished of national honor, national credit, and good faith as regards its debt, the cost of our national existence.

I do not need to extend this reply by further comment on a platform which has elicited such hearty approval throughout the land. The debt of gratitude it acknowledges to the brave men who saved the Union from destruction—the frank approval of amnesty based on repentance and loyalty—the demand for the most thorough economy and honesty in the Government—the sympathy of the party of liberty with all throughout the world who long for the liberty we here enjoy—and the recognition of the sublime principles of the Declaration of Independence, are worthy of the organization on whose banners they are to be written in the coming contest.

Its past record cannot be blotted out or forgotten. If there had been no Republican party, slavery would to-day cast its baleful shadow over the republic. If there had been no Republican party, a free press and free speech would be as unknown from the Potomac to the Rio Grande as ten years ago. If the Republican party could have been stricken from existence when the banner of rebellion was unfurled, and when the response of "no coercion" was heard at the North, we would have had no nation to-day. But for the Republican party daring to risk the odium of tax and draft laws, our flag could not have been kept flying on the field till the long-looked-for victory came. Without a Republican party, the civil rights bill, the guarantee of equality under the law to the humble and defenceless as well as to the strong, would not be to-day upon our national statute-book.

With such inspirations from the past, and following the example of the founders of the republic, who called the victorious general of the Revolution to preside over the land his triumphs had saved from its enemies, I cannot doubt that our labors will be crowned with success. And it will be a success that will bring restored hope, confidence, prosperity and progress, South as well as North, West as well as East, and above all, the blessings under Providence of national concord and peace.

Very truly, yours,
SCHUYLER COLFAX.

The nomination of General Grant was made on the first ballot. That of Mr. Colfax occurred on the fifth ballot. The vote for Mr. Colfax on each ballot was as follows:—1st, 115; 2d, 145; 3d, 165; 4th, 186; 5th, 541. The total vote was 648.

DEMOCRATIC, AT NEW YORK, JULY.

The Democratic party, in National Convention assembled, reposing its trust in the intelligence, patriotism, and discriminating justice of the people, standing upon the Constitution as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the Government, and the guarantee of the liberties of the citizen, and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled, for all time to come, by the war or the voluntary action of the Southern States in constitutional conventions assembled, and never to be renewed or reagitated, do with the return of peace, demand:

First—Immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union under the Constitution, and of civil government to the American people.

Second—Amnesty for all past political offences, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens.

Third—Payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable; all moneys drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government, economically administered, being honestly applied to such payment, and where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and in justice, to be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

Fourth—Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including Government bonds and other public securities.

Fifth—One currency for the Government and the people, the laborer and the office-holder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bondholder.

Sixth—Economy in the administration of the Government; the reduction of the standing army and navy; the abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau and all political instrumentalities designed to secure negro supremacy; simplification of the system, and discontinuance of inquisitorial modes of assessing and collecting Internal Revenue, so that the burden of taxation may be equalized and lessened; the credit of the Government and the currency made good; the repeal of all enactments for enrolling the State militia into national forces in time of peace; and a tariff for revenue upon foreign imports, and such equal taxation under the Internal Revenue laws as will afford incidental protection to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

Seventh—Reform of abuses in the administration, the expulsion of corrupt men from office, the abrogation of useless offices, the restoration of rightful authority to, and the independence of, the executive and judicial departments of the Government, the subordination of the military to the civil power, to the end that the usurpations of Congress and the despotism of the sword may cease.

Eighth—Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad, the assertion of American nationality which shall command the respect of foreign powers, and furnish an example and encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty, and individual rights and the maintenance of the rights of naturalized citizens against the absolute doctrine of immutable allegiance, and the claims of foreign powers to punish them for alleged crime committed beyond their jurisdiction.

In demanding these measures and reforms, we arraign the Radical party for its disregard of right, and the unparalleled oppression and tyranny which have marked its career.

After the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both Houses of Congress to prosecute the war exclusively for the maintenance of the Government and the preservation of the Union under the Constitution, it has repeatedly violated that most sacred pledge under which alone was rallied that noble volunteer army which carried our flag to victory. Instead of restoring the Union it has, so far as in its power, dissolved it, and subjected ten States, in time of profound peace, to military despotism and negro supremacy. It has nullified there the right of trial by jury; it has abolished the habeas corpus, that most sacred writ of liberty; it has overthrown the freedom of speech and the press; it has substituted arbitrary seizures and arrests, and military trials and secret star-chamber inquisitions for the constitutional tribunals; it has disregarded in time of peace the right of the people to be free from searches and seizures; it has entered the post and telegraph offices, and even the private rooms of individuals, and seized their private papers and letters without any specific charge or notice of affidavit, as required by the organic law; it has converted the American Capitol into a Bastille; it has established a system of spies and official espionage to which no constitutional monarchy of Europe would now dare to resort; it has abolished the right of appeal on important constitutional questions to the supreme judicial tribunals, and threatens to curtail or destroy its original jurisdiction, which is irrevocably vested by the Constitution, while the learned Chief Justice has been subjected to the most atrocious calumnies, merely because he would not prostitute his high office to the support of the false and partizan charges preferred against the President. Its corruption and extravagance have exceeded anything known in history, and, by its frauds and monopolies, it has nearly doubled the burden of the debt created by the war. It has stripped the President of his constitutional power of appointment, even of his own cabinet. Under its repeated assaults, the pillars of the Government are rocking on their base, and should it succeed in November next and inaugurate its President, we will meet as a subjected and conquered people, amid the ruins of liberty and the scattered fragments of the Constitution.

And we do declare and resolve that ever since the people of the United States threw off all subjection to the British Crown, the privilege and trust of suffrage have belonged to the several States, and have been granted, regulated and controlled exclusively by the political power of each State respectively, and that any attempt by Congress, on any pretext whatever, to deprive any State of this right, or interfere with its exercise, is a flagrant usurpation of power which can find no warrant in the Constitution, and, if sanctioned by the people, will subvert our form of government, and can only end in a single centralized and consolidated government, in which the separate existence of the States will be entirely absorbed, and an unqualified despotism be established in place of a Federal union of co-equal States.

And that we regard the reconstruction acts (so called) of Congress, as such, as usurpations and unconstitutional, revolutionary, and void. That our soldiers and sailors, who carried the flag of our country to victory against a most gallant and determined foe, must ever be gratefully remembered, and all the guarantees given in their favor must be faithfully carried into execution.

That the public lands should be distributed as widely as possible among the people, and should be disposed of either under the pre-emption of homestead lands, or sold in reasonable quantities, and to none but actual occupants, at the minimum price established by the Government. When grants of the public lands may be allowed, necessary for the encouragement of important public improvements, the proceeds of the sale of such lands, and not the lands themselves, should be so applied.

That the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, in exercising the power of his high office in resisting the aggressions of Congress upon the constitutional rights of the States and the people, is entitled to the gratitude of the whole American people, and in behalf of the Democratic party we tender him our thanks for his patriotic efforts in that regard.

Upon this platform the Democratic party appeal to every patriot, including all the Conservative element and all who desire to support the Constitution and restore the Union, forgetting all past differences of opinion, to unite with us in the present great struggle for the liberties of the people; and that to all such, to whatever party they may have heretofore belonged, we extend the right hand of fellowship, and hail all such co-operating with us as friends and brethren.

Resolved. That this convention sympathise cordially with the workingmen of the United States in their efforts to protect the rights and interests of the laboring classes of the country.

[Offered by Mr. Vallandigham, and adopted the last day of the convention].

Resolved. That the thanks of this convention are tendered to Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, for the justice, dignity, and impartiality with which he presided over the court of impeachment on the trial of President Andrew Johnson.

[This last was offered by Mr. Kernan, of New York, after the nominations and immediately before the final adjournment, and was carried by acclamation.]

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS, AT NEW YORK, JULY.

Whereas a mutual interchange of views between members of this convention and delegates to the Democratic National Convention, has fully confirmed us in our previously entertained opinion of the purity and patriotism of that body, and fully justifies the belief that in the selection of candidates and in the construction of a platform, the Convention will be governed by the spirit of the address adopted by this body on the 6th instant; therefore, relying upon this belief,

Resolved. That we will support its nominees for President and Vice President of the United States, and that on our return home we will induce our late comrades in arms to unite with us in yielding to them a united support.

[Reported from the Committee on Resolutions, and adopted—yeas 287, nays 7].

Resolved. That the declaration of principles adopted by the Democratic National Convention be and the same is hereby ratified and approved, and that the secretary communicate to that Convention a copy of this resolution forthwith.

Resolved, That the President of the Convention appoint a committee of five to wait upon General George B. McClellan, and assure him that although we are called upon by duty to support the nominee for the Presidency of the National Democratic party now in Convention, our confidence in him is unimpaired, and that our love for him is as ardent as ever, and that the highest honor that this Convention could confer upon him would but poorly express our esteem for him. Also that the said committee be requested to ask him to come and assist us with all his ability during the coming campaign.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention, and of all patriotic and right-minded citizens, are due to the President of the United States for removing Edwin M. Stanton from the War Department of the Government, a position which the said Stanton has disgraced and dishonored ever since his appointment to that office, by his many acts of cruelty—both to the Union and Confederate soldiers—and by his official acts of tyranny; and that the soldiers and sailors should on all occasions, meet him with the same feelings of outraged dignity and patriotism that he was received with, on an ever-memorable occasion, in the city of Washington, from that great and glorious soldier—General William Tecumseh Sherman.

[The last three resolutions were offered in the Convention, and adopted unanimously, under a suspension of the rule requiring the reference of all resolutions to the committee on resolutions].

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

UTICA, August 4, 1868.

GENTLEMEN: When, in the city of New York, on the 11th of July, in the presence of a vast multitude, on behalf of the National Democratic Convention, you tendered to me its unanimous nomination as their candidate for the office of President of the United States, I stated I had "no words adequate to express my gratitude for the good will and kindness which that body had shown to me. Its nomination was unsought and unexpected. It was my ambition to take an active part, from which I am now excluded, in the great struggle going on for the restoration of good government, of peace and prosperity to our country. But I have been caught up by the whelming tide which is bearing us on to a great political change, and I find myself unable to resist its pressure.

"You have also given to me a copy of the resolutions put forth by the Convention, showing its position upon all the great questions which now agitate the country. As the presiding officer of that Convention, I am familiar with their scope and import; as one of its members, I am a party to their terms. They are in accord with my views, and I stand upon them in the contest upon which we are now entering, and I shall strive to carry them out in future, wherever I may be placed, in public or private life."

I then stated that I would send you these words of acceptance in a letter, as is the customary form. I see no reason, upon reflection, to change or qualify the terms of my approval of the resolutions of the Convention.

I have delayed the more formal act of communicating to you in writing what I thus publicly said, for the purpose of seeing what light the action of Congress would throw upon the interests of the country. Its acts since the adjournment of the Convention show an alarm lest a change of political power will give to the people what they ought to have, a clear statement of what has been done with the money drawn from them during the past eight years. Thoughtful men feel that there have been wrongs in the financial management which have been kept from the public knowledge.

The congressional party has not only allied itself with military power, which is to be brought to bear directly upon the elections in many States, but it also holds itself in perpetual session, with the avowed purpose of making such laws as it shall see fit, in view of the elections which will take place within a few weeks. It did not, therefore, adjourn, but took a recess, to meet again if its partizan interests shall demand its reassembling.

Never before in the history of our country has Congress thus taken a menacing attitude toward its electors. Under its influence some of the States organized by its agents are proposing to deprive the people of the right to vote for Presidential electors, and the first bold steps are taken to destroy the rights of suffrage. It is not strange, therefore, that thoughtful men see in such action the proof that there is, with those who shape the policy of the Republican party, motives stronger and deeper than the mere wish to hold political power; that there is a dread of some exposure which drives them on to acts so desperate and so impolitic.

Many of the ablest leaders and journals of the Republican party have openly deplored the violence of congressional action, and its tendency to keep up discord in our country. The great interests of our Union demand peace, order, and a return to those industrial pursuits without which we cannot maintain the faith or honor of our Government. The minds of business men are perplexed by uncertainties. The hours of toil of our laborers are lengthened by the costs of living made by the direct and indirect exactions of Government. Our people are harassed by the heavy and frequent demands of the tax gatherer.

Without distinction of party, there is a strong feeling in favor of that line of action which shall restore order and confidence, and shall lift off the burdens which now hinder and vex the industry of the country. Yet at this moment those in power have thrown into the senate chamber and congressional hall new elements of discord and violence. Men have been admitted as representatives of some of the Southern States, with the declaration upon their lips that they cannot live in the States they claim to represent without military protection.

These men are to make laws for the North as well as the South. These men, who, a few days since were seeking as suppliants that Congress would give them power within their respective States, are to-day the masters and controllers of the actions of those bodies. Entering them with minds filled with passions, their first demands have been that Congress shall look upon the States from which they come as in conditions of civil war; that the majority of the populations, embracing their intelligence, shall be treated as public enemies; that military forces shall be kept up at the cost of the people of the North, and that there shall be no peace and order at the South save that which is made by arbitrary power.

Every intelligent man knows that these men owe their seats in Congress to the disorder in the South; every man knows that they not only owe their present positions to disorder, but that every motive springing from the love of power, of gain, of a desire for vengeance, prompts them to keep the South in anarchy. While that exists, they are independent of the wills or wishes of their fellow-citizens. While confusion reigns, they are the dispensers of the profits and the honors which grow out of a government of mere force. These men are now placed in positions where they can not only urge their views of policy, but where they can enforce them.

When others shall be admitted in this manner from the remaining Southern States, although they will have in truth no constituents, they will have more power in the Senate than a majority of the people of this Union living in nine of the great States. In vain the wisest members of the Republican party protested against the policy that led to this result.

While the chiefs of the late rebellion have submitted to the results of the war, and are now quietly engaged in useful pursuits for the support of themselves and their families, and are trying by the force of their example to lead back the people of the South to the order and industry not only essential to their well-being, but to the greatness and prosperity of our common country, we see that those who, without ability or influence have been thrown by the agitations of civil convulsion into positions of honor and profit, are striving to keep alive the passions to which they owe their elevation. And they clamorously insist that they are the only friends of our Union—a Union that can only have a sure foundation in fraternal regard, and a common desire to promote the peace, the order, and the happiness of all sections of our land.

Events in Congress since the adjournment of the Convention have vastly increased the importance of a political victory by those who are seeking to bring back economy, simplicity, and justice in the administration of our National affairs. Many Republicans have heretofore clung to their party who have regretted the extremes of violence to which it has run. They have cherished a faith that, while the action of their political friends has been mistaken, their motives have been good. They must now see that the Republican party is in that condition that it cannot carry out a wise and peaceful policy, whatever its motives may be.

It is a misfortune, not only to a country, but to a governing party itself, when its action is unchecked by any form of opposition. It has been the misfortune of the Republican party that the events of the past few years have given it so much power that it has been able to shackle the Executive, to trammel the judiciary, and to carry out the views of the most unwise and violent of its members.

When this state of things exists in any party, it has ever been found that the sober judgments of its ablest leaders do not control. There is hardly an able man who helped to build up the Republican organization who has not within the past three years warned it against its excesses, who has not been borne down and forced to give up his convictions of what the interests of the country called for; or, if too patriotic to do this, who has not been driven from its ranks. If this has been the case heretofore, what will be its action now, with this new infusion of men who, without a decent respect for the views of those who had just given them their positions, begin their legislative career with calls for arms, with demands that their States shall be regarded as in a condition of civil war, and with a declaration that they are ready and anxious to degrade the President of the United States whenever they can persuade or force Congress to bring forward new articles of impeachment?

The Republican party, as well as we, are interested in putting some check upon this violence. It must be clear to every thinking man that a division of political power tends to check the violence of party action, and to assure the peace and good order of society. The election of a Democratic executive and a majority of Democratic members to the House of Representatives would not give to that party organization the power to make sudden or violent changes, but it would serve to check those extreme measures which have been deplored by the best men of both political organizations. The result would most certainly lead to that peaceful restoration of the Union and re-establishment of fraternal relationship which the country desires. I am sure that the best men of the Republican party deplore as deeply as I do the spirit of violence shown by those recently admitted to seats in Congress from the South. The condition of civil war which they contemplate, must be abhorrent to every right-thinking man.

I have no mere personal wishes which mislead my judgment in regard to the pending election. No man who has weighed and measured the duties of the office of President of the United States can fail to be impressed with the cares and toils of him who is to meet its demands. It is not merely to float with popular currents without a policy or a purpose. On the contrary, while our Constitution gives just weight to the public will, its distinguishing feature is that it seeks to protect the rights of minorities. Its greatest glory is that it puts restraints upon power. It gives force and form to those maxims and principles of civil liberty for which the martyrs of freedom have struggled through ages. It declares the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses and papers, against unreasonable searches and seizures. That Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people to petition for redress of grievances. It secures the right of a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury.

No man can rightfully enter upon the duties of the presidential office unless he is not only willing to carry out the wishes of the people expressed in a constitutional way, but is also prepared to stand up for the rights of minorities. He must be ready to uphold the free exercise of religion. He must denounce measures which would wrong personal or home rights, or the religious conscience of the humblest citizen of the land. He must maintain, without distinction of creed or nationality, all the privileges of American citizenship.

The experience of every public man who has been faithful to his trust, teaches him that no one can do the duties of the office of President, unless he is ready, not only to undergo the falsehoods and abuse of the bad, but to suffer from the censure of the good who are misled by prejudices and misrepresentations.

There are no attractions in such positions which deceive my judgment, when I say that a great change is going on in the public mind. The mass of the Republican party are more thoughtful, temperate, and just, than they were during the excitement which attended the progress and close of the civil war.

As the energy of the democratic party springs from their devotion to their cause and not to their candidates, I may with propriety speak of the fact, that never in the political history of our country has the action of any like body been hailed with such universal and wide-spread enthusiasm, as that which has been shown in relation to the position of the National Democratic Convention. With this the candidates had nothing to do. Had any others of those named been selected, this spirit would have been perhaps more marked. The zeal and energy of the conservative masses spring from a desire to make a change of political policy, and from the confidence that they can carry out their purpose.

In this faith they are strengthened by the co-operation of the great body of those who served in the Union army and navy during the war. Having given nearly sixteen thousand commissions to the officers of that army, I know their views and wishes. They demand the Union for which they fought. The largest meeting of these gallant soldiers that ever assembled was held in New York and indorsed the action of the National Convention. In words instinct with meaning, they call upon the Government to stop in its policy of hate, discord, and disunion, and in terms of fervid eloquence they demand the restoration of the rights and liberties of the American people.

When there is such accord between those who proved themselves brave and self-sacrificing in war, and those who are thoughtful and patriotic in council, I cannot doubt we shall gain a political triumph which will restore our Union, bring back peace and prosperity to our land, and will give us once more the blessings of a wise, economical and honest Government.

I am, gentlemen, truly yours, &c.,

HORATIO SEYMOUR.

To Gen. G. W. MORGAN, and others, Committee, &c., &c.

Governor Seymour was unanimously nominated on the 23d ballot.

GENERAL BLAIR'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, July 13, 1868.

General GEORGE W. MORGAN, Chairman Committee National Democratic Convention.

GENERAL: I take the earliest opportunity of replying to your letter, notifying me of my nomination for Vice President of the United States by the National Democratic Convention, recently held in the city of New York.

I accept without hesitation the nomination tendered in a manner so gratifying, and give you and the committee my thanks for the very kind and complimentary language in which you have conveyed to me the decision of the convention.

I have carefully read the resolutions adopted by the convention, and most cordially concur in every principle and sentiment they announce.

My opinion upon all of the questions which discriminate the great contending parties have been freely expressed on all suitable occasions, and I do not deem it necessary at this time to reiterate them.

The issues upon which the contest turns are clear, and cannot be obscured or distorted by the sophistries of our adversaries. They all resolve themselves into the old and ever-renewing struggle of a few men to absorb the political power of the nation. This effort, under every conceivable name and disguise, has always characterized the opponents of the democratic party, but at no time has the attempt assumed a shape so open and daring as in this contest. The adversaries of free and constitutional government, in defiance of the express language of the Constitution, have erected a military despotism in ten of the States of the Union, have taken from the President the powers vested in him by the supreme law, and have deprived the Supreme Court of its jurisdiction. The right of trial by jury, and the great writ of right, the habeas corpus—shields of safety for every citizen, and which have descended to us from the earliest traditions of our ancestors, and which our revolutionary fathers sought to secure to their posterity forever in the fundamental charter of our liberties—have been ruthlessly trampled under foot by the fragment of a Congress. Whole States and communities of people of our own race have been attainted, convicted, condemned, and deprived of their rights as citizens, without presentment, or trial, or witnesses, but by congressional enactment of ex post facto laws, and in defiance of the constitutional prohibition denying even to a full and legal Congress the authority to pass any bill of attainder or ex post facto law. The same usurping authority has substituted as electors in the place of the men of our own race, thus illegally attainted and disfranchised, a host of ignorant negroes, who are supported in idleness with the public money, and combined together to strip the white race of their birthright, through the management of freedmen's bureaus and the emissaries of conspirators in other States: and, to complete the oppression, the military power of the nation has been placed at their disposal, in order to make this barbarism supreme.

The military leader under whose prestige this usurping Congress has taken refuge since the condemnation of their schemes by the free people of the North in the elections of the last year, and whom they have selected as their candidate to shield themselves from the result of their own wickedness and crime, has announced his acceptance of the nomination, and his willingness to maintain their usurpations over eight millions of white people at the South, fixed to the earth with his bayonets. He exclaims, "Let us have peace." "Peace reigns in Warsaw" was the announcement which heralded the doom of the liberties of a nation. "The empire is peace," exclaimed Bonaparte, when freedom and its defenders expired under the sharp edge of his sword. The peace to which Grant invites us is the peace of despotism and death.

Those who seek to restore the Constitution by executing the will of the people—condemning the reconstruction acts, already pronounced in the elections of last year, and which will, I am convinced, be still more emphatically expressed by the election of the Democratic candidate as the President of the United States, are denounced as revolutionists by the partizans of this vindictive Congress. Negro suffrage, which the popular vote of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Connecticut, and other States have condemned as expressly against the letter of the Constitution, must stand, because their Senators and Representatives have willed it. If the people shall again condemn these atrocious measures by the election of the Democratic candidate for President, they must not be disturbed, although decided to be unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and although the President is sworn to maintain and support the Constitution. The will of a fraction of Congress, reinforced with its partizan emissaries sent to the South and supported there by soldiery, must stand against the will of the people and the decision of the Supreme Court, and the solemn oath of the President to maintain and support the Constitution.

It is revolutionary to execute the will of the people! It is revolutionary to execute the judgment of the Supreme Court! It is revolutionary in the President to keep inviolate his oath to sustain the Constitution! This false construction of the vital principle of our Government is the last resort of those who would have their arbitrary reconstruction sway and supersede our time-honored institutions. The nation will say the Constitution must be restored, and the will of the people again prevail. The appeal to the peaceful ballot to attain this end is not war, is not revolution. They make war and revolution who attempt to arrest this quiet mode of putting aside military despotism and the usurpations of a fragment of a Congress, asserting absolute power over that benign system of regulated liberty left us by our fathers. This must be allowed to take its course. This is the only road to peace. It will come with the election of the Democratic candidate, and not with the election of that mailed warrior, whose bayonets are now at the throats of eight millions of people in the South, to compel them to support him as a candidate for the Presidency, and to submit to the domination of an alien race of semi-barbarous men. No perversion of truth or audacity of misrepresentation can exceed that which hails this candidate in arms as an angel of peace.

I am, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,

FRANK P. BLAIR.

STATES AND TERRITORIES.

1. ALABAMA.

Capital, Montgomery. Area, 50,722 square miles. Population, (1866), 946,244.

This state was settled by the French at Mobile in 1713. It was a part of Georgia until 1802, and then included in Mississippi until March 3, 1817. It was admitted into the Union as a state, by act of Congress, December 19, 1819. An ordinance of secession was passed at a state convention, January 11, 1861, and declared null and void by another state convention, September 25, 1865.

A provisional Governor was appointed by the President June 21, 1865 and withdrawn in favor of the state government, December 18, of the same year. This state was included in the 3d military district by act of Congress, March 2, 1867, and by an order of the President issued, March 15, was placed under the command of Maj. Gen. John Pope. He issued orders, August 31, for the election of delegates to a state convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for the state. Delegates were appointed who assembled in convention, November 5, 1867, and prepared a constitution which was submitted to the people, February 4, 1868. This constitution received a majority of the votes cast, but not a majority of all the registered votes. The state was admitted to representation in Congress, by an act passed in both houses over the President's veto, June 25, 1868.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, and Attorney General, are chosen by the electors of the state on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. All hold office for two years except the Auditor, who is elected for four years. The House of Representatives must not exceed 100 members apportioned according to population, but each county is to have one member. The Senators must be not less than one-fourth nor more than one-third of the number of representatives, to be elected from Senatorial Districts which are arranged according to population, and each district has one senator. Electors are eligible as representatives, but senators must in addition be 27 years of age. Term of office of representatives 2 years, and of senators 4 years.

In all elections by the people, the vote is by ballot. All male citizens 21 years of age, who have resided in the state six months next preceding an election and have taken the oath to support the constitution and laws of the United States and Alabama, are entitled to vote.

The constitution provides that all persons resident in the state, born in the United States or naturalized, who shall have legally declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, shall be citizens of the State of Alabama. Temporary absence from the state does not cause a forfeiture of residence.

Militia. All able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 years are liable to military duty. The Governor is commander-in-chief. One Major General and three Brigadier Generals are appointed by the governor by and with the consent of the senate. The Adjutant-General and other staff officers are appointed by the Governor. The militia is divided into two classes, volunteer force and reserve force. Officers and men receive no pay or emoluments when not in active service.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, Chancery Courts, Courts of Probate, and such inferior courts as the General Assembly may establish from time to time. The Supreme Court which has appellate jurisdiction only, must be held at the seat of government twice every year. The constitution requires that the state be divided into circuits, each of which shall include not less than three or more than eight counties. A judge must be chosen for each circuit, who shall after his election reside in the circuit for which he shall have been chosen. Circuit Courts are held in each county twice every year.

Judges of the Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, and Court of Chancery can hold no office (except judicial office) of profit or trust under the State or United States, during the term of office which is six years. The Circuit Court has original jurisdiction in all matters civil and criminal within the state, not otherwise excepted by the constitution, but in civil cases only when the matter or sum in controversy exceeds fifty dollars. Judges of the several courts, justices and constables, are elected by the people in each county. The Clerk of the Supreme Court is appointed by the judges. Clerks of Circuit and inferior courts are appointed by the people for six years. The attorney general must reside at the seat of government. A solicitor must be appointed for each county.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

Circuit Judge, Noah H. Swayne. District Judge, Richard Busted. District Attorney, Northern and Middle Districts, F. Bugbee. Southern District, L. V. B. Martin. Marshal, Northern District, Edward E. Douglass. Middle and Southern Districts, R. W. Healey.

EDUCATION.

By the act of February 23, 1866, it was provided that the sum of $70,000 be loaned to the University of Alabama, for the purpose of erecting a building for that institution, to replace the one destroyed by fire in 1865. The plan adopted for the University building, embraced four sides of a square, with rooms for public halls, recitations, libraries, laboratories, cabinets, dormitories, hospitals, and a well organized boarding department.

Each side of the square will be 330 feet long, and the interior court will measure 250 feet on every side. The building is of the Tudor Gothic style, mostly three stories high; the middle portion of the front and rear sides are four stories. The doors of all the rooms are glazed, and open out on wide galleries, which surround each floor of the building on the interior and court side. The galleries, supported below by pressed brick arcades, and above by cast iron colonnades, extend more than 1,000 feet on each floor, and in total length, more than one mile.

A part of the building was completed ready for occupation in 1868. This included ten spacious recitation rooms with class libraries adjoining; forty-seven dormitories, accommodating four students each; one large mess hall, capable of seating five hundred persons, and necessary rooms for the boarding department.

The President of the University has been zealously and actively engaged in efforts to collect a library and scientific apparatus.

According to the census report of 1860, there were then in Alabama 17 colleges with 2120 students, and 206 academies and private schools. Most of these were suspended during the war.

The constitution provides that Common Schools and other educational institutions shall be under the management of a Board of Education consisting of a Superintendent of Public Instruction, and two members from each congressional district. The Governor is ex-officio a member of the Board. Members of the Board hold office for four years, one-half elected biennially. The Board of Education exercises full legislative powers in reference to educational institutions, and its acts when approved by the Governor have the force of law. The Board must establish in each township or other school district, one or more schools which all the children of the state between the ages of 5 and 21 years may attend free of charge.

The Board is also a Board of Regents of the State University. It meets annually at the seat of government at the same time as the General Assembly, but must not continue in session more than twenty days. Proceeds of public lands, of estates of persons deceased without will or heir, and all money paid as exemption from military duty, constitute the school fund, the interest and income to be inviolably appropriated to educational purposes. In addition to the above, one-fifth of the aggregate annual revenue of the state must be devoted to public schools. A specific annual tax is to be laid on railroads, navigation, bank and insurance corporations, which is also to be devoted to maintaining public schools.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The act establishing the Insane Hospital was passed in February, 1852, and the building opened for the reception of patients in July, 1861. The building with the grounds cost $250,000. The hospital is under the charge of an efficient officer and is in a prosperous condition.

Every effort is made in the treatment of patients, to improve their intellectual condition; and, if possible, restore them to full mental health. This hospital is open to all classes of patients. Those that are able to pay are charged at a moderate rate. For those who are unable to pay, an allowance of $4 per week is made by the state.

The establishment, as now conducted, will afford accommodations for at least 350 persons, or about one-half of those in the state who are afflicted with mental imbecility.

The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Talladega, is also in successful operation. Under the judicious management of the superintendent, good opportunities are afforded deaf mutes for acquiring an education.

There is an Asylum for the Blind at Mobile. The State Penitentiary at Wetumpka has had an increase of prisoners since the war, a large proportion being colored persons. These have come principally from the cities and large towns where those without homes and means of support naturally congregate. In November, 1866, there were 200 convicts in the penitentiary, more than three-fourths of whom were colored.

The Penitentiary is leased, and the convicts are worked outside the prison walls on railroads, or in iron mines and coal fields. It is self-sustaining.

Institution for Deaf, Dumb and Blind, Talladega. JOSEPH H. JOHNSON, M. D., Superintendent. Number of students, 40; annual appropriation from state Treasury, $8,000.

POPULATION.

This state suffered much in the late war both in its material interests and in the decrease of its population.

There had been a steady increase in the latter for 40 years until 1860, but from that time to 1866, there was a decrease of 3,632 whites, and 14,325 colored persons, or a total decrease of 17,957.

The following table gives the population at different periods:

Census.	Whites.	Free Colored,	Slaves.	Total.	Incr. per cent.
1820	85,451	571	41,879	127,901
1830	190,406	1,572	117,549	309,527	142.01
1840	325,185	2,039	253,532	590,756	90.86

Census.	Whites.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Incr. per cent.

1866	522,799.....	423,445.....	946,244.....

The whole number of adult males in 1866 was,—whites, 108,410; negroes, 90,603; total, 199,013.

WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

Alabama is the greatest cotton growing state in the Union. The principal portion of her cotton is raised in the central, south-east and south-west portions of the state. In the counties washed by the Chattahoochee in the eastern portion of the state, sugar and rice are grown to some extent. The extreme southern counties are characterized by immense forests of pine, valuable for lumber and naval stores. They are convenient to Mobile and Pensacola. A very large portion of the land in this region belongs to the General Government, and may be entered free of charge under the homestead law.

This state is rich in mineral treasures, particularly in coal, iron ore, limestone and marble. The coal has been subjected to both a scientific and practical test, and proved to be of excellent quality. Taking the coal fields all together, they are comprised within the area of nearly six thousand miles, in the counties of Marion, Winston, Walker, Tuscaloosa, Fayette, Jefferson, Blount, Bibb, Shelby, St. Clair, Morgan, Marshall and DeKalb. In close proximity to the coal fields, there are extensive beds of the best quality of iron ore. The manufacture of iron was formerly carried on to a considerable extent; during the recent war manufacturing was generally suspended, but it has partially revived. Several furnaces are already in operation, some of them through the instrumentality of capital and superintendence from the northern states.

Limestone is another important and valuable material, which abounds in localities convenient for transportation. There is gold in Randolph, Talladega, Corsa, Autauga, and Tallapoosa counties. Copper is found in the counties of Talladega and Clay.

The commercial advantages are good. The rivers are navigable more than 1500 miles; there are 660 miles of railroads in the state; and the city of Mobile is next to New Orleans the greatest cotton market in the United States. There were received at this place in 1860, 846,784 bales of cotton, and 9,367,597 feet of lumber were exported.

The state possesses the natural facilities requisite for successfully prosecuting almost every branch of industry.

A Bureau of Industrial Resources is established under the management of a commissioner elected for a term of four years, who is to collect information, and disseminate among the people such knowledge as he may deem important concerning improvement in machinery, and for the promotion of agricultural, manufacturing and mining interests.

In 1866, the principal products were: Corn, 21,597,083 bushels, value, $32,611,595; Oats, 497,990 bushels, value, $522,890; Potatoes, 422,815 bushels, value, $334,024; Tobacco, 349,371 pounds, value, $108,305; Hay, 80,854 tons, value, $1,506,310.

2. ARKANSAS.

Capital, Little Rock. Area, 52,198 square miles. Population, (1869), 435,450.

Arkansas is a portion of the Louisiana purchase ceded to the United States by France in 1803. It was settled by the French at Arkansas Post in 1685, was formed into a territory from a part of Missouri, March 2, 1819, and admitted into the Union as a state, June 15, 1836. A state convention assembled at Little Rock and passed an ordinance of secession, March 4, 1861. A convention to revise the state constitution assembled January 8, 1864, amended the constitution and provided for its being submitted to the people March 18, when the popular vote was taken with 12,177 in its favor, and 226 against it. Slavery was abolished by the constitution. The state government was reorganized in 1864, but it was not recognized by Congress as a legal government. Arkansas with Mississippi was constituted the 4th military district by the act of Congress for reconstruction, passed in 1867, and Major General E. O. C. Ord was appointed to the command. He directed an election for a convention in November, 1867. The election resulted in a majority of 14,000 for the convention which assembled January 8, 1868, and February 11, adopted a constitution which was ratified by the people, March 13. The state was again admitted into the Union by vote of Congress, June 22, 1868. The bill as it passed both houses was returned by the President without his signature, but was passed over the veto in the House of Representatives June 20, and in the Senate June 22.

The constitution provides among other things, that the paramount allegiance of every citizen is due to the Federal Government, in the exercise of all its constitutional powers, as the same may be defined by the Supreme Court of the United States; and no power exists in the people of this or any other state of the Federal Union to dissolve their connection therewith, or perform any act tending to impair, subvert, or resist the supreme authority of the United States. The equality of all persons before the law shall be recognized, and ever remain inviolate; nor shall any citizen ever be deprived of any right, privilege or immunity, nor exempted from any burden or duty, on account of race, color or previous condition.

The Governor and other state officers are chosen by the qualified electors at the same time as the members of the General Assembly. The term of office is four years. The House of Representatives consists of 82 members chosen for two years, and the Senate of 24 members chosen for four years. The Legislature meets every two years, on the first Monday of January.

Every male person born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, or has legally declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, who is twenty-one years old or upwards, and who shall have resided in the state six months next preceding the election, and who at the time is an actual resident of the county in which he offers to vote, shall be deemed an elector. Criminals, idiots, insane persons, soldiers and sailors in service of the United States, and certain classes who participated in the rebellion are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court consists of one Chief Justice and four Associate Justices. It has appellate jurisdiction, and general supervision and control over all inferior courts of law and equity. It holds two terms annually. The Supreme Court Judges are appointed by the Governor for eight years.

The Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction over all criminal cases not expressly provided for otherwise by law; there are two terms annually in each circuit. The Judges and District Attorneys are appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of four years.

STATE DEBT.

The State Debt was created on account of the banks, and consisted of State Bonds, issued by the state, amounting in principal and interest, December 31, 1866, to $3,575,121.

There had also been transferred from certain funds, and used for state purposes, the following amounts:

From Swamp Land Fund, specie, $91,938.96. From Internal Improvement Fund, specie, $16,120.28; confederate money, $3,379.60; treasury warrants, $15,297.47; war bonds, $2,549.74. From Seminary Fund, specie, $4,677.95; war bonds, $504.22; treasury warrants, $79.82; confederate money, $1,998.72. From Saline Fund, specie, $545.51; treasury warrants, $4,080.71. Aggregate value of property in 1860, as given by census, $219,256,473; as assessed in 1867, $52,510,771. The amount of the State Debt in 1868, was $4,577,081.

EDUCATION.

According to the census of 1860, there were in Arkansas 4 colleges, with 225 students, and an income of $5,585; 727 public schools, with 19,242 pupils, and $120,613 income, of which $200 was endowments, and $13,356 from public funds; 109 academies and other schools, with 4,415 pupils, and $68,146 income, of which $6,300 was endowments and $8,645 from public funds.

At the close of the war, the interests of education were in a confused and depressed condition. Literary institutions had been closed, some of the buildings had been wantonly destroyed, or rendered unfit for educational purposes by military occupation; funds had been scattered, educational grants wasted, and no system of public instruction existed to meet the wants of the community.

Governor Murphy, in his message to the General Assembly in 1866, says, "No state in the Union is, at present, behind Arkansas in educational provision, and never, in the history of the state, have the people indicated a stronger desire for the establishment of a thorough system of common school education at the public expense. The people are beginning to feel that ignorance is a crime, deeply injurious to the peace and happiness of society, for which not only parents, but the government also, are responsible."

The constitution makes it the duty of the General Assembly to establish and maintain free schools, and provide by law for the improvement of such lands as are or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this State for the use of schools, and to apply any funds which may be raised from such lands, or from any other sources. It provides for a State University, with an agricultural department; makes it obligatory on parents to send each child to school at least three years between the age of five and eighteen, or to give them instruction, at home or elsewhere equivalent. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the general supervision of public schools.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Arkansas Institution for the Blind was incorporated by an act of the General Assembly, February 4, 1859, and opened for the reception of pupils the same month. The act of incorporation provided no funds, but in 1861, there was an appropriation from the Seminary and Saline Funds, for the board, tuition and incidental expenses of indigent pupils not exceeding 20, of $200 to each, and an appropriation of $900 towards the salary of the Principal. With this aid amounting in all to $3,807, and contributions and receipts from other sources to the amount of $1,131.75, the institution was organized, houses and furniture procured, and 13 blind children supported and educated for two years. The institution was kept in successful operation until 1863, when, owing to the condition of the country, it was closed and the property sold.

The Penitentiary was under the control of the Commander of the Department, while Arkansas was occupied by the United States Military forces, and used partly as a Military Prison. The buildings were, at the time of the meeting of the General Assembly, in much need of repair.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

This state has rapidly increased in population, and its position gives it many advantages for the employment of labor and capital. The following table exhibits the population at each decade since it was organized as a territory:

Census.	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Incr. per cent.
1820	12,579	77	1,617	14,273
1830	25,671	141	4,576	30,388	112.91
1840	77,174	465	19,935	97,574	221.09
1850	162,189	608	47,100	209,897	115.12
1860	324,191	144	111,115	435,450	107.46

The agricultural statistics of 1860 showed a rapid enlargement of cultivated land, and a six-fold improvement in the value of farms and farm implements over the preceding decade. The live stock averaged from fifty to three hundred per cent. increase upon the returns of 1850. The cereal crops showed still greater improvement. The soil, especially in the eastern part of the state and on the rivers, is very rich, but needs drainage to be made available for agricultural purposes. It is rich in minerals. It exceeds all the other states in the abundance of gypsum and manganese, and iron, coal, lead, and zinc are abundant.

It is not a manufacturing state, but in 1860, it had 518 establishments, giving an annual product of $2,880,578. Its rivers afford excellent facilities for commerce, and the introduction of labor and capital with these facilities will develop its resources and add greatly to its wealth. The following is the assessed value of property from all except 10 counties not reported.

Value of taxable property in 1865. Number of acres of land, 10,699,956; value of land and improvements, $23,733,832. Number of town lots, 14,959; value of city and town lots and improvements, $2,962,318. Number of saw mills, 104; value of saw mills, $410,860. Number of tan-yards, 117; value of tan-yards, $39,489. Number of distilleries, 64; value of distilleries, $8,893. Household furniture over $200 in value, $60,634. Number of pleasure carriages, 1,321; value of pleasure carriages, $110,000. Total, $27,326,026.

Banks. There were, in 1863, two National Banks, with $200,000 capital, and a circulation of $179,500.

3. CALIFORNIA.

Capital, Sacramento. Area, 188,981 square miles. Population, (1866), 470,597.

California was settled by the Spaniards in 1769, ceded to the United States by Mexico in 1848, and admitted to the Union as a state in 1850.

GOVERNMENT.

OFFICE.	NAME.	SALARY.
Governor	H. H. HAIGHT.....	$7,000
Lieutenant Governor	WILLIAM HOLDEN.....	12 pr. day.
Secretary	HENRY L. NICHOLS.....	4,000
Treasurer	ANTONIO F. CORONEL.....	4,000

Superintendent of Public Instruction	O. P. FITZGERALD.....	3,000

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, Attorney General, Surveyor General and Superintendent of Public Instruction, are chosen for four years commencing with the first Monday in December after the election. The last election for state officers was in September, 1867.

The Legislature meets biennially on the first Monday in December of the odd years, 1869, 1871, &c.; the session is limited to 120 days. The Senators, 40 in number, are elected for four years, one-half being elected every second year; the Representatives, 80 in number, are elected for two years.

Every white male citizen of the United States, and every white male citizen of Mexico, who shall have elected to become a citizen of the United States under the treaty of peace exchanged and ratified at Queretaro on the 30th of May, 1848, of the age of 21 years, who shall have been a resident of the State six months next preceding the election, and of the county or district in which he claims his vote, thirty days, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, which are now, or hereafter may be authorized by law.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice, and four Associate Justices. It has appellate jurisdiction in all cases in equity, in all cases at law involving the title or possession of real estate, or the legality of any tax, toll, fine, etc., or in which the matter in controversy amounts to $300; also in all cases arising in the Probate Courts; and in all criminal cases amounting to felony on questions of law alone. It has power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, and habeas corpus, and all writs necessary and proper to the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction.

The State is divided into fourteen judicial districts, in each of which there is a District Court. This Court has original jurisdiction in all the cases in equity and law already mentioned in which the Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction. It has Criminal jurisdiction in criminal cases not otherwise provided for. Each organized county has a County Court with original jurisdiction of actions of forcible entry and detainer, insolvency, nuisance, and of all such special cases as are not otherwise provided for.

A Justice of the Supreme Court may issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State in behalf of any person held in custody, a District Judge a similar writ in his district, and a Judge of a County Court in his county. The Justices of the Supreme Court are elected by the qualified voters of the State at special elections at which no other than judicial officers shall be elected except the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The District Judges are chosen at the same time by the qualified electors of their respective districts, and the Judges of the County Courts by the qualified electors of their respective counties.

The term of office for the Justices of the Supreme Court is ten years; for the Judges of the District Court six years; and for the Judges of the County Courts four years, all commencing on the first of January next succeeding the time of election.

EDUCATION.

The State has made great advances in the cause of public education since its admission to the Union, and has now a school system which in some respects is unsurpassed in any of the Eastern States. The year 1867 marks the change from "rate bill" schools to the free school system.

There is a State Board of Education which consists of the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Principal of the State Normal School, the Superintendents of Schools in San Francisco, and in Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin counties, and two professional teachers holding state diplomas. The Board has power to adopt courses of study, rules and regulations for all public schools in the state, but such rules must not be in conflict with the special rules adopted by the Board of Education of any city or county.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction who is elected by the people for four years, has the general supervision of Public Schools and he is ex-officio one of the Trustees of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, and of the State Reform School. A County Superintendent of Common Schools is elected in each county for two years, who is required to visit each school in his county at least once a year, to distribute forms, reports and circulars, and make an annual report to the State Superintendent. Each county, city or incorporated town constitutes a school district unless districts are otherwise established by the Board of Supervisors. Each district elects a board of Trustees which has power to employ and dismiss teachers and make general arrangements and regulations for the public schools of their respective districts.

The State Board of Examination consisting of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and four professional teachers, has power to grant Teachers Life Diplomas valid for life; State Diplomas valid for six years, and State Certificates—first grade, for four years, second grade for two years, and third grade for one year. All regularly issued State Normal School Diplomas of any State Normal School in the United States, and all Life Diplomas granted by the State Board of Examination in any of the United States are recognized as prima facie evidence of fitness for the profession of teaching.

There is a County Board of Examiners in each county, composed of the County Superintendent and a number of teachers not exceeding three, who can grant three grades of certificates valid in the county for one, two and three years respectively. Every city having a City Board of Education, governed by special laws, must have a Board of Examiners, consisting of the City Superintendent and three public school teachers. This Board has power to grant certificates of the same grade as the State Board, but valid only in the city in which they are granted.

The requirements for State Diplomas, and first and second grade certificates are a knowledge of algebra, arithmetic, English grammar, composition, geography, history of the United States, physiology, natural philosophy, orthography, defining, penmanship, constitution and government of the United States, reading, elocution, and theory and practice of teaching, and good moral character. The requirements for the second grade are the foregoing studies, except natural philosophy and algebra. Life Diplomas may be granted by the State Board of Education to such persons only as shall have taught one year successfully, or have held for the same time the office of State, City or County Superintendent.

The State Normal School is under the charge of a Board of Trustees, composed of the members of the Board of Education. More than nine-tenths of the pupils since its organization in 1862, have been young ladies. The course of study is limited to the elementary branches. A successful Training Department in which the Normal pupils pass a part of their time in observation and practice, is connected with the Normal School.

The city of San Francisco has maintained a system of free public schools since the organization of the city government. These schools have been liberally supported and efficiently organized. The growth of the schools has kept pace with the growth of the city. In 1850, there were two teachers and 150 pupils in attendance, and in 1867, 253 teachers and 13,385 pupils.

STATISTICS OF SCHOOLS FOR 1867.

Number of children between 5 and 15 years of age—whites, 92,409; negroes, 709; Indian children under guardianship of white persons, 1,231. Whole number of census children between 5 and 15 years of age, 94,349; increase in one year, 9,197; number between 5 and 15 years of age who have attended public schools during the school year, 54,726; number of same age who have attended private schools, 14,026; number who have not attended any school during the school year, 21,411. Number of Mongolian children under 15 years of age, 412; number attending school, 218.

Number of pupils enrolled—boys, 31,943; girls, 29,284. Total, 61,227. Average number belonging to public schools, 45,673; average daily attendance, 43,271. Average length of schools, 7.2 months. Number of male teachers employed, 616; female teachers, 773; total, 1,389. Number of certificates issued by County Board to male teachers, 362; to female teachers, 491; total, 853. Number of certificates renewed, 296; number of State Diplomas issued, 148.

Number of School Districts, 864; school houses built of brick, 58; of wood, 821; number of new school houses erected, 106. Number of schools—1st Grade, 168; 2d Grade, 426; 3d Grade, 471; High Schools, 6.

Amount of School Fund received—from State, $268,910.84; from county taxes, $302,945.36; from city tax, $292,773; from district tax, $58,954.74; from rate bills and subscriptions, $81,996.31; miscellaneous sources, $210,857.81; cash on hand at beginning of year, $71,279.92; total receipts, $1,287,687.98. Expenditures—for teachers salaries, $696,110.28; for sites, buildings, and repairs, $238,010.64; for rent, fuel, and contingent expenses, $213,610.96; for school libraries, $10,125.10; for apparatus, $5,431.83; miscellaneous, $5,294; total expenditures, $1,168,583.41; increase over 1866, $310,096. Average monthly wages paid male teachers, $77; female teachers, $64. Average annual salary of male teachers exclusive of board, $554; of female teachers, $460. The number of teachers in 1867 holding State Life Diplomas, was 46; holding State Educational diplomas, 94; first grade certificates, 157; second grade certificates, 102; third grade certificates, 33.

Average cost of tuition for each child enrolled on public school registers, $11.20; total expenditure for each child enrolled, $18.85. Total valuation of school property, $1,346,335.72; of school libraries, $21,366.56; of school apparatus, $21,718. The average daily attendance in 1857, was 9,717; in 1867, 43,271; an increase in ten years of 33,554 or 345 per cent.

San Francisco. There were in the city in 1867, 20,253 children between 5 and 15 years of age, of whom 1,761 were between 5 and 6 years of age and not allowed to attend the public schools. 13,000 of those between 6 and 15 were enrolled, the average number belonging to the schools being 10,856. There were 4,165 in private schools, and 1,277 not attending any school. The city has 3 High Schools, 8 Grammar schools, and 24 Primary schools. There are 10 High School classes averaging 25 pupils each, 58 Grammar School classes, averaging 55 pupils each, and 152 Primary school classes, averaging 60 pupils each. The average cost of each scholar per year in the High School, is $82.49, in the Grammar and Primary Schools, $17.17. Fifty of the teachers are graduates of the California State Normal School, several others are from Normal Schools in the Eastern States. The amount paid for tuition during the year was $209,736.92, an increase of $26,201.84 over 1866. Some of the school-houses are among the finest in the country.

Sacramento. The first public school in this city was opened in February, 1854; in July of the same year, there were 261 pupils in the public schools, and 250 in private schools; the number of children in the city between the ages of 4 and 18 was 1,218. In 1867, there were of children under 15 years of age—white, 3,782; colored, 102; Indian, 14; Chinese, 45; total, 3,943. The average number of pupils attending the public schools in 1867, was 1,700; average attendance about 1,300. There are 15 schools in the city, viz: 1 High School, under the charge of a Principal and assistant; 1 Grammar School, under a Principal and four assistants; 4 Intermediate Schools, under a Principal and assistant each; 7 Primaries having a Principal and assistant each; 1 Colored School, with a Principal and assistant; and an Ungraded School, with a Principal only. The Colored School is not graded. The Board of Education now employs 32 teachers and assistants. The cost per pupil in 1866 (a fair average) was $10.95 per annum in the Primary Schools, $16.40 in the Intermediate, $29.60 in the Grammar, $36.83 in the Ungraded, $27.52 in the Colored, and $61.10 in the High Schools.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Insane Asylum was opened for the reception of patients in 1851, when 13 were admitted. In 1852, by an act of the Legislature all of the insane of the state were removed to this institution. Out of the 124 admitted that year, only 3 were natives of California. Since that time, the number of insane has steadily and rapidly increased far beyond the usual proportion to the population.

Important changes and great improvements have been made in the institution under Dr. Shurtleff, the present superintendent, but it is much crowded and the Medical Visitors recommend the removal of all "foreign patients, as well as epileptics, idiots and imbeciles," that the legitimate indigent insane persons, residents of the state may be properly treated.

The Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, has been reorganized under the act of the Legislature, approved March 31, 1866.

A new and convenient building, 194 by 148 feet, has been erected, upon a tract of 130 acres, near Oakland, in Alameda County. It provides for a separation of the deaf and dumb, from the blind, and also for the complete separation of the two sexes. No charge is made to pupils from California, those from other states pay $300 per annum.

The State Reform School at Marysville was reported in successful operation at the close of the year 1867.

The Legislature at a previous session, passed a bill abolishing the school, and providing for the transfer of its inmates to the Industrial School of San Francisco but it was not approved by the governor.

Insane Asylum of California, Stockton. G. A. SHURTLEFF, M. D., Superintendent. Number of patients in asylum October 1, 1866—males, 506; females, 187; total, 693. Admitted during the year—males, 226; females, 87; total, 313. Whole number under treatment during the year—males, 732; females, 274; total, 1,006. Number of patients discharged during the year—males, 107; females, 32; total, 139; recovered, 125; improved, 14. Number died during the year—males, 66; females, 23; total, 89. Eloped, 9. California Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and the Blind, San Francisco. WARREN WILKINSON, M. A., Principal. Number of deaf and dumb in the institution, October 1, 1866, 36; admitted during the year, 20; total number under instruction, 56; number who have left during the year, 8; remaining October 1, 1867, 48. Number of blind in the institution October 1, 1866, 19; admitted during the year, 12; whole number under instruction during the year, 31; number who have left during the year, 9. Remaining October 1, 1867, 22. Total number in both departments, 70.

PRISONS.

We have been unable to obtain reliable statistics from the county jails. The State Prison was opened in 1851, when the number of commitments was 35. This number was increased with varying regularity until 1855, when it amounted to 266. There was then a decrease in the number received for four successive years, when in 1859, it amounted to 220. In 1860, it rose to 295, but on the breaking out of the war it was again diminished, until in 1863 there were but 163 admitted; from that time the number has increased in each successive year, and in 1867 was 287. Though the capacity of the State Prison has been increased by the erection of two additional prison buildings containing 392 cells, the increase of prisoners has kept pace with the increase of cells.

The Directors urge strongly that some provision be made for the separation of young convicts from those hardened in crime. The demand for prison labor has much increased during the last two years, but the shop room and facilities for the employment of the prisoners are inadequate. Notwithstanding the large increase in numbers, the health of the prisoners has been exceedingly good; the average amount of sickness, and percentage of deaths being less than in the prisons in the Eastern States and in Europe.

State Prison, San Quentin. CON MURPHY, Turnkey. Whole number of prisoners, Nov. 1, 1866, 694; number received during the year, 257; number discharged, 289. Whole number Nov., 1867, 692; of whom 66 were less than 20 years of age; 155 from 20 to 25; 156 from 25 to 30; 149 from 30 to 35; 76 from 35 to 40; 71 from 40 to 50; and 19, 50 years and upwards.

Fifty-one were sentenced 1 year; 100, 2 years; 132, 3 years; 56, 4 years; 93, 5 years; 55, from 5 to 7 years; 109, from 7 to 10 years; 54, from 10 to 15 years; 2, from 15 to 20 years; 18, 20 years and upwards; and 22 for life.

The crimes for which the prisoners were sentenced were—murder, 12; murder, second degree, 77; manslaughter, 50; assault to murder, 16; assault with deadly weapon, 13; rape, 9; assault to rape, 12; robbery, 65; assault to rob, 7; burglary, 114; arson, 5; arson, second degree, 5; forgery, 9; perjury, 3; breaking jail, 3; felony, 14; grand larceny, 252; housebreaking, 13; incest, 3; miscellaneous, 10. Total, 692.

Five hundred and sixty-four were serving their 1st term; 89, their second term; 24 their third term; 13, their fourth term; 1 the fifth term; and 1 the sixth term.

Number that could read, 483; read and write, 436; that could do neither, 209. Number of native Californians, 74; natives of other parts of the United States, 243; foreign birth, 375. Per cent. who could not read,—native Californians, 75; natives of the United States, 12; foreign born, 33.

Total expenditures of prison for two years, $227,686.12; earnings, $79,628.79; deficiency, $168,057.33. Of the expenditures, $84,638.64 was for redemption of scrip; $124,124.50 for commissary supplies, $5,673, for salaries; the remainder, miscellaneous.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population rapidly increased after the opening of the gold mines in 1848. Since the discovery of mineral treasure in the states and territories east of California, emigration to these states has taken place, to a considerable extent, but the immigration from the Eastern States, from Europe, Asia, and the Hawaiian Islands has continued to add largely to the population which at different periods was as follows :

California has an area of 188,986 square miles, or 120,947,840 acres, of which not less than 89,000,000 including swamp lands capable of reclamation, are suited to some kind of profitable husbandry. It is supposed that at least 40,000,000 acres are fit for the plough, and the remainder is adapted to stock raising, fruit growing and other branches of agriculture.

The soil and climate of California are eminently adapted to the growth of cereals, fruits and vegetables. The hardier fruits succeed well in all parts of the state, and along the southern coast, oranges, lemons, figs, pineapples, and other tropical fruits are raised. Cotton, sugar-cane, and indigo, are also produced in this portion. The yield of wheat in 1860 was over 5,000,000 of bushels; in 1866, it was 14,080,752 bushels, of which about 4,000,000 were used for home consumption, leaving 8,000,000 for export. Fruit trees grow rapidly, bear early, regularly, abundantly, and produce fruit of large size and superior quality. The soil and climate appear to be well adapted to grape culture, and the manufacture of wine. Three hundred varieties of grapes have already been cultivated, among which are the choicest wine producing grapes of Europe. It is estimated that thirty millions of vines are already set and will be in full bearing in three years. The vineyards seldom yield less than 1,000 lbs. of grapes per acre, and in some places the product is 20,000 lbs. per acre. The climate of California is favorable to stock raising, and in many parts this is the leading branch of husbandry. Horses, mules, oxen, beef cattle, cows, and sheep are extensively raised. Sheep husbandry is rapidly becoming an important interest. The slopes of the Coast Range and the Sierra Nevada afford abundance of excellent pasture throughout the year. Another branch of industry progressing with satisfactory results is the cultivation of the mulberry and silk worm. The general absence of rain from May to November, and of explosive electricity, is said to be a climatic condition highly favorable to the raising of the silk worm. Cocoons raised in this State and sent to France for examination have been pronounced of superior excellence, and, on measurement, found to exceed the European by from 50 to 100 yards of silk. As both the mulberry and the silk worm are so thrifty, there is no reason to doubt that silk culture will succeed, and that it will become an important interest in the state. Four millions of cocoons were brought into market in 1866. Two large silk factories have been established in the State, and silk of very excellent quality is being manufactured. California has an abundance of timber of the finest varieties. The northern part of the coast is well covered with spruce, pine, and redwood, and the valleys with oak. The most remarkable tree in California, and the largest in the world is the Sequoia gigantea, or mammoth tree, growing with a clear straight stem, sometimes to the height of 400 feet, with a diameter from 30 to 40 feet in the largest specimens. It is found only on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada, in Southern California. Fifteen or twenty groves are now known. By an act of Congress the land containing the "Big Tree Grove," in Mariposa county, embracing an area of 2,589 acres, has been ceded to the State, to be held for all time as a place of public resort and recreation. The same act also granted to the State, the Yosemite valley, embracing 36,111 acres, celebrated as one of the curiosities of the globe.

The manufacturing industry of the State has rapidly increased. The number of establishments in 1860 was 8,468, with a capital of $22,051,096, using raw material valued at $27,051,674, the cost of labor being $28,402,287, and the product of the year's operations was valued at $68,253,228, leaving a profit of $12,799,267, or fifty-eight per cent. on the capital invested. The returns received from County Assessors, by the Surveyor General, and published in his report for 1867, show that the advance in this branch of industry has been no less remarkable than the agricultural development.

The great and distinguishing feature of California, is, however, its mineral wealth. The first discoveries of gold were made in 1848, when the amount taken from the mines was $10,000,000, increasing to $40,000,000 in 1849, and upwards of $65,000,000 in 1853, which was the largest product of any year.

The value of the products of a few of the leading staples of the state in 1866, was as follows:

14,080,752 bushels wheat,.....	$14,080,752	5,229,826 pounds wool,.....	$886,772
11,605,922 bushels barley,.....	4,722,615	1,791,633 gallons wine,.....	716,653
1,864,379 bushels oats.....	932,189	1,983,068 bushels potatoes,.....	1,195,841
358,584 tons hay,.....	2,868,672	181,850 bushels peanuts,.....	545,550
4,449,835 pounds butter,.....	1,334,950	242,213 bushels beans,.....	363,319
2,110,058 pounds cheese,.....	316,508
Total value.....			$27,913,821

The amount of land enclosed, was 4,207,131 acres; cultivated, 1,774,327 acres.

The number of horses was 109,907; mules, 21,310; cattle, 436,363; sheep, 1,346,749; Cashmere and Angora goats, 2,753; hogs, 332,049; hives of bees, 27,204.

Trade and Commerce of San Francisco, for the first six months of 1868:

Imports from foreign countries, $8,000,000 gold; from the Atlantic states, $22,457,000, currency; an increase of $8,000,000 over the same period last year. The exports were—merchandise, $11,000,000; coin, $20,000,000; total, $31,000,000 gold. The duties on imports amounted to $4,028,522, and the receipts of internal revenue, $3,000,000.

During these six months 1,550 vessels arrived, bringing 500,000 tons of freight. The arrivals of passengers by sea, were 32,186; departures, 11,367; net gain, 20,819.

Of the $5,448,000 of merchandise shipped the first quarter of 1868, $4,316,000 was for some 50 articles of California produce, the principal items of which were as follows: wheat, $2,452,000; flour, $836,000; barley, $37,000; beans, $13,000; potatoes, $9,000; borax, $10,000; quicksilver, $357,000; ores, $78,000; hides and skins, $116,000; wool, $186,000; leather, $41,000; wine, $42,000; brandy, $9,000; and bread, $12,000. The gold deposits at the San Francisco Branch Mint during the first three months of 1868, amounted to 60,000 ounces, and the coinage to $1,312,000.

The total exports of treasure for the first quarter of the past three years have been as follows: 1866, $9,532,544. 1867, $9,825,304. 1868, $10,540,415.

The exports of merchandise for 1867 were $22,465,903; and of treasure, $41,676,722.16.

About $6,000,000 was shipped east by the United States sub-treasurer, making the total, $47,676,292, and the aggregate of treasure and merchandise, $70,142,195. The total amount of treasure exported from 1849 to 1868, was $826,873,738.21.

4. CONNECTICUT.

Capitals, Hartford and New Haven. Area, 4,674 square miles. Population, (1860), 460,147.

This State includes the original colonies of Connecticut and New Haven. The Connecticut colony was settled in 1633, at Windsor, and in 1635, at Hartford and Wethersfield, by persons from Massachusetts; and the New Haven colony in 1638, by a company from England. Separate governments were maintained until the colonies were united by the charter of Charles II., in 1662. This State has two capitals, the legislature meeting alternately in each; it meets in Hartford in 1869.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Comptroller, are chosen by the legal voters of the State on the first Monday in April, annually, and hold office from the first Wednesday in May. By the Constitution, the Senate must consist of not less than 18, nor more than 24 members, to be chosen by districts; the present number of districts is 21. The House of Representatives consists of 237 members, 2 for each town incorporated prior to the adoption of the State Constitution of 1818, and one for each town incorporated since. The Senators and Representatives are elected, annually, at the same time as the Governor. The Commissioner of the School Fund is appointed by the legislature. The Secretary of the Board of Education is chosen by that Board.

Every white male citizen of the United States, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided in the State for the term of one year, and in the town where he offers to vote, six months, and who is able to read any article of the Constitution, is entitled to the privileges of an elector, upon taking the oath prescribed by law.

JUDICIARY.

By act of 1867, the Supreme Court of Errors is to consist of one Chief Judge and three Associate Judges, who shall also be judges of the Superior Court.

Reversal of any judgment or new trial must be with the concurrence of a majority of the judges, but in reserved cases where no verdict has been rendered, if the judges are equally divided, the same may be determined by the casting vote of the chief justice. Parties in all cases, have a right to be heard in full court, and if one of the judges is absent, the Chief Justice, or, in his absence, the senior Judge present, shall summon one or more of the judges of the Superior Court to constitute a full court. The Supreme Court of Errors has final and conclusive jurisdiction of all matters brought by way of error or complaint from the judgment or decrees of any Superior Court in matters of law or equity, wherein the rules of law or the principles of equity appear, from the file, records or exhibits of said court, to have been mistakenly or erroneously adjudged or determined.

The Superior Court consists of six judges, exclusive of those who are judges of the Supreme Court; it has cognizance of all causes, civil and criminal, which are brought before it by suit, appeal; writ of error, scire facias, complaint, petition, or otherwise, according to law, and may try the same by jury or otherwise, as the law may require, and proceed therein to judgment and execution, but in all criminal trials, punishable by death, the court must consist of at least two judges, one of whom must be a judge of the Supreme Court.

The judges of the Supreme Court of Errors and of the Superior Court are appointed by concurrent vote of the Senate and House of Representatives, and hold office for the term of eight years, but are disqualified by the constitution when seventy years of age.

The Superior Court appoints its clerks, who are also clerks of the Supreme Court.

EDUCATION.

There are three colleges in the state. Yale College at New Haven, (Congregational); Trinity College at Hartford, (Episcopal); and Wesleyan University at Middletown, (Methodist).

Yale College has connected with it a Theological Seminary, a Law school, a Medical school, and the Sheffield Scientific school. The latter institution has received from Joseph E. Sheffield, Esq., donations amounting in all to more than $160,000, and is amply provided with all the requisites for giving thorough instruction in the various departments of mathematical, physical and natural science. By an act of the Legislature it has been constituted the Connecticut college for the promotion of agriculture and the mechanic arts, and has received the benefit of the land appropriation bestowed by Congress for this purpose.

The Yale School of Fine Arts was established by the liberality of the late Augustus R. Street, Esq., of New Haven. An art building has been erected for the exhibition of works of art and instruction of classes in the various arts of design.

The other professional schools are, The Theological Institute of Connecticut, also Congregational, which has been removed from East Windsor to Hartford, and the Berkeley Divinity School, (Episcopal) at Middletown. (See table of professional schools). The Episcopal Academy at Cheshire, and the Connecticut Literary Institute, Suffield, are prosperous institutions, supported in part by denominational aid.

There are about 25 incorporated academies in successful operation. Seven of the cities and many of the larger villages support public High Schools.

The Governor and Lieutenant Governor, ex-officio, and one person appointed by the legislature for four years from each of the four Congressional districts, constitute the State Board of Education, which has the general oversight and control of the educational interests of the State. This Board appoints its own Secretary, who, under its direction, exercises a general supervision over the common schools; collects information from school visitors, and submits an annual report to the General Assembly.

There are in the State 8 cities and 163 towns, which are divided for school purposes into 1,620 districts. The districts elect by ballot their own committees, clerk, treasurer, and collector.

Every common school, to be entitled to the distribution from school funds, must be kept at least six months in each year by a certificated teacher. The Common Schools were made free by act of the General Assembly, 1868.

The State Normal School at New Britain, was established by the General Assembly in 1849, and opened in May, 1850. It was under the charge of a Board of eight Trustees, one from each county, until July, 1865, when it was transferred to the supervision of the State Board of Education. During the fifteen years it was under the care of a Board of Trustees, there were 2,248 received, nearly all of whom have taught in common schools since leaving the Normal School. In the summer of 1865, there were 86 in the Normal department, and more than 300 in the Model department. It was continued under the charge of the Board of Education until 1867, when, on account of the withdrawal of the appropriation by the legislature, it was suspended.

Teachers' Institutes are held in the different counties, under the direction of the Secretary of the Board of Education, and a sum not exceeding $3,000 per annum may be drawn from the State Treasury to defray expenses.

School Statistics. The whole number of children in the state January 1, 1868, between the ages of 4 and 16, was 123,650; average number in each district, 78; number of common schools, 1,645; number of departments in public schools, 2,066; average length of winter schools in weeks, 16.9; average length of summer schools in weeks, 16; number of scholars registered in winter, 80,148; in summer, 73,865; per centage of those enumerated registered in winter, 66; average attendance in winter, 57,117; in summer, 52,299; per centage of attendance in winter as compared with number registered in winter, 71.3; compared with number enumerated, 47.2; number of scholars over 16 years of age in public schools, 2,181; number of male teachers in winter, 617; in summer, 139; number of female teachers in winter, 1,560; in summer, 2,023; number of teachers of the same school two or more successive terms, 1,218; number who have never taught before, 637; number reported as graduates of a Normal School, 123; average wages per month of male teachers including board, $52.05; increase over previous year, $6.84; average wages per month of female teachers including board, $24.91; increase over previous year, $1.77; number of new school houses erected in the year, 43; number of school houses reported "good," 978; number reported "fair," 368; number reported "bad," 291.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The American Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb at Hartford, is the oldest institution of the kind in the country. It was incorporated in 1816, and opened on the 15th of April, 1817, with 7 pupils. This number was increased during the year to 41, representing ten different states. The institution in 1819, received an endowment from the National Congress of 23,000 acres of land. Liberal terms were made for receiving pupils from other states, and the Legislatures of several states made appropriations to support their indigent deaf mutes at this asylum.

In the earlier periods of instruction much use was made of the system of methodical signs so carefully elaborated by Dr. l'Epee and Sicard, in which each word had a definite and fixed sign, and could be given in the proper order in the sentence. These signs were greatly simplified and improved by Mr. Gallaudet and his early associates. His successors continued to introduce such modifications and improvements as the experience of intelligent teachers suggested. The methods now pursued have the same general end in view as at first, that is to enable the pupils to hold communication with society by means of written language, but they secure this result earlier and more satisfactorily by leading the pupil sooner to use forms of connected language. Special attention has been given from the first to the religious and moral culture of the pupils.

The Retreat for the Insane was incorporated in 1822 when it received a grant of $5,000 from the state, and about $18,000 from donations of private individuals. Additional grants, amounting in all to $19,000, have been made by the state towards the erection of buildings, and in 1842, $2,000 per annum was also appropriated to pay for the board of indigent patients. The Legislature in 1866, incorporated the General Hospital for the Insane, which is pleasantly located at Middletown on the banks of the Connecticut river. It is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees, consisting of the Governor ex-officio, and one person from each county in the state. An appropriation of $35,000 in 1866, $150,000 in 1867, and $200,000 in 1868, was made for land and buildings, and a site was donated by Middletown. The buildings which were commenced in 1866, are of Portland free stone, and to be 768 feet in length, with accommodations for at least 450 patients.

The committee of inquiry appointed in 1865, by the Legislature, reported in 1866, 706 insane persons in the state, of whom 202 were in the retreat at Hartford. A portion of these have been received into the General Hospital.

The State Reform School at West Meriden was opened in 1854. It receives boys from 10 to 16 years of age who have been convicted of offenses known to the laws of the State, and punishable by imprisonment other than such as may be punishable by imprisonment for life. Parents and guardians may indenture boys to the school by paying their expenses while there at the rate of $3 per week. The boys are instructed in the schoolroom four hours daily, and many of them have made very creditable proficiency in study. They are also employed in the work shops and on the farm; the available resources from their labor were greater in 1867-68 than ever before.

The School for Imbeciles is pleasantly located at Lakeville, in the town of Salisbury. It has convenient buildings and receives both state and private pupils. The state has made an annual appropriation of $3,000 for the indigent pupils from Connecticut.

There are three Soldiers' Orphan Homes for the education of children of deceased soldiers located at Darien, Cromwell, and Mansfield under the charge of voluntary societies, but aided by appropriations from the state.

A grant of $3,000 annually, is made for the education of the indigent blind at the Perkins Institution for the Blind, Boston.

The increase in population from 1790 to 1840 was quite gradual, the average for each decade being less than $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. With the exception of a limited commerce, the occupation of the people was principally agricultural. The first railroad went into operation in 1838, and in five years, cars were running on five roads wholly or partially within the state. Manufactures increased, and the increase in population the next decade was more than 19½ per cent., and in the decade from 1850 to 1860, more than 24 per cent., or greater than in any other New England state.

The proportionate increase in the value of property was still greater, the amount in 1850 being $155,701,980, and in 1860, $444,274,114—an increase of 185 per cent. in 10 years, being greater than in either of the other original thirteen states, or in any other state east of Michigan.

Though this state is the smallest in area except Delaware and Rhode Island, and was the twenty-fourth in population in 1860, it then ranked as the first in the production of india rubber goods and sewing machines, the fifth in the product of cotton goods and woolen goods and in the value of book printing; and the fourth in the whole value of the annual products of industry, which amounted to $83,000,000. Since 1860, there has been a large increase of capital invested and of products sent to market.

Mines of copper and silver were once profitably worked, but mining is now confined principally to the production of iron from the mines of Salisbury. The value of this product in 1860 was $379,500, but the enhanced price and greater demand has since increased the production. Free stone and granite in Middlesex County, and marble in Litchfield County, are quarried for building purposes and export.

Banks. At the close of the fiscal year, March 31, 1868, there were in Connecticut:

6 State Banks with a capital of (and a circulation of $43,851.00).....	$1,610,000.00

5. DELAWARE.

Capital, Dover. Area, 2,120 square miles. Population, (1860), 112,216.

This state was settled by the Swedes and Finns at Wilmington, in 1627; was subjected by the Dutch of New York in 1655, but fell into the hands of the English in 1664. It was included in the grant to William Penn in 1662, remained a part of Pennsylvania until 1703, and was afterwards under the same government until the adoption of a state constitution, September 20, 1776. It was one of the original thirteen states, and ratified the United States constitution, December 7, 1787.

GOVERNMENT.

OFFICE.	NAME.	RESIDENCE.	SALARY.
Governor	GOVE SAULSBURY.....	Dover.....	$2,000
Secretary of State	CUSTIS W. WRIGHT.....	Georgetown..	500 and fees.
State Treasurer	WILLIAM J. CLARKE.....	Dover.....	600
Auditor	ROBERT LAMBDEN.....	Laurel.....	600
Attorney General	JACOB MOORE.....	Georgetown..	500 and fees.
Adjutant General	EDWARD D. PORTER.....	Newark.....	Honorary.

The governor is elected by the people for a term of four years. The Secretary of State is appointed by the governor, and serves an equal term with him. The State Treasurer and Auditor are elected by the legislature for two years. The Attorney General is appointed by the governor, and holds office five years. The Senate consists of 9, and the House of 21 members, elected for two years.

The legislature meets biennially. The pay of members is $3 a day and mileage. The speaker of each house receives $4 a day and mileage.

The elective franchise is given to every free white male citizen of the age of twenty-two years, who has resided one year in the state and the last month thereof in the county, and who has within two years paid a county tax assessed at least six months before the election; every free white male citizen over twenty-one and under twenty-two may vote without paying any tax. Idiots, insane persons, paupers, and felons are excluded from voting, and the legislature may impose forfeiture of the right of suffrage as punishment for crime.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the State is vested in a Court of Errors and Appeals, Superior Court, Court of Chancery, Orphans' Court, Court of Oyer and Terminer, Court of General Sessions of the Peace and Jail Delivery, Register's Court, and Justices of the Peace.

The courts above named are composed of five judges, namely: a Chancellor of the State, who is President of the Orphans' Courts of the respective counties, and four Judges—a Chief Justice and three Associate Judges—who compose the Superior Court, Court of Oyer and Terminer, and the Court of General Sessions of the Peace and Jail Delivery. The Register of Wills is the presiding officer of the Register's Court for his county. The Chancellor holds the Court of Chancery in each county of the state.

The Chancellor and the Associate Judge residing in the county hold the Orphans' Court in each county. The Chief Justice and all the Associate Judges, except the Associate residing in the county where the court is in session, hold the Superior Court and Court of General Sessions of the Peace. All the Judges, except the Chancellor, sit in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

The Court of Errors and Appeals consists of the Chancellor who presides, and at least two of the other Judges of the state. The principal officers are Prothonotaries, Clerks of the Peace, Clerks of Orphans' Courts, Registers in Chancery, Registers of Wills, Recorders of Deeds, Sheriffs, Attorney General, and Clerk of the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The Chancellor and Judges are appointed by the Governor, and hold their offices during good behavior. The Sheriff is elected by the people every two years. His official residence is at the county seat.

The Clerk of the Court of Errors and Appeals is clerk of that court, which is the highest in the state, and where cases at law or in equity are re-examined by a writ of error or appeal.

The Attorney General is a state officer, whose duty it is to prosecute all persons committing offenses against the criminal laws of the state. The Clerks and Registers are appointed by the Governor for the term of five years.

The Superior Court and Court of General Sessions of the Peace and Jail Delivery are held in Sussex Co., on the 2d Monday in April and October; Kent Co., on the 4th Monday in April and October; Newcastle Co., on the 2d Monday after the commencement of April term in Kent, and on the 3d Monday in November. The Court of Errors and Appeals is held at Dover, on the 1st Tuesday in June.

FINANCES.—STATE DEBT.

Delaware had no debt in 1860; in 1867, the debt was $1,242,000; this was reduced during the year $636,200, leaving the whole debt, December, 1868, $605,800.

The state receives an income from railroads and other sources, and from capital invested, sufficient to meet the ordinary expenses of government.

EDUCATION.

This state has two colleges. Delaware college at Newark, has been adopted as an agricultural school, and the proceeds of the public lands donated to the state by the United States for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, are to be invested for the benefit of the scientific department of the college. St. Mary's college, at Wilmington, has about 40 students. The Delaware State Normal University was organized in 1866, and incorporated in 1867. It was commenced without any direct aid from the state, with a subscription of twenty scholarships. It provides instruction and training for teachers of common schools, and also for such as desire to prepare to take charge of academics and high schools.

No uniform school system, reaching all parts of the state has as yet been adopted, but measures have been inaugurated in various places to secure the benefits of well organized public schools. An annual allowance is made from the state treasury of fifty cents for each scholar in Kent and Sussex counties, and twenty cents for each scholar in Newcastle county.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of the state as given by the United States census at different periods was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Increase percent.
1790.....	46,310.....	3,899.....	8,887.....	59,096.....
1800.....	49,852.....	8,268.....	6,153.....	64,273.....	8.76

1860.....	90,589.....	19,829.....	1,798.....	112,216.....	22.60

The construction of railroads and other internal improvements have within five years contributed materially to the increase of population and wealth. The opening of the Delaware railroad has furnished means for the development of the resources of the central and southern portions of the state.

Agriculture is the prominent interest; the soil and climate, and the proximity of good markets affording favorable facilities for fruit growing, which has been rapidly increasing during the last ten years.

Wilmington is the principal manufacturing town. The annual products of its mills and shops, which amounted to nearly ten million dollars in 1860, are constantly increasing.

The foreign trade of the state is carried on principally through Philadelphia and Baltimore. The principal exports are flour, grain, fruit and lumber. There are 11 National Banks with a capital of $1,428,185; 4 of the banks with a capital of $913,185, are located in Wilmington.

Products in 1866. Indian corn, 4,281,570 bushels, value, $3,724,966; wheat, 685,720 bushels, value, $2,057,160; oats, 2,317,557 bushels, value, $1,274,821; potatoes, 270,220 bushels, value, $189,154.

Capital, Tallahassee. Area, 59,268 square miles. Population, (1860), 140,425.

This state was formed from part of the territory ceded by Spain to the United States, by treaty of February 22, 1819. It was settled in 1565, by the Spaniards, at St. Augustine, was organized as a territory, March 3, 1823, and admitted into the Union as a state, March 3, 1845. An ordinance of secession was passed January 10, 1861, which was repealed, October 28, 1865, by a convention which met October 25. This convention repudiated the rebel debt, and adopted a new constitution. This state was a part of the third military district, and under the command of Gen. Pope from March 15, 1867, to the close of the year.

A convention was held January 20, 1868, and a new constitution adopted February 25, which was ratified by the people May 6, 1868.

This constitution provides that slavery shall not exist in the state, that there shall be no civil or political distinction on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude; and that the state shall ever remain a member of the American Union, the people thereof a part of the American nation, and any attempt, from whatever source or upon whatever pretence to dissolve said Union, or to sever said nation, shall be resisted with the whole power of the state. The 14th amendment was ratified by the legislature, June 9, and the state admitted to representation in congress by an act passed over the President's veto, June 25, 1868.

The Governor and Lieutenant Governor are chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the time and places of voting for members of the legislature, and hold office for four years. The Secretary of State, Treasurer, Comptroller, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Commissioner of Immigration, and Adjutant General, are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, and hold their offices the same time as the Governor, or until their successors shall be qualified.

The members of the Assembly, 53 in number, are chosen biennially on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The next election for this purpose will be in 1870. The Senators, 24 in number, are chosen for a term of four years, at the same time and place as members of the Assembly. The senators elected in 1868 from districts denoted by even numbers, vacate their seats at the expiration of two years, and thereafter one-half the whole number will be elected annually. The Seminole Indians are entitled to one member in each branch of the legislature. He must be a member of the tribe, and be elected by the qualified Indian electors.

The sessions of the legislature are annual, and are held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January. Regular sessions may extend to 60 days, but any special session convened by the Governor cannot exceed 20 days.

The pay of members of the Senate and House of Representatives is $500 per annum, each, and ten cents for each mile traveled in going from their residences to the capital and returning.

Every male person of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, of whatever race, color, nationality, or previous condition, who shall, at the time of offering to vote, be a citizen of the United States, or who shall have declared his intention to become such in conformity to the laws of the United States, and who shall have resided in Florida for one year, and in the county for six months, next preceding the election at which he shall offer to vote, shall in such county be deemed a qualified elector at all elections under this Constitution.

The legislature must enact laws requiring educational qualifications for electors after the year 1880, but no such law shall be made applicable to any elector who may have registered or voted at any election previous thereto.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power of the state is vested in a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, County Courts, and Justices of the Peace.

The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, who hold their offices for life or during good behavior. They are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The majority of the Justices constitutes a quorum for the transaction of all business. The Supreme Court holds three terms each year at the seat of government; such terms commence on the second Tuesday of October, January, and April, respectively. This Court has appellate jurisdiction in all cases in equity, also in cases of law in which is involved the title to, or right of possession of real estate; in certain other civil cases specified; and in all criminal cases, in which the offences charged amount to felony. It has power to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto, habeas corpus, and also all writs necessary or proper to the complete exercise of its appellate jurisdiction. It appoints a Clerk who is also Librarian of the Supreme Court Library.

There are seven Circuit Judges appointed by the governor, and confirmed by the senate, who hold their office for eight years. The state is divided into seven judicial districts, the limits of which are defined in the Constitution, and one judge is assigned to each circuit. Such judge holds two terms of his court in each county within his circuit, each year, at such time and places as shall be prescribed by law. The judge must reside in the circuit to which he is assigned.

The Circuit Courts in the several judicial circuits have original jurisdiction in all cases in which the Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction.

They have final appellate jurisdiction in all civil cases arising in the County Court in which the amount in controversy is one hundred dollars and upwards, and in all cases of misdemeanor. The Circuit Courts, and the Judges thereof, have power to issue writs of mandamus, injunctions, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs proper and necessary to the complete exercise of their jurisdiction, and also to issue writs of habeas corpus on petition by, or on behalf of, any person held in actual custody in their respective circuits.

There is a County Court in each county. The Governor appoints the County Judges, who are confirmed by the Senate, and each Judge holds his office for four years from the date of his commission, or until his successor is appointed and qualified. The County Court is a Court of Oyer and Terminer, and has jurisdiction of all misdemeanors and all civil cases, where the amount in controversy does not exceed three hundred dollars, except when the title or boundaries of real estate is in controversy, and its jurisdiction is final in all civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars.

EDUCATION.

The constitution asserts the duty of the state to make ample provision for the education of all the children residing within its borders, without distinction or preference.

The legislature is required to provide a uniform system of public schools and a University, and to provide for the liberal maintenance of the same, so that instruction shall be free. The Superintendent of Public Instruction, Secretary of State and Attorney General, constitute the Board of Education.

The Superintendent has the general supervision of all the educational interests of the state. Provision is made for a common school fund, the interest of which shall be exclusively applied to the support and maintenance of common schools, and purchase of libraries and apparatus therefor. This fund is to be derived from the following sources, viz:

The proceeds of all lands that have been or may hereafter be granted to the State by the United States for educational purposes; donations by individuals; appropriations by the state; the proceeds of lands or other property which may accrue to the state by escheat or forfeiture; the proceeds of all property granted to the state, when the purpose of such grant is not specified; all moneys which may be paid as an exemption from military duty; all fines collected under the penal law of the state; such portion of the per capita tax as may be prescribed by law for educational purposes; twenty-five per centum of the sales of Public Lands which are now, or which hereafter may be owned by the state. A special tax of not less than one mill on the dollar of all taxable property in the state, in addition to the other means provided, is to be levied and apportioned annually for the support and maintenance of common schools.

Each county is required to raise annually by tax, for the support of common schools therein, a sum not less than one-half of the amount appointed to each county for that year from the income of the common school fund. Any school district neglecting to establish or maintain for at least three months in each year, such school or schools as may be provided for by law, will forfeit its portion of the common school fund during such neglect.

There are two state seminaries, the East Florida Seminary and the West Florida Seminary which receive appropriations from the state.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Governor and Cabinet constitute a Board of Commissioners of State Institutions, and this board has supervision of all matters connected with such institutions. Governor Reed in his message to the legislature in 1868, strongly urges immediate provision for Asylums for the Insane, Blind, Deaf and Dumb, and for a State Penitentiary. He says that,

“Under the present system, the State has really been unable to punish its criminals. To place them in jail, has simply resulted in daily expense without the most remote probability of a payment of fines imposed; the consequence has been that the Governor has found it necessary to exercise the pardoning power to save the State from bankruptcy, and while this course has resulted, no doubt, in saving perhaps considerable sums, yet it has at the same time resulted in releasing the criminal without really adequate punishment for the offence. Crime must be punished or society cannot be maintained.”

The expenses of the state for 1867, for criminal prosecutions, was $35,-733.05, and for jurors and witnesses, $22,675.54. It is supposed that at least an average of 100 persons per day throughout the year, were supported by the state in idleness under the prison system at a cost of about $19,500 per year.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The first United States Census taken in Florida was in 1830, the population at that time, and at the close of each decade since was as follows:

	Whites.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1830.....	18,835.....	844.....	15,501.....	34,730.....
1840.....	27,943.....	817.....	25,717.....	54,477.....	56.86
1850.....	47,203.....	932.....	39,310.....	87,445.....	60.52
1860.....	77,748.....	932.....	61,745.....	140,425.....	60.59

The ratio of increase has varied but little; for the first decade it was 56.86 per cent., and for each of the last two decades, a little more than 60.5 per cent. The present population is estimated at 160,000 to 175,000. Of the free population in 1860, 35,602 were born in the state; 39,768 in other states; 3,309 in foreign countries; of whom 320 were born in England; 827 in Ireland; 189 in Scotland; 6 in Wales; 77 in British America; 478 in Germany; 141 in France, and 1,271 in other foreign countries. The Indians may be taxed, in which case they become citizens of the state, and have all the rights and privileges of other citizens.

Since the close of the war, emigration from the northern states, and from Europe, has been directed to this state. The mildness of the climate, the productiveness of the soil, and the cheapness of land have induced many to invest capital in agriculture or lumbering, which at present are the leading pursuits of the people, and the chief sources of wealth. Cotton, corn, sugar cane, rice and potatoes, are the principal crops. The raising of vegetables and fruits for the northern markets has proved profitable, and will in a few years add materially to the trade and wealth of the state.

Oranges, lemons, and citrons grow well in nearly every part of Florida, and in some localities the fruit is equal to that raised in any part of the world. In the southern part of the state, pine apples, bananas, figs, and dates, grow in luxuriance. Peaches, grapes, and many other fruits of the northern states, can be produced in abundance, and of excellent quality some weeks before they ripen in the latitude of New York and Philadelphia. About 17,500,000 acres of public lands are yet to be disposed of.

In 1860, there were 185 manufacturing establishments, having a capital of $1,874,125, and yielding an annual product valued at $2,447,469. The commerce of the state has not been extensive, but there is a profitable coasting trade. The General Assembly in July and August, 1868, incorporated the Southern Inland Navigation Company, and two Steamboat and Canal companies, all of which have for their object the improvement of inland navigation, also two railroad companies, the aggregate capital of the whole being $1,060,000.

Capital, Atlanta. Area. 58,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 1,057,286.

Georgia was settled at Savannah in 1733, by the English, under General Oglethorpe. It received its charter, June 9, 1732, from George II, from whom it was named. It was the last settled of the original thirteen states, formed its constitution in 1777, and ratified the constitution of the United States, January 2, 1788. It was a member of the late Southern Confederacy, adopted an ordinance of secession, January 19, 1861, which was repealed, October 30, 1865, by a convention which assembled on the 25th of the same month. The same convention repudiated the debt incurred by the rebellion, and adopted a new constitution. This state was included in the 3d military district; Major General Pope and General Meade commanding. The new constitution was adopted in convention, March 11, 1868, and ratified by the people, April 20, 1868. This constitution declares that all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and resident in the state, shall be citizens of the state, and no laws shall be made or enforced which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, or of this state, or deny to any person within its jurisdiction, the equal protection of its laws.

GOVERNMENT.

OFFICE.	NAME.	RESIDENCE.	SALARY.
Governor	R. B. BULLOCK.....	Atlanta.....	$1,000
Secretary of State	DAVID G. COTLING.....	Atlanta.....	2,000
Treasurer	N. L. ANGIER.....	Atlanta.....	2,000
Comptroller General	MADISON BELL.....	Atlanta.....	2,000
Attorney General	H. P. FARROW.....	Atlanta.....	300 and fees.

The Governor is chosen quadrennially for a term of four years, by the electors of the state. The Secretary of State, Comptroller General, Treasurer, and Surveyor General, are elected by the General Assembly for the same period as the Governor.

The Senate consists of 44 members, elected for four years, except that those first elected from the districts having odd numbers, hold their office for two years only; thereafter one-half will be elected biennially.

The House of Representatives consists of 175 members, elected biennially for two years. The election of Governor, members of Congress, and members of the General Assembly takes place on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The General Assembly meets annually on the second Wednesday of January, and no session can continue longer than 40 days, unless prolonged by a vote of two-thirds of each branch thereof.

Every male person, born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, or who has legally declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, twenty-one years old, or upward, who has resided in the State six months, next preceding the election, and has resided thirty days in the county in which he offers to vote, and has paid all taxes which may be required of him for the year next preceding the election, and every male citizen of the United States of the age aforesaid, who was a resident of the State at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, is deemed an elector. Soldiers and sailors in the service of the United States, persons convicted of heinous crimes, idiots, and insane persons are excepted.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial Powers of this State are vested in a Supreme Court, Superior Courts, Courts of Ordinary, Justices of the Peace, Commissioned Notaries Public, and such other Courts as have been or may be established by law.

The Supreme Court consists of three Judges, two of whom constitute a quorum. The constitution of 1868 provided that at the first appointment of Judges of the Supreme Court, one should be appointed for four years, one for eight years, and one for twelve years, but all subsequent appointments, except to fill unexpired terms, will be for the term of twelve years; and that for Judges of the Superior Court, one-half the number should be appointed for four years, and the other half for eight years; but all subsequent appointments, except to fill unexpired terms, will be for the term of eight years.

The Supreme Court has no original jurisdiction, but is a Court alone for the trial and correction of errors from the Superior Courts, and from the City Courts of Savannah and Augusta, and such other like Courts as may be established in other cities.

There is a Judge of the Superior Courts for each Judicial Circuit. He may act in other Circuits when authorized by law. The Superior Courts have exclusive jurisdiction in cases of divorce; in criminal cases where the offender is subjected to the loss of life or confinement in the Penitentiary; in cases respecting titles to land and equity cases, except as hereinafter provided; but the General Assembly has power to merge the Common Law and Equity Jurisdiction of said Courts. Said Courts have jurisdiction in all other civil cases, except as hereinafter provided. They have appellate jurisdiction in all such cases as are provided by law. They have power to correct errors in inferior Judicatories, by writ of certiorari, which only issues on the sanction of the Judge; and to issue writs of mandamus, prohibition, scire facias, and all other writs that may be necessary for carrying their powers fully into effect.

Until the General Assembly shall otherwise direct, there must be a District Judge, and a District Attorney for each Senatorial District in this State. The District Judge has jurisdiction to hear and determine all offences not punishable with death or imprisonment in the Penitentiary; and it is the duty of the District Attorney to represent the State in all cases before the District Judge.

No court has jurisdiction to try or determine any suit or enforce any judgment or execution against any resident of the State upon any contract or agreement made or implied, or upon any contract made in renewal of any debt existing prior to the first day of June, 1865, except in certain cases specifically mentioned in the constitution.

The District Judge and Attorneys hold their offices for a period of four years. The Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, the Attorney General, Solicitors General and the District Judges, and Attorneys are appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and are removable by the Governor, on the address of two-thirds of each branch of the General Assembly, or by impeachment and conviction thereon. Justices of the Peace are elected by the legal voters in their respective Districts, and are commissioned by the Governor. They are removable on conviction for malpractice in office.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

Circuit Judge, N. H. Swayne. Dist. Judge, John Erskine. District Attorney, Henry S. Fitch. Marshal, William G. Dickson.

TERMS OF COURTS.

The Supreme Court holds its sessions at the seat of government, at such times as are prescribed by law. A Superior Court must sit in each county not less than twice in each year. The District Judge must sit at stated times not less than once in each month, in each county in his district.

SUPREME COURT.

Judges of Supreme Court. Joseph E. Brown, Atlanta; Henry Kent McCay, Americus; Hiram Warner, Greenville. Salaries $2,500 in specie.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judges of Circuit Court. 1st District, Garnet Andrews, Washington; 2d District, Josiah R. Parrot, Cartersville; 3d District, John R. Alexander, Thomasville; 4th District, Chasce G. Davis, Mouroe; 5th District, Carleton B. Cole, Macon; 6th District, James M. Clarke, Americus, 7th District, James W. Green, Americus; 8th District, David B. Hassell, Thomaston; 9th District, Wm. Gibson, Augusta; 10th District, John D. Pope, Atlanta; 11th District, Philip B. Robinson, Greenboro; 12th District, Noel B. Knight, Manilla; 13th District, Wm. Schleg, Savannah; 14th District, John S. Bigby, Newman; 15th District, W. M. Sessions, Blackshear; 16th District, E. H. Worrell, Talbotton. Salaries $1,800 in specie.

FINANCES.

At the close of the fiscal year, 1866, there was in the treasury a cash balance of - - - - - $71,752
 Assets of the state consisting of shares of banks and railroads, $1,126,900
 Bonded debt, - - - - - 5,706,500

The Western and Atlantic railroad valued in 1862 at $7,869,224, for several years paid into the state treasury an interest of over 6 per ct. on $7,000,000.

EDUCATION.

According to the census of 1860, there were in Georgia 33 colleges, with 3,302 students, and $167,931 income, yet not more than five or six of these institutions would have ranked as colleges in the northern states. There were then 242 academies and private schools, with 11,075 pupils, and $237,373 income.

Many of these institutions were closed during the war, but are now in successful operation. The State University at Athens, founded in 1801, and re-organized so as to include Franklin College, confers five degrees, viz.: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Science, Civil Engineer, and Master of Arts. It has a good building, a library of more than 13,000 volumes, besides 4,000 volumes in the libraries of the societies; a valuable and complete philosophical and chemical apparatus; and an extensive Mine-ralogical and Geological Cabinet. It has been re-opened under very favorable prospects.

Oglethorpe University, at Milledgeville, Mercer University, at Renfield, and Emory College, at Oxford, are respectively under the charge of the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist denominations. They were all organized from 1835 to 1838, and have together graduated more than 1,000 students. The Wesleyan Female College at Macon, is in successful operation, with nearly as many students (144) as there were before the war.

The Constitution of 1868 provides for the organization of a thorough system of General Education, to be forever free to all children of the State, and creates the Office of State School Commissioner. This officer is appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, and holds his office for the same time as the Governor. The poll tax allowed by the Constitution, and Educational fund now belonging to the State, except the endowment of, and debt due to the State University, or that may hereafter be obtained in any way, a special tax on shows and exhibitions, and on the sale of spirituous and malt liquors, which the General Assembly is authorized to assess—and the proceeds from the commutation for military service, are set apart and devoted to the support of Common Schools. The General Assembly has power to levy such general tax upon the property of the State, as may be necessary for the support of said School System. There must be established as soon as practicable one or more Common Schools, in each School District in the state.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The State Lunatic Asylum, at Medway, near Milledgeville went into operation in 1842. The buildings were subsequently enlarged, but are now insufficient to accommodate all patients. Blacks are entitled to admission as well as whites. This institution and the Academy for the Blind at Macon, have been in successful operation, but the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb was suspended during the war, and had not been opened at our last date.

The State Penitentiary at Milledgeville was commenced in 1811, and substantially built of granite. It was repaired and improved in 1859-60, but destroyed during the war. It has since been partially restored and improved. Before the war the convicts were employed in manufacturing leather, wagons, shoes, pails, and other articles.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of Georgia at each census was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1790.....	52,886.....	339.....	29,264.....	82,548.....

In 1860, cotton, corn, wheat, and potatoes were the principal products, this state ranking first in the amount of sweet potatoes, and fourth in the amount of cotton produced. At that time, about one-fourth of the land in the state was wild or unimproved. As in most of the other southern states, farms and cultivated lands have depreciated in value since 1860. During ten years preceding the war, manufactures rapidly increased, and at the time the last National census was taken, there were 1,890 establishments annually producing goods to the value of nearly $17,000,000. The state has valuable gold mines; iron ore, marble and other minerals are abundant.

Gold was first discovered in Habersham County, in 1831. It is found principally in this county and in Carroll, Cobb, Cherokee and Lumpkin counties. A mint was established at Dahlonega, in this county, in 1837, which has received $600,000 in a single year, with an aggregate coinage to February 28, 1861, $6,121,919. Of this amount, $5,825,747 was received during the period from 1833 to 1857. Placer mining has been prosecuted in northern Georgia in a manner, and with a success not unlike the experience of California. Besides the true veins, which traverse the strata in which they lie in various angles of dip and direction, there are many depositories of gold in all directions around Dahlonega, which are auriferous beds of slates, often decomposed, and sometimes containing pyrites, and the gossan resulting from its decomposition. In Lumpkin and Habersham counties especially, these metalliferous beds have been worked like opened quarries, and the gold in some instances, has been collected with the rocker or the pan, without recourse to crushing. In those parts of the gold region where nature has subjected the auriferous rocks to much dislocation and atmospheric exposure, not only the beds of the veins, but the adjacent detritus of their valleys will unquestionably give large returns to the new and powerful methods for washing ponderous masses of earth. Companies have been organized to introduce these hydraulic appliances upon the Chestatee and other tributaries of the Chattahooche river.

The value of property as returned in 1866 was as follows.

Land.....	$103,112,524.00
City and town property.....	39,396,181.00
Money and solvent debts.....	34,521,678.00
Merchandise.....	10,933,173.00
Shipping and tonnage.....	215,667.00
Stocks, manufactures, etc.....	4,120,489.00
Household and kitchen furniture.....	1,132,408.00
Property not enumerated.....	28,751,667.00
Total value of property returned.....	$222,183,787.00

The total number of acres of land in the state.....	37,120,000
Number of acres returned in 1860.....	33,345,289
Number of acres returned in 1866.....	30,116,929
Decrease.....	3,228,860

Average value per acre in 1860, $4.85; in 1866, $3.42; decrease per acre, $1.43. In 1860, the total value of property exclusive of slaves, was $369,627,922.

8. ILLINOIS.

Capital, Springfield. Area, 55,410 square miles. Population, (1865), 2,141,510.

Illinois was settled at Kaskaskia, by the French in 1683, and was claimed by France until the treaty of Paris, in 1763, when it fell into the hands of the English. Soon after, settlers from Virginia located themselves in the territory which came under the government of the United States by the war of the revolution. It formed a part of the North-western territory ceded by Virginia to the United States in 1783, was a part of Indiana as organized in 1800, from which it was separated, and made into a distinct territory in 1809. Its constitution was framed in 1818, and it was admitted into the Union, December 23, of that year.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, are elected by the people for four years. The general election is held on the first Tuesday in November. Senators, 25 in number, are chosen for four years; and Representatives, 90 in number, for two years. One-half the Senators, and all the Representatives being elected biennially. The pay of each member of the Legislature, is $2.00 a day for the first forty days, and $1.00 a day afterwards. The Legislature is required to assemble in regular session biennially, on the first Monday in January, in the odd years, 1869, 1871, &c.

Every white male inhabitant who was a resident of the state at the adoption of the constitution, and every white male citizen 21 years of age, residing one year in the state is entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court which has appellate jurisdiction only, consists of three divisions, corresponding to three divisions of the state.

There are twenty-eight Circuit Courts presided over by as many judges. These courts have original jurisdiction in civil cases of all sums over $100, and concurrent jurisdiction with the justices courts of all sums under $100 and exceeding $20.

The Superior Court of Chicago has concurrent jurisdiction in the county and city respectively with the Circuit Court in all civil cases, and in all criminal cases except murder and treason. The Recorder's Court has jurisdiction in criminal cases, and in civil cases to the amount of $100. Each county has a County Court, with jurisdiction to the same amount as justices of the peace, but the business of these courts is chiefly probate matters.

*Several of these officers have fees in addition to their salaries.

STATE DEBT.

On the 1st of December, 1860, the entire bonded debt of the state amounted to $10,277,161.36. This was increased by the war loan of July, 1861, to $12,327,161.36. On the 1st of December, 1866, the entire debt amounted to only $8,638,252.21, and there was in the treasury to be applied to the reduction of this debt, $765,470.65. The debt, at that time, was made up of the following items :

Bank and Internal Improvement Stock.....	$31,000.00
Internal Improvement Stock.....	42,000.00
New Internal Improvement Stock.....	1,765,526.43

The receipts of the seven per cent. gross earnings of the Illinois Railroad for two years, were $923,565.59, or nearly enough to defray the ordinary expenses of the state government. This revenue is however pledged to the payment of interest-paying state indebtedness until the extinction thereof.

The amount of the debt outstanding, December 1, 1868, was $5,988,453. The interest will cease upon bonds amounting to $151,311, after January 1, 1869. These, with liquidation and re-funded stock bonds, amounting in the aggregate to $557,311, the state can redeem at pleasure. The remainder of the debt matures after 1870.

EDUCATION.

There are more than thirty institutions in this state, bearing the name of university or college, a part of which are well endowed, furnishing a full collegiate course, and conferring degrees, while a part are of no higher grade than many academies or seminaries in the eastern states.

The State Industrial University, founded by an act of the legislature, approved, February 28, 1867, and located between the cities of Champaign and Urbana, Champaign county, was opened in 1868, with a faculty nearly complete, and a good number of students. Its course of instruction includes the following departments: Science, Literature and Arts; Agriculture; Mechanical Science, and Art; Military Tactics, and Engineering; Mining and Metallurgy; Civil Engineering; Analytical, and applied Chemistry; Natural History, Practical Geology, &c.; Commercial Science, and Art. Students regularly admitted are allowed to take such studies as they choose, provided they are prepared to pursue the same with the regular classes.

Various collections have already been secured for cabinets in Natural Science, and the apparatus for illustration in the Department of Agriculture is very complete. The University has over 1,000 acres of improved farming lands, 40 acres of which have been set apart for gardens, nurseries, and specimen orchards; the remainder is to be used for experimental and stock farms, orchards, and collections of trees and plants. The manual labor system has been successfully introduced, the students being compensated for the work performed in proportion to their ability and fidelity.

The state superintendent of public instruction has the supervision of all the public schools in the state. He is authorized to make such rules and regulations as he may think necessary and expedient, and to explain and determine to other school officers the meaning of the school law.

There is in each county, a county superintendent who is required to visit every school in the county at least once each year, to note the methods of instruction, the branches taught, and the general condition of schools; to give such directions as may be necessary in the science, art, and methods of teaching, to encourage the formation of teachers' institutes, and to report biennially to the state superintendent.

Trustees are elected annually in each township, who are authorized to form and alter school districts, apportion school money, and purchase and hold real estate for school purposes. The trustees report biennially to the county superintendent.

In each district, there are three school directors, (one chosen each year to hold office three years,) who have the supervision and control of school property, and the authority to levy taxes for defraying all the expenses of supporting free schools, repairing school houses, and procuring furniture, fuel, libraries and apparatus.

No teacher is authorized to teach a public school without a certificate of qualification issued by the state or county superintendent. The certificates issued by the state superintendent are of perpetual validity in every county and school district in the state. County certificates are valid in the county for one and two years.

The State Normal University was first opened for the reception of students in October, 1857. It is pleasantly located in Normal, near the city of Bloomington, has ample accommodations and extensive grounds. It is now in a very prosperous condition, the number of students being greater than ever before. In addition to its regular terms, its president and other officers have for several years held a State Institute for two weeks in August, which has been attended by hundreds of teachers, many of whom could not enjoy the full course of the University. County Teachers' Institutes are held in about half of the counties of the state.

The superintendent's report is made biennially. The following statistics are taken from the last report presented to the Legislature in 1867.

Public Schools. Number of districts, 9,938; number of schools, 9,945; number of districts having schools six months or more, 9,063; number of districts having no school, 502; average number of months schools have been kept, 6.57; number of persons between the ages of 6 and 21,—white, 759,987; colored, 44,931; number of pupils—male, 320,977; female, 293,682; total, 614,659; number of teachers—male, 6,825; female, 10,454; total, 17,279; number of schools—graded, 628; private, 640; number of scholars in private schools, 20,907; number of school houses, 9,753; erected during the year, 612.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The State Charitable Institutions are mostly located in Jacksonville. They have been liberally supported by an enlightened public spirit, and have accomplished much in relieving the wants and necessities of the unfortunate. Each institution is under the charge of a separate Board of Trustees or Directors, which has the appointment of the local officers of the institution, and which reports biennially to the General Assembly.

The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb receives pupils between 10 and 21 years of age; those from Illinois are admitted free of charge; those from other states on the payment of $100 per annum.

The State Hospital for the Insane was opened in 1857. In 1865 and 1866, it was enlarged by an addition which comprised a lateral and a transverse wing, each 100 feet long, by 43, erected at a cost of $75,000. The institution can now accommodate 500 patients, and is reported in a highly prosperous condition. It has a large and productive farm.

The Institution for the Blind was originally organized by the citizens of Jacksonville, and supported for a year by their liberal donations. The Legislature in 1849, passed an act authorizing a special tax of two-tenths of a mill on the hundred dollars for the purchase of ground, erection of buildings, and support of the school. The amount of this tax was more than was necessary, and this law was repealed, and an annual appropriation of $12,000 substituted. The buildings for the use of the Institution are convenient, and amply furnished with every article conducive to the welfare of the inmates. Applicants from Illinois are admitted free. Pupils are employed in the workshop one hour a day, the remaining portion of the time is devoted to literature and music, in which all are permitted to join. The male pupils are taught to make brushes and brooms, and to weave carpets. The female pupils sew, knit stockings, and do other work.

The Institution for Idiots and Imbeciles, was established by an act of the General Assembly passed in 1865. The trustees hired the residence of the late Gov. Duncan, which was found commodious, and three pupils were admitted on the 25th of May, 1865. The number was increased during the summer to nine, and in the autumn others were received. There were nearly 100 applications during the first six months.

The Soldiers' Orphans' Home was created by the General Assembly in 1865 and nine trustees appointed to complete the organization.

The Illinois State Penitentiary was located by authority of an act of the Legislature, February 19, 1857, at Joliet, and on the 22d of May, 1858, fifty-three prisoners were received from the old Penitentiary at Alton. July 24, 1860, the last were removed, but the building was not completed until 1868.

The whole area of land pertaining to the Penitentiary is 72.19 acres; whole area within main wall, sixteen acres; the main wall is twenty-five feet high and six feet thick; there are one hundred cells for separate system, seven by fifteen feet, and fifteen feet high, nine hundred cells for congregate system, and one hundred cells for females four by seven feet, and seven feet high. Each cell has a distinct ventilating tube extending to roof, with two registers in each. All partitions, floors, and ceiling of cells are formed each of one stone, eight inches thick. The buildings and walls stand on rock foundation. All the buildings and grounds are supplied with pure water from a spring at the bluff; the buildings are warmed by steam; the kitchen and wash rooms are furnished with steam and other cooking and washing fixtures of the most modern and approved kinds.

The engines of one hundred and fifty horse power each, furnish the motive power for the machinery, running nearly 1,500 feet of heavy line shafting. Altogether it is one of the most complete prisons in the United States, as well as the most extensive and best arranged manufacturing establishment in the West.

Until July, 1867, the labor of convicts had been farmed out to contractors, who were bound to meet all the expenses of the prison. At that date the state assumed entire control. A Board of Commissioners was appointed by the Governor, and this Board selected a Warden, who has the general management of the prison, under the direction of the Commissioners.

All minors under the age of eighteen, except for the crime of robbery, burglary, or arson, convicted of any criminal offence, are exempted from punishment in the Penitentiary. They may be fined and sent to county jail, or either, for misdemeanors, but for higher crimes are always sent to the county jail. The number of these young offenders is steadily increasing in the State.

The Governor in his last biennial message, recommended the establishment of a State Reform School for this class, where they would not be exposed to association with older and more hardened criminals.

Number of convicts December 1, 1866, 1,073; of these 762 were born in the United States, and 311 in foreign countries. There were committed—for larceny, 703; robbery, 76; burglary, 69; assault to kill, 37; murder, 31; manslaughter, 29; rape, 28; passing counterfeit money, 19; burglary and larceny, 13; forgery, 12; receiving stolen property, 7; arson, 9; miscellaneous, 40; total, 1,073. Whole number December 1, 1867, 1,043.

POPULATION.

In this state, a census is taken every ten years by commissioners appointed by the County Courts. The last census was taken June 30, 1865, when the population amounted to 2,141,510, a gain of 429,056 since 1860. The population at different periods since its organization as a territory, was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1810	11,501.....	613.....	168.....	12,282.....
1820	53,788.....	457.....	917.....	55,162.....	349.53
1830	155,061.....	1,637.....	747.....	157,445.....	185.17
1840	472,254.....	3,598.....	331.....	476,183.....	202.44
1850	846,034.....	5,436.....	851,470.....	78.81
1860	1,704,323.....	7,628.....	1,711,951.....	101.06
1865	2,124,170.....	17,340.....	2,141,510.....	25.09

The population of 1865 was classified as follows—white males, 1,093,111; white females, 1,033,059; colored males, 9,112; colored females, 8,228. The increase of population has been more than 100 per cent. for every decade, except from 1840 to 1850.

This state extends through more than five degrees of latitude, presenting a variety in climate and adaptation to different products. Its soil and situation are peculiarly favorable to agriculture which has been the principal branch of industry pursued. In 1860, it surpassed all other states in wheat and corn products, yielding nearly one-seventh of the entire crop.

It is also rich in minerals, the coal fields being estimated at 44,000 square miles, and the lead mines are among the most valuable in the world.

The Illinois coal field stretches from the Mississippi near Rock Island, eastward toward Fox river, thence southeast through Indiana, and southward into Kentucky, occupying the greater part of Illinois, the southwestern portion of Indiana, and the northwestern part of Kentucky, measuring 375 miles in length from northwest to southeast, and 200 in width from St. Louis eastward, estimated to contain 1,277,500,000,000 tons of coal, sufficient to furnish an annual supply of 13,000,000 tons for nearly a hundred thousand years. The present annual product of the state is 1,500,000 tons, the amount increasing every year.

The great lead district of the Mississippi river occupies a portion of northwestern Illinois, southwestern Wisconsin, and northeastern Iowa, covering an area of 1,000,000 acres, one-sixth of which lies in Illinois. Iron ore has been mined in Hardin County, on the Ohio. Copper has been found in several counties; also marble, crystallized gypsum, quartz crystal, and silex for glass manufacture; salt also exists in the southern counties, while small quantities of gold and silver have been obtained in the lead district.

The value of real estate and personal property for 1850 is reported in the United States census at $156,265,006, and for 1860 at $871,860,282, being an increase in the ten years of $715,595,276 or 450 per cent. In 1866, the governor estimated the whole wealth of the state at not less than $1,200,000,000.

The railroad system is on an extensive scale. At the close of 1867, 3,160 miles were completed and in operation, and 812 miles more were in course of construction, making in the aggregate 3,979 miles, or one mile of railroad to 14 square miles of territory.

In addition to the facilities thus afforded to commerce, a canal has been constructed from Lake Michigan at Chicago, to La Salle on the Illinois river, 100 miles in length, affording communication by water between the lakes and the Mississippi.

According to the State census, the value of manufactured products for 1865 was $63,356,013. The leading city in the state is Chicago, which had in 1837, a population of 4,170; in 1850, 29,963; in 1860, 110,973; in 1865, 178,539, and in 1867, over 200,000. Twenty-four lines of railroad connecting various points in the state, center here, and 200 trains of cars daily arrive and depart. It is now the most extensive grain and lumber market in the world. The number of buildings erected in the city in 1867 was 7,500 at a cost of $7,500,000. The receipts and shipments of Chicago for the same time, were as follows:

Capital, Indianapolis. Area, 33,809 square miles. Population, (1860), 1,350,428.

This State was settled at Vincennes, by French emigrants from Canada, about 1730. It was organized into a territory, May 7, 1800, from which Michigan was set off in 1805, and Illinois in 1809. Its constitution was adopted, June 29, 1816, and the State was admitted into the Union, December 11, of the same year.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General and Superintendent of Public Instruction, are chosen by the people at the general election, held on the second Tuesday in October. The Governor and Lieutenant Governor hold office four years, and the others two years.

The Senators, 50 in number, and Representatives, 98 in number, are chosen at the general election in October. The regular sessions of the Legislature occur biennially in January 1869—1871—&c.

The right of suffrage is extended to every white male citizen, 21 years of age, who has resided in the State six months, and to every white male of foreign birth who has resided in the United States one year, and in the State six months, and has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States.

JUDICIARY.

The Judiciary consists of a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, and a Court of Common Pleas. The Supreme Court consists of four Judges, chosen by the people at a general election, for a term of seven years. Its jurisdiction is distinctively appellate, but its judges may award and determine writs of habeas corpus.

The judges of the Circuit Court are elected for six years, and the judges of the Court of Common Pleas for four years.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

Circuit Judge, David Davis. District Judge, David McDonald. District Attorney, A. Kilgore. Marshal, Benjamin J. Spooner. Clerk of Circuit and District Court, J. D. Howland.

SUPREME COURT.

STATE DEBT.

The following statement exhibits the condition of the debt of the State, October 31, 1867:

Five per cent. Certificates of Stock,	- - - - -	$3,754,236.33
Six per cent. War Loan Bonds,	- - - - -	237,000.00
		$3,991,236.33

Of the Vincennes University Bonds, which do not properly come under the head of the public debt, there were - - - - - $65,585.00

Of the School Fund Bonds - - - - - 3,367,082.15

In accordance with an act approved December 21, 1865, notice was given that the State Debt Sinking Fund Commissioners would redeem on July 1, 1867, at the office of the Agent of the State, in the city of New York, so much of the outstanding two and one-half per cent. Certificates of Stock, as the fund at the disposal of the Board would permit.

At a meeting of Commissioners, it was found that certificates of stock amounting to $877,377.60 had been presented, and that there were certificates outstanding and subject to redemption, which would make the aggregate amount $1,183,187.55, while there was of the fund in the hands of the Agent of the State, but $917,381.57. The balance, $265,805.98, was drawn from the general fund of the Treasury.

The Commissioners also redeemed, in 1867, of the war loan $39,000; and of five per cent. certificates $40,450, making an aggregate of $1,295,637.55, or nearly one fourth of the entire indebtedness of the State redeemed during the year.

EDUCATION.

Seven different religious denominations have colleges or universities under their care and patronage, a portion of which are endowed and supplied with convenient buildings, and suitable apparatus and libraries.

The State University at Bloomington has an endowment of $90,000, and buildings and other property valued at $50,000. A law department is connected with this institution.

The public schools are under the supervision of a Superintendent of Public Instruction, elected by the people, who reports biennially to the legislature.

In each county an Examiner is appointed to examine teachers and visit schools, under the direction of County Commissioners who determine the amount of time to be occupied by the examiner in his official duties. The commissioners also report annually to the State Superintendent.

The law provides for the appointment in each city and township of three school Trustees who have the local supervision of schools, and of a Board of Directors who have the care and management of school property.

Much has been done for the improvement of schools within a few years. The standard of qualifications of teachers has been elevated, school funds have been increased, and the income wisely distributed, and the supervision of schools has been more thorough and effective. A State Normal School was established by an act of the Legislature, approved December 26, 1865, and located in the city of Terre Haute, which contributed $50,000 in money, and a lot of land worth $25,000 for its use. The building, the corner stone of which was laid in August, 1867, will, when completed, be one of the finest Normal School buildings in the country. The plan of the institution provides for a Normal School proper, a Model High School, and a Model Primary Training School, all in the same building.

City training schools have been established at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Evansville, and other places.

A Teachers' Institute is required to be held in each county, by the county examiners, as often as once a year. The Institutes are well attended and are producing good results.

The School Fund of the State, amounting in 1866 to $7,613,490.35, is one of the largest in the Union, and it is believed it will soon be increased to $10,000,000, affording important aid to the Public Schools of the State.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

Provision has been made for the education of the Deaf and Dumb, and for the treatment of the Blind and Insane, in institutions established at the capital, placed under efficient superintendents, and conducted on liberal but economical principles.

The Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb was established in 1844, its buildings and grounds costing $132,000.

For the purposes of instruction, the pupils are divided into 8 classes, each consisting of from 18 to 24 pupils, classified according to attainment. Scientific instruction, illustrated with suitable apparatus, has been introduced into the highest class. The boys are taught trades, principally shoe making and cabinet making, and the girls are taught the use of the needle.

The Institution for the Blind was opened in 1847, in buildings which cost about $100,000. In 1867 important repairs and improvements were made to the buildings, to the Astronomical and Philosophical apparatus, and to the Cabinet. Object teaching has been introduced and successfully prosecuted with the usual studies. In the Industrial Department, the boys are occupied in making brooms and brushes, and the girls in a variety of employments, the principal being the making of bead work.

In both these institutions the board and tuition of pupils residing in the State are free; the annual charge to those from other States is $150.

The Asylum for the Insane was opened in 1848, with a part of its buildings only completed. In 1865 an act was passed authorizing the enlargement of the Asylum, and the construction of the buildings was commenced, but further appropriations were needed for their completion.

A temporary Soldiers' and Seamen's Home was opened in the city hospital building at Indianapolis, August 27, 1865. In 1866, the Board of Directors purchased the property known as the "Knightstown Springs," in Rush county, at a cost of $8,500, to which place the Home was removed on the 26th day of April. The farm consists of fifty-four acres of excellent land, thirty-five of which are under cultivation—the balance a grove of forest timber. The buildings are commodious, affording ample room for about 100 patients.

There are two State Prisons, one styled the State Prison North, at Michigan City, and the other the State Prison South, at Jeffersonville. In the latter, the labor of the convicts is let out to contractors, who employ them in the manufacture of agricultural implements, stoves, buggies, harnesses, and shoes. All the convicts are employed. The price received for the labor is from 40 to 50 cents per day for each. Under this arrangement, the institution brings no profit to the State, but is about self-sustaining. The expenses for maintaining and guarding convicts, with other necessary expenses, are about fifty thousand dollars per annum.

The Governor in his message in 1867, says: "The reports from the Boards of Trustees, and the Wardens of the Northern and Southern Prisons, and other information I have received, show that the Prisons have been well and economically conducted."

The House of Refuge for Juvenile Offenders, was established by an act of the General Assembly, approved March 8, 1867, and placed under the charge of a Board of Control, consisting of three Commissioners appointed by the Governor. The institution was located near Plainfield, in Hendricks County, and is to be conducted on the family system, the plan contemplating one main building and ten family buildings, with necessary shops and other buildings to accommodate 500 boys. A portion of the buildings was completed, and a few boys were received in 1868. Boys under 18 years of age may be committed for incorrigible or vicious conduct, vagrancy, want of a suitable home, or for the commission of any crime or misdemeanor. The expense of each State pupil is borne, one-half by the State and one-half by the county. Private pupils may be received on certain conditions, by the payment of expenses by parent or guardian.

Indiana Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Indianapolis. THOMAS MCINTIRE, Superintendent. Number of pupils at commencement of year, 162; number received during the year, 30; number discharged, 22; died, 1. Whole number instructed during the year, 192; number remaining in the institution, October 31, 1867, 169. Expenditures for the year were—on account of current expenses, $34,212.41; furnishing goods, and repairs, $2,803.23; clothing for indigent pupils, $1,886.16. Paid over to the State, on account of shops, $3,477.12. Receipts from the State Treasury, $39,102.04.

Indiana Institute for the Education of the Blind, Indianapolis. W. H. CHURCHMAN, Superintendent. Whole number of pupils during the year—males, 55; females, 68; total, 123. Number in attendance Nov. 1, 1867,—males, 42; females, 54; total, 96. Number of teachers—in literary department, 5; in music department, 3; instructors in handicraft, 2.

Indiana Hospital for the Insane, Indianapolis. WILSON LOCKHART, Superintendent. Number of inmates September 1, 1868, 313. Income, $60,000 per annum from Legislature, and use of 160 acres of land.

Soldiers' and Seamens' Home, Rush County. Number received to Nov. 30, 1866, 224. Discharged, 134; died, 14; remaining, 76. Expense, $17,060.84.

Indiana State Prison—South, Jeffersonville. J. B. MERRIWETHER, Warden. Number of convicts, September, 1868—males, 368; females, 14; total, 382.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The following is the population as given by each census from 1800 to 1860, with ratio of increase for each decade:

	Population.	Inc. per cent.		Population.	Inc. per cent.
1800.....	4,875.....		1840.....	685,866.....	99.94
1810.....	45,365.....	402.97	1850.....	988,416.....	44.11
1820.....	147,178.....	500.24	1860.....	1,350,428.....	33.63
1830.....	343,031.....	133.07

By the enumeration of 1866, the State had a population of 340,240 white males over the age of twenty-one, which number multiplied by the ratio usually adopted, would give a population of over 1,700,000. There were in 1860, 1,339,000 whites, and 11,428 blacks. 693,348 were males, 645,362 were females. Of this population, 1,232,244 were native born, and 118,184 foreign born.

The following table shows the nativity and number of the principal portions of the foreign-born population:

Germany.....	66,705.....	England.....	9,304.....	Switzerland.....	3,813
Ireland.....	24,495.....	France.....	6,176.....	Scotland.....	2,093

A very large proportion of the surface of Indiana, or nearly 20,000,000 acres is capable of cultivation, most of it very fertile. In 1860 there were 158,714 farmers in the State, and but 40,827 farm laborers, a large proportion of the tillers of the soil owning the land they cultivate. Corn and wheat are the staple products, the former yielding on the bottom lands, with good culture, from 100 to 125 bushels per acre.

This State by the last census was the first in the Union in the number of swine raised, the third in the number of sheep, and the fourth in the number of horses. The whole value of live stock then returned was $50,116,964.

The southern part of the State is adapted to the growth of the vine. The first successful wine manufactured in the United States was at Vevay, on the Ohio.

In 1860, the leading articles of manufacture were flour, meal, and lumber; $300,000 were invested in forges and furnaces for working iron; about $105,000 worth of bar and other rolled iron; upwards of $400,000 worth of steam-engines and machinery, and about $200,000 worth of iron castings were made.

The whole number of manufacturing establishments in the State in 1860, was 5,120, employing 21,300 hands, and consuming raw material, inclusive of fuel, valued at $27,360,000, with a capital invested of $18,875,000, and producing an annual product of $43,250,000.

The great coal field of Illinois extends into Indiana, covering in the western part an estimated area equal to 7,700 square miles, or more than one-fifth part of the whole surface. On White river the seams are upwards of six feet thick. In other localities seams of eight feet in thickness are found. Some of the coal measures, it is estimated, are capable of yielding 50,000,000 bushels to the square mile. At Cannelton, on the Ohio, a bed of cannel coal is found from three to five feet in thickness, at an elevation of seventy feet above the river.

Gold, copper, lead, and coal-oil have been found, but not enough is yet known of them to judge of their paying qualities. The finest varieties of timber, such as oak, walnut, poplar, and cherry, abound in all parts of the state, and the annual shipments are very large. In Lawrence county, building stone, known as the "White River or Bedford stone," is found in large quantities, and shipped to St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, &c.

There are over 2,500 miles of railroads, costing more than $90,000,000, and affording excellent facilities for a profitable traffic which is annually increasing.

Value of Property and Products. In 1867, the value of lands and improvements was $256,689,312; value of town lots and improvements, $47,496,510; value of personal property, $155,095,015; total valuation, $459,348,322; valuation of property from which no reports had been received for 1867, as taken in 1866, $118,520,757, making the total valuation of real and personal property in the State in 1867, $577,869,079.

The chief products in 1866, were—corn, 127,676,247 bushels, value $56,177,548; wheat, 9,114,562 bushels, value $21,966,094; rye, 345,144 bushels, value $355,498; oats, 10,158,562 bushels, value $3,555,497; barley, 339,474 bushels, value $363,237; buckwheat, 443,094 bushels, value $451,956; potatoes, 3,774,226 bushels, value $2,151,309; tobacco, 8,205,973 pounds, value $689,302; hay, 1,088,932 tons, value $10,279,518.

Banks. There were, Sept. 30, 1868, 68 National Banks in operation, with a capital of $12,867,000. Three National Banks have been closed.

Capital, Des Moines. Area, 55.045 square miles. Population, (1867), 902,040.

Iowa originally formed a part of the territory purchased from France in 1803; and was successively connected with Missouri and Wisconsin territories. A settlement was made at Dubuque in 1778, by a colony from Prairie Du Chien, which remained over twenty years. Permanent settlements were commenced about 1830, at Burlington and Dubuque, by emigrants from Michigan and Illinois. It was organized as a territory by act of Congress in June, 1838, and admitted into the Union as a state, December 25, 1846.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Superintendent of Public Instruction are chosen each odd year by the people, to serve two years, and until their successors are qualified. The Register of the State Land Office, Secretary of State, Auditor, and Treasurer are elected each even year, for the same period. They enter upon their duties in January after their election. The sessions of the Legislature are biennial.

The Senators, 49 in number, are chosen for four years, one-half being elected every two years. The Representatives, 100 in number, are elected for two years. The number of senators cannot be less than one-third nor more than one-half the number of representatives.

Every white* male citizen who has been a resident of the state six months, and of the county 60 days is entitled to vote. Persons in the military, naval, or marine service of the United States, idiots, the insane, and those who have been convicted of infamous crimes are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, District Court, and such other courts as the General Assembly may establish. The Supreme Court, with appellate jurisdiction only in chancery, consists of four Judges, elected by the people for six years, the one having the shortest time to serve is Chief Justice. None of these Judges are eligible to any other state office until the time for which they were elected has expired. This court sits for the correction of errors in all cases at law, and in equity, in all cases tried by the second method, embracing by statute, default cases, divorces, foreclosure of mortgages and tax titles, and other cases in equity by agrément of parties. It also exercises supervisory control over inferior judicial tribunals.

The District Courts, 12 in number, exercise general original jurisdiction, civil and criminal, in chancery and at common law, where not otherwise provided by statute, and have supervision over inferior courts to prevent otherwise irremediable abuses. The General Assembly at its last session, (1868), established twenty-four circuits, in each of which a Circuit Judge was elected in November, for four years. These Judges enter upon their duties January 4, 1869. The District Judge, with the two Circuit Judges in the District, are to hold general term courts from two to four times a year.

STATE INDEBTEDNESS.

Bonds issued to the Permanent School Fund of the state, dated Nov. 12, 1864, interest payable on the 1st days of January and July in each year, at 8 per cent.,	$122,295.75
Iowa 7 per cent. Bonds payable in New York, January 1, 1868, issued under Chap. 7, Acts 1858,	200,000.00
War and Defense Fund 7 per cent. Bonds issued under Chap. 16, Acts of extra Session, 1861,	300,000.00
Total,	$622,295.75

The bonds due January 1, 1868, have been provided for and paid as far as presented. At the close of the fiscal year, 1867, there was not a single outstanding warrant drawing interest, and an extra tax of 1 1-4 mills on the dollar on the valuation of the state would pay the entire state indebtedness.

EDUCATION.

The State University at Iowa City is permanently established by the Constitution, and placed under the control of the General Assembly. It has an endowment in land, mortgage notes and other property of $195,582.36 from which an income of $18,317 was derived in 1867. Nearly all the lands belonging to the University have been sold and its productive capital will not be largely increased except by additional appropriations. It has a Normal Department which has been of important service in preparing teachers for the public schools.

There are eight other Colleges and Universities, and more than fifty academies and seminaries in successful operation, nearly all of which have been founded within the last fifteen years. Many of these are rapidly increasing in strength and influence. The Agricultural College has one of the most imposing and substantial buildings in the state, and has connected with it an experimental farm of 648 acres.

This institution was founded in 1858, but for various causes, the buildings were not completed for the reception of students until 1868. The college building will accommodate about 200 students; and will be provided with apparatus, laboratory, library, and cabinets.

A portion of the farm is already under cultivation, and comprises ploughland, meadow, orchard, and garden. At the beginning of the year 1868, the stock on the farm was valued at $8,260, and the agricultural implements at $1,460. Students are to pass a portion of the time in experimental farming and gardening.

The public school system which has been in operation about ten years has already developed an active interest in education. Superior school buildings have been provided, graded schools established, and a commendable spirit is manifested in efforts to secure teachers of higher qualifications.

The Superintendent of Public instruction has the general supervision of the public schools of the state, and devotes his entire time to their improvement.

The system of supervision by county superintendents has been quite successful, the exceptions being caused mainly by the want of adequate compensation in some counties to secure competent officers.

Each civil township constitutes a school district and has a local Board of Directors; the tax for the payment of teachers and incidental expenses of sub-districts being levied upon the whole township. The Board of Directors may appoint one person to have the general supervision of the schools of the district, and may establish township graded schools whenever they may be necessary.

The Normal Department of the University which was opened in 1855, has given Normal instruction to more than 1,000 teachers.

There is an excellent training school at Davenport; this and other similar institutions more recently organized have secured the introduction of better methods of instruction and training, and elevated the character of primary schools. Efforts have been made for the establishment of Normal Schools for the state.

During the ten years from 1858 to 1867 inclusive, 431 Institutes were held with an estimated attendance of 28,000 teachers, and at a total cost to the state of about $21,600. The annual expenditures for school purposes during this time increased from $393,720.08 to $2,069,597.82.

Amount of district tax for teachers' fund in 1867, $620,341.12; increase since 1866, $117,180.98. Amount raised by "rate bill" or voluntary subscription for teachers' fund in 1867, $71,784.58. Amount of apportionment received from county treasurers in 1867, $478,525.98; increase in one year, $22,025.47. Number of volumes in district libraries in 1867, 9,303; decrease since 1866, 1,331; increase in ten years, 8,680. Value of apparatus in 1867, $81,712.63.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The charitable institutions of Iowa were projected on a liberal scale, but the rapid growth of the state, and the increase of the unfortunate classes for whom these institutions were established are annually demanding additional facilities and increased accommodations.

The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, located at Iowa City, has been highly prosperous, but its accommodations being inadequate, the General Assembly in 1866, passed an act to locate the institution permanently at Council Bluffs, and appointed three commissioners who purchased a site, embracing 80 acres near the city, and contracted for the erection of a building to cost $300,000, and to be completed by the first day of October, 1870. The number of deaf mutes in the state is now (1868), estimated at from 400 to 500, or more than five times the number in attendance at the institution.

The Institution for the Education of the Blind, was first established in 1853, at Iowa City. In 1862, it was removed to Vinton, Benton County, and 40 acres of ground secured on which commodious stone and brick buildings have been erected. The institution is free to all the blind of Iowa who are susceptible of education, and desirous of availing themselves of its privileges. There were in 1866, 295 blind persons in Iowa, about 16 per cent. of whom receive the benefits of the institution. The blind of other states are admitted upon the payment, annually, of $170 per pupil, provided they possess the other necessary qualifications.

The course of study consists of reading in raised print, writing, spelling; history, ancient and modern; grammar; geography; rhetoric, logic, and belles letters; natural, moral and mental philosophy; arithmetic, mental and written; algebra, and geometry. The male pupils are taught to make brooms and brushes, and the females bead work, sewing and knitting.

The Hospital for the Insane at Mount Pleasant, has been much improved, and is in a prosperous condition, but has not accommodations sufficient for all the applicants for admission. The superintendent in his report gives a full account of the improvements made, and the requisites for judicious treatment of the Insane of the state. The Board of Trustees concur with him in recommending additions to the buildings and farm.

The Trustees of the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home, have under their charge three institutions located respectively at Davenport, Cedar Falls, and Glenwood, in each of which the Orphans of soldiers are received for care and instruction. The state has appropriated $8.33 per month for the support of each inmate. This sum has been found insufficient to pay the expenses of the homes, and contributions have been made for that purpose.

PENITENTIARY.

The statistics of the Penitentiary at Fort Madison, exhibit in a marked degree the fact which has been observed in other states, that during the years of the late war there was a remarkable decrease in crime, and in the number of criminals. While in 1860, the number in the penitentiary was 123, it decreased each year until 1863, when it was but 70, but after the close of the war there was again a rapid increase; the number of prisoners in 1865 was 87; in 1866, 117; and in 1867, 160. The capacity of the prison is fully employed and increased accommodations are needed.

The penitentiary is successfully conducted. The system of "diminution" of time, the religious exercises, and the library have all been important means in the discipline and moral culture of the prisoners. The labor is under contract and consists of coopering, and manufacturing agricultural implements. The value of the labor at the close of 1867, was $1,375 per month.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

In Iowa the transition from a wilderness to cultivated farms and populous towns and cities has been rapid. There are no very large cities, but a large number of commercial centers and thriving towns. The increase in population from 1840 to 1850 was 345 per cent., and from 1850 to 1860, 251 per cent. The changes in population since the organization of the territory 30 years ago, may be seen by the following table:

1838.....	22,859	1850.....	191,982	1863.....	701,732	1867.....	902,040

The population in 1867 may be classified as follows: white males, 463,537; white females, 433,316; total white population, 897,325; colored males, 2,508; colored females, 2,203; total colored population, 4,715; number entitled to vote, 181,749; foreigners not naturalized, 13,503; number between the ages of 5 and 21 years, 339,618; number of blind, 412; deaf and dumb, 368; insane, 644.

In the per cent. of increase of real estate and personal property from 1850 to 1860, this state surpassed all other states in the Union, the increase being 943 per cent. The great distinguishing feature of Iowa is her vast and diversified prairies, a large portion of which is covered with grass and destitute of timber.

Corn, wheat, oats, and hay are the great staples of Iowa, being grown to a greater or less extent in every county in the state, with the addition of rye, barley, buckwheat, tobacco, &c., in limited quantities. Hop raising is attracting considerable attention in some counties, and in Jackson and Jones is successful and profitable.

The principal branch of industry is agriculture, but the favorable situation of the state between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and the numerous railroads which have been built and projected, have stimulated the growth of a domestic trade that is rapidly increasing. In the northeastern part of the state, there are rich lead mines, and in the central and southern portions, extensive coal fields, while iron and zinc are found in some parts of the state. The value of the annual mineral product is already more than a million of dollars, and is rapidly increasing.

Manufacturing is in its infancy but is attracting a large amount of capital and skilled industry; and the presence of minerals, fuel, and in some instances of water-power, present favorable circumstances for an enlargement of this business; the value of manufactures increased more than a hundred per cent. from 1865 to 1867.

In a majority of the counties, farm lands have increased in value 75 per cent. since the census of 1860. Wild or unimproved lands range in price from $1.25 to $25 per acre.

Land Grants. The state has received and controls for various purposes the following land grants: For aiding the common schools of the state, 1,548,487.97 acres; for agricultural college, 208,430.30 acres; towards a State University Fund, 92,030.37 acres; and to aid in the construction of railroads, 3,270,702 acres. The great value of these grants can only be indefinitely estimated in their present undeveloped state.

Banks and Railroads. There were in the state, October 1, 1868. 44 National Banks, with a capital of $4,057,000; and 1,152 miles of railroad finished and in operation.

The number of newspapers or periodicals published in the state is,—daily, 16; tri-weekly, 2; semi-weekly, 3; weekly, 141; semi-monthly, 1; monthly, 3; quarterly, 1; total, 167.

There are 29 Home, and 91 Foreign Insurance Companies doing business in the state.

11. KANSAS.

Capital, Topeka. Area, 81,318 square miles. Population, (1860), 107,206.

Kansas formed part of the great Louisiana purchase acquired from France in 1803, and was subsequently included in the Missouri, Arkansas and Indian Territories, from which last it was, in May 1854, erected into a separate territory, and admitted into the Union as a State, January 29, 1861. For several years a fierce contest raged in the territory on the subject of slavery, but the strife was finally adjusted by its being admitted as a free State.

The above officers are chosen by the people for a term of two years. The general election is held on the first Wednesday in November. Senators, 25 in number, elected for two years, and Representatives, 75 in number, elected for one year, constitute the Legislature, which meets annually on the second Tuesday in January.

White male citizens of the United States, or persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens, conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization, who have resided in the State six months, and in the township thirty days, are entitled to vote.

No person under guardianship, non compos mentis, or insane, or any person convicted of treason or felony, unless restored to civil rights, nor any soldier, seaman or marine shall be allowed to vote.

At the election in November, 1867, three amendments to the constitution respecting voters were submitted to the people, with the following results:

On striking out "white," the yeas were 10,483, nays, 19,421. Majority against, 8,938. On striking out "male," the yeas were 9,070, nays, 19,857. Majority against, 10,787. On disfranchising rebels, the yeas were 15,672, nays, 12,990. Majority for, 2,682.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court of Kansas consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices. The Judges are elected by the qualified voters of the State; those of the Supreme Court for six years, and those of the District Courts for four years. Two sessions of the Supreme Court are held annually at Topeka, in January and July.

STATE DEBT.

The outstanding liabilities, Nov. 30, 1867, were $1,002,069.82, from which are to be deducted the sums expended for war purposes, amounting in all to $328,594.82, which leaves to the State a bonded indebtedness of $673,475.00. November 30, 1868, the bonded debt was $1,095,175; outstanding warrants, $290,254; total, $1,385,429. Taxes due for 1867 and 1868, and being paid, $390,952.

EDUCATION.

The State University at Lawrence has been in part re-organized, its course of study has been extended, and additions have been made to its corps of Instructors. It now embraces a collegiate and a preparatory course. The act incorporating the University endowed it with 46,080 acres of land, and $10,000 cash, besides a site of 40 acres adjoining the city.

In 1867, a military department was added to the State Agricultural College, and the agricultural course extended.

A number of denominational and private institutions have been established, some of which are doing excellent service in the cause of education.

The school system has been modeled after the systems of the older States, and with the exceptions incident to a new country, has been efficiently administered, and the schools have rapidly improved.

The public schools are under the general supervision of a Superintendent of Public Instruction. County Superintendents have the oversight of the schools in their respective counties, receiving the reports from district officers, and reporting annually to the State Superintendent.

The Legislature in 1863 appropriated 30,380 acres of salt lands to endow a Normal School, which was located at Emporia, and opened in February, 1865, with 18 students. The attendance during the second year was 130. The year commenced in January, 1868, with a larger number of students than ever before. The school has a good building, costing $18,000. A successful model department is connected with it. Each representative district can send one pupil to the Normal School. The male pupils must be 17, and the females 16 years of age, and pledge themselves to teach in the State as long as they attend the Normal School.

Public Schools. Number of school districts, in 1866-7, 1,172; increase for the year, 186; number of white persons between the ages of 5 and 21—males, 30,023; females, 28,275; total, 58,303; number of colored persons of same age—males, 2,247; females, 2,283; total, 4,535; whole number of persons of school age, 62,838; increase, 8,110; number of children enrolled in public schools—white—males, 19,460; females, 17,484; total, 36,944; colored—males, 1,236; females, 1,269; total, 2,505; whole number, 39,449; increase, 8,191; number attending select schools, academies and colleges, 4,243; number attending public schools and other institutions of learning, 43,692; increase, 7,903; average daily attendance of children—white, 19,591; colored, 982; total, 20,573; average time of school taught for children—white, 4.4 months; colored, 4.8 months; number of teachers employed—males, 541; females, 664; total, 1,205; increase, 119; number of teachers employed in select schools, academies and colleges, 107; in public and other schools, 1,312; increase, 64; average wages paid per month to teachers—male, $39.44; female, $26.41; amount paid for teachers' wages in public schools, $170,436.39; increase, $54,522.28; amount expended in repairs and incidentals, $42,824.43; increase, $10,361.21; amount disbursed to counties from annual fund, $47,961.36; increase, $16,907.12; amount raised by district tax for public schools, $273,057.18; increase, $80,437.01; amount from various sources for support of public schools, $342,271.92; increase, $88,657.36; number of school houses—log, 241; frame, 339; brick, 15; stone, 108; total, 703; total value of school houses, $573,690.03; increase, $254,792.77; amount added to the interest-bearing permanent school fund, $66,725; increase, $36,653.44; amount of permanent school fund now invested and bearing interest, $96,796.56.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The charitable institutions already established are in successful operation. An Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb has been organized at Olathe, at which 25 pupils were in attendance in 1867.

The Asylum for the Insane at Osawatomie, was opened November 1, 1866; it has accommodations for only 22 patients. More than this number applied in 1867, who were rejected for want of room. The treatment of those received was successful, more than half having recovered.

An institution for the Blind has been located at Wyandotte, and a building erected at a cost of about $18,000, on a site, including nearly 10 acres, donated by the city. The institution was opened in 1868. As a rule, applicants who are under nine or over twenty-one years of age, are not admitted; but exceptions are sometimes made in peculiar cases, at the discretion of the Board of Trustees. No person of imbecile or unsound mind, or of confirmed immoral character, will be received. All are required to come with an adequate supply of good, comfortable clothing, embracing suitable articles for both summer and winter wear. No charge is made for the instruction of pupils.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population in 1860 was 107,206. At the time of the previous decennial census, the whole State was a wilderness, with a few scattering white settlements. Soon after its organization as a territory and the repeal of the Missouri Compromise act, emigrants from the Northern and Southern States poured in rapidly, the one section determined to exclude, and the other to introduce slavery. A bitter struggle ensued, which at last culminated in actual war. Lawrence was sacked and burned, and for a time life and property were insecure. Since the final settlement of the slavery question, immigration has increased, and the eastern part of the State has rapidly filled up. The present population is estimated at 300,000 or more.

The soil of the greater part of the State is excellent, there being two classes of land, the first embracing the alluvions of the river, and the strips of timber. Of this class, there are at least 10,000,000 acres in the State, or fully five times the amount of improved land. For the production of the heavier kinds of cereals, this land is surpassed in richness by none of the neighboring States. For wheat and other small grains, the second-class lands, embracing the upland or rolling prairies, are preferred.

The scarcity of building timber is amply compensated by the general distribution of stone suitable for the construction of buildings and fences. Unfailing springs of pure cold water are very abundant, and wells, furnishing a copious supply, need not be sunk over twenty to forty feet.

The climate is temperate and healthful. The locality of the State, half-way up the slope of the eastern Cordilleras, gives it the advantage of the higher strata of the atmosphere, with more general circulation. The equability of temperature is especially favorable to stock-raising.

From a report of the surveyor-general, it is seen that horses have increased in number in seven years, since the last decennial census, from 18,882 to 150,000; mules from 1,430 to 10,000; cattle of all kinds from 87,000 to 1,000,000; and sheep from 15,000 to 100,000. The total value of live stock has advanced from $3,205,522 to $40,300,000.

The mineral deposits of Kansas are as yet imperfectly known; but sufficient has been developed incidentally to warrant the belief that the State has a liberal endowment of the useful minerals. The coal measures of the eastern portion are supposed to cover an extensive region. In Leavenworth, Osage, and Bourbon counties, in which alone the veins have been worked to any considerable extent, the supply seems abundant and the quality superior. Sand rock and lime rock crop out all over the State. Fine magnesian limestone of beautiful color has been quarried on the Kansas river near Fort Riley, and is now used in erecting public buildings. There are a number of salt springs.

At the close of the fiscal year 1867, surveys had been extended over 20,510,443 acres of the public lands. Under the appropriation of $15,000 by act of Congress, March 2, 1867, contracts were made embracing the lands on the Smoky Hill, Saline and Solomon Forks of Kansas river, which were required to be surveyed in order to enable the Pacific Railroad Company to make selections under the grant of Congress.

The manufactures of 1860 were represented by 344 establishments, with a capital of $1,084,935, working up raw materials to the value of $1,444,975, and paying for labor $880,346. The year's product was $4,357,408, leaving a profit of $2,032,087, or 107 per cent. on the capital. The trade of the State is advancing with other great interests.

Great progress has been made in the last four years in the construction of railroads. One branch of the Pacific railroad passes through the entire length of the State. This with its branches and connections will afford important commercial facilities with the Eastern and Western States, while the completion of the railroad southward from Leavenworth will connect Chicago with Galveston, and afford convenient intercourse with those cities.

Products in 1866. Corn, 6,527,358 bushels, value $4,112,235; wheat, 260,465 bushels, value $497,488; oats, 200,316 bushels, value $94,148; potatoes, 243,514 bushels, value $387,187; hay, 123,082 tons, value $883,729.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Auditor, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, are elected by the people for the term of four years. The Governor is ineligible for the four years succeeding the expiration of his term. If a vacancy in the office of Governor occur during the first two years of the term, it is filled by a new election; if during the last two years, the Lieutenant Governor, and after him, the Speaker of the Senate, acts as Governor. The Treasurer is elected by the people every two years. The Secretary of State is appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Senators, 38 in number, are elected from single districts for four years, one-half every two years. Representatives, 100 in number, are elected from single districts for two years. Sessions of the Assembly are biennial, and cannot continue longer than 60 days without a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each branch. The members are paid $4 a day, and 15 cents a mile for travel.

Every white male citizen who has resided two years in the state, one year in the county, and 60 days in the precinct in which his vote is offered, is entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The Court of Appeals is the Supreme Court of the State, and has appellate jurisdiction over the final orders and judgments of all other courts of the State in civil cases, except where the amount in controversy is less than $50, or in cases of judgment granting divorce, or on a judgment of an inferior court from which an appeal is given to the Quarterly or Circuit Court. It has appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases, where the fine is $50 or over.

The Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction in civil cases where the amount in controversy is $50 and upwards, except where exclusive jurisdiction is given to other courts; appellate jurisdiction in certain cases specified, and criminal jurisdiction for the trial of all offenses which may be prosecuted by indictment, and all prosecutions and final actions, except where exclusive jurisdiction is given to other courts.

There are also County Courts and Justices' Courts. All Judges are Justices of the Peace. Judges of the Court of Appeals are elected by districts for a term of eight years, one every second year, and the Judge having the shortest term to serve is Chief Justice. The Circuit Court Judges are elected by districts for six years, and Justices of the Peace for four years.

Between October 10, 1867, and October 10, 1868, the outstanding bonds of the state were redeemed to the amount of $992,008.00, which expresses the reduction of the permanent debt of the state for the year.

EDUCATION.

One of the most important educational institutions of this state, is the Kentucky University which now embraces the University established in 1858, Transylvania University, and the Agricultural College. The union of these institutions was effected in 1865, and the University was permanently located at Lexington. The site includes "Ashland" the homestead of Henry Clay, and the adjoining estate of "Woodlands," in all 433 acres.

The actual cash endowment of the university, amounted in 1868 to over $400,000 and the real estate to $250,000. The first session of 1868, 220 students matriculated in the Agricultural College alone. In this college all students are required to work unless excused in consequence of actual physical debility. They are arranged into two divisions, one compensated, and the other uncompensated. The former work four hours a day on the farm, or in the work-shops, for which each member receives ten cents per hour. The latter work two hours per day, in the ornamental grounds and garden without compensation.

The public school system is attracting the attention of the state government, and measures have been taken for its improvement. A State Superintendent of Public Instruction has been appointed, who is giving more efficiency to the system.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Institution for the Education of Deaf Mutes at Danville, established in 1823, is the oldest of the state charities. For more than forty years, it has been under the charge of the same principal. Pupils receive intellectual and moral instruction, and are taught to work at useful and profitable employments. The greatest number present at the close of any session before the war was 93. During the war, the number was reduced to 52, but, in 1867, it had increased to 96. No charge is made to pupils from Kentucky; those from other states pay $150 a year for board, lights and washing; tuition is free to all.

There are two Insane Asylums in the State, the Eastern Lunatic Asylum at Lexington, founded in 1824, and the Western Lunatic Asylum at Hopkinsville. An appropriation for additional buildings for the Eastern Asylum was made by the Legislature, February 28, 1867, and the work was immediately commenced. The buildings were so far completed in 1868, that the number of inmates was largely increased. The Eastern Asylum will now accommodate 525 patients, and the Western Asylum, 325, making abundant provision for all the lunatics in the state.

The Kentucky Institution for the Blind at Louisville, was founded in 1842. In 1861, it had buildings valued at $70,000, 4 teachers and 54 pupils.

The Institution for the Education and Training of Feeble Minded Children was established in 1860, but the buildings as originally designed were but partially completed in 1867. The accommodations were sufficient for the number of inmates at that time (52).

The report of the State Penitentiary at Frankfort, indicates a large increase of prisoners since January 1, 1866, when there were but 290 confined in the prison yard. January 1, 1867, there were 450, and January 1, 1868, 540.

Of 902 in confinement in 1866 and 1867, 237 or more than one-fourth were between the ages of 15 and 20 years, and 413 were between 20 and 30. The keeper well says "there is an absolute necessity of devising some system of punishment for the young offender, which, while vindicating the law, will prevent the youth from becoming hardened in crime by association with old criminals."

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population and rate of increase for each decade are as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1790	61,133	114	11,830	73,077
1800	179,871	741	40,343	220,955	202.36
1810	324,237	1,713	80,561	406,511	83.98
1820	434,644	2,759	126,732	564,135	38.82
1830	517,787	4,917	165,213	687,917	21.09

1850	761,413	10,011	210,981	982,485	25.98
1860	919,517	10,684	225,483	1,155,684	17.64

According to the census of 1860, there were in Kentucky 7,644,208 acres of improved land, and 11,519,053 unimproved. There has been an average increase of about 10 per cent. in the value of farm lands, since that time; in some counties the increase was much more, the greatest increase being near the principal cities.

The soil supplies the chief source of wealth, rendering Kentucky peculiarly an agricultural and grazing country. A mixed husbandry generally prevails, embracing the production of wheat, corn, oats, rye, potatoes, tobacco, and the raising of stock. Wheat, corn, and tobacco are the chief crops, the latter being the principal one for export, the corn grown being largely used upon the farms—converted into stock. Blue grass is the almost universal grass of Kentucky, and the “blue grass region” is well known as a grazing country. Under favorable circumstances, stock may be sustained nearly the whole year upon pastures alone.

This state is rich in minerals. Coal is found in abundance in Greenup, Rockcastle, Laurel, Pulaski, Whitley, Clinton, Edmonson, Hardin, Ohio, Butler, Christian and Webster counties, and iron in greater or less quantity in nearly all of them. Lead is found in Trimble, Owen, Bourbon, Scott, Franklin, Anderson, and Livingston counties, and in others contiguous. Salt wells exist in several counties, but are not worked to any great extent.

An active trade is conducted with New Orleans, St. Louis, and other places on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

The principal products in 1866, were—corn, 65,564,630 bushels, value, $32,126,669; wheat, 2,063,256 bushels, value, $4,745,489; rye, 419,287 bushels, value, $469,601; oats, 5,644,573 bushels, value, $2,709,395; potatoes, 1,786,200 bushels, value, $1,196,754; tobacco, 61,683,856 pounds, value, $5,859,966; hay, 115,844 tons, value, $1,482,803.

The chief products for 1867, were—tobacco, 101,261,879 lbs.; hemp, 4,646,735 lbs.; hay 105,964 tons; corn, 50,262,463 bushels; wheat, 2,223,447 bushels; barley, 94,963 bushels; mineral products—pig metal, 9,737 tons; bloom, 5,159 tons; bar iron, 1,860 tons.

Assessment, 1867. Acres of land, 20,449,880, value, $210,534,221; town lots, 52,867, value, $82,037,164; horses, 350,586, value, $21,553,061; mules, 80,074, value, $5,618,203; cattle, 605,870, value, $7,725,126; stores, 10,536, value, $18,965,588; value under the equalization law, $42,794,653; value of pleasure carriages and other vehicles, $1,663,577; value of watches and clocks, $1,241,168; value of gold and silver plate, $448,312; value of pianos, $873,858; total value, $393,618,655.

13. LOUISIANA.

Capital, New Orleans. Area, 41,346 square miles. Population, (1860), 708,002.

The territory from which Louisiana was formed, was first settled by the French at Iberville, in 1699. In 1762, it was ceded by France to Spain, and in 1800, was ceded back by Spain to France.

In 1803, the whole territory including Arkansas, Missouri, and a large tract west of the Mississippi, was ceded by France to the United States. Louisiana was organized as a distinct territory in 1804, and admitted into the Union as a state in 1812.

The ordinance of secession which was adopted by a state convention, January 26, 1861, was repealed by another convention, which met April 6, 1864. A new constitution was adopted by this convention, which was ratified by the people, September 5, 1864, and the State Legislature and Representatives to Congress were chosen. The state was under the supervision of the General commanding the Department of the Gulf of Mexico, until the passage of the military reconstruction act, March 2, 1867, when it was joined with Texas to form the 5th Military district. A constitutional convention assembled at New Orleans, November 23, 1867; and a new constitution was formed which was ratified by the people, April 23, 1868. The state was admitted to representation in Congress by act of June 25, 1868.

GOVERNMENT.

Superintendent of Education	THOMAS W. CONWAY.....	New Orleans.....	5,000
Attorney General	S. BELDEN.....	New Orleans.....	5,000

All the above state officers are chosen by the legal voters of the state for a term of four years each, except that at the first election under the new constitution, the treasurer was to be elected for two years.

The legislative power is vested in the General Assembly, consisting of a Senate and House of Representatives. The Senators, 36 in number, are elected for four years, one-half biennially, and the representatives, 101 in number, for two years. General election first Monday in November. The members of the General Assembly receive $8 for each day of attendance, and going to and returning from the sessions which are limited to 60 days each.

Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, born or naturalized in the United States, and a resident of this state one year next preceding an election, and the last ten days within the parish in which he offers to vote, shall be deemed an elector. Criminals and certain persons who participated in the rebellion are excluded. All persons without regard to race, color, or previous condition, born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, and residents of this state for one year, are citizens of this state.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, District Court, Parish Courts, and in Justices of the Peace.

The Supreme Court, except in cases provided, has appellate jurisdiction only. It is composed of one Chief Justice, and four Associate Justices, a majority of whom constitutes a quorum. The Chief Justice and the Associate Justices are appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for the term of eight years. They must be citizens of the United States, and have practiced law for five years, the last three thereof next preceding their appointment, in this state. The Court appoints its own clerks.

The Supreme Court holds its sessions in the city of New Orleans from the first Monday in the month of November to the end of the month of May.

The state is divided into districts, in each of which a judge is chosen for four years by the qualified electors. The number of districts must not be less than 12 nor more than 20, and must remain unchanged for four years. The present number is 18. There is one District Court in each district except the parish of Orleans which has seven.

The District Courts have original jurisdiction in all civil cases when the amount in dispute exceeds five hundred dollars exclusive of interest. In criminal cases their jurisdiction is unlimited. They have appellate jurisdiction in civil ordinary suits when the amount in dispute exceeds $100.

For each Parish Court one judge is chosen by the qualified electors of the parish. He holds his office for the term of two years. In 1868 there were 18 district judges, and 48 parish judges. The Justices of the Peace are chosen by the electors of each parish, and hold office for the term of two years.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

 Salary of Chief Justice, $7,500; of each Associate Justice, $7,000.

FINANCES.

The Receipts from all sources for 1868, as reported by the State Treasurer, November 19, were as follows:

Various taxes and arrears	$1,377,750
Licenses on Trades, Professions and Occupations.....	425,000
Duty on Sales at Auction	50,000
Sales of Swamp Lands.....	10,000
Miscellaneous.....	20,000
Total receipts for the year 1868.....	$1,882,750

The Expenditures during the same period, according to the General Appropriation Bill, were as follows:

Salaries of Officers and Contingent Expenses of their Departments.....	$150,180
Salaries of Judges, District Attorneys, and Reporters of Supreme Court.....	206,300
Compensation to State Assessors and Tax Collectors, and deductions of uncollected taxes.....	210,000

Support of Charitable Institutions.....	82,000
Miscellaneous	39,400
Total expenditures for 1868.....	$1,945,788
Deficit.....	63,038

STATE DEBT.

The total outstanding bonded debt of the state, November 19, 1868, consisted of 9,473 bonds, amounting to $7,962,800. From this should be deducted bonds of the State, which were the property of the state, and were held by the State Treasurer:

For the Free School Fund.....	$856,500
For the Seminary Fund.....	137,000
For Redemption of State Debt.....	198,000
	$1,191,500

Leaving the total outstanding Bonded Debt, exclusive of the bonds owned by the State, $6,771,300; the state also owned consolidated city bonds and Railroad bonds, amounting to $371,000; which, if sold or exchanged, would reduce the bonded debt of the state to $6,400,371.

The floating debt of the state, consisting of state notes, warrants and overdue coupons, amounted to $1,929,500, which, with the deficit for the year, it was expected would be entirely liquidated by the special tax of 1 per cent.

EDUCATION.

The constitution provides that the General Assembly shall establish at least one free public school in every parish throughout the state, and shall provide for its support by taxation or otherwise. All children of this state between the ages of six and twenty-one are admitted to the public schools or other institutions of learning sustained or established by the state in common, without distinction of race, color, or previous condition. No separate schools or institutions of learning can be established exclusively for any race by this state.

A University is to be established and maintained in the city of New Orleans. It is to be composed of a law, a medical, and a collegiate department, each with appropriate faculties. The General Assembly must provide for its organization and maintenance; and all departments are to be opened in common to all students capable of matriculating.

Since the close of the war, the Centenary College at Jackson, under the care of the Methodist Church, and several private schools and academies have been revived and are now prosperous.

The public schools are under the general supervision and control of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The proceeds of all lands granted by the United States for the use and support of public schools, and of certain other land grants; and the proceeds of all estates of deceased persons to which the state may be entitled by law, are held by the state as a loan, and are to remain a perpetual fund on which the state shall pay an annual interest of six per cent., which interest, with the interest of the trust fund deposited with this state by the United States, and the rent of the unsold lands must be appropriated to the support of public schools; this appropriation is to remain inviolable. No appropriation can be made by the General Assembly for the support of any private school, or any private institution of learning whatever. One-half of the funds derived from the poll tax, are appropriated exclusively to the support of the free public schools throughout the state, and the University of New Orleans.

The Normal school in the city of New Orleans was suspended in 1862, but it has been re-established and continued by the benevolence of teachers of the city who have given their services to it gratuitously.

School Statistics of New Orleans. Number of schools—for white children—High Schools, 3; District Schools, 36; for colored children, 16; total, 55; number of teachers—for white children, 262; for colored children, 52; total, 314; number of pupils enrolled—white children, 17,163; colored children, 4,477; total, 21,640. S. Mount, $5,000; total $435,000.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The constitution provides that institutions for the support of the insane, and the education and support of the blind and the deaf and dumb, shall always be fostered by the state, and be subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

The principal charitable institutions of the state are in New Orleans and Jefferson. The influence of the climate on strangers, and the frequency of epidemics, causes a large number of sick and orphans needing aid. The following institutions including some not public, were in operation in 1868.

Insane Asylum, Jackson. Mr. KING, Superintendent. Number in Asylum Dec. 31, 1866—males, 80; females, 92; total, 172; number admitted since—males, 11; females, 1; total, 12; making in all, 184; discharged, recovered—males, 6; females, 1; total, 7; removed, improved—1; eloped, 2; died—males, 6; females, 5; total, 11; remaining Dec. 31, 1867—males, 78; females, 85; total, 163; whole number of admissions since the opening of the Asylum, 1,171; salaries of officers, and wages of servants, $7,900; other expenses, $13,700; total, $21,600.

Charity Hospital. Founded in 1786, mainly to care and provide for the indigent sick, yet has a few pay patients, chiefly sailors. It is sustained by a tax of $2.50 each, on passengers arriving by sea, licenses on balls, theatres, and lotteries, donations by the state, and pay patients as above referred to.

The amount received from pay patients the last year reached $67,000; the expenses are about $9,000 per month. Number of patients January 1, 1867, 723; admitted during the year, 8,612; total, 9,335. Discharged during the year, 7,260; died, 1,438; remaining in hospital January 1, 1868, 637. This institution and the following are in New Orleans.

Poydras Asylum for Girls, Protestant. Founded by Julian Poydras, in 1817; is for girls only, and is managed by a board of twelve ladies. It has 120 inmates; can accommodate 500; takes all that apply; is supported chiefly by rent from property donated by its founder.

St. Mary's Male Orphan Asylum, Catholic. Established in 1835; is directed by a board of fourteen gentlemen; has 380 inmates. Applicants for admission are subject to no condition, other than being orphans. It is supported by the state and donations.

St. Vincent's Home for Boys, Catholic. Established in 1866 for half orphans, and is managed by a board of six gentlemen; has 63 inmates, who are educated and taught useful trades. Its resources are from the state, donations, work, and contributions by the Society.

St. Elizabeth Female Orphan Asylum, Catholic. Established in 1856. Girls between the ages of twelve and fourteen years only are admitted, and retained until eighteen or twenty. Besides a book education, they are taught trades, house keeping, and all duties pertaining to the position for which they are destined hereafter—169 inmates. The resources are from the state, city, proceeds of their work, fairs, and contributions.

Orphan's Home, Protestant. Established in 1853. Orphans of both sexes are admitted—contains 49 boys and 71 girls, 120 in all. A board of managers, composed of twelve ladies, have charge of the house. Its resources are from the state, city, contribution, fairs, and membership.

St. Vincent's Infant Asylum—Catholic. Established in 1862; in charge of nine Sisters of Charity. There are 150 inmates, 10 boys, and 140 girls; none over seven years old are admitted; it is supported by the state, city, and donations.

St. Joseph's German Orphan Boys and Girls Asylum—Catholic. Established in 1853, and managed by twelve Sisters of Charity. There are now 104 boys, and 108 girls; in all 212. Its resources are from the city, state and receipts from St. Joseph's Cemetery.

German Orphan Asylum—Protestant. Established in 1868 by a German Protestant Society, which sustains it. Both sexes are admitted. They number 16; 7 girls and 9 boys.

St. Anna's Asylum. Established in 1850 for the relief of destitute females of all religious denominations, and their helpless children. During the last year it has had under its care sixty-four women and thirty-two children. Its resources are dues from subscribers, contributions, and work.

Southern Hospital Association. Incorporated in 1866, and commenced active operations in January, 1867. Its resources are entirely derived from individual exertion and contributions, its receipts up to this date reaching $80,000. There are now 47 inmates.

Children's Home—Protestant. Established by the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1855. Its board of managers is composed of 10 ladies. Orphans, half-orphans, and destitute children of both sexes are admitted; it has 32 girls and 40 boys. Its support is derived from the state, city, donations, and contributions.

Louisiana Retreat—Catholic. Established in 1864, to give a home to the Insane. Its resources are derived from the state, and its inmates, about one-half of whom are paying recipients. It has at this time 45 inmates, cared for by seven Sister Superiors. Old and young, male and female are alike admitted.

Ladies' Benevolent Association of Louisiana. Organized in 1866; its objects are to provide artificial limbs for Confederate soldiers, mark and protect the graves of their dead, and aid and assist their destitute widows and orphans. Its management is confided to a board of ladies. The resources are from donations, subscriptions, and memberships.

Widow's Home—Catholic. Established in 1851, and is managed by a community known as Ladies of Providence. It contains 47 women, 24 children, and 25 aged or infirm men—96 in all; and is supported by the state, city, proceeds of work done by the inmates, and charity.

Society for the Relief of Destitute Orphan Boys—Protestant. Established in 1824; it is under the direction of a board of eight gentlemen. It has 73 inmates, and room for many more; no conditions imposed on admission. Its resources are derived from rents.

St. Croix Asylum—Catholic. Established in 1855; it is under the management of the Sisters of Charity. There is an Academy attached, where a complete English education can be had, which has now 40 pupils. The Asylum has 77 inmates. No conditions attached to admission, other than that they are to remain until eighteen years of age. Its resources are derived from the state, city, academy, donations, and contributions.

Home for the Aged and Infirm. Established in 1862, by Mrs. A. W. Richardson, mainly sustained, and conducted solely by her, until recently, when it passed into the hands of the city; it has 50 female inmates.

Marine Hospital. Is supported by the United States Government, for the benefit of sick, aged, and infirm freedmen only. It contains 322 patients and 36 aged and infirm persons.

New Orleans Orphan Asylum. Established in 1836, for girls between the ages of 7 and 14. It has now 220 orphans.

Orphan's Home Society—Protestant. Established in 1865, for orphans of both sexes. It is managed by a board composed of both sexes, numbering thirteen, and has 103 inmates.

Jewish Widow's and Orphan's Association. Organized in 1856, by the Jews; it has 89 inmates, 44 boys, 43 girls, and 2 widows. It is supported by an annual payment of dues by the members, donations and contributions; receipts from all sources the past year, as per report of March, 1868, $25,365.26, disbursements, $19,963.87.

Howard Association. This association was organized in 1836, chartered in 1842, and re-chartered in 1867. Its active members are limited to 30, but do not reach that number. Its duties are to take care of the indigent sick in times of epidemic only. When the Board of Health shall declare the existence of an epidemic, whatever its kind, they organize for action, though they have not, on all occasions, waited for such announcement by the Board. Each member is assigned a district respectively, where he receives and responds to all applications in that district. The members in the performance of their duties, do not restrict themselves to this city, but when it is possible to spare them, delegations accompanied by nurses are sent to distant towns and cities where epidemics prevail. Their resources are derived entirely from contributions. Their receipts during the epidemic of last year were $108,866.49, to which 19 cities and towns outside of New Orleans contributed. Their entire expenditures were $78,320.66. In addition to the sick taken care of as above, they extended relief to sick and extremely destitute persons in families numbering 6,200.

House of Refuge for Girls. Established in 1852, as a School or House of Reform for Female Juvenile Delinquents not exceeding 15 years of age. Its general management is placed with a Board of Commissioners, composed of 13 citizens, elected annually by the Council, and the Mayor of the City, who is a member ex-officio. It has 32 inmates, most of whom were committed for vagrancy, but few for criminal offences and those of a minor character, and some as a protection from bad influences, and cruelty of heartless parents.

House of Refuge for Boys. Established by the city authorities in 1848, to supply a home corrective and reformatory in its character, to which courts could commit juvenile vagrants, and minor criminal offenders against the law only. It is under the management of a board of thirteen commissioners, elected by the Council annually, and the Mayor of the city, who is a member ex-officio. It has 106 inmates. All children found pilfering, begging within the limits of the city, engaged in any occupation dangerous to their morals, or of a tendency to produce idleness or vice, idle and attending no school, abandoned to themselves, or not provided for by their parents are called "juvenile vagrants."

Louisiana has great resources as an agricultural state. The surface, not more than 200 feet above the level of the Gulf, is in many places so low that extensive districts, especially in the south, are submerged during the stages of high water in the river. West of the Mississippi basin, the land rises in hills towards the northwestern part of the state, broken, however by the marshes along the several arms of the Red river. The delta of the Mississippi, amounting to one-fourth of the area of the State, is nowhere more than ten feet above the sea, and is subject through its entire extent to annual inundation. The bottom lands seem of inexhaustible fertility. Cotton, sugar, corn, and potatoes are the principal crops; before the war the cultivation of the first two was very profitable; but the disturbance in labor, and the unsettled condition of the state, have caused many plantations to be left without cultivation.

In the southern tier of parishes, sugar, rice, and tobacco are made specialties, and fruits are extensively grown. Vast herds of cattle, and flocks of sheep may be pastured upon the extensive natural meadows of the "Opelousas prairies," extending seventy-five miles southwest and northeast, with a width of twenty-five miles. One man is said to own 12,000 head of cattle, and it is estimated that from 75,000 to 100,000 head graze upon these prairies.

Timber is abundant in all parts of the State, embracing many varieties of oak, ash, cotton-wood, cypress, gum, and some of the pine forests are capable of producing quantities of turpentine. In St. Mary's parish alone it is estimated there is timber enough to make 10,000,000 cords of sugar wood. On one of the islands within the limits of this parish, there exists an immense bed of salt. By boring, persons have gone thirty-eight feet into the solid salt, without finding any signs of the bottom of the stratum.

Land has much depreciated in value since 1860. There are yet to be disposed of in this state over six million five hundred and eighty thousand acres of public land. In 1860, the capital employed in manufactures was $7,151,172, invested in 1,744 establishments. The annual product was valued at $15,587,473, of which after deducting $10,692,987 for cost of raw materials and labor, there remains a profit of $4,894,486, or nearly sixty-eight per cent. on the capital invested.

The commerce of the state, both domestic and foreign, has been very extensive. The direct navigation of the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio and their tributaries, amounts in round numbers to 17,000 miles, pouring the products of fourteen states into the magazines of New Orleans for foreign exportation. New Orleans is the greatest cotton market in the world.

The products for 1866 were—corn, 6,910,035 bushels, value, $8,499,343; potatoes, 206,258 bushels, value, $249,572; tobacco, 59,910 pounds, value, $23,964; hay, 36,900 tons, value, $1,107,000. In 1866-7 there were 347 sugar plantations under partial cultivation, the product being estimated at about 40,000 hogsheads of sugar, and 65,000 barrels of molasses. In 1860 the amount of cotton raised was 722,218 bales.

Banks. The number of National Banks, September 30, 1868, was—organized, 3; closed or closing, 1; in operation, 2; with a capital of $1,800,000.

* The Governor is chosen by the legal voters of the State, on the second Monday in September, annually, and holds office one year from the January following. He is aided by a council of seven persons, who with the remaining state officers, are chosen by the Senators and Representatives in joint convention. The Senate composed of 31, and the House of Representatives of 151 members, are elected, annually, by the people. The Legislature meets in regular session on the first Wednesday in January. Each member of the Senate and House is entitled to $150 for attendance at a regular session, and $2 for every ten miles of travel. For attendance at an extra session the compensation is $2 per day.

All male citizens of the United States of the age of 21 years and upwards, excepting paupers, criminals, persons under guardianship, and Indians not taxed, who have resided in the State three months previous to an election, are entitled to vote. Persons in the military, naval, or marine service, and students, are not deemed to have acquired a residence.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power is vested in a Supreme Judicial Court, composed of one Chief Justice and six Associate Justices, and such inferior courts as the Legislature may establish. The judges of the Supreme Court are appointed by the Governor, with the advice of the Council, and hold their offices for seven years. The original jurisdiction of the Supreme Judicial Court, embraces all suits where the title to real estate is involved, or where the damages demanded exceed twenty dollars. It has jurisdiction of all criminal offences except those cognizable by a justice of the peace, or a police or municipal Judge.

Its appellate jurisdiction extends to all cases, civil or criminal, which may have been originally brought before inferior magistrates, and to appeals from the decrees of the Judge of Probate.

For the purpose of hearing questions of law and cases in equity, the State is divided into the Eastern, the Middle, and the Western Districts.

The Eastern District includes Aroostook, Washington, Hancock, Piscataquis, Waldo, and Penobscot counties. The Middle District includes Somerset, Knox, Sagadahoc, Lincoln, and Kennebec counties. The Western District includes Franklin, Oxford, Androscoggin, York, and Cumberland counties.

STATE DEBT.

The Public Debt of Maine at the commencement of the war, was $699,500. The balance of this, January 1, 1868, was about $458,000, from $30,000 to $60,000 of which falls due and is paid each year.

The war debt on the first of January, 1868, amounted to $4,632,500, of which $800,000 matures in 1871. To provide for this, the State has a sinking fund of $123,775 a year, which in 1868 amounted to $330,855. It has also $209,144 collected from the general Government for the same purpose, and other funds already provided, amounting in the aggregate, January 1868, to $627,550, leaving as the actual indebtedness of the State on the war account, at that time, $4,000,000. The war indebtedness matures as follows:

In 1871.....	$800,000	1880.....	$475,000	1883.....	$525,000	1889.....	$2,832,500

EDUCATION.

There are in Maine two colleges, Bowdoin and Waterville; one Theological Seminary, and nearly seventy Academies and private Seminaries, besides the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, which has been recently established and has only a portion of its buildings completed.

The Superintendent of Common Schools has the general supervision of Public Schools, and reports annually to the Governor of the State. The local supervision is in the hands of town school committees, who visit the schools and report annually their general progress and particular condition.

There are two Normal Schools in the State; the first or Western State Normal School was opened at Farmington, August 24, 1864. The Legislature, in 1867, provided for the purchase of the buildings of the Farmington Academy, in which the school had been conducted from its organization, and has thus secured for it a permanent and desirable home. The Eastern Normal School was opened in 1867 at Castine. Both have received the commendation of the Governor and the Superintendent of Common Schools.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Hospital for the Insane, at Augusta, was first opened in October 1840. It is visited monthly by committees of trustees, who at their visits see every patient, and examine into the condition of the halls and dormitories, and the general management of the Hospital.

The State Reform School, at Cape Elizabeth, has been in operation since November 14, 1853. In addition to the ordinary employment of the boys in shops and on the farm, a considerable number work at brick and tile making, which has been found a convenient and profitable occupation for them. The Legislature, in 1867, provided for a report on the subject of an Industrial School for girls. Hon. George B. Barrows, the commissioner under the resolution, after careful investigation of the wants of this class in the State, and inquiries as to the success and operations of Industrial Schools in other States and countries, in 1868 made a full report to the Governor, recommending the establishment of such a school in Maine.

Estimated expenses for the year 1868: Expense account, $1,200; clothing, $2,000; fuel and lights, $2,000; subsistence, $7,000; convicts discharged, $500; transporting convicts, $350; officers' salaries, $11,550; total, $24,600. Probable income, $24,600.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

There is no stated time for a census in Maine, and we have no means of ascertaining the present number of inhabitants, but it was estimated by the Governor in his last annual address in 1868, at 650,000. The population has been largely of English or New England origin, but emigration from Europe and the British North American provinces, has of late been directed more to this State. The aggregate population at each decade from 1790 to 1860, was as follows:

		Inc. per cent.			Inc. per cent.
1790..	96,540.....		1830.....	399,455.....	23.89
1800.....	151,719.....	57.16	1840.....	501,793.....	25.62
1810.....	223,705.....	50.74	1850.....	583,169.....	16.22
1820.....	298,335.....	30.45	1860.....	628,279.....	7.74

Of the population, in 1860, 560,030 were born in the State; 29,796 in other States; 37,453 in foreign countries, of whom 2,677 were born in England; 15,290 in Ireland; 759 in Scotland; 88 in Wales; 17,540 in British America; 384 in Germany; 120 in France, and 36,858 in other foreign countries. In the leading pursuits, 64,843 were farmers, 18,734 laborers, 15,865 farm laborers, 13,371 servants, 11,375 mariners, 7,087 factory hands, 5,209 teachers, 4,952 carpenters, 4,607 fishermen, 4,584 shoemakers, 3,032 merchants, 2,777 blacksmiths, &c.

The peculiar situation of this State, its extensive forests, and great length of coast indented by bays and inlets, with a larger number of good harbors than any other State in the Union, has furnished special facilities for the pursuit of the lumber business and ship building. It is estimated that 200,000,000 feet of lumber had been surveyed prior to the establishment of the office of Surveyor General in 1832. More than 3,000,000,000 of feet of long lumber have been surveyed since, the amount in 1866 being 237,147,006 feet, besides staves, laths, clapboards, pickets, &c. In 1860, 737 saw mills employed over $4,049,608 and 4,400 hands, producing lumber valued at $6,598,865.

Various causes, some of them national rather than local, have depressed the interests of ship building. The State for many years furnished one-third of the tonnage of the United States. The number of vessels built in 1860 was 172, a greater number than in any other State except New York, and the tonnage, 57,867, was even greater than that.

The statistics gathered by the Hydrographic survey, though not yet complete, give 1,900 water powers from 20 to 20,000 horse power each, making an aggregate of about 400,000 horse power. Though not so extensively engaged in manufactures as some of the other New England States, there were in 1860, 3,810 manufacturing establishments, each producing $5,000 and upwards annually, of which 19 were cotton factories, employing $6,018,325 capital and 6,764 hands, and producing goods valued at $6,235,623.

In some parts of the State agriculture is successfully conducted, with returns satisfactory to the agriculturist. The railroad interests have already contributed to the increase of commerce in the principal seaports, and several new railroads now building or contemplated, will when completed furnish increased facilities and add to the wealth of the State.

Products, 1866. Bushels of corn, 1,624,239; wheat, 193,150; rye, 156,649; oats, 2,653,626; barley, 742,619; potatoes, 6,146,725; hay, 957,772 tons.

Banks. September 30, 1868, there were 61 National Banks, with $9,085,000 capital.

Railroads. There are six hundred and thirty-two miles of railroads which cost $22,466,124.

15. MARYLAND.

Capital, Annapolis. Area, 11,124 square miles. Population, 687,049.

This state was settled at St. Mary, in 1634, by Roman Catholics under Cecil and Leonard Calvert. It was one of the original thirteen states, formed a constitution, August 14, 1776, and ratified the constitution of the United States, April 28, 1788.

The executive power of the state is vested in a Governor chosen by the legal voters of the state, for four years and until a successor shall be qualified. The last election for governor was held in November, 1867. In case of the death, resignation, removal or disqualification of the governor, the General Assembly must elect some other qualified person. In case of any vacancy during the recess of the Legislature, the President of the Senate is to discharge the duties of the office until a governor is elected.

The Secretary of State, Commissioner of the Land Office, Adjutant General, and State Librarian are appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and continue in office during the official term of the governor, unless removed by him. The Treasury Department consists of a Comptroller chosen by the qualified electors of the state and a Treasurer appointed by the legislature, both to hold office for two years.

The Attorney General and the Superintendent of Labor and Agriculture are chosen in the same manner and at the same time as the governor, and the term of office is the same. The official residence of the above named officers is at Annapolis.

Each of the 21 counties in the state and each of the three Legislative Districts of Baltimore City is entitled to one Senator, 24 in all. The House of Delegates is composed of 86 members, 18 from the city of Baltimore, and 68 from the different counties, apportioned by the constitution partly according to population, but limiting the city of Baltimore and larger counties. Senators are elected for four years, and Delegates for two years, but the present senate is divided into two classes, the term of office of the first class will terminate in 1869, and half the Senate will be elected biennially with the House of Delegates in the years intervening between those in which elections for representatives in Congress are held. Persons holding any office under the United States, and ministers of the Gospel are not eligible to either house.

The General Assembly meets once in two years on the first Wednesday in January, 1870, &c., and may continue for a period not longer than ninety days. The pay of Senators and Delegates is $5 per day for each day's attendance, and mileage, at the rate of 20 cents per mile. The presiding officer of each house receives an additional compensation of $3 per day.

Every white male citizen of the United States of the age of 21 years or upwards, who has resided in the state one year, and in the Legislative District or County in which he offers to vote, for six months, is entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the State is vested in a Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts of the Counties, the various Courts of Baltimore City, Orphans' Courts, and Justices of the Peace. The Judges must be citizens of the State of Maryland, and have resided therein not less than five years, and not less than six months next preceding their election or appointment in the Judicial Circuit for which they may be elected or appointed; they must be not less than thirty years of age at the time of their election, and be selected from those who have been admitted to practice law in this state, and who are most distinguished for integrity, wisdom, and sound legal knowledge.

The Court of Appeals is composed of the Chief Judges of the first seven of the several Judicial Circuits of the state, and a Judge from the City of Baltimore specially elected thereto. The Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate designates the Chief Justice.

The Court of Appeals has appellate jurisdiction only, which is co-extensive with the limits of the state. Four of the Judges constitute a quorum; no cause can be decided without the concurrence of at least three; but the Judge who heard the cause below must not participate in the decision.

The state is divided into eight Judicial Circuits, namely: The counties of Worcester, Somerset, Wicomico, and Dorchester, constitute the First Circuit; Caroline, Talbot, Queen Ann's, Kent, and Cecil, the second; Baltimore and Harford the third; Allegany and Washington, the fourth; Carrol, Howard, and Anne Arundel, the fifth; Montgomery and Frederick, the sixth; Prince George's, Charles Calvert, and Saint Mary's, the seventh; and Baltimore City, the eighth.

In each of said circuits (excepting the eighth) there must be a Chief Judge and two Associate Judges, styled Judges of the Circuit Court. In the Eighth Circuit there are six courts, styled the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, the Superior Court of Baltimore City, the Court of Common Pleas of Baltimore City, the Baltimore City Court, the Circuit Court of Baltimore City, and the Criminal Court of Baltimore City.

The Judges of the Judicial Circuits are elected by the qualified voters of their respective circuits. The term of office is fifteen years or until the Judge shall have attained the age of seventy years. The Clerks are elected by the people and hold their office for six years.

EDUCATION.

The colleges which receive State donations, are St. John's, Annapolis; Washington, Kent County; the Agricultural, Prince George County; Baltimore Female College, in Baltimore city. Most of them were suspended during the late civil war, but they have been re-organized and are now extending their means of influence. St. John's College was re-opened, September 18, 1866, with about sixty students. It has a well defined and comprehensive course of study, and offers peculiar advantages to students from the State. The number is gradually increasing.

The general supervision of Public Schools is committed to the Principal of the State Normal School, who is elected by a Board of the Normal School Trustees, appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

There is a Board of County School Commissioners, composed of one Commissioner for each election district, chosen by the people. The commissioners have power to divide the counties into school districts, to levy and collect taxes for school purposes, and establish schools of different grades. Two trustees are elected annually in each school district, who, with the school commissioners of the election district in which the school house is situated, constitute a School District Board which has the care and control of all houses and lands connected therewith, intended for school purposes, within the limits of their respective districts. The County School Commissioners appoint County Examiners, who examine teachers and give certificates of two grades to continue in force not longer than three years.

The State Normal School was opened January 15, 1866, with 11 students; the first term closed with 48, the second with 71, the third with 93, and 110 were in attendance the fifth term. In September, 1866, a Model School was established in connection with it.

A Teachers' Institute, to continue five days may be held during vacation in each county once a year, and the County Examiner must be present, and give normal instruction to the teachers each day.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Maryland Hospital for the Insane at Baltimore is under the supervision of a Board of Visitors, composed of one member for each county.

The Penitentiary has within the last two years secured increased accommodations by the erection of additional buildings, but is still cramped in its means of usefulness for the want of greater facilities.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The early settlers of Maryland were principally from England and Ireland, and a few from Scotland. The freedom of worship, and the peaceable relations existing between the emigrants and the Indians, contributed to the prosperity of the colony. The population at different periods was as follows:

	Whites.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Increase per cent.
1790.....	208,649.....	8,043.....	103,036.....	319,728.....
1800.....	216,326.....	19,587.....	105,635.....	341,548.....	6.82
1810.....	235,117.....	33,927.....	111,502.....	380,546.....	11.42
1820.....	260,223.....	39,730.....	107,397.....	407,350.....	7.04
1830.....	291,108.....	52,938.....	102,994.....	447,040.....	9.74
1840.....	318,304.....	63,078.....	89,737.....	470,119.....	5.14
1850.....	417,943.....	74,723.....	90,368.....	583,034.....	24.04

The United States Census of 1860 shows that 137,258 natives of Maryland were then residing in other states, and 40,694 natives of other states were residents of Maryland. The native population was 88.72 per cent. and the foreign 11.28, of which 6.39 per cent. was German, but in the city of Baltimore the proportion of foreign population was nearly 25 per cent. The establishment of a line of steamers between Baltimore and Bremen it is believed will facilitate the immigration of Germans. The introduction of slaves from abroad was prohibited in 1783; and in 1860 there were 87,189 slaves in the state, and 83,942 free colored persons. The number of the latter class has since been increased by immigration from Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The soil and climate of Maryland are favorable for the production of wheat, Indian corn and other grains, fruits and tobacco; in 1860 it was the fourth state in the amount of the latter product, and in the amount in proportion to the number of acres of cultivated land no state surpassed it except Kentucky. Baltimore has long been celebrated for the excellence of its flour and the manufacture of this article is an important branch of industry.

Fruit is raised in large quantities and forwarded to the Northern markets. The Iron and coal mines are worked with profit, and in some portions of the state other minerals contribute to wealth.

The commerce of Baltimore is annually increasing. The exports of grain, flour, tobacco, and other products employ a large number of vessels. About 5,000,000 bushels of oysters are annually taken to this city and put up for exportation. More than 16,000,000 cans of fruit, oysters, and vegetables, are prepared for market every year. The value of this trade is upwards of $5,250,000.

Products for 1866. Indian Corn, 15,024,176 bushels, value, $13,972,483; wheat, 4,383,708 bushels, value, $12,882,101; rye, 476,770 bushels, value, $553,053; potatoes, 1,401,832 bushels, value, $1,121,465; tobacco, 29,963,672 pounds, value, $3,086,258; hay, 181,341 tons, value, $3,675,782; oats, 7,056,145 bushels, value, $3,880,880.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Auditor, and Attorney General are chosen by the legal voters of the State on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, annually, and hold office one year from the first Wednesday in January. Eight councilors, one from each council district, the senators, 40 in number, and representatives, 240 in number, are chosen at the same time as the Governor, and hold office for one year. The Senate and House of Representatives constitute the Legislature, styled the "General Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The pay of Councilors is $5 for each day's attendance, and $2 for every ten miles of travel. The pay of Senators and Representatives, $5 for each day's attendance at the session, and $1 for every five miles of travel from place of abode. The President of the Senate and Speaker of the House receive $10 for each day's attendance.

Every male citizen, 21 years of age, able to read the constitution in the English language, and write his name, who has resided in the State one year, and in his election district six months, and has paid a tax within two years, is entitled to vote. Paupers and persons under guardianship are excluded.

* For attendance at sessions of Executive Councils, $10 a day, and $1 for every five miles travel from place of abode.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Judicial Court consists of one Chief Justice and five Associate Justices. It has exclusive cognizance of all capital crimes, and exclusive chancery jurisdiction so far as chancery powers are conferred by statute, and concurrent original jurisdiction of all civil cases where the amount in dispute exceeds $4,000 in Suffolk county, and $1,000 in the other counties.

The Superior Court consists of a Chief Justice and nine Associate Justices. It has civil jurisdiction in all cases where the amount in controversy exceeds $20, and criminal jurisdiction in all, except capital cases. The judges of both courts are appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, and hold their offices during good behavior.

TRUST FUNDS OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

There are 17 different and distinct funds held by the Treasurer of the Commonwealth. Of these, 9 are sinking funds established to secure the redemption at maturity of certain classes of State scrip, to provide means for the erection of buildings for charitable and correctional institutions; the enlargement of the State House; the improvement of the Back Bay lands, (Boston), and in aid of certain railroad enterprises. Five of the remaining funds are for educational purposes, and two for the maintenance and support of bridges. The amount of these funds, on the 1st of January, 1868, was $10,948,192.44; December 31, 1868, it was more than $12,000,000.

* Returned to cities and towns.

EDUCATION.

This State has either by legislative action or private contributions and efforts, established educational institutions of all grades and for all classes, which are maintained with commendable liberality.

Harvard University, at Cambridge, the oldest college in the country, has, besides its under-graduate course, faculties of divinity, law, medicine, philosophy, and science. The Lawrence Scientific School, founded through the munificence of the late Hon. Abbott Lawrence, and connected with the University, is amply endowed, and has the finest Museum of Scientific Zoology in the country. There are five other incorporated colleges, and fifty-five incorporated academies, many of which have a well-merited reputation for excellence. The Law and Medical Schools of Harvard University, and the Theological Seminaries at Andover, Cambridge, and Newton, have given a professional education to many students from other States as well as from Massachusetts.

The Board of Education, which consists of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and eight members appointed by the Governor and Council, has the general oversight of the Normal Schools, Public Schools, and of Educational Statistics. The trustees, officers, or persons in charge of every institution of learning, whether literary, scientific or professional, public or private, and of all reform schools or alms houses, are by law required to report to the Board on or before the first day of June in each year, giving such statistics as the Board shall prescribe. The Board appoints a Secretary who is its chief executive officer, and who gives his whole time to the supervision and improvement of Common Schools. Each town elects a School Committee of three persons, or a number which is a multiple of three, who examine teachers, visit schools, and have a general oversight of the schools of the town. In the cities and some of the larger towns, the school committee appoints a superintendent who has the immediate charge of the schools. The number of school districts is annually diminishing, there being 323 less in 1867 than in 1866, and 672 less than in 1861. Where the districts are abolished, the schools are managed entirely by the towns. Each town having 500 or more families is by law required to maintain a public high school.

Provision for the special education of teachers is made in four State Normal Schools, two of which are for both sexes, and two for female teachers only. A Girls' High and Normal School, and an efficient Training School, are also maintained by the city of Boston, for preparing teachers for primary schools. Teachers' Institutes are held annually under the direction of the Secretary of the Board of Education.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Charitable Institutions are under the charge of a Board of State Charities which has under its care 10 institutions owned by the state, viz: 3 Lunatic hospitals; 4 Pauper establishments; and 3 Juvenile Reformatories. There are also 11 institutions aided by the state, either by the support of indigent persons connected with them, or by specific appropriations. The Lunatic Hospitals, located at Northampton, Taunton, and Worcester, all receive state, town, and private patients, but the state patients at Northampton are chiefly persons transferred as incurable from the other hospitals. The institutions are in good condition, and seem to have been wisely managed, but the Board recommends some changes in their organization and material arrangement, which are indicated in certain cardinal principles which it proposes to observe in its action. These are:

1. That it is better to separate and diffuse the dependent classes than to congregate them.
2. That we ought to avail ourselves as much as possible of those remedial agencies which exist in society: the family, social influences, industrial occupations, and the like.
3. That we should enlist, not only the greatest amount of popular sympathy, but the greatest number of individuals and of families in the care and treatment of the dependent.
4. That we should avail ourselves of responsible societies and organizations which aim to reform, support or help any class of dependents; thus lessening the direct agency of the state and enlarging that of the people themselves.
5. That we should build public institutions only in the last resort, and that these should be kept as small as is consistent with a wise economy.

The harmless insane, the idiotic, the aged and helpless paupers are placed at the alms house at Tewksbury; children of proper school age are sent to Monson where the state has a primary school, and persons sentenced to a work-house are confined at Bridgewater.

The State Reform School for boys, at Westborough, and the Massachusetts Nautical School, established on board two ships at Boston and New Bedford, are the principal juvenile reformatories for boys; at the former, the pupils, when not in school, are employed in seating chairs, making boxes, farm labor and domestic work. During the appropriate season, more than 100 boys were employed upon the farm and gardens. Boys are selected from the higher grades of behavior, and placed in three family houses connected with the institution. The Farm House and the Garden House, each receiving 30; and the Peters' House, for younger boys, 24 at a time. For the year 1867, the value of produce raised by the Garden House family was $4,246.23, and $361.49 was received for seating chairs; total, $4,607.72. By the Farm House family, produce raised, $3,455.04; received for seating chairs, $263.77; total, $3,718.81. At the Peters' House, the value of produce was $920.49, and of paper baskets and husk mats made, $315.34; total, $1,235.93.

The State Industrial School for Girls was inaugurated in 1856. The family system has been adopted, there being five families, with accommodations for 30 girls in each, where Christian influences are thrown around the inmates.

The School for Idiotic and Feeble Minded Youth, at South Boston, and the Perkins' Institution and Massachusetts Asylum for the Blind, are for most purposes, regarded as state institutions, receiving indigent pupils, and mainly supported by state appropriations.

The Massachusetts General Hospital, the Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Washingtonian Home, the Discharged Soldiers' Home, the Temporary Asylum for Discharged Female Prisoners, the Home for the Friendless, the New England Moral Reform Society, and the Agency for Discharged Convicts, also receive aid from the State, and an annual appropriation is made for educating state pupils at the "Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb," in Hartford, Conn., and at the Clarke Institution for Deaf Mutes, Northampton.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The first regular census of Massachusetts was the colonial census of 1765, when the entire population was 238,425. In 1790, the United States census showed an increase in 25 years of 58.79 per cent., the greatest increase being in the western or newer portions of the state. The next census, for 1800, gave an increase of 11.63 per cent., but in Suffolk county, it was 33 per cent., and in the other eastern counties, the rate was greater than in other parts of the state. In 1865, there were 166 towns in the state, each having less population than in 1855.

The geographical center of the state is in the city of Worcester, but more than 75 per cent. of the inhabitants are east of this place, the center of population being within two miles of the state house in the city of Boston.

The aggregate increase for 100 years, from 1765 to 1865, was 431.14 per cent., the population at different periods being as follows:

1790.....	378,787	1820.....	523,287	1850.....	994,514	1865.....	1,267,031

During the ten years from 1855 to 1865, the whole number of births was 337,057, of which 51.20 per cent. were males; 48.35 per cent. females, and 1.194 per cent. not stated; of deaths, 231,165; excess of births, 105,892. In 1865, the number of males in the state was 597,222; of females, 659,642; excess of females, 62,420.

Of the 1,267,031 inhabitants on the first day of June, 1865, 999,976 were born in the United States, of which number 828,156 were natives of Massachusetts, and 171,720 were born in other states and territories; 265,486 were foreign born, and the place of nativity of 1,569 persons was not stated.

In 1850, there were 199,582 natives of Massachusetts resident in other states, and 134,830 natives of other states in Massachusetts, showing the excess of native emigration to have been 64,752. In 1860, the natives of Massachusetts in other states were 244,503; natives of other states in Massachusetts, 160,637; an excess of emigration of 83,866. In 1865, the natives of other states in Massachusetts numbered 171,720.

Of the 265,486 foreign born returned by the census of 1865, the large number of 183,177, constituting 68.99 per cent., or more than two-thirds of the whole number of foreigners, were natives of Ireland; 32,390, or 12.18 per cent., were born in British America; 25,229, or 9.50 per cent., in England; 11,125, or 4.19 per cent., in Germany; 6,967, or 2.62 per cent., in Scotland; and 1,110, or .42 of one per cent., in France.

There were 10,167 colored persons in the state, of whom 2,348 were in Boston, and 1,517 in New Bedford. In 58 towns, there was no colored person. The per centage of colored persons to the whole population was .8 of one per cent.

Of persons over 20 years of age, unable to read and write, 50,110 were returned, of whom 19,134 were males, and 30,976 females. Of these, 1,012 males and 961 females were American born, and 18,122 males and 30,015 females were of foreign birth. The number of illiterate among the American born is 1.97 to 1,000; among the foreign, 181.32 to 1,000.

The number of deaf and dumb was 561, of whom 500 were American born, and 61 foreign. The number of blind was 762; 567 of American and 195 of foreign parentage. The whole number of idiotic and insane was 3,254, of whom 2,560 were American born, and 694 of foreign birth.

Of 362,432 males employed in different occupations, there were,—of agriculturists, 59,116; factory operatives, 13,577; laborers, 52,747; mariners, 18,978; manufacturers, 3,903; mechanics, 148,604; merchants and clerks, 42,496; professional men, 9,914; miscellaneous, 13,277. The principal occupations in which females were engaged were,—domestics, 27,393; operatives, 20,152; teachers, 6,050; seamstresses, 4,381; shoe-workers, 4,110; tailoresses, 3,855; dress-makers, 3,487; straw and palm leaf workers, 2,804; and milliners, 2,388.

Number of dwellings in the state in 1865, 203,698; number of families, 269,968.

The first report of the industrial statistics authorized and published by this state in 1838, exhibited an annual amount of industrial products of $86,000,000; the second, in 1845, gave $124,000,000, or an increase in 7 years of 44 per cent.; the third, in 1855, gave the amount as 295,000,000, or an increase in 10 years of 138 per cent.; and the last, in 1865, reached the sum of $517,240,613, an increase for the last decade of 74 per cent. The aggregate capital invested in 1865 was $174,499,950, giving employment to 271,421 persons engaged in manufacturing, and 68,636 in agricultural pursuits. The greatest product of cotton goods was in Bristol county, $11,836,681; of woollen goods in Worcester county, $12,917,388; of boots and shoes in Essex county, $18,011,107. In 1860, Massachusetts ranked as the first state in the manufacture of cottons, woollen goods, and boots and shoes, the value of the product of cotton being more than twice that of any other state, or more than that of all the states out of New England; in woollen goods more than twice that of any other state except Pennsylvania, and in boots and shoes more than all the other states together.

The above officers are chosen by the legal voters every two years, on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November. Senators, 32 in number, and Representatives, not exceeding 100 in number, constitute the Legislature of Michigan. They are chosen every second year at the general election in November. The Legislature assembles in regular session, on the first Wednesday in January biennially, in the odd years 1869, 1871, &c. To qualify a resident to vote, he must be above the age of twenty-one, must have resided in the State three months, and in his election district ten days. Subject to these qualifications, every white male citizen, and every white male inhabitant residing in the State on the 24th of June, 1835, or on the 1st of January, 1850, who shall have legally declared his intention to become a citizen six months before an election, or who shall have resided in the State two years and six months, having declared his intentions, and every civilized male Indian not a member of any tribe, is entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in one Supreme Court, in Circuit Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court has a general superintending control over all inferior courts. It has power to issue writs of error, habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, procedendo, and other original and remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same. In all other cases it has appellate jurisdiction only. The court consists of four judges, chosen at an election held for the purpose on the first Monday in April. The Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction in all matters, civil and criminal, not prohibited by law, and appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals. They have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and other writs necessary to carry into effect their judgments, &c., and to give them general control over inferior tribunals within their jurisdiction.

* $4 per day during session of Legislature.

The Judges of the Supreme Court hold their offices for eight years, one judge retiring every second year unless re-elected. The clerk of the county holding the court is clerk of the Supreme Court. Judges of the Circuit Court are chosen by the people of their respective districts, at the elections held in April, to hold office for six years. Prosecuting officers are elected by the people of each county, to hold office for two years.

EDUCATION.

The University of Michigan enjoys a high degree of prosperity. The course of instruction is broad, embracing such a wide range of elective studies, that the requirements of all may be met. The University has three departments, viz.: Literature, Medicine, and Law, and the Literary Department has six parallel courses of study. The number of students in 1867 was greater than ever before, and greater than in any other American College.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction in his report for 1867, gives an account of five other colleges, all prosperous.

The Agricultural College has been obliged to refuse many applicants, for want of room.

The State Normal School at Ypsilanti, opened in 1854. The course of study embraces a Normal Training course, and a Higher Normal course. The Model or Experimental School, has four distinct departments, in which the pupils of the Normal School practice in actual teaching, during their studies in the Normal School. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the general supervision of public education in the State. The system of Township school inspection was abolished in 1867, and County Superintendents substituted. The new system of supervision has operated favorably.

A series of Teachers' Institutes is held in the spring and autumn, under the direction of the State Superintendent. County Superintendents also hold Institutes in a few of the counties. The State has three distinct school funds, which at the close of the year 1867 amounted as follows:

Primary School Fund, 7 per cent.....	$2,149,350.15
“ “ “ 5 “	151,824.15	$2,301,174.30

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, which was organized in 1854, has a larger number of pupils than ever before.

The Asylum for the Insane was opened in 1859. The grounds comprise 167 acres; the buildings first erected were crowded with patients in 1866, but additional accommodations have been provided.

The number of convicts in the Penitentiary, which was 630 in January 1861, decreased until May 1865, when there were only 262, but in Nov. 1867, there were 582, an increase of 302 in two and a half years. The convicts are employed principally in the manufacture of cabinet-work, agricultural tools, cigars and in finishing leather. The earnings of the prisoners in 1867, amounted to $57,866.58, under the old contract prices. The present prices will increase the amount.

The State Reform School was founded in 1853, and opened in 1856.

The Detroit House of Correction, though not strictly a State Institution, receives persons from any part of the State convicted of offences punishable by imprisonment in county jails, and employs them in making chairs, under the direction of the prison officers.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population as given by each census since 1810, was as follows:

Population.		Rate of increase.
1810.....	4,762.....	1850.....	397,654.....
1820.....	8,765.....	1860.....	749,113.....
1830.....	31,639.....	1864.....	803,745.....
1840.....	212,267.....

The ratio of increase from 1820 to 1840 was greater than in any other State, and during the last of these two decades, more than twice as great.

The State is divided by Lake Michigan into two peninsulas; the northern is 316 miles long and from 36 to 120 miles broad, and the southern 416 miles long, and from 50 to 300 miles broad. The northern peninsula is undulating, broken, and much of it densely timbered; the southern is nearly level, and better adapted to agriculture.

The climate is less severe than that of other portions of the country between the same parallels of latitude, being softened by the immense fresh water surface on the borders of the State.

The State is productive in most of the grains, potatoes, beans, hay, and in fruits. The yield of maple sugar, sorghum molasses, and honey, is abundant and increasing. Tobacco is cultivated to some extent, and large quantities are imported for manufacture. Wool raising is an important branch of husbandry. The lumber trade is of great value and extent, and salt exists in considerable quantities. The United States have over five millions of acres of land in this State, yet to be disposed of.

The mineral resources are chiefly in the northern peninsula. The great copper deposits are principally located in the Keweenaw peninsula, but the beds extend along the lake from Ontonagon to Schoolcraft, in greater or less quantities. The yield of copper has risen to an annual average of 8,000 tons, with promise of steady increase. The opening of the St. Mary's Canal, and the clearing of the entrance into Portage lake, have given fresh impetus to this branch of mining industry. Silver has been found in connection with the copper, in the proportion of from twenty-five to fifty per cent.

The rich deposits of iron ore are found chiefly in Marquette County, but iron is also found in Delta, and to some extent in Berrien and Branch counties. In the production of this mineral in 1863, Michigan was second only to Pennsylvania, having produced 273,000 tons of ore. Bituminous coal is found in some parts of the State.

The State has a Lake shore line of 1,400 miles, and its position is advantageous for commerce, of which it has a considerable share, having lines of trade with Liverpool.

Products. The products for 1866 were—corn, 16,118,680 bushels, value $13,217,318; wheat, 14,740,639 bushels, value $37,588,630; rye, 413,150 bushels, value $437,939; oats, 8,293,877 bushels, value $3,898,122; barley, 418,971 bushels, value $427,350; buckwheat, 1,306,819 bushels, value $1,280,683; potatoes, 5,037,298 bushels, value $2,820,877; hay, 1,218,959 tons, value $16,760,686; wool clip, 9,750,000 pounds; lumber, 1,125,000,000 feet. In 1865 the yield of fish from the lakes was 35,200 barrels, valued at $563,200.

Railroads. Upwards of 800 miles of railroads have been completed, at a cost of about $35,000,000, and 600 miles more are in course of construction or have been projected.

Manufactures. In 1860, there were 3,348 manufacturing establishments, with a capital of $23,808,226; cost of labor and raw material, $24,370,658; total value of products, $32,658,356; surplus over cost of labor and material, $8,237,698, or nearly 35 per cent. on the working capital invested.

Banks. There were in 1868, 42 National Banks, with a paid up capital of $5,210,010, owning real estate to the amount of $224,874; value of real and personal estate as equalized by the State Board of Equalization for 1866, $307,965,842.

Capital, St. Paul. Area, 83,531 square miles. Population, (1867), 400,000.

This State was visited by traders, trappers, and Jesuit Missionaries from Montreal, about 1654. The Upper Mississippi was explored by Louis Hennepin, in 1680. In 1689, a fort was erected by Perrot, Le Sueur, and others, on Lake Pepin, and in 1695, a second fort was established in Minnesota by Le Sueur. In 1766, the territory was explored by Jonathan Carver of Connecticut, who went to England and wrote an account of his explorations. This State formed a part of the original Louisiana territory as purchased from France in 1803. In 1812, a settlement was formed in the Red River country, principally by Scotchmen. Fort Snelling was settled by emigrants from the northern and western States about 1845. Minnesota was organized as a territory, March 31, 1849, and admitted into the Union as a State, February 26, 1857.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Attorney General are chosen by a plurality vote for two years. The Auditor is elected in the same way, but for three years. The number of Senators is 22, of Representatives 47. Senators are chosen for two years, one-half each year; Representatives are elected annually. The election for State officers and members of the Legislature, is on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The Legislature meets on the Tuesday after the first Monday of January. The sessions are annual.

Every male person, twenty-one years of age, of either of the following classes, viz.: White citizens of the United States; white persons of foreign birth, who have duly declared their intention to become citizens; persons of mixed white and Indian blood, and persons of Indian blood residing in the State, who have adopted the language, customs, and habits of civilization, when pronounced capable by any District Court in the State, may vote, if they have resided in the United States one year, in the State four months, and in the election district ten days next preceding the election.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Courts of Probate, Justices of the Peace, and such other courts inferior to the Supreme Court as the Legislature may by a two-thirds vote establish. The Supreme Court with original jurisdiction in such remedial cases as are prescribed by law, and appellate jurisdiction in all cases both in law and equity, consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, elected by the people, to hold office for seven years and until their successors are qualified.

There are no trials by jury in this court. A clerk is chosen for three years. There are six judges of the District Courts elected in single Districts for seven years. A clerk is chosen in each county. The District Courts have original jurisdiction in all cases in law and equity where over $100 is in controversy, and in criminal cases where the punishment may be imprisonment for over three months or a fine of over $100.

EDUCATION.

The act of Congress establishing a territorial government for Minnesota, approved March 2, 1849, provided that sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township, should be reserved for the use of schools. On the adoption of the State constitution, provision was made for the management of the lands, and the fund arising from their sale.

The lands are sold at public auction, and none are sold less than the appraisal, nor less than $5 an acre. This State was entitled to 120,000 acres under the act of 1862, making grants to Agricultural Colleges. The lands have been selected, and it is believed that they can be disposed of so as to make a fund of $500,000.

An appropriation of $15,000, made by the legislature to the State University in 1867, enabled the Board of Regents to open the preparatory department. The Board have also succeeded in relieving the institution of over $100,000 of debt, and saving 30,000 acres of land that was supposed to be lost. The Hamline University at Red Wing has good buildings and is flourishing.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the general supervision of the public schools, and reports annually to the legislature. The office had been attached to that of Secretary of State until 1867, when an independent office was created, and a Superintendent was appointed, who entered upon the duties of his office on the 2d day of April, 1867. The results of his labors are already seen in the improved organization and administration of the school system. The law of 1864, provided for the appointment of County Superintendents, but in 1867 only 26 counties had made appointments. The trustees of school districts have the immediate charge of the local administration of the school system.

The State Normal School at Winona is prosperous. Since its reorganization in 1864, the numbers in attendance have been constantly increasing. The new building, erected at an expense of about $100,000, has accommodations for 250 in the Normal department, 200 in the Model classes, and 200 in the Practice classes. Nearly one-third of the time of the Normal pupils through the entire course is given to professional training and practice. Two other Normal Schools will be established in the State as soon as the necessary steps have been taken for complying with the provisions of the law.

Twenty-three Teachers' Institutes were held in 1867, in 18 different counties, with an attendance of 772 teachers.

Public Schools. Whole number of organized counties in the State, in 1867, 51; number making school returns, 50. Number of school districts, 2,207; increase for the year, 209. Number of districts reported, 2,035; increase for the year, 254. Whole number of children between 5 and 21 years of age—males, 59,157; females, 55,264; total, 114,421; increase for the year, 12,303. Whole number attending school—males, 35,041; females, 30,766; total, 65,807. Whole number attending winter schools, 44,408; average number, 29,292. Whole number attending summer schools, 47,067; average number, 29,549. Whole number of winter schools, 1,261; whole number of summer schools, 1,324. Whole number of male teachers employed, 749; increase for the year, 217. Whole number of female teachers employed, 1,836; increase for the year, 211. Average wages of male teachers per month, $34.61; of female teachers, $22.28. Whole amount paid teachers, $254,986.76; increase for the year, $85,840.30. Whole number of school houses in State, 1,406; increase for the year, 109. Value of all the school houses in the State, $746,291; increase for the year, $273,946.71. Whole number of school houses built, 337; cost of the same, $331,219.60. Whole amount received from State school funds, $167,863.50; whole amount received from taxes voted by districts, $225,672.19; increase for the year, $136,651.87. Whole amount expended for school purposes, $736,532.67; increase for the year, $299,221.60.

Private Schools. Whole number of private schools in the State, 50; number of scholars—males, 2,228; females, 2,088; total, 4,316.

Normal School, Winona. WILLIAM F. PHELPS, Principal. Cost of buildings, $100,000. Number of students—males, 13; females, 74; total, 87. In Model Classes—boys, 84; girls, 87; total, 171.

School Lands and School Fund. The number of acres of school land sold from 1862 to Nov. 30, 1867, was 246,129; average price, $6.23 per acre; and aggregate, $1,534,053.94. A considerable amount has been received from other land items than sales.

The securities held by the fund at the close of the fiscal year 1867, were as follows:

State loans of Minnesota	$309,187.50
United States Bonds	224,825.00
Balance due upon lands bearing 7 per cent. interest	1,053,035.89
Balance in Treasury	162.89

Total amount of fund, November 30, 1867..... $1,587,210.78

If the lands remaining are sold at the same rate, the fund if managed with the same care and prudence as in the past, will eventually amount to over $15,000,000.

The income from the permanent fund constitutes the general fund which is annually distributed to the different townships throughout the State, in proportion to the number of scholars in each between 5 and 21 years of age. The amount distributed in 1867 was $91,906.20, or .90 per capita. The estimated amount for 1868 was $143,026, or $1.25 per capita. The legislature also levies a tax of two mills on the dollar, amounting in 1867 to $116,000, which is collected and disbursed by local officers.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The State Charitable Institutions are yet in their infancy, arrangements having been made by the authorities for some years to provide for the unfortunate classes in the institutions of other States. The Minnesota Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, and the Blind, located at Faribault, has been removed into a new and commodious building just completed for its use. This building, 80 by 45 feet in extent and four stories in height, was erected of stone, at a cost of $51,600. The grounds comprise 52 acres presented to the State by the citizens of Faribault. The institution is open to all the deaf and dumb and the blind in the State, between the ages of 10 and 25. The department for the blind has only been in operation since 1866, and has as yet but few pupils.

The Hospital for the Insane was established by an act of the Legislature, passed March 2, 1866, and located at St. Peter, in Nicollet County. The grounds comprise 210 acres purchased by citizens of St. Peter, and conveyed to the State for the use of the Hospital. The trustees purchased a building and fitted it up for the accommodation of 50 patients, and afterwards enlarged it, increasing the accommodations so as to provide for 100. Plans for a new building were accepted in 1867, and the work upon it commenced. If completed in accordance with the plan adopted, it will provide ample accommodations for the insane for many years.

The State Prison is reported in excellent condition. A new shop was erected in 1867, at a cost of $9,383.75, new cells were constructed and furnished, and the prison yard was extended. A State Reform School has been established at St. Paul, which is in successful operation.

Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, and the Blind, Faribault. J. L. NOYES, Superintendent. Number in department of Deaf and Dumb in 1867—males, 15; females, 12; total, 27. In department for the blind—males, 2; females, 2; total, 4.

Hospital for Insane, St. Peter. SAMUEL S. SHANTZ, Superintendent. Whole number of patients admitted from opening of hospital December 1866, to December 1867, 97; number discharged, 13; recovered, 10; died, 2; eloped, 1; remaining in hospital, December 1867, 84. Supposed cause of insanity—epilepsy, 6; over work, 6; sunstroke, 3; masturbation, 4; miscellaneous, 8; no assigned cause, 69; total, 97. Civil condition—married, 42; single, 47; widowed, 8. Age of those admitted—from 10 to 20, 7; from 20 to 30, 21; from 30 to 40, 31; from 40 to 50, 19; from 50 to 60, 15; from 60 to 90, 4.

State Prison, Stillwater. JOHN S. PROCTOR, Warden. Number of convicts, November 30, 1866, 35; received during the year, 36; total number confined, 71. There have been discharged—on expiration of sentence, 5; pardoned, 20; died, 1; remaining Nov. 30, 1867, 45. Term of sentence of those received during the year—from 1 to 2 years, 16; 2 to 3 years, 10; 3 to 4 years, 5; 4 to 10 years, 4; pleasure of Legislature, 1; total, 36. Age—under 20, 6; between 20 and 30, 19; 30 and 40, 4; 40 and 50, 7. Nativity—United States, 24; foreign countries, 12. Crimes—larceny, 17; desertion from army, 4; theft, 3; burglary, 2; forgery, 2; miscellaneous, 8. Whole number of convicts confined since the organization of the State—white males, 130; colored males, 3; total, 133.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of this State was in 1850, 6,077; in 1860, 172,413, an increase in 10 years of more than 2,760 per cent.; in 1865, the population was 250,000. The immigration in 1867 was 50,000, and the whole population was then estimated at 400,000. The Legislature, in 1867, appropriated $20,000 to promote immigration, and created a Board of Immigration Commissioners, consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State, and one member appointed.

The situation of this State near the center of the continent, and upon the summit of the plateau which embraces the head waters of the three great river systems of North America, gives it special advantages. The total area of the State is 51,479,242 acres, of which 32,000,000 acres are arable land. Agriculture is the prominent interest and wheat the staple production, but the hardier grains, potatoes, hay, honey, and maple sugar, are becoming important. The lumber business is constantly increasing. Copper, lead, iron, gold and silver have been discovered in some parts of the State, but the mines have not been sufficiently developed to give any proper estimate of their value.

In the northern part of the State is an immense forest region, estimated to cover upwards of 21,000 square miles, constituting one of the great sources of wealth and industry of the State. West of the Mississippi, lying between it and the Minnesota, and extending south of that stream, is the "Big Woods," about 100 miles in length and 40 miles wide. This district is full of lakes, and broken by small openings. The prevailing woods are oak, maple, elm, ash, basswood, butternut, black walnut, and hickory.

Products. In 1854, the number of plowed acres in the State was only 15,000; in 1860, there were 433,276; in 1866, 1,000,000, and in 1867, over 1,200,000; in 1865, upwards of 8,000,000 bushels of wheat were exported, in 1866 over 10,000,000 bushels, and in 1867 the aggregate yield was as great.

In 1861, the exports of lumber from this State were about 30,000,000 feet. This trade is constantly increasing; in 1865 upwards of 83,000,000 feet were manufactured at St. Anthony and St. Croix Falls, besides 15,500,000 shingles, and 16,500,000 laths. The products of 111,000,000 logs, of an aggregate value of $1,662,810 were exported. In 1866, the amount of logs and lumber cut and manufactured was about 175,000,000 feet; in 1867, about 276,000,000 feet.

The steamboat business of Minnesota is as yet confined to the Mississippi, the Minnesota and the St. Croix rivers. On the Mississippi, the business is principally done by the "North Western Union Packet Company," which in 1868 owned 11 first class packets, 19 stern wheel steamers, together with 131 barges, and employed over 2,000 men. The capital stock of this company is $1,500,000. Their boats ply between Dubuque and St. Paul, and La Crosse and St. Paul. The Northern Line boats ply between St. Louis and St. Paul, and consist of 9 first class side-wheel packets, 8 stern-wheel steamers, and 60 barges—a boat leaving St. Louis and St. Paul daily. The aggregate tonnage at St. Paul, for 1867, was 13,308.22 tons.

Minnesota possesses ample and effective water power. The falls and rapids of St. Anthony alone, with a total descent of 64 feet, afford an available hydraulic capacity, according to an experienced and competent engineer, of 120,000 horse power. There are now at the Falls of St. Anthony, 13 grist mills, 14 saw mills, 2 woolen mills, 2 paper mills, 1 oil mill. These with minor establishments there, produced in 1867, $4,669,358 worth of manufactured articles. There were in the State 511 manufacturing establishments in 1860, with an aggregate capital of $2,500,000, producing annually $4,500,000 worth of manufactures. The number of establishments in 1868, is estimated at 2,000, with a capital of $10,000,000.

Capital, Jackson. Area, 47,156 square miles. Population, (1860), 791,305.

Mississippi was settled by the Spaniards about the year 1540, and at Natchez by the French in 1716. It was organized as a territory, April 7, 1789, and admitted into the Union as a State, December 10, 1817. An ordinance of secession was adopted by a State convention, January 9, 1861, and declared null and void by another convention, on the 22d of August, 1865.

By the act of Congress of March 2, 1867, this State with Arkansas, was placed in the 4th Military District, under the command of Major General Ord, by whom an election was ordered on the first Monday of November. At this election, a majority voted for a convention, which assembled at Jackson, January 7, 1868, and adopted a new constitution, May 15, which was submitted to the people June 22, but rejected by a majority of 7,629. The State has not been admitted to representation in Congress.

Under the former constitution the Senate was composed of 32 members elected for four years, and the House of Representatives of 92 members elected for two years; the sessions of the Legislature were biennial.

The constitution adopted by the convention May 15, 1868, provides that all male inhabitants of this State, except idiots, and insane persons, and Indians not taxed, citizens of the United States or naturalized, twenty-one years old and upwards, who have resided in the State six months, and in the county one month next preceding the day of election at which said inhabitant offers to vote, and who are duly registered, and who are not disqualified by reason of any crime, are qualified electors.

JUDICIARY.

The High Court of Errors and Appeals consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices. It has appellate jurisdiction only.

The Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction in actions and suits when the principal involved exceeds $250.

Chancery Courts are held in each judicial district of the State, by the Judges of the Circuit Court for such district, at the same time and place appointed for holding the Circuit Court of each county. And at least one week of every term is given to the chancery side of the docket. This court has jurisdiction in all matters of equity, provided the matter or thing in controversy shall exceed $250.

By an act of November 24, 1865, the county court was established, with inferior criminal and civil jurisdiction to the Circuit Courts.

Only about one third of the area of the State was under cultivation in 1860. The great staple was cotton, in the production of which Mississippi ranks third. Since the close of the war its culture has been increased, but a larger proportion of the cultivated land than formerly, is employed in the production of wheat and corn.

Products. The principal products in 1866 were—corn, 11,913,650 bushels, value $18,704,430; wheat, 258,687 bushels, value $654,478; rye, 23,684 bushels, value $48,078; oats, 101,768 bushels, value $110,927; potatoes, 385,318 bushels, value $246,604; tobacco, 165,507 lbs., value $49,652; hay, 29,611 tons, value $814,302.

Capital, Jefferson City. Area, 65,350 square miles. Population, (1860), 1,182,012.

Missouri was settled at St. Genevieve in 1763 by the French. It was part of the territory ceded by France, by the treaty of April 30, 1803, was organized into a separate territory, June 4, 1812, and admitted into the union as a State, Dec. 14, 1821. A new Constitution was adopted by the Constitutional Convention, April 8, 1865, and ratified by the vote of the people on the 6th of June; it went into effect July 4, 1865.

EDUCATION.

Provision is made by the Constitution and laws of this State for the maintenance of a State University, and a Free Public School system.

The University, chartered in 1838-9, went into full operation on the 4th of July, 1843. The annual income of the proceeds of the "Seminary lands," was set aside for its support, and the legislature, in 1867, made further provision by appropriating a portion of the public school fund.

The only department of the University in operation previous to 1867, was the College of Science and Letters. Two additional Colleges were established that year, one of Normal instruction, the other of Law. The College of Normal Instruction was opened Sept. 16, 1867. By the State Constitution, the Legislature is required to establish and maintain an Agricultural Department in the University.

The Normal College, under Prof. E. L. Ripley, has opened favorably, and promises to be a great benefit to the teachers of Central Missouri.

The corner stone of the Missouri Normal University at Marionville, Lawrence Co., was laid on July 4, 1868; the building belongs to the Lawrence County Teacher's Institute. A private Normal School is in operation at Kirksville.

The State Superintendent exercises a general supervision over the public schools, and the educational funds.

Each and every Congressional township composes but one school district, and is confided to the management and control of a Board of Education; smaller divisions are to be regarded as sub-districts, and to be confided to the management and control of local directors. A school director is appointed in each sub-district. The several school directors of the sub-districts of a Township constitute the Board of Education, which has power to change and alter sub-districts, establish central or high schools, hire or dismiss teachers and classify the children of the township.

A County Superintendent is elected in each county every two years. The General Assembly in 1867 nearly doubled the capital of the Public School Fund. The city of St. Louis has an excellent system of Public Schools, including a Normal School, a High School, 31 District Schools and 3 colored schools.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Institution for the education of the Blind at St. Louis, was established in 1851. It has been supported partly by the State, and partly by private contributions.

The Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb at Fulton, was not completed until 1854, though the buildings were opened in 1851. The Asylum for the Insane at Fulton, was suspended in 1861, in consequence of the rebellion; it was re-opened in 1863. The legislature has fixed an annual appropriation for its support, and the number of patients has largely increased.

In the State Penitentiary a change has been made in the system of hiring out the labor of convicts, by which contracts are made with different individuals in different branches, and the receipts will be largely increased. The general condition of the prison is reported good.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of Missouri, at different periods, as given by the United States census was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slave.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1810.....	17,227.	607.....	3,011.....	20,845.....
1820.....	55,988.....	347.....	10,222.....	66,557.....	219.43
1830.....	114,795.....	569.....	25,091.....	140,455.....	110.94
1840.....	323,888.....	1,574.....	58,240.....	383,702.....	173.18
1850.....	592,004.....	2,618.....	87,422.....	682,044.....	77.75
1860.....	1,063,509.....	3,572.....	114,931.....	1,182,012.....	73.20

The population in 1867 was estimated at 1,500,000.

The soil of Missouri is remarkable for its variety and excellence. Its agricultural capacities are attracting increased attention. In 1860, returns exhibited an advance of from fifty to five hundred per cent. over the aggregate of 1850, in the production of live stock, cereals, tobacco, rice, hay, peas, beans, potatoes, fruits, wines, butter, cheese, molasses of all kinds, honey and wax, wool, slaughtered animals, and of the orchard and garden products. The great staple is Indian corn, to the production of which, the rich prairies and hot summers of Missouri are particularly adapted. More hemp is produced in this State than in any other except Kentucky. Cotton is produced in the Southern portion of the State. Fruits reach a rare size and delicacy of flavor. Trees and vines grow rapidly and bear largely.

Portions of the State are peculiarly adapted to the growth of the vine. The net profits of 2½ acres planted in 1861, amounted in 1865 to $19,678.80, or $5,935.76 per acre profit in five years.

Missouri is rich in mineral wealth. The iron region around Iron Mountain and Pilot Knob is unsurpassed in the world for the abundance and purity of deposits. Copper is found extensively deposited, being most abundant near the La Motte mines. It is also found with nickel, manganese, iron, cobalt, and lead, in combinations yielding from thirty to forty per cent. All of these metals, except nickel, exist in considerable quantities; also silver, in combination with lead ore and tin. Limestone, marble and other building materials are abundant, especially north of the Missouri. Coal underlies a large portion of Missouri, having already been discovered in 30 counties. The whole State is supposed to contain more than 100,000,000,000 tons.

The position of Missouri, at the central point of the Mississippi river system, is admirable for the control of the commerce of the vast interior basin of the continent. To superior water communication there has been added an expansive system of railroad improvement.

The manufacturing establishments, in 1860, were 3,157, with a capital of $20,034,220, employing a large laboring force. The expense of production, including raw material and labor, was $30,519,657, the value of the products being $41,781,651, giving a profit of $11,261,994, or fifty-five per cent. on the capital. The receipts of grain, including flour, at St. Louis were 18,680,500 bushels. The mills of the city manufactured 820,000 barrels of flour.

In the district of St. Louis, on the 1st of January, 1867, the amount of tonnage, exclusive of a large number of barges and canal boats which made occasional trips, was 106,600 tons, with a carrying capacity of 186,000 tons, and a value of $10,376,000. There are in St. Louis in addition to 20 private banks, 38 Insurance Companies, 31 incorporated banking institutions, with an actual capital of $15,000,000.

In 1867, there were produced in the State, 20,244,028 bushels of corn, and 2,085,301 bushels of wheat.

Capital, Omaha. Area, 75,995 square miles. Population, (1860), 28,842.

Nebraska came into the possession of the United States in 1803 as part of the Louisiana purchase. It was settled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States, and was organized as a Territory in May, 1854. An enabling act was passed by Congress, March 21, 1864. A constitution was formed by the State Convention, which was ratified by the people, June 8, 1866. In January, 1867, an act of admission as a State, conditioned that there should be no denial of the elective franchise, or of any other right to any person by reason of race or color, excepting Indians not taxed, passed both houses of Congress, but was vetoed by the President. The act was passed over the veto on the 8th and 9th of February.

The Legislature assembled, according to the conditions, and on the 1st of March, Nebraska was declared a state of the Union, by proclamation of the President. At a session of the Legislature, in 1867, provision was made for locating the seat of government, and for the erection of public buildings. The place selected for this purpose by the Commissioners is to be called Lincoln.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and Treasurer, are elected by the legal voters for two years, and the Auditor for four years; the election, which is biennial, is on the second Tuesday in October. The Senators, 13 in number, and the Representatives, 39 in number, are chosen at the same time, for two years. Members of both houses of the General Assembly receive $3.00 per day for the session not exceeding forty days, and ten cents per mile travel.

Male citizens of the United States, and persons of foreign birth who have declared their intention to become citizens, 21 years of age or upwards, who have resided in the state the time required by law, are entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of Nebraska is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, elected by the people, who hold their offices during the period of six years. One term of the Supreme Court must be held annually at Omaha, the seat of government. For District Court purposes, the state is divided into three judicial districts, in each of which one of the Justices of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. The Supreme and District Courts respectively possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction.

EDUCATION.

There is in the State, a Board of Education, which consists of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the State Treasurer, and five other persons appointed by the Governor. This Board has the charge of the Normal School, appoints its teachers and makes general regulations for it. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the general supervision of the schools of the State. In 1867, the trustees of the Seminary at Peru, Nemaha County, offered the seminary building to the State for Normal School purposes. The liberal offer was accepted by the State, and the Legislature, by an act passed, June, 1867, established the Normal School, and located it at Peru. The site includes sixty acres of land on high rolling ground, in view of the Missouri river for sixteen miles. The building is of brick, eighty feet long and forty feet wide, and three stories high. The estimated value of the site and the building complete is $25,000. The Legislature at its last session appropriated three thousand dollars to aid in fitting up the new building, and also twenty sections of land for an endowment. Prof. J. M. McKenzie was elected Principal. Two assistants were also appointed, and the school was opened Oct. 24, 1867.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of Nebraska in 1860 was 28,841; the inviting features of the country stimulated immigration to such an extent, that in 1867 the State was admitted into the Union, having attained the requisite number of inhabitants.

The soil of the eastern portion is exceedingly fertile; the prairies are covered with a heavy sod, the matted growth of ages of vegetation, several teams of oxen being required to break it; the subsequent tillage is comparatively easy, the ground being rendered light and mellow. Along the rivers are groves of oak, walnut, cottonwood, hickory and willow. In 1860, the farms of Nebraska embraced 118,789 acres of improved land and 512,425 of unimproved. The peculiar character of soil and climate indicate that stock-raising will become a very important and remunerative branch of its agricultural enterprise. The public lands remaining undisposed of, are equal to about forty-two and a third million of acres.

Thin coal-beds, fifteen to eighteen inches thick, have been found in various localities, and worked with considerable profit; an out-crop at Nebraska City having been advantageously worked by drifting in a distance of three hundred yards.

The counties of Otoe, Nemaha and Richardson contain more timber than any other portions of the State. Considerable attention has been given to the cultivation of fruit and forest trees.

Products in 1866. Indian corn, 2,095,030 bushels, value, $1,424,620; wheat, 257,639 bushels, value, $317,142; Oats, 450,138 bushels, value, $207,063; potatoes, 120,319 bushels, value, $210,558.

Banks. There were, in 1868, four National Banks, with $350,000 capital.

Capital, Carson City. Area, 112,090 square miles. Population, (1860), 6,857.

The region from which this state was formed was a portion of the territory acquired by the United States from Mexico under the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, belonging previous to its transfer to the department of Alta California. The first settlements were made in 1848. Nevada was organized as a territory, March 2, 1861, and admitted into the Union as a state, October 31, 1864. It extends from the 37th to the 43d meridian of Longitude west from Washington, and from the 42d degree of Latitude to where the Colorado river first meets the boundary of California, about latitude 35°.

The members of the executive government are chosen by the qualified voters of the state, and hold office for four years. The term of office of the present government will expire on the first Monday in January, 1871. The Legislature is composed of 57 members, 19 Senators and 38 Assemblymen, chosen by the qualified voters of the counties. Every white male citizen of the United States 21 years of age, who has resided six months in the state, and thirty days in the county, is entitled to vote. Persons convicted of treason or felony and not restored to civil rights, idiots and insane persons are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the state is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in justices of the peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, who hold their offices during a period of four years. For District Court purposes the state is divided into nine districts, in each of which one of the Justices of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. The Supreme and District Courts have Chancery as well as common-law jurisdiction. The Judges and county officers are elected by the people.

STATE DEBT.

January, 1867, (coin), - - - - $278,000.

The Governor in his message to the last Legislature, recommended the negotiation of a loan of $300,000, which with accruing revenues, would provide for the indebtedness of the state and the current expenses until the next meeting of the Legislature in 1869.

EDUCATION.

While Nevada existed as a territory, important steps were taken towards the organization of a system of public education, and since its admission into the Union as a state, this system has been farther perfected. The school laws of 1865, as amended in 1867, provide for a State Board of Education, which consists of the Governor, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Surveyor General of the State. This Board has a special supervision of the State School Fund, and holds semi-annual sessions for the purpose of devising plans for its improvement and for the management and the better organization of public schools. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has a general supervision of Public Schools.

There is in each county, a county superintendent elected for two years, who apportions the school money in the county treasury to school districts, and exercises a general supervision over all the public schools of his county, visiting each at least once in each year. He appoints the school trustees, where districts fail to elect, presides over and conducts county teachers' institutes, and reports annually to the State Superintendent.

There are in each school district three trustees, one of whom is appointed annually by the qualified voters of the district for a term of three years. The Board of Trustees is a body corporate, with power to purchase, hold or convey school property, and it has the care of all in its district. The trustees employ teachers, provide school-rooms with maps, furniture and other necessary appendages, grade the schools, apportion the school fund, suspend or expel insubordinate pupils, and report annually to the county superintendent.

ent. A Board of Examiners consisting of three competent persons, is appointed for each county by the State Superintendent. This Board examines all applicants and grants certificates of qualification to teachers of public schools.

This state has received from the United States 3,661,680 acres of government lands, which are appropriated to educational purposes.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

Governor Blasdel in two messages to the Legislature has recommended that provision be made for the care of the insane, by creating a fund for this purpose to be drawn upon until the state is provided with an Asylum, and permanent arrangements have been made for the treatment of this unfortunate class.

Before being admitted into the Union as a state, Nevada was provided with a territorial prison, and the prison buildings have thus far been found sufficient for the state.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

For ten years after the first settlement, the population increased slowly, there being less than 1,000 inhabitants within the limits of the state in 1859. The discovery of silver that year attracted immigration to such an extent that in 1861, there were nearly 17,000 inhabitants. The estimated population in 1866 was 40,000.

The principal aboriginal tribes occupying this state are the Washoes and Pah Uthas in the western part of the state, and the Sashones in the eastern part. These tribes or nations are divided into many small communities or families, sparsely scattered over the country, who are generally peaceful and inoffensive. Some of the Indians are employed by the whites, and are found useful in many kinds of unskilled labor.

Nevada is mostly an elevated plateau, having a general altitude of more than 4,000 feet above tide water. It has numerous chains of mountains from 1,000 to 5,000 feet above the common level of the state. These are mostly covered with forests of pine, spruce, and fir, from which superior lumber is obtained. Between the ranges of mountains are valleys from 5 to 20 miles in width, some of which are very productive, yielding from 30 to 60 bushels of wheat, and from 40 to 80 bushels of barley to the acre. The leading industrial pursuit is mining, the silver mines constituting the great source of wealth to the state. Gold was first discovered in 1849, near the Carson river, and the mines were worked with profit for several years, but have generally been abandoned for the richer silver mines. Silver was discovered in 1859, near what is known as the Comstock ledge in Storey county. This is still the most valuable silver-bearing lode found in Nevada. It has been developed to the depth of more than 700 feet, and the Sutro tunnel projected and partly completed will, when finished, enable the lode to be worked to the depth of three thousand feet or more with prospective profit. This tunnel will be 19,000 feet long, and its estimated cost is from four to five millions of dollars. The great body of valuable ores contained in the Comstock ledge consists in the black and gray sulphurets of silver. Native silver is found diffused through the vein, but no large masses have been obtained.

A small amount of gold has been extracted, though the proportion now is less than at first. The unexampled richness of the ores of the White Pine District attracted the attention of miners during the autumn of 1868, and caused a large accession to the population.

Copper and iron mines exist in some parts of the state, and lead and coal have been discovered. Salt is abundant. The salt bed at Sands Springs in Churchill county extends over several hundred acres, much of which is a stratum of pure, coarse salt nearly a foot thick, which only requires to be gathered in heaps or thrown on a platform in order to drain off the water, when it is ready for sacking. About 50 miles west of this, is another and still more extensive salt bed, its superficial area being nearly 20 square miles, while in Nye or Esmeralda county, there is a bed covering more than 50 square miles, over nearly all of which the salt, clean, dry and white, lies to a depth varying from 6 inches to 2 feet. This mineral so extensively used in the reduction of silver ores, is an important source of wealth to the state.

In 1866, there were in the state 170 mills completed for the crushing and reduction of ores, and a number more in the process of construction. These mills carry 2,564 stamps, weighing from 400 to 800 pounds each, the average being about 600 pounds, and have an aggregate capacity equal to 6,322 horses; average cost, about $60,000; aggregate, $10,000,000. The Gould and Curry, carrying 80 stamps and supplied with two large engines, has cost, with grounds, alterations and surroundings, over $1,000,000; several others have cost from $150,000 to $250,000, the Ophir, in Washoe valley, having cost much more. Of this number, 35 are driven by water, and the balance by steam, a few of each class using both water and steam. Of these mills, 36 are in Storey county, 34 in Lyon, 10 in Washoe, 8 in Ormsby, and 1 in Douglas, a total of 89, all of which are running on Comstock ore; Esmeralda county contains 21 mills, Nye 8, Lander 22, Humboldt 5, and Churchill 4. The annual product of the Comstock lodé is about $16,500,000.

23. NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Capital, Concord. Area, 9,280 square miles. Population (1860), 326,073.

New Hampshire was settled at Dover and Portsmouth in 1623, by the English. The settlements were annexed to Massachusetts in 1641, and continued until 1679, when New Hampshire received a separate charter. It was again connected with Massachusetts in 1689, but in 1741 it became a separate province. It was one of the original thirteen states, framed a constitution in 1776, and ratified the United States Constitution, June 21, 1788.

The Governor, Councilors, five in number, and members of the Legislature are elected annually by the legal voters, on the second Tuesday of March. The Secretary of State and Treasurer are chosen each year by the Legislature in joint convention. The Attorney General is appointed by the Governor. The Senate and House of Representatives are together styled the "General Court of New Hampshire," which assembles annually in regular session, on the first Wednesday in June. The Senators are 12 in number, elected by districts; the Representatives are one for every town, parish or place having 150 ratable male polls, and one additional Representative for every additional 300 ratable male polls in excess of the first 150. Towns, parishes or places having less than 150 polls are classed together and elect Representatives by turns. Every male inhabitant of a town or parish with town privileges, or place unincorporated, in this State, of twenty-one years of age (excepting paupers, or persons excused from paying taxes at their own request), has a right to vote in the town, &c. wherein he dwells.

JUDICIARY.

The only court of general jurisdiction is the Supreme Judicial Court, which has full power as a court of equity—exercised at the law terms. The Judges are appointed by the Governor and Council, and hold their offices during good behavior; but no person can hold the office of Judge after he has attained the age of seventy years.

The State is divided into four Judicial Districts, as follows: No. 1, Rockingham, Strafford and Carroll counties; No. 2, Belknap, Merrimac and Hillsborough counties; No. 3, Cheshire and Sullivan counties; No. 4, Grafton and Coos counties.

Net Indebtedness, - - - - - $3,487,411.97

Showing a reduction during the year of - - - - - $260,364.98

By the cancellation of certain worthless taxes and accounts, the assets were diminished $5,847.05, and the liabilities $1,918.93; so that the actual reduction of the debt during the year has been $264,293.05. The present liabilities of the State are, on account of Trust Funds, $17,823.96; Floating Debt, $33,404.00; Funded Debt, $3,456,800.00; Total, $3,508,027.96.

The Floating Debt is represented entirely by State notes, and was reduced during the year from $109,637.50 to $33,404.00. The Funded Debt consists of bonds issued by the State, and was reduced during the year, from $3,681,700 to $3,456,800. The Assets consist of income of State Prison, $867.22; Cash in the Treasury, $18,684.72; and uncollected taxes, June 1, 1868, $1,064.05. About $100,000 of the State Debt becomes due in 1869, and about $350,000 annually thereafter, until 1874, when the amount due annually is much lessened. During the year, the net reduction of the debts of the towns of the State was $220,324.93.

LITERARY FUND.

The receipts on account of this fund for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1868, were from non-resident Savings Bank Taxes, $12,019.24; Sale of public lands, $25,000; total, $37,019.24; and the payments were, for dividend to towns of fifteen cents per scholar, $11,811.00; balance to the credit of the Fund, $25,208.24.

EDUCATION.

This State has one college and about fifty academies in successful operation. Dartmouth College, founded in 1769, has, beside its Academical course, a Medical, a Scientific and Agricultural Department, and a School of Architecture and Civil Engineering. The scrip donated by Congress for an Agricultural College was sold for $80,000, and the avails appropriated to establish the "New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," in connection with Dartmouth College.

The Legislature in 1867, established the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This officer has the supervision of the Public Schools of the State. School committees have supervision in the towns, and a prudential committee in each district, hires teachers, and is the general financial agent. County educational associations have been established, and numerous conventions of teachers and other friends of education have been held, whereby a new and increasing interest has been awakened in the public mind, and a fresh impetus given to educational progress.

Public Schools in 1868. Number of towns and cities, 230; number making returns, 220; number of school districts, 2,287; decrease for the year, 22; number of schools, 2,487; number of scholars attending, 77,138; decrease for the year, 709; average attendance, 52,476; decrease for the year, 590; ratio of average attendance to the whole number of scholars, .68; number of children between 4 and 14 years not attending, 3,228; increase for the year, 414; number of teachers—male, 477; female, 2,465; total, 2,942; average wages of teachers per month—male, $34.64; increase for the year, $1.55; female, $19.78; increase for the year, $1.34; number of teachers who have attended teachers' institutes, 1,018; average length of the schools in weeks, 16.83; estimated value of school-houses and lots, $1,130,698; increase for the year, $133,865; estimated value of school apparatus, $13,327.17; number of unfit houses, 427; decrease for the year, 55; expenditure in building and repairing school-houses, $86,191.73; increase for the year, $10,225.55; number of volumes in libraries reported, 55,079; amount raised by tax for support of schools, $282,606.58; increase for the year, $39,890.62; amount raised by tax beyond what the law requires, $66,528.01; increase for the year, $8,010.19; amount contributed in board, &c. to prolong the schools, $24,599.41; increase for the year, $4,596.92; amount of income from the surplus revenue money reported as used for schools, $1,840.68; of the literary fund as reported, $10,824.07; of railroad tax reported as used for schools, $7,735.30; income from local funds, $5,869.58; total expended for schools, $333,465.62; increase for the year, $43,158.31; average amount to each scholar, $3.69; number of visits of school committees, 11,804; of prudential committees, 2,518; of others, 68,849; number of academies and other permanent schools reported for the year, 51.

Of the population in 1860, 256,982 were born in the State, 48,153 in other States, and 20,938 in foreign countries.

Agriculture is the predominant interest of this State. More capital is invested in it than in all other interests combined, and the great majority of the people are engaged in its pursuit.

New Hampshire is largely engaged in manufactures, abundant water-power being furnished by the Merrimae, Cocheeo, and other rivers, on whose banks are many flourishing manufacturing towns. There are extensive forests, and the production of lumber is an important branch of industry.

Farms. Improved land, 2,000,000 acres; number of farms, 30,000, averaging 123 acres each.

Principal Products in 1866. Corn, 1,321,281 bushels, value, $1,810,155; wheat, 305,653 bushels, value, $788,585; rye, 161,559 bushels, value, $224,567; oats, 1,481,018 bushels, value, $1,007,092; barley, 105,038 bushels, value, $124,995; potatoes, 3,692,860 bushels, value, $1,809,501; hay, 665,395 tons, value, $11,897,263.

Manufactures. By the census of 1860, there were 3,211 establishments engaged in mining, manufacturing and the mechanic arts, each producing $500 and upwards annually, employing $23,274,094 capital, and 18,379 male and 13,961 female hands, consuming raw material worth $20,539,857, and yielding products valued at $37,586,453.

Banks. The State Banks are closing up their affairs. Their aggregate capital, May 13, 1868, was $237,300. There are 40 National Banks with a capital of $4,785,000; 31 Savings institutions, with resources amounting to $14,251,970.31; amount due depositors, $13,541,534.96; increase over last year, $3,078,116.46.

24. NEW JERSEY.

Capital, Trenton. Area, 7,576 square miles. Population, (1860), 672,035.

New Jersey was settled at Bergen by the Dutch and Danes in 1624, but it fell into the hands of the English in 1664. In 1674, it was divided into East and West Jersey, and soon after became the exclusive property of the Quakers of Pennsylvania. The two provinces were united in 1702, and the colony was dependent on New York until 1738, when it was erected into a separate royal province. It was one of the original thirteen states, adopted a state constitution July 2, 1776, and ratified the United States Constitution December 18, 1787.

is appointed for three years. The Superintendent of Schools is appointed by the Trustees of the School Fund for two years. The Adjutant and Quartermaster General are appointed by the Governor. Senators, 21 in number, are elected for three years, one-third every year; and Representatives, 60 in number, are elected each year. The pay of a member of either branch is $3.00 a day for the first forty days, $1.50 a day afterwards. The presiding officers are paid $4.00 a day for the first forty days, and $2.00 a day afterwards. The Legislature meets annually at Trenton, on the second Tuesday of January.

White male citizens of the United States, 21 years of age, who have resided one year in the state, and five months in the county, are entitled to vote. Paupers, idiots, and insane persons are excluded.

The active military force of this state consists of 39 companies of riflemen, 1 company of cavalry, 3 of artillery, 7 of veterans, and 5 of the Hudson Brigades, organized as militiamen, and numbering about 3,000.

JUDICIARY.

The Court of Chancery is held by the Chancellor. The Supreme Court consists of the Chief Justice, and six Associate Justices, who, with the Chancellor, are appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, and hold office for seven years.

The Court of Errors and Appeals is composed of the Chancellor, the Justices of the Supreme Court, and six other Judges appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, for six years, one judge going out of office each year. One Justice of the Supreme Court is assigned to each of the seven districts into which the state is divided. The Justices for the Districts hold Circuit Courts, and courts of Oyer and Terminer, three times a year in each county; they are also ex-officio Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas, Orphans' Courts, and courts of Quarter Sessions of the several counties.

STATE DEBT.

The state debt which grew out of the exigencies of the civil war, amounted, January 15, 1868, to	$3,196,100
There falls due, January 1, 1869, of principal,	99,900
And of interest accrued at that date,	95,883
Interest due on balance July 1, 1869,	92,886

The state had no debt at the commencement of 1861, and state taxes had been premitted for a series of years. The law, authorizing the war loans, provided for a tax to pay them. The value of taxable property in 1867, was $475,525,012, an increase of $27,050,333 in one year.

EDUCATION.

The College of New Jersey at Princeton, organized in 1746, is the oldest collegiate institution in the state. The State Agricultural College has been connected with Rutgers' College at New Brunswick. It is in successful operation, combining with theory and study, the practical results of the farmer, and experiments of the laboratory. The Professor of Chemistry and Agriculture has delivered lectures on these subjects in each county in the state.

The Public School system was materially changed by the act of March 21, 1867. There is a State Board of Education, consisting of 17 persons, and a State Superintendent, who has the general supervision of schools. The office of town superintendent has been abolished; a County Superintendent is appointed in each county, whose duty it is to visit every school in his jurisdiction twice each year. The County Superintendent, with such persons as he may appoint, constitutes a Board of Examiners for each county, with power to issue three grades of Teachers' certificates. The State Board of Examiners, consisting of the State Superintendent and Principal of the State Normal School, also grants three grades of certificates, all higher than those granted by county examiners.

The Normal School at Trenton, and the Normal Preparatory School at Beverly, are in a flourishing condition, having a larger number of students than ever before.

Public Schools. In 1867 the number of children in the state between five and eighteen years of age, was 230,555. The receipts for school purposes were: Appropriated by the state, $100,000.00; received from surplus revenue, $26,531.54; from township and city tax, $726,264.09; from district tax, $32,534.79; appropriated for Normal School, $10,000.00; appropriated for Farnum School, $1,200.00; total, $896,530.42.

Normal School. Trenton. JOHN S. HART, LL. D., Principal. Number of pupils in Normal School during 1867, was—males, 16; females, 200; total, 216; number in the Model School—males, 215; females, 310; total, 525; number in the Farnum Preparatory School, Beverly—males, 139; females, 142; total, 281; total number of pupils that have been under instruction, has been—males, 370; females, 652; total, 1,022; an increase of 230 as compared with 1866.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The state has provided liberally for the maintenance and support of her Deaf and Dumb, Blind and Idiotic, in humane institutions at New York, Philadelphia and Hartford.

The State Lunatic Asylum is in successful operation with a largely increased number of patients. The Home for Disabled Soldiers and the Soldiers' Children's Home have been established and maintained by the munificence of the state. A State Reform School provides a home and education for juvenile delinquents.

At the close of 1867, the State Prison had nearly 550 prisoners, with accommodations for only 350. The Governor and officers strongly urge the importance of increased room and other changes for the prison. At the commencement of the year, the labor of the prisoners was divided among several contractors. Under this plan the limited shop room could not be advantageously disposed of, and other inconveniencies existed. Some of the contractors having failed to fulfill their obligations to the State and stopped work, the Inspector coöperated with the Keeper in securing a contract with a single responsible party for the labor of all the prisoners now employed in shoe-making, excepting those making shoes for prison use. Another party contracts for the labor of a portion of the prisoners in chain-making. The remainder of those able to work are employed in cane-seating, or in work for the prison. The amount appropriated by the last Legislature for books for the Prison Library was expended, and the books are in use, and with manifest good effect. The Inspectors assert that the indiscriminate mingling of convicts is subversive of discipline and the proper training of the prisoners.

State Lunatic Asylum. Trenton. H. A. BUTTOLPH, M. D., Superintendent. Number of patients in asylum November 30, 1866—males, 205; females, 204; total, 409. Received during the year—males, 85; females, 127; total, 212. Discharged—recovered, 72; improved, 54; unimproved, 8; died, 37; total, 171. Remaining November 30, 1867—males, 200; females, 250; total, 450. Of this number there are—private, 91; county, 359; total, 450. Whole number of cases received and treated from opening of the Asylum, 1848—males, 1,415; females, 1,571; total, 2,986. Discharged—recovered, 1,173; improved, 818; unimproved, 96; escaped, 9; not insane, 4; died, 436; total, 2,536.

New Jersey Home for Disabled Soldiers, Newark. WM. WAKENSHAW, Superintendent. Total number of beneficiaries received during the year, 502. Discharged, 245; expelled, 23; died, 18; absented, 39; suspended, 4; sent to National Asylum, 16; total, 345. Number of beneficiaries December 1, 1867, 157.

Soldiers' Children's Home, Trenton. MRS. W. L. DAYTON, President. Number of inmates December 1, 1867—males, 82; females, 57; total, 139. Of these, 12 are entire orphans; 12 have both parents; 107 only mothers living; 8 only fathers, who are disabled.

State Reform School, Jamesburg. LUTHER H. SHELDON, Superintendent. Number of boys committed from July, 1867, to December, 1867, 26. Age—9 years, 2; 10 years, 4; 11 years, 5; 12 years, 4; 13 years, 3; 14 years, 4; 16 years, 2; 18 years, 1; total, 26. Cause of commitment—larceny, 12; insubordination and vagrancy, 11; arson, 3; total, 26.

State Prison, Trenton. PETER P. ROBINSON, Keeper. Number in confinement November 30, 1866, 543. Received during the year, 342. Discharged—expiration of sentence, 132; pardoned, 195; died, 8; total, 338. Remaining in confinement November 30, 1867, 550. Of these, there are—white males, 449; white females, 26; colored males, 67; colored females, 8. Term of sentence—1 year and less, 107; from 1 to 3 years, 136; 3 to 5 years, 130; 5 to 10 years, 118; 10 to 30 years, 56; for life, 3; total, 550. Nativity—Americans, 357; foreigners, 193; total, 550. Age—20 and under, 106; 20 to 25, 150; 25 to 30, 127; 30 to 40, 79; 40 to 50, 53; 50 to 60, 17; 60 to 80, 9; total, 550.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of New Jersey at each decennial period was as follows:

The situation of this state, the characteristics of its soil, and its proximity to New York and Philadelphia, have contributed to increase the value of its improved lands for agricultural purposes. In garden products, and in smaller fruits, it ranks as one of the first states in the Union. Great improvements have been made of late in the system of agriculture, and considerable attention has been given to draining and reclaiming the extensive marshes in the state. In minerals, the products of iron or zinc ore and marls have become an important source of wealth. The zinc mines yield more than half the product of the United States, and more than all the mines of Great Britain. In 1860, it ranked as the third state in the production of bar and rolled iron, and the value of iron founding. Its manufactures are rapidly increasing.

Products. We take the principal products for 1867 from the Lecture of Prof. Cook of the Agricultural College, as follows: Bushels of wheat, 1,763,218; rye, 1,439,497; corn, 9,723,336; oats, 4,539,132; buckwheat, 877,336; potatoes, 4,171,690; sweet potatoes, 1,034,832; pounds of butter, 10,714,447; tons of hay, 508,726; value of orchard products, $429,402; market garden products, $1,541,995; of slaughtered animals, $4,120,276. Acres in farms—improved, 1,944,441; unimproved, 1,039,084; cash value of farms, $180,250,338; value per acre, $6.04; of live stock, $16,134,693. Mining products—tons of iron ore, 275,064; zinc ore, 24,456; marl, 126,740. In 1860, the products of manufacture in New Jersey were valued at $81,000,000.

Banks. There are 54 National Banks, with capital paid in of $11,583,450.

Railroads. There were in 1864, 26 companies and 864 miles of railroad, costing $38,892,000. In 1867, there were transported on the Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Company, 539,688 tons freight, besides 40,667 tons coal; and on the Delaware and Raritan Canals, 1,838,968 tons coal; 2,636,738 cubic feet of timber, 20,348,288 feet of lumber; 2,605,012 bushels grain and feed; 55,630 tons iron; and 365,751 tons merchandise.

Capital, Albany. Area, 47,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 3,880,735.

New York was settled at New York and Albany in 1613 and 1614 by the Dutch, was ceded to the English in 1664, retaken by the Dutch in 1673, and restored to the English at the treaty of Westminster in 1674. It was one of the original thirteen states, framed a constitution in 1777, and ratified the United States Constitution, July 26, 1788. The state constitution has been amended several times. In 1868, a constitutional convention was held, and a new constitution adopted, but this has not been submitted to the people for ratification.

GOVERNOR'S STAFF.

Adjutant General, Franklin Townsend; Inspector General, James McQuade; General of Ordnance, Wm. H. Morris; Engineer in Chief, Wm. M. Tweed, Jr.; Judge-Advocate General, Jas. B. Craig; Surgeon General, Jacob S. Mosher; Quartermaster General, C. Fitch Bissell; Paymaster General, George J. Magee; Commissary General, William Seebach; Aides, Colonels Robert Lenox Banks, Walter P. Warren, J. Townsend Connolly, Wm. F. Moller, William Kidd.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, Attorney General, State Engineer and Surveyor, are elected by the people, by a plurality vote, for two years; the Governor and Lieutenant Governor on one year, and the other officers on alternate years. The Canal Commissioners and Inspectors of State Prisons are elected for three years, one each year. The Canal Appraisers are appointed by the Governor and Senate for three years, and hold office until their successors are qualified. The Superintendent of Public Instruction is elected by the Legislature for three years. The Superintendent of the Banking Department and the Auditor of the Canal Department are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, for three years. The Adjutant General and other officers of his military staff, are appointed by the Governor.

The legislative power is vested in the Senate and Assembly. The Senate consists of thirty-two members, who are elected for two years, one from each senatorial district. The Assembly consists of one hundred and twenty-eight members, elected annually, one from each Assembly district. The pay of Senators and Members of Assembly is $3.00 per day for not over 100 days, and $1.00 for every ten miles travel.

JUDICIARY.

The Court for the Trial of Impeachments is composed of the President of the Senate (who is president of the court, and when absent the chief judge of the Court of Appeals presides), the Senators, or the major part of them, and the judges of the Court of Appeals, or the greater part of them. It is a court of record, and, when summoned, meets at Albany, and has for its clerk and officers the clerk and officers of the Senate.

The Court of Appeals has full power to correct and reverse all proceedings and decisions of the Supreme Court. It is composed of eight judges, of whom four are elected (one every second year) by the people at large, for eight years, and four selected each year from the Justices of the Supreme Court having the shortest time to serve. These selections are made alternately from the First, Third, Fifth, and Seventh, and from the Second, Fourth, Sixth, and Eighth Judicial Districts. The Judge (of the four chosen at large) whose term first expires, presides as Chief Judge. Six Judges constitute a quorum. Every cause must be decided within the year in which it is argued, and, unless reargued, before the close of the term after the argument.

The Supreme Court has general jurisdiction in law and equity, and power to review judgments of the County Courts, and of the old Courts of Common Pleas. For the election of the Justices, the state is divided into eight judicial districts, the first of which elects five, and all the others four, to serve eight years. In each district one Justice goes out of office every two years. The Justice in each district whose term first expires, and who is not a Judge of the Court of Appeals, is a Presiding Justice of the court, and the clerks of the several counties serve as clerks.

The County Courts are always open for the transaction of any business for which no notice is required to be given to an opposing party. At least two terms in each county for the trial of issues of law or fact, and as many more as the County Judge shall appoint, shall be held in each year.

County Judges are elected for four years; they are vested with the powers of Justices of the Supreme Court at Chambers, are members of Courts of Oyer and Terminer, and, with two Justices of the Peace, constitute Courts of Sessions.

The Criminal Courts are the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and the Courts of Sessions. The Courts of Oyer and Terminer in each county, except in the city and county of New York, are composed of a Justice of the Supreme Court, who presides, the County Judge, and the two Justices of the Peace chosen members of the Court of Sessions. The Presiding Justice and any two of the others form a quorum. In the city and county of New York they are held by a Justice of the Supreme Court alone. These courts are all held at the same time and place at which the Circuit Courts are held. Courts of Sessions, except in the city of New York, are composed of the County Judge and the two Justices of the Peace designated as members of the Court of Sessions, and are held at the same time and place as the County Courts.

TERMS OF COURT OF APPEALS.

Four terms must be held each year, and every two years there must be one term in each judicial district. The court holds four argument terms each year, at the capitol, in the city of Albany, namely, on the 1st Tuesday of January, 4th Tuesday of March, 3d Tuesday of June, and last Tuesday of September.

TERMS OF SUPREME AND CIRCUIT COURTS.

At least four general terms of the Supreme Court are held in each district every year. Every county has each year at least one special term and two Circuit Courts. Any three or more of the Justices (including one Presiding Justice) hold the general terms; and any one or more hold the special terms, at which are heard all equity cases, and Circuit Courts, which are held exclusively for the trial of issues of fact.

EDUCATION.

The institutions of higher education in this state are mostly under the general supervision of a board styled "The Regents of the University of the State of New York." The Board consists of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, as ex-officio members, and of nineteen other persons chosen by the Legislature in the same manner as Senators in Congress. The officers of the Regents are a Chancellor, a Vice-Chancellor, a Treasurer, a Secretary and an Assistant Secretary, who are appointed by the Board, and who hold their offices at its pleasure. The leading duties with which the Regents are charged, are the incorporation of colleges, academies and other institutions of learning, under such general rules and regulations as they may from time to time establish, and the visitation and general supervision of all colleges and academies.

The Regents are the Trustees of the State Library, the Trustees of the State Cabinet of Natural History, and the Historical and Antiquarian Collection connected therewith. They annually apportion among the academies the sum of $40,000 from the income of the Literature Fund; also the sum of $18,000, or thereabouts, to academies appointed to instruct classes in the science of common school teaching; and $3,000 to academies which shall have raised an equal amount, for the purchase of books and philosophical and chemical apparatus.

An organization consisting of the officers of colleges and academies, subject to the visitation of the Board, and called "The University Convocation of the State of New York," holds an annual session at Albany, commencing on the first Tuesday in August.

There are in the state 23 colleges, the oldest, Columbia College, having been incorporated by the colonial government in 1754. This college has, in addition to its academical department, a Law Department, and a School of Mines. The University of the City of New York has schools of Art; of Civil Engineering and Architecture; of Analytical and Practical Chemistry, and of Law.

Cornell University, at Ithaca, incorporated in 1865, and opened to students in 1868, has been liberally endowed by Mr. Ezra Cornell. It has also received the donation of land scrip made to this state by the general Government to found an agricultural college. In its plan and object, it combines the advantages of a university with the practical benefits of a school of science and art.

Rutger's Female College, in New York City, provides a thorough collegiate course of instruction, surpassing even many colleges for young men.

Vassar College, at Poughkeepsie; The Packer Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn; and other institutions for young ladies, offer every facility desired for complete education.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the general supervision of Public Schools in the state. School Commissioners in the different counties, city and town superintendents in the principal cities and towns, and trustees in the school districts, exercise a local supervision over the schools in their respective localities. Great improvements have been made in the public schools of the state. The schools were made free in 1867. There are four State Normal Schools in successful operation, and four others have been authorized by law. The State Normal and Training School at Oswego has been distinguished for its influence in introducing special methods of primary instruction, known as Object Teaching. During the year 1867-68, eighty-one academies instructed teachers' classes in the science of common school teaching and government, under the supervision of the Regents of the University. Teachers' Institutes are held in nearly all the counties, principally under the direction of the County Commissioners.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

A liberal and humane policy in relieving the subjects of misfortune and affliction has prevailed in this state from an early period of its history. Through legislative action and the various channels of private benevolence, the means and facilities have constantly been multiplying for providing for the wants of the hapless and destitute in all the departments of public charity. The institutions already in operation for the treatment of the blind, the deaf and dumb, and the idiotic, and those of a reformatory character, are fulfilling the just expectations of the state, and producing the beneficial results contemplated, and others have been established and will soon be prepared to furnish additional accommodations for the unfortunate.

A Board of Commissioners of Public State Charities, with powers of visitation and supervision, is appointed by the Governor. The N. Y. Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, founded in 1818, is one of the largest of its character in the world. It has maintained a high position as a school for deaf mutes, and its pupils have increased nearly 40 per cent. in the last five years. Its former principal, H. P. Peet, LL. D., who had conducted the affairs of the institution for nearly 37 years, resigned his position in 1867, and his son, Isaac L. Peet, A. M., was appointed his successor.

The Institution for the Blind, at New York, founded in 1831, is one of the largest of its class. Its school is thoroughly graded with a regular course of instruction, embracing the common and higher branches of an English education. An institution for the blind has been established at Batavia, and tasteful buildings erected for its use.

The Asylum for Idiots was removed from Albany, in 1855, to Syracuse. It has extensive grounds, complete apparatus, and facilities for its work, which have been very successfully employed to the great benefit of its pupils.

The State Lunatic Asylum, at Utica, which was opened in 1843, has been overcrowded for several years, and two other asylums have been established, the Willard Asylum at Ovid, and the Hudson River Asylum at Poughkeepsie. The Bloomingdale Asylum is a department of the New York Hospital in New York City. The city and county of New York support a large insane hospital on Blackwell's Island, the Commissioners of Emigration one on Ward's Island, and there are also several county asylums. There are private insane hospitals at Flushing, Hyde Park and elsewhere. There is also an Asylum for insane convicts at Auburn. The Inebriate Asylum at Binghampton has been conveyed to the state, in accordance with an act of the Legislature. It has been quite successful in reclaiming the unfortunate class committed to its care.

The Western House of Refuge for Juvenile Delinquents, at Rochester, has a farm of 42 acres of excellent land and convenient buildings, but no provision for the classification of the inmates, which the managers deem desirable. There are a number of charitable and correctional institutions in and around New York, supported chiefly by the city.

STATE PRISONS.

The State Prisons at Sing Sing, Auburn and Clinton seem to have been managed so as to give general satisfaction. The expenditures for 1867 were about $170,000 more than the receipts. The new constitution materially changed the system of control of State Prisons, abolished the office of Inspector, and provided for a board of five persons to be appointed by the Governor and Senate, and to hold office 10 years.

State Prison, Sing Sing. S. H. JOHNSON, Agent and Warden. The rank in population which this state has held among the states, was the fifth in 1790, the third in 1800, the second in 1810, and the first in 1820, and ever since. The yearly arrivals of emigrants at the port of New York for the last 20 years, were:

* Decrease.

This state also ranks first in wealth. Its variety of soil and diversity of climate are favorable to a variety of agricultural productions. The value of its annual crop of oats, barley, potatoes and hay is greater than that of any other state, and the value of the latter product is more than twice as great. Large quantities of wheat, Indian corn, buckwheat, rye and various fruits and vegetables are also produced. Its manufactures are very extensive, and it surpasses every other state in the amount and extent of its commerce. During the year 1867, the receipts for customs collected at the port of New York were $114,035,984. Seven-eighths of the entire tariff revenue of the country are collected at the New York custom house.

In internal improvements, this state took the lead, and its canals and railroads have not only contributed largely to its own wealth, but also to the wealth and industry of other states. The value of articles passing over the canals in 1866, was $270,963,676, and 68,375 tons of merchandise went to other states, by way of Buffalo. The principal mineral products are iron, salt and marble.

Banks. The whole number of National Banks organized in the state is 314, of which 15 are closed or closing, leaving 299 in operation, with a paid up capital of $116,544,941.

Insurance Companies. There are 114 Fire Insurance Companies, with a capital of $29,111,332; total assets, Jan. 1, 1868, $46,543,631.83; net cash premiums received in 1867, $24,066,468.95; total income, $27,169,686.75; total loss in 1867, as reported, $14,313,431.07; net amount of risks written in 1867, $2,508,426,421.33.

Imports, for year ending June 30, 1868, were valued at $243,713,045, and the exports for the same time were valued at $250,868,305.

26. NORTH CAROLINA.

Capital, Raleigh. Area, 50,704 square miles. Population, (1860), 992,622.

North Carolina was settled at Albemarle by the English, (emigrants from Virginia), in 1650, and was chartered, March 20, 1663. It was one of the original thirteen States, adopted a State constitution, Dec. 18, 1776, and ratified the United States constitution, Nov. 21, 1789. An ordinance of secession was adopted, May 20, 1861, and declared null and void, Oct. 7, 1865. A provisional governor was appointed by the President, March 29, 1865.

By act of Congress, March 2, 1867, this State became part of the 2d military district under the command of Major General Daniel E. Sickles, until the 26th of August, when he was removed by the President, and Major General E. R. S. Canby appointed in his place.

A State convention was held in 1868, and a new constitution framed, which was submitted to the people and ratified by a majority, April 21-23. The State was re-admitted into the Union by act of Congress, June 25, 1868.

GOVERNMENT.

OFFICE.	NAME.	RESIDENCE.	SALARY.
Governor	WM. W. HOLDEN	Raleigh	*Not fixed.
Lieutenant Governor	TOD R. CALDWELL	Morganton	"
Secretary of State	HENRY J. MENNINGER	Newbern	"
Treasurer	DAVID A. JENKINS	Gaston	"
Auditor	HENDERSON H. ADAMS	Davidson	"
Attorney General	WM. COLEMAN	Concord	"
Supt. of Public Instruction	S. S. ASHLEY	Wilmington	"
Supt. of Public Works	C. L. HARRIS	Rutherfordton	"
Adjutant General	A. W. FISHER	Bladen Co.	"
State Librarian	H. D. COLERY	"

All the above officers, except the Adjutant General, are elected by the qualified voters of the State on the first Thursday in August every fourth year, and hold office four years from the 1st day of January next after their election. The present State officers were elected, April, 1868, and hold their offices four years from and after the first day of January, 1869.

The Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Works, and Superintendent of Public Instruction ex-officio constitute the Council of State, who advise the Governor in the execution of his office, and three of whom constitute a quorum; their advice and proceedings in this capacity are entered in a Journal, to be kept for this purpose exclusively, and such Journal is placed before the General Assembly when called for by either House.

The constitution provides that there shall be established in the office of the Secretary of State, a Bureau of Statistics, Agriculture and Immigration, under such regulations as the General Assembly may provide. The Senate is composed of 50 members; and the House of Representatives of 120 members.

The State is divided into 43 senatorial districts, each of which elects one Senator only, except the 1st, 10th, 13th, 16th, 19th, 21st and 26th, which elect two each. Representatives are apportioned to the different counties, according to population, but each county has at least one Representative. Senators and Representatives are elected biennially, by ballot, on the first Thursday in August, for two years.

Every male citizen, twenty-one years of age or upward, who has resided in the State 12 months, and in the county 30 days preceding an election, is entitled to vote. No person can vote without being registered. The following persons are disqualified by the constitution: All persons who shall deny the being of Almighty God, and all persons who shall have been convicted of treason, perjury or of any other infamous crime since becoming citizens of the United States, or of corruption or mal-practice in office, unless such person shall have been legally restored to the rights of citizenship.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the State is vested in a Court for the trial of Impeachments, a Supreme Court, Superior Courts, Courts of Justices of the Peace, and Special Courts. The Senate is the Court for the trial of Impeachments. A majority of the members is necessary to a quorum, and the judgment must not extend beyond removal from, and disqualification to hold office in this State; but the party shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices. This Court has jurisdiction to review, upon appeal, any decision of the courts below, upon any matter of law or legal inference; but no issue of fact may be tried before this court. The court has power to issue any remedial writs necessary to give it a general supervision and control of the inferior courts, and it has original jurisdiction to hear claims against the State, but its decisions are recommendatory.

The State is divided into twelve judicial districts, for each of which a judge is chosen, who is to hold a Superior Court in each county in said district, at least twice in each year, to continue for two weeks unless the business shall be sooner disposed of. Every Judge of the Superior Court must reside in his district while holding office. The Judges may exchange districts with each other with the consent of the Governor. The Superior Courts have exclusive original jurisdiction of all civil actions, whereof exclusive original jurisdiction is not given to some other courts; and of all criminal actions, in which the punishment may exceed a fine of fifty dollars or imprisonment for one month; and appellate jurisdiction of all issues of law or fact, determined by a Probate Judge or a Justice of the Peace, where the matter in controversy exceeds twenty-five dollars, and of matters of law in all cases. Clerks for the Superior Courts hold their offices for four years.

The Justices of the Supreme Court and the Judges of the Superior Court are elected by the qualified voters of the State, for eight years; but the Judges of the Superior Courts chosen at the first election under the new constitution were divided by lot into two equal classes, one of which holds office for four years, the other for eight years. A Solicitor is elected for each judicial district by the qualified voters thereof, as is prescribed for members of the General Assembly, who holds office for the term of four years, and is to prosecute on behalf of the State, in all criminal actions in the Superior Courts, and advise the officers of justice in his district. In each county, a Sheriff and Coroner are elected and hold their offices for two years.

Leaving in hands of Public Treasurer, Oct. 1, 1868,		$150,035.84

There has been a large deficiency of taxes due on or before Oct. 1, 1867, for several reasons: 1st. The bad crops of 1867 caused the people to be, in many cases, unable to pay their taxes. 2d. In many cases, the out-going Sheriffs made little exertion to collect the taxes, and the in-coming Sheriffs qualified so late as to be unable fully to meet their obligations at the Treasury. 3d. In some instances, the out-going officers collected "County Orders," which the in-coming Sheriffs did not feel authorized to accept. This dispute delayed settlement of the State taxes.

STATE DEBT.

According to the report of the State Treasurer, the debt of the State, Oct. 1, 1868, was as follows:

Bonds dated before May 20, 1861,	-	$8,511,000
Those dated since May 20, 1865,	- - - - -	10,698,945
Total issued to Oct. 1, 1868, including $2,000,000 accrued interest,		$19,209,945

Of the above amount, $3,200,000 had been delivered to the Chatham Railroad Company, in exchange for their bonds, and it was expected that the company would meet the interest due thereon. If this should be so, the debt on which the State must pay interest, outstanding on October 1, 1868, would be $16,009,945. The interest to be raised by the State, the present fiscal year will be, Oct. 1, 1868, $112,101; Jan. 1, 1869, $308,197; April 1, 1869, $304,101; July 1, 1869, $308,197; total for fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1869, $1,032,596. The expenses of the State government as estimated from appropriations already made, and supposing a session of the General Assembly of ninety days, will not probably be less than $375,000. This added to the interest above, makes the whole amount for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1869, $1,407,596.

EDUCATION.

The University of North Carolina with its lands, emoluments and franchises, is under the control of the State, and is to be held to an inseparable connection with the Free Public School System of the State. The benefits of the University as far as practicable are to be extended to the youth of the State, free of expense for tuition. Previous to the late war, this institution was in a very flourishing condition, but its resources have been crippled by the failure of the State Bank, in which $200,000 of its endowment was invested. The Board of Education elect for the University one Trustee for each county in the State, whose term of office is eight years. One-fourth of the Trustees are chosen every second year. The Board of education and the President of the University are ex-officio members of the Board of Trustees, and with three other Trustees to be appointed by the Board, constitute the Executive Committee of the Trustees of the University of North Carolina. The Governor is ex-officio President of the Board of Trustees, and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the University.

Before the war, public schools were maintained in the State, by means of the income derived from the Literary Fund, which amounted to $2,500,000 in 1860. About half of this fund was swept away by the war; and the system of district schools which had brought a rudimentary education within the reach of all, free of cost, was prostrated, but measures have been taken to revive it.

The constitution provides for a general and uniform system of Free Public Schools. The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Superintendent of Public Works, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Attorney General, constitute a State Board of Education, which succeeds to all the powers and trusts of the President and Directors of the Literary Fund of North Carolina, and has full power to legislate and make all needful rules and regulations in relation to Free Public Schools, and the Educational Fund. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has the chief oversight of the schools. Each county is divided into school districts, in each of which one or more public schools must be maintained at least four months in the year. The schools of each county are under the supervision and control of county commissioners elected biennially.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The constitution requires the General Assembly to appoint and define the duties of a Board of Public Charities, to whom shall be intrusted the supervision of all charitable and penal State institutions. Provision is to be made for the education and care of deaf mutes, of the blind, insane, and of idiots and inebriates at the charge of the State. One or more Orphan Houses are to be established.

The Asylum for the Insane was opened for the reception of patients, Feb. 22, 1856. During the first ten years of its existence, it had 693 inmates. It suffered severely during the late war, both from the removal and destruction of fences, and from the difficulty of procuring supplies. Since the close of the war, the fences have been replaced, the buildings repaired, and the capabilities of the institution increased.

The Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, after being closed for a short time, was re-opened January 1, 1866. This also suffered by the war, but the buildings have been repaired, new furniture purchased, and the institution put in a condition for its work. Pupils are employed from two to three hours a day in book-binding, and in making shoes and brooms.

The State has had no State Prison, but the constitution of 1868 requires the General Assembly to make provision for the erection and conduct of a State Prison or Penitentiary at some central point. The General Assembly may also provide for the erection of a House of Correction, and may establish Houses of Refuge.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

No census has been taken by the State, but the following summary from the United States census, exhibits the population of the State at different periods. The highest per cent. of increase was from 1790 to 1800, when it was 21.42 per cent.

The State is naturally divided into three sections—a low plain on the east, nearly level, extending about 150 miles from the coast, mostly covered with pines; the middle or hilly section, and the western or mountainous plateau. The productions are chiefly agricultural. Fisheries abound in the sounds and rivers of the eastern counties. The species of fish mostly taken are the herring, shad, blue-fish, mullet and rock. The number of barrels annually packed for market, is about 100,000 on the waters of Albemarle Sound. Considerable quantities are packed at other points.

The most important minerals are coal, iron, gold, copper, silver, lead, and plumbago. The coal is bituminous, and exists in two beds, situated one hundred and two hundred miles from the coast, on Cape Fear River and on Dan River. It is accessible, abundant and of good quality. Iron ore of excellent quality abounds in all parts of the State; the principal seat of its manufacture being on the Cape Fear, Catawba and Yadkin rivers. Gold is found in almost all parts of the State, especially in the middle region; the annual product for many years has been about $250,000. Copper mines abound in the middle, northern and western counties. Plumbago is found in great abundance near the capital, and again in the western region.

According to the census of 1860, there were 6,500,000 acres of improved land, or about one-fifth of the area of the State.

Products in 1866. Corn, 21,656,566 bushels, value $24,255,354; wheat, 2,846,223 bushels, value, $7,741,727; rye, 371,327 bushels, value $631,256; oats, 2,948,771 bushels, value, $2,092,627; potatoes, 830,565 bushels, value, $588,701; tobacco, 39,423,900 pounds, value, $8,081,399; hay, 163,229 tons, value, $2,121,977.

Manufactures. The amount invested in the manufacture of cotton was $2,250,000; lumber, $1,000,000; turpentine, $2,000,000; iron, $500,000; and wool, $350,000.

Banks. There were in North Carolina, September 30, 1868, 6 National Banks, with a capital of $653,300.

27. OHIO.

Capital, Columbus. Area, 39,964 square miles. Population, (1860), 2,339,511.

This state was formed from the North-Western territory, ceded to the United States by Virginia, in 1783. It was settled at Marietta in 1788, by emigrants from New England, and admitted into the Union as a state, April 30, 1802.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court consists of five Judges, chosen by the people for a term of five years, one judge retiring from office each year unless re-elected. The Judge having the shortest time to serve is Chief Justice. This Court has original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus, and procedendo, and appellate jurisdiction in all other matters. It holds at least one term each year at Columbus, and such other terms as may be provided by law.

The state is divided into ten Common Pleas districts, each of which, except that for Hamilton County, is subdivided into three or more parts, from each of which parts, one judge, to reside while in office in his district, is chosen by the electors of each subdivision for five years. In several districts, some of the subdivisions elect two or more judges each. Courts of Common Pleas are held by one or more of the judges in every county, and more than one court may be held at the same time, in each district. District Courts, composed of the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of the respective districts, and of one of the judges of the Supreme Court, any three of whom form a quorum, are held in each county at least once in each year. The District Courts have the same original jurisdiction with the Supreme Court.

EDUCATION.

According to the report of the Commissioner of Common Schools, there were in this state in 1867, 26 Colleges, 43 Ladies Seminaries, 65 Academies and Normal Schools, and 647 Private Schools. The statistics of these institutions, which returned an answer to our inquiries, are given under Colleges and Collegiate Institutions. (See page 200).

The general supervision of the public schools of the state is placed in the hands of a State Commissioner, elected by the people. The very able report made by this officer in 1868, after giving a full account of the public schools of the state, recommends the adoption of the following measures: 1st. A system of county supervision of schools; 2d. A system of professional instruction for teachers; 3d. The abolition of the sub-district system, and the adoption of the township or district system; 4th. The distribution of the State's gratuity on the base of aggregate school attendance, instead of as now, on the basis of enumeration.

A State Board of Examiners, organized in 1864, is authorized to issue state certificates to such teachers as are found qualified, said certificates being valid during the life-time of the holder, unless revoked by the State Board. In cities, towns, and incorporated villages, a local board of education has supervision of Public Schools, with power to lay taxes within certain limits for school purposes. Separate school districts containing not less than 275 inhabitants, may be organized, and in such districts a board of education, consisting of the persons chosen by the legal voters, has similar authority.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Board of State Charities, after having been organized four months, made its first report at the close of 1867.

The general management of the state institutions is commended, but the Board found many of the county Infirmaries and Jails in a deplorable condition, requiring thorough reform and improvement. Lack of sufficient room, badly constructed buildings, want of drainage and pure water, were some of the evils noticed.

There were three State Asylums for Lunatics. The Central Asylum at Columbus was first opened for patients in 1838. It had been enlarged and improved until it was one of the most extensive institutions in the country, accommodating 350 patients; but it was burned on the night of November 17, 1868, and six of the inmates perished.

The Northern Asylum was opened for patients March 5, 1855, and the Southern Asylum Sept. 1, 1855. Both of these institutions have been enlarged and much improved, and their capacity for usefulness increased during 1867 and 1868. A new Insane Asylum has been located at Athens; the corner-stone was laid November 5, 1868.

The Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, which was chartered in 1827, has been provided with a new and commodious building, and the number of pupils has increased. The Legislature in 1867 enacted that printing and book binding should be introduced into the industrial department, and arrangements be made for the instruction and employment of the pupils in these trades. No charge for board or tuition is made to pupils from Ohio. The course of instruction is seven years.

The Institution for the Blind was founded in 1836. The Legislature in 1867 made an appropriation for the erection of a new building for this institution, and the trustees secured a plan which was approved by the Governor. The estimated cost is $350,000.

The Asylum for Idiots was founded in 1857. A new building, with airy and well arranged apartments, has just been provided for it.

The Ohio Reform School is located upon a farm of 1170 acres, six miles south of Lancaster, Fairfield county. About 400 acres of land are cleared. The orchards, including the vineyards and small fruits, cover about 150 acres—the remainder of the cleared portion is devoted to gardening, the raising of farm products, and pasturage. An additional tract of land has been provided. The buildings are located near the southern line of the farm, and including yards, lawns and play grounds, occupy ten acres of ground. The buildings include—one main building, eight family buildings, and the necessary other buildings. The system has been quite successful and has been much commended by committees from other states.

A reformatory school for girls has been strongly urged by the Governor and the Board of Commissioners.

The Penitentiary appears to have been managed with great efficiency. The discipline has been good. Though from 150 to 200 convicts have been idle for want of employment, the receipts for the labor of the prisoners have exceeded all the expenses of the prison by $12,714. A school is attached to the prison, and special efforts are made for the intellectual and moral improvement of the prisoners.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of the state in 1867 was estimated at 3,000,000. The following table gives the population by each census since 1800:

	Inc. per cent.		Inc. per cent.
1800.....	45,365.....	1840.....	1,519,467.....
1810.....	230,760.....	1850.....	1,980,329.....
1820.....	581,295.....	1860.....	2,339,511.....
1830.....	937,903.....
	61.31		62.01
			30.33
			18.14

Ohio was settled chiefly by emigrants from New England, and the increase in population was more rapid in its early history than for the last thirty years. It has sent a large number of emigrants to the states west of it during this latter period.

Nearly all the land in the state may be described as of good quality, yet the valleys of the rivers, and particularly of the two Miamis, the Scioto, the Maumee, and their tributaries, contain the most valuable and fertile lands. About 14,000,000 acres are improved, either as pasture, grass, cultivated in grain, or planted in orchards, gardens, or lawns, leaving eleven and one-half million acres unimproved, either in the condition of forests or commons. In 1865, Ohio stood third among the states of the Union in the production of wheat and corn, and fourth in the yield of oats, and surpassed all other states in the number and value of horses, sheep, and the amount of the wool crop.

The banks of the Ohio above and below Cincinnati are covered with extensive vineyards, from which large quantities of wine are annually manufactured.

Though not possessing a great variety of mineral products, the state has inexhaustible supplies of coal and iron. The coal fields in the eastern and south-eastern portions cover an area of 12,000 square miles, extending through 20 counties, and embrace nearly one-third of the area of the whole state. Iron ore of very superior quality for the finer castings is found in several counties.

Abundance of limestone, sandstone, freestone, and other varieties of building stone are found in the state. Large quantities of salt are manufactured for market.

No state in the Union has a more extensive system of railroads, according to the area covered and the amount of population. Two canals connect the Ohio river with Lake Erie, a third connects Cincinnati with Cambridge City in Indiana. It has great facilities for commerce, having a shore line on Lake Erie, with harbors capable of accommodating the heaviest and most extensive shipping, and, by way of the lakes and the St. Lawrence, direct communication with the ocean.

Products for 1866. Corn, 99,766,822 bushels; value, $53,874,084; wheat, 10,208,854 bushels; value, $25,726,312; rye, 591,121 bushels; value, $644,322; oats, 22,187,420 bushels; value, $8,874,968; barley, 1,294,139 bushels; value, $1,475,318; buckwheat, 1,705,785 bushels; value, $1,876,363; potatoes, 4,516,640 bushels; value, $3,477,813; tobacco, 25,593,815 pounds; value, $1,714,785; hay, 1,963,799 tons; value, $21,601,789.

Banks. Number of National Banks, Sept. 30, 1868—organized, 137; closed or closing, 4; in operation, 133; capital paid in, $22,404,700.

Railroads. In 1841, Ohio had 36 miles of railroad; in 1864, 3,311 miles, being the property of 30 companies, and constructed at a cost of $117,583,000.

28. OREGON.

Capital, Salem. Area, 95,274 Square miles. Population, (1860,) 52,465.

Oregon was first visited by Europeans about 1775. Capt. Robert Gray took possession of it in 1792, naming its principal river after his vessel, the Columbia, of Boston. It was soon after visited by traders from the American Fur Company, and from the British Hudson's Bay Company.

The northern boundary line remained unsettled until the treaty with Great Britain in 1846, when the 49th parallel was adopted.

It was organized as a territory, August 4, 1848, was divided March 2, 1852, the northern portion being called Washington, and the southern Oregon. A State constitution was adopted, Nov. 9, 1857, and it was admitted into the Union, February 14, 1859.

The Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and State Printer are elected by the people for four years. The general election for State and County officers is held on the first Monday in June, biennially. The Legislative Assembly is composed of a Senate and House of Representatives, and convenes biennially at Salem on the second Monday in September. The Senate is composed of 16 members, elected for four years. The House of Representatives is composed of 34 members, elected for two years. The compensation of the members of the Legislative Assembly is $3 per day for the first forty days of a regular session, or the first twenty days of an extra session, and mileage at the rate of $3 for every twenty miles of travel to and from the capital.

Every white male citizen of full age, six months a resident in the State, and every white male alien of full age, resident in the United States one year, who has declared his intention, may vote. Sailors, soldiers, idiots, insane, Chinamen, and negroes, are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the State is vested in a Supreme Court, and five Circuit Courts. The Supreme Court consists of five justices, (chosen in districts by the electors thereof,) who are also judges of the Circuit Courts in their respective districts. Their term of office is six years. The Supreme Court holds one term annually at the seat of government, (Salem,) on the first Monday in September.

There is one prosecuting attorney in each judicial district, elected by the people for two years.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

Circuit Judge, Stephen J. Field. District Judge, Matthew P. Deady. District Attorney, John C. Cartwright. Marshal, Albert Zeiber.

SUPREME COURT.

STATE DEBT.

The funded debt outstanding Sept. 5, 1868, consisted of

Bounty Bonds, - - - - -	$94,015.00
Relief Bonds, - - - - -	82,141.50
Total, - - - - -	$176,156.50

Each class of Bonds bears interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, the first payable in 1884, the second in 1874, and there was in the Treasury, Sept. 5, 1868, to be applied to the interest and redemption of the foregoing, $18,300.11.

EDUCATION.

The principal collegiate institution is the Willamette University at Salem. It is under the charge of the Methodist Episcopal church, and was founded in 1853. It has an endowment of $30,000, and 600 volumes in its library. There are several other colleges and academies.

The system of common schools differs but little from that in the Eastern States, but owing to the sparseness of the population, its advantages are mainly prospective. There is a Superintendent of Public Instruction, who has the general supervision of the schools of the State. County school superintendents exercise supervision over the schools in the several counties, and report their condition to the State Superintendent. The Governor, Secretary of State, and Treasurer, are a Board of Commissioners for the sale of school lands.

Congress by various acts has donated to the State public lands for educational and other purposes, as follows :

1. School lands proper—i. e., the 16th and 36th sections or their equivalent where portions of such sections were held by donation claimants prior to the public surveys, and known in the General Land Office as "indefinite selections."
2. University lands, consisting of seventy-two sections, for the use and support of a State University.
3. Five hundred thousand acres of land granted under the provisions of act of Congress of Sept. 4, 1841, for purposes of internal improvement; and which, for convenience, and to avoid confusion, have been designated by the Board as "State lands."
4. Ninety thousand acres of land granted for the support of an Agricultural College.

In addition to the above, grants have been made to the State of all "swamp and overflowed lands," reported as such by the Commissioner of the General Land Office; ten sections for public buildings, and seventy-two sections of saline lands.

The University lands have been selected, and a portion of them sold. If the State school lands are all sold, and the fund carefully managed, in a few years the School Fund will fully support a free school system. The interest on hand, September, 1868, amounted to more than $24,000 per annum—or two thousand dollars per month.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

On the first of October, 1864, the Legislature authorized and directed the Governor to contract with private parties for the keeping, care and medical treatment of insane and idiotic persons. That contract expired on the first of December, 1868.

The constitution requires that among other public buildings, an asylum for the insane shall be erected at the capital. A site has been purchased for that purpose, and as soon as the financial strength of the State will permit, suitable buildings will be erected, and the management thereof be left to the exclusive control of the Legislative Assembly, as contemplated by the constitution.

The Penitentiary has been managed in such a manner as to give general satisfaction to the people. A suitable temporary building has been erected, the best of police regulations have been established, insuring the safe-keeping of convicts; and labor has been so directed, aside from extensive permanent improvements made for the State, as to pay fifty per cent. of the entire expenditures of the penitentiary. During the last two years the convicts have been successfully employed in the erection of public buildings.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of Oregon in 1860 was 52,465. In 1868, it was estimated at over 100,000, and was steadily increasing. The State contains 60,975,360 acres, of which 52,700,000 were public lands undisposed of in 1868.

In reference to climate and agricultural capacities, Oregon may be divided into two distinct parts, the eastern and western, lying respectively on the east and west sides of the Cascade Mountains. Western Oregon, the portion first settled, containing the great preponderance of its present population, is 275 miles in length, with an average width of 110 miles, being nearly one-third of the entire State, nearly all of which is valuable for agriculture, grazing, or for timber growing, excepting the crests of some of the highest mountains. The valleys of the Willamette, the Umpqua, and Rogue rivers are embraced in this section. The soil of these valleys is rich and deep, resting upon a foundation of clay retentive of the elements of fertility. Larger portions of the valleys are open prairie, just rolling enough for the purposes of agriculture.

Eastern Oregon, extending from the Cascade Mountains to Snake River, is an elevated, rough, broken country of hills and mountains, table-lands, deep gorges, and almost impenetrable canons, with numerous fertile and arable valleys. The greater portion is incapable of tillage, but furnishes an extensive scope for grazing.

The forests of Oregon, like those of California, contain many of the most valuable timber trees in the world. The Cascade and Coast ranges, are covered with immense quantities of the sugar pine, the white and yellow pine, the nut pine, the red fir or Douglass spruce, the black fir, yellow fir, western balsam fir, the noble fir, the Oregon cedar, and the fragrant white cedar.

The salmon fisheries form an important item. Vast quantities of fish are annually caught, and the business of putting them up for commerce is prosecuted with great success.

The Columbia is the chief river of Oregon, and the largest on the Pacific coast. For thirty or forty miles from its mouth it expands into a bay from three to seven miles wide. It is navigable to the Cascade mountains, one hundred and forty miles from its mouth, and on the east side of the Cascades, it is again navigable for forty-five miles to the Dalles. Eighteen or twenty first class steamboats run on the river, and there are warehouses at all the principal towns.

29. PENNSYLVANIA.

Capital, Harrisburg. Area, 46,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 2,906,115.

The territory embraced within the present limits of Pennsylvania was granted to William Penn in payment of a debt due his father, Admiral Penn, by the government of Great Britain. In addition to this grant from Charles II., Penn became, by purchase and grant from the Duke of York, the proprietor of the territory now constituting the state of Delaware, and for many years all was united under one government.

This state was settled at Philadelphia in 1681, by English Quakers under William Penn. It adopted a state constitution, September 28, 1776, and ratified the Constitution of the United States, December 12, 1787.

The Governor, Auditor General, and Surveyor General are chosen by the people for a term of three years each. The general election is held annually on the second Tuesday of October. The Secretary of State, Attorney General, Adjutant General, Quartermaster General, Superintendent of Common Schools, and State Librarian, are appointed by the Governor. The State Treasurer is elected annually by the Legislature.

There are 33 Senators elected for three years, one-third retiring each year. The Representatives, 100 in number, are elected annually. The members of either house are paid $700 each per annum, with an allowance of 15 cents per mile for necessary travel to and from the capital to attend the meeting of the Legislature. The Legislature meets annually on the first Tuesday of January.

Every white male freeman of the age of 21 years, who has resided in the State one year and in his election district ten days prior to the election, and who has within two years paid a state or county tax, is entitled to the rights of an elector. White freemen, citizens of the United States between 21 and 22 years of age, are not obliged to pay taxes before voting.

JUDICIARY.

The Courts of this state are the Supreme Court, the District Courts, and the Courts of Common Pleas. The Supreme Court is the High Court of

* R. W. Mackey has been appointed and succeeds to the office 1st Monday in May, 1869.

Errors and Appeals. There are two District Courts, one for the city and county of Philadelphia, and one for the county of Allegheny. They have jurisdiction of all civil suits where the amount claimed exceeds $100, and for certain purposes prescribed by law, have the powers of Courts of Equity; they are the principal Commercial Courts for the cities where they are held.

There is also a District Court in Lancaster, which has concurrent jurisdiction with the Court of Common Pleas in civil cases over $100.

Courts of Common Pleas are the principal Equity Courts, and have jurisdiction where the demand exceeds $100. They also have charge of road cases, estates of minors, and one branch is the Criminal Court. The Quarter Sessions Courts have the criminal and road jurisdiction; and the Orphan's Court, estates of decedents and minors; but the Common Pleas Judges sit in all the courts, except in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Lancaster, where there are District Courts.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is composed of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices, elected by the people to serve for a term of fifteen years. The justice having the shortest term to serve is Chief Justice.

The President Judges of the several Courts of Common Pleas and other courts of record, and all other Judges required to be learned in the law, are chosen by the electors of the district over which they are to preside, for a term of ten years.

Salaries of Judges of Supreme Court, $6,000; of Judges of District Courts, $5,000; of Judges of Courts of Common Pleas—in 1st and 5th Districts, $5,000; in 12th District, $3,800; in all others, $3,500 each.

EDUCATION.

Collegiate or university privileges have been granted to thirty-seven different institutions in this state, of which fourteen, including about all the living institutions, reported their condition to the State Department last year. The Agricultural College has been much improved. Three experimental farms were purchased for it in 1868, at a cost of $43,889.

The frame work of government written in England in 1682, and introduced by Wm. Penn, provided that the Governor and Provincial Council should erect and order all public schools. In 1752, certain officers were appointed trustees and managers of such schools. The provisional constitution, framed in 1776, provided for the establishment of a school in each county, and, in 1786, the proceeds of sixty thousand acres of public lands were appropriated in aid of public schools. In 1836, the common school fund was authorized and provision made for the distribution of its income. The school law of 1834, which is the foundation of the present school system, provides for free education for all between six and twenty-one years of age. The office of county superintendent was created in 1854, and that of state superintendent in 1856.

The sixty-six counties of the state are sub-divided, for school purposes, into 1,889 school districts, each township, borough or city usually constituting a school district. Each district has six school directors, two of which are elected annually, holding office three years. The directors are required to procure school buildings and grounds, establish schools, appoint teachers, visit every school in the district by one, at least, of their number once a month, direct what branches shall be taught and what books used, and report annually to the county superintendent. This officer, who must be an experienced teacher, is elected for three years by the school directors of the county; he is to visit all the public schools of the county, examine teachers, and report annually to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is at the head of the department, and is appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate for the term of three years.

The first Normal School in the state, with the exception of the City Normal School in Philadelphia, was opened in Lancaster County, at Millersville, in 1855. It was continued in private hands under the name of the Lancaster County Normal School until 1859, when it became a State Institution. The Normal School law, passed in 1857, divides the state into twelve districts, in each of which a State Normal School may be established whenever private contributions make it practicable. Each school must have suitable buildings and at least ten acres of land connected with it. The buildings of each must contain a hall of sufficient size to comfortably seat 1,000 adults, with class rooms, lodging rooms and refectories for at least 300 students. Each school must have a library, cabinet and apparatus, at least six professors, and one or more model and practice schools attached to it, with not less than 100 pupils, so arranged that the Normal pupils may therein acquire a practical knowledge of the art of teaching.

Public School Statistics. With the exception of the city of Philadelphia, the whole number of schools in 1867 was 13,061, an increase of 288 from 1866; whole number of pupils in attendance, 660,163, an increase of 10,644; average attendance, 414,537, or 62 per cent.; average length of school term, 5 months 16½ days; average cost of tuition—for each pupil, per month, 85 cents; whole number of male teachers, 6,619, an increase of 485 from 1866; whole number of female teachers, 8,590, a decrease of 117; average salaries of male teachers, per month, $35.87; average salaries of female teachers, per month, $27.51; total cost of tuition, $2,482,512.93, an increase, from 1866, of $270,991.23; total cost of fuel and contingencies, $601,087.21, an increase of $42,769.60; total cost of purchasing, building, renting, and repairing school houses, $985,152.55, an increase of $389,482.86; total expenditures of the system for tuition, building purposes and contingencies, $4,068,752.69, an increase, from 1866, of $802,243.69; total state appropriation, $355,000.00; total amount paid for salaries of county superintendents, $56,221.23; average number of mills on dollar school tax, 7.25; average number of mills on dollar building tax, 5.04; whole amount of tax levied and state appropriation, $3,971,285.23, an increase of $602,897.90; amount of tax levied, $3,616,285.23, an increase, from the previous year, of $602,327.90.

Including the city of Philadelphia, which has a separate system, the whole number of schools in the state was 13,435; teachers, 16,523; whole number of pupils, 739,389; average attendance, 480,870; total of expenditures for all school purposes, $5,160,750.17.

Colleges. Fourteen colleges reported in 1867—112 professors and tutors; 2,120 students, of whom 910 were in preparatory departments, 106 in partial courses, and 136 preparing to teach. The whole number of graduates was 6,262, of whom 214 graduated last year. There were 94,236 volumes in the college libraries, and they had apparatus valued at $61,700. The income was $39,195 from tuition, and $86,201 from invested funds; the endowment funds and other property were increased $262,422.

Academies and Seminaries. Thirty-two reported—190 instructors; 4,444 students; 2,242 males and 2,202 females; of whom 2,287 were day scholars, and 1,694 boarders, 463 not being specified. These institutions had 21,959 volumes in their libraries, and apparatus to the amount of $5,470. The value of their property was $522,342; income, $147,931, and expenditures, $131,973.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The Charitable institutions of this state are on a plan commensurate with its wealth and extent, and are liberally provided for by the government.

There are six incorporated asylums for the Insane, besides several private institutions for the same class. The Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane, founded more than one hundred years ago, has been modified and improved, and is now furnished with all the appliances necessary for the comfort of its inmates. The State Lunatic Hospital at Harrisburg, and the Western Pennsylvania Hospital near Pittsburg, have been crowded with patients. New buildings have been erected for the latter institution.

The Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, established in 1820, and the Institution for the Blind, founded in 1833, receive state pupils from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. Pay pupils are also admitted. Both have ample provision for giving intellectual and moral instruction, and the pupils are successfully employed a part of the time in the workshops.

The Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-minded Children, at Media, was first established in 1852, as a private institution, at Germantown, but was removed to Media in 1859, where a farm of 60 acres and a convenient building were provided for it, the state paying a part of the expenses.

The Philadelphia House of Refuge, founded in 1828, has two distinct departments, one for white and one for colored children, with grounds and buildings for each.

The House of Refuge for Western Pennsylvania, chartered in 1850, and opened in 1854, is for children of both sexes, though more than two-thirds of the inmates are boys. The schools are thoroughly classified, and during the hours for work, both boys and girls, are systematically employed in the shops or the necessary work of the institution.

There are 39 schools and homes supported by the state for the care and instruction of soldiers' orphans. During the year ending Nov. 30, 1867, these institutions had under their charge 2,931 pupils, maintained at an average cost of $148.43 per year for each pupil. The number of pupils May, 1868, was 2,431. There are several other city and private humane institutions.

Since the establishment of the Hospital, in 1752, there have been admitted into it 80,968 patients, of whom 50,698 have been poor persons, supported at the expense of the institution. There have been cured, 52,454; relieved, 10,243; discharged without material improvement, 6,107; discharged for misconduct and eloped, 1,712; pregnant women safely delivered, 1,334; infants born in hospital, 1,254; died, 7,708.

Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Pittsburgh. Number of patients in hospital, Jan. 1, 1866, 34. Admitted during the year, 203. Discharged, 169. Died, 19. Remaining, Jan. 1, 1867, 49. Of the discharged there were—cured, 137; relieved, 26; unrelieved, 6; total, 169. Nativity of those admitted—United States, 98; Ireland, 47; Germany, 29; England, 11; other foreign countries, 18.

Remaining, Jan. 1, 1867, 206. Of the discharged, there were—males, 69; females, 64; recovered, 50; improved, 26; unimproved, 18; died, 39. Total number of insane patients under treatment from 1856, 1,005.

PENITENTIARIES.

There are two Penitentiaries, the Eastern at Philadelphia, and the Western at Allegheny City. The separate or individual system of discipline is adopted in both, and its success has been satisfactory to the inspectors.

Improvements which have been introduced within the past fifteen years, have been productive of very beneficial results. The number of prisoners has been largely increased since 1864, and in the Western Penitentiary has more than doubled.

The reports of these institutions are replete with important facts, not only in relation to crimes and criminals, but as indicating in some degree the crime-cause, characteristics of offenders, and the influence of social relations. In the Eastern Penitentiary, about five-eighths of the whole number (626), had attended public schools, a little over two-eighths private schools, and nearly one-eighth never went to school. Of the whole number of commitments to this prison (5,975), 2,069, or 34.63 per cent. had no parents living; 1,571, or 26.30 per cent. had a mother living; 688, or 11.51 per cent. a father living; and only 1,647, or 27.56 per cent. had both parents living. More than one-half of those convicted of crimes against property, and about two-thirds of those convicted of crimes against persons, were whole orphans or had only a mother living.

State Penitentiary for Eastern District of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. JOHN S. HALLOWAY, Warden. Number of convicts, Dec. 31, 1866, 569. Admitted during the year—males, 287; females, 4; total, 291. Discharged—by expiration of sentence, 199; pardoned, 19; change of sentence, 1; by order of Court, 1; escaped, 1; died, 13; total, 234. Age of those admitted—under 18, 7; 18 to 25, 145; 25 to 30, 58; 30 to 40, 58; 40 to 50, 11; 50 to 70, 12. Habits—abstainers, 52; moderate drinkers, 137; sometimes intoxicated, 81; often intoxicated, 21; total, 291. There were from—Pennsylvania, 149; other states, 82; foreign countries, 60; total, 291. Term of sentence—for 1 year or less, 46; from 1 to 2 years, 104; 2 to 3 years, 63; 3 to 4 years, 30; 4 to 5 years, 24; 5 to 7 years, 14; 7 to 15 years, 10; total, 291. Average sentence, 2 years, 8 months and 16½ days. Total number of prisoners received since 1829, 5,975. Committed for crimes against property, 5,009; against persons, 966.

Western Penitentiary of Pennsylvania, Allegheny. G. A. SHALLEMBERGER, Warden. In confinement, Jan. 1, 1867, 418. Received during the year, 222. Discharged—by expiration of sentence, 113; pardon, 34; escape, 5; death, 2; total, 154. Remaining, Jan. 1, 1868, 486. Term of sentence—from 1 to 2 years, 108; 2 to 3 years, 114; 3 to 4 years, 74; 4 to 5 years, 47; 5

30. RHODE ISLAND. •

Capitals, Providence, Newport. Area, 1,306 square miles. Population, (1865,) 184,965.

This State was settled at Providence in 1636, by the English from Massachusetts under Roger Williams. It was under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts until 1662, when a separate charter was granted, which continued to be the basis of the government until the formation of the State constitution in September, 1743. It was one of the original thirteen States, and ratified the United States Constitution, May 29, 1790.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Attorney General are elected annually on the first Wednesday of April for the year commencing the last Tuesday of May. The Auditor is elected by the Assembly. The Commissioner of Schools is appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate. The Senate consists of the Governor, who presides, the Lieutenant Governor, and one Senator from each of the thirty-four towns in the State. The House of Representatives consists of seventy-two members. The Legislature holds its regular session at Newport, on the last Tuesday of May, and a session, by adjournment, at Providence, in January following. The pardoning power, except in cases of impeachment, is vested exclusively in the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Every male citizen of full age, one year in the State, six months in the town, owning real estate worth $134 or renting $7 per annum, and every native male citizen of full age, two years in the State, six months in the town, who is duly registered, who has paid $1 tax, or done militia service within the year is entitled to vote.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice, and three Associate Justices, and is a court of equity as well as of law. It is the court of last resort in all matters of probate, and has original, revisory, and supervisory jurisdiction. It has original jurisdiction, concurrent with the Court of Common Pleas in each county, in all civil suits, where the debt or damages claimed amount to the sum of $100 or upward, or where an easement in, or the title to real estate is in question. The Supreme Court has exclusive power to try all indictments for crimes which may be punished by imprisonment for life.

The Court of Common Pleas is holden by some one of the Justices of the Supreme Court, who is assigned to that duty by his associates. This court has original jurisdiction of all civil actions at law, wherein the debt or damages claimed amount to $50 or upward, or where the title to real estate is in question. This court has concurrent criminal jurisdiction with the Supreme Court, except as to indictments for crimes which may be punished by imprisonment for life, and has exclusive jurisdiction of all appeals, civil or criminal, from Justices of the Peace or Courts of the Magistrates.

The Judges of the Supreme Court are chosen by the General Assembly, and hold office until they are removed by a resolution passed by both houses of that body, and voted for by a majority of the members elected to each house.

There was no State debt in 1860. The debt created on account of the war amounted to $4,000,000 in 1865, but in 1868 it had been reduced to $3,141,500.

EDUCATION.

Brown University, founded in 1764, is the only college in this State. It has been successfully conducted and has a prosperous scientific school which received the avails of the agricultural land scrip granted to Rhode Island. There are a few flourishing academies in the State.

The Public Schools are under the general supervision of a State School Commissioner. The report of this officer in 1868, represents education as advancing in the State. School committees, and, in some cases, superintendents in towns and cities, exercise a local supervision over the schools within their jurisdiction, and report annually to the State Commissioner.

A State Normal School was in operation until 1865, when it was suspended. The Commissioner strongly recommends its re-establishment. One thousand dollars was paid in 1867 to two Academies, for imparting instruction to pupils in "Normal Departments" of these institutions.

Common Schools. Number of towns, 24; number of children under 15 years of age, 56,934; number of school districts, 400; number of scholars—in summer schools, 24,593; average attendance, 19,972; in winter schools, 30,780; average attendance, 23,720; amount of Permanent School Fund, $412,685; amount appropriated—annually by the State, $50,000; last year by towns, $165,361; amount from registry taxes and other sources, $10,867.42; amount from rate-bills, $9,629.66; balance, $10,058.97; from all sources, $324,830.89. amount expended on school houses, $89,098.08.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The beneficiaries of Rhode Island, are to a considerable extent, maintained at institutions in other States. In 1868, the State had 7 pupils in the American Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb at Hartford, and 9 in the Perkins' Institution for the Blind, at South Boston.

The largest number of the indigent insane are at the Butler Asylum, in Providence; but the accommodations here being limited, a considerable number are supported elsewhere. In 1868, the State had 24 beneficiaries at the Vermont Asylum for the Insane at Brattleboro, and 4 at the State Lunatic Asylum of Mass. In the Butler Asylum there are two classes of patients supported in part by the State. The larger class consists of insane poor, sent by the Overseers of the Poor of the towns to which they belong; for these the State pays $120 each per year. The other class are beneficiaries supported in part by their friends, and in part by the State, the amount depending on the number.

The Hospital has been managed with economy and success; the charge for board has been kept at very low rates.

The Providence Reform School, though not a State institution, received the last year $18,000 from the State for board of inmates. This school admits both sexes, and provides for their education and for their employment in industrial pursuits.

The State Prison is reported as well conducted. Considerable change was made in the interior administration of the prison in 1867, by a change in officers and, to some extent, in the discipline. Gratifying improvements are noted by the Inspectors. The chapel services and the Library have been found very beneficial in their moral and general influence for good. The labor of the convicts has been let by contract; nearly all have been constantly employed.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population as given by the United States Census, was as follows:

	Population.	Increase per ct.		Population.	Increase per ct.
1790.....	69,110.....		1830.....	97,199.....	17.02
1800.....	69,122.....	.02	1840.....	108,830.....	11.97

1820.....	88,015.....	7.83	1860.....	174,620.....	18.35

The population as given by the State registration in 1865, was 184,965.

Rhode Island is principally a manufacturing State. It is the least in extent in the Union, but in proportion to population it ranks first in the product of cotton, and second in that of woolen manufactures. Its abundant water power and facilities for transportation have given it advantages which have been well improved. The State has considerable coasting trade and some foreign commerce.

The cultivated land is moderately fertile, but is employed more in grazing and for dairy purposes, than for tillage except in the vicinity of the cities and larger towns. Very little wheat culture is attempted. Other crops are more remunerative as well as more abundant and certain.

The Products in 1866 were—corn, 408,293 bushels; value, $579,776; rye, 32,658 bushels; value, $47,028; oats, 154,222 bushels; value, $112,582; barley, 35,031 bushels; value, $40,250; potatoes, 499,440 bushels; value, $399,552; hay, 53,379 tons; value, $1,689,979.

Banks. Number of National Banks, 62; capital, $20,364,800. Number of Savings Banks, 25; total amount of deposits, $21,413,647.14.

Railroads. Number of miles of track in Rhode Island, 170.³¹⁵/₁₀₀₀; capital stock, $37,597,548; cost of roads, $39,398,373.14; cost of equipments, $1,975,664.31; number of passengers carried during the year, 12,101,194; number of tons of merchandise carried during the year, 1,320,623; receipts for the year, $5,133,047.14; current expenses of the year, $3,989,257.61; net earnings of the year, $1,473,588.56; indebtedness by mortgage, $11,790,850; indebtedness by preferred stock, $548,800; all other indebtedness, $4,922,022.75.

Capital, Columbia. Area, 34,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 703,708.

South Carolina was settled by the English at Port Royal in 1670, a grant of the territory having been made in 1662, by Charles II. to Lord Clarendon and others. The proprietary government at first complex, was more confused by the introduction of John Locke's Constitution, soon after the settlement of the State. Locke's scheme of government was soon abandoned, and in 1619, the two Carolinas were separated, and a royal government was established in South Carolina.

This is one of the original thirteen States; it established a State Constitution March 26, 1776, and ratified the Constitution of the United States, May 23, 1798. Its State constitution has been frequently amended. An ordinance of secession was adopted, Dec. 20, 1860. After the close of the war, on June 30, 1865, Benjamin F. Terry was appointed Provisional Governor. At a State Convention which assembled September 13, 1865, the ordinance of secession was repealed, political privileges were extended to the people, and a new State constitution was formed and adopted. State officers were appointed, the Provisional Governor was relieved, December 25, and the authority passed into the hands of the government elected by the people. The act of Congress, March, 1867, placed this State in the Second Military district, under the command of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles until August 26, when he was relieved, and Major Gen. E. R. S. Canby appointed in his place.

A State Convention assembled in Charleston, January 14, 1868, and adopted a constitution which was ratified by the people. The State was re-admitted into the Union by vote of Congress, June 25, 1868.

The Governor and Lieutenant Governor must each have attained the age of thirty years, and have been two years a resident of the State. They are elected biennially by the qualified voters, and hold office two years or until their successors are chosen and qualified. The next election will be on the 3d Wednesday of October, 1870. The Comptroller General, Treasurer, and Secretary of State are also chosen by the qualified voters for the term of four years.

The Senate is composed of one member from each county, except the county of Charleston, which has two Senators; the House of Representatives, of 124 members apportioned among the several counties according to the population of each.

* And a furnished house.

† Including Clerk's pay.

The Senators must be at least 25, and the Representatives 21 years of age. Senators hold office for four years, one-half being chosen every second year. Representatives hold office for two years, and are chosen at the same time as Senators, at the general election, 3d Wednesday in October.

Every male citizen of the United States, 21 years of age, without distinction of race, color or former condition, who has resided in the State one year, and in the county in which he offers his vote, sixty days next preceding any election is entitled to vote. Paupers, convicts, persons of unsound mind, and all persons disqualified by the Constitution of the United States, are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of this State is vested in a Supreme Court, and in two Circuit Courts, viz: A Court of Common Pleas, having civil jurisdiction, and a Court of General Sessions, with criminal jurisdiction only; in Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace.

The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, two of whom constitute a quorum. They are elected by a joint vote of the General Assembly, for the term of six years, and continue in office until their successors are elected and qualified. They are so classified that one of the Justices goes out of office every two years.

The Chief Justice elected under the Constitution continues in office six years, one of the Associate Justices serves for the term of two years, and one for the term of four years. The Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction only in cases of chancery, and constitutes a court for the correction of errors at law. It has power to issue writs of injunction, mandamus, quo warranto, habeas corpus, and such other original and remedial writs as may be necessary to give it a general supervisory control over all other courts in the State.

The Courts of Common Pleas have exclusive jurisdiction in all cases of divorce, and exclusive original jurisdiction in all civil cases and actions ex delicto, which are not cognizable before Justices of the Peace, and appellate jurisdiction in all such cases as may be provided by law. They have power to issue writs of mandamus, prohibition, scire facias, and all other writs which may be necessary for carrying their powers fully into effect.

The Court of General Sessions has exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal cases which are not otherwise provided for by law. It shall sit in each county in the State at least three times in each year, at such stated times and places as the General Assembly may direct.

The Judges of the Supreme Court and of the Circuit Courts are elected by joint vote of the General Assembly, the former for a term of six years and the latter for a term of four years. Judges of Probate Courts are elected by qualified voters of the counties for two years. Clerks of the Court of Common Pleas are appointed in the same way for four years. The Clerk and Reporter of the Supreme Court are appointed by the Judges, and hold office two years.

STATE DEBT.

The entire bonded debt of the State, October 1, 1868, was $5,407,306.27, of which $484,444.51, issued in 1838 for the rebuilding of Charleston, was due in July, 1868. Bonds and stocks of the State had also been issued for Military Defence, from Dec. 1860, amounting, Oct. 1, 1866, to $2,141,840, with interest due at date, $324,004.42. The assets of the State, consisting of shares in railroad and turnpike companies, which were a source of revenue before the war, amounted, Oct. 1, 1868 to $2,754,660.

EDUCATION.

The supervision of public instruction is vested in a State Superintendent of Education, chosen by the people at the same time as other State officers. There is elected biennially in each county, one School Commissioner, and the Commissioners constitute a State Board of Education, of which the State Superintendent is by virtue of his office, chairman.

The new constitution requires the General Assembly to provide for a uniform system of free public schools; for the division of the State into school districts; for the compulsory attendance at either public or private schools, of all children between the ages of 6 and 16 years not physically or mentally disabled; for levying a tax on property and polls for the support of schools; for the establishment and support of a State Normal School; of educational institutions for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind; of a State Reform School, and for the State University and Agricultural College. All the public schools, colleges, and universities of this State, supported in whole or in part by the public funds, are free and open to all the children and youth of the State without regard to race or color.

The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be given by the United States to this State for educational purposes, and not otherwise appro-riated by this State or the United States, and of all lands or other property given by individuals or appropriated by the State for like purpose, and of all estates of deceased persons who have died without leaving a will or heir, are to be securely invested and sacredly preserved as a State School Fund, and the annual interest and income of said fund, together with such other means as the General Assembly may provide, are to be faithfully appropriated for the purpose of establishing and maintaining free public schools, and for no other purposes or uses whatever.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The constitution directs that institutions for the benefit of the insane, blind, deaf and dumb, and the poor, shall always be fostered and supported by this State, and shall be subject to such regulations as the General Assembly may enact. The Directors of the Penitentiary are to be elected or appointed as the General Assembly may direct. The Directors of benevolent and other State institutions, created after the ratification of the constitution, are to be appointed by the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate; and upon all nominations made by the Governor, the question shall be taken by yeas and nays, and entered upon the journals.

The respective counties of this State are required to make such provision as may be determined by law, for all those inhabitants who by reason of age and infirmities or misfortunes, may have a claim upon the sympathy and aid of society.

The Physician of the Lunatic Asylum, who is Superintendent of the same, is appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. All other necessary officers and employees are appointed by the Governor.

Lunatic Asylum, Columbia. J. W. PARKER, M. D., Superintendent. Number in Asylum, Nov. 1, 1866, 142; received during the year, 85, making a total of 227. Discharged—cured, 25; cloped, 2; removed, 3; died, 11; total, 41. Remaining, Jan. 1, 1867—males, 88; females, 99; total, 187. Of these, there are—paying class, 61; paupers, 126; total, 187.

Expenditures for Charitable Institutions. Expenditures in building South Carolina Penitentiary—from Nov. 14, 1866 to Oct. 31, 1867, $66,942.86; from Nov. 1, 1867 to Oct. 31, 1868, $80,112.42; total, $147,055.28. Expenditures of the Lunatic Asylum—for 1866, $47,344.91; for 1867, $39,503.95; for 1868, $58,024.15; total, $144,873.01.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of this State at each decade since 1790 was as follows:

Census.	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1790.....	140,178.....	1,801.....	107,094.....	249,073.....
1800.....	196,255.....	3,185.....	146,151.....	345,591.....	38.75
1810.....	214,196.....	4,554.....	196,365.....	415,105.....	20.12
1820.....	237,410.....	6,822.....	253,475.....	502,741.....	21.11
1830.....	257,863.....	7,921.....	315,401.....	581,185.....	15.06
1840.....	259,084.....	8,276.....	327,038.....	594,398.....	2.27
1850.....	274,563.....	8,960.....	384,984.....	668,507.....	12.47
1860.....	291,388.....	9,914.....	402,406.....	703,708.....	5.27

The large increase of the colored population of this State, both free and slaves, from 1790 to 1860 is particularly noticeable. While the increase in the white population was but 107 per cent. in 70 years, the increase of colored persons was more than 275 per cent., and though less than 44 per cent. in 1790, it was greater than the white population in 1820, and in 1860, constituted more than 58 per cent. of the whole population.

This State has been largely engaged in agriculture, the amount of its chief products in 1860, being—wheat, 1,285,637 bushels; Indian corn, 15,065,606 bushels; oats, 936,974 bushels; rice, 119,100,528 lbs.; and cotton, 141,265,200 lbs. It was the seventh State in the product of cotton, and its product of rice exceeded that of all the other States together by more than 50,000,000 lbs. The value of live stock in 1860, was $23,934,465. At that time there were in the State, 12,165,049 acres of improved, and 11,623,860 acres of unimproved lands.

The effects of the late war were to depreciate the value of real estate, and especially agricultural property, and to change the system of labor and cultivation. The partial failure of the cotton crop, and the entire failure of the grain crops in some parts of the State in 1866, following so soon after the destruction of property caused by the war, left much of the State in an impoverished condition. A joint resolution of Congress authorized the distribution by the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau of large supplies of food, which relieved the immediate wants of the people, but the general indebtedness, the scarcity of money, the want of reliable laborers, and the unsettled condition of the country, have prevented a general and successful development of the resources of the State; and if to these facts there be added the great depreciation in the price of cotton, some of the difficulties which have attended industrial occupations may be comprehended. The natural resources of the State are, however, good, and the determination to accept the changed condition of things and develop these resources, with the inducements offered to immigrants will, it is believed, attract capital and enterprise which will be successfully employed. Governor Scott in his message to the Legislature urges prompt provision for the extinguishment of the State debt, rigid economy and equitable taxation, to insure the regular payment of accrued and coming due interest.

The valuation and assessment of lands and improvements is to be made prior to the meeting of the General Assembly in 1870, and every fifth year thereafter. The real and personal property of a woman, held at the time of her marriage, or acquired afterwards, is not subject to levy and sale for her husband's debts, but is held as her separate property.

Gold has been found in several places, and the mines have been worked successfully in the Abbeville and Edgefield districts. These mines were neglected for a time, but work was resumed on them in 1866, with satisfactory results. The first mint deposits from South Carolina were $3,500 in 1827; the aggregate of such deposits to June 30, 1866, was $1,353,663.98.

The manufacturing interest of the State is increasing in importance. Several cotton and paper mills have been supplied with new and improved machinery and put in successful operation.

Products for 1866. Corn, 6,026,242 bushels, value, $9,521,462; wheat, 642,815 bushels, value, $2,050,580; rye, 53,454 bushels, value, $105,839; oats, 655,881 bushels, value, $728,029; potatoes, 158,714 bushels, value, $163,475; hay, 70,069 tons, value, $1,541,518.

Banks. The number of National Banks, September 30, 1868, was 3, with a capital of $685,000.

32. TENNESSEE.

Capital, Nashville. Area, 45,600 square miles. Population, (1860,) 1,109,801.

Tennessee was first settled at Fort Donelson, in 1756, by emigrants from Virginia and North Carolina; it originally formed a part of the latter State, but was ceded to the United States in 1784. A constitution was adopted February 6, 1796, and the State admitted into the Union June 1, of the same year.

At the time the other southern States were seceding from the Union, or on the 9th of February, 1861, the question of a convention for the State was submitted to the people, when a majority of 64,114 voted against a convention. An extra session of the Legislature called by the Governor, convened on the 25th of April, 1861, and on the 9th of May passed an ordinance of secession, which was repealed in February, 1865. The State was restored to her former relations to the Union, and admitted to representation in Congress, by a resolution which was approved by the President, July 24, 1866.

The Governor is elected by the people, by a plurality vote, for two years. The Secretary of State, Treasurer, Comptroller, and Attorney General, are chosen by the Legislature on joint ballot, the Secretary of State for four years, the others for two years. The sessions of the Legislature are biennial. The members of both houses are elected for two years.

The constitution adopted in 1834, gave the elective franchise to every free white man of the age of 21 years, being a citizen of the United States, and for six months a resident of the county; provided, that all persons of color who are competent witnesses in a court of justice against a white man, may also vote.

By the amendment of 1866, the qualifications of voters and the limitation of the elective franchise was to be determined by the General Assembly which first assembled under the amended constitution. The General Assembly extended the right of suffrage to the blacks, and excluded certain classes of those engaged in the rebellion.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in the Supreme Court, and such inferior courts as the Legislature may from time to time establish. The Supreme Court consists of three Judges, who reside in the three divisions of the State. The inferior courts, so called, are Courts of Chancery, Circuit Courts, County Courts, and Justices' Courts.

The entire State liabilities amounted to $32,562,323.58, of which $23,601,000 was represented by bonds loaned to railroads.

EDUCATION.

The first public institution for higher education west of the Alleghanies, was organized in East Tennessee in 1780 or 1781, at Salem in Washington county. Washington College, Greenville College, Blount College at Knoxville, now East Tennessee University, were all incorporated at about the same time, (1794 or 1795,) and have exerted an important influence in the cause of education in this State. The State University at Nashville and several Academies and Schools of a higher order in different parts of the State, afford facilities for higher education.

The cause of Public Education has received a new impulse by the system of Free Schools which has been established since the war. The State Superintendent has the general supervision of public schools. County Superintendents have been appointed in the different districts, and by their efforts and co-operation with the State Superintendent have done much towards organizing a successful school system. The State Library has about 17,000 volumes, of which 7,000 are duplicates.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The principal charitable institutions are the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Knoxville, the Institution for the Blind, and the Hospital for the Insane, at Nashville.

These institutions were much injured during the war by the destruction of fences and furniture, and damage to the buildings. The Hospital for the Insane has been much improved, and several additions and outbuildings have been completed, but increased accommodations are much needed. Provision was made by the Legislature in 1865 and 1866 for the erection of a hospital for the colored insane.

The School for the Deaf and Dumb, first established in 1845, was in a prosperous condition in 1861, when it was closed, and the pupils separated to their homes; the building was used for hospital purposes by both armies in turn. At the close of the war, it was again placed in the hands of the Trustees, repairs were made, and it was re-opened Dec. 7, 1866. The number of pupils is steadily increasing.

The State Penitentiary at Nashville, went into operation in 1831. It is conducted on the silent system.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of the State as given by the United States Census at different periods, was as follows:

	Whites.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1790.....	32,013.....	361.....	3,417.....	35,791.....
1800.....	91,709.....	309.....	13,584.....	105,602.....	195.05

1860.....	826,782.....	7,300.....	275,719.....	1,109,801.....	10.68

The colored population reported in 1860 was principally in the middle and western portions of the State, there being only about 22,000 or less than one twelfth in East Tennessee. The length of the State is nearly four times as much as its breadth, and it extends over only about one and a half degrees of latitude, yet the peculiarities of its surface are such that it is usually divided into three sections in regard to climate and agricultural capabilities.

The Eastern section is much broken by mountains and hills, and before the war was engaged principally in stock-raising, wool-growing, and the production of corn and wheat.

Middle Tennessee is less broken, though a portion of its surface consists of elevated table lands, producing tobacco, corn, wheat, oats, rye, and the vegetables and fruits adapted to the climate.

West Tennessee is more nearly level, and before the war was more extensively engaged in raising cotton. Since slavery was abolished, the agricultural products of this part of the State have been more varied.

Rich veins of iron ore are found in a large number of the counties of East Tennessee; copper in abundance in Polk county; nitre in several caves. Coal is found of good quality, and in beds thick enough to be profitably worked. Quarries of marble and very superior stone for building are also found in abundance. East Tennessee is also rich in lime, marl, zinc, salt, lead, slate, fire clay, and hydraulic cement.

East Tennessee has abundant water power for extensive manufactures, but this branch of industry has been limited.

Products. The value of the principal articles of production in 1860, was: Flour and meal, $4,124,812; lumber, sawed, $2,199,703; leather, $1,142,246; cotton goods, $698,122; iron, bar, boiler plate, etc., $543,398; iron, pig, $549,640; copper ore, $404,000; boots and shoes, $395,790; spirits, $227,353; steam engines and machinery, $732,350; agricultural implements, $117,260.

In 1860, there were 2,572 establishments, employing $14,426,261 capital, and 12,528 hands, consuming raw material worth $9,416,514, and yielding products valued at $17,987,225.

In 1866 the products were—corn, 46,880,933 bushels; value, $36,098,318; wheat, 3,985,265 bushels; value, $8,807,435; rye, 232,190 bushels; value, $273,984; oats, 2,970,836 bushels; value, $1,515,126; barley, 20,115 bushels; value, $27,960; buckwheat, 13,322 bushels; value, $15,587; potatoes, 1,501,146 bushels; value, $1,080,825; tobacco, 46,054,983 pounds; value, $9,671,546; hay, 140,580 tons; value, $2,619,000.

Banks. The number of National Banks, Sept. 30, 1868, was—organized, 13; closed or closing, 1; in operation, 12, with a capital of $2,025,300.

33. TEXAS.

Capital, Austin. Area, 247,356 square miles. Population, (1860), 604,215.

This state was settled at Bexar, now San Antonio, in 1694, by Spaniards; it formed a part of Mexico until 1836, when it declared its independence, and instituted a separate government. It was admitted into the Union, by joint resolutions, approved March 1, and December 29, 1845. An ordinance of secession was adopted at a state convention, February 5, 1861, and the state joined the Southern Confederacy. At the close of the war, Gen. A. J. Hamilton was appointed provisional governor. He took charge of the executive department, July 25, 1865, and called a state convention which assembled at Austin, February 10, 1866, and annulled the ordinance of secession, and all debts created by the state during the war. In compliance with the instructions received from the federal authorities at Washington, August 13, 1866, the provisional governor transferred the civil authority to the state officers, elected June 4th.

By the act of Congress, approved March 2, 1867, Texas, with Louisiana, was constituted the 5th Military District, which was placed under the command of General Philip H. Sheridan; he was removed from the command, August 29, and General Hancock appointed. December 18, an order was issued for an election to determine whether a convention should be held and for the selection of delegates thereto. The convention was ordered and assembled June 1, in Austin, but adjourned to December before completing the constitution. The Bill of Rights, as adopted, declares that "The equality of all persons before the law is recognized, and shall ever remain inviolate; nor shall any citizen ever be deprived of any right, privilege or immunity, nor be exempted from any burden or duty, on account of race, color, or previous condition." The state has not yet been admitted to representation in Congress, and reconstruction has not been perfected so as to secure adequate protection to life and property in all parts of the state.

FINANCES.

The Comptroller reports the receipts from Sept. 4, 1867, to May 31, 1868, inclusive, from state revenues, $369,467.79, and the warrants drawn for the same time were, $165,104.88; the whole amount of warrants drawn for 12 months, from July, 1867, to June, 1868, inclusive, was $247,948.95; the total balance on hand in the Treasury, May 31, 1868, including balances of various funds, was $2,844,532.19.

STATE DEBT.

The Auditorial Board was created by act of the Legislature, and is composed of the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer. This Board reported—Amount of liabilities against the state, presented under the law creating the Board, up to August 1, 1867, $331,471.44; amount audited by the Board, $139,055.37; amount of 5 per cent. specie bonds issued by the Board, as follows: To the University Fund, $134,472.26; to the Common School Fund, $32,168.82. These bonds have semi-annual specie coupons attached, and are payable, January 1, 1879.

EDUCATION.

In accordance with a resolution of the Legislature, a Board of Administrators of the University of Texas was appointed, which organized in 1867 and examined sites, but made no selections.

A Board of Administrators has also been appointed for the East Texas University, and a portion of the "University Land" set aside for its endowment.

Under article 10, section 10, of the Constitution, a Board of Education was authorized, to consist of the Governor, the Comptroller, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction. This Board has the general management and control of the Perpetual School Fund and Common Schools, subject to regulation by the Legislature. The Legislature passed an act establishing a system of common schools, and regulations were adopted concerning the school fund. The Board of Education had its first meeting on the 17th of November, 1867.

The superintendent, Hon. E. M. Wheelock, writes under date of Dec. 4, 1868, "There is no school system in Texas, and the school fund which had been accumulating, was mainly ruined and dissipated by the war. A plan for free schools, in essentials similar to the systems of the states North and West, has been submitted to the Reconstruction Committee, now in session, and strong hopes are entertained of its adoption. The number of children who should be at school in Texas, exceeds 200,000; the number actually enjoying school privileges is about 20,000."

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Texas Institution for the Deaf and Dumb was established by law as a state Institution at a special session of the Legislature in 1856, and was opened for the reception of pupils in January, 1857. It is situated on the west bank of the Colorado river, directly opposite the city of Austin. The buildings are at present only the temporary wooden buildings that were on the property when purchased, enlarged and adapted to the purpose. The growth and progress of the Institution have been greatly retarded by the disastrous condition of public affairs; only fifty-seven pupils in all had been received in 1868. The number in attendance in 1867 was twenty-two. The average annual expenditure before the war, was $8,500 in specie; since the war, about $12,000 in currency. The officers are a Board of Trustees, consisting of five members, appointed by the Governor, a Superintendent, appointed by the Trustees, two assistant teachers, a matron, and an assistant matron. All the expenses are defrayed from the public treasury, except the clothing of the pupils, and this is furnished to the indigent.

The Texas State Lunatic Asylum was organized in March, 1861, the Superintendent being appointed by Gen. Sam. Houston, then Governor of Texas. The officers were several times changed during the war, but the first superintendent, B. Graham, M. D., is now in office. The buildings are not more than one-fifth completed, and are filled to their utmost capacity. The usual average of inmates has been about 75; the income is derived from counties and friends of patients, the state making up the deficiency. Annual expense, $20,000. The Blind Asylum is continued under the superintendency of S. W. Baker, M. D.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The first United States Census in Texas was taken in 1850, when the population was 212,592. In 1860, it was 604,215, or an increase of 184.22 per cent. in ten years.

Texas possesses in a high degree the advantages of a salubrious and temperate climate, and a soil of unsurpassed fertility, adapted to the production of all the most valuable staples, together with great mineral resources. It is eminently a stock growing State, having twice as many cattle as any other State in 1860. The flocks of sheep have also been rapidly increasing. Diseases among cattle and sheep made stock raising less profitable in 1868.

It has the advantage of affording perennial pasturage for cattle, which costs literally nothing. Snow and ice are of rare occurrence; the former sometimes falls to the depth of two or three inches in Northern Texas, and ice forms about an inch thick, but both disappear in a few days.

Farming operations are carried on every month in the year without interruption either from heat or cold. The growing season in Texas is about twice as long as in the more northern states of the Union, and most crops mature from six weeks to two months earlier.

The streams are usually bordered with timber, the width of the timber varying from one or two hundred yards to eight or ten miles on each side of the stream. The balance of the country between the streams is generally prairie, except in the eastern counties which are mostly covered with heavy timber. The bottom lands generally yield a bale of cotton of 500 pounds or more to the acre, or about 60 bushels of corn. The uplands yield usually 300 or 400 pounds of cotton, or 30 or 40 bushels of corn to the acre.

The land is capable of producing large crops of wheat, rye, oats, potatoes and tobacco, and, in some parts of the state, sugar cane and fruits.

Of minerals, iron appears to be the most abundant, and is found in quantity in Grayson, Titus, Cherokee, Anderson, Nacogdoches, Williamson, Gillespie, Burnet, Llano and other counties, with comparatively little effort at development. Salt, lead, zinc, copper, soapstone, and marble are found in several counties. In the prairie lands, salt-ponds and lagoons abound, where in dry seasons salt is deposited in immense quantities. During the late war Texas and Upper Louisiana were supplied from this source.

Wild or unimproved lands range in price from 12½ cents to $10 per acre, and embrace a very large proportion of the total area of the state, less than two per cent. being under cultivation in 1860. Previous to the late unfortunate war, the price of lands had been steadily, though slowly advancing throughout the state. Since the war all lands have fallen down to a small part of their previous value. Cultivated farming lands may be bought at from $5 to $10 per acre, and in some places even less.

Products in 1866. Corn, 20,295,863 bushels; value, $19,078,111; wheat, 1,847,931 bushels; value, $2,679,500; oats, 1,084,478 bushels; value, $932,651; potatoes, 250,822 bushels; value, $175,575.

Banks. The number of National Banks, Sept. 30, 1868, was 4, with a capital of $525,000.

Capital, Montpelier. Area, 10,212 square miles. Population, (1860), 315,098.

This State was settled at Brattleboro, in 1724, by emigrants from Massachusetts and Connecticut, under grants from New Hampshire. It was claimed by both New Hampshire and New York, and was for a time under the government of the latter, but at a convention held in Westminster, January 16, 1777, it was declared a free and independent State. It was admitted into the Union in 1791.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Treasurer are elected annually; the Secretary of the Board of Education is appointed by the Board of Education; the State Librarian, by the Trustees of the State Library; all the other officers by the Joint Assembly of the two Houses.

The Senate, established in 1836, consists of 30 members, apportioned among the several counties according to their population.

The House of Representatives consists of 241 members, one from each town and city. The pay of the members of each House is $3.00 per day during the session of the Legislature. Every man 21 years of age, who is a native-born citizen of some one of the United States, or has been naturalized, and has resided in the State one whole year next before the time of election, and who will take the oath prescribed by the constitution, is entitled to the privileges of a freeman.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial powers of the State are vested in a Supreme Court, a Court of Chancery, a County Court in each county, Justices of the Peace in the several towns, and a Probate Court in each Probate District. The Judges of the Supreme Court are elected annually by the Legislature, and all other judicial officers by the people.

From 1778 to 1786, inclusive, the Supreme Court consisted of five Judges; from 1786 to 1825, it consisted of three Judges; in 1825, 1826 and 1827, of four Judges; from 1827 to 1846, it consisted of five Judges; from 1846 to 1849, of six Judges; in 1850, a change in the judiciary system was effected by reducing the number of Supreme Court Judges to three, and by establishing a Circuit Court, consisting of four Judges. In 1857 the Circuit Court was abolished, and the number of Supreme Court Judges increased to six, which number constitutes the Court of the present day.

The Supreme Court has no original jurisdiction, except for divorce; but is a court of errors for the trial of questions of law, and a court of appeal in chancery suits. Each Judge of the Supreme Court is a Chancellor, and holds his court at the same time as the County Court, which is held in each county by one of the Supreme Judges and two Assistant Judges.

* $6.00 per day during session.

The County Courts have original jurisdiction in all civil actions for over $200, or in relation to real estate, except trespass, where the damages claimed exceed $20; also in actions for replevin for amounts over $20. All actions out of the original jurisdiction of the County and Chancery Courts, except for divorce, must be brought before a Justice of the Peace.

STATE DEBT.

The funded Debt of the State has been reduced during the year, $230,000. At the close of the fiscal year, after deducting balance to credit of Sinking Fund, it amounted to $1,168,000. The unadjusted balance due the State from the war claim is now $207,222.23. The aggregate indebtedness of all the towns and cities in the State, as shown from the returns made to the State Treasurer, is $1,939,198. Nearly one-half of the debt is found in the counties of Bennington and Windsor.

EDUCATION.

An investigation which has been made with care, shows that during the last collegiate year, about one hundred and sixty or seventy young men of this State were members of a college or scientific school, either in Vermont or elsewhere.

The State Agricultural College has been incorporated with the University of Vermont at Burlington, and has received the avails of the 150,000 acres of scrip donated by the general government. The institution has now three co-ordinate departments and faculties of instruction in successful operation. There are two other colleges and several academies in the State.

The State Board of Education consists of six persons besides the Governor, who is ex-officio a member of the Board. The Board appoints its Secretary, who has the general superintendence of the schools of the State. Each town elects a town superintendent, who is required to visit each common school in the town at least once in each year, to examine teachers, and give certificates to such as are found qualified. Towns are divided into school districts, each of which has a prudential committee of one or three voters, whose duty it is to appoint teachers, provide suitable school-rooms, and make arrangements generally for the schools of the district.

Three Normal Schools have been established, one in each Congressional District, under the direction of the State Board of Education. Two courses of study are provided for these schools. Graduates from the first course are entitled to receive certificates, which are by law constituted licenses to teach in any part of the State, for the term of five years, and graduates from the second course are entitled to certificates, which are constituted Licenses to teach in any part of the State, for the term of fifteen years.

Number of Select Schools, 348; number of pupils attending, 9,264; number of Academies, 58.

Normal School, Randolph, EDWARD CONANT, A. M. Principal. Number of pupils, 1868—ladies, 146, gentlemen, 106, total, 252; average attendance per term, 77.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Vermont Asylum for the Insane at Brattleboro, was established in 1834. It has a large farm and extensive buildings and workshops. Most of the buildings were burned in 1862. There is a Commissioner of the Insane, annually elected by the Legislature, whose duty it is to make a thorough examination into the internal affairs of the Asylum and report thereon.

The Reform School was established in 1865. It is under a Board of Trustees, elected annually by the Legislature, who report the school prosperous. It has a farm of 133 acres. The buildings have been extended by the erection of dormitories and workshops, and improvements have been made on the grounds during the last year.

The State Prison, established in 1807, is under the government of a Board of three Directors and a Superintendent elected annually by the Legislature. It has been self-sustaining until within a few years, but the balance of expenses over the income for the last year was $6,413, about the average for three or four years. The labor of the convicts is let by contract. The present contract is for five years, at 42 cents per day. Changes in discipline have been adopted which are beneficial; the commutation of sentence has proved more effective than the expectation of pardon.

Vermont Asylum for the Insane, Brattleboro, W. H. ROCKWELL, M. D. Superintendent and Physician. Number remaining Aug. 1, 1867—males, 265, females, 246; total, 511; number admitted during the year—males, 74, females, 61; total, 135; making in all, 646; number discharged—males, 75, females, 56; total, 131, of whom there were—recovered, 46; improved, 22; not improved, 21; died, 42; number remaining August 1, 1868, 515. Total income, $6,806.06; expenditures, $12,219.48; balance of expenses over income, $6,413.41.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population as given by the United States census was as follows:

	Ino. per cent.		Ino. per cent.
1790.....	85,416.....	1830.....	280,652.....
1800.....	154,465.....	1840.....	291,948.....
1810.....	217,713.....	1850.....	314,120.....
1820.....	235,749.....	1860.....	315,098.....
			19.04
			4.02
			7.59
			0.31

The increase per cent. for the last two decades before 1860 was less than in any other State, there being few immigrants from foreign countries.

Vermont is an agricultural State, having thirteen-twentieths of its four millions of acres under improvement. Grass, oats, potatoes, and wheat are the most reliable sources of profit to the farmer. In one or two towns in Orleans county, hops are extensively grown. Dairies are sources of much income. In some of the counties, lands with a rough and rocky surface are well timbered with hemlock and spruce. The increase of railroad facilities and the establishing of lumber companies have doubled the value of timber lands in many places.

Soapstone, serpentine, chrome and iron are found in Orleans county. In Orange, are copper mines, which have been worked to some extent. A slate quarry has recently been opened in West Randolph. In Northfield, Washington county, granite and slate are largely manufactured for building purposes. Marble quarries are worked to advantage in Grand Isle and Rutland.

Products in 1866. Corn, 1,490,975 bushels, value, $2,102,275; wheat, 614,692 bushels, value, $1,641,228; rye, 154,783 bushels, value, $233,722; oats, 4,846,015 bushels, value, $3,052,989; barley, 104,390 bushels, value, $128,400; buckwheat, 225,252 bushels, value, $225,252; potatoes, 5,305,045 bushels, value, $2,281,169; hay, 862,878 tons, value, $13,469,525.

Banks. The number of National Banks, September 30, 1868, was 40, with a paid in capital of $6,560,012.50.

35. VIRGINIA.

Capital, Richmond. Area, 38,352 square miles. Population, (1860*), 1,596,318.

Virginia was settled at Jamestown in 1607 by the English. It was one of the original thirteen States, framed a State constitution July 5, 1776, and ratified the United States Constitution June 25, 1788. An ordinance of secession was passed April 17, 1861, and delegates were appointed to the congress of the southern confederacy.

A convention assembled at Wheeling in May, 1861, and organized a loyal government, and the new State of West Virginia was formed. (See West Virginia.)

Governor Pierpont, who had been elected in 1862, instituted a loyal State government at Alexandria in 1863. A Legislature and other officers were also elected. The Legislature called a Convention, which met February 13, 1864, and abolished slavery. Jurisdiction was exercised by this government in only a few counties. A provisional governor was appointed by the President after the close of the war, or May 9, 1865.

By the act of Congress assuming the government of the ten southern States, Virginia constituted the 1st Military District, to which General J. M. Schofield was assigned. He provided for an election which was held October 22, 1868, and resulted in a majority for a convention, which met in Richmond, December 3, and adjourned on the 20th to January 2, 1868. This convention adopted a constitution April 7, but it was not submitted to the people, and the State has not yet (Jan. 1, 1869) been admitted to representation in Congress.

Henry H. Wells was appointed Provisional Governor April 4. By the former constitution, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General were elected by the people for four years. The Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Second Auditor, Register of the Land Office, and Superintendent of the Penitentiary were elected by joint vote of the General Assembly for two years. All are obliged to reside at Richmond during their term of service.

The following oath is required of persons applying to register, after which if they are twenty-one years of age, and have resided in the State twelve months and in the county three months, they will be entitled to vote :

I, ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am not disqualified from exercising the right of suffrage by the Constitution framed by the Convention which assembled in the city of Richmond on the 3d day of December, 1867. and that I will support and defend the same to the best of my ability.

JUDICIARY.

The Court of Appeals consists of three Judges, and has jurisdiction, except in certain specified cases, when the matter in controversy is not less than $500 in value.

The District Court has no original jurisdiction except in cases of habeas corpus, mandamus, and prohibition. Its appellate jurisdiction only extends to cases where the amount in controversy is $100 or more, exclusive of costs, except in certain specified cases.

The Circuit Courts have chancery and criminal jurisdiction, and civil jurisdiction in all cases where the amount involved is fifty dollars and upward, exclusive of costs. They have also concurrent jurisdiction with the County Courts, and causes are taken from the latter by appeal.

The State is divided into sixteen circuits. Two Circuit Courts are held annually in each county by each Judge. The Governor (with the consent of the Legislature) appoints the Judges of the Court of Appeals and Circuit Courts.

EDUCATION.

In 1860, by the census report, there were in the State 23 colleges, with 2,824 students and $246,940 income. These institutions were mostly closed during the war, a part of the buildings were burned and others were used for hospital purposes or for barracks.

The "College of William and Mary" was chartered by the crown in 1693, and contributions for buildings and the endowment were made by William and Mary. The buildings have been several times burned and rebuilt. It was occupied in 1861, first as a barrack, and next as a hospital. The principal building was destroyed in 1862, with the furniture and apparatus; and later in the war all the remaining buildings were burned or greatly injured. The college was re-opened in the autumn of 1865.

Washington College had its origin in a Classical School established before the Revolutionary War, by the early settlers of the Valley of Virginia. In honor of the benefaction of General Washington, the name was, in 1798, changed to Washington Academy, and afterwards to Washington College.

Since the late war, the College has been re-opened under favorable auspices, and with wider aims and largely extended facilities. The course of study is elective, each student being allowed to pursue such studies as his parent or guardian may select, if found prepared.

The University of Virginia was in a flourishing condition, and had over 600 students in 1860. This number was diminished to less than 50 in 1863, but since the close of the war, has again increased to nearly 500. Provision has been made by the Legislature for the admission of one student from each Senatorial District of the State, without payment of matriculation and tuition fees and rents. By way of remuneration to the State for the aid afforded these students, they are required, on admission, to sign an engagement to teach in some public or private school in Virginia, for two years after leaving the University; the emoluments of such service enuring, of course, to their own benefit.

No general free school system has been established.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

No census has been taken of the State since its division, but the population as given by the United States Census, including West Virginia, was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slaves.	Total.	Inc. per cent.

The white population of Virginia is mainly of British origin. There were in 1860, 10,500 persons natives of Germany, and a few from France and other foreign countries.

This State has a great variety in surface and climate. The system of farming practiced before the war tended to an exhaustion of the soil, and there are large tracts of worn out lands, but in many of the valleys the soil is still very fertile. Land is valued about 25 per cent, less than before the war. Much of it is excellent for grazing. The principal cultivated products are corn, wheat, oats, and tobacco. Fruit is raised in Eastern Virginia and sent to northern markets.

A large portion of the State is still covered with wood and timber, which are valuable for ship building, and manufacturing purposes. The useful minerals as iron, lead, coal and salt are abundant, and gold has been worked in Stafford and some other counties with profit. The State possesses, in her minerals and abundant water power, great natural advantages for manufacturing; but this branch of industry has not received as much attention as agriculture.

Products in 1866. Corn, 24,369,908 bushels; value, $17,790,033; wheat, 4,331,364 bushels; value, $12,344,387; rye, 698,453 bushels; value, $740,360; oats, 10,245,156 bushels; value, $4,610,320; buckwheat, 162,686 bushels; value, $138,278; potatoes, 1,592,166 bushels; value, $1,050,830; tobacco, 114,480,516 pounds; value, $15,683,830; hay, 203,698 tons; value, $2,908,807.

Capital, Wheeling. Area, 23,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 376,688.

This state formed part of Virginia until the latter seceded from the Union. Delegates from forty counties assembled at Wheeling, June 11, 1861, protested against the act of secession, and organized a provisional government.

A convention met at the same place on the 26th of November, 1861, and framed a constitution for a new state, which was ratified by vote of the people, May 3, 1862. An act passed by Congress, admitting the state on condition of the adoption of certain amendments to the constitution, was approved by the President on the 31st of December, 1862. The changes having been made, and ratified by a large majority of the people, the President issued a proclamation April 20, 1863, declaring that the act should take effect and be in force after June 20, at which time the new state government was inaugurated.

The Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, and Attorney General are chosen by the electors of the state, on the 4th Thursday of October, biennially, and hold office for two years.

The legislative power of the state is vested in a Senate and House of Delegates, the former consisting of 22 Senators, elected for two years, and the latter of 57 Delegates, elected for one year. The Legislature is required to meet once a year, the regular sessions to begin on the third Tuesday of January. Sessions are limited to forty-five days, unless otherwise ordered by two-thirds of both houses. The pay of Senators and Delegates is $3 per day, and ten cents per mile of travel going and returning.

Every white male citizen, 21 years of age, who has resided in the state one year, and in the county thirty days, is entitled to vote. Paupers, lunatics, and felons are excluded.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power of the state is vested in a Supreme Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts, and certain inferior courts. The Supreme Court consists of three judges, elected by the people to hold office 12 years, one to go out every fourth year. This court has original jurisdiction in cases of habeas corpus, mandamus, and prohibition; and appellate jurisdiction in civil cases where the matter in controversy, exclusive of costs, is of greater value or amount than $200; in controversies concerning the title or boundaries of land, the probate of wills, in certain other specified cases; also in criminal cases, where there has been a conviction for felony or misdemeanor in a Circuit Court; and such other appellate jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

EDUCATION.

The State Superintendent of Free Schools is elected biennially by the Legislature, and has the general supervision of all the free schools in the state. He prescribes the forms and blanks necessary for the uniform operation of the school system; decides questions and controversies arising out of the interpretation and construction of the school laws; convenes the county superintendents within each judicial circuit once in each year; recommends systems and methods of instruction, and at each session of the Legislature reports the condition of free schools within the state. There is in each county, a county superintendent, elected for two years, who is required by law to examine teachers, and visit schools within his county at least once every six months. He is to make suggestions to teachers and boards of education, and report annually to the State Superintendent. From and after February, 1871, no person is eligible to the office of County Superintendent who has not received a State Teachers' certificate.

Three school commissioners are elected in each township, and hold office for three years, who with the clerk of the township, constitute a Board of Education, which has the management and disposal of all public school property, and the general supervision of the schools of the township.

The local administration of public schools in each district is placed in the hands of three trustees, elected annually.

The Bible is read in every school at the opening exercises, and it is made the teacher's duty to inculcate the duties of piety, morality, and respect for the laws and government of their country.

There is a State School Fund, consisting of stock in various banks in the state and of United States Registered Pacific Railroad Bonds, the income of which is annually distributed, with the school and capitation tax, and other school money, to the various counties.

Provision for the education of teachers is made in three State Normal Schools; one at Guyandotte, Cabell County; one at West Liberty, Ohio County; and one at Fairmont, Marion County. Appropriations have been made which will secure convenient and well arranged buildings at each place.

At Guyandotte, the property known as Marshall College, has been transferred to the state, and alterations and repairs have been made which adapt the buildings to the wants of a Normal School. At West Liberty, the West Liberty Academy has been purchased, and fitted up for the school, and at Fairmont, a spacious and convenient building has been erected. The Normal School at this place opened May 6, 1867, with 90 students in attendance.

The State Agricultural College, located at Morgantown, Monongalia County, was formally opened on June 27, 1867. The proceeds of the scrip donated by Congress, for the benefit of the college, were $90,000. The grounds of the college comprise about 25 acres, a portion of which is used as a garden and farm. The college has large and substantial buildings, and a full corps of instructors.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The Hospital for the Insane at Weston was founded in 1857, by the state of Virginia, and the erection of the buildings commenced before the division of the state. The plan consisted of a center building, flanked by sections and wings, forming a continuous structure, having a front 1,196 feet in length, with three halls running back from the wings 120 feet.

A large amount of work had been done on the building before West Virginia was organized. After the appointment of the new Board of Trustees, in 1864, the work was resumed, and one wing of the building so far completed that it was opened in October, 1864, and a number of patients admitted. The portion now erected will accommodate 100 patients, and when the building is complete, room will be furnished for 250. In November, 1867, 40 patients, before maintained by this State, at Taunton, Virginia, were removed to the new hospital.

The Deaf, Dumb and Blind are supported at the expense of the state, at Staunton, Virginia.

The Legislature, in 1866, appointed a Board of Directors to construct a penitentiary, and made an appropriation of $50,000 towards the work. A further appropriation of $50,000 was made in 1867. At the close of the year 1867, the Directors had expended for stone and work on the prison proper, $78,431.68.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

No census has been taken in this state since its organization, but according to the census of 1860, the counties now included in West Virginia had a population of 376,688, of whom 358,317 were free, and 18,371 were slaves. Of the former, 181,645 were white males, 173,899 white females, and 2,773 free colored persons.

In 1867, the number of male inhabitants over 21 years of age, as ascertained for the purposes of taxation, was 77,219, of whom 74,934 were white, and 2,285 colored. The Commissioner of Immigration has established agencies in New York, Baltimore, and Germany to give information to persons from Europe seeking homes in America.

The soil is generally well suited to wheat and corn; the irregularity of surface is the principal drawback to tillage. In the interior counties the principal market products are wool, sheep, and cattle. Some of the best timber of the country is to be found here, of all the different kinds of oaks, black walnut, hickory, poplar, and cherry. Nearly all kinds of fruits do well, particularly apples, pears, and grapes.

The state is rich in minerals, there being an abundance of iron, coal, salt, and limestone. Coal in veins suitable for working is found in greatest abundance along the banks of the upper Ohio, in the hills along the course of the Monongahela and its branches, in the central counties of the State, in the Piedmont region east of the summit, in the Kanawha valley, and in all the counties south of that river. The coal lands of Guyandotte, cover nine-tenths of the Guyandotte valley, in horizontal strata in the hills, from 3 to 11 feet thick, aggregating in some hills 25 or 30 feet. Petroleum abounds in several counties in the western part of the state. In 1860, there were in the counties now constituting the state, 2,346,137 acres of improved, and 8,550,257 acres of unimproved land. A considerable portion has been brought under culture since that time, but the mountainous character of a part of the state will prevent its being used for agricultural purposes, though flocks and herds find abundant pasture on its hill slopes. The following statistics very fairly represent the agricultural and other wealth of the state at the close of 1867:

Taxable Property of the State. Number of acres, 19,350,573; value, with buildings, $76,182,784. Value of building lots and buildings, $10,711,938. Aggregate value of land and buildings, $86,894,702. Number of horses, mules and asses, 88,982; average value, $67; total value, $5,942,448. Number of cattle in the state, 241,058; average value, $21; total value, $5,084,597. Number of sheep, 564,987; average value, $2.07; total value, $1,166,396. Number of hogs, 108,216; average value, $3.37; total value, $364,539. Value of household and kitchen furniture, $3,898,020; money, bonds, and securities; $7,491,907; money, bonds and contracts, under control of courts, $268,588. Average value of personal property listed by merchants, $3,964,963; by manufacturers, $1,037,150; by railroad companies, $6,568,103. Capital of other joint stock companies, $153,197. Total value of personal property, $39,166,041.

37. WISCONSIN.

Capital, Madison. Area, 53,924 square miles. Population (1860), 775,881.

Wisconsin was settled at Green Bay in 1669, by the French; it was a part of the territory ceded by Virginia to the United States, was set off from Michigan, December 23, 1834, organized as a territory, April 30, 1836, and admitted into the Union as a State, May 29, 1848.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the State, as to matters both of law and equity, is vested in a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, County Courts with probate powers and jurisdiction, and in Justices of the peace.

The Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction, both as to matters of law and equity, which extends to all matters of appeal, errors, or complaint from the decisions or judgments of the Circuit and County Courts. It has power to issue writs of mandamus, quo warranto, prohibition, error, supersedeas, procedendo certiorari, scire facias, and all other writs and processes necessary to enforce the due administration of justice. It consists of one Chief Justice and two Associate Justices who are elected by the people, and whose term of office is six years.

The Circuit Courts have original jurisdiction in all matters civil and criminal, within the State, (except in a few specified cases), and appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts. They have also power to issue writs of habeas corpus, quo warranto, and the like. The State is divided into eleven judicial circuits. The Judges are elected by the voters of each circuit respectively, and hold their office for six years.

EDUCATION.

This State has made liberal provisions for elementary and higher education. The State University gives evidence of renewed life and vigor, and is receiving the confidence of the people. The total productive fund belonging to the University is $215,298.83. The receipts of the income fund for the last fiscal year amounted to $18,338.24. This institution embraces the following departments: A College of Letters, a College of Arts, a Preparatory Department, and a Female Department. In the College of Letters, the course of instruction in Languages, Literature and Science is intended to be equal to that of the best colleges in the country. The college of Arts, which is the agricultural and scientific College of the State, is so organized that it can be expanded indefinitely, until each course of study becomes so prominent as to take its place as a distinct school or college. The Preparatory Department is designed mainly for the preparation of young men for the College classes. The Department for young ladies under the re-organization, really constitutes a distinct college, in which they are admitted to all the advantages of University education. An experimental farm, comprising 195 acres has been secured, which, with the land before belonging to the institution, forms a tract of 235 acres.

The public schools are under the supervision of a State Superintendent of Public Instruction, elected by the people. Local supervision is under the charge of county and city superintendents.

In 1865, the Legislature passed an act to dispose of the swamp and overflowed lands, and appropriated the proceeds to the Normal School Fund. In 1867, this fund amounted to over $600,000 invested and paying seven per cent. interest. When the lands are all sold and the avails added to the fund, it is supposed that the amount will be increased to $1,500,000.

The Normal School at Platteville was opened October 9, 1866. Normal Schools have also been located at Whitewater, Stoughton, Oshkosh, and Sheboygan. There were 42 teachers' institutes held in 1867, with an attendance of 1,604 teachers.

Public Schools. Whole number of districts in the State, 3,770; parts of districts, 1,895. Number of children over 4 and under 20 years of age—in the State, 371,083; in districts maintaining school 5 or more months, 330,263; who have attended school, 233,576; number of different pupils who have attended public schools during the year, 239,945. Number of schools—with two departments, 254; with three or more departments, 103; number of teachers required for the schools, 5,059; number of different teachers employed during the year, 8,357. Average wages of teachers—males, $40.76, females, $26.34; number of schools visited by County Superintendents, 4,223; number of public school-houses in the State, 4,565; number of pupils accommodated, 259,234; number of sites—containing less than 1 acre, 3,621; well enclosed, 903; number of school-houses built of stone or brick, 451; with outhouses in good condition, 1,867; cash value of school-houses, $2,189,159; of sites, $333,567; total, $2,522,726. Money on hand, August 31, 1866, $209,128; from taxes levied—for building and repairing, $338,034; teachers' salaries, $725,464; apparatus and library, $11,758; appropriated at annual town meeting, $91,140; by county supervisors, $163,622; from income of school fund, $158,518; receipts from all other sources, $163,260; total receipts, 1867, $1,860,924. Expenditures—for building and repairing school-houses, $349,594; apparatus and library, $5,117; services of teachers—male, $331,911, female, $592,778; old indebtedness, $63,540; furniture, registers and records, $22,128; all other purposes, $156,344; total, 1867, $1,521,412. Amount on hand (estimated), Aug. 1, 1867, $339,512; total money on hand and expenditures, $1,860,924.

The productive educational trust funds of the State were, on Sept. 30, 1867, as follows: Common School Fund, $2,096,307.60; University Fund, $193,884.88; Normal School Fund, $602,791.92; Agricultural College Fund, $18,417; total, $2,911,401.40. Land belonging to the funds unsold—School Fund, 413,897 acres; Normal School Fund, 480,520 acres; Agricultural College Fund, 233,556 acres; total, 1,127,973 acres.

Private Schools. Whole number, 386; number of teachers, 571; of pupils registered, 18,403. Number of academies, 9; of students in 1868, 1,495. Cash value of land, $18,000; of buildings, $114,800; amount of tuition, $15,222; of other income, $1,687.

Colleges. Number reported, 7; number of members of faculties, 58; number graduates, 394; graduates at last commencement, 69; number of students in senior classes, 51; in junior classes, 66; in sophomore, 130; in freshmen, 127; in preparatory departments, 1,031; number of acres owned by the institutions, 344,447; cash value—of lands, $879,019; of buildings, $346,500; amount of endowment funds except real estate, $399,849; of income from tuition, $71,856; from other sources, $32,287.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

This State has established institutions for the education and support of the unfortunate, on an ample scale, and is maintaining them with a liberal spirit. These institutions are all reported in good condition, reflecting credit on those who manage them, and on the State by whose munificence they are sustained.

The Hospital for the Insane, situated on one of the lakes at Madison, has a farm connected with it, worked principally by the less afflicted of the inmates, which yields an annual profit of $6,000. Two wings have been added to the building since 1866, rendering the institution adequate to the care of about 350 patients. There are about 700 insane in the State needing care and treatment.

The Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, at Delavan, has ample buildings and work-shops which have been recently erected. It is the intention of the trustees, to render the institution self-supporting, as far as practicable. All the scholars are required to labor a portion of each day; the girls perform the lighter kinds of housework and various kinds of needle-work; and the boys are employed at various trades, the necessary work about the institution, and in the cultivation of the farm and garden.

The original building of the Institution for the education of the Blind being unsafe, has been removed, and new rooms prepared for the accommodation of the pupils. The school has three departments, the literary, the industrial, and the musical. The aim is to give each pupil a thorough knowledge of the rudiments of a good English education, and those who are capable, take up also the branches of English studies usually attended to in good academies and high schools. In the industrial department, the boys of suitable age and strength are taught broom-making. The younger boys and girls work a portion of every day at bead-work. The older girls sew and knit, and do various kinds of fancy work.

The enlargements and improvements made in all these institutions within the last three years, have added much to the comfort of the classes for whom they were established. All are open to citizens of the State, free of expense.

The Soldiers' Orphans' Home is filled to its utmost capacity, there being an average of about two hundred and eighty children, and there are many applicants for admission, who cannot be received for want of room.

In the State Reform School, the change from the congregated to the family system has produced a manifest improvement. New buildings have been completed which answer admirably the purposes of their erection. The inmates can now be divided, arranged and classified with reference to their fitness for association together, thus ensuring success in their reformation, when success is attainable.

The State Prison is situated at Waupun, and has been pronounced one of the finest in the United States. The buildings have been extended by the erection of another wing; the whole work being done by convicts who never, before the wing was begun, had worked an hour at the trade. They were assisted and directed by one overseer only. The convicts are worked on account of the State, and their earnings will, if properly managed, be sufficient to pay all the expenses of the prison, after the buildings are completed.

There have been discharged—on expiration of sentences, 343; pardon, 277; writ of habeas corpus, 9; by order of Supreme Court, 7; removed to insane asylum, 2; by death, 11; by suicide, 2; by order of the War Department, 1; escape without recapture, 7; by reduction of time, 359; total, 1,018.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population has rapidly increased since the census was first taken in the State in 1840, being then, and at the end of each decade since, as follows:

	Inc. per cent.		Inc. per cent.
1840.....30,945.....		1850.....305,391.....	886.88
		1860.....775,831.....	154.06

In the foreign immigration to this State there has been a larger proportion of immigrants from Norway, Germany and Wales, than in the other States, Wisconsin receiving from the former country nearly as many as all the other States. A Board of Immigration, provided for by the Legislature in 1867, has been organized.

The surface of the State is rolling prairie, elevated from six hundred to twelve hundred feet above sea level, with no mountains or lofty hills. The soil in the southern part is remarkably productive, and even in the mineral regions of the northwest it is well adapted to grazing. Wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, and hay are the staple crops, the first-named being the most extensively grown, and by far the heaviest money crop, being made a specialty in a large majority of the counties. In La Crosse, Monroe, Richland, Racine, Sauk and other counties, hops have become an important interest, and have proved highly remunerative. In Sauk county they are made a specialty, growing luxuriantly, and yielding most abundantly. This county alone in 1867, received for the article of hops, about $3,000,000.

This State possesses abundant timber resources, and an immense lumbering business is carried on in many of the northern and western counties, the pine-ries of Marathon, Chippewa, Clark, Wood, St. Croix, and other counties, furnishing many millions of feet of logs and lumber annually.

The mineral resources of the State are varied and valuable. The lead region of Illinois and Iowa extends over an area of 2,140 square miles in Wisconsin. The iron region of Lake Superior presents within the limits of this State abundant deposits of great richness. Magnetic iron, plumbago, and the non-metallic earths abound. Copper deposits have also been developed, but as yet have only been worked to a limited extent.

The facilities for propelling machinery found in the various water-courses of Wisconsin invite large investments of labor and capital in the extension of manufacturing enterprise. The extensive water power of Milwaukee river affords great facilities for manufacturing, and is in process of rapid development. Milwaukee is the greatest primary wheat market in the world. In 1862, the receipts of wheat and of flour reduced to wheat, were nearly 18,000,000 of bushels.

The aggregate valuation of taxable property in the state, in 1867, as equalized by the State Board of Equalization, was $211,479,319.36, being an increase since 1865, of $57,212,699.06.

The manufacturing establishments in 1860 numbered 3,064, with a capital invested of $15,831,581. The value of the raw material absorbed and cost of production equalled $21,406,042, the total product having reached $27,849,467, leaving a profit of $6,403,425, or upwards of 40 per cent. upon the capital invested.

Products in 1866. Corn, 9,414,583 bushels; value, $7,719,958; wheat, 20,307,920 bushels; value, $33,914,226; rye, 926,492 bushels; value, $815,313; oats, 17,174,086 bushels; value, $9,274,006; barley, 860,521 bushels; value, $774,469; buckwheat, 69,227 bushels; value, $59,535; potatoes, 3,940,273 bushels; value, $2,521,775; hay, 1,151,477 tons; value, $14,105,593.

Banks. The number of National Banks, Sept. 30, 1868, was—organized, 37; closed or closing, 3; in operation, 34; with a paid in capital of $2,960,000.

38. ALASKA TERRITORY.

Capital, Sitka, or New Archangel. Area, 577,390 square miles. Population, 75,000.*

Alaska comprises that portion of North America, which is situated north of the parallel of 54° 40' north latitude, and west of the meridian of 141° west longitude. It embraces numerous islands lying along the coast and extending west from the principal peninsula. The northern coast was discovered in 1778, by Captain Cook who reached Icy Cape, latitude 70° 20' north, and longitude 160° 46' west. In 1826, Capt. Beechy proceeded east as far as North Cape, or Point Barrow, latitude 71° 23' 31" north, longitude, 156° 21' 32" west; while about the same time, Sir John Franklin, then Captain Franklin, traced the coast west from the mouth of the Mackenzie to Return Reef, latitude 70° 26' north, longitude 148° 52' west. The intervening space between Point Barrow and Return Reef was explored in 1837 by Dease and Simpson, officers of the Hudson's Bay Company.

This extensive territory was granted to a Russian-American fur company by a charter from the Emperor Paul VIII. in July, 1799, with power to occupy and bring under the dominion of Russia all territories north or south of fifty-five degrees, not previously occupied by another nation. The charter of the company was renewed in 1839; there were at that time, thirty-six hunting and fishing establishments.

In consideration of the sum of $7,200,000, the territory was ceded to the United States by the Emperor of Russia, by a treaty concluded at Washington, March 30, 1867, and ratified by the Senate, May 28. The actual transfer was made in October of the same year, Gen. Rousseau of the United States service, taking formal possession on behalf of the Federal Government, at New Archangel, on the Island of Sitka.

By an act of Congress approved July 27, 1868, the laws of the United States relating to customs, commerce and navigation were extended over the territory, and a collection district was established. By order from General Halleck, Aug. 13, 1868, the military district of Alaska was constituted and attached to the Department of California. No territorial government had been established, January, 1869.

The boundaries are as follows: Commencing at 54° 40' north latitude, ascending Portland channel to the mountains, following their summits to the 141° west longitude; thence north, on this line, to the Arctic ocean, forming the eastern boundary. Starting from the Arctic ocean west, the line descends Behring's strait, between the two islands of Krusenstern and Ratmanoff, to the parallel of 65° 30', and proceeds due north without limitation, into the same Arctic ocean. Beginning again at the same initial point, on the parallel of 65° 30', thence in a course south-west through Behring's strait, between the island of St. Lawrence and Cape Choukotski to the 172° west longitude; and thence southwesterly, through Behring's sea, between the islands of Attou and Copper, to the meridian of 193° west longitude; leaving the prolonged group of the Aleutian islands in the possessions now transferred to the United States, and making the western boundary of our country the dividing line between Asia and America.

CHARACTER OF THE COUNTRY.

The northern part of the main land is compact and nearly level, about 600 miles in length and breadth. From this, a narrow belt extends along the coast to latitude $54^{\circ} 40'$. This is broken and mountainous, with a few fertile valleys. The climate is variable, but milder than in the same latitude on the Atlantic coast, owing to the warm currents from the shores of Asia. The interior has been but little explored.

There are several large rivers, the principal of which is the Yukon, the great river of the north, which flows into Behring sea, south of Norton's sound. The lower part of the river is called by the Russians, Kwichpak. Its mouths correspond in some degree to the delta of the Mississippi, and embrace nearly two degrees of latitude. It is open by the middle of May and closes about the middle of October. It is 2,000 miles in length and navigable from 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

The mountains of Alaska are among the most elevated in North America. Mt. St. Elias is over 40 miles inland, and is seen more than 100 miles from the coast. Its height is probably between 15,000 and 18,000 feet. Mt. Fairweather, 100 miles to the southeast of Mt. St. Elias, nearly equals it in height. There are several active volcanoes, the highest of which have an altitude of about 10,000 feet.

The coast line of the territory is 4,000 miles, and including bays and islands, more than 11,000 miles in extent. The peninsula of Alaska is 300 miles long, and averages 50 miles in width. The Aleutian islands are the summits of the mountain range which extends northward on the American coast around the head of Prince William sound and Cook's inlet, and down the peninsula of Alaska. They form a regular curve from the termination of the peninsula, southward, westward and northward, to Behring's island, a distance of 1,075 miles.

This is the most remarkable range of volcanic islands on the Western Continent. The six largest, all of which are inhabited, are as follows: Ounimak, Ounalaska, Oumnak, Atkha, Amchitka, and Attou, having an area of from 350 to 1,500 square miles. The inhabitants generally live on the north side of these islands, for the southern side is exceedingly abrupt and has no harbors.

Ounalaska has a population of 700 and the others average about 350, except Attou, which has a population of 120. Further north, in Behring's sea, are the large islands of St. Lawrence and Noubak, each containing more than 2,000 square miles. In the center of Behring's sea are the small islands of St. Paul and St. George, the summer resort of the fur seal. Further north is St. Matthew, on which the Russians have in vain attempted to establish a trading post.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The entire population of this country is estimated at 75,000. There are 9,000 Russians, Creoles, Kodiaks, and Aleoots, and about 65,000 Indians of different tribes. Where the natives have means of living, they are peaceful, capable, learn quickly, and exhibit skill in commerce and mechanics. They are proverbial for their skill in fashioning a multitude of household utensils and war implements. The population of Sitka numbers about 500

Russians, Cossacks and Creoles, and there are about 1,000 Indians in its vicinity. It has but one street, with straggling log-houses. The principal buildings are the Governor's residence, a Greek church, a Lutheran chapel, the buildings of the Russian-American Company, a club house, and a block house with a small battery.

Along many of the streams there is an abundance of timber, mostly of pine, spruce, cedar and hemlock. The districts bordering upon the coast are capable of yielding in moderate quantities, the cereal grains and the more valuable vegetables of the temperate zone. Iron and coal are found in considerable abundance, and can be obtained at no very great expense. Gold, silver and copper have been discovered. The principal value of the territory for the present, depends upon its lumber, fisheries, and its fur productions. The supply of furs is on the decrease, owing to the active traffic which had been carried on in that commodity, but the fisheries are inexhaustible. Salmon abound in the rivers, and cod and halibut on the coasts. Whales and walrus are plentiful in seas to the south of Behring's strait. The most numerous, though not the most valuable of fur-bearing animals is the fur seal. 80,000 skins are obtained annually, which bring from $2.00 to $3.00 apiece in London. The most valuable of the fur-bearing animals is the sea otter. Its skins sell for $50 to $100 each, and sometimes for more. The fox abounds on the Aleutian Islands, living on sea-birds and fish, and having his safe retreat among the volcanic cliffs and fissures. From five to six thousand are caught annually. The walrus is the favorite of the Esquimaux, furnishing in its oily flesh the carbon and oxygen to keep him warm. Of other fur animals, the marten and mink are the most valuable.

39. ARIZONA TERRITORY.

Capital, Tucson. Area, 113,916 square miles. Population, (1866), 20,000.*

This territory embraces a portion of the country acquired from Mexico in 1854. The southern part, known as the "Gadsden purchase," was the earliest occupied by Americans, and is still the best known. The territory was organized February 24, 1863, from the western part of New Mexico.

FINANCES.

The total territorial indebtedness, October 8, 1866, amounted to $21,051.41, and there was a balance of $249.50 in the treasury to the credit of the general fund. Of this indebtedness, $15,590 were payable in gold, being the amount of bonds (and interest on the same to January 4, 1867), issued under the act of the first assembly, approved Nov. 9, 1864, and entitled "An act to provide for the contingent expenses of the territorial government."

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The Colorado valley was a seat of Spanish civilization and missionary enterprise more than a century ago. Early in the eighteenth century, flourishing settlements existed in the valley of the Gila, the Rio Verde, and the Salinas. The relics of these are still seen in the ruins of cities, cathedrals and farms, scattered up and down the Colorado and its branches. The remains of irrigating canals show the extensive and elaborate scale on which Spanish agriculture was then prosecuted. The Santa Cruz region was occupied by Jesuit missionaries as early as the year 1600, the ruins of whose establishments are still seen. The depredations of the Apaches have restricted the settlement of large portions of this territory and New Mexico. On account of their hostilities, it is found safe to occupy the country only in colonies for mutual protection. The settlements in the southern part and along the Colorado are numerous. This forms part of the basin of the Colorado. Its surface consists of elevated table-lands, broken by mountain ranges and interspersed with fertile valleys and sandy wastes. Its northern and northeastern portions are comparatively unexplored and mostly in the occupancy of the Indians. South of the Gila and west of the 112th meridian the country is sandy, supposed not generally fertile, except along the river. In other portions there are many beautiful valleys, containing millions of acres of extraordinary fertility, producing wheat, barley, oats, tobacco, fruits, and vegetables. In the south, cotton and sugar crops are remunerative, and on the hills and mountain sides, a rich and abundant pasturage is found.

Recent explorations have proved that the Colorado River is navigable for nearly seven hundred miles, thus affording direct communication with the ocean to portions of Arizona, Utah, New Mexico and Nevada. By the opening of this river, Government has already saved thousands of dollars in the transportation of military stores, and a fresh impetus has been given to the development of the resources of Arizona.

In southern Arizona and upon the Colorado, excepting at the highest points, work is usually suspended in the summer months. In central Arizona this is not necessary, as the sun is seldom oppressive. The thermometer has been known to stand at 110° on the Colorado, when it rose to but 65° in and about Prescott. The nights in the mountains throughout the territory are cool at all seasons. Snow falls in Central Arizona, but excepting in the higher mountains it usually remains but a few hours. No one of the mineral-bearing territories of the "Pacific" is richer in mineral lands than Arizona, though the mines have not been extensively worked. The surface ores of gold and silver are good; and copper, lead and iron are found in many places.

The pine of Central Arizona grows to a medium size, and much of it is resinous. The oak and black walnut do not obtain a great size. Pine lumber cut by a steam mill in Prescott, is furnished at $30, $60, and $100 per 1,000 feet, according to the quality. The mesquite and cottonwood of southern Arizona and the Colorado furnish good rafters for the adobe structures, and the mesquite is famed as a firewood. Two lines of railroad are projected through the territory.

40. COLORADO TERRITORY.

Capital, Denver City. Area, 104,500 square miles. Population, (1860), 34,277.

Colorado was organized as a territory from parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Utah, March 2, 1861. In conformity with an enabling act, passed March 21, 1864, a convention was held, and a constitution framed and adopted, Aug. 12, 1865. This constitution was submitted to the people, and adopted by them, Sept. 5. State officers were elected, November 14, 1865. A bill to admit Colorado as a state was introduced into the United States Senate, January 18, 1866, and passed April 25. It passed the House the same day, but was returned to the Senate by the President with his objections, on May 16. In January, 1867, another bill passed both Houses of Congress providing for the admission of Colorado, upon the fundamental condition that within the State there should be "no denial of the elective franchise or any other rights to any person by reason of race or color, except to Indians not taxed." This bill was returned by the President with his objections on January 19. A vote was taken February 28, but the bill failed to receive the requisite vote in the Senate. A bill was afterwards passed, applying the same principle to the organic acts of all the territories, in which Colorado was included. At its next session, the Legislature voted to accept the amendment of Congress, but the majority in both Houses was represented to be opposed to a State organization.

The Territorial Legislature in 1862, passed an act establishing the capital of Colorado at Golden City, but the Legislature continued to meet at Denver.

In 1866, Gov. Cummings transferred the executive department of the government to Golden City, whence, on December 10, he transmitted his annual message to the Legislature, which assembled as usual at Denver.

The Legislature consists of a Council of 13 members, and a House of Representatives of 26 members. The general election is on the 1st Tuesday in October.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power of the territory is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associates, appointed by the President of the United States for the term of four years. For District Court purposes, the territory is divided into three districts, in each of which one of the Justices of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. There is also in each district, a Clerk of the Court, who appoints deputies for every county. The Supreme and District Courts have chancery as well as common law jurisdiction.

SUPREME COURT.

Chief Justice, Moses Hallet, Denver. Associate Justices, Christian S. Eyster, Denver; William A. Gorsline, Central City. Salaries, $4,500 each.

TERMS OF COURTS.

EDUCATION.

The territorial Treasurer is also Superintendent of Public Instruction, and he has the general supervision of public schools. The law provides for the appointment of county superintendents who have charge of the distribution of school-money, and exercise supervision over the schools in their respective counties. The territorial Superintendent, last year, caused blanks to be printed and sent to the county superintendents to aid them in reporting the facts required by law; few reports were received, and no summary of school statistics has been given. The Treasurer is also Librarian, and reports an addition of 144 volumes to the territorial library in 1867.

WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

This territory is traversed by ranges of the Rocky Mountains which enclose extensive table lands called parks, some of which are very productive. About 4,000,000 acres of agricultural land are capable of irrigation and will make productive farms. More than 200 miles of irrigating ditches have already been constructed. During the fiscal year 1867, 1,310,115 acres of land were surveyed, which, added to the lines previously extended, make a surveyed surface of 2,844,857 acres. The amount of agricultural land still unsurveyed in this territory was estimated by the Surveyor General in 1867, at 7,000,000 acres.

Large tracts of land not suited to cultivation, are adapted to grazing, and in the southern portion of the territory, herds and flocks can thrive and fatten on the pasture lands the year round. Cattle and sheep are raised with profit, and the number of both is rapidly increasing. The deposits of gold and silver seem inexhaustible, and as soon as a method of separating the metals in a less expensive manner is adopted, it is believed that the annual product will be largely increased. The total gold and silver produced up to 1867, was estimated at $25,000,000. The mines have been worked with increased success the past year, and the product is estimated at $4,000,000. Gulch or placer mining is not prosecuted in Colorado to the same extent as in California, the ores being found principally in rock not disintegrated. More expensive machinery for crushing the rock, and improved processes for separating the mineral from the sulphurets of iron and copper, with which it is often combined, may be necessary, but the richness of the lodes and the extent of the mineral districts seem established. The discovery in 1867, of rich silver mines in the vicinity of Georgetown, in Clear Creek county, led to the erection of several mills and reduction works, some of which are already completed and in operation. These silver mines already give evidence of rich returns for the labor bestowed upon them.

Coal exists in large quantities, and has been traced along the base of the mountains, and the indications are that an extensive deposit exists eastward from their base. Iron ore is found in abundance. Near the coal a smelting furnace is already in successful operation on the South Boulder. Lead is found in some parts of the territory, and rich copper veins have been opened the last two years. It is difficult to give reliable statistics of the mining operations, but the following facts relating to the business of Denver for 1867, are compiled from the report of a committee appointed by the Board of Trade, and are mainly derived from the official returns in the Assessor's Office.

The public lands undisposed of are over 62,850,000 acres. During the year 1867, there were entered at the Land Office at Denver, under Bounty Land warrants, 36,334 acres; Homestead act, 11,059 acres; filings made and settled upon, 103,000 acres; and Cash Series act, 10,022 acres.

Products. The agricultural products of 1866 were estimated at 500,000 bushels of wheat, 600,000 bushels of corn and 530,000 bushels of barley and oats.

Banks. There are three National Banks, with a capital of $350,000.

41. DAKOTA TERRITORY.

Capital, Yankton. Area, 152,000 square miles. Population, (1860), 4,837.†

Dakota was organized by an act of Congress passed March 2, 1861. It is a large territory lying west of Minnesota. The western portion of the territory was set off in 1868, to constitute the new territory of Wyoming.

† The principal yield of gold is from the counties of Gilpin, Clear Creek, and Summit, and nearly all the gold from those counties is purchased at Central City.

‡ Whites and civilized Indians. § Elected Delegate to Congress.

The Governor and Secretary are appointed by the President. The Auditor, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction are chosen by the qualified electors. By the act organizing the territory, every free white male inhabitant of the United States, of the age of 21 years, who was then a resident of the territory was entitled to vote and eligible to office. But this act was modified by the Congressional act of January 24, 1867, which prohibits the Legislatures of any of the territories from denying the elective franchise to any of the citizens on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

MILITIA.

The threatened invasion of hostile Indians and the proclamation of the Governor in 1867, led to the organization of the militia forces of the territory with the following officers:

Governor and Commander-in-Chief	A. J. FAULK.
Adjutant General	JAMES L. KELLEY.
Quartermaster General	Brig. Gen. D. M. MILLS
Paymaster General	Col. JOHN L. JOLLEY.
Aid-de-Camp to the Governor	Col. JOHN LAWRENCE.

Eight companies were organized, numbering 538 men, and arms and ammunition were received from the general government, and issued to these companies.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, and Probate Courts. The Supreme Court is composed of one Chief Justice and two Associate Justices.

EDUCATION.

This territory has taken steps to secure the faithful administration of a Public School System which would be a credit to any state, and which reflects great honor on a community just establishing its political and social institutions. In 1864, there were no public schools and but few private schools in the territory. The country was so thinly settled that the organization of schools was difficult, but the prosperity and rapid growth of the territory has made it practicable to establish schools in many places, and a public school system is now in successful operation. The school law passed by the territorial Assembly and approved, January 3, 1868, provides for the appointment of a State Superintendent of Public Instruction, County Superintendents, District Directors, and Boards of school officers. The State and County superintendents hold office for two years, and are elected at the usual time for electing territorial and county officers. The officers of each district are a director, clerk and treasurer, who are elected annually and constitute the District Board.

In Union county there were in 1867, 16 organized districts, and 724 persons between the ages of 5 and 21, of whom 296 were in the public schools, and 5 male and 5 female teachers were employed. There were at that time, 7 organized districts in Clay county, 5 in Yankton county, and one in Bon Homme county, but none reported in the other counties. The rapid increase in population and wealth will naturally be followed with the organization of new school districts and the erection of school-houses. The United States government has expended considerable sums of money in erecting school-houses, and supporting schools among the Indians. At most of the agencies there are valuable school-buildings. In Pembina county, $17,500 has been expended by Government in erecting a school-building for a Manual Labor School for the children of Ponca Indians. A new seminary named "Dakota Hall," has been erected at Yankton, under the patronage of the Protestant Episcopal Church. This is the first High School in the territory. The school law requires the State Superintendent with the county superintendents to hold each year a territorial Teachers' Institute for the instruction and training of the teachers of public schools. In accordance with this provision and the suggestion of the State Superintendent, Hon. James S. Foster, an institute was held at Elk Point on the 11th of November, 1867. It continued in session five days and was well attended, and its influence was good.

A school fund is derived from a per capita tax of $1.00, and a tax of 2 mills on a dollar of all taxable property. The condition of public education at the beginning of 1868 may be learned from the following statistics of schools for 1867:

Number of organized districts, 29; number of unorganized districts, 5; number of private schools, 2; children between the ages of 5 and 21, 1,550; children attending public schools, 421; children attending private schools, 160; children not attending school, 970; number of teachers—males, 10, females, 13; number of schools visited by territorial Superintendent, 5; amount of money raised for school purposes, $5,000; paid for teachers' wages, $2,388; amount of money expended for school purposes, $2,612; value of school district property in territory, $5,500; total value of school property in territory, including Indian schools, $24,240.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

Dakota embraces a large scope of unoccupied territory with a few white settlements in its southern borders, along the Missouri river. It extends from the boundary of Nebraska northward to the national frontier, more than 400 miles, and is nearly as broad. It is traversed by the Missouri river, the numerous affluents of which form an extensive system of international navigation and drainage. It is well wooded in the portions which have been explored by surveying parties and others. The population in 1860 was 4,837, including 2,261 civilized Indians. There were in 1867, about 30,000 uncivilized Indians within the limits of the territory. The absence of any special attractions in the form of rich deposits of the precious metals in the eastern part, has caused the progress of this territory in population or agricultural development to be less marked than that of some others.

During the last two years, the population has increased more rapidly, and was estimated at 25,000 in 1867. The immigrants have been largely those devoted to agriculture and mechanical pursuits, who, upon entering the territory, provided themselves with land sufficient for themselves and children, and have commenced valuable improvements, expecting to make this their home. A very serious obstacle to immigration has been the hostility of the Sioux and other Indian tribes living within the territory, who, in spite of the efforts of the Government backed by a large military force, have maintained a predatory warfare along the great routes of travel connecting the valley of the Mississippi with the Pacific coast. The Indian troubles in 1867 and 1868, were mostly in the western part, now included in Wyoming. Valuable mineral deposits of gold, silver, iron and copper have been discovered, and coal has been found in the carboniferous formation. Up to June 30, 1867, 2,663,660 acres of public lands had been surveyed, of which, 1,510,760 acres were included in the Dakota and Sioux Indian lands. More than 150,000,000 acres remained unsurveyed at that date; a part of this is now in Wyoming. Valuable pine timber is found in the vicinity of the Black Hills. In the northeastern part of the territory, a valuable quarry of pipe-stone has been opened. In 1867, acts were passed incorporating the Dakota and Northwestern, and the Minnesota and Missouri River Railroad Companies, the corporators of which have since met and fully organized, according to the provisions of the acts. The Northern Pacific Railroad crosses the northern part of this territory, and another road is in contemplation from Sioux City, up the valley of the Missouri to Yankton, a distance of 65 miles. The climate of much of the territory is favorable to health, and the various inducements presented to immigrants will, it is believed, attract many, and cause the population to increase with rapidity.

42. IDAHO TERRITORY.

Capital, Boise City. Area, 90,932 square miles. Population, (1867), 20,000.

Idaho was organized as a territory by Congress, March 3, 1863. It was formed from portions of Nebraska, Oregon, Utah, and Washington territories, but its boundaries were changed at the following session of Congress and a portion of the original territory was included in Montana. It extends from latitude 42° to 49°, and from the 33d to the 40th meridian of longitude west from Washington, but it is quite irregular in form, its northern boundary being only about 50 miles long, while its southern boundary is more than 300 miles in length.

The Governor and Secretary are appointed by the President of the United States, for a term of four years. The other officers are elected by the legal voters. A Council of 10 members and a House of Representatives of 20 members, are also chosen by the people, the former for two years, and the latter for one year.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the Territory is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice, and two Associate Justices, who are appointed by the President of the United States, for a term of four years. One session of the Supreme Court must be held annually, at the seat of the territorial government. For District Court purposes, the territory is divided into three judicial districts, in each of which a Justice of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. The Supreme and District Courts respectively possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction.

EDUCATION.

A Public School system was organized in Idaho soon after its incorporation as a territory. The school law provided for the appointment or election of a State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of a County Superintendent for each county, and of Trustees of school districts. The year after the enactment of the school law, the whole number of persons between 4 and 21 years of age reported, was 1,239, but two counties had not reported; the Superintendent of Public Instruction estimated the whole number of school age at 1,500. In 1866, 8 counties reported in the aggregate 14 schools, with 792 children between 5 and 18 years of age, 436 of whom were registered as attending school. The amount of money raised by these counties that year for the support of schools, was $6,605.19.

PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The County Jail of Boise County, by act of the third Legislature, 1866, was made the temporary prison for the territory, and it is still so used and occupied. The building has thus far proved adequate for all purposes of confinement, and under the management of Mr. Crutcher, Prison Keeper, has been kept in a cleanly and orderly manner, and with few escapes. The expenses of the Territorial Prison during the year of 1867, were $14,594.63, and for the first eleven months in 1868, $16,961.63, making a total of $31,556.26 under the present laws regulating the same. The law contemplates the employment of the labor of the prisoners, but no feasible project has yet been devised by which their labor could be used so as to pay even a portion of the expense of keeping them.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The discovery of rich mineral deposits in this territory induced many adventurers to emigrate hither, but for the first two years after its settlement, it was considered a place for speculation, where, by enduring the necessary toils and privations, rapid fortunes might be acquired. Few persons expected then to make it a permanent residence, and the territory was first peopled by those whose object was the acquirement of a speedy fortune, and this being done, to return to the older states. As a consequence, agriculture was neglected, and nearly the whole population were engaged in obtaining the precious metals or in those trades and pursuits which were indispensable to successful mining. As the resources of the territory have become better understood, agricultural and mechanical pursuits have been prosecuted with gratifying results; the population has become more permanent, and institutions of society are more firmly planted. In some parts of the territory, the hostile Indians have committed depredations on stock, and by robberies and murders rendered the routes of travel and unprotected settlements insecure. Active and successful efforts have been made to repel the incursions, and the frontier settlements are less disturbed. The population of the territory is now variously estimated at from 30,000 to 50,000.

The office of Surveyor General of the territory was created by an act of Congress, approved June 9, 1866. The initial point of surveys was fixed upon the summit of a rocky butte, standing isolated in the plain, situated between the Snake and Boise rivers, on the parallel $43^{\circ} 36'$ of north latitude, and distant nineteen miles from Boise City, in the direction of south $29\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ west. Under the appropriation of \$10,000 made by act of July 2, 1864, previous to the 30th of June, 1867, 288 lineal miles of the meridian, 138 miles of base, and 105 miles of standard parallels were surveyed.

The altitude of this territory, with its mountains and table lands, renders the winters cold compared with the country lying west, but dry and healthy. The Boise, Payette, and Weiser valleys are sheltered and mild. The soil of the valleys is highly favorable to the growth of cereals, and extensive crops are raised where irrigation is practicable. The extensive table lands are covered with wild grasses and wild rye, and are valuable for grazing. The mountains are clothed with pine and fir timber. The valleys are destitute of timber except a species of cottonwood growing along the banks of the rivers. Farmers are erecting substantial dwellings and making other improvements, paying special attention to the cultivation of fruit trees, such as apple, plum, pear, cherry, and even peach.

Gold is found on the head waters of all the rivers. Rich placer mines have been profitably worked for years on the Clearwater and Salmon rivers. Extensive placer and quartz mines are found on the Boise river and its branches. Many rich quartz lodes of gold and silver have been partially worked; their future development depending upon the reduced cost of transportation and other expenses, which thus far have retarded the growth and prosperity of the country. The quartz and placer mines of Owyhee county, situated in the southwest part of the territory, have proved to be eminently rich so far as developed. Some of the ledges are being worked with valuable machinery, repaying the capital invested, though at an enormous outlay. The quantity and quality of the ore already abstracted are favorable indications of their future wealth. Several thousands of gold and silver quartz claims have been taken up and recorded, more or less prospected, but the heavy expenses under which the miners have labored has, in general, prevented their successful development. The near approach of the Pacific railroad to the southern borders of the territory will materially reduce the cost of working the mines, when the resources of the country will be more favorably brought into notice. The product of the placer mines has been gradually diminishing, though this falling off will soon be more than made up by the yield of the quartz mines. In 1867, there were twenty-four quartz mills completed and running in this territory, with eight others in course of erection. They carried a total of nearly 400 stamps, cost in the aggregate $1,000,000, and have a united capacity equal to five hundred horses. Of the quartz mills, eight, supplied with 134 stamps, are situate in Alturas county, ten in Owyhee district, and the balance in the counties adjacent; the most being in the southern section of the territory. In the Owyhee District there are very rich deposits of silver ores. There are also several other rich silver-bearing claims in the vicinity, though the mines of Idaho consist mainly of auriferous quartz, of which there are great quantities that will yield by the most cheap and expeditious modes of working from $20 to $30 to the ton. The abundance of these ores and the ample supplies of wood and water in the vicinity of the principal mines, give indications that the mineral product of this territory will be steadily and rapidly increased.

Gold and Silver. The entire deposits of gold from this territory, at the mint of the United States and branches to June 30, 1868, amounted to $14,162,970.07; silver, 236,731.29.

Bank. There is one National Bank, with a capital of $100,000.

43. INDIAN TERRITORY.

Capital, Tahlequah. Area, 68,991 square miles. Population, (1860), 9,761.

The Indian Territory lies west of the Mississippi River, west of the State of Arkansas, and north of Texas. It forms part of the Louisiana purchase of 1803. It embodies a tract of country set apart by the Government of the United States as a permanent home for the aboriginal tribes removed thither from east of the Mississippi River, as well as those native to the territory. The United States exercise no authority over them excepting in certain crimes perpetrated by them against the whites. For this purpose the Indian Territory is annexed to the Judicial Districts of the adjoining states, (viz.: to Arkansas and Missouri), that the Indians may be tried and punished by the United States Circuit and District Courts when sitting in these districts. They are allowed to live under their own laws, follow their own customs, and indulge in their own modes of life. The land has been ceded to the Indians, each tribe owning the portion allotted to it by the United States.

During the late war, many of the Indian tribes took part with the Confederate states against the government. After the termination of the war, several of the tribes sought to make terms with the United States government, and expressed a desire to return to their homes. A commission was appointed to confer with the Indians, and treaties were concluded with several of the tribes, but peace and harmony have not yet been entirely secured.

CHARACTER OF THE COUNTRY.

A vast barren tract, generally known as the Great American Desert, occupies the north-west portion of the territory. The remainder spreads out, for the most part, into undulating plains of great extent. Some parts of the territory are broken or mountainous.

There are large numbers of wild animals, the principal of which are buffaloes, wild horses, deer, and prairie dogs.

A portion of the Indian tribes have become partially civilized, have schools, churches, and a regular form of government.

44. MONTANA TERRITORY.

*Capital, Virginia City. Area, 143,776 square miles. Population, (1868), 60,000.

This territory was settled by emigrants from other states, and organized under an act of Congress approved May 26, 1864. It was formed principally from the north-eastern part of Idaho as organized in 1863. It embraces the head sources of the Missouri river, lying east of the Rocky Mountains, and of the north branch of the Columbia, lying west of these mountains and north of the Bitter Root mountains. Its boundaries are as follows:

Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the 27th degree of longitude west from Washington, with the 45th degree of north latitude; thence due west on said 45th degree to a point formed by its intersection with the 34th degree west from Washington; thence due south along said 34th degree of longitude to its intersection with the 44th degree and 30 minutes of north latitude; thence due west along said 44th degree and 30 minutes of north latitude to a point formed by its intersection with the crest of the Rocky Mountains; thence following the crest of the Rocky Mountains northward till its intersection with the Bitter Root Mountains; thence northward along the crest of said Bitter Root Mountains to its intersection with the 39th degree of longitude west from Washington; thence along said 39th degree of longitude northward to the boundary line of the British possessions; thence eastward along said boundary to the 27th degree of longitude west from Washington; thence southward along said 27th degree to the place of beginning.

EDUCATION.

The administration of the Public School System is in the hands of a Superintendent of Public Instruction. This officer reports annually to the Governor, by whom the facts communicated are submitted to the territorial Legislature. County superintendents have charge of the schools and the local administration of the system.

The returns have been very imperfect and exhibit no important facts in regard to schools, except in Edgerton and Madison counties. In the former, at the close of the year 1867, there were 1,920 persons between 4 and 21 years of age; 3 school districts had been organized, and $3,541.02 raised for the support of schools, of which $2,316.69 had been paid out. In Madison county, there were 8 districts. In the 1st District (Virginia City), a school was organized with two teachers, and maintained six months, at an expense of $2,168.25. The whole number of pupils attending was 224, with an average attendance of 124.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

Since the organization of this territory in 1864, immigration has been steadily and rapidly increasing its population. During the year 1867, more than forty steamers arrived at Fort Benton with passengers and freight, and a large number of persons from the Eastern states and from California and Oregon reached the territory by overland routes. The population has not been definitely ascertained, but it was estimated at 60,000 in 1868. The vote in 1867, was 12,000.

The office of Surveyor General in the territory of Montana was created by act of Congress, approved March 2, 1867, and surveys commenced as soon after as was practicable. The place selected as the initial point of the surveys, was the summit of a limestone hill, about 12 miles south-west of the junction of the three forks of the Missouri river. The base and meridian lines from this point run through the principal valleys east of the mountains. The land in the valleys is very fertile, yielding good crops when cultivated. 166,340 acres were under cultivation in 1867, producing fair crops of wheat and other grains. Several large flouring mills have been erected, and are doing a good business. The chief obstacle to successful agriculture is the necessity of irrigation, but the great extent of rich grazing lands affords excellent facilities for stock raising. Timber and building materials are found in nearly all portions of the territory.

In mineral wealth, recent discoveries indicate that Montana will equal the most favored regions. Silver lodes of astonishing richness have been discovered, and much capital has been invested in building mills and furnaces for their development.

The first silver mines discovered were on Rattle Snake Creek, opposite the town of Argenta. About the same time, silver was found on Prickly Pear Creek, and in other places in the western part of the territory. Great activity has been manifested in developing the lodes and in building mills.

The first placer mines were discovered in 1862, on the Hell Gate River. The product of these mines and of others discovered that year and the next was so good that an impetus was given to mining operations, which has resulted in the rapid development of the placer diggings and the extraction of a large amount of gold dust. Most of the placer mines are on the headwaters of the Missouri, Columbia and Yellow Stone rivers, within the parallels of 45° and 47° and between longitude 33° and 37° west from Washington. The product of these mines in 1867 was estimated at $20,000,000. A large amount of money has been expended in the construction of ditches and preparations for future operations.

A gold-bearing lode was first discovered at Bannock, in 1862; this was followed by other discoveries in that vicinity; since that time a large number of quartz lodes have been taken up and opened in different parts of the territory; some of these are very rich.

The quartz is easily worked and yields largely, and much capital has been invested in mining enterprises. Several companies have been organized, and mills and machinery have been brought in and put in operation.

Coal has been found on the Big Hole river, about sixty miles from Bannock City; on the east side of the Madison river; and at Summit District, near Virginia City. These mines are bituminous, and the seams do not exceed three or four feet in width, as far as known. Coal also exists on the head of the Yellowstone river. Brown coal, or lignite, is found in great quantities on the banks of the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers, valuable as common fuel, but of no great value for manufacturing purposes. It is also found on the head waters of the Seton and Marias rivers, branches of the Missouri.

Lead ores occur in profusion, both as galenas and as carbonate of lead, in nearly all districts of the territory. These will not be worked at present, except when accompanied by silver. All the galenas are so accompanied, and generally in paying quantities of the latter metal.

Copper lodes are abundant, showing at the surface ores ranging from 15 to 60 per cent. of metallic copper. These when located near the Missouri river may be immediately made profitable. The distance of this territory from the older states and commercial cities and the great expense of freight are serious obstacles to the full development of its resources.

Assessed Value of Property, 1867. Number of acres of land under cultivation, 166,340; value, $314,573; 822 town lots, valued at $827,919; capital employed in merchandise, $1,102,547; money and credits, $546,502; valuation of horses, $171,217; mules and asses, $221,488; oxen, $549,794; cows and calves, $255,072; sheep, $15,430; swine, $48,334; clocks, watches, etc., $42,959; all other property not enumerated, $758,698; making a total of $6,308,118.

Bank. There is one National Bank, with a capital of $200,000.

45. NEW MEXICO.

Capital, Santa Fe. Area, 121,301 square miles. Population, (1860), 83,009.

New Mexico was early settled by the Spaniards. It remained a Mexican province until conquered from Mexico and ceded to the United States by the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, Feb. 2, 1848. It was constituted a territory, with a portion of Upper California and Texas, Sept. 9, 1850.

GOVERNMENT.

OFFICE.	NAME.	RESIDENCE.	SALARY.
Governor	ROBERT B. MITCHELL.....	Santa Fe.....	$3,000
Secretary	HERMAN H. HEATH.....	2,000
Purveyor of Public Funds	BENJAMIN C. CUTTER.....	3,000
Supt. of Indian Affairs	L. E. WEBB.....	2,000

The above officers are appointed by the President. The legislative power of the territory is vested in the Governor and a Legislative Assembly composed of a Council and House of Representatives. The Council consists of 13 members, chosen by the people for two years, and the House of 26 members, elected annually.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the territory is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, appointed by the President of the United States, who hold their offices during a period of four years. One term of the Supreme Court is held annually at the seat of the Territorial Government. For District Court purposes, the territory is divided into three districts, in each of which one of the Justices of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. The Supreme and District Courts have Chancery as well as common law jurisdiction.

EDUCATION.

According to the census report of 1860, there were in this territory, 1 college, with 170 students; 17 public schools, with 235 pupils, and 2 academies, with 110 pupils. In 1866, out of a population of 93,516, there were 57,233 persons who could not read or write, and there were no free schools in the whole territory, except those taught by the Sisters of Charity, from the bounty of the Roman Catholic Church.

The Spanish is the invariable dialect used or spoken. The proceedings of the Senate and House are carried on in this tongue, but are also printed in English.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population of New Mexico is of a mixed character, but composed mostly of domesticated nomad Indians, with an intermixture of Mexicans, Spanish and Americans.

Much of the territory is sterile, and irrigation is necessary to successful agriculture, but in the valleys of the Rio Grande and other streams, there is a fair proportion of good soil, both for grazing and tillage. Horses, mules, cattle, and sheep can graze all winter. Wheat, Indian corn, potatoes, and some other vegetables, are successfully grown. Fruits are produced in abundance. The hilly region has a luxuriant growth of pine, oak and cedar, and, along the streams and in the bottom lands, cotton-wood and willow are common. Gold, silver and copper mines are numerous and valuable.

The Pinos Altos Mining Company has a quartz-crushing mill of fifteen stamps in operation at the town of Pinos Altos. The quartz worked by it is taken from the Pacific lode, and yields from $80 to $150 of gold per ton. The cost of mining and delivering the ore at the mill is estimated at $8.50 per ton, and of reducing it, and separating the gold, at $3.

Numerous veins of silver ore have been discovered in the Sandia, Manzano, San Andros, Mimbres, and Organ mountains. The greater part of the gold-bearing quartz in New Mexico yields also more or less silver, which promises ultimately to be the leading mining interest in this section of the Rocky mountains. Copper seems to be a universal accompaniment of the precious metals in this section; traces of it are found in most of the veins of gold and silver ore. Lodes and deposits of copper ore are reported to have been discovered in the Taos, Jemez, Sandia, and Mimbres mountains.

Veins of bituminous coal have been found in the Raton, Sandia, and Jemez mountains, near the Puerco river, west of Albuquerque, and in the vicinity of Forts Craig, Stanton, Selden, and Bayard. Anthracite coal of a superior quality is also found near the Galisteo creek, about twenty miles south from Santa Fe. Lead and iron are very common minerals throughout the territory. Much of the lead has sufficient per centage of silver to pay for its separation; but as yet there is little domestic demand for lead, and the cost of transportation to a foreign market would consume it; there is, therefore, none mined or smelted.

Almost the entire amount of salt used in New Mexico is obtained from salt lakes on the plain, 50 to 60 miles east of the Rio Grande. The salt, crystallized by the evaporation of the water by the sun, is deposited upon the bottom of the lake, forming a crust several inches thick, and is shoveled thence directly into the wagons, and dried by the sun. There are some impurities mixed with it, which give it a dark appearance, but when leached, or washed, it becomes white as snow. The supply seems inexhaustible.

46. UTAH TERRITORY.

Capital, Great Salt Lake City. Area, 83,056 square miles. Population, (1860), 40,273.

Utah was originally a part of Upper California. It was ceded to the United States by treaty with Mexico in 1848, and erected into a territory, Sept. 9, 1850. It was occupied mostly by wandering tribes until settled by the Mormons in 1847. After their expulsion from their settlement of Nauvoo, in Illinois, they emigrated to this territory, and having located on the borders of the Great Salt Lake, assumed a provisional form of government, and gave to their territory the name of the State of Deseret. In 1850, this form of government was surrendered, and the name of the territory changed to Utah.

GOVERNMENT.

Secretary of Territory	EDWIN HIGGINS.....	Michigan.....	1,800
U. S. Attorney	CHARLES HEMPSTEAD.....	California.....	2,500 and fees.

The Governor and Secretary are appointed by the President of the United States for a term of four years.

The Legislative Assembly is composed of a Council and House of Representatives and convenes annually at Great Salt Lake City, on the 2d Monday in December. Term of session, forty days. The Council is composed of 13 members elected for two years. The House of Representatives is composed of 26 members, elected annually, on the 1st Monday in August. The compensation of members and officers is $3.00 per day and mileage—$3.00 for every 20 miles of travel.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power of the territory is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of one Chief Justice and two Associate Justices. The territory is divided for judicial purposes into three judicial districts, in each of which a regular term of the Supreme Court is held every year.

In the First District, at Monti, San Pete county, on the 3d Monday in October. In the Second District, at St. George, Washington county, on the 1st Monday in February. In the Third District, at Great Salt Lake City, on the 2d Monday in March.

SUPREME COURT.

Chief Justice, John Wilson of Illinois. Associate Justices, Enos D. Hoge of Utah Territory; Thomas J. Drake of Michigan. Clerk, W. J. Appleby, Great Salt Lake City. Salaries of Judges, $2,500 each.

FINANCES.

We have failed to receive the last report of the Auditor or Treasurer of Utah, but we learn from Gov. Durkee's message in 1868, that the territory is entirely free from indebtedness.

EDUCATION.

The University of Deseret is the principal educational institution in the territory. Congress has granted certain avails of town sites, for the purpose of establishing a school fund, but no regular system of public school education is yet in operation.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population in 1867 was nearly 120,000. It is composed mostly of a religious sect who style themselves Latter Day Saints, and are popularly known as Mormons.

A high and rugged spur of the Rocky Mountains, generally designated the Wasatch Range, though in places known as the Bear and Uinta Mountains, traverses the territory from north to south. At the base of these mountains, on the west, lies Great Salt Lake and the chain of valleys stretching southward for 200 miles. The largest streams are the Green and Grand rivers, which unite and form the Colorado. The general character of the territory is that of mountain and desert. The arable land is not equal in extent to that of the territories lying north of it, but the valleys are fertile and produce some good timber, as do the slopes of the mountains. The melting of the snow in the mountains affords in ordinary seasons, sufficient water to irrigate the valleys.

The summers are very warm and dry; the winters mild and open. The soil, which, to a great extent, is formed of the mountain washings, consists principally of a gravelly loam, and is well adapted to the growth of cereals. Wheat is the great staple product of the territory. In good seasons the average yield per acre is about forty bushels. Oats, barley, rye, and flax are cultivated with success; all kinds of vegetables grow large and of a superior quality. In Washington county, in the southern part of the territory, large fields of cotton are cultivated. Apples, pears, peaches, apricots, grapes and currants are produced in great abundance, and of superior quality. Timber is scarce, and, being found only in the mountains, is difficult to obtain. As a consequence, houses are costly and rents are proportionately high.

This territory possesses great advantages for the raising of stock. Horses, cattle and sheep are usually healthy. During the summer months, they are herded in large droves on the open plains, with but trifling expense; while in winter they are easily kept, with a little care and attention.

In addition to flouring and other mills necessary for the support of the territory, woolen and cotton factories are being established in different parts of the country for home supplies. Great Salt Lake City being near the surrounding mining districts of Montana, Idaho and Nevada, a ready market is afforded for all the surplus products of the soil. The most important buildings in this city are the temple and the tabernacle. The temple block is forty rods square, and contains ten acres. The entire length of the temple is one hundred and eighty-six and a half feet, including towers, and the width ninety-nine feet. On the east or front end, there are three towers, and corresponding to these are three towers on the west or rear end. The north and south walls are eight feet thick, clear of pedestal. The basement of the main building is divided into many apartments, by walls all resting on broad footings. There are four towers, one at each corner of the building, cylindrical in shape, seventeen feet in diameter, within which stairs ascend, five feet wide, with landings at the various sections of the building. The whole house covers an area of 21,850 square feet. The massive blocks of stone on which the foundations of the temple are built, are granite, hauled a distance of nearly twenty miles. The Mormon tabernacle, built for the use of the immense Mormon congregations which meet every Sunday to hear preaching, stands on the temple block, west of the temple. It is oval in shape, two hundred and eighty-two feet long by one hundred and thirty-two wide in the clear. The height from floor to ceiling is sixty-five feet. Running lengthwise of the building are forty-four pillars, averaging fourteen feet in height and three feet thick. The entire tabernacle consumed one and a half million feet of lumber in the building. The institutions of the country have been principally under the control of the Mormons.

Bank. There is one National Bank, with a capital of $150,000.

47. WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Capital, Olympia. Area, 69,994 square miles. Population, (1863), 12,519.

This territory was settled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States. It was taken from the northern part of Oregon, "being all that portion of territory lying and being south of the 49th degree of north latitude, and north of the middle of the main channel of the Columbia river from its mouth to where the 46th degree of north latitude crosses said river near Fort Wallah Wallah, thence east to Snake river; being bounded on the north by the straits of Juan de Fuca and British America, on the east by the territory of Idaho, on the south by Oregon, and on the west by the Pacific Ocean." It was organized as a territory, March 2, 1853.

The Governor and Secretary are appointed by the President of the United States, and the Auditor and Treasurer are chosen under territorial authority.

The Legislative Assembly consists of the Council and House of Representatives, and convenes annually on the 1st Monday in December. The Council is composed of nine members, elected for three years, and the House of Representatives is composed of thirty members, elected for one year.

JUDICIARY.

The Judicial power of the territory is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and in Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, who hold their offices during a term of four years. One term of the Supreme Court is held annually at the seat of the territorial Government, commencing on the 1st Monday in January. For District Court purposes, the territory is divided into three judicial districts, in each of which one of the Justices of the Supreme Court holds the sessions. The Supreme and District Courts have chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. For each of these districts, a territorial Prosecuting Attorney is elected by the people for a term of two years, who receives a salary out of the territorial treasury of $200 per annum and his fees.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Judge, C. C. Hewitt, Olympia. Marshal, Wm. Huntington, Cowlitz.

SUPREME COURT.

Chief Justice, C. C. Hewitt, Olympia. Associate Justices, B. F. Dennison, Port Townsend; J. W. Wyche, Walla Walla. Salaries of Judges, $2,500 each; of Marshal, $250 and fees.

TERMS OF DISTRICT COURTS.

First District, at Walla Walla, on the 4th Monday in April and 2d Monday in October. Second District, at Vancouver, Clarke county, on the 4th Monday in May and 2d Monday in November. Third District, at Olympia, Thurston county, on the 1st Monday in February and 3d Monday in July.

District Courts for the transaction of territorial business are held at Steilacoom, Pierce county, on the 4th Monday in February and 3d Monday in August; Port Townsend, Jefferson county, on the 2d Monday in March and 1st Monday in September; Pinkney City, Spokane county, on the 2d Monday in June; and in the Third Judicial District, for hearing and disposing of Admiralty and Maritime cases, at Olympia, on the 1st Monday of every month except February, July, and September; at Port Townsend, on the 2d Monday in March and 1st Monday in September.

EDUCATION.

An act incorporating the "University of the territory of Washington" was approved January 24, 1862. The term of office of the regents is three years, and three are elected by the Legislature each year. The general Government has donated to the territory for the endowment of the university, 46,080 acres of unoccupied land, which, it is believed, will create a fund of not less than $75,000. The university buildings are located at Seattle, King county. In 1860, according to the United States census, there were 46 public schools, with 879 pupils, $16,176 income, of which $5,957 was from taxation, 6 academies, with 159 pupils and $7,800 income.

POPULATION, WEALTH AND INDUSTRY.

The population in 1864 was estimated at 14,000, and in 1868, at 30,000. The Cascade mountains divide the territory into the eastern and western sections which differ from each other in climate, soil and natural and cultivated products. Although occupying higher latitude than Oregon, the climate of the western section is very similar to that state. It is said to resemble also the climate of England, in the amount of rain fall, as well as in the range of the thermometer throughout the year. Properly speaking, there are but two seasons, the dry and the rainy. The grades of temperature and the accompaniments which, in other countries of the same high latitude, are usually associated with the four seasons, spring, summer, autumn and winter, are here in great measure obliterated, or at least so dimly marked that the seasons imperceptibly run into each other, and lose their distinctive line of division. It is not unusual for the three winter months to be mild, without snow or ice, the grass growing meanwhile. The rainy season proper begins late in October or early in November, and may be said to continue till the ensuing April. It frequently happens after the first rains that weeks of weather similar to Indian summer occur, and it is seldom that one or the other of the months of January, February or March does not prove continuously mild and clear. The summers of this territory are unsurpassed in the world. While many days are exceedingly warm, the nights are always cool and refreshing, as if specially intended for wholesome sleeping.

The western section has an average width between the ocean and the Cascade mountains of 100 miles, and contains about 11,000,000 acres. The products of this section are like those of the Willamette valley. All the cereals, Indian corn excepted, succeed admirably, the wheat crops being equal to those of the very best wheat-growing countries. In fruits, the apple, pear, cherry, plum, strawberry, raspberry, gooseberry, blackberry, and currant, yield abundantly. The grape succeeds with little trouble. The land in the valleys is generally excellent, and west of the Cascade mountains, of extraordinary fertility. Much not tillable is first rate for grazing, and all kinds of stock thrive in either section of the territory. In the western part, but little dry fodder is prepared, as the pasturage usually continues through the winter.

East of the Cascade mountains, the country is generally unoccupied, the settlements being confined to several excellent valleys, as the Walla Walla, Colville, Yakama, Columbia, and Palouse valleys. Walla Walla valley contains over a million acres of arable land, producing in abundance, grains, fruits and vegetables, with a population of over two thousand, enjoying a high degree of prosperity as a community, and making rapid progress in agriculture and manufactures. The Colville, Yakama, Columbia and Palouse valleys possess much excellent land, adapted to the cultivation of products similar to those raised west of the Cascade range. In all these valleys except the Palouse, considerable tracts have been surveyed. The extent of grazing tract in these valleys and in the hill country surrounding each, is large.

The extensive forests of pines, firs and cedars covering the Coast and Sierra mountains in California, and the Coast and Cascade in Oregon, extend into Washington, covering a large portion of the territory west of the Cascade mountains, the forest increasing in density and in amount of lumber growing upon an acre of ground in its northern part. Fir trees two hundred and fifty and three hundred feet high, and six and seven feet in diameter, are not at all uncommon. Masts for ships may readily be obtained, straight, and without knots for more than 100 feet. Some of the mills on Puget sound have capacity to turn out, daily, 100,000 feet of lumber, and the present export of the sound in prepared lumber, masts and spars, amounts in value to over one and a half millions of dollars annually. Exports are made to San Francisco, the Sandwich Islands, China, Japan, the Mexican and South American ports on the Pacific, and even to the South American ports on the Atlantic, and masts and spars are sent to France. Timber, although scarcer on the east side of the mountains than on the west, is nevertheless sufficient for all the purposes of domestic use, and in some portions sufficiently abundant for exportation in large quantities.

Gold has been found on the Columbia river and in the northeastern part of the territory, and mines have been worked about Port Colville, though not with great profit. The appearance of veins and out-croppings of coal in almost every section of the territory west of the Cascade mountains, indicates its very general distribution and inexhaustive supply. It is found on the Columbia, upon streams flowing directly into the Pacific, and it appears near the straits of Fuca. It is found in exhaustless fields back of Seattle, then upon the Sto-lu-ana-mah, and at Bellingham Bay in the extreme north.

The fishing interest is destined to hold a prominence in the future commerce of the territory. Salmon of the finest kind, cod, halibut, and other fish are taken in its waters, and exist in quantities sufficient to meet the demands of the most extensive trade. The commercial facilities are good. The straits of Juan de Fuca and the gulf of Georgia, lying south and east of Vancouver island, extend into the territory and ramify into numerous straits, bays, inlets, sounds and estuaries, free from rocks and of depth sufficient for the largest vessels; numerous bends are common, where the most perfect protection may be found against winds or waves. Puget sound has an average width of two miles, a depth never less than eight fathoms, and runs inland in a southern direction one hundred miles from the straits of Fuca. Hood's canal, twelve miles farther west, with an average width of one mile, and an equal depth with Puget sound, runs sixty miles in a southwest direction.

The Columbia courses through more than seven hundred miles, for the greater part of which it is navigable. Snake river, during one-half of the year, is navigable to Lewiston, and the waters of the sound furnish navigation of many hundred miles at all seasons. The trade of the country, by way of Columbia river, is carried up by steamers regularly plying to White Bluffs, seventy miles above Wallula, which is situated at the mouth of the Walla Walla river, twelve miles south of the confluence of the Snake river with the Columbia river. The quantity of public lands to be disposed of in this territory is equal to about 41,600,000 acres.

48. WYOMING TERRITORY.

On the organization of Montana Territory, and the limitation of Idaho to the districts west of the Rocky Mountains, a tract remained south of Montana, which, for want of public organization, was annexed to Dakota. This region, with small portions of Idaho and Utah, including in all about 88,000 square miles, was constituted a territory by an act of Congress, approved July 25, 1868. The boundaries established by this act are as follows: commencing at the intersection of 27° longitude west from Washington with 45° north latitude, and running thence west to 34° west longitude, thence south to 41° north latitude, thence east to 27° west longitude, and thence north to the place of beginning. It has, on the north, Montana; on the east, Dakota and Nebraska; on the south, Colorado and a small portion of Utah; and on the west, Idaho and the northern part of Utah, and includes seven degrees of longitude and four degrees of latitude.

GOVERNMENT.

The act organizing the territory, provides that "The executive power and authority shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The governor shall reside within said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect, unless the same shall pass by a two-thirds vote, as provided in section six of the act."

There is to be a secretary, who will reside in the territory and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States, with the consent of the Senate.

The legislative power and authority of said territory is to be vested in the governor and legislative assembly. The legislative assembly will consist of a council and house of representatives. The council will consist of nine members, which may be increased to thirteen, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives will consist of thirteen members, which may be increased to twenty-seven, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The governor is to receive an annual salary of $2,000 as governor, and $1,000 as superintendent of Indian affairs, and the secretary an annual salary of $1,800. The members of the legislative assembly will be entitled to receive $4 each, per day, during their attendance at the session thereof, and $3 for every 20 miles travel in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimating the distance by the nearest traveled route. Every male citizen of the United States above the age of 21 years, and (including persons who shall have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States), who was a resident of the territory at the time of the passage of the act, is entitled to vote at all subsequent elections, and is eligible to hold any office in the territory. The legislative assembly can not at any time abridge the right of suffrage, or to hold office, on account of the race, color, or previous condition of servitude, of any resident of the territory: Provided, That the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States, and those who shall have declared on oath before a competent court of record their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the Constitution and Government of the United States.

JUDICIARY.

The judicial power is vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and two Associate Justices, any two of whom constitute a quorum, and who hold a term at the seat of government of the territory annually. They hold their offices for four years, unless sooner removed by the President, with the consent of the Senate of the United States. The territory is divided into three judicial districts, and a district court is held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the Supreme Court, at such time and place as may be prescribed by law; and said judges, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts, and of the justices of the peace, is limited by law; the said Supreme and District Courts, respectively, possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction, and authority for redress of all wrongs committed against the Constitution or laws of the United States or of the territory affecting persons or property. Each district court, or the judge thereof, appoints its clerk, who is also the register in chancery, and keeps his office where the court is held. Writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals are allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district courts to the Supreme Court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but in no case removed to the Supreme Court is trial by jury allowed in said court. The Supreme Court, or the justices thereof, appoints its own clerks, and every clerk holds his office at the pleasure of the court for which he has been appointed.

The Supreme and District Courts, and the respective judges thereof, may grant writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the same are grantable by the judges of the United States in the District of Columbia; and the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as is necessary, are appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the constitution and laws of the United States; and writs of error and appeals in all such cases are made to the Supreme Court of said territory, the same as in other cases.

There is to be an attorney, who continues in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President, with the consent of the Senate. There is also a marshal appointed for the territory, who holds his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President, with the consent of the Senate, and who executes all processes issuing from the courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States. Salaries of Supreme judges, $2,500 each. The sum of one thousand dollars annually is appropriated for the incidental expenses of the territory.

CHARACTER OF THE COUNTRY.

The Rocky Mountains pass through the western part of this territory in a diagonal direction from north-west to south-east. The Rattle Snake and Big Horn Mountains, also in the northern and western part, and the Black Hills in the eastern part, render much of the surface broken, but there are fertile valleys adapted to grain and grass which may be made quite productive when well cultivated. Important gold mines have been discovered in the valley of the Sweetwater, near the Wind river, and in some other localities. More than a hundred lodes have been located. The great mineral belt in which the mines are found, extends from Fremont's Peak south to the junction of Grand and Green rivers. There seems to be little doubt that the foot-hills of the Wind River Mountains are equally auriferous.

A population of several hundred passed the winter in the vicinity of the mines; a newspaper has been started, and the evidences of civilization begin to be seen. The line of the Pacific Railroad crosses this territory; when completed, or within a few months, this road will afford excellent facilities for the transportation of produce and minerals, and enable immigrants to reach the territory more easily. It was estimated that there were at least 5,000 inhabitants around Fort Laramie and in the vicinity of the Pacific Railroad in 1868.

49. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Area, 55 square miles. Population, (1867), 126,990.

The District of Columbia originally embraced an area ten miles square, situated on both sides of the Potomac, about 160 miles from its mouth, and at the head of tide-water. It was ceded to the General Government by the States of Maryland and Virginia in 1788-9; was accepted in 1790, and has been used since 1800 as a seat of government for the United States. That portion of the district lying west of the Potomac was retroceded to Virginia by an act of Congress, approved July 9, 1846. Since then, the district is limited to the county of Washington, east of the Potomac, within which are the cities of Washington and Georgetown. Each of these cities has a municipal government of its own, with power to lay and collect taxes for municipal purposes; but the district, as a whole, is subject to the exclusive legislation of Congress.

JUDICIARY.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia was established by act of Congress, approved March 3, 1863, when the former Circuit Court, District Court, and Criminal Court of the District were abolished. The Supreme Court consists of four Justices, (one of whom is designated the Chief Justice), appointed by the President of the United States, and who hold their offices during good behavior. It has general jurisdiction in law and equity, and the Judges possess and exercise the powers and jurisdiction formerly possessed and exercised by the Judges of the Circuit Court of the district. Any one of the Judges may hold a District Court, with the same powers, etc., as other District Courts of the United States; and any one of the Judges may hold a Criminal Court for the trial of crimes and offenses committed within the district, with the same powers, etc., as the old Criminal Court. Any final judgment, order, or decree of the court may be reëxamined, and reversed or affirmed in the Supreme Court of the United States, on writ of error or appeal. The Supreme Court of the district has appellate jurisdiction of all judgments of Justices of the Peace, and has power to remove said Justices of the Peace for cause. Three general terms of the court are held annually at Washington.

SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Chief Justice, David K. Cartter. Associate Justices, Abram B. Olin, George P. Fisher, Andrew Wylie. Clerk, Return J. Meigs. Marshal, D. S. Gooding. District Attorney, Edward C. Carington. Salaries of Judges, $3,000 each.

WASHINGTON.*

The city of Washington (at first known for a short period as Federal City) extends from north-west to south-east, about four and a half miles, with a breadth of about two and a half miles, and a circumference of fourteen miles. The streets running north and south are designated by numbers, commencing at North Capitol street and South Capitol street (which run north and south from the Capitol), and extending east and west to the boundary line. The streets running east and west are designated by letters, beginning at East Capitol street, and a line running west to the Potomac, opposite the centre of the Capitol. These lettered streets read north and south to V. and W. The avenues are named from the older states. The streets vary in width from 70 to 100 feet, with one exception (K. street north), and the avenues from 120 to 160 feet. The total area of avenues and open spaces is 3,604 acres, and of public reservations, exclusive of 10, 11, and 12, (since used for other purposes), 513 acres. The whole area of squares is 131,684,176 feet, or about 3,016 acres.

The city was incorporated by an act of Congress, May 3, 1802, and is at present divided into seven wards. The squares are numbered from north to south, commencing on the west and progressively extending towards the east, the highest numbers in the original survey being 1,146. When selected as the site for a city, the grounds now included within the corporation were occupied as improved farms, and devoted to the culture of corn, tobacco and wheat. The city of Georgetown, separated from Washington by Rock Creek, was originally laid out under an act of the Colonial Assembly of Maryland, dated May 15, 1771. It was incorporated as a town in 1789, and forms but one ward.

* We are indebted to Hon. Henry Barnard, Commissioner of Education, Waterson's Guide to Washington, and the Congressional Directory, for a part of the facts relating to Washington.

CAPITOL—OTHER BUILDINGS.

The Capitol fronts the east, and stands on a plateau ninety feet above the level of the Potomac, in latitude $38^{\circ} 55' 48''$ north and longitude $77^{\circ} 1' 48''$ west from Greenwich.

The south-east corner-stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, aided by the freemasons of Maryland. It was constructed of sandstone from an island in Acquia creek, Virginia, painted white, under the direction of B. S. Hallett, and afterwards of B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811, a wooden passage way connecting them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by British incendiaries, but they were immediately rebuilt. In 1818 the central portion of the building was commenced under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch, and the original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $1,746,718.33.

The corner-stone of the extension to the Capitol was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator of the day. Thomas U. Walter was architect, and subsequently Edward Clark, under whose direction the work was completed in November, 1867. The material used for the extensions is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Massachusetts, with white marble columns from the quarries at Cockeysville, Maryland.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, but was removed in 1856 to be replaced by the present stupendous structure of cast-iron, which was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,009,200 pounds.

The main building is three hundred and fifty-two feet four inches long in front and one hundred and twenty-one feet six inches deep, with a portico one hundred and sixty feet wide, of twenty-four columns on the east, and a projection of eighty-three feet on the west, embracing a recessed portico of ten coupled columns. The extensions are placed at the north and south ends of the main building, with connecting corridors, forty-four feet long by fifty-six feet wide, flanked by columns. Each extension is one hundred and forty-two feet eight inches in front, by two hundred and thirty-eight feet ten inches deep, with porticos of twenty-two columns each on their eastern fronts, and with porticos of ten columns on their ends and on their western fronts. The entire length of the building is seven hundred and fifty-one feet four inches, and the greatest depth, including porticos and steps, is three hundred and twenty-four feet. The area covered by the entire building is one hundred and fifth-three thousand one hundred and twelve square feet.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, modeled by Crawford, which is nineteen feet six inches high, and which weighs 14,985 pounds. The height of the dome above the base-line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet eleven inches; the height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches; and the greatest diameter at the base of the dome is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-five feet six inches in diameter, and its height, from the floor to the top of the canopy, is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate chamber is one hundred and twelve feet in length, by eighty-two feet in width, and thirty feet in height. Its galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' Hall is one hundred and thirty feet in length, by ninety-three feet in width, and thirty feet in height.

The Supreme Court room was occupied by the Senate until December, 1860, the court having previously occupied the room beneath, now used as a law library.

The other principal public buildings are,—The Executive Mansion; the Treasury Building; the War and Navy Departments; the Interior Department, in which is located the Patent Office; the General Post Office; the Agricultural Department, and the Smithsonian Institution. In addition to the above, there is a Navy Yard, a National Observatory, a National Printing Office, an Armory, an Arsenal, a Penitentiary, a Military Asylum, the Columbian Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, and a Hospital for the Insane, with several Churches, Hotels, Libraries, and Charitable establishments.

The parks or open grounds of the city are spacious, generally kept with care, and to some extent interspersed with fountains and statues; and the place is amply supplied with pure water, brought about 12 miles, by an extensive aqueduct, from the Great Falls of the Potomac.

The total number of buildings in November, 1867, was 23,095, of which 20,437 were used as dwellings; the other buildings may be classified as follows,—Government buildings, including the capitol and departments, 7; other government buildings and establishments, 6; Scientific institutions—Smithsonian Institution, Naval Observatory and Medical Museum, 3; asylums and homes for destitute, 8; hospitals, 11; soldiers' barracks, 20; police stations and offices, 9; city buildings—city hall and jail, 2; banks, 7; halls, 23; depots, 2. Places erected for religious worship—Baptist, 5; Baptist, colored, 3; Congregational, 1; German Lutheran, 1; Jewish Synagogue, 1; Methodist, 5; Methodist Episcopal, 3; Methodist Protestant, 2; Methodist (colored), 2; New Jerusalem, 1; Presbyterian, 5; Presbyterian (colored), 1; Protestant Episcopal, 4; Roman Catholic, 4; other Churches, 19; total, 57.

CHARITABLE AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

The principal charitable and penal institutions under the superintendence and direction of the Government are, the Hospital for the Insane, the Columbian Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, and the Jail.

The Government Hospital for the Insane was established under authority of an act of Congress, March 3, 1855; its objects as declared in the act, are "the most humane care and enlightened curative treatment of the insane of the army and navy, and of the District of Columbia." All indigent insane residing in the district are entitled to its benefits.

The Columbian Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind was established by a private corporation, but receives aid from the General Government. The Collegiate Department was organized in 1864; the act of Congress of March 2, 1867, made provision for the free entrance into this department of poor deaf mutes, from any of the states and territories.

In view of the insecure and crowded condition of the jail, and its unfitness in every respect as a proper place of confinement, Congress has authorized the construction of a building of adequate dimensions. A location has been selected, and plans adopted.

Government Hospital for the Insane. CHARLES H. NICHOLS, M. D., Superintendent. Number of patients under treatment, June 30, 1867, was—males, 188; females, 92; total, 280: number admitted during the year—males, 119; females, 33; total, 152, an excess over the last year of 43; number admitted from civil life, 82, an excess over last year of 33; number discharged, 76; of whom 63 were restored, 8 improved, 5 unimproved; number of deaths, 27; number remaining, June 30, 1868, 344. Number treated since institution was opened, 1,464, of whom there were natives of this country, 1,145. Expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1868, $114,035.81.

Columbia Institute for the Deaf and Dumb. EDWARD M. GALLAUDET, President. Number of pupils in institution, Oct. 23, 1867, 104; number of pupils admitted during the year, 22. Number of pupils in 1867, in the college—juniors, 4; sophomores, 5; freshmen, 7; in the preparatory class—males, 17; females, 1; total, 18; in the primary department—males, 50; females, 33; total, 83.

United States Jail. WM. H. HUESTIS, Warden. Number of commitments during 1866-7, 1,241. Crimes for which committed—murder, 10; assault with intent to kill, 52; assault and battery, 118; robbery, 29; burglary, 59; larceny, 702; horse stealing, 33; security to keep the peace, 60; obtaining money and goods under false pretences, 24; miscellaneous, 154. Daily average number of prisoners during the year, 86; number sent to Albany, 79; number sentenced to jail, 89; number in prison, Nov. 1, 1867, 113; of whom there were—men, white, 33; colored, 55; females—white, 9; colored, 9; boys—white, 1; colored, 6. Expenditures for year closing Nov 1, 1867, $30,736.48.

POPULATION.

The population of the District as returned by the United States Census at different periods, was as follows:

	White.	Free Colored.	Slave.	Total.	Inc. per cent.
1800.....	10,066.....	783.....	3,244.....	14,093.....

The total population of the District of Columbia, as ascertained by the Commissioner of Education, November 11, 1867, was 126,990; of whom 44,803 were white males; 43,524 white females; 17,654 colored males; and 21,009 colored females. General total by sex—62,457 males, and 64,533 females, or very nearly 49.2 per cent. of the former and 50.8 per cent. of the latter. The total number of whites was 88,327, or 69.55 per cent., and of colored, 38,663, or 30.45 per cent. of the whole. The population may also be classified as follows:

Civil Condition. Males—single, whites, 27,310; colored, 10,471; total, 37,781; females—single, whites, 23,838; colored, 11,610; total, 35,448; males—married, whites, 15,442; colored, 6,169; total, 21,611; females—married, whites, 15,189; colored, 6,500; total, 21,689; widowers—whites, 1,131 colored, 421; total, 1,562; widows—whites, 3,853; colored, 2,319; total, 6,172. Of those reported unknown, there are 920 white males; 644 white females; 583 colored males; and 580 colored females. The number of white married pairs reported as living together in families, was 14,147; and of colored, 5,509.

Place of Birth. Whites—District of Columbia, 33,536; Alabama, 39; Arkansas, 7; California, 53; Connecticut, 478; Delaware, 251; Florida, 41; Georgia, 97; Illinois, 192; Indiana, 237; Iowa, 74; Kansas, 19; Kentucky, 175; Louisiana, 124; Maine, 523; Maryland, 10,154; Massachusetts, 1,215; Michigan, 146; Minnesota, 33; Mississippi, 52; Missouri, 123; Nebraska, 18; Nevada, 1; New Hampshire, 400; New Jersey, 775; New York, 4,184; North Carolina, 129; Ohio, 731; Oregon, 3; Pennsylvania, 4,575; Rhode Island, 130; South Carolina, 125; Tennessee, 147; Texas 46; Vermont, 429; West Virginia, 52; Wisconsin, 98; Territories, 16; total United States, 67,041. Argentine Republic, 2; Austrian Empire, 53; Belgium, 24; Brazil, 4; Chili, 2; Denmark, 25; East Indies (not specified), 8; Europe (not specified), 3; France, 212; Germany, 5,522; Greece, 1; England, 1,787; Scotland, 402; Wales, 30; Ireland, 9,147; British Colonies, 272; total Great Britain and British Colonies, 11,638. The city is divided into twenty-two wards, forming altogether seventeen Aldermanic districts, and from each district, an Alderman is elected.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen is composed of twenty-one members, one member being elected from each assembly district. Each Board elects its own officers.

The Board of Supervisors consists of twelve members, and has charge of all matters pertaining to the county of New York—the limits of which are identical with those of the city.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction are four in number, and have charge of the public hospitals, asylums and prisons in the city, and of the alms-houses, penitentiary, etc., on Blackwell's island and other islands in the vicinity.

The Executive departments are: The Mayor's office; the Department of Finance, subdivided as follows, viz.: The Comptroller's office; Bureau of Taxes; of Arrears; of City Revenue; of County Accounts; of Deposit and Disbursement (under charge of the City Chamberlain). The Street Department, subdivided into the following bureaus, viz.: Collection of Assessments; Wharves; Lands and Places; Repairs and Supplies; Roads; Street Improvement; Lamps and Gas. The Croton Aqueduct Department, subdivided into the Bureau of Water Rents, and the Bureau of Pipes, Sewers, and Pavements. The Law Department comprises the Corporation Counsel, the Corporation Attorney, and the Public Administrator.

The Executive County Officers are: The County Clerk; the Sheriff, assisted by an under Sheriff and twenty-two deputies; the Register; the Surrogate; four Coroners, assisted by four deputies; the Commissioner of Jurors; eight Commissioners of Emigration (including the Mayors of New York and Brooklyn, and the President of the Irish and German Emigrant Societies, Commissioners, ex-officio); the Tax Commissioners, three in number, with twelve deputies; the Bureau of Assessments, three Assessors; and the U. S. Loan Commissioners, two in number.

The Commissioners of the Central Park are eight in number. They have the sole control and direction of matters pertaining to the Park, and hold their appointments during the pleasure of the State Legislature.

The Metropolitan Police Department is in charge of four Commissioners, whose power extends over the whole metropolitan district which includes the counties of New York, Kings, Westchester and Richmond, and the towns of Newtown, Flushing and Jamaica, in the county of Queens. The city proper is divided into thirty-two police precincts, each of which is in charge of a captain; and the city of Brooklyn into ten precincts; besides which there are eight special precincts, making fifty in all. The force has one superintendent, four inspectors, forty-five captains, 178 sergeants, 93 door-men, 72 special police, and 2,234 patrolmen—in all, 2,650 men. Included in this force is a Sanitary Squad, which acts under the directions of the Board of Health; and a squad detailed to each of the police courts. Fifty men, known as the Central Park police, are detailed to the Central Park, sixteen to the Atlantic Dock (Brooklyn), and six to Quarantine. There is also a Detective force, in charge of a Chief; a house for the detention of witnesses, in charge of a sergeant, and a River police (known as the 34th precinct), who are employed on a steamer which sails up and down the rivers. A force of eighteen surgeons is also attached to the Police Department. The total number of arrests made by the force in 1868, was 78,451.

COURTS.

The Police Courts are four in number, located at the Tombs, Essex Market, Jefferson Market, and Fifty-seventh street, near 3d avenue, at each of which there are two justices who alternate their labors weekly. There is also a Court of Special Sessions, for the trial of minor offences, at which two justices sit jointly, three days per week, at the Tombs.

The Criminal Courts of Record are the Oyer and Terminer, held by a Justice of the Supreme Court—the terms commencing on the first Monday in February, May, October and December; and the General Sessions, held monthly, by the City Recorder and City Judge, alternately. The prosecutions on behalf of the People are conducted by the District Attorney who has two assistants.

The Civil Courts are the Supreme Court (State), of five justices; Superior Court, six justices; Court of Common Pleas, three justices; Marine Court, three justices; and eight district courts for minor litigations, held by Justices of the Peace, the city being divided into eight districts for that purpose. The United States Courts sitting here are the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, and the District Court. There are also six U. S. Commissioners to hear preliminary examinations, etc.; U. S. District Attorney, and a U. S. Marshal.

Fire Department. The Metropolitan Fire Department is in charge of four Commissioners. Its officers are a Chief Engineer, an Assistant Engineer, and thirteen engineers. The number of engines belonging to the department is 40 (steamers); of hook and ladder apparatus, there are 15. Each engine company has a Foreman, assistant foreman, engineer of steamer, stoker, driver, and seven firemen; and to each hook and ladder company there are a Foreman, assistant foreman, driver, and nine firemen, making the total force of the department 679 men. An alarm telegraph, in charge of a superintendent and 3 operators, is attached to this department.

Board of Health. The Metropolitan Board of Health is composed of six Sanitary Commissioners, the Police Commissioners, and the Health Officer (in charge of the Quarantine). It has under its control, a Sanitary Superintendent, an assistant, fourteen sanitary inspectors, an engineer, two Registrars of Records, a Counsel, and an Attorney. A squad of police, known as the Sanitary company, consisting of a Captain, one sergeant and 34 patrolmen, also acts under its orders, and is charged with the duty of inspecting tenement houses, steam boilers, abating nuisances, etc.

The inspection of buildings throughout the city is in charge of a Superintendent, a deputy and 12 inspectors. No building can be erected within the city limits unless the plan, so far as strength and safety are concerned, is approved by this department.

The Croton aqueduct supplies the city with water. The total length of main pipes is 313 miles and 3,045 feet; the number of buildings used either as dwellings or for business purposes within the area of water distribution, is 66,925; the number of manufactories is 1,617; and of churches, 307. The aggregated collections of the Croton aqueduct department in 1868, were $1,319,544.26.

EDUCATION, CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS, &c.

The city is divided into seven school districts, in each of which are elected three Commissioners, the term of service of one in each district expiring annually. These commissioners make up the Board of Education, and legislate for the public educational interests of the city. Three Inspectors are also elected in each of the above districts, whose terms of service expire in the same manner as the commissioners. Six Trustees are elected in each ward, who have the immediate care and control of the public schools therein. There is also a city Superintendent of Public Schools, with three assistants.

The ward schools are 55 in number; in addition to which there are 40 primary; seven colored schools, and two colored primary schools. The number of teachers (male and female) employed in the white schools is 2,118; in the colored schools, 44. * Extra State.

PART III.

FOREIGN STATES.

I. AMERICA.

1. AREA—POPULATION—DISCOVERY—ESTABLISHMENT OF INDEPENDENT STATES— EXTENT AND POPULATION OF THE INDEPENDENT STATES AND OF THE EUROPEAN POSSESSIONS—LANGUAGES.

THE total area of America is estimated at 15,480,000 square miles; the population at 81,400,000. Among the large divisions of the world, America is the second in point of extent, being preceded by Asia. In point of population, it occupies the fourth place; but its population increases more rapidly than that of any other division of the world.

America became first known to the Europeans in the tenth century, when Icelanders visited Greenland and other parts of the east coast. Greenland had for some time a Catholic bishop, but subsequently the connection with Europe ceased. The opening of America to the Christian civilization of Europe properly dates from Columbus, who landed in the West Indies in 1492.

All the American territory remained subject to the rule of European Powers until 1776, when the United States declared their independence. Their example was at the close of the last century followed by Hayti, and at the beginning of the present century by nearly the whole of Central and South America. (See special dates below at the head of each American country). The territory of the Independent American States is rapidly increasing. In 1867 the large Russian Possessions were purchased by the United States. In the same year two of the three Danish Islands in the West Indies were purchased by the United States, but this latter purchase has not yet (December 1868), been ratified by Congress.

We give below a tabular exhibition of the Independent American States, and a list of the European possessions. The independent American territory embraces about 11,000,000 square miles, or a little over two-thirds of the whole area of America, against about 4,500,000 square miles still subject to European rule. Of the latter over 3,600,000 square miles are English possessions. We have included in the European possessions, Greenland, though in fact, the Danish rule extends only over a very small portion. The total population of the independent American States may be estimated at 74,000,000; while the European possessions contain about 7,000,000.

The English language is predominant in the United States, and in the British possessions, embracing a territory containing more than 39,000,000 of people. The Spanish language prevails in Mexico, the republics of Central and South America, the republic of San Domingo and the Spanish possessions, including in all a territory containing about 28,500,000 inhabitants. The Portuguese language prevails in Brazil* which has a population of nearly 12,000,000. French is the language of Hayti and of the French possessions, which together have a population of about 900,000. French also is the language of the majority of the population in the province of Quebec in the dominion of Canada, but the official language of the whole Dominion is English. The number of the German-speaking population in the United States is estimated at from four to five millions; there is also a large German population in Brazil, but no where is German recognized as an official language, and in the course of time it must give way to the national language. The native languages, the number of which is estimated at 600, are still understood by about 12,000,000 people; but they gradually disappear before the advance of education and civilization. In point of area, the English language now prevails in a territory exceeding 7,000,000 square miles; the Spanish language in a territory of over 4,000,000 square miles; and the Portuguese in a territory of over 3,000,000 square miles.

Christianity prevails in every country of America, though in most countries of North and South America there are still uncivilized and pagan natives. In the United States, and the British and Dutch Possessions, Protestantism prevails, while Roman Catholicism is the religion in all the other countries. (See the tables of "Religious Statistics.")

1. ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

Capital, Buenos Ayres. Area, 826,828 square miles. Population, 1,465,000.

History. Discovery of the country on the River Plata, 1515; Foundation of Buenos Ayres, 1535; Establishment of the Vice-kingdom of Buenos Ayres (or Rio de la Plata), 1777; Beginning of the war for Independence, 1810; Declaration of Independence, 1816; Presidency of Rosas, 1835; Banishment of Rosas, 1852; Presidency of Mitre, 1862-1868; Sarmiento elected President, 1868.

In 1866 it was estimated that there were in the country 70,000 Italians, 32,000 Spaniards, 32,000 Englishmen, 25,000 Frenchmen, 5,000 Germans and natives of the United States. The immigration of the year 1866 was estimated at 13,000, of whom 31 per cent. were Italians, 21 French, 10 English, 7 Swiss and Spaniards, 2 Germans. The immigration during the first three months of 1868 was 9,493, chiefly from Germany and Italy.

Government. President, DOMINGO F. SARMIENTO; Vice President, ADOLFO ALSINA. By the Constitution of May 15, 1853, the President and Vice President are elected for six years. The present incumbents were elected in 1868 for the term 1868-1874. The Senate consists of 28 members, two from each state. The House of Representatives numbers 54 Deputies.

Finances. The revenue is almost wholly derived from custom house duties, averaging from 15 to 20 per cent. In 1866, according to the message of President Mitre, the revenue was 9,763,830 pesos, 5 pesos fuertes=1 £=$4.84. The public debt, at the beginning of 1867, amounted to 32,483,710 pesos. The paper currency is greatly depreciated, 25 paper pesos being equal to 1 pesos fuerte. The budget of Buenos Ayres amounts to about 2,000,000 pesos.

Army and Navy. The army consists of about 10,700 men, exclusive of the militia and national guard. In the war against Paraguay the Republic was to contribute from 30,000 to 40,000 men, but in 1867 the Argentine force never exceeded 8,000 men. The navy comprises seven steamers and ten sailing vessels.

Commerce. The imports of the port of Buenos Ayres, in 1865, amounted to £5,207,043, exports to £4,413,358. The most important countries for the commerce of Buenos Ayres, are France, England, Brazil, and the United States. The chief articles of export are wool (46 per cent.) and hides, (34 per cent.); chief articles of import breadstuffs, beverages, cotton and woolen manufactures. In 1867, 621 miles of railroad were either open or projected. Nearly the whole of the capital had been subscribed in England.

Capital, Chuquisaca. Area, 535,769 square miles. Population, 1,987,352.

History. Declaration of Independence, 1825; the name of Bolivia assumed Aug. 11, 1825. The frontier of the Republic is not yet regulated. A treaty with Chili, of Aug. 10, 1866, fixes 24° S. Lat., as the boundary line between these two Republics. In 1868, a treaty was concluded between Bolivia and Brazil, recognizing the claims of Brazil to most of the territory which has heretofore been disputed between Brazil, Bolivia and Peru.

Government. President, MARIANO MELGAREJO. The President is elected for a term of four years. The army consists of about 2,000 men, exclusive of the national guard. The revenue, in 1864, amounted to 2,471,000, the expenditures to 2,435,000 pesos. The Republic has no public debt. The value of the annual imports is about 5,570,000 pesos.

Capital, Rio Janeiro. Area, 3,231,047 square miles. Population, 11,780,000.

History. Discovered by Pedro Alvarez Cabral, in 1500; beginning of colonization by the Portuguese, 1531; foundation of the city of Bahia, 1549; conquest of Bahia (1624), and gradually of one-half of the fourteen provinces of which Brazil consisted at that time, by the Dutch; evacuation by the Dutch, 1654; formal retrocession of Brazil to Portugal, 1661; constituted a kingdom by King John VI. of Portugal, in 1815; declaration of Independence, 1822; constitution adopted, 1825.

The number of slaveholders is about 40,000. The law for the suppression of the slave trade was fully carried out in 1850. There were in 1861, 55 colonies of German and Swiss settlers, chiefly in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, inhabited by 33,970 foreigners. Since then immigration has considerably increased.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. Pedro II. was born Dec. 2, 1825; succeeded to the throne on the abdication of his father, Pedro I. April 7, 1831; declared of age, July 23, 1840; crowned, July 18, 1841; married Sept. 4, 1843, to Theresa, daughter of the late king Francis I. of the Two Sicilies. Children: 1. Crown Princess Isabel, born July 29, 1846; married Oct. 15, 1864, to Prince Louis of Orleans, Count of Eu. 2. Princess Leopoldina, born July 13, 1847; married December 15, 1864, to Prince Augustus of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha; son, Prince Pedro, born March 19, 1866.

Government. Emperor, PEDRO II. The Legislative Assembly consists of a Senate and House of Deputies. Senators are appointed for life, by the Emperor, from three candidates chosen by electoral meetings specially convened for this purpose. A Senator must be forty years of age, a native born Brazilian, a Roman Catholic and possessed of an annual income of 800 milreis. The members of the House of Deputies are chosen by indirect election; every 200 voters choose an elector, and a number of the latter nominate the deputy. A voter must have an income of 100 milreis, an elector of 200 milreis, a deputy of 400 milreis. The deputy must be a native Roman Catholic. Voters are compelled to vote, under a penalty. The salary of a Senator is 3,600 milreis, of a deputy 2,400 milreis. The annual session of the Legislative Assembly commences May 3. The Chamber of Deputies has the initiative in the assessment of taxes, in matters concerning the army and navy, and in the choice of a sovereign, in case the throne should become vacant. The Senate has to take cognizance of offences committed by members of the Imperial family, and by Senators and Deputies, if committed during the session. It also convenes the Legislative Assembly, should the Emperor fail to do so, two months after the period fixed by law.

The Ministry is divided into seven departments: 1. Finance; 2. Foreign Affairs; 3. Interior; 4. Justice; 5. War; 6. Marine; 7. Public Works, Agriculture and Commerce. The Council of State consists of 12 ordinary and 12 extraordinary members, all appointed by the Emperor for life. Each Province has a President appointed by the central Government, and a provincial assembly.

A new (conservative) Ministry was formed in July, 1868. President, Viscount Itaborahy; Foreign affairs, Paranhos; War, Baron Muritiba; Agriculture, Senhor Antao; Marine, Baron Cotigipe; Empire, Paulino Soares de Souza; Justice, J. M. Alencar.

Finances. The revenue during the financial years 1859 to 1866, was as follows:

1859-60.....	47,310,955 milreis.	1863-64.....	58,360,430 milreis.
1860-61.....	53,350,905 "	1864-65.....	61,046,313 "
1861-62.....	55,857,728 "	1865-66.....	62,827,191 "
1862-63.....	50,724,034 "

The estimates for the year 1868-69, were: Expenditures, 67,742,627 milreis; receipts, 59,000,000 milreis; probable deficit, 8,742,627 milreis. The foreign debt in June 1867, amounted to £15,458,200; the internal funded debt, March 31, 1867, to 106,350,600 milreis. The total amount of paper currency in circulation was estimated, in June 1867, at 107,021,950 milreis.

Army and Navy. The Brazilian army, in 1867, numbered 74,318 men; consisting of Special Corps, 25,844 men; 1st Army Corps in the field, 33,078 men; 2d Army Corps in the field, 15,396 men. The armed navy consisted, in 1867, of 12 ironclads (exclusive of 4 in course of construction); 46 steamers, and 11 sailing vessels. The number of sailors and marines was according to the navy estimates for 1867-68, 14,909 men.

Commerce. The value of imports and exports in the financial years from 1864 to 1866, was as follows:

	Imports.	Exports.
1864-65.....	131,600,000 milreis.	141,100,000 milreis.
1865-66.....	138,100,000 "	157,000,000 "

Trade with the United States from 1864 to 1867, was as follows:

	Imports.	Exports.
1864-65.....	$3,175,000	$8,335,000
1865-66.....	3,253,000	14,980,000
1866-67.....	2,150,000	15,600,000

4. CENTRAL AMERICA.

History. Landing of Columbus on the east coast, 1502; invasion by the Spaniards, 1524; declaration of independence, 1821; establishment of the Republic of the United States of Central America, 1823; dissolution of the Union, 1839—since which time the five republics of Guatemala, San Salvador, Nicaragua, Honduras and Costa Rica have been independent of each other. The idea of a restoration of a Central American confederation has still many friends.

Squier, (in "The States of Central America," New York, 1858), estimated the total population of Central America at 2,114,000; of whom 1,195,000 were Indians, 800,000 of mixed descent, 100,000 whites, and 19,000 negroes.

1. GUATEMALA.

Capital, Guatemala. Area, 44,778 square miles. Population, 1,180,000.

The statistics of races, according to the best authorities, is as follows: 1. Whites (including the descendants of Spaniards and Indians who consider themselves white), 1,004,000; 2. Indians, 4,800,000; 3. The mixed races (Mestizoes, Zambos, Mulattoes, &c.), 2,190,000; 4. Negroes, 6,000.

Government. President, BENITO JUAREZ, a descendant of the Indian race of Tapatecos; born at Ixtlan, state of Oajaca, 1807; elected Deputy to the House of Representatives, 1846; Governor of Oajaca, 1848-52; exiled by Santa Anna, 1853; returned to Mexico, 1855; Minister of Justice, 1856-58; of the Interior, 1858; head of an insurrection against President Zuloaga, 1858-59; and against President Miramon, 1859-61; elected President, 1861; re-elected, 1867. Vice President, LERDO DE TEJADA.

The ministry is (Nov. 1868) composed of the following members: Foreign Affairs, Lerdo de Tejada; Finances, Matias Romero; War and Navy, Ignacio Mejia; Interior, Iglesias; Public Works, Balcarcel; Justice, Ignacio Mariscal.

The Mexican constitution bears date October 4, 1824. It was suspended by the French in 1863, but re-established in 1867. By its terms Mexico is declared a federative republic, each state managing its own local affairs. The Congress consists of two houses. The members of the House of Representatives are elected by each state at the rate of one member for 80,000 inhabitants, for a term of two years, must be 25 years of age, and have resided eight years in the state. The Senate consists of two members for each state, who must be at least thirty years of age and elected by a plurality of votes in the state congress. The members of both houses receive salaries of two thousand dollars a year. The President and Vice President are elected for a term of four years. Congress meets annually from January 1 to April 15, and a council of government, consisting of the Vice President and half the senate sits during the recesses of Congress. The legislatures of the several states are similar to that of the republic.

Finances. The revenue for 1866 was estimated at $16,500,000; the expenditures at $29,500,000; the deficit at $13,000,000; the actual deficit proved to be much larger. The Mexican debt, August 1, 1865, was as follows:

	Capital.	An'l Interest.
Old English three per cent. loan, as per settlement of 1851.....	£10,241,650	£307,205
Three per cent. stock, created 1864, for overdue coupons of old loan.....	4,864,800	145,944

The present Government does not recognize any portion of the above liabilities, except the six per cent. internal Mexican debt, the interest of which has not been paid for a number of years.

Commerce. In 1856, the total imports of Mexico were valued at twenty-six millions, and the exports at twenty-eight millions of dollars. There are no official accounts of recent date concerning the trade of Mexico. The imports of the port of Tampico were, in 1864, $3,342,020; in 1865, $3,970,045; and in 1866, $847,806.

The great staple of Mexican export trade is silver. The annual produce of silver in the chief mining districts is given as follows: Zacatecas, $6,000,000; Guanajuato, $2,000,000; San Luis Potosi, $500,000; Guadalajara, $600,000; Mexico, $1,000,000; Durango, $1,000,000. Total, $11,500,000; add bars of silver exported secretly, $1,000,000; total, $13,600,000. The richest of all the mines now worked are those of Real del Monte and Pachuca, situated about sixty miles from the city of Mexico. There is a Minería, or school of mines, in the city of Mexico, which has received the support of all the succeeding governments.

A line of Railway, (The National Mexican), from Vera Cruz to the city of Mexico, was commenced in 1864. The army was in July, 1867, estimated at from 30 to 35,000 men. It was to be reduced by 18,000 men.

10. PARAGUAY.

Capital, Asuncion. Area, 126,352 square miles. Population, 1,337,431.

History. First arrival of the Spaniards, 1515; long and obstinate resistance of the natives; arrival of the Jesuits, 1608; administration of the Jesuits until 1758; beginning of the war of independence under Francia, 1811; Francia Dictator, 1811-1840; Carlos Antonio Lopez, President, 1844-1862; Francisco Solano Lopez, President from 1862.

A large territory west of the Paraguay, the Gran Chaco, is claimed at the same time by Paraguay, Bolivia, and the Argentine Republic. In 1857, the capital had 48,000 inhabitants.

Government. President, FRANCISCO SOLANO LOPEZ. Official accounts of revenue and expenditures are not published. One of the chief sources of public income is from the sale of the yerba maté (Paraguay tea), and other products of the land belonging to the government, which is about one-half of the entire territory of the republic. It yielded in 1859, 8,161,323 francs; customs, stamps and other duties, the rent of public lands, in the same year, 4,280,000 francs; total sums of revenue in that year, 12,441,323 francs. A public debt was heretofore unknown; but in March, 1865, the President was authorized by the National Congress to contract a loan of £5,000,000.

Army and Navy. The standing army is 15,000 men; the reserve, 46,000 men. At the beginning of the war against Brazil and her allies in 1865, President Lopez was reported as having in a short time organized an effective army of 68,000 men. In 1868, he was reported to have reinforced his army by an army corps of women. The navy, in 1864, (according to the Buenos Ayres Standard), was composed of 3 brigs, 21 steamers, 15 small gunboats, partly iron-clad, each carrying one 80-pounder Armstrong gun.

Commerce. The imports, in 1859 (according to a communication to the Moniteur of Paris), amounted to 8,833,000 francs; the exports to 7,703,000 francs; the number of arrivals and clearances, together, to 412 vessels, of 16,650 tons.

11. PERU.

Capital, Lima. Area, 510,107 square miles. Population, 2,500,000.

History. Foundation of a Peruvian Empire, in the 12th century; landing of the Spaniards under Pizarro, 1526; gradual conquest of the Empire; temporary independence of Spain; re-establishment of the Spanish authority, 1547; beginning of the war of independence, 1810; declaration of independence, 1821.

The greater number of the inhabitants are descendants of Spaniards mixed with Indians. According to Paz Soldan (Geografía del Perú, Paris, 1862), the population, exclusive of uncivilized Indians (of whom there are about 400,000) was 2,255,000.

Government. President, JOSÉ BALTA, elected July 18, 1868. A new constitution was adopted in 1867. The President is elected for a term of five years. The Senate consists of two members from each department; the House of Representatives of one member for each 20,000 inhabitants. The parochial electoral colleges choose deputies to the provincial electoral colleges which, in turn, send deputies to Congress. The public exercise of any religion, save the Roman Catholic, is prohibited. The new constitution was adopted by forty-three against forty votes, while the provision that the Roman Catholic religion should be the religion of the state and, as such, protected and maintained by the state, was passed by a unanimous vote.

The Ministry, appointed by President Balta in August 1868, is composed as follows: Interior and Presidency, Pedro Galvez; Foreign Affairs, José A. Barrenechea; Justice, Teodoro La Rosa, (November, 1868); Commerce, Francisco Garcia Calderon; War and Navy, F. Balta.

Finances. The budget for 1867, as voted by the House of Representatives, was as follows: Revenue, £2,689,083; expenditure, £3,105,421; deficit, £416,338. The chief source of income is the sale of guano, but the proceeds are for several years in advance pledged to the creditors of the state. The public debt July 1, 1866, was $108,458,760.

Army and Navy. The Peruvian army in 1866, was composed as follows: Infantry, 8,400; Cavalry, 1,200; Artillery, 1,000; Gensd'armes, 5,408; total, 16,008.

The navy consisted, in 1866, of the steamers Callao, thirty 68-pounders; Chalaco, four 68-pounders; Tumbes, four 32-pounders; Chanchamaya, two 32-pounders; Colon, two guns; two steam corvettes, America and Union, with 14 rifled guns each; the iron clads Loa, two 100-pounders; Victoria (monitor), with two 68-pounders; the iron-clad frigate Independencia, with fourteen rifled cannon; and the Huascar, with two 300-pounders and two 40-pounders.

Commerce. The imports of 1865 amounted to about $35,000,000; exports to $40,290,048. The number of vessels which entered the ports of Peru in 1865, was 1,436, amounting to 926,977 tons; the number of vessels cleared was 1,316, amounting to 884,471 tons. The merchant navy, in 1861, numbered 110 sea-going vessels, of 24,234 tons.

12. SAN DOMINGO.

Capital, San Domingo. Area, 17,826 square miles. Population, 136,500.

History. For some prominent facts in the past history, see Hayti; re-annexation to Spain, 1861; insurrection, 1863-65. Spain acknowledges the independence of San Domingo, May 6, 1865. Since then almost uninterrupted civil war. Provisional President since 1867, Buenaventura Baez. The population is composed chiefly of mulattoes and whites. The annual imports and exports are estimated at about 6,000,000 francs each. The number of vessels annually entering the ports of San Domingo and Puerto Plata is from 100 to 120.

13. URUGUAY.

Capital, Montevideo. Area, 66,716 square miles. Population, 350,000.

History. Declaration of independence by the delegates assembled in the city of La Florida, August 25, 1825; recognition of Uruguay as an independent republic by the treaty of Montevideo, between Brazil and Buenos Ayres, October 4, 1828; proclamation of the constitution, July 18, 1830.

Population of the capital, in 1860, 37,787, and in 1862, after annexation of Cordon and Aguada, 45,765. According to a circular of Minister Herrera, in 1863, the population of the republic amounted to 350,000, among whom were 150,000 foreigners.

Government. President, LORENZO BATTLE, since February, 1863; formerly minister of war. The ministry is divided into four departments: Foreign affairs, interior, finances, and war. The sessions of the legislature generally extend from February 15 to the end of June. During the adjournment a permanent commission of two senators and five members of the lower house remains in session. The President is elected for the term of four years.

Finances. A budget extending from July 1, 1860, to December 31, 1861, gives the estimated receipts and expenditures both at $3,579,802. In consequence of the almost uninterrupted civil war, no budgets have since been published. The public debt in February, 1862, amounted to $20,000,000.

Army. The army, in 1864, was composed as follows: Garrison of the capital, 1,300; garrison in the provinces, 1,500; national guard, about 20,000 men. For the war against Paraguay, which Uruguay undertook together with Brazil and the Argentine Republic, Uruguay contributed a contingent of 3,500 men; but nearly the whole of this force was soon withdrawn, as the outbreak of a new civil war was feared.

Commerce. The imports in 1862, were $8,151,802; exports, 8,804,443. In 1866, the imports amounted to $15,330,000; exports, $13,238,000. The revenue from customs was, in 1862, $1,779,898, and in 1866, $3,293,924.

Capital, Caracas. Area, 368,235 square miles. Population, 2,200,000.

History. Declaration of independence by Bolivar, November 20, 1818; meeting of the first congress, February 15, 1819; proclamation of the Republic of Colombia (New Granada and Venezuela), December 25, 1819; Venezuela seceded and constituted itself an independent republic, November, 1839; independence recognized by Spain, March 30, 1845.

Government. Provisional President, JOSÉ TADEO MOÑAGAS, elected August, 1868; (died November, 1868). A new constitution was adopted in 1863.

Finances. The public revenue, in 1858, was 30,525,275 francs; expenditures, 20,525,275 francs; the public debt, in 1859, amounted to 114,128,100 francs, 9,517,035 being interior, and 104,611,065 external debt.

The army, in 1858, consisted of 10,000 men; the navy of two steam frigates and four schooners. The imports, in 1856, were valued at 27,985,644 francs; the exports, at 32,180,520 francs.

15. BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

SUMMARY OF THE BRITISH POSSESSIONS IN AMERICA.

The following table gives the area and population of each of the colonies and dependencies of Great Britain in America, as well as the revenue, expenditure, imports and exports of each.

The Hudson's Bay Territory is not included. Negotiations for its annexation to the Dominion of Canada have been begun, but not concluded.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

Capital, Ottawa. Area, 376,988 square miles. Population, 3,464,766.

History. The old province of Quebec was, in 1791, divided into the two Governments of Upper and Lower Canada, with representative institutions for each. In 1840, the two provinces were reunited into the province of Canada, and the legislative councils consolidated. On Sept. 1, 1864, delegates appointed by the Governments of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward's Island, met at Charlottetown to confer as to the practicability of establishing a legislative union between the maritime provinces. Canadian delegates were informally present. A legislative union of the maritime provinces was found by the conference to be impracticable, but the delegates were unanimously of opinion that a union on a larger basis (inclusive of Canada) might be effective. The subject was fully discussed at the Inter-Colonial Conference of Quebec, which was opened October 10, 1864, and consisted of 7 delegates from New Brunswick, 5 from Nova Scotia, 7 from Prince Edward's Island, 2 from New Foundland, and 12 from Canada. The conference lasted 18 days, and adopted the "Seventy Two Resolutions" as a plan of union. The Legislative Council of Canada, February 20, 1865, adopted a resolution, by 45 to 15 votes, to petition the Queen for a legislative union of Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, New Foundland, Prince Edward's Island, into one Government. The same resolution was passed by the House of Assembly on the 10th of March, by a vote of 91 (54 Upper Canada, 37 Lower Canada) to 33 (25 Lower Canada, 8 Upper Canada). New Brunswick, in 1865, chose a House of Assembly hostile to the Quebec scheme; but in 1866, at a new election, the Confederationists obtained a majority and union resolutions passed the House of Assembly by 31 to 8. The Nova Scotia House of Assembly, in 1866, issued union resolutions by a vote of 31 to 18. Prince Edward's Island repudiated the action of the delegates and declared against union. New Foundland declared against any immediate action on the subject. The Legislature of British Columbia, in 1866, expressed a desire to be admitted into the Confederation. In December 1866, delegates from Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, met in London to draft a Constitution. The English House of Lords passed a bill for the Confederation of the Provinces, February 26, 1867; the House of Commons March 8, and March 28 it received the royal sanction. A royal proclamation of May 22, declared that the Dominion of Canada should commence its existence on July 1, 1867. Serious opposition to the Confederation was shown in Nova Scotia, and at the election of a new legislature, the anti-Confederationists carried almost every district.

Government. Governor General, Sir JOHN YOUNG, appointed, 1868. The Cabinet, appointed July 1, 1867: President of the Council, Hon. ADAM T. FERGUSON BLAIR; Minister of Justice, Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD; Minister of Finance, Hon. A. T. GALT; Minister of Militia, Hon. G. E. CARTIER; Minister of Customs, Hon. S. L. TILLEY; Minister of Excise, Hon. WILLIAM HOWLAND; Minister of Public Works, Hon. W. M'DOUGALL; Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. P. MITCHELL; Minister of Agriculture, Hon. JEAN C. CHAPALS; Secretary for Canada, Hon. HECTOR L. LANGEVIN; Secretary for the Provinces, Hon. T. ARCHIBALD; Postmaster General, Hon. ALEXANDER CAMPBELL; Receiver General, Hon. JOHN KENNY.

The executive is vested in a Governor General, styled "Governor General of British North America," and appointed by the crown. He has a salary of £7,000 per annum, and holds authority in the name of the sovereign of Great Britain. The Governor General has the power to give or withhold the royal assent to bills passed by the Senate and House of Assembly, or to reserve the same till the royal pleasure be expressed. Such bills as are assented to by the governor in the name of the crown are, nevertheless, subject to disallowance by the sovereign, within two years after the receipt of authentic copies by one of the principal secretaries of state in Great Britain; and no bills, reserved for the consideration of the crown, can have any force, unless the royal assent be signified within two years after they have been presented to the Governor General.

By the act of Confederation of 1867, the legislative authority of the Dominion of Canada is vested in a Parliament of two houses, the Senate and the House of Assembly. The former consists of thirty-nine members, nominated for life by the Governor, and of the same number elected by the people. At the first organization of the Canadian Confederation, the total of the 78 members of its Senate—48 for Canada, 18 for Nova Scotia, and 12 for New Brunswick—were nominated by the crown. The House of Assembly comprises 181 members—82 for Upper Canada, 65 for Lower Canada, 19 for Nova Scotia, and 15 for New Brunswick. Members of the House of Assembly must be possessed of freehold property of the value of £800. Electors in counties are required to be possessed of, or to occupy, property of the assessed actual value of £50, or the yearly value of £5; while electors in towns must be possessed of, or occupy, property of the yearly value of £7. 10s. Members of the House of Assembly, during session, have an allowance from the public funds. Clergymen of all denominations are ineligible. The House is elected for four years, but may be previously dissolved by the Governor, in which case a new election must take place immediately. At least one session must be held annually.

All proceedings and records of the Legislative Assembly are ordered to be kept, by the act of 1840, in the English language only. The Speaker of the House of Assembly is elected by the members, while the president of the Senate is appointed by the crown for life.

Army. In addition to the troops maintained by the English Government, Canada has a large volunteer force, and an enrolled militia, numbering about 200,000 men, rank and file. The militia is divided into three classes, namely, first class service men, comprising unmarried men and widowers without children between 18 and 45; second class service, married men and widowers with children, between same ages; third class service men, those between 45 and 60. The present volunteer force of Canada consists of 10,615 infantry, 1,687 artillery, 1,615 cavalry, and 202 engineers.

Statistics of Population. The population of the Colonies now comprised in the Dominion of Canada was 3,461,766, in 1865; in January, 1861, it was as follows:

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Upper Canada (now Ontario).....	925,575	670,516	1,396,091
Lower Canada, (now Quebec).....	567,864	543,702	1,111,566

Nova Scotia.....	165,584	165,273	330,857
Total.....	1,788,971	1,501,590	3,090,561

The annual rate of increase during the decennium from 1851 to 1861 was 4.34 per cent. for Ontario, 2.50 per cent. for Quebec, 2.60 per cent. for New Brunswick, 1.82 per cent. for Nova Scotia, 2.07 per cent. for Prince Edward's Island. At this rate of increase, and making estimates for the remainder of British North America, (New Foundland, British Columbia, Hudson's Bay Territory), in 1961 the population will be 79,957,000.

JAMAICA.

This is the largest of the British possessions in the West Indies. The area is 6,400 square miles; the entire coast line, 500 miles. It is divided into three counties, Middlesex, Surrey, and Cornwall, and these are subdivided into sixteen parishes; the former number (twenty-two), having been recently reduced by the union of some of the smaller parishes with larger ones.

The population, according to the latest census taken, was 441,264, of which 13,816 were whites, 81,074 of mixed blood, and 346,374 blacks. The increase from 1844 to 1861, was 63,831.

Since the abolition of the representative institutions, by the vote of the old Legislature, the colony is governed as a crown colony, the administration being carried on by the Governor with the assistance of three executive officers, receiving their appointments from England. There is, besides, a Legislative Council, consisting of thirteen members, inclusive of the Governor, who is president. Of the other twelve, six are official and six unofficial, but all are nominated by, and subject to removal at the will of, the Crown.

The principal exports of the island are sugar, rum, coffee, pimento, ginger, and dye-woods. The revenue for 1867, amounted to $1,477,420, showing a deficiency of $281,555. This deficiency is accounted for by the falling off in the two most important branches of revenue—customs and excise—the former having fallen below the estimates, $149,115; the latter, $138,195.

In 1867 St. Thomas and St. John were sold to the United States, but at the close of the year 1868, the purchase had not been ratified by Congress.

Only a small portion of Greenland has ever been explored. The population given above is that of the 13 Danish colonies (districts). Of the population outside of these colonies no reliable estimate can be formed. The number of Europeans is 250. The colonies are divided into the two inspectorates of South and North Greenland; the former containing six and the latter seven districts. The number of European settlements is 38; besides these there are two Missionary stations. Most of them are established on the western coast. The principal villages are Frederick's Harbor, Julian's Harbor, Upernavik, and Good Hope.

CUBA.

This is the most important island of the western hemisphere. Its greatest length is 750 miles; its breadth varies from 130 to 25 miles, and its total area is 48,489 square miles, being nearly equal to the area of Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Switzerland taken together. It has a soil of the utmost fertility, yielding many of the most precious articles of commerce; in the mineral kingdom its resources are considerable, its copper mines being among the most productive to be found in the western hemisphere. The island has now twenty-seven different lines of railway of a total length of over 800 miles, and the construction of these roads has been attended with an extraordinary extension of cultivation.

The population of Cuba is rapidly increasing; it had, according to official returns, 170,370 inhabitants in 1775; 272,140 in 1791; 551,998 in 1817; 704,487 in 1827 (311,051 whites, 106,494 free colored, 286,942 slaves); in 1846, 898,752 (425,767 white, 149,226 free colored, 323,759 slaves); in 1862, 1,359,238 (764,750 white, 225,938 free colored, 368,550 slaves). From 1858 to 1862, 9,462 slaves obtained their liberty either by purchase or by gift of their masters. Many slaves besides were liberated every year by private document, and many children of slaves were registered as free, their liberty being obtained by gift of the masters or by payment of $25 before birth. A decree of the Provisional Government of Spain, in October 1868, provided that all children of slaves, born thereafter, should be free. Cuba is divided into three provinces. The Government is vested in a Captain-General who is the military commandant of the whole island, and the civil governor of one of the three provinces. The chief towns of Cuba are Havana, Santiago, Matanzas, Santa Clara, Santa Maria, and Trinidad.

II. EUROPE.

1. AREA—POPULATION—MOVEMENT AND DENSITY OF POPULATION—NATIONALITIES—THE GREAT POWERS—FORMS OF GOVERNMENT—CIVILIZATION.

The total area of Europe is estimated at 3,781,280 square miles; the total population at 293,083,000. Among the large divisions of the world, Europe occupies the fourth place in point of area, being much inferior to Asia, America and Africa, and superior only to Australia and Polynesia. In point of population, it occupies the second place, being inferior only to Asia, and superior to Africa, America and Australia.

The increase of population during the last century has been very rapid. In 1787 it was estimated at 150,000,000; at present it exceeds 293,000,000. It has therefore nearly doubled in 80 years, notwithstanding the devastating wars from 1793 to 1815, of 1854, 1859 and 1866. It ranks first among the large divisions of the world in density of population. The densest population is to be found in Belgium and the kingdom of Saxony; the thinnest in Russia, Sweden and Norway. In general, western Europe is more densely peopled than eastern Europe.

Nearly the whole population of Europe belongs to the Caucasian race, using the Indo-European class of languages, and in particular, one of the three chief branches—the Germanic, Greco-Latin, and Slavic. The former embraces the Germans, the Scandinavians and the Anglo-Saxons. The Greco-Latin branch comprises the Greeks, Rumanians, Italians, French, Spaniards, Portuguese, and Albanians. The Slavi, who occupy the whole of eastern Europe, embrace the Russians, Poles, Czechs, Moravians, Croats, Slavonians, Wends, Servians, Bulgarians. The population of Ireland, northern and middle Scotland, Wales, and the Bretagne (in France), is of Celtic origin; but the Celtic language has to a large extent disappeared, and politically the Celts have been absorbed by, or are at least subject to other races. The Magyars in Hungary, the Szeklers in Transylvania, the Finns in Finland, the Lapps, the Esthonians and a number of smaller tribes in European Russia belong to the Finnish branch of Indo-Europeans. The Basques in the Pyrenees are regarded as the descendants of the Iberians, the primitive inhabitants of Spain. Of the political divisions of Europe, Germany, Great Britain, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland and the great majority of the cantons of Switzerland are Germanic countries: in Austria, the Germanic nationality prevails in the provinces of Austria above the Enns, Austria below the Enns, Salzburg, Styria, Carinthia, the Tyrol, and Silesia; in Russia, the three Baltic provinces, Livonia, Esthonia and Courland, are under the predominant influence of the Germanic nationality, although the Germans do not constitute a majority of the population; in Belgium about four-sevenths are Germans. States in which the Greco-Latin languages prevail are France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece, Rumania (a dependency of Turkey), and the cantons of south-western Switzerland. To the same family belong three-sevenths of the Belgians and a part of the Tyrol. The only Slavic Empire is Russia; but the Slavi also prevail in Servia and Montenegro (Turkish dependencies), in the Turkish provinces of Bosnia and Bulgaria, and in the Austrian provinces of Bohemia, Moravia, Carniola, Goritz, Istria, Galicia, Bukovina, Dalmatia, Croatia. In general, the Slavi constitute the majority of the population of European Turkey, and nearly one-half of the total population of Austria. In Hungary, Magyars are the dominant race, and in Turkey the Turks; but the Turks do not constitute a majority of the total population in European Turkey, nor are the Magyars a majority of population in the countries belonging to the Hungarian crown. With the exception of about three and a half millions of Jews, six and a half millions of Mohammedans, and about five hundred thousand pagans, the inhabitants of Europe belong to the Christian religion. (For details see the tables of Religious Statistics.)

The countries of Europe have for many centuries been at the head of civilization, and no country outside of Europe, can compare with its leading powers in this particular, except the United States. No part of Europe is a dependency of a non-European power, while the whole of Australia, the larger portion of Asia, and a considerable part of America, Africa and Polynesia are possessions and dependencies of European powers. (See America, Asia, Africa, and Polynesia.) France, Great Britain, Austria, Russia and Prussia are commonly called the Great Powers, which from time to time meet in European Conferences for the pacific solution of great European complications. Of late Italy has commonly been admitted to these Conferences.

There are in Europe four empires, (France, Austria, Russia, and Turkey); thirteen kingdoms (including Spain and counting Sweden and Norway as one); one ecclesiastical State, (the States of the Church); 7 Grand Duchies, 5 Duchies, 8 Principalities (not including Rumania and Servia, which are dependencies of Turkey); 6 Republics, (Switzerland, San Marino, Andorra, Bremen, Hamburg, and Lubeck).

1. AUSTRIA.

Capital, Vienna. Area, 240,381 square miles. Population, 35,553,000.

History. Establishment of a Margravate of Austria by Charlemagne, 791; Leopold I. of Babenberg, appointed Margrave. 983; First Duke of Austria, Henry Jasomirgott, 1141—1177; extinction of the House of Babenberg with the death of Duke Frederic, 1246; Austria under the immediate administration of the Emperors ("Austrian Interregnum"), 1246—1282; accession of the House of Hapsburg, two sons of Rudolf of Hapsburg, Albrecht and Rudolf being appointed rulers of Austria, Styria, and Carinthia, 1282; Albrecht sole Duke of Austria, Styria, and Carniola, 1283; Carinthia united with Austria, 1335; the Tyrol united with Austria, 1363; Albrecht V. elected German Emperor, (under the name of Albrecht II.), 1438; the imperial crown subsequently remained with the rulers of Austria almost without interruption until the dissolution of the German Empire; Hungary and Bohemia united with Austria under Albrecht V. (died 1439), but again lost after the death of Ladislav, 1457; Austria made an Archduchy, 1453; the Netherlands united with Austria, 1477; Charles V. (1519—1556), inherited Spain, which however, was again separated from Austria on his death; his brother Ferdinand, who had been ruler of Hungary, Bohemia, Moravia, Silesia, and Lusatia from 1526, succeeding him in Austria, and his son Philip in Spain; division of the territory among the sons of Ferdinand on his death, 1564; re-united in 1665; Transylvania united with Austria, 1683; large possessions in Italy (Milan, Naples, Sardinia), united with Austria by the Peace of Utrecht, 1713; Loss of Silesia, 1742; Galicia united with Austria, 1772; Emperor Francis II. assumed the name of Emperor of Austria, 1804; dissolution of the German Empire, 1806; by the treaty of Vienna, 1815, Austria received its present territory, and Lombardy and Venetia in Italy; Lombardy lost, 1859; Venetia lost, 1866; Great Revolution and convocation of a Constituent Assembly, 1848; Hungary declared herself independent, 1848; was conquered, 1849; a constitution proclaimed by the government for the whole empire, 1849; conclusion of the concordat, 1855; proclamation of a new constitution, Feb. 26, 1861; first session of the new Reichsrath (Parliament), May 1, 1861; reconstruction of Austria on the basis of dualism, 1867, the country being divided in point of administration into two parts, the one comprising the German and Slavic crownlands; the other Hungary and its dependencies. (See Government).

Area. The total area of the Austrian Empire is 240,381 square miles. The area of the Cis-Leithanian Division is 115,925 square miles, of which Bohemia has 20,062, and Galicia, 30,313. The area of the Trans-Leithanian Division is 124,456 square miles, viz: Hungary, 82,839; Croatia and Slavonia, 7,443; Transylvania, 21,289, and the Military Frontier, 12,955. The following statement shows the changes in the area of the Austrian empire since 1780:

1780.....	232,999 sq. m.	1815.....	256,559 sq. m.
1797.....	251,626 “	1859.....	248,311 “
1807.....	231,497 “	1866.....	240,381 “
1810.....	189,883 “

Population. The total population of Austria, according to the last official census, (1857), was 32,530,002. According to the “Statistisches Jahrbuch der Oestreich. Monarchie für 1866,” (Vienna, 1868), it was calculated at 35,553,000. Austria is separated into two administrations, each of which has its own Parliament. The former comprises the German and Slavic crownlands; the latter Hungary and the crownlands dependent upon the Hungarian crown. The former is called Cis-Leithania, (the provinces this side of the river Leitha); the second, Trans-Leithania, (the provinces on the other side of the river Leitha).

The population of Austria belongs to four principal races: The Germans, the Slavi, the Rumanians, and the Magyars, (Hungarians). Their relative numbers according to the census of 1857, were as follows: Germans, 7,877,675; Slavi, 14,986,754; Rumanians, 3,196,079; Hungarians, 4,947,134; of other families, 1,209,949.

The following cities have more than 50,000 inhabitants: Vienna, (1864), 578,525; Prague, (1857), 142,588; Pesth, (1857), 131,705; Triest, (1857), 104,707; Lemberg, (1857), 70,384; Gratz, (1857), 63,176; Szegedin, (1857), 62,700; Brünn, (1857,) 58,809; Maria-Thoresienstadt, 53,499.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. FRANCIS JOSEPH I. Emperor of Austria, and King of Hungary, born August 18, 1830; succeeded his uncle, Ferdinand I. as Emperor of Austria, December 2, 1848; crowned King of Hungary, June 8, 1867; married April 25, 1854, to Elizabeth, a Bavarian Princess, born 1837. Children—1. Gisela, born July 12, 1856; 2. Rudolph, heir-apparent, born August 21, 1858. Emperor Ferdinand I., Uncle of the Emperor, born April 19, 1793, abdicated in favor of his nephew, the present Emperor, Dec. 2, 1848. His brother, Archduke Francis Charles, born Dec. 7, 1802, renounced the throne in favor of his son, the present Emperor Francis Joseph. Archduke Albert, born August 3, 1817, son of the late celebrated general, Archduke Charles; commander-in-chief of the army of the South in the war against Italy, 1866.

The present reigning family descended from Count Rudolph of Hapsburg, elected Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire in 1273. Maria Theresa, the last descendant of this dynasty, married Duke Francis I. of Tuscany, of the House of Lorraine. Emperor Francis I. (1792—1835,) renounced the Imperial crown of Germany, and assumed the title of Emperor of Austria.

The following is the list of the Sovereigns of Austria since the 16th century: Charles V. 1519; Ferdinand I. 1556; Maximilian II. 1564; Rudolph II. 1576; Matthias, 1611; Ferdinand II. 1619; Ferdinand III. 1637; Leopold I. 1657; Joseph I. 1705; Charles VI. 1711; Maria Theresa, 1740; Joseph II. 1780; Leopold II. 1790; Francis I. (as Emperor of Germany, Francis II., as Emperor of Austria, Francis I.) 1792; Ferdinand I. (the former Ferdinands being Emperors of Germany, not Emperors of Austria, he is called Ferdinand I.) 1835; Francis Joseph, 1848.

Government. Austria, a constitutional country since 1849, and a bipartite state since 1867, consists of a German-Slavic monarchy, (Cis-Leithania,) and a Hungarian kingdom, (Trans-Leithania,) each having a separate legislature consisting of the Provincial Diets and a Central Diet. (See Area and Population.) There are in Austria proper, or Cis-Leithania, fourteen Provincial Diets, differing only in the number of deputies, and composed of the prelates of the church and the chancellors of the universities, of the representatives of great estates, of towns, of boards of commerce and trade-unions, and of rural communities. The Central Diet (Reichsrath), consists of an Upper and a Lower House. The Upper House is formed of the princes of the Imperial family, of a number of nobles, of the prelates of princely rank, and of any other life-members nominated by the Emperor. The Lower House is composed of 203 members, elected by the Provincial Diets. It is incumbent upon the head of the State to assemble the Reichsrath annually. The consent of this Parliament must be obtained to all laws regarding military duty; its co-operation is necessary in all legislation on trade and commerce, customs, banking, posting, telegraph and railway matters; in examination of the estimates of the income and expenditure of the State, of the bills on taxation, public loans and conversion of the funds. To give validity to bills passed by the Reichsrath, the consent of both Houses is required, as well as the sanction of the head of the State.

Ministry of Austria Proper. Premier, Prince CARLOS AUERSPERG, (resigned Oct., 1868); Deputy President, Count EDUARD TAAFFE; Minister of the Interior, Dr. KARL GISKRA, born in Moravia, 1820; Minister of Education, Dr. HASNER; Minister of Commerce, HERR VON PLENER; Minister of Justice, Professor EDUARD HERBERT; Minister of Finance, Dr. RUDOLF BRESTEL.

The constitution of the kingdom of Hungary was acknowledged and sworn to by the present king, in 1867. It leaves the whole legislation and administration in the hands of the native nobility, giving to the king little more than the chief command of the army, and the right and duty to protect the country against foreign enemies. The power of legislation and of taxation is vested in the Diet and the County Meetings. The Diet is composed of two Houses, the Chamber of Magnates being formed of the prelates, the peers, the great officers of the Crown and the lords-lieutenant of the 52 counties and of the barons. The Lower House is made up of representatives of the towns and rural districts. The County Meetings elect the parliamentary deputies, as well as all county officers, and are occupied with local legislation and taxation, and the general business of the district.

The Hungarian Ministry. Minister of War, Count JULIUS ANDRASSY, born 1825; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count GEORGE FESTETICS; Minister of Finance, MELCHIOR LONYAY; Minister of the Interior, Baron BELA VON WENKHEIM; Minister of Education and Public Worship, Baron JOSEPH VON EÖTVÖS, born 1813; Minister of Justice, Count BALTHASAR VON HORVATH; Minister of Public Works, Count EMERICH MIKO; Minister of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce, STEPHEN VON GOROVE.

The Sovereign of Hungary, though Emperor of Austria, is styled "king," in all public acts. The exchequer is managed by the "Hofkammer" at Buda.

The present ministry is supported by a strong majority, directed by F. Deak, the head of the "Liberal-Conservative" party, the most influential in the country; its organ is the Pesti Naplo, (Pesth Journal.) The opposition is now composed of the Left and the Central Left.

Ministry of the Empire—Reichsministerium—for common affairs, first appointed December 24, 1867: Minister of Foreign Affairs and Imperial Household, Count FERDINAND VON BEUST, Chancellor of the Empire; Minister of Finance, Baron FRANZ KARL VON BEKE; Minister of War, Baron FRANZ KUHN VON KUHNENFELDT.

The following affairs have been declared common and pertaining to all the lands of the Austrian monarchy, by the law of Dec. 21, 1867. 1. The foreign affairs, including diplomatic and commercial representation. 2. War affairs, including war, marine, the granting of recruits and the manner of serving in the army. 3. Financial affairs, regarding expenses common to all the Austrian provinces, especially the current year's estimates and examination of accounts. The commercial affairs, especially legislation on tariff and duties, indirect taxation, coin and money, general railroads, and army regulations, are treated according to principles agreed upon from time to time by the different Diets. The costs of the common administration are defrayed by both divisions of the Empire, and fixed upon by mutual understanding of the respective Diets, sanctioned by the Emperor. The same rule obtains as to paying off the public debt. The administration of the common affairs is given to a responsible ministry. The delegation of the Central Diet consists of sixty members, one-third of whom are taken from the Upper, and two-thirds from the Lower houses. The delegates and their alternates are chosen yearly, but may be re-elected. The consent of both delegations and the sanction of the Emperor are required to enact a law. The Common Ministry is responsible to the Central Diet. A resolution is made valid only by absolute majority of all the members. The members of this Central Diet are inviolable and irresponsible. Their sessions are generally public.

Education. Number of educational establishments in the years 1851 and 1857:

	1851.	1857.
Superior Institutions.....	206	255
Middle Schools.....	388	442
Military Schools.....	63	53
National Schools.....	41,860	47,270
Other Schools.....	1,676	592
Total.....	44,193	48,612

There are eight universities in the Empire, at Vienna, Pragne, Pesth, Gratz, Cracow, Innsbruck, Lemberg, and Liuz. The number of students attending these institutions amounted, in 1860, to 8,256. There are seven Polytechnic schools, and 129 Theological Seminaries. The German population of the Empire is most advanced in general education; the least advanced are the Croats, Slavonians, and Dalmatians. At the conscription of 1857, it was found that of 2,649 recruits in the Archduchy of Austria, 2,323 were able to read and write; while in Bohemia, there were among 11,213 recruits only 6,597, and in Dalmatia, among 928, only 9 able to read and write.

Finances. The following table exhibits, in round numbers, the total net revenue of the Empire in each year from 1850 to 1863:

For 1866.....		490,854,735 "	531,273,881 "	40,419,146 "

The following shows the revenue, in round figures, for 1867: Direct taxes, 107,000,000 florins; Indirect taxes and Monopolies, 208,000,000 florins; Domains and State Establishments, 75,000,000 florins; Finances and Administration, 24,000,000 florins. Total, 414,000,000 florins.

Estimated expenditure for 1867: Imperial Court, 5,000,000 florins; Civil Administration, 203,000,000 florins; Army and Navy, 81,000,000 florins; National Debt, 152,000,000 florins. Total, 441,000,000 florins.

The amount of indebtedness has been increasing since 1789, nor have the different loans negotiated in the last years afforded much relief. A forced paper currency was established in 1866, by declaring the one and five florin notes of the Austrian National Bank to be State notes; until withdrawn from circulation, they must be taken at the public treasuries at their full nominal value. In consequence of the war against Italy and Prussia, the amount of State paper was increased by 300,000,000 of florins in addition to the sums paid in 1865 and 1866. The public debt of Austria December 31, 1866, was as follows:

Total of the former funded debt.....	20,343,582 florins.
Total of the new funded debt.....	2,449,801,129 "
Total of floating debt.....	434,657,428 "
Capital reserved for indemnities.....	14,915,550 "

Total of the public debt..... 2,919,717,689 florins.

Army and Navy. The Austrian army was thus constituted August 1, 1868:

	Peace Footing.	War Footing.
Infantry.....	153,700.....	608,447
Cavalry.....	39,229.....	42,705
Artillery, Engineers and Pioneers.....	43,072.....	105,019
Gen'd'armerie.....	7,927.....	7,927
Total.....	243,928.....	764,098

The Austrian army is formed by conscription, to which every man is liable who has reached his 20th year. The term of service is eight years in the regular army, and two years in the army of reserve. The pay of the troops is smaller than that of any other country, except Russia. There were, in 1867, 3 Field Marshals, 19 Feldzeugmeister and Generals of Cavalry, 71 Field Marshal Lieutenants, and 114 Major Generals in active service.

A new law passed in 1868 by the Diet of both Hungary and Austria proper, raises the number of the army on its war footing to 800,000 men, and fixes the landwehr at 200,000.

Austria has 24 fortresses of the first and second rank, namely, Comorn, Carlsburg, Temesvar Peterwardein, Eszek, Brod, Carlstadt, Cattaro, Arad, Munkacz, Cracow, Gradisca, Olmütz, Leopoldstadt, Prague, Brixen, Theresienstadt, Kufstein, Linz, Salzburg, Buda, Ragusa, Zara, and Pola. The last named is the chief naval fortress of the empire. Pola and Trieste are the harbors for war ships.

The navy consisted, in 1867, of 66 steamers, 13,580 horse-power, 723 guns; of 16 sailing vessels, 340 guns. The number of vice-admirals was increased to 4; there were 16 captains of ships-of-the-line, 13 captains of frigates, 14 captains of corvettes, 105 lieutenants, 163 ensigns, and 84 cadets, 19,463 sailors and marines.

Commerce. The chief exports of Austria are: Corn and flour, hemp, tallow, glass beads, olive oil, quicksilver, currants, cream of tartar, lard, seed, shumac, sponge, wood, and wool. The principal imports are, cotton and woolen manufactures from Great Britain. The mineral riches are great, but the mines have been explored only to a small extent. The following table shows the quantities of metals and minerals produced in Austria, and their average value at the place of production:

Metals and Minerals.	Quantities.		Value in 1863.
	1862.	1863.
Gold, pounds	3,459	3,027	2,043,588 florins.

Stone Coal, "	46,167,796	45,566,852	8,864,986 "

The total value of the imports and exports, including bullion and specie, to and from all countries, in 1860-1866, (exclusive of the province of Dalmatia,) is shown by the following table:

Year.	Imports.	Exports.
1860.....	257,000,000 florins.....	307,000,000 florins.
1861.....	272,000,000 "	309,000,000 "

1865 (excluding bullion and specie).....	257,000,000 "	345,000,000 "
1866.....	225,564,761 "	330,086,050 "

The "Society of the Austrian Lloyd" is an important trading society, established at Trieste, in 1833; it commenced in 1836 to run regular lines of steamers to the chief ports of Turkey, Egypt, and Greece, and possessed, in 1865, a fleet of 74 steamers, of 12,500 horse power.

The length of railways in Austria, in June, 1864, was 3,450 English miles, constructed at an expense of 748,627,030 florins.

The extent of the telegraphs in the Cis-Leithan provinces is 1,913 German miles, with 4,617 miles of wire, 1,253 miles of lines used for railway signals. In the course of 1867, 17 new offices and 46 auxiliary stations were opened, and in all, 858 were at work at the end of the year; those in Hungary are 135 in number.

2. BELGIUM.

Capital, Brussels. Area, 11,373 square miles. Population, 4,984,451.

History. In the 15th century, Belgium was a possession of the Duke of Burgundy; on the extinction of the House of Burgundy, inherited by Emperor Charles V. of Germany. After the abdication of Charles, united with Spain, under his son Philip. From 1598 to 1621, an independent kingdom; then re-united with Spain. United with Austria by the treaty of Utrecht, 1713. From 1794 to 1815 a part of France. By the treaty of Vienna, 1815, united with Holland. Established its independence, by the successful revolution of 1830.

Population. Belgium has a population of 440 to the square mile, it being the most densely inhabited country in Europe. Of this population about two and a half millions are Flemish, the remaining portion Walloon and French. The population has increased since the establishment of the kingdom in 1830, as follows:

1840.....	4,073,162.	1860.....	4,731,957.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. LEOPOLD II. King of the Belgians, born April 9, 1835; son of Leopold I. the first king of the Belgians, former Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and of Princess Louisa, daughter of Louis Philippe, King of the French. He ascended the throne at his father's death, Dec. 10, 1865, and was married, Aug. 22, 1853, to Maria, Archduchess of Austria, born Aug. 23, 1836, the daughter of the late Archduke Joseph of Austria. Children: 1. Princess Louise, born Feb. 18, 1858; 2. Prince Leopold, Count of Hainault and heir-apparent, born June 12, 1859; 3. Princess Marie, born May 21, 1864. The king's sister, Princess Charlotte, born June 7, 1840, was married July 27, 1857, to Archduke Maximilian of Austria, Emperor of Mexico; widow, June 19, 1867.

Government. Belgium is a constitutional monarchy, the legislative power being vested in the King, the Chamber of Representatives and the Senate. The royal succession is in the direct male line. The ministry is responsible; the King convokes, prorogues, and dissolves the Chambers, and executes the laws. He has the nominating power, and is the commander of the sea and land forces; he declares war, and concludes treaties of peace, of alliance and of commerce. In default of male heirs, the king may nominate his successor, with the consent of the Chambers. The members of both Houses are chosen by the people. Every resolution is adopted by an absolute majority; in case of an equality of votes, the proposition is thrown out. The Chamber of Representatives is composed of deputies chosen directly by all citizens paying direct taxes. There is one member for every 40,000 inhabitants. The members are elected for four years. In 1868, the Chamber had 124 members, of whom 73 belonged to the Liberal, and 51 to the Catholic party. There were, in 1865, 13,152 persons possessed of the electoral franchise in Brussels, and 113,717 in the whole kingdom; half the votes came under four classes, viz: 25,000 farmers; 11,425 spirit dealers; 10,414 landed proprietors and life renters; and 9,819 retail shopkeepers.

The Senate is composed of one-half the number of Representatives. The members are chosen for eight years; they do not receive any pay. All citizens are equal before the law, and enjoy personal freedom in the fullest sense. Judges are appointed by the King, during good behavior.

The Ministry. Minister of Finance, HUBERT FRÈRE-ORBAN, appointed, 1868. President of Council; Minister of Justice, JULES BARA; Minister of Foreign Affairs, JULES VAN DER STICHELEN; Minister of War, GEN. RENARD; Minister of the Interior, EUDORE PIRMEZ.

Education. Education, which was compulsory under the Dutch Government, has ceased to be so since 1830. The proportion of those who can not read and write, is about 30 per cent.; but much progress has been made in the last ten years. In the budget of 1864, the sum set down for public education amounted to four and a half million francs.

Finances. The average annual expenditure from 1831 to 1860, was 128,000,000 francs. The budget for 1867, as voted by the Chambers, amounted to 166,000,000 francs. The estimates for 1868, are 169,000,000 for revenues, and 133,000,000 for expenditures. The national debt amounted May 1, 1868, to 717,000,000 francs; it is paid off gradually by the surplus of income over expenditure, and the operation of the sinking fund. It is calculated that in 1884, the net income of the State railways will be sufficient to pay the entire interest of the debt. Belgium has no floating debt.

Army and Navy. The standing army of Belgium numbers 100,000 men, consisting of 16 regiments of infantry, 7 regiments of cavalry, and 4 regiments of artillery. The actual number of soldiers under arms in 1866, amounted to 73,718 rank and file. The army is formed by conscription, to which every able man who has completed his 19th year, is liable; substitution is permitted. Term of service, eight years, one-half of which is allowed on furlough. There are eleven fortresses in the kingdom: Antwerp, Mons, Charleroi, Philippeville, Tirlemont, Ash, Tournay, Menin, Ypres, Ghent, and Namur. The Belgian navy consists of seven vessels, among which there are two gunboats of 5 guns each.

Commerce. There entered, in 1865, at Belgian ports, 4,526 vessels, of 920,831 tons burthen, and there cleared 4,444 vessels, of 911,749 tons, about four-fifths of the trade being carried on by foreigners. In 1866, the total import was 747,000,000, the total export, 643,000,000 francs.

The State Railway is the largest source of national revenue. Of the 1,191 miles of railroad lines, 467 are in the hands of the State. Of 100,000,000 passengers carried since 1835, only 6 were killed by accidents resulting from the service. The net revenue has doubled within the last ten years. As each conceded railway lapses gratuitously to the State in 90 years from the period of its construction, the entire system will, by the effect of time, become national property.

3. DENMARK.

Capital, Copenhagen. Area, 14,734 square miles. Population, 1,608,095.

History. Consolidation of the Danish territory into one kingdom by King Gorm, (died 936); subjection of Norway, in the latter half of the 10th century; subjection of England completed by Canute the Great (died 1035). Both Norway and England were lost again, and Denmark for a short time subject to Norway; re-establishment of the independence of Denmark, 1047. Conquest of Rugen by Waldemar I, (died 1182); of Pomerania and Holstein by Canute VI. (died 1201); of Lauenburg, Mecklenburg and Esthonia by Waldemar II. (1201—1241) but all the German possessions lost again, 1225. Separation of Schleswig from Denmark and organization of Schleswig-Holstein, 1286. Re-union of Denmark and Norway under King Olaf, 1380; conquest of Sweden, 1389; and union of the three Scandinavian kingdoms, Denmark, Norway and Sweden confirmed by the "Kalmar Union," 1397. Separation of Sweden, 1448. Norway ceded to Sweden, 1814. Attempted incorporation of Schleswig with Denmark, 1848, and in consequence thereof, the first Schleswig-Holstein war, 1848—1851. On the death of the childless King Frederic VII. Prince Frederic of Schleswig-Holstein claimed the succession in Schleswig-Holstein. Holstein occupied by the Federal Troops of Germany, 1863; war of Austria and Prussia against Denmark, and occupation by them of Schleswig, 1864; cession of Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg, Oct. 30, 1864.

Area and Population. The area of Denmark, excluding the colonies, is 14,734 square miles; that of its colonies, 40,323 square miles. The population, according to the census of 1860, (deduction being made of the territory detached by the treaty of Oct. 30, 1864), is 1,608,095; that of its colonies is 124,020.

The population of Denmark proper has increased in the years 1855—1860 at the average rate of 1.31 per cent. Denmark is a purely agricultural country; the manufactories are but few in number, and of small extent, there being no coal, and but little water-power. The number of small proprietors is increasing from year to year. The capital, Feb. 1, 1860, had 155,143 inhabitants. The colonial possessions of Denmark consist of the islands of Faroe and Iceland.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. CHRISTIAN IX. King of Denmark, born April 8, 1818, the fourth son of the late Duke William of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, and Princess Louise of Hesse-Cassel. Appointed to the succession of the crown of Denmark by the protocol of London, signed May 8, 1852; succeeded to the throne on the death of King Frederic VII. Nov. 15, 1863; married to Louise, born Sept. 7, 1816, daughter of Landgrave William of Hesse-Cassel. Children—1. Prince Frederick, born June 3, 1843; 2. Princess Alexandra, born Dec. 1, 1844, married, March 10, 1863, to Albert Edward, Prince of Wales; 3. Prince William, born Dec. 24, 1845, elected King of Greece, under the title George I. by the Hellenic National Assembly, March 31, 1863; 4. Princess Maria Dagmar, born Nov. 26, 1847, married Nov. 9, 1866, to Grand Duke Alexander, heir-apparent of Russia; 5. Princess Thyra, born Sept. 9, 1853; 6. Prince Waldemar, born Oct. 27, 1858.

According to the treaty of Vienna, in 1864, the King of Denmark renounced all his rights to Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg in favor of the King of Prussia and the Emperor of Austria.

The present king is the first of the House Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, the House of Oldenburg having reigned 415 years (from 1448 to 1863).

Government. The constitution of Denmark is embodied in the charter of June 5, 1849, which was modified in 1863, revised and sanctioned by the King, in 1866. The "Rigsdag" (Diet) enacts and amends laws in conjunction with the King. The Diet consists of the Landsting (Upper House) and the Folksting; the former having 66 members, 12 of whom are nominated by the crown, while the rest are elected, for a term of 8 years; the Folksting consists of deputies, elected by the people for 3 years, for every 16,000 inhabitants. All money bills are in the first instance submitted by the Government to the Folksting. The ministry is responsible. The Rigsraad—Supreme Council of the Nation—consists of 47 members, appointed as follows: Nominated by the Crown, 12; elected by the Landsting, 6; elected by the Folksting, 12; elected by the qualified voters in different districts, 17. The fundamental law guarantees freedom of election and association, freedom of the press, the right to assemble, individual liberty, inviolability of residence, autonomy of the committees. All privileges by rank, title and birth are abolished.

The chief Danish colony, Iceland, is divided into 3 districts; the affairs of the island are regulated by the Governor General, two deputy Governors and the Althing, composed of 20 members.

The Ministry. Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count JUEL VIND FRIJS VON FRIJSENBORG; Minister of the Interior, J. B. S. ESTRUP; Minister of Public Education and Ecclesiastical Affairs, ALETH SOPHUS HANSEN, (1868); Minister of Justice, J. B. S. ESTRUP, (1868); Minister of Marine, O. E. SÆNSEN; Minister of War, Major General W. R. VON RAESLÄFF; Minister of Finance, C. A. FONNESBECH.

Education. Elementary Education is widely diffused in Denmark, the attendance at school being obligatory from the age of 7 to 14 years. Beside the University of Copenhagen, there are colleges at Loroë and Aalborg, together with grammar schools, academies and normal schools, in all the considerable towns. The number of parochial schools, in which the children of the poor are educated at public expense, is above 4,000.

Finances. The estimated Revenue for 1867—1868 is 22,029,637 rix dollars. The estimated expenditure for the same period is 23,114,372 rix dollars. The public debt of the Kingdom, March 31, 1866, was 131,116,340 rix dollars. To this debt was added, in 1867, a new loan of 10,000,000 rix dollars. Total debt in 1868, 132,685,400 rix dollars.

Army and Navy. The Danish army is formed by conscription, to which every man in good health, who has reached his 23d year, is liable. The first period of service lasts 5 years; the second reserve extends to the age of 38 years. During the war with Austria and Prussia, 1863-1864, there were in the field, 49,300 infantry, 10,600 cavalry, and 9,000 artillery, with 44 guns. The present army consists, according to the law of July 6, 1867, of 34,000 infantry, 1,900 cavalry, 7,700 artillery, and 1,150 engineers; total, 44,750 men.

The Danish Navy consisted, at the end of March, 1867, of 3 frigates and 2 floating batteries iron-cased, carrying a total of 55 guns; 1 steamship-of-the-line, 64 guns, 4 steam frigates, with an aggregate armament of 162 guns; 3 steam corvettes, with 44 guns, 4 schooners, mounting 11 guns; 7 iron gun-boats, with an aggregate of 13 guns; 6 paddle-wheel vessels, carrying together 38 guns. Of sailing-vessels, Denmark possessed 1 frigate, 1 corvette of 20 guns, a flotilla of row-boats (30), besides transports (37). The Navy is manned and officered by 1,308 men, 1 Vice Admiral, 3 Rear Admirals, 11 Captains.

Commerce. The imports consist entirely of agricultural products. Jutland is the great cattle-breeding province of the kingdom. The exports are chiefly coals and iron. In 1863, the imports amounted to 39,000,000 rix dollars, the exports to 23,000,000. The commercial marine of Denmark consisted, exclusive of the duchies, Dec. 31, 1866, of 3,140 sailing vessels, of a total of 138,944 tons; there were, besides, 47 steamers, of 4,376 tons and 2,706 horse power.

4. FRANCE.

Capital, Paris. Area, 209,428 square miles. Population, 38,192,094.

History. Clovis, king of the Salic Franks put an end to Roman rule in Gaul, 486; Charlemagne (died 814) ruler over France, Germany and Italy; separation of the three countries by the treaty of Verdun, 843; rule of the Carolingians in France until 987; of the Capetians from 987 to 1328; of the House of Valois, (a side branch of the House of Capet), from 1328 to 1589; of the House of Bourbon, (a side branch of the House of Valois), from 1589 to 1793; France a Republic from 1793 to 1804; Napoleon I. from 1804 to 1814; the Bourbons again, 1814 to 1848; Republic 1848-1852; Napoleon III. from 1852.

Area. The area of France is 209,428 square miles, that of its colonies, 196,060. France is divided into 89 departments, with 373 arrondissements, 2,941 cantons, and 37,548 communes.

Population. The population of France at the end of 1866, was 38,192,094; that of Algeria, 2,999,124, and that of all other colonies, 3,061,888. The increase of population in France within the last century has been comparatively less than in any other state of western Europe, as exhibited in the following table, which also shows the result of the sanguinary wars of the first empire, as well as of the Crimean Expedition. The population was:

1801.....	27,349,003	1841.....	34,230,178
1806.....	29,107,425	1851.....	35,783,170
1821.....	30,461,875	1856.....	36,039,364
1831.....	32,569,223	1866.....	38,192,094

The rural population is about 22,000,000. Of the 8,000,000 belonging to the industrial and working classes, 3,000,000 are inhabitants of towns. There are fully 6,000,000 houses in France, the greater number of them cottages with small plots of land. The rural population suffered a diminution of 1.18 per cent. in the period 1836-1861. Each of the following cities contains more than 50,000 inhabitants:

Paris.....	1,825,274	Havre.....	74,900
Lyons.....	323,954	Roubaix.....	65,091
Marseilles.....	300,131	Amiens.....	61,063
Bordeaux.....	194,241	Rheims.....	60,734
Lille.....	154,749	Nimes.....	60,240
Toulouse.....	126,936	Muhlhouse.....	58,773
Nantes.....	111,956	Montpellier.....	55,606
Rouen.....	100,671	Metz.....	54,817
St. Etienne.....	96,620	Angers.....	54,791
Strasbourg.....	84,167	Linnoges.....	53,022
Brest.....	79,847	Nice.....	50,180
Toulon.....	77,126

The proportion of births to the population is seen in the subjoined table:

	Inhabitants for every Birth.	Births for every 100 Inhabitants.		Inhabitants for every Birth.	Births for every 100 Inhabitants.
1861.....	37.50	2.68	1864.....	37.58	2.66
1862.....	37.70	2.65	1865.....	37.67	2.65
1863.....	37.18	2.69
			Average,	37.49	2.67

The average proportion of natural children for every 100 births, was 7.56 in 1861-1863, that of still-born children in the same period, 4.32; that of marriages for every 100 inhabitants was 0.80, of inhabitants for every marriage, 124.9. The average proportion of legitimate children for every marriage was, in 1861-1865, 3.08 per cent. The number of inhabitants for 1 death was 43.79; the mortality for every 100 inhabitants was 2.29. The number of emigrants amounted in 1849-58, to less than 200,000 individuals, while in the same period, Germany lost by emigration, 1,200,000, and Great Britain 2,750,000. Of 8,752 emigrants in 1861, 2,418 went to Algeria; there were 6,800 emigrants in 1862; of 5,771 emigrants in 1863, 1,486 went to Algeria.

As regards nationality, about 32,500,000 of the population in France belong to the French race, (including 12,500,000 of the Provençal branch); nearly 2,000,000 are Germans; 1,800,000 Walloons; 1,100,000 Bretons; 350,000 Italians; 160,000 Basques; 100,000 Spaniards.

Departments. The following table gives the population of every Department according to the census of 1866, and the number of deputies for every Department, as officially announced in the Moniteur, for the legislative period from 1867 to 1871:

Provinces.	Inhabitants.	No. of Deputies.	Provinces.	Inhabitants.	No. of Deputies.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. NAPOLEON III. Charles Louis, Emperor of the French, born April 20, 1808; the third son of Louis Napoleon, formerly king of Holland, and of Queen Hortense, daughter of the Empress Josephine of France, by her first husband, Viscount Beauharnais; attempted to raise an insurrection at Strasbourg, Oct. 1836; sent into exile to America, returned to Europe, 1837; landed at Boulogne to raise an insurrection, Aug. 1840; condemned to perpetual imprisonment; escaped from the fortress of Ham, 1846; elected member of the Constituent Assembly, May, 1848; returned to France, Sept. 1848; elected President of the French Republic for four years, Dec. 10, 1848; dissolved the National Assembly by a coup d'état, Dec. 2, 1851; elected President of the Republic for ten years, Dec. 20, 1851; chosen hereditary Emperor, Nov. 21, 1852. Accepted the imperial dignity, Dec. 1, 1852. Married, Jan. 29, 1853, to Eugenie Marie de Montijo, born at Grenada, Spain, May 5, 1826, the second daughter of Count de Montijo, grandee of Spain. Offspring of this union: Napoleon Eugene Louis, Prince Imperial, born March 16, 1856.

Cousins of the Emperor: 1. Princess Mathilde, born May 27, 1820, the daughter of Jerome, youngest brother of Napoleon I. 2. Her brother, Prince Napoleon Joseph, born Sept. 9, 1822, married, Jan. 30, 1859 to Clotilde, born March 2, 1843, the eldest daughter of Victor Emmanuel I. King of Italy.

The Imperial dignity is hereditary in the male and legitimate descendants of the present Emperor, in the order of primogeniture. In default of male children, Napoleon III. has the right to adopt any of the male descendants of the brothers of Napoleon I.

The following is a list of the Sovereigns and Governments of France, with date of accession, from the time of Henri IV. House of Bourbon:—Henri IV., 1589; Louis XIII., 1610; Louis XIV., 1643; Louis XV., 1715; Louis XVI., 1774. Republic:—Convention, 1792; Directoire, 1794; Consulate, 1799. House of Bonaparte:—Napoleon I., 1804. House of Bourbon:—Louis XVIII., 1814; Charles X., 1824. House of Bourbon-Orleans:—Louis Philippe, 1830. Republic:—Provisional Government, 1848; President, 1848. House of Bonaparte:—Napoleon III., 1852.

Government. The present Constitution of France, decreed in December, 1851, recognizes five powers in the State, namely:—1. The Executive power, represented by the Emperor; 2. the Ministers, nominated by the Emperor; 3. A Council of State, to draft laws under the direction of the Ministers; 4. A Legislative Body, nominated by universal suffrage, to discuss and vote laws; 5. A Second Assembly, formed of eminent men, acting as a moderating power (Senate.) The Emperor is irresponsible; appoints and discharges his Ministers; commands the armies and navies; makes peace and declares war; enters into alliances with other sovereigns and nations; has the sole initiative in legislation. No law is valid without his sanction, and no person can hold any office without taking the oath of fidelity to him. The Council of State, composed of 40 to 50 members, is nominated and dismissed by the Emperor. The Legislative Body is elected at the rate of one member to every 35,000 electors. The members are chosen for six years; the President and Vice President of both Houses are nominated by the Emperor, for the period of a year. The Emperor summons, prorogues and dissolves the Legislative Body; but, in case of dissolution, new elections must take place within six months. The Legislative Body of 1867—1872, numbers 292 members. The Senate is composed of the cardinals, marshals, and admirals of the Empire, and a number of other members, (not exceeding 150), nominated by the Emperor. The dignity is irrevocable and for life. No vote of the Legislative Assembly is effective without the sanction of the Senate.

The Ministry. Minister of State, EUGENE ROUCHER, born in 1813, appointed 1863; Minister of Justice, ERNEST BAROCHE; Minister of Finance, MAGNE, appointed 1867; Minister of the Imperial House, Count T. B. VAILLANT, appointed 1861; President of the Council of State, Ad. VUITRY, appointed 1864; Minister of War, Ad. NIEL, appointed 1867; Minister of Marine and the Colonies, CH. RIGAULT DE GENOUILLY, appointed 1867; Minister of Foreign Affairs, MARQUIS DE LAVALETTE, appointed 1868; Minister of the Interior, A. DE FORCADE LA ROQUETTE, appointed 1868; Minister of Public Instruction, VICTOR DURUY, appointed 1863; Minister of Agriculture, Commerce and Public Works, GRESSIER, appointed 1868.

Education. Public education has made great progress in France within the last generation. In 1863, there were 116 pupils per 1,000 of the population. Catholics rarely visit school after 11 or 12 years of age, Protestants commonly remaining until about 16. Of the children who left school in 1863, 60 per cent. could read, write and cast accounts fairly. There were, in 1863, in France, 82,135 establishments of primary instruction. The 36,499 Communes, provided in 1863, with means of instruction, comprised 41,426 public and free schools; more than one-third of the children were admitted gratuitously. According to a report of the Minister of War, in 1866, the number of conscripts unable to read amounts to 30 out of every 100. Instruction is far more general in the eastern and northern than in the southern districts. The number of scholars in the secondary institutions (lyceums), November 1, 1867, was 26,206; there were also, 253 colleges, numbering 32,453 pupils.

The number of political journals, January 1, 1867, was 336, of which 64 were published in Paris; October 31, 1867, the number was 384, of which 74 were published in Paris. October 31, 1867, the number of non-political journals was 886 in Paris, and 805 in the Departments.

Finances. The expenditure of the State has, under the present government, almost continually increased. It was, in

Army. The army of France is formed by conscription, to which every man who has reached the age of 21, is liable. By the terms of the new plan of organization of the army, it is to consist of the regular army and the army of reserve, the number of each to be 400,000 men. There is, besides, a standing “National Garde Mobile,” to be organized to the number of about 400,000 men, destined as an auxiliary to the active army in the defense of the fortresses, coasts and frontier of the empire. The total strength of the army is, therefore, to consist of 1,200,000 men. Every man drawn for conscription has the right to buy a substitute, but the right to furnish substitutes has become a government monopoly, which encourages greatly the reenlistment of old soldiers, thus giving the army a standing nucleus of experienced troops. The number of volunteers for the army, without bounty, is on the decrease. Advancement to the highest military rank is open to every French soldier. The details of the organization of the French army, on a peace-footing, are as follows:

There are also several regiments of engineers (3,000 men), Gendarmerie (24,548), and troops of administration and military equipage (15,705)—Total 48,253 men. The General Staff consisted, in 1867, of 9 Marshals, 90 Division Generals, 160 Brigade Generals. On the war footing there are 12 Marshals, 90 Division Generals, 180 Brigade Generals, 580 staff officers, topographical staff 717, interpreters 75; total, 1,913. The summary of the army is as follows:

The whole of France is divided into six "Arondissements Militaires" (army corps), each commanded by a field-marshal.

France has 119 fortresses, of which 8 are of the first rank—Paris, Lyons, Strasburg, Metz, Lille, Toulon, Brest, and Cherbourg—12 of the second rank, 23 of the third, and 76 of the fourth rank.

Navy. The French navy is governed by the Minister of Marine and the Colonies, who has under him a Council of Admiralty, consisting of four vice-admirals, one rear-admiral, a director of naval construction, and a commissary-general. The navy comprised, July 1, 1867, the following vessels:

	Actual number.	In course of construction.
Iron-clad ships of the line and frigates	16	24
" Corvettes	1	19
Transports	80
Flotilla	101	24
Iron-clad guard ships	26	4
All other steamers and sailing vessels	183	54
Total	407	125

The strength in guns of the entire navy, Jan. 1, 1867, was 6,784 (excluding 291 vessels in course of construction); the horse-power of the fleet of steamers was 106,241.

The most remarkable among the French men-of-war, and patterns, more or less, of the whole of them, are the six iron-clads, Magenta, Solferino, Couronne, Normandie, Invincible and Taureau. The largest iron-clad is the ram Dunderberg, built at New York and purchased by the French Government in 1867; it carries 16 guns and has a total burthen of 5,000 tons.

The French navy is manned by conscription, like the army. It was officered and manned, on the 1st of July 1867, by 2 admirals; 16 vice-admirals in active service, and 10 on the reserve list; 24 rear-admirals in active service, and 19 on the reserve list; 130 captains of first-class men-of-war; 270 captains of frigates; 825 lieutenants; 600 ensigns; 300 midshipmen, and 300 pupils.

The maritime population liable to service is stated to be 170,000 men; the number of men inscribed on the navy list is 89,000, which number, after deducting men over 40 years, is reduced to about 66,000 men. The approaches to the French coast are to be defended by 344 batteries and 27 forts.

Commerce. The sum total of the general commerce of France in 1865 amounted to 7,614,000,000 of francs, of which 3,527,000,000 represented the imports, and 4,087,000,000 the exports. It was a total increase of 285,000,000 over the preceding year. The import from the United States, in 1865, was 106,000,000, the export to the same country 241,000,000.

The general commerce of France with its colonies and foreign countries amounted in 1866 to the actual value of 8,126,000,000 francs, an increase of 512,000,000 over the preceding year. The import of 1866 was 3,845,000,000, the export 4,281,000,000. The imports from the United States amounted to 192,000,000, the exports to the United States, 173,000,000. The chief articles of import in 1866 were cereals (44,000,000).

The following table shows the value of the principal articles of import and export in 1862 and 1865:

The length of the telegraph lines was, at the end of 1865, about 19,000 miles; the number of private dispatches nearly 2,500,000.

The railroads in France are left to private companies, but superintended, and if necessary, assisted in their operations by the State. They are now almost entirely in the hands of six great companies, which had, in 1867, an aggregate of 7,989½ miles in operation. The expenses of the companies January, 1868, and for finishing conceded lines, exclusive of the State subsidy, were estimated at 7,883,000,000, the largest portion of which falls on the line from Lyons to the Mediterranean Sea. The State subsidies amounted, at the above date, to 984,000,000. The French railroads earned 603,000,000 francs in 1866, and carried 84,000,000 travelers.

The Bank of France was established in 1803; the sum of its circulating notes fluctuated, in 1866, between 846,000,000 and 1,029,000,000 francs.

The number of authorized Savings Banks in 1865, was 477. The proportionally greatest number of depositors was reached in the departments of the Seine, and of the Seine-et-Marne, where there was one depositor for every 8 inhabitants.

The total number of Mutual Aid Societies at the end of 1865, was 5,614, having 54,657 members; their capital had increased, Dec. 31, 1866, to 43,000,000 francs.

Colonies. The Colonies are, Martinique, Guadeloupe, Guiana, Réunion, Sénégal, St. Pierre and Miquelon, French Possessions in India, and Algeria. They are subjected to special laws. In 1848, the Provisional Government decreed the total abolition of slavery in the French colonies. Guiana is the chief penal colony of France.

5. GERMANY.

History. First organization of Germany into a kingdom by the treaty of Verdun, 843; reign of Carolingians, until 911; the Saxon dynasty, 919—1024; Franconian dynasty, 1024—1125; the House of Hohenstanfen, 1138—1254; the House of Hapsburg, from 1273, with short intermissions, until the dissolution of the German empire, 1806; establishment of the German Confederation of thirty-nine states in 1815, which existed until 1866. By that time, six states had become extinct. In consequence of the war, Austria was excluded from Germany, Luxemburg was released from all connection with Germany, and five sovereign states, Hanover, Hesse-Cassel, Holstein, Nassau, and Frankfort were annexed to Prussia. Of the remainder, twenty-one states north of the River Main, and part of Hesse-Darmstadt, formed, under the leadership of Prussia, the North German Confederation; while four states in South Germany—Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Baden and the greater part of Hesse-Darmstadt are designated by the collective name of South German States. Liechtenstein has no connection with either the North German Confederation or any of the South German States, though statistically it is sometimes classed with South Germany.

The Constitution of North Germany was drawn up by the Prussian Government in 1867, and adopted in the same year by a parliament, elected by universal suffrage—at the rate of one member for 100,000 inhabitants. According to this Charter, the states of Prussia, Saxony, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Oldenburg, Brunswick, Saxe-Weimar, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Saxe-Meiningen, Anhalt, Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Saxe-Altenburg, Waldeck, Lippe-Detmold, Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt, Schwarzburg-Sondershausen, Reuss-Schleiz, Reuss-Greiz, Schaumburg-Lippe, Hamburg, Lubeck, and Bremen, have been formed into a Union, for the protection of the territory of the Union and its laws, as well as for the care of the welfare of the German people.

Area and Population. The subjoined table gives the area and population of Germany entire, according to the census of 1867:

Adding Luxemburg, (199,958 inhabitants), which still is a part of the German Zollverein, the population would be 38,721,858. Total of Hesse-Darmstadt, 2,970 sq. miles and 823,138 inhabitants.

The population of Germany, in 1818, was estimated to be 30,157,638; it had increased, in 1865, to 46,412,000, or 54 per cent. If we deduct the population of German Austria, Limburg and Luxemburg—nearly 10,000,000—and add the population of the provinces of Prussia and Posen, as well as of Schleswig, which did not belong to the German Confederation before 1866, but now, being part of the North German Confederation, belong to Germany—about 3,000,000—we have a population, which in 1818, in the present area of Germany amounted to 23,000,000, and which has since increased to about 33,000,000, or about 64 per cent. The greatest increase took place in Bremen, 103 per cent. ; Saxony, 85 per cent. ; and Reuss, elder line, 80 per cent.

There were, in 1864, 13,096,608 females, and 17,783,255 males, a difference of 313,383, the difference in France being, in 1866, only 38,876. No European country, except Ireland, has lost so much by emigration as Germany. The emigration exceeded that of Ireland in the middle of the last decade. The following table shows the number of emigrants in the six years given :

Education. There are twenty-three Universities in Germany, viz: Nine in Prussia, (Berlin, Bonn, Breslau, Halle, Greifswalde, Königsburg, Göttingen, Marburg and Kiel); three in Bavaria, (Munich, Würzburg, Erlangen); two in Baden, (Heidelberg and Freiburg); one in Saxony, (Leipsic); one in Württemberg, (Tübingen); one in the Saxon Duchies, (Jena); one in the Grand Duchy of Hesse, (Giessen); one in Mecklenburg, (Rostock). There are six Polytechnical Institutions, and the Mining Academy at Freiburg.

The Zollverein (Customs Union). The German Zollverein began in 1823, by a Customs Union between Prussia and the Grand Duchy of Hesse, and the Duchy of Anhalt. It now embraces all the German countries. It is to continue until the end of December, 1877. A Federal Customs Council and Parliament has been instituted. In the former, Prussia has 17 votes, Bavaria 6, Saxony and Wurtemberg 4 each, Baden and Hesse 3 each, Schwerin and Brunswick 2 each, Weimar, Strelitz, Oldenburg, Meiningen, Altenburg, Gotha, Anhalt, Rudolstadt, Sondershausen, Waldeck, Reuss elder and younger line, Schaumburg-Lippe, Hamburg, Bremen, and Lubek, 1 each; total, 58 votes. The Customs Parliament is formed of the members of the North German Parliament, and of delegates of the South German States by universal and direct election. The total Revenue of the Zollverein rose from 23,000,000 thalers in 1848, to 31,000,000 thalers in 1866.

The Zollverein exported cotton goods, in 1864, to the amount of 35,941 quintals. The beet-sugar manufacture in the territory of the Zollverein, in 1865—66 consumed 43,500,000 quintals of beets. There were, in 1864, 1,744 foundries, producing 37,000,000 quintals, of 118,000,000 thalers value. The 4,788 mines, in the same year, wrought by 191,000 workingmen, yielded 580,000,000 quintals, of 54,000,000 thalers value. There are, excluding the mills, nearly 180,000 manufacturing establishments in the Zollverein. There were, in 1865, 280,476 depositors in German Life Insurance companies, representing a capital of 278,000,000 thalers; there were in the same year, about 1,500 Mutual Aid (credit) societies, consisting of 350,000 members.

The Merchant Navy of the North German Confederation consisted, in the beginning of 1868, of 4,407 sea-going vessels, of 1,345,268 tons, and of 5,479 river and coasting vessels, of 115,359 tons. It was manned by 33,800 men. There entered the ports of the Zollverein, in 1865, 18,832 sailing vessels and 1,639 steamers; cleared, 18,552 sailing vessels and 1,645 steamers.

NORTH GERMANY.

Government. The following are the main features of the new Constitution of North Germany: The legislative power is exercised by a Federal Council and a Parliament. They control the customs, commercial legislation, coining of money, weights and measures, banking questions, questions relating to the rights of natives and aliens, patents for inventions, protection of German trade, railways and roads, postal and telegraphic services, navigation of rivers, common law procedure, commercial law, and the laws upon change. The Federal Council forms the representation of the various governments. Its votes are divided thus: Prussia, 17, Saxony, 4, Mecklenburg-Schwerin, 2, Brunswick, 2; all other states, 1 each, making a total of 43 votes. The Presidency of the Federation belongs to the Prussian crown. The King of Prussia acts on behalf of the Federation in its intercourse with foreign states; he declares war or concludes peace, and he appoints the ambassadors. The Federal Council is presided over by a Chancellor of the Federation, appointed by the King of Prussia. This Council and the Parliament assemble every year. The Parliament is elected by universal and direct suffrage, for three years, and in case of dissolution, a new election must take place within 60 days. The naval forces of the Northern and Baltic seas are placed under the supreme command of Prussia. Every North-German is liable to service, and no substitution is allowed. The strength of the Federal army on the peace footing, is settled upon the basis of one per cent. of the population. All the troops form one army, under the command of the King of Prussia. Changes in the Constitution can only be voted in Parliament and the Federal Council by a two-thirds majority. The Charter provides, finally, that negotiations shall be entered into with the Southern States, to arrive at a settlement of new relations, and, if possible to complete the union between the northern and southern divisions of the German Empire. The Federal Chancellor is Count of Bismarck-Schönhausen, President of the Prussian Ministry, and Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Finances. The following is a summary of the Federal budget for 1868:

Of these stipulated contributions, Prussia's share is nearly 17,000,000, that of Saxony, a little over 1,500,000.

Army and Navy. The North-German Army consists of 13 army corps (1 garde and 12 line), embracing 27 divisions, or 54 infantry and 28 cavalry brigades, or 118 infantry regiments, 18 chasseur battalions, 76 regiments of cavalry, 13½ regiments of field artillery and 10½ regiments of artillery of fortifications, 13½ battalions of pioneers, and 13½ battalions of train. Of infantry troops, Prussia furnishes 97, and Saxony 9 regiments.

The "Landwehr" consists of 207 battalions and 16 divisions of chasseurs, 64 squadrons of cavalry, 10½ regiments of artillery—altogether, in peace, 12,974, and in war, 260,254 men. The reserve troops, when mobilized, amount to 180,672 men. Total of troops on peace footing, 319,286 men; on war footing, 972,434 men. The Navy of North Germany consists of 5 iron-clad frigates, 9 corvettes, 8 first-class gunboats, 14 screw gunboats, 6 sailing vessels, and smaller vessels (see Prussia)—altogether of 87 ships, mounting 549 guns.

PRUSSIA.

Capital, Berlin. Area, 135,806 square miles. Population, 24,043,296.

Provinces. The official census, held in the states of the Zollverein, Dec. 3, 1867, gives the following table of the population of Prussia proper, and of the newly acquired territories:

OLD PROVINCES.
Prussia.....	3,090,960	Saxony.....	2,067,066

Total (old and new provinces).....			24,043,296

According to the census of 1861, there were in the old Prussian Monarchy, 2,480,609 inhabitants not belonging to the German race, or speaking the German language in daily and familiar conversation. Disregarding the distinction between High and Low German, there are as many as ten different languages spoken in the old Kingdom. 15,718,600 Prussians speak German as their native tongue; 1,913,880 speak Polish (in the provinces of Prussia, Posen and Silesia); 233,341 speak Massuric (near Gumbinnen and Königsburg); 7,652 speak Kassubic (near Marienwerder, Königsberg and Cöslin); 136,990 speak Lithuanian (in the districts of Gumbinnen and Königsberg); 414 speak old Kurish (in the districts of Gumbinnen and Königsberg); 82,232 speak Wendish (in the provinces of Prussia and Silesia); 10,317 speak Bohemian (in Silesia); 48,554 speak Moravian (in the district of Oppeln); 10,502 speak Walloon (in the neighborhood of Aix-la-Chapelle).

The average density of the population was, in 1867, about 142 per English square mile, it being highest in the manufacturing district of Dusseldorf. The number of families was 3,613,856. There was 1 deaf and dumb person to every 1,211, and 1 blind in 1,731 of the population of Prussia. About 9,000,000 of the population of the old Kingdom are engaged in agriculture.

The chief cities of Prussia have the following population, according to the last census:

Reigning Sovereign and Family. WILLIAM I., King of Prussia, born March 22, 1797, second son of King Frederick William III. and Princess Louise of Mecklenburg-Strelitz; took part in the campaigns of 1813 and 1815 against France; Commander-in-Chief of the Prussian troops against the revolutionary army of Baden, June 1849; appointed Regent of the Kingdom during the mental illness of his brother, King Frederick William IV., Oct. 9, 1858; ascended the throne at the death of his brother, Jan. 2, 1861; married June 11, 1829, to Augusta, born Sept. 30, 1811, daughter of the late Grand-Duke Charles Frederick, of Saxe-Weimar. Children: 1. Prince Frederick William, heir-apparent, born Oct. 18, 1831; 2. Princess Louise, born Dec. 3, 1838, married to the Grand Duke of Baden.

Frederick III., of the family of Hohenzollern, was elevated to the rank of a Prince of the Holy Roman Empire, in 1273, and received the Burgraviate of Nuremberg in fief. His great-grandson, Frederick VI., was invested by Emperor Sigismund, in 1411, with the province of Brandenburg, and obtained the rank of Elector in 1417. Margrave Albert of Hohenzollern was, in 1511, elected to the post of Grand-Master of the Teutonic Knights, owners of the large province of Prussia, and he declared himself afterwards hereditary prince. The early extinction of Albert's line brought the province of Prussia to the Electors of Brandenburg. The "Great Elector," Frederick William, dying in 1688, left a country of one and a half million people, a vast treasure, and 38,000 well-drilled troops to his son Frederick I., who declared himself king, at Königsberg, 1701. His successor, Frederick William I., added part of Pomerania to his possessions. His son, Frederick II., "the Great," added Silesia and gained a large territory in the first partition of Poland. Another partition of Poland increased the territory under Frederick William II., to nearly 100,000 square miles, with about nine millions of people. By the Congress of Vienna, Prussia was increased by parts of the kingdom of Saxony, the Rhine lands, and Swedish Pomerania. The war of 1866 shaped Prussia into a compact State of 135,806 square miles, and a population of 24,043,296, by the acquisition of Lauenburg, Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover, Hesse, Frankfort and Nassau.

Dating from Elector Frederick II. of Brandenburg, who called himself King Frederick I. of Prussia, there have been the following sovereigns of the House of Hohenzollern: Frederick I., 1701; Frederick William I., 1713; Frederick II. the Great, 1740; Frederick William II., 1786; Frederick William III., 1797; Frederick William IV., 1840; William I., 1861.

Government. The present constitution, granted by King Frederick William IV., in consequence of the revolutionary events of 1848, has been repeatedly and considerably modified. It vests the executive and part of the legislative authority in the King, whose crown is hereditary in the male line only. In the exercise of the Government, the King is assisted by a council of ministers, appointed and dismissed by himself. He shares the legislative authority with a representative assembly, composed of two Chambers, the "Herrenhaus" (House of Lords), and the "Abgeordnetenhaus" (Chamber of Deputies). The assent of the King and both Chambers is requisite for all laws. Financial projects must first be submitted to the second Chamber. The right of proposing laws is vested in the King and in both Chambers.

The Upper Chamber is composed of the princes of the royal family; the chiefs of the mediatised princely houses (16); the heads of the territorial nobility formed by the King (about 50); a number of life peers, chosen by the King from among the rich land-owners, great manufacturers, and "national celebrities;" eight titled noblemen elected in the 8 provinces of Prussia by the resident land-owners of all degrees; the representatives of the universities, the heads of "chapters," and the mayors of towns with above 50,000 inhabitants; an unlimited number of members nominated by the King for life or for a certain period. The second Chamber consists of 432 members. Every Prussian who has attained his 25th year, and is qualified to vote for the municipal elections of his place of domicile, is eligible to vote as indirect elector. The indirect electors are divided into three classes, according to the respective amount of direct taxes paid by each. The representatives are chosen by the direct electors. Their legislative period is limited to 3 years.

The Executive. The Executive Government is carried on, under the King, by an irresponsible Council of State, and a nominally responsible Council of Ministers. The latter is divided into ten departments, which are: Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count OTTO VON BISMARCK-SCHÖNHAUSEN, appointed 1862; Minister of Finance, Baron A. VON DER HEYDT, appointed 1866; Minister of the Royal House, Baron A. VON SCHLEINITZ, appointed 1861; Minister of War, General VON ROON, appointed 1859; Minister of Marine, Rear-Admiral JACKMANN, appointed 1867; Minister of the Interior, Count EULENBURG, appointed 1862; Minister of Justice, Dr. LEONHARDT, appointed 1867; Minister of Public Instruction and Eccl. Affairs, VON MÜHLER, appointed 1862; Minister of Agriculture, VON SELCHOW, appointed 1862; Minister of Commerce and Public Works, Count II. VON ITZENPLITZ, appointed 1862.

Education. Public Education in Prussia is more perfect than in any other country on the European Continent. Attendance at school is enforced by law, the school time extending from 6 to 14 years complete. The children of poor persons are instructed gratuitously at the public expense. The whole of the educational establishments are more or less under the immediate control of the Minister of Public Instruction.

There were, in 1864, in public primary schools 2,938,679 children, in private primary schools 87,574—total, 3,026,253. There were, in the same year, 144 gymnasia (colleges), with 2,188 teachers; the number increased in 1866, in the old provinces, to 153 gymnasia, besides 26 progymnasia, 56 "Real" schools of first rank and 27 of second rank. There are 6 Universities, (Berlin, Bonn, Breslau, Greifswalde, Halle, Königsberg), and one Academy in Munster; the number of matriculated students in 1864 being 5,873; to this add 3 Universities (Kiel, Göttingen and Marburg), in the recently acquired territory. Of the recruits in 1864-65, there were 75 per cent. satisfactorily instructed.

Finances. According to the budget for 1867, the revenue and expenditures for Prussia proper, amounted to 168,929,873 thalers. That of the newly acquired territory is as follows:

Hanover.....	22,589,700 thalers.	Nassau.....	8,254,030 florins.
Electorate of Hesse.....	5,749,000 "	Frankfort-on-the-Main.....	2,576,485 "
Schleswig-Holstein.....	7,671,304 "	Ceded Hessian territory.....	473,800 "
Hesse-Homburg.....	625,712 florins.	Ceded Bavarian.....	296,750 "

In the estimates for 1868 the revenue and expenditure is fixed at 159,861,879 thalers.

The Public debt of Prussia was, in 1862, 274,000,000 thalers; on the 1st of Jan. 1866, 281,000,000 thalers; at the end of 1866, after the war with Austria, 341,000,000 thalers. According to the estimates for 1868, the public debt amounts to:

Prussia proper:	Thalers.	New territory, (all bearing interest):	Thalers.
1. National debt bearing int.....	274,818,400	Hanover.....	41,160,504
2. " " not bearing int....	15,842,347	Hesse (Electorate).....	16,535,250

4. Floating debt.....	10,000,000	Hesse-Homburg.....	161,142
		Schleswig-Holstein.....	22,141,657
Total public debt in 1867.....	321,985,592
Total.....			100,515,474

The favorable issue of the war of Prussia against Austria, in 1866, enabled it to get from the defeated States a contribution of 60,000,000 of thalers, while the expenditure for this war amounted to 108,000,000. The total of expenses occasioned by the acquisitions of the war of 1866, including war expenses, debts of the annexed States, indemnities, expenses and administration of the new provinces, is estimated to be 239,000,000 thalers.

Army and Navy. Every man capable of bearing arms must enter the army; there are, however, practically some exceptions. No substitution whatever is allowed. Every Prussian subject is enrolled as a soldier after completing his 20th year; he is required to be in service 7 years, of which 3 must be spent in the regular army, and the remaining 4 years in the army of reserve. At the end of this term the soldier enters the "Landwehr," or militia, for 9 years. After these 16 years of service he is enrolled, till the age of 50, in the "Landsturm," which body is only called upon for service within the frontiers of the country in case of invasion.

The strength of a Prussian battalion in peace is 518 men, raised in war to 1,002 by calling in part of the reserves; it is divided into 4 companies. During peace each regiment of infantry consists of 3 battalions, each brigade of 2 regiments, each infantry division of 2 brigades. The corps d'armie is independent in itself, and includes not only troops of all three arms, but a portion of all the stores and appliances required by a whole army; each corps consists of 2 divisions of infantry, 1 cavalry division (4 regiments), 2 horse artillery batteries, and a reserve of artillery of 4 field batteries and 2 mounted batteries.

When a war is imminent, the Government decrees the mobilisation of the whole army. In preparing for the campaign in 1866, the whole field army and the first levy of Landwehr were mobilised in about two weeks.

The army as organized in 1866, numbered on peace footing a total strength of 319,286 men; on war footing, 972,434 men. It embraces the army of the other North German States.

There are 27 fortresses in the kingdom, viz.: Saarlouis, Coblenz (Ehrenbreitstein), Cologne, (with Deutz), Minden, Erfurt, Magdeburg, Wittenberg, Torgau, Spandau, Cöstlin, Stettin, Stralsund, Colberg, Glogau, Cosel, Glatz, Schweidnitz, Neisse, Posen, Graudenz, Thorn, Swinemünde, Marienburg, Danzig, Pillau, Königsberg and Lötzen. Prussia has, besides, the right of garrisoning at Mentz and Königstein (Saxony).

The Prussian navy—with which the North-German Navy is identical—is composed of 43 steamers, 8 sailing and 36 rowing vessels—total, 87 war vessels, mounting 549 guns.

The personnel of the navy consists of: 1 admiral, 1 rear-admiral, 20 captains, 33 commanders, 38 lieutenants, 39 sub-lieutenants, 136 cadets, 39 marine officers and 300 boys; total, 2,291 officers, seamen and boys. There are, besides, 5 companies of marines, 4 of infantry, and 1 of artillery, numbering about 1,200 men. The sailors and marines of the fleet are raised by conscription. Great inducements are held out for able seamen to volunteer in the navy. Prussia has 4 ports of war, at Kiel, Danzig, Stralsund, and the bay of Jahde, on the North Sea.

Commerce. The merchant navy consisted, in 1867, of 1,255 ships, of 188,753 lasts (2 tons). If we include the vessels of the new acquisitions, we have a total of 5,302 ships of 325,349 lasts. The total import of 1867 reached the value of $39,000,000, the total export $12,000,000.

In 1865 the total value of mining products amounted to 48,000,000 thalers, and that of the forges to 106,000,000; number of workmen, 232,233. The coal mines alone produced 372,000,000 of quintals. There were, at the end of 1865, 517 savings-banks, with 89,000,000 th. as investment.

At the end of 1866 the length of the 41 railroads in the increased State was calculated to be 1,231½ Prussian, or 5,665 English miles. In 1865 there were 1,831 locomotives and 40,872 cars. The receipts, in the same year, amounted to about $90,000,000. The State railways form an important source of public revenue. The length of telegraph lines was, at the beginning of 1866, about 8,500 English miles.

SAXONY.

Capital, Dresden. Area, 5,779 square miles. Population, 2,423,401.

The Kingdom of Saxony is divided into four districts, as follows:

Districts.	Inhabitants, 1857.	Districts.	Inhabitants, 1867.
Dresden	640,538	Bautzen	321,701
Leipsic	552,815	Zwickau	908,347

Total

2,423,401

The chief cities are Dresden, 155,971 inhabitants; Leipsic, 91,598 inhabitants, and Chemnitz, 58,942 inhabitants. There are 491,839 families to 241,853 inhabited dwelling houses; 53,760 inhabitants belong to the Wendish race; 38 per cent. of the population live in towns, and 62 per cent. in the country. Number of births, in 1864, was 98,760; deaths, 68,314; marriages, 20,928.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. JOHN I., King of Saxony, born Dec. 12, 1801, second son of Duke Maximilian of Saxony, and Princess Caroline of Parma; succeeded to the throne, at the death of his brother, King Frederick Augustus, Aug. 9, 1854. Married Nov. 21, 1822, to Amelia, born Nov. 13, 1801, daughter of the late King Maximilian I. of Bavaria. Children: 1. Albert, Duke of Saxony and heir apparent, born April 23, 1828; 2. Elizabeth, born Feb. 4, 1830; 3. George, Duke of Saxony, born Aug. 8, 1832.

The Saxon dynasty is one of the oldest reigning families in Europe. It gave an emperor to Germany at the beginning of the tenth century, and subsequently spread into numerous branches, the elder of which, the Ernestine line, is now represented by the dncal families of Saxe-Altenburg, Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, Saxe-Meiningen, and Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach; while the younger, the Albertine line, flourishes in the present royal house of Saxony.

Government. According to the constitution of Saxony, the crown is hereditary in the male line, but descending to the female line in case the male becomes extinct. The sole executive power is in the hands of the King, which he exercises through responsible ministers. The legislature is jointly in the King and Parliament, the latter consisting of two Chambers. The Upper Chamber comprises the royal princes, 8 barons, 12 deputies elected by the other nobles, 10 noblemen appointed by the King for life, the mayors of 8 towns, the superintendents and deputies of 5 collegiate institutions, of the University of Leipsic, and of the Roman Catholic chapter of St. Peter at Bautzen. The Lower Chamber is made up of 20 deputies of landed proprietors, 25 of towns and cities, 25 of peasants and commoners, and 5 representatives of commerce and manufacturing industry. Both houses have the right to make propositions for new laws, the bills for which, however, must come from the ministry. No taxes can be levied without the sanction of both Chambers.

The Council of Ministers. Minister of Justice, Dr. R. SCHNEIDER, appointed 1866; Minister of Finance, Baron R. VON FRIESEN, appointed 1858; Minister of the Interior, H. VON NOSTITZ-WALLWITZ, appointed 1866; Minister of War, Lieut. General A. VON FABRICE, appointed 1866; Minister of Education and Eccl. Affairs, Dr. J. P. VON FALKENSTEIN, appointed 1855.

Education. Public education has reached the highest point in Saxony, every child, without exception, partaking of its benefits. On the average, 95 of every 100 children capable of instruction are in attendance at school.

Finances. The budget of Saxony for each of the years 1868 and 1869, fixes the annual revenue and expenditure at 13,371,057 thalers.

The amount of public debt, at the end of 1867, was 75,264,062 thalers. The greater part of the Saxon railways are State property, and a very considerable revenue is derived from this source, varying from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 thalers; their gross income amounted in 1867, to 7,500,000 thalers. The length of State railways at the beginning of 1862, was 252 miles. The value of the public domains was estimated at the same date, at 25,000,000 thalers.

Army. The army has been completely re-organized and forms now substantially a part of the Prussian army according to the charter of North Germany. The effective strength of the Saxon army—the 12th army corps of the North German Confederation—in peace, is 24,143; in war, 36,000 men, excluding substitutes and militia.

Industry. Industry flourishes highly in Saxony, so much so that of the 2,225,240 inhabitants in 1861, not less than 1,248,677 followed industrial pursuits; only 559,013 were engaged in agriculture, and 172,946 in commerce. There were at the end of 1865, 505,000,000 thalers insured in fire insurances. There were in 1865, 232 coal works; 325 mines employing 10,122 workmen, and producing in value 1,607,694 thalers; production of iron foundries, 2,204,442 thalers.

MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN.

Capital, Schwerin. Area, 5,190 square miles. Population, 560,618.

This Grand Duchy is but thinly populated; emigration has been carrying off large numbers of inhabitants, and the population is decreasing. The sovereign possesses about one-fifth of the land; the nobility seven-tenths. The agricultural population is but little above the condition of serfs. Numerous restrictions on marriage have produced a greater proportion of illegitimate children than in any other part of Germany. The capital had 24,681 inhabitants in 1866. The population is a mixture of German (preponderating) and Slavic elements.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. FREDERICK FRANCIS II., Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, born Feb. 28, 1823, son of Grand Duke Paul Frederick and Princess Alexandrine of Prussia; succeeded his father March 7, 1842; married, in second nuptials, May 12, 1864, to Princess Anna, daughter of the late Grand Duke Ludwig II. of Darmstadt. Children: 1. Prince Frederick Francis, heir apparent, born March 19, 1851. 2. Prince Paul Frederick, born 1852. 3. Princess Mary, born 1854. 4. Prince John Albert, born 1857.

The Grand Ducal House of Mecklenburg is the only reigning family in Europe of Slavonic origin. The Princes received the ducal title from the Emperor Charles IV. in 1340, and assumed that of Grand Duke by permission of the Congress of Vienna, in 1815.

Government. The political institutions are of an entirely feudal character. Nearly the whole legislative power and part of the executive are in the hands of the 624 proprietors of knight's estates; 39 members are delegated, besides, by the municipalities and corporate bodies. The great bulk of the population is without political rights. The executive is represented in a ministry appointed by and responsible alone to the Grand Duke.

Education. In point of education, the Grand Duchy is behind all other states of the confederation. Of the 3,744 recruits raised in 1858-61, only 322 per 1,000 could read, 131 write, and 58 cast accounts.

Finances. No official budget has ever been published. Revenue and expenditure in 1866, amounted to 363,170 thalers. The total amount of the public debt in 1866, was 7,623,400 thalers. Industry is low; there are almost no manufactories.

Army. The army in 1867, consisted of 5,386 men, 1,119 horses, and 14 guns.

OLDENBURG.

Capital, Oldenburg. Area, 2,469 square miles. Population, 315,622.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. PETER I., Grand Duke of Oldenburg, born July 8, 1827, son of Grand Duke Augustus and Princess Ida of Anhalt-Bernburg; succeeded Feb. 27, 1853; married Feb. 10, 1852, to Elizabeth, born March 26, 1826, daughter of Prince Joseph of Saxe-Altenburg. Children: 1. Prince Frederick Augustus, heir apparent, born Nov. 16, 1852. 2. Prince George Louis, born June 27, 1855. The Grand Duke's sister, Princess Amelia, was married in 1836, to Prince Otho of Bavaria, King of Greece, 1833-62. The ancient house of Oldenburg has given sovereigns to Denmark, Scandinavia, and Russia.

Government. The constitution grants liberty of the press, trial by jury, and equality of all citizens in political and social matters. The legislative power is exercised by a Diet elected for three years by the votes of all citizens paying taxes, the mode of election being indirect.

Finances. The budget estimates for 1867, are as follows: Revenue, 2,577,000 thalers; expenditure, 2,464,560 thalers; surplus, 112,440 thalers. The chief item of revenue is from customs and the produce of state property. The public debt at the end of 1866, was 6,090,300 thalers.

Army. The troops of Oldenburg numbering 1,815 men in peace, and 4,049 men in war, form a part of the Prussian army.

Commerce. The commercial navy in 1866, consisted of 621 ships, of a total burthen of 32,507 lasts. The trade is principally confined to a coasting traffic with the neighboring countries on the North Sea. The chief exports are rape seed, beans, oats, barley, and wheat.

SAXE-WEIMAR.

Capital, Weimar. Area, 1,404 square miles. Population, 283,044.

This Grand Duchy is divided into three districts. The population has been increasing since 1820, at the rate of about one per cent. per annum, although emigration carries off about 2,000 a year. The capital has 14,279 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. CHARLES ALEXANDER, Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, born June 24, 1818, son of Grand Duke Charles Frederick and Marie, daughter of the Czar Paul I. of Russia; succeeded his father July 8, 1853; married Oct. 8, 1842, to Sophie, born April 8, 1824, daughter of King William II. of the Netherlands. Children: 1. Prince Charles Augustus, heir apparent, born July 31, 1844. 2. Princess Marie, born 1849. 3. Princess Elizabeth, born 1854. The sister of the Grand Duke, Princess Augusta, born 1811, married June 11, 1829, to Prince William, now King William I. of Prussia. At the Congress of Vienna a considerable increase of territory, together with the title of Grand Duke, was awarded to Duke Charles Augustus, the celebrated patron of German literature, and friend of Göthe and Schiller.

Government. The legislative power is vested in a House of Parliament of thirty-one members, of whom ten are chosen by the proprietors of nobiliar estates, ten by the towns, ten by the rural districts, and one by the University of Jena. The general elections take place every seventh year. The ministry acts under the orders of the Grand Duke, but is responsible to the representatives of the country.

Finances. The revenue for the period of 1866-68 is 1,703,131 thalers; the expenditure, 1,700,088 thalers. The public debt amounts to about 4,000,000 thalers. The troops belong to the 11th Prussian army corps; they number 3,685 men.

MECKLENBURG-STRELITZ.

Capital, New Strelitz. Area, 1,052 square miles. Population, 98,770.

The population is decreasing. A strong tide of emigration carried off nearly 3,000 inhabitants in eight years. The ownership of the territory is divided between the sovereign, the feudal proprietors, and the corporations of certain towns. The capital, in 1866, had 8,301 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. FREDERICK WILLIAM I., Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, born Oct., 17, 1819, the son of Grand Duke George and Princess Marie of Hesse-Cassel; succeeded his father, Sept. 6, 1860; married, June 28, 1843, to Augusta, born July 19, 1822, daughter of Duke Adolphus of Cambridge. Children: 1. Prince Adolphus Frederick, heir-apparent, born July 22, 1848. Princess Caroline, sister of the Grand Duke, married in 1841 to Crown-prince Frederick, afterwards King Frederick VII., of Denmark.

The reigning house, founded in 1701, was permitted by the Congress of Vienna to adopt the Grand Ducal title, notwithstanding the exceedingly limited extent of the territory, more than one-half of which is the Grand Duke's private property.

Government. Only the possession of a Knight's estate gives right to a seat in the Diet. The executive is entirely in the hands of the Grand Duke, exercised by him through one Minister of State.

The Grand Duchy has never known a budget. The whole of the public revenue goes to the civil-list of the Grand Duke, amounting, as it is believed, to 750,000 thalers. The army numbers 1,317 men.

BRUNSWICK.

Capital, Brunswick. Area, 1,425 square miles. Population, 303,401.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. WILLIAM I., Duke of Brunswick, born April 25, 1806, second son of Duke Frederick William of Brunswick, and Princess Marie of Baden; undertook provisionally the Government in consequence of an insurrection and subsequent flight of his brother, the reigning Duke, in 1830; ascended the throne, April 25, 1831. The Ducal house will become extinct on the death of the present Duke.

Government. The Legislative power is vested in one Chamber, consisting of 43 members. The budget is voted for the period of three years. The public revenue and expenditure for 1864-1866, was 5,108,000 thalers, for 1867-1869 it was 7,195,400 thalers. The amount of the public debt in 1866, was 14,913,796 thalers, 10,000,000 of which was for railroads.

The army is organized on the Prussian system. Its strength is estimated at 4,857 infantry and cavalry, 502 artillery, 12 guns—on war footing.

There were, in 1864, 33 mines, 19 forges, 1 saline, producing 436,883 quintals at the value of 827,702 thalers.

ANHALT.

Capital, Dessau. Area, 1,026 square miles. Population, 197,041.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. LEOPOLD, Duke of Anhalt, born Oct., 1, 1794, the son of Prince Frederick of Anhalt-Dessau, and of Princess Amelia of Hesse-Homburg; succeeded his grandfather, Aug. 9, 1817; married, April 18, 1818, to Princess Frederica of Prussia, who died Jan. 1, 1850. Children: 1. Princess Agnes, born 1824; 2. Prince Frederick, heir-apparent, born April 29, 1831; 3. Princess Maria, born 1837. The Ducal family of Anhalt, split into numerous branches, are now reduced to the present line.

Government. The people are only nominally represented. The financial statement for 1867 shows a public income of 3,900,000 thalers, and an expenditure of 3,896,000 thalers. More than a third of the revenue is derived from State property. The public debt amounted, Jan. 1, 1865, to nearly 3,500,000 thalers. The troops number 1,836 men.

SAXE-MEININGEN.

Capital, Meiningen. Area, 956 square miles. Population, 180,335.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. GEORGE II., Duke of Saxe-Meiningen, born April 2, 1826, the son of Duke Bernhard, whom he succeeded Sept. 20, 1866; married, May 18, 1850, to Princess Charlotte of Prussia, and again, Oct. 23, 1858, to Princess Feodora of Hohenlohe-Langenburg, born July 7, 1839. Children: 1. Bernhard, born April 1, 1851; 2. Marie Elizabeth, born 1853; 3. Ernest, born 1859; 4. Frederick, born 1861.

Government. There is one Chamber for legislative purposes, consisting of 24 representatives, meeting every 3 years. The ministry is responsible to the Chamber. The budget is voted for the term of three years. For the period of 1866-1868, the public income is settled at 1,978,900 florins, the expenditure at 1,920,400 florins; surplus, 58,500 florins. The public debt in 1867 was 3,497,363 florins. Nearly one-half of the revenue is drawn from State domains, formerly belonging to the Ducal family. The troops belong now to the 11th Prussian army corps, and amount to 2,110 men.

SAXE-COBURG-GOTHA.

Capital, Gotha. Area, 760 square miles. Population, 168,735.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. ADOLPHUS, Prince of Schaumburg-Lippe, born Aug. 1, 1817, succeeded his father. Nov. 21, 1860; married, Oct. 25, 1844, to Hermina, born 1827, daughter of the Prince of Waldeck. Children: 1. Princess Hermina, born 1845; 2. Prince George, heir-apparent, born 1846; 3. Prince Hermann, born 1848; 4. Princess Ida, born 1852; 5. Prince Otto, born 1854; 6. Prince Adolph, born 1859; 7. Princess Emma, born 1865.

Government. The representative institutions are very limited. To the Prince belongs the whole legislative and executive authority. Income and expense about 228,000 thalers. The troops number 516 men.

HAMBURG.

Area, 156 square miles. Population, 305,196. The city proper has 220,920 inhabitants.

Government. The present constitution of the State and Free City of Hamburg intrusts the government to two chambers of representatives—the Senate and House of Burgesses. The Senate, which chiefly exercises the executive power, is composed of 18 members elected for life by the other House. A first and second Burgomaster preside over the meetings of the Senate. The other House consists of 192 members elected for six years. In all matters of legislation, except taxation, the Senate has a veto; and in case of a constitutional conflict, recourse is had to an assembly of arbitrators, chosen equally from the Senate and House.

Finances. The budget estimates for 1867, were: Income and expenditure, 12,002,703 marks banco=4,801,080 thalers. The state debt at the end of 1865, was 55,000,000 marks banco; 26,000,000 of this debt was incurred after the great fire in 1842.

Commerce. The total value of imports in 1866, was 779,088,010 marks banco. In the 17 years from 1850 to 1866, there were shipped from Hamburg 426,248 emigrants; in 1866, 44,780. The army numbers 2,163 men.

BREMEN.

Area, 74 square miles. Population, 109,572.

Government. The Free City of Bremen is governed by a Senate of 30 members, acting under the legislative authority of the General Assembly of citizens. The city proper has 70,692 inhabitants.

Finances. The estimated budget for 1867, is: Income, 1,761,148 thalers; expenditure, 2,040,342 thalers. The public debt amounted in 1867, to 498,650 thalers.

Commerce. The total imports in 1866, amounted to 89,000,000 thalers; exports, 80,000,000 thalers. The commercial navy, at the end of 1866, consisted of 291 vessels, 14 of which were screw steamers. In 1866, 61,877 emigrated from Bremen. The army numbers 760 men.

LUBECK.

Area, 107 square miles. Population, 48,538.

Government. There are two representative bodies—the Senate, exercising the executive, and the House of Burgesses, exercising the legislative authority. The Senate is composed of 14 members, elected for life, and presided over by two Burgomasters, who hold office for two years each. There are 120 members in the House, chosen by all citizens belonging to the guilds of the town. The High Court of Appeal for the Free Cities of Germany is established at Lubeck.

Finances. The budget estimate for 1867, is 1,719,700 marks banco for both revenue and expenditure. The public debt is 8,246,300 thalers.

Commerce. The total imports in 1866, represented a value of over 80,000,000 marks banco; the principal countries being, Denmark, 3,500,000; England, 1,000,000; Russia, 17,500,000; Sweden, over 4,500,000 marks banco. The commercial navy, at the beginning of 1867, consisted of 40 sea-going vessels. The troops number 612 men.

SOUTH GERMANY.—BAVARIA.

Capital, Munich. Area, 29,373 square miles. Population, 4,824,421.

The Kingdom is divided into eight districts, as follows:

	Inhabitants.		Inhabitants.
Upper Bavaria.....	827,669	Upper Franconia.....	535,060
Lower Bavaria.....	594,511	Central Franconia.....	579,688
Palatinate.....	626,066	Lower Franconia.....	584,972
Upper Palatinate and Ratisbon....	491,295	Suabia.....	585,160
Total.....			4,824,421

There were detached from Bavaria and annexed to Prussia, in 1866, several small districts north of the river Main, embracing a territory of 291 miles, with a population of 32,470. The increase of the population has been comparatively small within the last fifty years, it having been 3,707,966 inhabitants in 1818. The number of illegitimate births is very large. The soil of Bavaria is divided among 947,010 proprietors, the division being greatest in the Palatinate (228,976). Number of families about 1,330,000; 1 marriage to 154; 1 death to 36; 1 birth to 29 inhabitants. Of late years, the emigration from Bavaria has been very large. The chief cities are Munich, 167,054 inhabitants, and Nuremberg, 71,798 inhabitants. There are 232 towns, 417 hamlets, and 22,383 villages.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. Louis II., King of Bavaria, born August 25, 1845, son of King Maximilian II. and Maria, daughter of Prince William of Prussia; succeeded his father March 10, 1864. The Grandfather of the King, Louis I., born 1786, King of Bavaria, 1825–48, died, 1868. The royal house of Bavaria descends from the Counts of Wittelsbach, who flourished in the 12th century. Duke Maximilian I. of Bavaria, was elevated to the rank of Elector of the Holy Roman Empire in the Thirty Years' War; and Elector Maximilian Torgoh was raised to the rank of King by Napoleon I. in 1805.

Government. The crown is hereditary in the male line. To the King belongs the sole executive power, but the ministers are responsible for his acts. The legislative functions are exercised jointly by the King and Parliament, the latter consisting of an Upper and Lower House. The Upper House is formed of the princes of the royal family, the crown dignitaries, the archbishops, and the heads of certain old noble families—all these being hereditary members, to which are added members appointed by the crown. The Lower House consists of deputies of towns and universities, and various religious corporations. The representation of the country is calculated at the rate of one deputy to about 35,000 inhabitants. The executive is carried on in the name of the King, by a Council of State consisting of seven members, besides three princes, and the Ministry of State, as follows:

Ministry of State. Minister of the Royal House and Foreign Affairs, Prince HOHENLOHE-SCHILLINGSFÜRST, appointed 1867; Minister of Justice, Dr. LUTZ, appointed 1867; Minister of the Interior, HÖRMANN VON HÖRBACH, appointed 1868; Minister of Education and Ecclesiastical Affairs, F. VON GRESSER, appointed 1866; Minister of Finance, A. VON PFRETSCHNER, appointed 1866; Minister of Commerce and Public Works, G. VON SCHLÖR, appointed 1866; War Department, Gen. Baron S. VON PRANKH, appointed 1866.

Education. There are two Roman Catholic Universities (Munich and Wurzburg), and one Protestant (Erlangen). In 1861, there were 7,126 schools, with 8,205 teachers. Elementary schools exist in all parishes, and attendance on them is compulsory for all children until the age of fourteen. There are three Polytechnical Schools. Of army recruits in 1865, about 7 per cent. were deficient in schooling. In 1866, 339 newspapers were published.

Finances. According to the budget for the period 1861-67, the annual revenue and expenditure was 46,720,597 florins. The revenue and expenditure for 1868-69, are estimated at 88,602,570 florins. The greater number of the railways in Bavaria, constructed up to Sept. 30, 1865, at a cost of 149,000,000 florins, are the property of the State. The net revenue derived from them in 1866, amounted to nearly 6,000,000 florins. The State domains produced, in the year 1864-65, over 7,000,000 (net) florins. The State debt Jan. 1, 1867, amounted to 356,000,000 florins; of which 146,000,000 florins is railway debt. At the end of August of the same year, it is stated to have been 402,500,000 florins. The great increase of this debt was caused by the war in 1866.

Army. The armed force of the Kingdom comprises the permanent army, the reserve, and the militia (Landwehr). All men from the age of twenty-one are liable to serve for six years. The purchase of substitutes is permitted by law. The permanent army in 1867, consisted of 73,582 men on peace footing; and 96,583 men on war footing. The reserve of infantry, cavalry, artillery, and engineers amounted to 124,721 men; total of army and reserve, 221,304 men. The active militia (excluding the Palatinate) is: Infantry, 54,000 men, and cavalry, 2,500 men. The fortresses are Ingolstadt and Germersheim.

Industry. The production of beer amounts, on an average, to 532,000,000 "maass" (127,000,000 gallons), of which only one-hundredth part is exported. In 1865, 716 mines, 131 forges, and 8 salines produced a value of 12,000,000 florins. In 1865, there were 264 savings banks, with 243,227 depositors. The length of railways, Oct. 1, 1866, was over 1,500 miles—comparatively more than in Prussia. That of the telegraphs, about 1,900 miles. The post office despatched and received 39,000,000 letters and 52,000,000 newspapers.

WURTEMBERG.

Capital, Stuttgart. Area, 7,532 square miles. Population, 1,778,479.

The increase of population is very slow, being little more than $1\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. in 1858-61. Emigration draws off a considerable number of inhabitants, the country losing 54,285 persons in 1842-52, and rising in 1854, to the extreme amount of 21,144. Emigration has increased since the war of 1866, and the apprehended introduction of the Prussian military system. In 1864, the capital had 69,084 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. CHARLES, King of Wurtemberg, born March 6, 1823; succeeded his father, June 25, 1864; married July 13, 1846, to Grand Duchess Olga of Russia, daughter of Czar Nicholas I. The former Duchy of Wurtemberg was erected into a Kingdom by the Emperor Napoleon, 1806.

Government. Absolute freedom of person and property; liberty of conscience and of speech; limited liberty of the press; all citizens equal before the law. In the King rests the sole executive power, exercised through responsible ministers. The legislative power is given jointly to the King and to the representatives of the people. The Parliament consists of two houses. The Upper chamber consists of the members of the royal family, the heads of the principal noble families, and other members nominated by the King for life. The House of Deputies consists of 13 members of the nobility, 9 ecclesiastics, the Chancellor of the University of Tübingen, and 71 deputies of towns and rural districts, chosen for six years. A special Court of Justice is appointed (partly by the King, and partly by the Chambers), guardian of the constitution.

The Executive. Minister of the Royal House and Foreign Affairs, Baron VON VARNBÜLER, appointed 1864; Minister of Justice, VON MITTNACHT, appointed 1867; Minister of the Interior, VON

GESSLER, appointed 1864; Minister of Education and Ecclesiastical Affairs, Dr. VON GOLTHER, appointed 1861; Minister of Finance, VON RENNEN, appointed 1864; Minister of War, Gen. Baron VON WAGNER, appointed 1867.

Education. Education stands very high in Wurtemberg. There was, as far back as 1840, not an individual, above the age of ten, unable to read and write. There are above 2,500 elementary schools, besides numerous seminaries for imparting a classical education, and seven colleges. The whole educational system is centered in the University of Tubingen, founded in 1477, and attended, on the average, by nearly a thousand students.

Finances. The budget for the term 1864-67: Income, 51,226,785 florins; Expenditure, 51,192,708 florins; surplus, 34,077 florins. The budget estimate for 1867-70, is as follows: Revenue and expenditure, 64,445,459 florins. The principal items of expenditure per annum, in the estimate for 1867-70, are: Public debt, nearly 7,000,000 florins; Justice, 1,250,000 florins; Interior, nearly 2,000,000 florins; School and Church, 2,750,000 florins; war, 5,250,000 florins. The public debt amounted, July 6, 1867, to 111,181,320 florins. The value of the State domains is estimated to be 120,000,000 florins. On July 1, 1866, 80,000,000 florins had been expended for railroads, which yielded in the fiscal year 1865-66, nearly 10,000,000 florins. The length of railroad lines in 1865-66, was about 350 miles.

Army. The army is formed by conscription. Substitution is allowed. The troops numbered, in 1866, 29,238 men. The number of recruits is now 4,600 men annually, of whom 516 furnished substitutes.

Industry. There was invested a capital of 10,750,000 florins, in 1865, in the savings banks, and 556,000,000 in the fire insurance companies. There were, in Jan., 1865, 105,000 horses, 975,000 cattle, 704,000 sheep, 264,000 swine, and 35,000 goats. 18 mines, 41 forges and 9 salines, produced a value of 2,211,962 thalers. The Post office despatched and received 15,000,000 letters and 14,000,000 newspapers, in 1865-66. There were, July 1, 1866, 158 telegraph stations.

BADEN.

Capital, Carlsruhe. Area, 5,912 square miles. Population, 1,434,970.

The Grand Duchy, stretching longitudinally from the lake of Constance along the right bank of the Rhine, is divided into 11 districts. The population has not greatly increased, the decline being chiefly owing to emigration. Most of the emigrants have consisted of families possessed of some property. Their number amounted to 21,561 in 1854, the great majority of whom went to North America.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. FREDERICK I., Grand Duke of Baden, born Sept. 9, 1836, son of Grand Duke Leopold I. and Princess Sophia of Sweden; succeeded his father, April 24, 1852; married, Sept. 20, 1856, to Louisa, born Dec. 3, 1833, daughter of King William I. of Prussia. Children: 1. Frederick William, heir-apparent, born July 9, 1857; 2. Sophia, born 1862; 3. Louis, born 1865. The title of Grand Duke was given by Napoleon I. to Margrave Charles Frederick of Baden, in 1806.

Government. The Constitution of Baden vests the executive power in the Grand Duke, and the legislative authority in two Chambers. The upper Chamber comprises the princes, noblemen, prelates, 2 deputies of the Universities, and 8 members nominated by the Grand Duke; the second Chamber is composed of 63 members, 22 being elected by towns, and the rest by the rural districts. The elections are indirect.

The Ministry. Minister of the Grand Ducal House and Foreign Affairs, R. VON FREYDORF; Minister of the Interior (and provisionally of Justice), T. JOLLY; Minister of Commerce, G. VON DUSCH; Minister of Finances, M. ELSTÄTTER; Minister of War, Gen. VON BEYER. There is also a "Secret Cabinet," of which Baron von Ungern-Sternfeld is director.

Education. Education is compulsory in Baden. In 1861 there was one school for every 530 of the population. There are 2 Universities, Heidelberg and Freiburg, 7 Colleges, and 5 Gymnasias.

Finances. The budget is estimated (officially), for 1867, as follows: Receipts, 17,095,008 florins; Expenditure, 16,025,132 florins; excess of revenue, 1,069,956 florins. The public debt of Baden consisted, Jan. 1, 1867, of debt bearing no interest, 15,878,761 florins; interest bearing debt, 24,625,408 florins; railway debt, 83,936,264 florins; total, 124,440,433 florins. All the railroads of Baden are property of the State.

Army. The army is formed by conscription; substitution is allowed. Term of service 6 years. It numbers, on war footing, 18,402 men.

Industry. Length of railroads, 101 geographical miles; net receipts, 4,000,000 florins. Length of telegraph lines, 214 geographical miles; receipts, in 1866, 190,000 florins.

HESSE.

Capital, Darmstadt. Area, 2,969 square miles. Population, 823,138.

There were detached from the Grand Duchy and added to Prussia in 1866, several districts north of the river Maine, comprising an area of 377 square miles, with a population of 46,605.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. LOUIS III., Grand Duke of Hesse-Darmstadt, born June 9, 1836, son of Grand Duke Louis II., and of Princess Wilhelmina of Baden; succeeded his father, June 16, 1848; married, Dec. 26, 1853, to Princess Mathilda, daughter of King Louis of Bavaria. The former landgraves of Hesse-Darmstadt had the title of Grand Duke given them by Napoleon I., in 1806.

Government. The legislative power is vested, in part, in two Chambers. The upper House is composed of the princes, noblemen, prelates, the Chancellor of the University of Giessen and a number of life members. The lower House consists of 6 deputies of noble landowners, 10 deputies of towns, and 34 representatives of the rural districts. The mode of election is indirect.

The Executive. Minister of the Grand Ducal House, of the Interior, and of Foreign Affairs, BARON VON DALWIGK; Minister of Justice, F. VON LINDELOF; Minister of Finance, SCHENK ZU SCHWEINSBERG; Minister of War, GEN. VON GROLMAN.

Finance. The budget estimate for the period 1866-68 was, annual revenue 9,248,357 florins; annual expenditure, 8,527,827 florins; annual surplus, 420,530 florins. The public debt amounted, at the end of 1866, to about 2,000,000 florins, excluding 10,000,000 loan for the railroads.

Army. The troops number 19,260 men. According to the military convention with Prussia, the fortress Mentz is now exclusively garrisoned by Prussian troops.

LIECHTENSTEIN.

Area, 62 square miles. Population, 7,994.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. JOHN II., Prince of Liechtenstein, born Oct. 5, 1840, succeeded his father, Nov. 12, 1858. The immense private property of the princely family (in Austria), embraces 2,200 square miles, with 350,000 inhabitants.

Government. The legislative power is vested in the House of Representatives, comprising 15 members. A vote is given to all inhabitants who can read and write. There is no public budget, nor any public debt.

6. GREAT BRITAIN.

Capital, London. Area, 121,115 square miles. Population, 29,321,288.

History. Conquest by the Saxons, about 449; establishment of the Octarchy, 560; establishment of a Danish Dynasty, early in the 11th century; restoration of the Saxon Dynasty, 1042; conquest by the Normans, under William the Conqueror, 1066; Henry II. founder of the Plantagenets, 1155; Henry VII., first King of the House of Tudor, 1485; James I., first King of the Stuart line, 1603; Charles I. beheaded, 1649; Cromwell, 1649 to 1658; restoration of the Stuarts, 1660; expulsion of the Stuarts, and accession of the House of Orange, 1688; Legislative Union of England and Scotland, called Great Britain, 1707; Legislative Union of Great Britain and Ireland, called the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, 1801.

Increase of Population. The population of England and Wales in 1801, amounted to 9,156,171; so that it has more than doubled in the course of fifty years. From 1801 to 1861, the rate of increase was as follows: 1801—1811, 14 per cent.; 1811—1821, 16 per cent.; 1821—1831, 15 per cent.; 1831—1841, 14 per cent.; 1841—1851, 13 per cent.; 1851—1861, 12 per cent. The proportion of male to female children is as 104,811 to 100,000. In consequence of the greater mortality of male children, equilibrium between the sexes is restored about the tenth year of life; emigration, war, and perilous occupations continue to thin the ranks of the male population, so that finally there are 100,000 women to 95,000 men.

The population of Scotland in 1801, was 1,608,420; it has therefore increased 90.32 per cent. within the last fifty years. The per centage of decennial increase was as follows: 1801—1811, 12.27; 1811—1821, 15.82; 1821—1831, 13.04; 1831—1841, 10.82; 1841—1851, 10.25; 1851—1861, 6.00.

Decrease in Ireland. The population of Ireland in 1812, was 6,801,827; in 1831, 7,767,401; in 1841, 8,775,124; in 1851, 6,552,386; in 1861, 5,798,967. The decrease from 1841 to 1851 was 19.85 per cent. and from 1851 to 1861, 12.02 per cent.

Emigration. In the eight years from 1847 to 1854 inclusive, the total emigration from the United Kingdom was 2,444,802, equal to an average of 305,600 a year. It fell off considerably in the following eight years (1855 to 1862), being in 1861 less (91,770), than in any year since 1844; but it rose again in the subsequent years. During the fifteen years from 1852 to 1866, it exceeded, according to official returns, three millions and a half. The total number of emigrants in 1866, was 204,882; of whom 58,856 were English; 12,307 Scotch; 98,890 Irish; 26,691 foreign; and 8,138 not designated. As regards place of destination, 161,000 went to the United States; 24,097 to the Australian Colonies and New Zealand; 13,255 to the North American Colonies; and 6,530 to all other places.

Classification of Population. The general classification of the population enumerated in England, Wales and Scotland, at the census of 1861, was as follows:

	England.	Scotland.		England.	Scotland.
1. Professional Class...	481,957	52,515	4. Agricultural Class...	2,010,454	378,609
2. Domestic Class.....	11,426,720	1,734,295	5. Industrial Class.....	4,828,399	694,074
3. Commercial Class....	623,710	84,338	6. Indefinite Class.....	694,984	118,463
Total.....				20,066,224	3,062,294

Wealth. The gross annual value of real property in 1862, was in England, £120,069,963; in Scotland, £15,128,538; in Ireland, £13,400,546.

Pauperism. The statistics of paupers in receipt of relief, was in 1867 and 1868, as follows: England and Wales (1868): Adult able-bodied paupers, 185,630; all other paupers, 849,193; total, 1,034,823. Scotland (1867): Paupers, 76,737; Dependents, 44,432; total, 121,169. Ireland (1868): Indoor paupers, 56,663; outdoor paupers, 15,830 total, 72,493.

Crime. The number of criminal offenders, committed for trial, convicted, and acquitted, was, in 1867, in the three Kingdoms, as follows:

	Committed for Trial.	Convicted.	Acquitted.
England and Wales.....	18,971	14,207	4,741
Scotland.....	3,305	2,510	277
Ireland.....	4,561	2,733	1,803

All the three Kingdoms show a considerable decrease in the number of persons committed for trial since 1853, which is partly attributed to the operation of the Criminal Justice statute of 1855, which authorizes Justices of the Peace to pass sentences for short periods, with the consent of the prisoners, instead of committing for trial to the Sessions. In Ireland the number of persons committed for trial has decreased more largely from 1854 to 1867, than in either England or Scotland, (from 11,788 to 4,561).

Reigning Sovereign and Family. VICTORIA I., Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, born May 21, 1819; daughter of Edward, Duke of Kent, (fourth son of King George III.), and of Princess Victoria, of Saxe-Saalfeld-Coburg, widow of Prince Emich of Leiningen. Succeeded her uncle, William IV., June 20, 1837; married February 10, 1840, to Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha; widow December 14, 1861. Children: 1. Princess Victoria, born Nov. 21, 1840; married to the Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Prussia, (see Prussia). 2. Prince Albert Edward, heir apparent, born November 9, 1841; married March 10, 1863, to Princess Alexandra, daughter of the King of Denmark; (issue, two sons and one daughter: Albert Victor, born January 8, 1864; George, born June 3, 1865; and Louise, born February 20, 1867.) 3. Princess Alice, born April 25, 1843; married to Prince Ludwig, of Hesse Darmstadt. 4. Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, born August 6, 1844. 5. Princess Helena, born May 25, 1846; married July 5, 1866, to Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg. 6. Princess Louise, born March 18, 1848. 7. Prince Arthur, born May 1, 1850. 8. Prince Leopold, born April 7, 1853. 9. Princess Beatrice, born April 14, 1857.

The Civil List of the Queen, in accordance with the act of December 23, 1837, amounts to £385,000; besides £15,000 are allowed to Prince Alfred; £8,000 to the Crown Princess of Prussia; £6,000 to Princess Ludwig of Hesse-Darmstadt; £6,000 to the Duchess of Cambridge; £3,000 to the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz; £5,000 to Princess Teck; and £12,000 to Duke George of Cambridge. The heir apparent of the crown has settled upon him an annuity of £40,000. The Prince of Wales has besides as income, the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, which, in 1866, amounted to £78,158. The Princess of Wales has settled upon her an annual sum of £10,000.

The House of Hanover. The following is a list of the Kings of the House of Hanover: 1. George I. ascended the throne 1714. 2. George II. 1727; 3. George III. 1760. 4. George IV. 1820. 5. William IV. brother of the preceding, 1830. 6. Victoria, 1837.

Government. The form of government is monarchical, the monarchy being limited and hereditary. The Constitution vests the legislative power in Parliament, which consists of the Sovereign, the House of Lords, and the House of Commons. The executive functions of government are performed in the name of the Sovereign by a ministry taken from members of both Houses, the ministers being held responsible for all executive and administrative acts. Legislative authority is lodged exclusively in Parliament, and the three branches of King, Lords and Commons must concur in any measure before it can become law. General measures of legislation may be initiated in either House, but all bills of supply must originate in the Commons, nor has the House of Lords the power of amending their provisions. The Sovereign has the prerogative of the veto, but this has long ceased to be exercised, and the House of Commons is virtually omnipotent in its control of state affairs. The House of Lords consists of the Lords spiritual and temporal. Of the former there are 30, viz.: the Archbishops of York and of Canterbury, 24 English Bishops, and 4 Irish Spiritual Peers. The latter numbered, in 1867, 433, divided as follows: Peers of the Royal blood, 4; Dukes, 20; Marquesses, 19; Earls, 110; Viscounts, 22; Barons, 214,—all English; and 16 Scotch, and 28 Irish Representative Peers. The House of Commons has a total of 658 members, which has generally been the number since the union of Great Britain and Ireland. By the passage of the Scotch and Irish Reform Bills, the distribution of seats was so changed as to give England 493, Scotland 60, and Ireland 105 members. Scotland receives 7 additional members, but the whole number of members of Parliament remained unchanged. The passage of the measures in question has led to very material changes in the constituency of the popular branch of the Legislature. In the session of 1867, a bill was introduced by the Derby Ministry providing for an enlargement of the constituency, by certain modifications of the franchise; but the changes proposed were clogged with provisions of so restrictive a character that the measure as introduced was vehemently opposed by the Liberal party, who successfully pressed upon the Government certain amendments which have had the effect of placing the franchise within reach of the working classes, and of adding hundreds of thousands of votes to the electoral body of the United Kingdom. The main feature of the Act is the provision establishing household suffrage in England. According to this new electoral law, every man is entitled to vote for members of Parliament, who, not laboring under any legal incapacity, shall be the occupier, as owner or tenant, of a dwelling-house in the borough in which he claims to vote, provided he is assessed, and has paid rates for the relief of the poor; and every man also who occupies lodgings which would let unfurnished at £10 a year, on the condition in either case that he has occupied such dwelling-house or lodgings for a period of at least 12 months previous to the last day of July in any year. This is the qualification for voting in the boroughs. To be entitled to vote for county members the claimant is required to have a copyhold, or leasehold interest, or an interest arising from any other tenure whatever, of at least £5 clear yearly value, in property situated in the county; or to be the occupier, on the same conditions as to period of residence as above stated, of lands or tenements within the county, of the ratable value of £12 or upwards. The other important provisions of the new Reform Bill related to the redistribution of seats, whereby members were taken from certain small boroughs, not entitled to more than one representative each, and given to large towns with a numerous population, and to counties; and the adoption also of the principle of the representation of minorities, according to which, as applied in the Bill, in Constituencies returning three members, the voters shall be respectively entitled to vote for two only. In the session of 1868, supplementary Reform Bills from Scotland and Ireland were introduced, placing the franchise in those parts of the United Kingdom on substantially the same basis as in England, and in the case of Scotland providing for an addition of seven members to her representation.

The duration of Parliament is septennial, but the Crown has the prerogative of dissolving at its pleasure, and a dissolution always takes place on the death of the Sovereign. The prerogative of dissolution, however, is never exercised except on the advice of Ministers, and as a rule only when some great question of state has to be submitted to the people for their decision, or when important acts have been passed by Parliament, involving great changes—such, for instance, as the new Reform Bills. A general election, on the basis of the reform bills passed in 1867 and 1868, and explained above, took place in November 1868, the Right Hon. Benjamin Disraeli being then Prime Minister.

Education. Public Education has of late made great progress. The proportion of men who could write increased from two-thirds in 1842 to three-fourths in 1866; and of women, from a half to two-thirds, in the same periods. The least progress has been made in Wales.

The progress of schools, inspected and supported by the Government from 1860 to 1866, is exhibited by the following table:

In Ireland, the total number of children whose names appeared on the rolls of the national schools in 1866, was 910,819, a decrease of $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. as compared with 1865. The average daily attendance was 316,225, a decrease of one-fifth per cent. Of the total number on the rolls, 738,794 (81.18 per cent.) were Roman Catholic; 6.96 per cent. belonged to the Established Church, 11.16 to the Presbyterian, and 0.70 to other persuasions. The unmixed schools show 13,702 Protestant pupils under Protestant teachers, and 373,756 Roman Catholic pupils under Roman Catholic teachers.

The annual Parliamentary grants to popular education amounted, in 1840, to £30,000; in 1848, to £83,406; in 1850, to £180,110; in 1854, to £326,436; in 1858, to £668,873; in 1862, to £774,743; in 1866, to £649,006. From 1839 to 1866 the total public expenditure for education was £6,710,862. Of this amount, £4,039,333 were given to Church of England schools; £228,110 to Roman Catholic schools in England and Wales; £406,184 to schools connected with the Church of Scotland; £322,777 to the Free Church of Scotland; £34,363 to the Episcopal Church of Scotland; £18,793 to Roman Catholic schools in Scotland.

In addition to the standing army, England had, in 1868, the following auxiliary forces; 1. The Disembodied Militia, who are bound to five years service within the United Kingdom when called in. They must, in time of peace, be called in annually, for the purpose of exercise, no less than 21 and no more than 56 days. Their equipment is the same as that of the standing army. It consisted, for the year 1868-69, of 135 battalions of infantry, 29 battalions of artillery, 3,507 officers, 5,464 under officers, and 120,000 men; total, 128,971 men. Amount provided for the militia, £986,000. 2. The Yeomanry Cavalry, 46 regiments, 1,254 officers, 14,651 men; annual time of exercise, 8 days; amount provided for them, £88,000. 3. The Volunteers. The number is not officially declared in the budget; according to the statements of the officers, they numbered: cavalry, 1,318; artillery, 23,363; engineers, 2,904; riflemen, 135,000; total, 162,585; amount provided for volunteers, £385,100. 4. Pensioners, and 5. Army Reserves. For these two classes £64,600 were provided.

Navy. The navy is governed by a Board of Admiralty, at the head of which is a Cabinet Minister, who is called First Lord, with a salary of £4,500 per annum. Associated with him are four other members called Lords by courtesy, three with salaries of £1,000 per annum, and one with £1,200. The first secretary has £2,000 and the second secretary £1,500 per annum. Under the board are five great departments: Controller of the navy, Accountant General, Store-keeper General, Controller of Victualling, and Director General of the Medical Department. The total establishment, in 1867, consisted of 451 persons. The number of seamen belonging to the navy in the year 1867-68 was as follows:

In 1867, the total value of exports was £226,057,136. Of this amount, about four-fifths, or £181,183,971 consisted of British produce, against £146,602,342 in 1863, showing an increase of £34,359,581 in five years. The value of exports of British produce to each foreign country in each of the years 1863 and 1867 respectively, was as follows: Russia, £2,695,276 and £3,944,035; Sweden, £606,987 and £647,318; Norway, £556,979 and £848,843; Denmark and Danish possessions, £1,591,303 and £1,862,668; Prussia, £1,917,345 and £2,879,380; Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenberg, £124,217 and £119,265; Hanover, £568,337 and £193,842; Mecklenburg Schwerin, £72,429 and £84,497; Oldenburg and Kniphansen, £54,838 and £36,418; Hanse Towns, £10,806,092 and £17,229,251; Holland and Dutch possessions, £7,087,095 and £10,913,883; Belgium, £2,107,332 and £2,816,481; France, £8,673,309 and £12,121,010; French possessions, £31,850 and £63,300; Portugal proper, £2,225,777 and £1,823,382; Portugese possessions, £211,130 and £223,578; Spain, £3,508,556 and £2,237,962; Spanish possessions, including Cuba and Porto Rico, £2,840,832 and £3,590,069; Italy, £6,038,305 and £4,865,552; Papal territory, £26,868 and £15,801; Austrian territories, viz:—Illyria, Croatia, and Dalmatia, £864,736 and £963,952; Greece, £341,991 and £514,686; Ionian Islands (1864), £310,084 and £434,438; Turkey, £5,471,924 and £5,429,096; Turkish possessions, £1,427,038 and £1,628,767; Egypt, £4,406,295 and £8,198,111; Tunis, £4,924 and £67,204; Morocco, £174,551 and £189,367; Western Coast of Africa, £590,111 and £794,073; Eastern Coast of Africa, £15,289 and £33,930; Madagascar, £13,085, and £585; Muscat, Arabia, £1,189 and £6,638; Persia (1864), £530 and £14,069; Siam, £11,984 and £4,244; Cochin China, £36,597 and £612; China, £2,416,705 and £4,996,469; Japan, £108,897 and £1,545,386; Islands in the Pacific, £141,119 and £19,888; Hayti and St. Domingo, £528,614 and £391,623; United States of America, £15,344,392 and £21,825,703; Mexico, £1,678,572 and £812,948; Central America, £140,609 and £243,560; New Granada, £1,558,188 and £2,390,931; Venezuela, £402,261 and £260,136; Ecuador, £9,864 and £44,672; Peru, £1,027,343 and £1,422,112; Bolivia (1864), £3,510 and £3,852; Chili, £1,431,814 and £2,524,438; Brazil, £3,964,261 and £5,694,577; Uruguay, £534,937 and £2,452,508; Argentine Confederation, £1,330,959 and £2,837,124. The value of exports, the produce of the United Kingdom, to the British possessions in 1867, was £49,799,610, against £50,879,270 in 1863. The value of these exports to each of the colonies, in each of the years 1863 and 1867 respectively, was as follows: Channel Islands, £867,776 and £469,523; Gibraltar, £1,267,900 and £723,318; Malta and Gozo, £622,608 and £493,796; possessions on the river Gambia, £69,037 and £75,700; Sierra Leone, £178,726 and £225,655; Gold Coast, £80,849 and £328,702; Ascension, £7,066 and £5,710; St. Helena, £33,544 and £36,936; Cape of Good Hope, £1,241,946 and £1,701,441; Natal, £281,339 and £191,570; Mauritius, £511,813 and £377,450; Aden, £45,017 and £79,127; India, exclusive of transit through Egypt, £20,002,241 and £21,805,127; Straits Settlements, £1,486,774 and £2,068,910; Ceylon, £1,075,927 and £771,879; Hong-kong, £1,473,222 and £2,471,809; Australian colonies, £12,498,534 and £9,613,739; British North American colonies, £4,813,482 and £5,862,402; Bermuda, £607,443 and 43,479; British West India Islands, £2,623,847 and £1,666,697; British Guiana, £512,391 and 625,943; British Honduras, £161,367 and £148,016; Falkland Islands, £11,303 and £7,611.

The Merchant Navy. The movement of shipping in the years 1864 to 1866, was as follows:

	British Vessels—Tonnage.	Foreign Vessels—Tonnage.	Total Tonnage.
1864. { Entered.....	9,028,100	4,486,911	13,515,011

The merchant navy, at the close of 1867, had 346,606 and at the close of 1866, 343,214 sailors.

7. GREECE.

Capital, Athens. Area, 19,353 square miles. Population, 1,348,522.

History. Beginning of the war of independence against the Turkish rule, 1821; Greece recognized as an independent Kingdom under the protectorate of France, England and Russia, 1830; Prince Otto of Bavaria elected first king, 1832; flight of king Otto, 1862; election of king George I., 1863; annexation of the Ionian Islands, 1864.

The average density of population is 66 per square mile, or considerably less than that of European Turkey. The nationality of the inhabitants is very mixed. The Albanian race, numbering about a quarter of a million, furnish to the Greek soil the greatest number of cultivators, and to the maritime population of Greece its most enterprising element. Only one-seventh of the area is under cultivation; the rest, though in greater part good for agricultural purposes, lies waste. The ground is chiefly in the hands of a few proprietors. The chief city, Athens, has 41,298 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. GEORGE I., King of the Hellenes, born Dec. 24, 1845, son of Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, present King of Denmark; elected King of the Hellenes by the National Assembly at Athens, March 18, 1863; married, Oct. 27, 1867, to Olga, born Aug. 22, 1851, the eldest daughter of Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, brother of the Emperor Alexander II. Children: 1. Prince Constantine, born Aug. 2, 1868.

Government. The constitution vests the whole legislative power in a single Chamber of representatives, elected by universal suffrage. The executive is vested in the King and his responsible ministers, assisted by a Council of State. The latter consists of 15 to 25 members, named by the Crown at the recommendation of the ministers, and holding office for 10 years.

The Ministry. (Appointed 1868.) Minister of Home Affairs and President of the Council, BULGARIS; Minister of Foreign Affairs, DELYANNI; Minister of Finance, SIMOS; Minister of Public Worship, MAVROMICHALIS; Minister of War, SPIRO MILIO; Minister of Justice, BARTOGLIS; Minister of Marine, CANARIS. The number of government officials is exceedingly large.

Education. The public schools are divided into four classes—the Communal Schools, the ancient Greek Schools, the Gymnasium and the University.

Finances. The finances are at present in a most disordered state. The budget for 1867 states for revenue 32,472,335 drachmas (28 drachmas = £1), and for expenditure 28,160,000. But the actual expenditure is believed to have been much larger than that given in the budget estimates, and there have been few financial terms without a deficit. The deficit of the budget for 1866 is calculated to be 4 to 5 million drachmas. The public debt is variously stated; the official report of 1866 settles it at 233,000,000 drachmas.

Army and Navy. The army consisted, in 1866, of 11,460 men; the navy of a frigate of 50 guns, 2 corvettes of 26 and 22 guns, 1 paddle steamer with 6 guns, 6 screw steamers having in all 10 guns, and of 26 smaller vessels and gunboats. The navy is manned by conscription and volunteering from the inhabitants of the sea-coast.

Commerce. The value of imports amounted, in 1864, to 62,000,000 drachmas, the exports to 31,000,000. The most important commercial relations are those with Great Britain, France and Turkey. The commercial navy numbered, in 1864, 4,528 ships of 280,342 tons, and a crew of 24,949 men. There is, as yet, no railroad in Greece.

8. ITALY.

Capital, Florence. Area, 109,837 square miles. Population, 24,368,787.

History. In 1416 the Counts of Savoy adopted the title of Duke; in 1418, they acquired the principality of Piedmont. At the peace of Utrecht, in 1713, they obtained the island of Sicily, with the title of King. Sicily was exchanged, in 1720, for the isle of Sardinia. Genoa and the surrounding territory were added to the Sardinian Crown at the peace of 1815. By the treaty of Villa Franca, and the peace at Zurich, 1859, the king, Victor Emanuel II. obtained Western Lombardy, part of the Papal States, and the Duchies of Parma and Modena, while the remaining districts of Lombardy with Venetia were added to his dominion by the Peace of Prague, in 1866. In 1863, the kingdom was divided into 59 provinces, and the seat of government was transferred to Florence, in 1865.

Population. The population is most crowded in Lombardy and the Island of Sicily; the least numerous in the Island of Sardinia. Lombardy and Sicily are the provinces in which the population has increased most rapidly. Sardinia and the Neapolitan provinces are next in order; the increase has been much slower in Piedmont. In 1865, there were 205,651 marriages, 865,387 births, and 672,897 deaths. It is calculated that only two-thirds of the area capable of production, is cultivated, and that the rest lies waste. The great mass of the people are devoted to agricultural pursuits. The number of inhabitants of the principal cities was, in 1864, as follows:

Naples	447,065	Catania	68,810
Turin	204,915	Ferrara	67,988
Milan	196,109	Lucca	65,435
Palermo	194,463	Verona	59,169
Genoa (1861)	127,986	Ravenna	57,303
Venice	122,942	Alessandria	56,545
Florence	114,363	Modena	55,512
Bologna	109,395	Padua	53,584
Messina	103,324	Pisa	51,057
Leghorn	96,471	Reggio	50,371

The number of persons having incomes derived from real property is estimated to be 4,861,000, of which 1,000,000 are in the Sardinian States, and 1,400,000 in Naples. The amount of such incomes is £40,400,000 sterling, of which £7,750,000 belong to the Sardinian States, £6,000,000 to Lombardy, and £12,000,000 to Naples. The increase of wealth in most of the Italian States has been much more rapid within the last century than the increase of population.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. VICTOR EMANUEL II., King of Italy, born March 14, 1820, son of King Charles Albert of Sardinia and Archduchess Theresia of Austria, succeeded to the throne of Sardinia, March 23, 1849; proclaimed King of Italy by vote of the Italian Parliament, March 17, 1861; married April 12, 1842, to Archduchess Adelaide of Austria. Children: 1. Princess Clotilde, born March 2, 1843; married Jan. 30, 1859, to Prince Napoleon, cousin of the Emperor of the French. 2. Prince Humbert, heir-apparent, born March 14, 1844; married April 22, 1868, to Princess Margaret of Savoy, born Nov. 20, 1851, daughter of the late Duke of Genoa. 3. Prince Amadeus, born May 30, 1845, married May 30, 1867, to Maria, daughter of Prince Charles Emanuel dal Pozzo della Cisterna, born Aug. 9, 1847. 4. Princess Pia, born Oct. 16, 1847, married Oct. 6, 1862 to King Louis I. of Portugal.

Government. The executive power belongs exclusively to the Sovereign, and is exercised by him through responsible ministers. The legislative power is vested in the King and Parliament. The latter consists of two Chambers. The Senate is composed of the royal princes, and of a number of members nominated by the King for life; the number of senators in 1867, was 283. The deputies of the lower House are elected by a majority of all citizens who are 21 years of age, and pay taxes to the amount of 40 lire = 40 francs. The duration of Parliament is 5 years. Each of the Chambers has the right of introducing new bills, but all money bills must originate in the House of Deputies. The House numbered in 1867, 493 members.

The Ministry. Minister of Foreign Affairs and President of the Council, Gen. MENABREA, appointed 1867; Minister of the Interior, CADORNA, appointed 1868; Minister of Justice and Ecclesiastical Affairs, DE FILIPPO, appointed 1868; Minister of Finance, Count DIGNY; Minister of War, Gen. BERTOLE VIALE; Minister of Marine, Rear Admiral RIBOTTI, appointed 1868; Minister of Public Instruction, Agriculture, and Commerce, E. BROGLIO; Minister of Public Works, Count CANTELLI.

Education. Under the new Italian Government, a great part of the property confiscated from the monastic establishments has been devoted to the cause of public education, for which besides, an annual credit of £600,000 is voted by the Parliament. Thirty-three great model schools have been opened; notwithstanding the great efforts of the new Government, education yet stands very low in the kingdom. According to the census of 1864, out of a total population of 21,703,710, there were only 3,884,245 who could read and write. There are 13 universities in Italy, including the Papal States—Bologna, Naples, Padua, Rome, Perugia, Pisa, Siena, Pavia, Turin, Parma, Florence, Catania, Cagliari and Genoa.

Finances. The budget for 1867, including for the first time the newly annexed Venetian provinces, showed an increased income, but still more increased expenditure. Revenue, 792,553,032 lire; expenditure, 1,014,409,071 lire; deficit, 221,856,039 lire (lire = franc). The actual deficit of 1866 was, however, calculated to amount to no less than 800,000,000 lire, owing to the immense war expenditure in 1866, and to paying indemnity for property in Venetia. The budget estimate for 1869, reports the following: Total revenue, 804,516,743 lire; total expenditure, 1,004,262,253 lire; presumed deficit, 199,745,510 lire. The national debt was as follows, March 1, 1867: Consolidated Stock, 4,873,854,354 lire; redeemable debt, 675,549,812 lire; debt not yet inscribed, 622,560,203 lire; total, 6,171,963,369 lire. Debt in March 1868, 6,251,000 lire.

Army. A certain portion of all the young men of the age of 21 is levied annually for the standing army, while the rest are entered in the army reserve. The army is divided into 6 army corps. The total number on peace footing for 1869 is fixed at 183,431 men and officers; on war footing, 573,721 men and officers.

Fortresses: Alessandria, Casale, Genoa, Pizzighettone, Pavia, Verona, Mantua, Peschiera, Legnago, Venice, Chioggia, Palmanova, Osopo, Ancona, Ferrara, Piacenza, Bologna, Reggio, Gaeta, Capua, Pescara, Messina, Siracuse, Cagliari, Sassari.

Navy. The navy consisted, in 1868, of 22 ironclads, 35 screw steamers, 33 paddle wheel steamers, 9 sailing vessels; total, 99 vessels, carrying a total armament of 1,022 guns. Of these, 75 vessels, with 991 guns, are fit for war. The navy was manned by 11,193 sailors and 660 workingmen, with 1 admiral, 5 vice admirals, 12 rear admirals, 36 captains of vessels, 28 captains of frigates first-class, 38 captains of frigates second class, 80 lieutenants first class, 145 lieutenants second class, and 140 sub-lieutenants. There are, besides, 2 regiments of marine infantry, with 234 officers and 5,688 soldiers.

Commerce. The commercial intercourse of Italy is chiefly with France and Great Britain; the imports from France were in 1865, 294,000,000 francs, and from England, 203,000,000; the exports to France amounted to 135,000,000. Next in order of importance are the commercial transactions with Austria and Switzerland. Value of merchandise in 1865: imports, 965,000,000 francs; exports, 558,000,000; of transit goods, 55,000,000 francs; total, 1,578,000,000 francs. The average produce of olive oil represents a value of 200,000,000 francs, of which 70,000,000 worth is exported. The Neapolitan provinces produce 81,000,000, Sicily 39,000,000, Liguria and Piedmont 36,000,000, Tuscany, 20,000,000 francs in value. Italy imports mineral oils of a value of nearly 12,000,000 francs per annum, and exports about the same value in linseed, almond and other oils. The commerce of Venice has for many years been on the decline. The commercial navy consisted, at the end of 1866, of 16,210 sailing vessels of 717,364 tons burden, among which were 99 steamers of 22,445 tons burden. The whole number of seamen inscribed on the rolls was, in 1866, 155,747. In 1867 there were 3,675 kilometres (2,300 miles) of railroads. There were 372 newspapers published in the kingdom; of these, 41 were published in Genoa, 42 in Florence, 44 in Turin, 44 in Naples and 51 in Milan. There are 173 savings-banks, having 398,862 deposits.

9. LUXEMBURG.

Capital, Luxemburg. Area, 991 square miles. Population, 199,958.

History. This Grand Duchy belonged to the German Confederation, from its beginning (1815) until its dissolution (1866). Its capital, Luxemburg, was a federal fortress. The right of garrisoning it belonged to Prussia, but it renounced it by the treaty of London, May 11, 1867, while the Grand Duchy was declared neutral under the permanent sovereignty of the House of Orange-Nassau.

Government. A Governor appointed by the King of the Netherlands administers the Grand Duchy. The constitution of 1848 was revised in 1856. According to the Law of Election of 1857, a Diet of 31 deputies is chosen every 6 years. The mode of election is indirect. The legislative power is jointly with the King, (Grand Duke) and the Diet.

Finances. The budget for 1868 is as follows: Revenue, 4,836,220 francs: expenditure, 4,959,977 francs; deficit, 123,757 francs. The public debt was stated, in 1866, to be a little over 12,000,000 francs.

10. NETHERLANDS.

Capital, Hague. Area, 12,680 square miles. Population, 3,552,665.

History. In the 14th and 15th centuries the Netherlands formed part of the territory of the Duke of Burgundy, with which, on the extinction of the Ducal House, they fell to the house of Hapsburg at the close of the 15th century. After the death of Charles V., they were united with Spain under Philip II. General insurrection against the Spanish rule, 1576; recognition of the Dutch Republic, 1609; the office of Governor was made hereditary in the family of Orange, 1747; conquest of the Netherlands by the French, and establishment of the Batavian Republic, 1805; establishment of the Kingdom of Holland under Louis Bonaparte, 1806; Holland united with France, 1810; Holland and Belgium united into the Kingdom of the Netherlands, 1815; independence of Belgium, 1830.

The pure Dutch number about 2,500,000; the Friesians are dispersed, (500,000) through four provinces, while North Brabant is almost entirely inhabited by a Flemish population. The Netherlands possess a comparatively larger town population than any other country in Europe. The chief cities are: Amsterdam, 264,498 inhabitants; Rotterdam, 115,277; Hague, 87,801; Utrecht, 58,607.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. WILLIAM III., King of the Netherlands, born Feb. 19, 1817, son of King William II. and of Princess Anna Paulowna, daughter of Czar Paul I. of Russia; succeeded, at the death of his father, March 17, 1849; married June 18, 1839, to Sophie, born June 17, 1818, daughter of King William I. of Wurtemberg. Children: 1. Prince William, heir-apparent. ("Prince of Orange,") born Sept. 4, 1840; 2. Prince Alexander, born Aug. 25, 1851. The royal family—known as the House of Orange-Nassau—descended from a German Count Walram in the 11th century. The family acquired, in 1404, the little principality of Breda, and thereby got a footing in the Netherlands. The alliance of Count William II. of Nassau, with a daughter of King James II., transferred the Crown of Great Britain to the family. The dignity of Governor of the Netherlands was formally declared to be hereditary in 1747, in William IV. of this family. In consequence of a decree of the Congress of Vienna, William VI. was proclaimed King of the Netherlands, under the title of William I. House of Orange-Nassau: William I., 1815; William II., 1840; William III., 1849.

Government. The whole legislative authority is vested in two Chambers, ("States—General"). The upper House consists of 39 members, elected by the provincial Diets; the second Chamber numbers 72 members, elected by ballot. All native citizens paying taxes to the amount of 120 guilders, are voters. All financial measures must originate in the second Chamber. The executive authority is in the hands of the Sovereign, and exercised by him through a responsible Council of Ministers.

The Ministry. Minister of Foreign Affairs, ROEST VAN LIMBURG; Minister of Justice, VAN SILVER; Minister of the Interior, C. FOCK; Minister of Finance, VAN BOSSE; Minister of Marine, BROEX; Minister of War, VAN MULKEN; Minister of Colonies, DE WAAL.

Education. Education is well conducted, and very generally diffused. Besides the public schools, there are many higher establishments and Latin schools. Above them are the three Universities of Leyden, Groningen, and Utrecht. The proportion of attendance in the public schools is one in eight of the entire population. There are published annually over 1,800 prints, 150 newspapers, and 60 other periodicals.

Finance. The revenue in 1867 amounted to 98,577,234 (Dutch) florins; the expenditure to 102,220,158 florins. The public debt, in 1867, amounted to 969,450,913 florins, and the interest at 27,635,375 florins.

Army and Navy. The army of the Netherlands is formed partly by conscription and partly by enlistment. The men drawn by conscription at the age of 20 serve, nominally, 5 years. Besides the regular army there exists the militia. The European portion of the Dutch army consisted, in 1867, of 61,318 men.

The Dutch Navy was composed, July 1, 1868, of 135 vessels, carrying 1,325 guns. The navy is manned by 1 admiral, 2 "admiral-lieutenants," 2 vice admirals, 4 rear admirals, 20 captains, 42 commanders, 342 first and second lieutenants, 115 midshipmen, and 123 administrative officers. The active strength of the crew amounted, Jan. 1, 1867, to 2,129 men. Both sailors and marines are recruited by enlistment, conscription being allowed but not actually in force. The principal fortresses are Herzogenbusch, Breda, and Grave.

Commerce. The total imports in 1866 amounted to 528,000,000 florins; exports 436,000,000 florins. The commerce of the Netherlands has greatly increased within the last ten years. During this time, the imports from Great Britain, Germany, and Russia have nearly doubled, while the exports have risen, chiefly to Germany, Belgium, and Italy. The mercantile navy has been decreasing of late years. It consisted, at the end of 1866, of 2,178 vessels, measuring 270,042 tons.

Colonies. The Colonial possessions of the Netherlands are divided into the following dependencies: East India, 20,074,155 inhabitants; West Indies, 86,703; Coast of Guinea, 120,000; total population, 20,280,858. Slavery ceased in the West Indian colonies in 1860. The colonial army consisted, at the end of 1864, of 27,617 men.

11. PAPAL STATES.

Capital, Rome. Area, 4,552 square miles. Population, 723,121.

History. The formation of the States of the Church, dates from the year 755. The territory increased by various subsequent additions. In 1810 the whole of the Papal States were included in the kingdom of Italy, but the Congress of Vienna restored a greater part of them. In 1859 the Romagna detached itself from the Papal rule, and in 1860 the Marches and Umbria followed.

Of the former 20 "legations" and "delegations," only 5 remain. The city of Rome had, in 1867, 215,573 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign. Pius IX., Sovereign Pontiff of Rome, born at Sinigaglia, May 13, 1792, son of Count Mastai Ferretti; elected as successor of Gregory XVI., June 16, 1846; crowned June 21, 1846. The election of a Pontiff is by scrutiny or a ballot. Pius IX. is the 258th Pope.

Government. In theory, the Sovereign Pontiff enacts all laws and nominates to all appointments, but practically the legislative and executive power is left to a Cabinet. A Council of Ministers conducts the foreign relations. The Council of State consists of 9 ordinary and 6 extraordinary members.

The Ministry. Minister of State and Foreign Affairs, Cardinal ANTONELLI, President, appointed 1850; Minister of Finance, G. FERRARI, appointed 1854; Minister of the Interior, A. NEGRONI, appointed 1868; Minister of War, Gen. H. KANZLER, appointed 1865; Minister of Commerce and Public Works, Cardinal BERARDI, appointed 1868; Minister of Police, L. RANDI, (1865).

Finance. No official account of the revenue and expenditures of the Papal Government is given to the public. According to the statement of Roman papers, the budget for 1867 is as follows: Revenue, 36,000,000 francs; expenditure, 65,000,000 francs; deficit, 29,000,000 francs. The sum total of the Pontifical debt is unknown; its interest is stated to amount to 37,000,000 francs.

Army. The army is entirely formed by enlistment, taking place in foreign countries as well as within the Papal States. The troops numbered, in June 1868, 16,525 men.

Commerce. The international trade is extremely small, although facilitated by the excellent port of Civita Vecchia. There are no recent statements as to exports and imports. As to the movement of ships, there entered and cleared, in 1864, 5,916 vessels of a burthen of 891,723 tons, from and to France. The principal countries as to commercial intercourse with the Papal States are France (and Algeria), Great Britain, Tuscany, Sardinia, Naples, Sicily, and Spain. Cereals are the chief staple of trade. The produce of wool amounted, in 1867, to 831,000 kilogrammes. There are four lines of railway of the length of 84 English miles.

12. PORTUGAL.

Capital, Lisbon. Area, 37,977 square miles. Population, 4,351,519.

History. Portugal, until the 12th century shared the fate of Spain. At the beginning of the 12th century, Henry of Burgundy became, as Count of Portugal, the first independent ruler. Alfonso I. declared king, 1139. Extinction of the House of Burgundy, 1480. Portugal united with Spain, 1480—1640. First king of the House of Braganza, 1640, which has ever since reigned, except from 1807 to 1809, when the country was occupied by French troops.

Islands and Colonies. The population of the islands and colonies is as follows: Islands:—Azores, 251,894; Madeira, 111,764; total, 363,658. Total population in Europe, 4,351,519. Colonies:—Cape Verde Islands, 84,191; Senegambia, 1,095; islands of St. Thomas and Principe, 18,369; Angola and Benguela, 2,000,000; Mozambique, 300,000; India, (Goa), 474,185; Damao, Diu, 52,882; Indian Archipelago, 850,300; China. (Macao), 100,000; total, 3,881,022. Portugal has few large towns. The chief cities are Lisbon, 224,244 inhabitants; Oporto, 89,321 inhabitants.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. Louis I. King of Portugal, born Oct. 31, 1838, son of Queen Maria II. and of Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg; succeeded his brother, King Pedro V. Nov. 11, 1861; married Oct. 6, 1862, to Pia, born Oct. 16, 1847, youngest daughter of King Victor Emanuel of Italy. Children: 1. Carlos, born Sept. 28, 1863. 2. Alfonso, born 1865. Father of the king; Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg, born 1805, married in 1836, Queen Maria II. of Portugal; Regent of Portugal during the minority of his son, the late King Pedro V. (1853—1855). Uncle of the King; Prince Miguel, born 1802; Regent of Portugal, 1828; declared King June 30, 1828; abdicated May 29, 1834; died 1866. The reigning dynasty of Portugal belongs to the House of Braganza, which dates from the commencement of the 15th century. The present king is the second Sovereign of Portugal of the line of Braganza-Coburg.

Government. The fundamental law of the kingdom, granted by King Pedro IV. in 1836, was altered in 1852. The crown is hereditary in the female as well as male line. The executive and moderating authority reside in the sovereign and his responsible ministers. The General Cortes consists of two Chambers. The Senators are unlimited in number, and named for life by the Sovereign. The members of the House are chosen in direct election. Continental Portugal is divided into 37 electoral districts, returning 154 deputies, to which Madeira and the Azores add 25. The Executive consists of the following:

Council of Ministers. (1868.) The President, and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Marquis SA DA BANDEIRA; Minister of the Interior, Bishop ALVES MARTINS; Minister of Justice and Ecclesiastical Affairs, PEQUITO SEIXAS D'ANDRADE; Minister of Finance, BENTO DA SILVA; Minister of Marine and Colonies, LATINO COELHO; Minister of Commerce and Public Works, LOPEZ CALHEIROS E MENEZES; Minister of War, Viscount DE SAO THIAGO.

Education. It is compulsory by the law, on parents, to send their children to school, but this is far from being enforced. In 1862, there was one scholar to every 36 inhabitants. There is only one university in the kingdom, that of Coimbra (founded in 1290); there are 182 lycæums with an average of 3,000 scholars.

Finances. The revenue has increased but little during the last 30 years. There has been no budget in the same period without a deficit. The budget for 1867—1868 is as follows: Revenue, 16,884,419 milreis (milreis = 54½ d.); expenditure, 22,695,979 milreis. The budget for the colonies was fixed for 1867, as follows: Revenue, 1,275,000,000 milreis; expenditure, 1,435,000,000 milreis; deficit, 160,000,000 milreis. The public debt amounted, in 1867, to 218,000,000 milreis.

Army. The army of the kingdom consists of the following troops: Infantry, 15,099; cavalry, 2,539; artillery, 1,495. To these troops must be added municipal guards, veterans etc. The total strength amounts to 24,848 men. The troops in the colonies number 9,453 men in first line, and 21,411 men in second line.

Navy. The navy consisted in 1868, of 31 ships with 305 guns, and was manned by 3,180 sailors and marines.

Commerce. The total value of imports was, in 1866, 26,000,000, the exports, 22,000,000 milreis.

13. RUSSIA.

Capital, St. Petersburg. Area, 7,862,568 square miles. Population, 77,008,448.

History. Rurik, Prince of the Russians, arrived at Novgorod and laid the foundation of the Russian Empire, 861. Extinction of the House of Rurik, 1598. Accession of the House of Romanof to the throne, 1613.

Area and Population. The Russian Empire comprises one-seventh of the territorial part of the globe, and about one-twenty-sixth part of its entire surface. Total area—7,862,568 square miles,—European Russia embraces 2,050,313 square miles. The population of the Russian Empire is divided as follows: European Russia, 61,325,923; Government of Caucasus, 4,157,917; Siberia, 4,625,699; Kingdom of Poland, 5,100,000; Grand Duchy of Finland, 1,798,909; total, 77,008,448 inhabitants. The chief cities of the Russian Empire are: St. Petersburg, 539,122 inhabitants; Moscow, 351,609; Warsaw, 243,512; Odessa, 118,970; Riga, 102,043; Kischinef, 94,124; Saratof, 84,391; Wilna, 69,464; Kief, 68,424; Nikolajef, 64,561; Kasan, 63,085; Tula, 56,739; Berdtschef, 53,169; Kharkof, 52,016 inhabitants. More than a hundred tribes, speaking as many different languages, are comprised within the circuit of the Russian Empire, but nearly all these live on the frontiers of the country. The interior is inhabited by a homogeneous race, the Russians. Serfdom was abolished in 1863, within the whole of Russia. The following statement shows the respective number belonging to the different nationalities:

Reigning Sovereign and Family. ALEXANDER II., Emperor of Russia, born April 17, 1818, son of Emperor Nicholas I. and of Princess Charlotte of Russia; succeeded his father, Feb. 18, 1855; married April 16, 1841, to Maria, born Aug. 8, 1824, daughter of Grand Duke Ludwig II. of Hesse-Darmstadt. Children: 1. Grand Duke Alexander, heir-apparent, born Feb 26, 1845; married Nov. 9, 1866, to Maria Dagmar, daughter of King Christian IX. of Denmark; son, Nicholas, born May 18, 1868; 2. Grand Duke Vladimir, born April 10, 1847; 3. Grand Duke Alexis, born Jan. 2, 1850; 4. Grand Duchess Maria, born Oct. 5, 1853; 5. Grand Duke Sergius, born April, 1857; 6. Grand Duke Paul, born Sept. 21, 1860. Sister of the Emperor, Grand Duchess Olga, born Aug. 30, 1822, married to Prince Charles, (now king) of Wurtemberg. The reigning family of Russia descended in the female line, from Michael Romanof, elected Czar in 1613, and in the male line from the Duke Charles Frederick of Holstein-Gottorp, born in 1701. The emperor is in possession de jure and de facto of the whole revenue of the Crown domains. The following have been the Emperors of Russia, since the beginning of the German House of Holstein-Gottorp: Peter III. 1762, Catherine II. 1762, Paul, 1796, Alexander I. 1801, Nicholas, 1825, Alexander II. 1855.

Government. The Government of Russia is an absolute hereditary monarchy. The Emperor's will alone is law. The administration of the empire is entrusted to four great councils centering in the "Private Cabinet of the Emperor." The first is the "Council of the Empire," consisting of a President—Grand Duke Constantine—and an unlimited number of members appointed by the Emperor. It superintends the action of the general administration, watches over the due execution of the laws, and proposes alterations of the same. The second council is the "Senate," whose functions are partly of a deliberative, and partly of an executive character. The senators are mostly persons of high rank or station. The third council is the "Holy Synod," composed of the principal dignitaries of the church, and presided over by the metropolitane of Novgorod. The fourth council is that of Ministers.

Council of Ministers. Minister of the Imperial House, Gen. Count ADLERBERG, 1857; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prince GORTSCHAKOFF, 1856; Minister of War, Gen. MILLUTIN, 1862; Minister of the Navy, Rear Admiral KRABBE; Minister of the Interior, Gen. TIMACHOW II.; Minister of Public Instruction, Count TOLSTOI; Minister of Finance, V. REUTERN; Minister of Justice, Count VON PAHLEN; Minister of the Imperial Domains, Gen. ZELENOI; Minister of Public Works, Gen. MIELNIKOFF; General Post Office, (vacant); Department of General Control, A. TATARNOFF. The empire is divided into 14 general governments, 50 governments, and over 320 districts.

Education. The education of the people is still deficient, though it has made much progress within the last half of a century. The empire is divided into educational districts, each of which has a university, with a certain number of lycéums. The proportion of school-attending children to inhabitants is stated to be as 1 to 140. The number of schools was, in 1865, about 33,000, with nearly a million of scholars. The universities are Moscow, Kharkof, St. Petersburg, Kief, Dorpat, Kasan and Odessa. There were, in 1865, 328 periodical papers, of which 143 were published in St. Petersburg.

Finances. According to the official statement, the estimated budget for 1867, revenue and expenditure, including Poland, is as follows, expressed in roubles:

ORDINARY REVENUE.
Direct Taxes.....	51,595,422
Indirect Taxes.....	171,394,902

For the financial year 1868, the revenue was estimated at 413,000,000 roubles; the expenditures at 425,000,000 roubles. According to an official report, the public debt amounted, Jan. 1, 1866, to 1,733,966,974 roubles; in 1867, to 1,809,942,693 roubles. The issue of paper money increases, the note circulation having more than doubled in ten years. The interest on the Public Debt increased from 64,000,000 in 1865 to 69,000,000 in 1866, and to 74,000,000 in 1867. The deficits amounted in 1865 to 22,000,000, in 1866 to 42,000,000, in 1867 to 41,000,000, in 1868 (estimated) to 12,000,000 roubles.

Army. The land forces of Russia are formed of two classes of troops, the regular troops and the feudal militia. The regular army is recruited principally by means of conscription, partly by the adoption of sons of soldiers, and partly by voluntary enlistment. The period of service is fixed at 22 years for the guard, and 25 years for the other troops; but the soldiers are, after 10 to 12 years service, entitled to an indefinite leave as reserve. According to the official statement of the “Military Magazine,” the strength of the army was as follows, in 1866: Staff and superior officers, 30,507; infantry, 626,004; cavalry, 68,673; artillery, 84,392; engineers, 19,082; total, 798,151 men and officers. The irregular troops are invariably distributed in regiments and sotnias (100 men). The entire male population is liable to service.

Navy. The Russian navy consists of two great divisions, the fleet of the Baltic, and that of the Black Sea. The sailors are levied by recruitment; as many, however, as possible, are enlisted voluntarily. The period of service is 14 years. According to an official report, the navy consisted, in 1864, of: Sailing vessels—1 corvette, 6 schooners, 3 tenders, 11 transports, 9 yachts, &c.; total, 48 vessels with 73 guns. Steamers, (afloat and in construction): 6 ships-of-the-line, 15 frigates, 2 iron-clad frigates, 22 corvettes, 11 clippers, 3 iron-clad batteries, 12 iron-clad gunboats (monitors), 80 gunboats, 4 yachts, 24 schooners, 9 transports, 75 smaller steamers; total, 263 steamers, with 2,095 guns; add to these 14 iron-clad battery rafts with 18 guns. Total of guns, 2,186, of horse-power, 37,244. In 1866, the iron-clad fleet consisted of 11 frigates, (124 guns, 43,287 tons); 14 monitors, (61 guns, 21,020 tons); total, 25 iron-clads afloat, with 185 guns. There were, besides, 260 steamers and 59 sailing vessels, together with 1,993 guns.

Commerce. The total value of the imports and exports for 1865 and 1866 was as follows: 1865, imports, 209,000,000 roubles, exports, 164,000,000 roubles; 1866, imports, 189,000,000 roubles, exports, 195,000,000 roubles. The chief trading ports are Petersburg and Riga, on the Baltic; Archangel, on the White Sea; Odessa, on the Black Sea; Taganrog, on the Sea of Azof; and Astrachan and Baku, on the Caspian Sea. Moscow is the principal entrepôt of the interior commerce of the empire. The trade with China is mostly carried on through Kiachta, and the interior commerce is kept up by means of Nijni Novgorod.

In 1865, there were among the ships entered, 2,288 British, 1,321 Russian, 1,588 North German, 950 Italian, 689 Dutch, 670 Swedish, 489 Turkish, 411 Austrian, 206 French, and 255 Danish vessels. The commercial navy of Russia consisted in 1865, of 2,132 vessels, 84 of which were steamers, with a burthen of 90,496 lasts. The commerce at sea transports about 72 per cent. of the exports and 60 per cent. of the imports. The commercial intercourse of Russia is chiefly with Prussia, Great Britain and France. Commerce with Asia; exports in 1866, 22,000,000, imports, 25,000,000 roubles. The chief staple articles of export, were cereals and flour, 66,000,000 roubles; flax and tow, 28,000,000 roubles; hemp, 11,000,000 roubles; oil seed, 16,000,000 roubles; wool, 17,000,000 roubles; tallow, 13,000,000 roubles. Import; Drugs and dyes, 11,000,000 roubles; tea, 16,000,000 roubles; raw cotton, 25,000,000 roubles. The Fair of Nijni Novgorod offered goods for sale, in 1865, to the value of 111,000,000 roubles. There were, in 1867, 17 railroad lines in operation and 4 in course of construction.

The Grand Duchy of Finland and the Kingdom of Poland are politically united with the Russian Empire, but with separate administrations. Poland, however, is to be fully incorporated with Russia proper.

FINLAND.

Government. This Grand Duchy, ceded to Russia in 1809, has preserved its ancient constitution, providing for a national parliament of four estates, the nobles, the clergy, the burghers and the peasants. The right of legislation and of general taxation is nominally in the hands of this Assembly, though in reality it is exercised by a Senate appointed by the Emperor. The Governor-General of the Grand Duchy is Gen. Count ADLERBERG.

Finance. The general budget for 1867 is: Revenue and expenditure, 14,330,521 mark silver (4 mark = 1 rouble).

Army. The troops number 3,499 men. The 763 pilots belonging to the navy are distributed on 8 lighthouses and 93 stations.

Commerce. The commercial navy consisted, in 1867, of 446 sailing vessels of 77,942 lasts, and 5,632 men in the ports. 65 vessels being steamers; in the inland, there were 1,161 vessels, of 51,823 lasts, and 3,845 men.

POLAND.

Population. Of the population amounting to over 5,000,000, about 4,000,000 are of Slavonic origin, about 500,000 Jews, and 250,000 Germans. The great majority of the people are engaged in agriculture.

Government. The Kingdom of Poland ceased to be an independent country in 1795, after the third partition. The country was broken up between Austria, Russia and Prussia. Russian Poland is now virtually a province of the Empire under the Governor-General, Gen. Count BENG.

Finances. The budget for 1866 has been estimated at 24,525,294 silver roubles. The state debt amounted in the same year, to about 44,000,000 roubles.

14. SPAIN.

Capital, Madrid. Area, 195,607 square miles. Population, 16,302,625.

History. Establishment of the Kingdom of the Visigoths, in the 5th century; invasion by the Arabs, who after the battle at Xerez de la Frontera, 711, conquered nearly the whole of Spain. The Christians, for a time confined to the mountains of Asturia and Galicia, reconquered Leon in the 10th, and Castile, Aragon, and Navarra, in the 11th century. A number of independent Kingdoms were established, among which Aragon and Castile were the most prominent. The latter gradually absorbed all the others. The marriage of Ferdinand of Aragon (1479—1516), with Isabella of Castile (1474—1504), and the overthrow of the last Mohammedan Kingdom in Spain, and total expulsion of Mohammedans in 1492, brought about a union of all Spain under Charles I. (as German Emperor Charles V.), the grandson of Ferdinand and Isabella. Extinction of the House of Hapsburg, 1700; the House of Bourbon, 1700—1808; Joseph Bonaparte King of Spain, 1808-13; restoration of the Bourbons, 1814; Ferdinand VII. in 1830, abolished the Salic law which excluded females from the right of succession; death of Ferdinand VII., 1833; civil war between the adherents of Don Carlos, the late King's brother, and those of Queen Isabella, the king's daughter, 1833—1840; banishment of the Queen Dowager Christina, 1840; Espartero, regent of Spain, 1841—1843; overthrow of Queen Isabella and the Bourbon dynasty, September, 1868; Marshal Serrano, head of the Provisional Government, November 1868.

Area and Population. The kingdom, viz: The continent of Spain, the Balearic islands, and the Canary islands, is divided into forty-nine provinces, subdivisions of the twelve ancient provinces. Colonies—These are 1. American colonies (see America), 1,832,062 inhabitants; 2. Asiatic and Australian, 2,679,500; 3. African, 17,071. Total colonial population, 4,738,633.

The Spaniards are a mixture of Celts, Romans, Alani, Goths, Suevoi, Vandals, Moors and Arabs; the Moorish-Arab element preponderates especially in Andalusia. There are, besides half a million of Basques, 60,000 Moriskos (descendants of the Moors), about 1,000 Germans in the Sierra Morena, 45,000 Gipsies, and a small number of Jews.

The chief cities are the following: Madrid, 298,426 inhabitants; Barcelona, 189,948; Seville, 118,298; Valencia, 107,703; Malaga, 94,732; Murcia, 87,803; Cadiz, 71,521; Saragossa, 67,428; Granada, 67,326; Palma, 53,019.

The density of population is about 83 per English square mile, or considerably less than half that of Italy, and one-third less than that of the Netherlands.

Nearly 46 per cent of the whole surface of the kingdom is still uncultivated. The soil is subdivided among a very large number of proprietors. In the country, the estates worth less than $200 are 65 per cent., and the estates worth between $200 and $1,000 are 21 per cent. of the land. In the cities the property worth less than $200 is 38 per cent., and that worth from $200 to $1,000 is 40 per cent. The titled nobility is very numerous.

Government. Isabella II., born October 10, 1830, was Queen of Spain, 1833—1868. A revolution in 1868 abolished her rule. A provisional government at the head of which was Marshal Serrano held, at the close of the year 1868, control of the land. The constituent Cortes were to meet in January, 1869, and decide on the future form of Government.

Education. Up to a very recent period, the great mass of the population was in a state of extreme ignorance. Middle-class education is given in fifty-eight public colleges. There are ten faculties of literature and philosophy, seven of sciences, four of pharmacy, seven of medicine, and six of theology. The ten universities (Barcelona, Granada, Oviedo, Madrid, Salamanca, Santiago, Sevilla, Valencia, Valladolid, and Zaragoza) had, in 1865, 9,704 students (4,194 in Madrid).

Finances. The budget estimate for the financial year 1865—1866 (in escudos, of which ten are equal to £1) was, expenditure, 274,733,237; revenue, 274,936,029. The estimates for 1866—1867 show a surplus, but there was in both years an actual deficit of eight million dollars. The budget for 1867—1868 fixes the total revenue at 257,000,000 escudos, the expenditure at 264,000,000, thus making a deficit of 7,000,000 escudos. In almost all the budgets the expenditure was made to balance the revenue. The revenue of Spain has largely increased during the last few years, and continues to progress. The national and church property was and is still of immense value. The public debt amounted, November 30, 1866, to 20,412,134,658 reals (100 reals = £1), the floating debt, July 1, 1867, to about 172,000,000 reals.

Army and Navy. The army and navy, before the revolution of 1868, was formed by conscription, but substitutes were allowed. The term of service was eight years—five years in the line and three years in the provincial militia. The nominal strength of the army in Europe, in 1866, was 236,301. There were eight captain-generals, 60 lieutenant-generals, 118 field-m Marshals, 271 brigadiers and a general staff.

The navy consisted, according to official returns in 1867, of the following vessels: 1st class—6 iron-clad frigates (two afloat and four in construction), 161 guns; 11 screw frigates, 461 guns; 3 paddle steamers, 48 guns; total, 20 steamers, 670 guns.

2d class—1 screw steamer, 18 guns; 11 paddle steamers, 61 guns; 5 sailing vessels, 80 guns; 1 pontoon; total, 18 vessels (12 steamers), 159 guns.

3d class—26 screw steamers, 68 guns; 10 paddle steamers, 18 guns; 1 sailing vessel, 16 guns; 16 transports; 1 pontoon; total, 54 ships, 102 guns.

Smaller vessels: 18 screw gunboats, 18 guns; other vessels 8, 112 guns; total, 118 men of war (99 steamers, 17 sailing vessels, 2 pontoons) with 1,071 guns. The navy was manned by 1 admiral, 5 vice-admirals, 15 rear-admirals, about 14,700 sailors, 8,000 marines, 4,539 arsenal guard.

Commerce. Value in reals of foreign trade, in 1863: Imports, 1,898,000,000; exports, 1,219,000,000. The total of foreign trade, in 1864, was: Imports, 1,990,000,900; exports, 1,413,000,000.

The mineral as well as the agricultural riches of Spain are very great; but neither of these two sources of national wealth are yet developed.

The whole of the Spanish railways belong to private companies, but nearly all have obtained guarantees or subsidies from the government. There was, at the beginning of 1867 a length of about 2,400 miles in operation.

Spain has a magnificent coast of 500 leagues on the Mediterranean and of 300 leagues on the Atlantic.

Colonies. The colonial possessions of Spain, formerly embracing nearly the whole of America, are reduced at present to the following islands, with a small strip of territory in northern Africa. In Africa, the islands of Fernando Po, Corisco, Mosquitos, Annabar, and the Territory del Cabo de San Juan. In America, Porto Rico and adjacent islands, Cuba, and adjacent islands. In Asia the Philippine islands. In Oceanica, Marianas and Caroline Islands. The most important of the Spanish colonial possessions is the island of Cuba.

15. SWEDEN AND NORWAY.

Norway was ceded by Denmark to Sweden by the peace of Kiel, in 1814. The union of the two kingdoms was concurred in by the Norwegian Parliament and legally confirmed in 1815. The government of the two countries is kept separate; the action of the monarch over both is exercised through a Council of State, composed in equal numbers, of Swedes and Norwegians.

SWEDEN.

Capital, Stockholm. Area, 170,634 square miles. Population, 4,160,677.

History. Eric Edmundson, in the 9th century, is supposed to have been the first King of all Sweden. The independence of Sweden was only lost for the short period from 1397 until 1434, when by virtue of the Kalmar Union it was united with Denmark. In 1523, the House of Wasa ascended the throne and reigned until 1818, when it was succeeded by the House of Bernadotte.

The political unity of Norway was completed by King Olav II., who subjected the chiefs of all the independent tribes. In 1380, the country was united with Denmark, and this union lasted until 1814, when it was united with Sweden.

Population. Sweden was one of the first countries in Europe in which a regular census was taken, the first enumeration having been made in 1748. The population of Sweden amounted in 1866, according to the account published by the Statistical Department, to 4,160,677 inhabitants, distributed among the provinces as follows: Gothland, 2,426,093; Sweden proper, 1,225,091; Norland and Lapland, 509,493. In 1867, the population was estimated at 4,195,681. The chief city, Stockholm, had, in 1866, a population of 138,189. The Swedish colony, the Island of St. Bartholomew (West India), had in July, 1866, 2,898 inhabitants on an area of 16 square miles. Four-fifths of the inhabitants are devoted to agricultural pursuits, but only a very small fraction of the rural population are owners of the land which they cultivate. One-eighth of the area of the kingdom belongs to the nobility.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. CHARLES XV. King of Sweden and Norway, born May 3, 1826, son of King Oscar I.; in consequence of the prolonged illness of his father, appointed Prince Regent of Sweden and Norway, 1857; succeeded, July 8, 1859; married, June 19, 1850, to Louise, born Aug. 5, 1828, daughter of Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, uncle of the reigning King of the Netherlands. Daughter: Louise, born Oct. 31, 1851. The present king is the third sovereign of the House of Bernadotte, and grandson of General Bernadotte, Prince de Porte Corvo, who was elected heir-apparent of the crown of Sweden, by the Parliament in 1810, and ascended the throne as Charles XIV. in 1818. The Congress of Vienna united Norway to the Swedish Crown. Oscar I. succeeded in 1844.

Constitution and Government. The King has the right to declare war and make peace; he nominates to all appointments, concludes foreign treaties, and has a right to preside in the Supreme Court of Justice: he has an absolute veto against any decrees of the Diet, and possesses legislative power in matters of provincial administration. In all other respects the fountain of law is in the Diet. It consists of two Chambers elected by the people. The First Chamber consists of 119 members, who must possess an income of at least 4,000 rix dollars; they are elected for a term of 9 years, and receive no pay for their services. The Second Chamber consists of 185 members, of whom 52 are elected by the towns and 133 by the rural districts. All natives of Sweden, possessing an annual income of 800 rix dollars, are electors. The election is for the term of 3 years. The executive is in the hands of the King, who acts under the advice of a Council of State, composed of 2 responsible ministers and 8 privy councillors.

The Ministry. Minister of State and Justice, Baron L. G. DE GEER, (1858); Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count WACHTMEISTER, (1868.)

Education. Notwithstanding the poverty and dependent state of the bulk of the population, education is well advanced in Sweden.

Finances. The budget for 1868 is estimated as follows: Revenue, 37,461,270 rix dollars; ordinary expenditure, 34,054,300 rix dollars; extraordinary expenditure, 7,438,621 rix dollars; estimated deficit, 4,031,651 rix dollars. The public debt Dec. 31, 1865, was: Home debt, 8,832,800 rix dollars; Foreign debt (railway loans), 65,235,320 rix dollars: total, 74,068,020 rix dollars.

Army and Navy. The Swedish army is composed of 4 distinct classes of troops. They are: 1. The enlisted troops, to which belong the royal life guards; the hussars, and the greater part of the artillery: term of service, usually 6 years. 2. The national militia, paid and kept by the landowners, and to some extent, from the income of State domains. In time of peace, these troops are not called up for more than a month's annual practice. 3. The militia of Gothland, which is not compelled to serve beyond the limits of the island. 4. The conscription troops, to which every Swede of 20 to 25 years is liable. The army of Sweden numbers altogether, 124,807 men. The coast of Sweden is protected by the fortresses at Marstrand, Göteborg, Carlserona and Stockholm. The Corps of "Volunteer Riflemen," organized in 1861, for the defense of the country, numbers 42,000 men.

The navy consisted, Aug. 1, 1867, of 17 steamers and 5 ships-of-the-line, with an armament of 462 guns, besides 2 frigates, 5 corvettes, 5 brigs and 14 transports, 48 gun-sloops, 6 mortar-boats, each 2 guns, and 90 gun-boats of 1 gun each. There were in course of construction, 1 screw corvette, 1 monitor, 1 iron-clad gun-sloop. The navy was manned by 34,573 men, of whom, however, more than one-half were on furlough, or attached to the fleet of reserve.

Commerce. The total value of imports and exports was in 1865: Imports, 106,000,000 rix dollars: exports, 108,000,000 rix dollars. The most important countries in commercial intercourse with Sweden, are Great Britain, France, Netherlands, Lubeck, Denmark and Norway.

Industry. Mining is the most important department of Swedish industry, and the working of iron mines in particular is making constant progress by the introduction of new machinery. It is only within recent years that Sweden has become a manufacturing country, but already the home production has become of such importance as considerably to affect the supplies of the same articles received from other states, particularly from Germany. The value of the production of 2,600 forges and manufactories in 1865, was 76,000,000 rix dollars, the number of workmen, 32,000. There were, Dec. 1, 1865, 5 State railways, of 100 Swedish miles. The length of telegraph lines was about 2,600 English miles.

NORWAY.

Capital, Christiania. Area, 120,295 square miles. Population, 1,701,478.

Norway is essentially an agricultural and pastoral country. The chief city, Christiania had, in 1865, 65,513 inhabitants. The inhabitants of towns numbered, at the census of 1865, 272,531.

Government. The constitution of Norway, proclaimed in 1814, is one of the most democratic in Europe. The whole legislative and part of the executive power is in the hands of the sovereign people. The King has the nominal command of the land and sea forces, but can make few appointments. He possesses the right of veto over laws passed by the "Storthing," yet only for a limited period. The Storthing holds annual sittings suo jure. Every Norwegian 25 years of age, who is a burges of any town, or possesses property or the life-rent of land to the value of 150 dollars is entitled to vote and, under the same conditions, if 30 years of age, to be elected. The mode of election is indirect. The Storthing consists of two Houses. All new bills and propositions must originate in the Lower House, from which they pass into the Upper, to be either accepted, in which case they become law, or rejected. In the latter case, should the Lower House demand it, the two Houses assemble in common sitting, and the final decision is given by a majority of two-thirds of the voters. The Executive is formed by a Council of State, composed of the Governor-general of Norway nominated by the King, and 7 Councillors of State, the heads of as many departments.

Education. Instruction in the primary schools is very limited. There is one university at Christiania.

Finances. The budget for the financial period 1866—1869 is estimated to be 5,023,000 specie thalers (specie thaler = 4½ English shillings). Customs and excise produce nearly the whole income. The Norwegian public debt, in 1867, amounted to 5,000,000 sp. th.

Army and Navy. The troops are raised partly by conscription and partly by enlistment. Every Norwegian is obliged to go through a military training. Most soldiers are sent home on furlough at the expiration of one or two years. The strength of the army is 12,000 men in peace and 18,000 in war.

The navy is manned by conscription. The number consists in peace of 2,000 men, in war 3,500. The naval force consists of 2 screw frigates, of 56 and 82 guns, 1 sailing frigate, 4 steam corvettes, 1 sailing corvette, 1 brig, 5 towing steamers, 1 monitor, 4 steam gunboats; altogether of 1,880 horse-power, and 223 heavy and 16 light guns. In the session of 1866, the Storting resolved to raise the navy to 156 vessels of war, with 500 guns and 4,000 men.

Commerce. The value of imports was, in 1866, 26,000,000 specie thalers, that of exports, 17,000,000. The principal countries in commercial intercourse with Norway, are Great Britain, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, France and Prussia. The chief articles of export are wood and timber; next in importance are the fisheries, which give employment and support to the bulk of the population from the Naze to the Warangerfiord, at the entrance of the White Sea. The commercial marine of Norway at the end of 1866, consisted of 5,750 vessels, of a collective tonnage of about 400,000 com. lasts (last = 2 tons), manned by 38,066 sailors. Considering its population, Norway has the largest commercial navy in the world.

16. SWITZERLAND.

Capital, Berne. Area, 15,722 square miles. Population, 2,510,494.

History. The Swiss Confederation was founded in 1308 by the three cantons Uri, Schwyz, and Unterwalden. In 1353 it numbered eight cantons, and in 1513 it was composed of thirteen cantons. This number increased till 1803, when the new confederation embraced 19 cantons; in 1815 it was increased to 22 cantons.

There are 485,000 heads of families in the country, of which number 465,000 possess landed property. Of every 100 square miles, 20 are pasture, 17 forest, 11 arable, 20 meadow, 1 vineyard, and 30 uncultivated or covered with water, rocks, and glaciers. The German element is ruling in 16 out of twenty-two cantons; among them are the two leading cantons of the republic, Zurich and Berne. The largest city, Geneva, had 41,415 inhabitants in 1860.

Government. The republic of Switzerland, formerly a league of semi-independent states, became a united confederacy in 1848. The supreme legislative and executive authority is vested in a Parliament of two chambers. The State Council is composed of 44 members—two for each canton; the Federal Council consists of 128 representatives, chosen in direct election, at the rate of one deputy for every 20,000 inhabitants, the election taking place every three years. Every citizen who has attained the age of 20 years is entitled to a vote; and any voter not a clergyman may be elected a deputy. Both Chambers united constitute the Federal Assembly, and as such represent the supreme government of the republic. The chief executive authority is deputed to a Federal Council of seven members, elected by the Federal Assembly for three years. The president and vice-president of the Federal Council are the first magistrates of the republic. The Federal tribunal, consisting of eleven members, elected for three years by the Federal Assembly, renders the final decision in all matters of dispute between the various cantons of the republic, as well as between the cantons and the federal government. The city of Berne was in 1848, chosen as the seat of the Federal Council and the central administrative authorities of the republic.

Education. Education is very widely diffused in Switzerland, particularly in the cantons of Argovia, Zurich, Berne, and Vaud. Parents are compelled to send their children to school. There are normal schools in several of the cantons, and superior gymnasia in all the chief towns. There are three universities (Basle, Berne, and Zurich), and a Federal Polytechnic School at Zurich.

Finances. The public revenue is derived chiefly from customs. The budget estimates for 1868 are: Revenue, 20,173,000 francs; expenditure, 19,809,000 francs; surplus, 364,000 francs.

Army. The Constitution of 1848 forbids the maintenance of a standing army. To provide for the defence of the country, every citizen has to bear arms, in the management of which the children are instructed at school and pass through regular exercises and public reviews. The troops are divided into three classes, namely: 1. The federal army, consisting of all men from 20 to 34, or 3 per cent. of the population; 2. The army of reserve for all men from 35 to 40, or 1½ per cent. of the population; 3. The Landwehr (militia), from 41 to 44 years. The total number of the various classes, in actual readiness to take the field, is given in the official return at 204,005 men. The enlistment of citizens of the republic into foreign military service is forbidden by the constitution of 1848, under the penalty of the loss of all civil rights.

Commerce. The chief exports consist of manufactured goods of various kinds and a small quantity of agricultural produce. The value of imported merchandise, in 1866, amounted to 8,769,580 francs, that of exported merchandise to 1,192,097. The value of exported cattle was, in the same year, 6,428,475 francs. The value of exports to the United States amounted, in 1865, to 49,000,000 francs, and in 1866 to 59,000,000 francs.

Notwithstanding the difficulties of the surface, there were, at the end of 1866, about 800 miles of railways in operation. The telegraph had, at the same time, a length of 3,559 kilometres.

There were despatched and received by the Post-office, in 1866, 39,000,000 letters and 28,000,000 newspapers. There were, in 1865, 446 mutual aid societies with 78,000 members. In April, 1866, there were, 105,799 horses, 993,191 head of cattle, 304,428 swine, 447,001 sheep, and 375,482 goats.

17. TURKEY.

Capital, Constantinople. Area, 1,917,472 square miles. Population, 40,000,000.

History. The Turks began to establish an empire in Asia Minor at the beginning of the 14th century, which steadily grew at the expense of the Byzantine Empire. The fall of Constantinople, 1453, made the Turkish Sultan ruler of the entire possessions of the Byzantine emperor. In the beginning of the present century Greece was lost, (see Greece), and the principalities of Rumania, Servia, and Montenegro in Europe, and Egypt, in Africa, have since become semi-independent. The island of Candia, in 1866, was against the Turks; but has thus far failed to establish its independence.

Area and Population. The area and population of Turkey are known only by estimates, since the enumerations of the people cannot lay claim to any amount of exactness. The total area of the empire, including the tributary states, is as follows:

Divisions.	Square Miles.	Population.
Turkey in Europe.....	200,932.....	18,487,000

Chief Cities. The chief cities of Turkey in Europe are: Constantinople, 1,075,000 inhabitants (in 1864); Adrianople, about 150,000; Saloniki, about 70,000; Serajevo and Gallipoli, about 50,000 each; In Asia: Smyrna, 150,000; Damascus, 120,000; Bagdad 105,000; Aleppo, 100,000; Broussa, 80,000; Erzerum, 70,000.

Reigning Sovereign and Family. ABDUL-AZIZ, Sultan of Turkey, born February 9, 1830, son of Sultan Mahmud II., succeeded his brother Abdul-Medjid, June 25, 1861. Children—1. Yusuf Izzeddin, born October 9, 1857; 2. Salihe, born August 10, 1862; 3. Mahmud Djemil Eddin, born November 20, 1862; 4. Mechmed Selim, born October 8, 1866. Nephew—Murad, heir presumptive, born September 21, 1840. The present sovereign of Turkey is the thirty-second, in male descent, of the house of Othman, the founder of the empire.

House of Othman—Othman I., 1299; Orchan, 1326; Amurath I., 1360; Bajazet I., (the "Thunderbolt"), 1389; Solyman I., 1402; Mohammed I., 1413; Amurath II., 1421; Mohammed II., (conqueror of Constantinople), 1451; Bajazet II., 1481; Selim I., 1512; Solyman II., (the "Magnificent"), 1520; Selim II., 1566; Amurath III., 1574; Mohammed III., 1595; Ahmet I., 1603; Mustapha I., 1617; Osman I., 1618; Amurath IV., (the "Intrepid"), 1623; Ibrahim, 1640; Mohammed IV., 1649; Solyman III., 1687; Ahmet II., 1691; Mustapha II., 1695; Ahmet III., 1703; Mahmud I., 1730; Osman II., 1754; Mustapha III., 1757; Abdul-Hamid, 1774; Selim III., 1788; Mustapha IV., 1807; Mahmud, II., 1808; Abdul-Medjid, 1839; Abdul Aziz, 1861.

Government. The fundamental laws are based on the precepts of the Koran. The will of the Sultan is absolute. According to a charter of liberties, granted by Abdul-Medjid, in 1856, full liberty of worship is guaranteed to every religious profession.

The legislative and executive authority is exercised, under the supreme direction of the Sultan, by two high dignitaries, the Grand Vizier, the head of the temporal government, and the Sheik-ul-Islam, the head of the church.

The Dignitaries. The Grand Vizier, MEHMET EMIN ALI, appointed 1867; the Sheik-ul-Islam, HASSAN, appointed 1868.

The Ministerial Council. Foreign Affairs, FUAD; War, NAMIK; Finance, SCHIRVANZADE RUCHDI; Marine, MAHMOUD; Commerce, Agriculture and Public Works, DAUD (a Christian); Public Instruction, SAFVET; Justice, MUMTAZ; Police, HUSSCIN; Domains of the Church and of Charitable Institutions, TEFDID.

The whole of the empire, except the dependencies in Africa, is divided into governments and subdivided into provinces and districts. A general governor (Pasha), assisted by a council, is placed at the head of each government. All subjects, however humble their origin, are eligible to the highest offices in the state.

Education. Public schools have been long established in most of the large Turkish towns, and colleges, with public libraries, are attached to the greater number of the principal mosques. But the instruction is rather limited.

Finances. The revenue is chiefly derived from taxes of three denominations. 1. The poll tax, a tax on the whole population, paid at a fixed rate for each house or family; 2. the tithe, a tax of 10 per cent. upon agricultural productions; 3. the tax derived from the sale of customs, stamps, the sale of animals, taxes on shops, bakeries, butcheries, mills, and from the rent of crown-lands. The Turkish budgets show generally an annual deficit of five to fifteen million dollars. The budget for the year 1865 and 1866 estimates the revenue at 3,177,880 purses (a purse = 500 piasters or £4½), and the expenditure at 3,236,931 purses. According to a report to Lord Stanley, the public debt stood, at the commencement of 1867, as follows: Foreign debt, £34,596,820; home debt, £34,545,450; total, £69,142,270. The annual interest amounted to £3,670,238; sinking fund, £1,137,104; total, £4,807,342.

Army and Navy. The military force is raised by enlistment and conscription. Term of service, five years in the active army, and seven years in the reserve.

The army consists of, 1. the active forces composed of six army corps, each numbering 16,416 men; the imperial guard, 2,000 men; the detached divisions of Creta, Tripoli and Tunis, about 21,200 men; 2. the reserve, 100,496 men; 3. the auxiliary of the tributary states, about 100,000 men; 4. the irregular troops, 90,000 men, making a grand total of about 410,000 men.

The Turkish navy has been entirely reconstructed since 1858. The navy is manned by about 40,000 men. It consisted in 1866 and 1867 of the following vessels:

	Ships.	Guns.		Ships.	Guns.

Commerce. The increase in the trade and commerce within the last thirty years has been very great. The imports, in 1864 and 1865, amounted to 316,000,000 francs; the exports to 133,000,000 francs. There are two short railways, one from Kustendje to Tschernavoda; the other from Varna to Rustschuk—together 170 miles long. There were, at the end of 1865, 136 telegraph stations—length of wire about 8,500 miles.

TRIBUTARY STATES OF TURKEY.

EGYPT.

[For the description of Egypt, see Africa.]

RUMANIA.

Area and Population. The area of Rumania is 40,710 square miles; the population 3,864,848, (i. e. Wallachia, 2,400,921, Moldavia, 1,463,927 inhabitants). The united principalities are divided into thirty-three districts. The chief cities are Bucharest with 121,734 inhabitants, and Tassy with 65,745 inhabitants.

Sovereign. Charles, born April, 1839, son of Prince Charles of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen; accepted his election as Prince of Rumania, May 10, 1866; recognized by the Turkish Government, Oct. 24, 1866.

Government. The union of the two principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia was granted by the Sultan in 1861, and the name "Rumania" given to the United provinces. The legislative power is vested collectively in the Prince, a senate, and a chamber of deputies. The Senate consists of 64 members for three years, the chamber of 160 members (85 for Wallachia and 75 for Moldavia). The members are chosen by indirect election. The executive is in the hands of the reigning Prince, assisted by a council of ministers.

Cabinet. A new Cabinet was formed in December 1868, composed of the following members: Presidency and Foreign Affairs, DEMETRIUS GUIKA; Interior, COGALINTSCHEANO; Justice, BROCRESCO; Finance, ALEXANDER GOLESCO; Public Worship, PAPADOPULO CALIMACH; War, DUKA NEMERI.

Finance. The chief source of revenue is a capitation tax. The budget for 1868, fixes the receipts and expenditures each at 78,291,233 lei, (1=1 franc). The yearly tribute payable to Turkey amounts for Wallachia to 5,000 purses, for Moldavia to 3,000 purses. The public debt, at the end of 1868, was 70,624,694 lei.

Army and Navy. The military force is organized on the plan of the Russian army. It numbers 23,770 men. The national guard consists of about 33 battalions, or 30,000 men. The navy consists of 1 steamer, and 5 gun sloops, manned by 6 officers and 70 men.

Commerce. The total value of the exports in 1864 amounted to 366,000,000 piastres (36,600,000 Russian thalers); the imports in the two ports of Galacz and Ibraila about 143,000,000 piastres (14,300,000 Russian thalers).

SERVIA.

Area and Population. 21,210 square miles with 1,078,281 inhabitants. Belgrade, the capital, has 14,600 inhabitants.

Sovereign. Prince MILAN OBRENOVITCH IV., born 1856; proclaimed Prince, 1868.

Government. The principality of Servia has been under the rule of native princes since 1815, and under the protection of the great European powers, as a semi-independent state since 1856. The executive power is carried on by the Prince, assisted by a Council of five ministers responsible to the people. The legislative authority is exercised by the Senate and House of Representatives.

Finance. The revenue and expenditure were, in the budget for 1868, fixed at about 29,000,000 piastres each.

Army. Servia possessed, in 1867, seventy battalions of well drilled soldiers.

Commerce. The value of the imports, in 1864, was 86,000,000 p., and of the exports 73,000,000 piastres.

MONTENEGRO.

The reigning Prince is NICHOLAS I., born 1840. The population of this principality is estimated at 196,233 inhabitants. There are about 25,000 men able to bear arms.

III. ASIA.

1. AREA AND POPULATION OF ASIA—INDEPENDENT STATES AND EUROPEAN DEPENDENCIES.

Asia is both in point of area and population the first among the large divisions of the world. It somewhat exceeds America in area, while it has more than twice as many inhabitants as Europe, the second division of the world in point of population. As regards civilization, prosperity and power, Asia is far inferior to Europe, America and Australia. Fully one-half of Asia is governed by the European powers of Russia, Great Britain, Turkey, France, Spain, the Netherlands and Portugal, and the aggregate territory of these European possessions is steadily enlarging. Russia and Great Britain are from different directions advancing into Central Asia, and but for their mutual jealousy, the whole of Independent Tartary, Afghanistan and Beloochistan would have been subject to European control ere this. In Farther India, Great Britain and France have, of late, made great progress, and the three states of this country, Anam, Burmah and Siam are entirely at their mercy.

The Governments purely Asiatic which still are fully independent, are China, Japan, Persia and the States of Arabia. The latter have little intercourse with civilized nations, and most of them are but little known to us. According to the latest reports, a large number of the smaller Arabian states are becoming absorbed by the empire of the Wahabees, which is rapidly growing and may, ere long, embrace the whole of Arabia (see Arabia). Since the beginning of the present century, Persia has lost a considerable portion of its territory, which has been conquered by Russia. China and Japan are the only Asiatic countries in which there are signs of progress. In these countries, commercial and diplomatic intercourse with European and American nations has begun an era of reconstruction which bids fair to bring them fully within the circle of civilized nations.

In no country of Asia is Christianity the prevailing religion. There are about 8,486,000 people connected with the Eastern Churches, 4,695,000 connected with the Roman Catholic Church, and 713,000 connected with Protestant Churches. But about one-half of the whole of Asia is under Christian rulers, and Christianity is everywhere making progress. The prevailing religions of Asia are Buddhism, with a population of about 360,000,000, Brahmaism, with a population of from 124,000,000 to 140,000,000, and Mohammedanism, with a population of about 79,000,000.

1. ANAM.

Area, 198,043 square miles. Population, 9,000,000.

Anam is one of the political divisions of Farther India, the others being Burmah and Siam. There are no official statements of area and population. By some writers, the population is estimated as high as 27,000,000; according to Behm, (Geograph. Jahrbuch) it is about 9,000,000, exclusive of the French possessions in Cochin China. The latter now consist of 6 provinces, three of which were ceded to France in 1862, and three in 1867. France has also established a protectorate over Cambodja, another part of this country. The present Emperor of Anam is Tu-Duc (since 1847). The divisions of Anam are Tonquin, Cochin China, and Cambodja. The Emperor has about 800 war-craft, and monopolizes by means of larger vessels, the foreign trade of his dominions. The inhabitants are Buddhists, excepting about 400,000 who are Roman Catholic Christians.

* These five States are comprised in Independent Tartary. A considerable portion of it has of late been annexed to Russia.

2. ARABIA.

Area, 1,026,040 square miles. Population, 4,000,000,

Arabia comprises a number of independent states, many of which are not even known to us by name. Arab geographers make the following seven divisions: 1. Bahr-el-Tour-Sinai (Desert of Mount Sinai). 2. The Hedjaz (Land of Pilgrimage). 3. Tehama and Yemen, along the Red Sea. 4. Hadramant, the region along the southern coast. 5. Oman, the kingdom of Muscat. 6. Bahrein, on the Persian Gulf. 7. Nedjed, the central desert region. The most important of these divisions are Yemen and Oman.

Yemen has its seat of government at Sana, in the center of the country, and also possesses two very important commercial towns, Mocha and Loheia, situated on the coast of the Red Sea.

The Imaum (ruler) of Muscat is by far the most powerful sovereign in Arabia, and claims authority over the whole of Oman, the islands of the Persian Gulf, and a vast extent of territory on the east coast of Africa, including some valuable islands. The city of Muscat is the largest on the south-east coast. Rostak is another large town inland from Muscat. The Kingdom of Muscat forms to some extent an exception to the general lack of manufacturing activity exhibited by the Arabians, having manufactures of silk and cotton turbans and sashes, canvas, arms, gunpowder, etc. In 1868, the Imaum of Muscat was dethroned and succeeded by the Chief of the Wahabees. This is a sect of Mohammedans which originated in the 17th century, and endeavored to establish Mohammedanism in its ancient purity. The sect has of late obtained control of a large portion of Central Arabia, and having now added Muscat to its dominions, constitutes undoubtedly the most powerful state in Arabia. The district of Hedjaz contains the holy cities of Mecca and Medina, with their seaports, Jeddah and Yambo.

3. BRITISH INDIA.

Capital, Calcutta. Area, 1,545,336 square miles. Population, 192,012,137.

The total area and population of India are as follows, according to returns of 1867:

British India.		Square Miles.	Inhabitants.

According to the official “Statistical Abstract,” just issued, the area of British India is somewhat less, viz: 947,292 square miles, and the population, 143,585,789: of native or Indian States under French government, 188 square miles, with a population of 203,887: under Portuguese government, 1,066 square miles, with 313,262 population: making a grand total of 1,545,336 square miles, with a population of 192,012,137. The largest cities in India are: Calcutta, having about 1,000,000 inhabitants, including both the English and Hindoo population of the city and its suburbs: Bombay has 816,562. For others, see “List of Large Cities of the World.”

Government. The present form of the government of the Indian Empire dates from 1858. All the territories previously under the government of the East India Company are vested in the Sovereign of Great Britain, and all its powers are exercised in his name, through the Secretary of State for India. The executive authority in India is vested in a Governor-General, appointed by the Crown. He has power to make laws and regulations for all persons. The present Governor-General of India is Earl Mayo, appointed in 1868.

Education. In the North-Western Provinces and Madras, the foundation of a national system of education has been laid, but the Government has as yet made little impression upon the lower classes of the people. At the head of the educational institutions is the University of Calcutta. The average attendance of pupils in the schools and colleges was, in 1866, 559,317.

Finances. The financial state of the Indian Empire has undergone immense changes in recent years, both the revenue and the expenditure having nearly doubled since 1851. The revenue amounted, in 1865—66 to £47,041,000, the expenditure, to £47,021,000, the surplus being £20,000. There was, however in reality, a deficit of £50,000, the receipts amounting only to £46,750,000 and the expenditure to £46,800,000. The estimated budget for 1867—68 states a revenue of £46,283,000, an expenditure of £47,340,000, a deficit of £1,057,000. By far the most important source of revenue is the land. The gross receipt from this source, including tribute, is stated at £23,467,700. Next in importance is the income derived from the opium monopoly, which is more than sufficient to pay the interest of the public debt of India. The amount of this debt was, Apr. 30, 1866, £85,835,957. The "charges," including interest on debt and public works, amount to £36,238,415. The accounts for the present financial year show a surplus of £800,000.

Army. The number of European troops in India at the beginning of 1866, was 65,292 men, and the native troops at the same date were 113,370 men.

Commerce. The total value of the imports and exports, including treasure, was as follows in 1865: Bengal and British Burmah, imports, £18,592,218, exports, £20,948,703: Madras, imports, £4,262,689, exports, £6,920,187: Bombay, imports, £26,659,368, exports, £41,602,901: total imports, £49,514,275, exports, £69,471,791. In 1866, the imports amounted to £56,160,000, and the exports to £67,660,000. There are 8 great railway companies. The total length of the "East Indian Railway" is about 1,500 miles. The total length of all the lines open, May 1, 1866, was 3,332. On May 1, 1867, 349 miles of new railway had been opened for traffic, making the total extent of lines now open, 3,943 miles. In 1867, the number of passengers was 13,746,354. There were 2,070 post offices. The mails were conveyed over 46,997 miles, and consisted of 60,000,000 of letters and newspapers. From 1857 to 1866, the length of telegraphs in British India increased from 4,162 miles to 13,390 miles. At the end of 1866, £65,870,712 had been expended on railroads. The vessels, including native craft, entered and cleared at ports of British India, numbered 58,401, of 7,621,384 tons; 36,491 were native vessels. The import of merchandise, in 1865—66, amounted to £29,599,228, of treasure, to £26,557,301, of raw cotton, to £35,587,389, and of opium, to £11,122,746. Over 13,000,000 lbs. of cotton were shipped from Bombay in December, 1867, and 27,139,863 lbs. during February, 1868.

4. BURMAH.

Capitals, Ava and Monchobo. Area, 190,517 square miles. Population, 4,000,000.

Burmah was formerly the most extensive and powerful of the states of Farther India, but since the war with Great Britain (1824 to 1826), its territory has been considerably reduced. It is composed of the kingdoms of Burmah, Pegu and Pong, with portions of the countries inhabited by the Khyen, and the Shan countries.

The government is hereditary and despotic. The sovereign is assisted by a council of the nobility, over whom he has a kind of feudal jurisdiction; the titles of the nobility are not hereditary. Education, so far as reading and writing is concerned, is more common than in most of the Asiatic States. Public revenue is derived from a tithe of the profit of cultivation, duties of ten per cent. on imports and five per cent. on exports, royal monopolies of marble, amber, precious metals and gems above a certain size. The Empire is divided into 7 provinces. Ava and Monchobo have alternately been constituted the capital of the Empire. Among the other principal towns are Amarapura, Sakaing, Rangoon, Bassain, Martaban, Sctang, Taungo, Prome, Patango, Yandabo, and Bhamo. Burmah is the seat of flourishing American Baptist Missions, with about 300 native preachers, 16,000 members, and a mission press at Rangoon, which during the year ending 1865, printed 171,900 copies of books and tracts, mostly in the native languages.

5. CEYLON.

Area, 24,705 square miles. Population, 2,049,728.

Government. The administration is in the hands of a Governor, aided by an Executive Council of 5 members, and a Legislative Council of 15 members. The present Governor of Ceylon is Sir H. Robinson.

The public revenue and expenditure of this Colony in 1866, was as follows: Revenue, £963,000; expenditure, £918,000. Rather more than one-third of the revenue is derived from import and export duties. The trade and commerce of Ceylon has greatly expanded in recent years, having more than trebled from 1857 to 1864. The total imports in 1866, amounted to £4,960,000, while the total exports amounted to £3,590,000.

6. CHINA.

Capital, Peking. Area, 4,695,334 square miles. Population, 477,500,000.

The Empire is divided into 18 provinces. While the tributary States are very thinly populated, China proper is one of the most densely peopled countries of the world. The chief cities are, Soochow, about 2,000,000 inhabitants; Peking, 1,648,814. (For the other large cities see the list of large cities of the world).

Sovereign. The reigning Emperor, KI-TSIANG, born April 5, 1855, son of the Emperor Hien-fung, succeeded his father Aug. 22, 1861. He is the 8th emperor of the Tartar dynasty of Taising, which succeeded to the native dynasty of Ming in 1644.

Government: The Emperor is spiritual as well as temporal Sovereign. The administration of the Empire is under the supreme direction of the "Interior Council Chamber," comprising 4 members and 2 assistants from the "Great College." The fundamental laws are contained in the sacred books of Confucius. There are 8 boards of Government, the present chief of which is Prince Kong. Independent of the Government, and theoretically above the central administration, is the Board of Public Censors; it consists of 40 to 50 members; all the members of this board are privileged to present any remonstrance to the Sovereign. There are five degrees of nobility. The civil mandarins (about 15,000) are divided into two classes, from the first of which the ministers of State are taken, and from the second of which are filled the minor offices of the empire. The military mandarins number about 20,000 men, distributed into five classes.

Finances. The estimates of the public revenue of China are variable and conflicting. Official returns of the Government are not trustworthy; according to the latest published returns, the revenue amounted to 192,000,000 taels (=£64,000,000), of which the land-tax in money and kind amounted to 167,000,000 taels.

Army. There are no official reports on army and navy. According to recent estimates the army consists nominally of 4 divisions, of the total strength of 600,000 men, scattered all over the empire, besides about 200,000 irregular troops (Tartars). The soldiers pursue as chief business some civil occupation in their own houses; a standing army, in the European sense of the word, does not exist.

Commerce. By the terms of the commercial treaty of Nanking in 1842, 5 ports of the empire were opened to European trade: Canton, Amoy, Foochow, Ningpo and Shanghai. To these ports were subsequently (in 1858) added 8 others: Swatow, Tientsin, Che-foo, Hankow, Kin-kiang, Chin-kiang, Formosa, and New-chang. The relative importance of these 13 gates of Chinese commerce is shown in the following table, which gives the total value of the imports and exports of each in 1864:

Ports.	Imports.	Exports.	Ports.	Imports.	Exports.

In the movement of ships there were about 19,000 vessels of a burthen of 6,000,000 tons, 6,852 of which were British, 5,355 American, and 320 French.

The port of Shanghai exported, in November, 1865, 347,718 pieces of cotton goods; and in the period from June 1 to Nov. 30, 1866, 20,337 bales of silk; 242,000 piculs of black, and 33,000 of green tea. The total value of merchandise exported in 1865, in the inland trade of China with Russia, by way of Kiachta, amounted to 8,000,000 silver roubles (=4 francs); the value of goods imported from Russia, was 7,750,000. The number of American vessels entered in Shanghai for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1868, was 122, with a tonnage of 129,298; the value of imports amounted to 14,735,000 taels, that of exports to 5,487,000 taels (1 tael=$1.60). Tea, silk, &c., shipped to the United States for same time, $201,498. The estimated total value of trade carried on under foreign flags in 1866, amounted to 299,929,541 taels. The total estimated value of foreign imports and coastwise, was 172,462,136 taels in 1866, to which Great Britain contributed 31,757,249 taels, the United States 289,882, and the Chinese ports, coastwise, 95,531,355. The amount of tea exported in 1866 was 1,183,042 piculs (1 picul=133 lbs.) The import of opium for local consumption, at the open ports, increased in 1866 to 64,576 piculs, of the estimated value of 34,838,640 taels; there were also imported grey shirtings, 2,182,602 pieces, and sugar, 1,556,899 piculs.

China is traversed in all directions by 20,000 imperial roads, most of which, however, are in bad condition. There are extensive coal fields in China.

The Chinese Government is (1868) negotiating treaties with the prominent civilized nations. It has conceded the privilege of connecting the great seaports of the empire by submarine telegraph cable. These ports have a foreign commerce of $900,000,000, besides an immense internal trade.

7. JAPAN.

Capital, Yeddo. Area, 149,399 square miles. Population, 35,000,000.

The number of foreigners settled in Japan is as yet very small. Several ports have been opened to aliens, Kanagawa, Nagasaki, Osaka, Hiogo, Hakodaki. The laws of Japan are severe and sanguinary. The chief cities are Yeddo, 1,554,848 inhabitants, Osaka, about 1,000,000, and Miaco, 600,000.

Government. The head of the State is the "Mikado" or Emperor; but for many centuries the administration has been almost wholly in the hands of a hereditary Tycoon. In 1868, after a war between the Tycoon Stotsbashi (since 1866), and the young Mikado (since 1867), the Mikado resumed the administration of the Empire, and abolished the Tycoonate. The actual government is vested in a number of feudal princes, or "Daimios," proprietors of a more or less extensive territory, over which they exercise absolute sway. The administration of the Empire is carried on by two Councils of State. The Mikado has recently convoked a Parliament of the Daimios and Councillors selected without regard to rank.

Army. The Daimios are stated to keep up an effective army of 368,000 infantry and 38,000 cavalry, forming the Federal army. The Imperial army formerly kept by the Tycoon, reached the nominal figure of 100,000 infantry and 20,000 cavalry. The reconstruction of the government will require a reorganization of the army.

Commerce. The trade of Japan with foreign countries showed a remarkable expansion in 1865. The total imports brought to Japan by British vessels alone amounted to $11,560,509, and the imports in other vessels to $2,634,262. The exports in British vessels amounted to $16,186,823; and the exports in other foreign vessels to $2,303,407. The increase in the value of exports was owing chiefly to the great rise in the price of Japanese silks. The internal trade of Japan is very extensive. There were imported into Osaka, in 1866, salt, 916,270 bags: charcoal, 1,253,880 bags: wood, 921,540 bundles: mats (rough), 105,000 packages. Total of merchant vessels, 1,843.

8. JAVA.

The area of Java, the most important of the Asiatic possessions of the Netherlands, including Madura, embraces 51,336 square miles, with a population (in 1865), of 14,168,416. The population has trebled since 1816, when the British Government restored the colony to the Netherlands. Slavery was abolished in 1860. The bulk of the people are held in strict subjugation as agricultural laborers.

Government. Java is governed in an absolute manner. It is divided into 24 provinces, each governed by a President. The executive is in the hands of a Governor-General, who is assisted by a Council of 5 members.

Java furnished to the Netherlands a large surplus revenue, after paying for its own government, principally by the sale of a vast amount of colonial produce.

The peculiar government of Java necessitates a comparatively large army, numbering about 30,000 rank and file. More than one-half of the troops are natives. The fleet consisted in 1865, of 2 screw frigates, 3 corvettes, and 25 smaller steamers.

Almost the entire trade of Java is with the Netherlands. Next in importance are Great Britain, China and Macao, the Eastern Archipelago, France and the Gulf of Persia. The principal articles of export are indigo, coffee, sugar and tobacco.

9. PERSIA.

Capital, Teheran. Area, 562,344 square miles. Population, 5,000,000.

The chief cities of Persia are Tabris (Tauris), 150,000 inhabitants, Teheran, 120,000, Meshed, 90,000, Ispahan, 60,000. More than 3,000,000 are nomads. The sovereign is Nasser-ed-Din, Shah of Persia, born 1829, succeeded, 1848.

The revenue of the Crown treasure amounts to 3,000,000 tomans (36,000,000 francs), to which must be added the immense donations given to the ruler. From the Crown treasure are paid the civil list and the public expenditure. There is no public debt, the deficits being covered by extraordinary contributions, fines, etc.

The Persian army numbers at present 90 regular regiments of 800 men each, 3 squadrons of regular cavalry of 500 men, 5,000 men artillery, and about 30,000 irregular cavalry.

The total commerce of Persia reaches the following values: Over the western frontiers, imports, 12,950,000 thalers, exports, 13,200,000 thalers: over the eastern frontiers, imports, 8,000,000 thalers, exports, 7,800,000 thalers: total imports, 20,950,000 thalers, exports, 21,000,000 thalers. Silk is the most valuable article.

10. SIAM.

Capital, Bangkok. Area, 309,024 square miles. Population, 6,298,990.

The limits of the kingdom of Siam have varied much at different periods, and even now the lines of demarcation cannot be exactly traced. The total area is about 309,024 square miles, the population about 6,000,000. The Siamese dominions are divided into 41 provinces. The chief city, Bangkok, has 500,000 inhabitants.

The first King of Siam, Somdel Phra (born Oct. 18, 1804, succeeded, 1851), died in 1868. (See "Obituaries"). The second king was Wangna, born, 1810, brother of Somdel Phra, and heir-apparent.

Government. Siam is a fental monarchy, the supreme rulers possessing, however, more power than those in Japan. The general legislative and executive authority is vested in two Kings, the first being the real occupant of the throne, and the second only nominally his equal.

The public revenue is estimated at about $20,000,000 annually, of which sum the poll-tax and fines for non-service in the army, produce $2,500,000. The people are subjected to personal service.

There is no standing army, but a general armament of the people. The fleet of war consists of numerous junks, galleys, &c. The foreign trade passes through the port of Bangkok. The principal articles of trade are rice and sugar. The kingdom is rich in minerals.

11. TARTARY, Independent.

Area, 640,516 square miles. Population, 7,870,000.

Independent Tartary (or Turkistan, or Turan), is a country in Central Asia, comprising the Khanates of Maymene, 100,000 inhabitants; Khiva, 1,500,000; Bokhara, 2,500,000; Khokan, 3,000,000; and the territory of the Turcomans, 770,000. Our knowledge of all these states is very imperfect, and the statements of different writers on population and area widely differ. The principal cities are Bokhara, Samarcand, Balkh and Kushee in Bokhara; Khiva (with 10,000 inhabitants) in the Khanate of Khiva; and Khokan in the Khanate of Khokan. The territory of Independent Tartary has of late been greatly reduced by Russian conquests, and a large portion of Khokan, with the important cities of Taskkent (40,000 inhabitants) and Khojend has been annexed to Russia, and (in 1867) formed into the Russian province of Turkestan.

1. ABYSSINIA.

Chief Town, Gondar. Area, 158,392 square miles. Population, 3,000,000.

Abyssinia is one of the most ancient monarchies of the world. The people were converted to Christianity at the time of Constantine, and in the following centuries the power of the Abyssinian rulers greatly extended; but then it began to decline, and the Turks on the one side, and the Gallas on the other, almost entirely separated them from other nations. For more than a century the princes of this ancient dynasty have been deprived of their authority, and the empire has been divided into several states, the chief of which are Shoa, Tigre, and Amhara. The first ruler who re-established a superiority over all the petty princes, and began the consolidation of the country into one empire, was the late King Theodore, who acceded to the throne in 1855, and perished at the capture of his fortress Magdala by the English, in April, 1868. In August, 1868, King Gobazie, the ruler of Waag, declared himself Emperor of all Abyssinia, but a number of chiefs do not recognize or openly combat his authority.

2. ALGERIA.

Capital, Algiers. Area, 258,317 square miles. Population, 2,921,246.

The boundaries of Algeria are not well defined, large proportions of the territory in the outlying districts being claimed both by the French government and the nomadic tribes which inhabit it. The area and population given, are in accordance with the latest official estimates.

Government. This is the largest and most important of the French colonies, and is entirely under military rule. The administration is in the hands of a Governor General. The country is divided into five military districts.

Finances. The cost of maintenance of the army, the expenditure for public works, and other large sums disbursed by the government, are provided out of the French budget. It is calculated that the sum total of French expenditure in Algeria, from the time of its conquest till the end of 1865, amounted to 5,000,000,000 francs.

Army. The French troops in Algeria consist of one army corps (the 7th), numbering about 60,000 men. The native troops consist of three regiments of Zouaves, three of Turcos, three of chasseurs, and three of Spahis—altogether 15,000 infantry and 3,000 horse.

Commerce. Since the days of the French conquest, trade in Algeria has made immense strides; while in 1830 it did not exceed £248,000, it reached £9,000,000 in 1866. France draws a large amount of agricultural produce, particularly corn and cattle, from the colony. Great progress has been made in the cultivation of the vine. In recent years the culture of cotton has also been attempted.

3. CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

Capital, Cape Town. Area, 192,834 square miles. Population, 496,381.

The colony is divided into fourteen districts, containing an area of 192,834 square miles, and a population of 496,381 inhabitants. The European inhabitants consist in part of the English authorities and English settlers; but the majority are of Dutch, German, or French origin. The colored people are chiefly Hottentots and Kafirs; the remaining portion of the population consists of Malays.

Government. The executive is vested in the Governor and an Executive Council: the legislative power rests with a Legislative Council of 15 elected members, and a House of Assembly of 46 elected members. The present Governor is Sir Wodehouse.

Finance. The revenue is mainly derived from import duties. The income was, in 1866, £874,064; the expenditure £858,072. The colony had a public debt, at the end of 1865, of £851,650.

Commerce. The value of the total imports, in 1865, was £2,125,332; that of the exports, £2,297,173. Among the articles of export, wool is the most important.

4. EGYPT.

Capital, Cairo. Area, 659,081 square miles. Population, 7,465,000.

The population consists of Egyptians, Copts, Bedouin Arabs, Jews, Armenians, and domiciled Europeans. By far the greater number are the "Fillahs" (Arabs), who cultivate the soil. The chief cities are Cairo, 256,700 inhabitants; Alexandria, 164,400 inhabitants (of which about half are Europeans).

Sovereign. ISMAIL PASCHA, Viceroy of Egypt, born 1816, the oldest surviving son of Ibrahim Pascha, succeeded January 18, 1863. The present viceroy is the fifth ruler of Egypt of the family of Mehemet Ali, in which family the government has been hereditary since 1841. He pays tribute to the Sultan, and in case of need furnishes a contingent of soldiers to the Ottoman army; but in other respects he is quite independent.

Government. Egypt, formerly a province of the Turkish Empire, became independent in 1811. The independent position of the rulers was greatly enlarged by the imperial firman of May 14, 1867, establishing the direct succession of the descendants of Mehemet Ali, and confirming upon them the title of King. The administration of the country is under a Council of State, consisting of four military and four civil dignitaries, appointed by the king. By the side of this council stands a ministry, divided into the departments of finance and foreign affairs. A Governor is at the head of each of the seven provinces. The King has recently instituted an Assembly of Representatives.

Finance. The annual revenue of the government is estimated, according to reliable statements, at £8,000,000. The Egyptian budget recently published, estimates the revenue at £7,477,498, and the expenditure at £4,826,805, showing a surplus of £2,650,000. The tribute to the Turkish government amounted formerly to 80,000 purses (= £360,000), but is said to have been considerably increased since 1866. There exist two government loans, contracted in 1862 and 1864; the former amounts to 60,000,000 francs, to be repaid by semi-annual rates of 3,250,000 francs for 30 years; the latter amounts to £5,000,000 to be extinguished, by payments of £310,000 in equal rates, within fifteen years.

Army and Navy. The army is raised by conscription. It consisted, in 1867, of four regiments of infantry, of 3,000 men each; of a battalion of chasseurs, of 1,000 men; of 3,500 cavalry; 1,500 artillery; and two battalions of engineers, of 1,500 each. There is, besides, a regiment of black troops, of the Soudan, 3,000 men strong. The Egyptian navy comprised, in 1867, seven ships of the line, six frigates, nine corvettes, seven brigs, eighteen gunboats and smaller vessels, and twenty-seven transports.

Commerce. The total value of the trade of Alexandria in Egyptian piasters (20 = $1) was, in 1866, 1,307,045,000 piasters. There entered the port of Alexandria in 1866, 3,698 ships, of which 980 were steamers, of a total burthen of 1,373,217 tons.

5. LIBERIA.

Capital, Monrovia. Area, 9,567 square miles. Population, 717,500.

The settlement of Liberia, founded in 1822, was in 1847 proclaimed a free and independent State, and recognized by the United States in 1861.

Government. The constitution of the republic of Liberia is formed after that of the United States. The executive is vested in a president, and the legislative power is exercised by a parliament of two houses. The President of Liberia (since Jan. 6, 1868), is J. Spriggs Payne. For political and judicial purposes, the republic is divided into counties. The government is entirely in the hands of men of the African race.

Finances. The revenue, in the budget for 1868, amounted to $108,297; the expenditure to $106,745.

Commerce. The exports amounted, in 1866, to $436,571.90. The Liberians have built and manned thirty coast traders, and they have a number of large vessels engaged in commerce with the United States and Great Britain. The principal exports are coffee, sugar and palm oil.

6. MADAGASCAR.

Capital, Antanarivo. Area, 232,315 square miles. Population, 5,000,000.

The earliest history of this island is involved in the deepest mystery. In 1816, diplomatic and commercial relations were entered into between England and Radama, King of the Hovas, the most powerful of the Malagash tribes, who had gradually extended his influence over the greater part of Madagascar. This King was a great patron of the Protestant missionaries, and especially of their schools, of which there were more than 100, affording instruction to about 5,000 children. Radama died in 1828, and was succeeded by his Queen, Ranavala, who tried to extirpate Christianity, and to break off all connection with foreigners. Her son, Radama II., who succeeded her in 1861, restored friendly relations with European nations, and allowed the re-opening of Christian missions. He was succeeded in 1863, by his Queen, Rasoheima, who was opposed to Christianity, but desirous of continuing intercourse with Europeans. Rasoheima died in 1868, and her successor openly patronizes the work of the Christian missionaries. Christianity, education and civilization in general are now making very rapid progress, and the island bids fair to soon take a place among the civilized nations of the earth.

Hitherto the government has been a despotic monarchy. Public assemblies are sometimes called and addressed by the monarch, but they are not consulted. The island is divided into about twenty-five provinces, each being governed by a Chief subject to the King.

7. NATAL.

Area and Population. The colony has an estimated area of 19,347 square miles, with a population of 156,165, and a seacoast of 150 miles. About one-seventh of the population are of European origin.

Government. The colony of Natal was erected into a separate government in 1845, being administered by a lieutenant governor. The present lieutenant-governor is T. Maclean.

Finance. The revenue was, in 1866, £157,000; the expenditure, £205,000.

Commerce. The value of imports, in 1867, was £269,580; exports, £225,671. The staple production was wool, its export reaching, in 1867, 1,974,447 pounds.

1. FEEJEE ISLANDS.

Area, 8,033 square miles. Population, 200,000.

The Feejee Islands are a group of islands in the South Pacific. Altogether, they number about 225, of which 80 are inhabited. Next to the Sandwich Islands, they are the largest of the Polynesia States which have thus far maintained native Governments. They are the seat of a flourishing mission of the English Wesleyans, and the number of attendants upon their religious services is reported as exceeding 50,000. Seven years ago, the King offered to cede the islands to Great Britain, but no action has yet been taken by the English Government upon this offer. In 1868, King Thakombau, finding himself unable to pay the indemnity claimed by the United States Government for the murder of the crews of two American vessels by natives of the islands, proposed, through his Prime Minister, Mr. C. S. Hare (an Englishman), to sell to the Government of the United States the three islands which had been mortgaged for the payment of the indemnity. Finally, however, a contract was made with a company in Melbourne, which, for extensive grants of land and other privileges, undertook the payment of the indemnity. White population, about 600. Exports, in 1867, £39,960.

2. NEW SOUTH WALES.

This is the oldest of the Australasia colonies. The area embraces 478,861 square miles, with a population, in 1865, of 411,388. In 1866, the population amounted to 431,412. The number of immigrants introduced into the colony in 1865, at the public expense, was 2,717.

Government. The constitution vests the legislative power in a Parliament of two Houses. There were, in 1865, 1,069 schools with 53,453 scholars.

Revenue. The revenue amounted, in 1866, to £2,038,079, the expenditure to £2,036,935; the land revenue amounted to £547,138; the revenue derived from gold to £27,410. The public debt amounted to £5,802,980, and was entirely incurred for railways and public works.

Commerce. The trade has more than quintupled since 1850. The total value of the imports, in 1865, amounted to £9,928,595; the exports to £8,191,170. The staple article is wool. There were in March, 1866, 1,961,905 horned cattle, and 8,132,511 sheep. New South Wales is believed to be richer in coal than any other territory of Australasia. There were, in 1865, 585,525 tons raised from twenty-four mines. They are steadily increasing in productiveness.

3. NEW ZEALAND.

The colony of New Zealand is a group of three islands, nearly 1,000 miles long and 200 miles broad. The area is estimated at 106,261 square miles, with a population in 1865, of 201,712, and in 1867, 208,682. The white population is composed chiefly of emigrants from Great Britain.

The legislative power is vested in a Parliament of two Chambers.

In 1866 the revenue was £1,979,000; the expenditure £3,293,000. A considerable portion of the revenue is derived from the sale of crown lands. The public debt amounted to £5,436,000. The imports rose, in 1865, to £5,890,000, and the exports to £4,520,000. Wool growing, ship-building and the trade in timber are the chief elements of industry.

4. QUEENSLAND.

Queensland comprises the whole north-eastern portion of the Australian continent. Its Area is 678,600 square miles, of which 195,000 were already occupied by pastoral stations in 1861. The population amounted in 1864 to 61,467, in 1866, to 96,172. Emigration is adding more than 10,000 persons every year. The colony of Queensland was established in 1859, on its separation from New South Wales. The power of making laws and imposing taxes is vested in a Parliament of two Houses. The revenue, in 1865, amounted to £631,432; the expenditure to £613,161. The value of the imports, in 1866, was £2,467,907, of the exports £1,366,491. The staple article is wool.

5. SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Capital, Honolulu. Area, 7,633 square miles. Population, 62,959.

History. The Sandwich or Hawaii Islands is a group of thirteen islands, six of which are mere islets; while seven, namely, Hawaii, Maui, Atauai, Oahu, Molokai (or Morotai), Ranai (or Lanai), and Nihau are inhabited. They were discovered in 1778 by Captain Cook, and at that time each island had its separate ruler. Afterwards the islands were consolidated into one kingdom by Kamehamaha I. (1784-1810). His son, Kamehamaha II. (died 1824) abolished idolatry. The brother of the latter, Kamehamaha III. (died 1854) had his sovereignty recognized by England and the United States. Kamehamaha IV. (died 1863) was married to an English lady, and favored the influence of England. He was succeeded by his brother, Prince Lot, who now reigns as Kamehamaha V.

The population of the islands has been steadily decreasing since the time of their discovery, as the following table shows:

	Native.		White.	Natives.	Total.
1779 (estimate by Cook).....	400,000	1850 (census).....	1,962	82,203	84,165
1828 (estimate).....	142,050	1853 ".....	2,119	71,019	73,138

1836 ".....	108,579	1866 ".....	4,194	58,765	62,959

Government. The present King, Kamehamaha V. was born Dec. 11, 1830, and succeeded his brother November, 1863. He is a son of the Governor Kekuanaoa and of Kinau, daughter of Kamehamaha I. The Sandwich Islands are a constitutional monarchy. The ministry, in 1868, was constituted as follows: Foreign Affairs, Crosnier de Varigny; Interior, F. G. Hutchin-son; Finances and Justice, C. C. Harris.

6. SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

The total area of this territory is calculated to comprise 383,328 square miles, with a population in 1865, of 148,143, and in 1867, of 178,500. The legislative power is vested in a Parliament elected by the people, and consisting of a Legislative Council and a House of Assembly. The revenue of the colony was, in 1866, £975,000. The expenditure, £1,055,000. The total value of South Australian imports, in 1865, was £2,840,000, and of exports £2,890,000.

7. TASMANIA.

This colony was formerly known as Van Diemen's Land; its area is estimated at 26,215 square miles, and its population in 1865, at 95,201, in 1866, at 97,368. The Constitution gives a Legislative Council and a House of Representatives. The revenue, in 1865, amounted to £338,076; the expenditure to £353,456. The total value of imports, in 1865, was £403,559; exports, £231,436.

8. VICTORIA.

The estimated population, in 1866, was 643,912, and the area 86,944 square miles.

The revenue was in the same year, £3,322,887, and its expenditure £3,321,779. The total value of imports amounted to £13,257,537; that of the exports to £13,150,748. The staple article is wool, of a value of £3,303,478 in 1865. The product of the gold fields, in 1866, had a value of nearly £6,000,000.

9. WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

In 1866 the population numbered 21,065. The occupied portion of the colony is about 600 miles in length, by about 150 miles in average breadth. It is the only colony to which convicts from Great Britain continue to be transported. The trade amounted, in 1868, to £168,414 for imports, and £179,147 for exports.

COMPARATIVE STATISTICS OF THE WORLD,

RELATING TO AREA AND POPULATION.

I. THE LARGE DIVISIONS OF THE WORLD.

The following table exhibits the large divisions of the world, in the order of their extent and population. The islands south-east of Asia are classed with Asia. The increase of population is more rapid in America and Australia than in Asia, Europe and Africa.

	Square miles.		Population.

III. LARGE CITIES OF THE WORLD.

1. CITIES CONTAINING MORE THAN 100,000 INHABITANTS.

The following table gives all the cities of the world which contain 100,000 inhabitants and upwards, their population, and the year of the latest census, respectively. The rank of each among the cities of the country in which it is situated, is indicated by a figure in parenthesis, immediately following the name of the country.

PART IV.

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF THE WORLD.

For a correct understanding of the following tables of ecclesiastical statistics, it is of importance to distinguish between active and nominal members of a religious denomination. Full accuracy can only be obtained with regard to actual membership, but our knowledge of this class of statistics is becoming more and more accurate, as the number of churches which make an enumeration of their members is increasing. On the other hand, religious statistics of population can only consist of estimates. They include the population which lives and grows up under the influence of a particular religious belief. Formerly, most governments of the world required all their subjects to be connected with some particular religious denomination, and official censuses contained ecclesiastical as well as political statistics; but as religion is being more generally recognized as a free act of every citizen which does not concern the state government, the holding of ecclesiastical censuses has been altogether discontinued in several countries, as in the United States and Great Britain. The official censuses of these countries include, however, statistics of places of worship, of church sittings, and many other facts which are of use in forming a reasonable estimate of the religious belief of the population.

I.—CREEDS OF THE WORLD.

The total population of the world is now estimated at 1,375,000,000. In 1859, one of the ablest statisticians of Europe, Professor Dieterici, of Berlin, taking 1,300,000,000 as the total population of the world, classified them as follows: Christians, 335,000,000; Jews, 5,000,000; East Asiatic religions, 600,000,000; Mohammedans, 160,000,000; Pagans, 200,000,000. On the basis of the larger estimate of the present population of the world, we give the number belonging to each of the principal denominations, as near as can be obtained from the most trustworthy sources of information.

Christians.....	380,000,000	Pagans.....	200,000,000
Buddhists.....	360,000,000	Mohammedans.....	165,000,000
Other Asiatic religions.....	260,000,000	Jews.....	7,000,000

Christianity is the prevailing religion in every country of America and Europe, in Australia and in many of the islands of Polynesia. In Europe, one country—Turkey, is under a non-Christian government, but the great majority of the inhabitants in the European provinces are Christians. In Africa, Abyssinia and Liberia are independent Christian States, and besides, Christianity prevails in a number of colonies belonging to European States.

The largest empire of Asia—Russia, is also a Christian country. India, the third country in point of extent, is under the rule of a Christian government, and so is a large portion of Farther India.

The Mohammedan countries in Asia, are Turkey, Persia, Affghanistan, and the Khanates of Central Asia; in Africa—Morocco, the dependencies of Turkey, (Egypt, Tunis, Tripoli,) and a number of interior states.

Buddhism prevails in India, Farther India, in many parts of China, and in Japan. The governments of Japan, Burmah, and Siam are Buddhist; the government of China adheres to the religion of Confucius.

II.—GENERAL STATISTICS OF CHRISTIANITY.

1. Divisions of Christianity.

It is common to divide the Christian churches into three groups:

(1.) The Roman Catholic Church. This church is apparently one organization, and the recognition of the Pope as the head of the entire church is an article of faith. There is one religious organization in Holland, (the Jansenists,) who, while they claim to belong to the Roman Catholic church, are not recognized by the Pope. Besides, in the Roman Catholic countries of Europe there are many millions whose connection with the Roman Catholic church is only nominal. The attitude of the Parliaments of Italy, Austria, Belgium, Portugal and other states is a conclusive proof of this.

(2.) The Eastern or Oriental Churches. This group embraces the following denominations: The Greek Church, the Armenian Church, the Nestorians, the Jacobites, the Copts, and the Abyssinians. All of them recognize the first Œcumenical council of Nice, and have bishops for whom they claim an apostolic succession.

(3.) The Protestant Churches. All the churches not belonging to one of the two preceding groups, are generally comprised under the collective name of Protestants. We must not omit to state that there are parties in some of the denominations, classed under this head, which protest against the application of this name to them. Thus in the established church of England, and the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, there is a party which desires to be placed in the second, instead of the third of our groups. If their church should adopt this view, our second group should be designated as The Episcopal churches with Apostolic Succession. But for the present we follow the long-established usage, and without prejudging the propriety of the technical names, retain the classification which has been commonly adopted by statisticians. The subdivisions of Protestantism are numerous, and we speak of them below.

2. The Roman Catholic, the Eastern and the Protestant Churches.

The following tables contain, as nearly as can be ascertained, the statistics of the Roman Catholic, Eastern and Protestant Churches in every country of the world. The total population is taken, in great part, from Behm's Geographisches Jahrbuch, vol. 2, (Gotha, 1868.)

AUSTRALIA AND POLYNESIA.

The total population of Australia according to the latest census was, 1,313,946; the population of the islands is estimated at 2,823,925, total, 4,192,000.

The number of Roman Catholics in New South Wales, is 99,193; in South Australia, 15,594; in Victoria, 107,610; in New Zealand, about 30,000; in the Sandwich Islands, 22,000. The total number of Roman Catholics in Australia and Polynesia may be estimated at 350,000.

Nearly the whole population of the English Possessions, that is not Roman Catholic and Jewish, may be set down as Protestant. This gives about 1,300,000 for Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand. In the Sandwich, Fiji and other islands, there may be about 150,000. Total number of Protestants, about 1,450,000.

III. THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

1. The Pope. The Pope, Pius IX., formerly Giovanni Maria di Mastai Ferretti, was born at Sinigaglia on the 13th of May, 1792; elected Pope on the death of Gregory XVI., in 1846, and crowned on the 21st of June of that year.

2. The Cardinals. There were, in November 1868, 57 Cardinals, of whom 5 were Cardinal Bishops, 44 Cardinal Priests, and 8 Cardinal Deacons. Thirty-nine were Italian by birth, and only 18 non-Italians, 7 French, 4 Spanish, 4 Germans, 1 Croatian, 1 Portuguese, and 1 Irish.

Among the new Cardinals created in 1868, was Prince Lucian Bonaparte, a cousin of the Emperor of France.

3. Patriarchs, Archbishops and Bishops. According to the official Papal Almanac (Annuario Pontificio) for 1867, the number of Patriarchates, Archbishoprics and Bishoprics in the Roman Catholic Church amounted to 1,092. This includes all the prelates of the Oriental Churches that are in communion with Rome—namely, those of the Armenian Catholics, the Maronites, the Greek Catholics, the Syrians, the Bulgarian Greeks, and the Chaldeans.

The name Patriarch no longer signifies, as in the ancient Church, the head of one of the largest divisions of the Church, but is now chiefly a title. There are twelve prelates in the Roman Catholic Church who bear this title, namely: Constantinople, Alexandria, Antioch, Jerusalem, Venice, West Indies, Lisbon, Antioch of the Greek Melchites, Antioch of the Maronites, Antioch of the Syrians, Babylon of the Chaldeans, Cilicia of the Armenians. (The Patriarch of the West Indies resides at the court of Madrid, and is Grand Almoner of the Sovereign, and Vicar-General of the Army and the Fleet).

The following list contains the names of all Archbishoprics and the number of Bishoprics in every country:

America. United States. Archbishoprics, 7: New York, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, San Francisco, Oregon City. Bishoprics, 46, the dioceses (Archbishoprics and the Bishoprics) are divided among the seven provinces as follows:

Province of Baltimore comprises the dioceses of Baltimore, Charleston, Erie, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Richmond, Savannah, Scranton, Wheeling, and Wilmington, (Del.) with the vicariates Apostolic of North Carolina and Florida, and extends over the District of Columbia, and the States of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and the eastern section of Florida. Province of Cincinnati embraces the dioceses of Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Covington, Detroit, Fort Wayne, Louisville, Marquette and Vincennes, including the States of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and Kentucky. Province of New Orleans, La., comprises the dioceses of New Orleans, Galveston, Little Rock, Mobile, Natchez, and Natchitoches, and includes the States of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, and Arkansas. Province of New York includes the dioceses of New York, Albany, Boston, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Burlington, Hartford, Newark, Portland, Rochester, and includes New England, New York, and New Jersey. Province of Oregon City includes the dioceses of Oregon City, Nesqually, Vancouver Island, and the vicariate of British Columbia. Province of St. Louis comprises the dioceses of St. Louis, Alton, Chicago, Dubuque, Green Bay, La Crosse, Milwaukee, Nashville, Santa Fe, St. Joseph, St. Paul, the vicariates apostolic of Kansas, the Indian Territory, Nebraska, Idaho, Colorado and Montana, and embraces Missonri, Tennessee, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Dacotah, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona, and the Indian Territory. Province of San Francisco comprises the dioceses of San Francisco, Grass Valley, Monterey, and Los Angeles, and embraces the States of California and Nevada, and all the territory east to the Rio Colorado.

4. Œcumenical Councils. The Catholic Church recognizes nineteen General or Œcumenical Councils, the first of which was that of the Apostles, at Jerusalem, A. D. 50. The others were held as follows: 1st of Nice, in Bithynia, A. D. 325; 1st of Constantinople, A. D. 381; 1st of Ephesus, A. D. 431; Chalcedon, A. D. 451; 2d of Constantinople, A. D. 533; 3d of Constantinople, A. D. 680; 2d of Nice, A. D. 787; 4th of Constantinople, A. D. 869; 4 councils of Lateran, Rome, A. D. 1123, 1139, 1179, and 1215; 1st and 2d of Lyons, A. D. 1245, 1274; Vienna, in Dauphiny, A. D. 1311; Constance, A. D. 1414; Basle, A. D. 1431; Trent, A. D. 1545.

The Councils of Pisa in 1409, of Florence in 1439, and the 5th of the Lateran, in 1512, are regarded by some as œcumenical. The conference of 1854, when the dogma of the immaculate conception was proclaimed, was not an œcumenical council.

A new Œcumenical Council has been called by Pope Pius IX. to meet at Rome, on December 8, 1869.

5. National and Provincial Councils and Diocesan Synods. Meetings of all the bishops of a country under the presidency of one of the Archbishops who either has the title of Primate, or has been designated by the Pope as the first among the Archbishops, are called National Councils. In the United States a National Council is to meet every tenth year. The last was held in 1866, at Baltimore, under the presidency of the Archbishop of Baltimore.

Provincial Councils are the meetings of the bishops belonging to an ecclesiastical province, under the presidency of the Archbishop of the Province.

Diocesan Synods are the meetings of the clergy of a diocese, under the presidency of the Bishop of the diocese.

6. Monastic Orders. The fullest statistics of the monastic institutions of the Roman Catholic Church are to be found in the work, Statistisches Jahrbuch der Kirche (Statistical Year-Book of the Church: Ratisbon, 1862). The author, a Carmelite monk, gives, in alphabetical arrangement, a list of all male and female monastic orders, and, under the head of each order, similarly arranged, the names of all monasteries existing at that time. He estimates the number of male monasteries and establishments at 8,000, and the aggregate number of their members at 117,500. The number of female monasteries and establishments is estimated at 10,000, and the aggregate number of their members at 189,000.

The following are the statistics of some of the principal male Monastic orders: Franciscans, 50,000; School Brethren, 16,000; Jesuits, 8,000; Congregations for nursing the sick, 6,000; Benedictines, 5,000; Dominicans, 4,000; Carmelites, 4,000; Trappists, 4,000; Lazarists, 2,000; Piarists, 2,000; Redemptorists, 2,000.

IV. THE ORIENTAL CHURCHES.

The Greek Church. This is by far the most numerous among the Oriental Churches. It consists of 10 different groups, which in point of administration are independent of each other, namely:

1. The Patriarchate of Jerusalem; which has 13 Sees, (Metropolitanical and 1 Archiepiscopal).
2. The Patriarchate of Antioch; 6 Metropolitanical Sees.
3. The Patriarchate of Alexandria: 4 Metropolitanical Sees.
4. The Patriarchate of Constantinople; 135 Sees (90 Metropolitanical and 45 Archiepiscopal).
5. The Patriarchate of Russia; 65 Sees (5 Metropolitanical, 25 Archiepiscopal).
6. The Patriarchate of Cyprus; 4 Sees, (of which 1 is Archiepiscopal).
7. The Patriarchate of Austria; 11 Sees, (2 Metropolitanical).
8. The Patriarchate of Mt. Sinai; 1 See.
9. The Patriarchate of Montenegro; 1 Metropolitanical See.
10. The Patriarchate of Greece; 24 Sees. (The Archbishop of Athens is ex officio President of the Holy Synod).

The statistics of the Greek Church, reported in 1867, were as follows: Russia, total, 57,161,000; Turkey, inclusive of the dependencies in Europe and Egypt, 13,300,000; Austria, 3,200,000; Greece, (inclusive of the Ionian Islands), 1,270,000; North German Confederation, 2,000; United States of America, 10,000; China, 1,000; total, 74,944,000.

The Armenian Church. The number of Armenians is estimated by Dr. Petermann, one of the highest authorities on ethnographical subjects, at 2,500,000. Of these, about 100,000 are connected with Rome (United Armenians), 15,000 are Evangelical Armenians, and all the others belong to the National (or Gregorian) Armenian Church. Of late, efforts have been made both in Russia and Turkey to prepare the way for a union of the Armenian with the Greek Church. Russia, according to an official report of the Ministry of Popular Enlightenment, had in 1851, 22,253 Catholic (united) Armenians, and 372,535 "Gregorian" (non-united) Armenians. According to a later estimate, there were 35,000 Armenians in European and 500,000 in Asiatic Russia. The Armenian population of Turkey is estimated at 2,000,000, Persia has about 30,000. The highest bishop of the Armenian Church resides at Etchmiatsin, in Asiatic Russia.

The Nestorians, called after Nestorius, a patriarch of Constantinople in the 5th century, were condemned by the Ecumenical Council of Ephesus in 431, for maintaining that there was a great distinction between Christ the Son of God and Christ the Son of Man; and that it was only the human nature of Christ that was born of the Virgin Mary.

The number of Nestorians in Turkey was reported in 1833, as 10,054 families, or 70,000 persons, but other statements give higher figures. In Persia, the number is estimated at 15,000. In India, the Nestorians are commonly known under the name of Christians of St. Thomas, of whom there are about 70,000. In Turkey, the Nestorians have a Patriarch at Diz (Mosul), and 18 bishops.

Since 1833, the American missionaries have labored among the Nestorians, and formed a number of Evangelical Congregations. Those Nestorians who have united with Rome, are generally called Chaldeans. They number about 80,000, and have a patriarch bearing the title of Patriarch of Babylon; and residing at Bagdad, archbishops at Amadia and Seleucia, in Asiatic Turkey; four bishops in Turkey and two in Persia.

The Jacobites, one of the branches of the Monophysites (see Armenians, Copts, Abyssinians). They are called after the monk Jacob Baradaï, who in the middle of the 6th century, re-organized the persecuted Monophysites of Syria.

The Jacobites have a patriarch with the title Patriarch of Antioch, at Caramit (Diarbekir), a maphrian (head of the Eastern Jacobites), in a convent near Mosul. Besides, there are said to be 21 bishops in Asiatic Turkey. The number of families in Turkey is variously estimated from 10,400 to 34,000. It is said that there are about 200,000 Jacobites living in East India (in Malabar and Travancore), who have four bishops, one of whom lives in Cochin. A number of Jacobites have joined the communion of the Roman Catholic Church, and are generally called the United Syrians. They retain the old rite of the Syrian Churches, and the use of the old Syrian language at divine service. Those in Turkey have a patriarch at Aleppo, and several bishops. In India, there are about 96,000 United Syrians, who retain their own rites, and about 60,000 who have entirely identified themselves with the Latin rite.

The Copts is the name of the Monophysites in Egypt (see Armenians). The head of the Church is the Patriarch of Alexandria, who resides at Cairo, with jurisdiction also extending over Nubia and Abyssinia, and the right of consecrating the Abuna (patriarch) of the latter country; 16 bishops and 146 churches and convents. The population is variously estimated at from 150,000 to 250,000, of whom about 10,000 are in Cairo. Of the Copts, about 13,000 have united with the Roman Catholic Church (United Copts).

The Abyssinians. The Christians of Abyssinia are Monophysites like the Copts. They number about 3,000,000.

V. THE PROTESTANT CHURCHES.

Divisions of Protestantism. The name Protestant originated in 1529, in Germany, at the Diet of Spire, when the Evangelical estates refused to submit to a resolution passed by the majority of the Diet, by which all further innovations in religious matters were prohibited until the convocation of an Ecumenical Council. But it has since come into general use as the collective designation of all Christians not belonging to either the Church of Rome, or the Eastern Churches, inclusive even of those who, like the Waldensians originated before the Reformation of the sixteenth century. In some of the Churches embraced under these divisions, there are parties, objecting to being included in this class. We follow the almost universal classification of statisticians.

There is no division of the Protestant Churches that is generally accepted. The name "evangelical" has come into frequent use, to designate one class of Protestant denomination. In 1845, the "Evangelical Alliance" was organized in Liverpool, to be a common bond of union of the denominations called evangelical. Membership of the Alliance was made dependent upon nine tenets, among which were, the Inspiration of the Scriptures, the Trinity, the utter depravity of human nature, the Divinity of Jesus Christ, and the atonement, justification by faith alone, and the divine institution of the sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper. These tenets were, however, not generally accepted by those who sympathized with and took part in the operations of the Alliance. General meetings of the Evangelical Alliance, attended by delegates from all parts of the world, were held at the following places: 1. London, 1846; 2. Paris, 1855; 3. Berlin, 1857; 4. Geneva, 1860; 5. Amsterdam, 1867. The sixth general meeting is to be held in New York in October, 1869.

The Principal Protestant Denominations. Below we give in alphabetical order the principal divisions of Protestantism, especially those in the United States.

Anglican Church. The Anglican Church consists of the following branches: 1. The Established Church of England; 2. The Church of Ireland; 3. The Scotch Episcopal Church; 4. The Church in the British Colonies; 5. The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States. There is besides, one Anglican Church in the Sandwich Islands, and several missionary bishops in Asia and Africa. All the bishops of the above branches were, in 1867, invited by the late Archbishop of Canterbury to a so-called Pan-Anglican Synod. The Synod, the first of its kind, was opened on Sept. 24, and was attended by seventy-six bishops. A hope was expressed that this meeting might be followed by other similar ones.

Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. At the close of the year 1868, the statistics of this Church were as follows:

Lutherans in Europe. In Prussia and a number of other States the Lutherans and the Reformed churches have been fused into the "United Evangelical Church." The Lutheran element prevails in the Protestant State Church of nearly every German State. In Wurtemberg, the greater part of Bavaria, Hanover, Schleswig-Holstein, Mecklenburg, the principalities of Reuss and Schwarzburg, the union of Lutherans and Reformed has not been introduced, and nearly the whole Protestant population belongs to the Lutheran Church.

The Lutheran Church is the State Church in all the Scandinavian States—Sweden, Norway and Denmark, and nearly the whole population belongs to it. Austria has 1,218,750 Lutherans. France has 44 consistories and 232 parishes. The Lutheran population is about 500,000, mostly in the Alsace. In Russia the Lutheran Church is the predominant church in the Baltic provinces and in Finland. The Lutheran population of Poland is 382,000, and of Finland 1,787,000. In Holland there are two organizations of Lutherans; one, the "Evangelical Lutheran," has a population of about 66,000; the other, the "Reformed Lutheran," numbers about 10,000.

Lutherans in Asia, Africa and Australia. The Lutherans sustain missions in India, China, and several parts of Africa. There are about 10,000 Lutherans and German Protestants in Victoria, and a number in the other Australian Colonies.

The number of white members in 1867, was 472,484 (increase over preceding year, 53,080); number of colored members, 54,172 (decrease during the year, 24,570); number of Indian members, 1,851. The Church has 9 bishops, 2,389 traveling preachers, and 3,952 local preachers.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church, and the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. The former body has 560 traveling preachers, 15,000 local preachers, 200,000 members; the latter has 694 traveling preachers, 164,000 members.

The Methodist Church and Methodist Protestants. In 1866, the Northern Conferences of the Methodist Protestants held a "Union Convention," the object of which was to effect a union between non-Episcopal Methodists. The name of the new body was to be simply the "Methodist Church." But this plan of union was repudiated by all save the Methodist Protestants and the new "Methodist Church" which is substantially identical with the former Methodist Protestant Conferences of the Northern States. The Methodist Church has now 624 traveling preachers, 444 local preachers, 49,030 members. In the Southern States, the old name of "Methodist Protestants" has been retained, and the Methodist Protestant Church now reports 423 traveling preachers, and 72,000 members.

Other Methodist Bodies in the United States. The Evangelical Association had, in 1868, 15 Conferences, 500 traveling preachers, 377 local preachers, and 62,344 members.

The Wesleyan Connection has about 250 ministers and 20,000 members. The Free Methodists have 85 ministers and 4,889 members. The Primitive Methodists have 20 traveling preachers and 2,000 members.

Other Parts of America. The Methodist Episcopal Church has a mission in the Argentine Republic, with 171 members. The Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada has 216 traveling preachers and 18,741 members. All the other Methodist bodies in British America and in Hayti are in connection with the English Methodist Denominations. Altogether, the number of Methodists in America outside of the United States is about 150,000.

The Methodist Denominations in Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. The Wesleyan Church, of England, had in 1863, 367,306 members in Great Britain; 20,299 in Ireland and Irish missions, and 68,741 in foreign missions. Adding the French, Australasian, Canada and Eastern British American Conferences which are in connection with the Church, the Church has a total membership of 594,485.

The other Methodist bodies in England are, Primitive Methodists, 159,798; New Connection Methodists, 32,486; United Free Church Methodists, 68,478; Bible Christians, 26,275; Calvinistic Methodists, 58,577; Wesleyan Reform Union, 9,423; Church Methodists in Ireland 9,158. The number of Methodists in France is 2,063; in Germany and Switzerland, 12,092; in Gibraltar and Malta, 51; in Denmark, Sweden and Norway, 769; in India and Ceylon, 2,973; in China, 1,271; in Africa, 42,193; in Australia and Polynesia, 61,081. The total number of the members of all the Methodist denominations was, in 1868, about 3,400,000.

The Church has missions in Trinidad, Syria, India, Egypt, China and Italy. The United Presbyterian Church arose out of a union of the Associate and the Associate Reformed Churches. A part of these organizations refused to join the Union. They now constitute the “Associate Reformed Synod of New York,” which has 16 ministers and 1,631 communicants, and the “Associate Synod of North America,” which has 11 ministers and 778 communicants. There is, besides, the “Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church South,” which has been separated from the northern organizations in consequence of the Slavery question. It has 68 ministers.

Reformed Presbyterians. Of these there are two organizations, the one called the Old Side or the General Synod, the other the New Side or the Synod. The former in 1868, had 8 Presbyteries, 77 ministers, with a membership of 8,487. The latter had 63 ministers and 5,821 communicants.

Presbyterians in Great Britain and the British Colonies. The main branches of Presbyterianism in Great Britain are the following: "The Church of Scotland," which is the State Church in Scotland, has 16 Synods, 84 Presbyteries and 1,243 congregations; "The Free Church of Scotland" has 16 Synods, 71 Presbyteries, 861 churches, 3 theological schools with 226 students; "The United Presbyterian Church" has 31 Presbyteries in England and Scotland, 584 Ministers, 596 Churches, and (1868), 176,391 communicants; "The Reformed Presbyterian Synod" (Cameronians) has 6 Presbyteries, 45 churches, 2 Professors in Divinity, 41 ministers, and (1868), 6,516 members; "The Presbyterian Seceders" have 4 Presbyteries, and 25 congregations; "The Presbyterian Church in England" has 7 Presbyteries, 119 congregations and 20,782 communicants; "The Presbyterian Church in Ireland" has 50 ministers, and 60 churches. The largest of these denominations have branches in Canada, Australia and other colonies.

Reformed Churches. Reformed Churches in the United States. Of these there are two, the one formerly called the "Reformed Dutch Church," but since 1867, simply the "Reformed Church," the second called the "German Reformed Church."

The Reformed Church, in 1868, reported: Ministers, 469; candidates, 7; families, 37,090; members added on confession, 3,705; members added on certificate, 2,294; total number in communion, 59,508; infants baptized, 3,843; total number of S. S. scholars, 47,981; amount contributed for religious and benevolent purposes, $204,492.93.

The statistics of the German Reformed Church were in January, 1869, reported as follows: Synods, 3; classes, 31; ministers, 505; congregations, 1,181; members, 115,483; Sunday school scholars, 44,435.

Reformed Churches in Europe and Africa. In Holland, the Reformed Church is the State church, and has about 1,800,000 members. There is in the same country, a Free Reformed Church, with about 70,000 members. In Switzerland, the Reformed Church is the State church of all the Protestant Cantons, and nearly the whole Protestant population (about 1,400,000) belongs to it. In some Cantons, (as Vaud, Geneva), there are Free Reformed Churches beside the National Churches. In Germany, the Reformed Church has been nearly absorbed by the United Evangelical Church. The Reformed Church of France, which received support from the state, has 1,045 congregations. In Russia, a population of about 200,000, and in Austria, a population of about 1,900,000 are connected with the Reformed Churches. In Belgium there are about 12 Reformed Congregations. In the Transvaal Republic, and Orange Free State, in Africa, the Dutch Reformed church is the State Church, and it has also numerous adherents in the Cape Colony.

Unitarians. Unitarians in the United States. The "Year-book of the Unitarian Congregational Churches" for 1869, gives a list of 315 societies and of 383 ministers. Within two years, 51 Unitarian churches have been built, enlarged or otherwise improved. No statistics of membership are given. There is also an organization of German Unitarians in the United States.

Unitarians in Europe. In England, there are about 300 Unitarian ministers who have charge of congregations. In Ireland there are three Presbyterian bodies, which are regarded as Unitarians. In the Austrian province of Transylvania, the Unitarians have a population of 50,000.

United Brethren in Christ. According to the Almanac of this denomination, for 1869, it now has 5 bishops, 1,334 meeting houses, 25 parsonages, 864 itinerant preachers, 4,618 preaching places, 3,663 societies, 108,122 members, 2,268 Sunday schools, and 106,002 Sunday-school scholars. The amount raised for church purposes, was $526,000.

United Evangelical Church. This is the State Church in Prussia, and a number of the smaller German States. It arose in 1817 out of a union of Lutherans and Reformed.

Universalists. Universalists in the United States. According to the "Universalist Register" for 1869, there were 6 Associations in Maine, 3 in New Hampshire, 5 in Vermont, 6 in Massachusetts, 1 in Rhode Island, 3 in Connecticut, 16 in New York, 6 in Pennsylvania, 14 in Ohio, 4 in Michigan, 6 in Indiana, 6 in Illinois, 3 in Wisconsin, and 3 in Iowa. The number of societies reported is about 792. No statistics of membership are given.

Universalists in Europe. In 1860, 3 Universalist Congregations were reported in England.

MISCELLANEOUS ESSAYS:

THE PROGRESS OF AGRICULTURE.

BY N. C. MEEKER.

IN the earliest ages men did not live by cultivating the soil. It is true that our first parents, for a limited period, engaged in this pursuit, but it was not in the sense we now speak of cultivation, for they were without experience, skill or implements. What their actual condition was is uncertain, and it can never be ascertained unless we reason from analogy and by the help of more light than we think we possess.

It is certain that their immediate descendants led a pastoral life, and their food was milk and flesh, and such vegetable productions as grow without cultivation. In making the soil yield bread, decision of character and prophetic views are required which men cannot possess in a natural state, and, besides, to cultivate the soil requires some progress in the mechanic arts, for without implements for inverting and stirring the soil, bread cannot be grown. Mechanical skill and agriculture therefore must grow up together. In an uncivilized nation agriculture cannot be far advanced, nor, on the other hand, can civilization progress if agriculture is neglected. A more helpless being than man without tools cannot exist; with tools, none is more powerful. Naked, and with empty hands man was placed on this earth, and long dreary years must have elapsed before even rude implements for working the soil were constructed. Some have conveyed the idea that the early European race was more favored, but the contrary is proved by recent discoveries. Some lakes in Switzerland being drained, have brought to light rude hovels with articles of domestic nature, and the implements which were used for defence and for obtaining food were all of stone. In Denmark, also, discoveries of similar relics, have been made, all of which prove that the principal food was derived from the waters and the forests. This, the age of stone, dates back 4,000 years ago. Following, came the age of bronze, in which implements were made of copper and tin. Then came the age of iron, which in Central Europe was not much before the Christian Era.

Even after iron was discovered, whenever it might have been, a long period must have passed before much skill in forging and welding it was acquired. By inductive reasoning an account of the progress in working iron could be constructed which would be near the actual truth. Surprising as it may seem, it is a fact that during the classic and historic ages, and up to modern times, even, in some degree to our own age, the art of working iron was im-partially understood unless in the making of deadly weapons, while casting hollow ware was unknown. This is to say, during a period of more than 3,000 years, scarcely any progress was made with regard to agricultural implements in which iron or steel was used, and so little had been done up to the time of our own Revolution, even by the most civilized nations, that they were at the time upon a level with the Turks and Hindoos.

In the Agricultural Rooms of the State Society at Albany, is a most remarkable collection of plows from different parts of the world. Among these are some which were in use in this country less than fifty years ago, and they show that our cultivation at the time could not have been much better than the cultivation of semi-barbarous nations. Within fifty years plows have been improved more than they had been improved for many thousand years before. It is noted also, that within this period there has been an equal improvement in all the mechanic arts.

The first progress of mechanism was undoubtedly in constructing some agricultural implement, for there must have been a stepping stone for a beginning. The use of the new implement resulted in making labor lighter, and in giving much more bread than by any other means, which freed some one from the necessity of constantly seeking for food, and it gave time and opportunity for a few to think. This prepared the way for another to construct, not perhaps an agricultural tool, for the list has been very small, but one for working wood, that there might be a better roof and closer walls to keep out the storms, giving dignity to the barbaric family.

When the first implement increased the supply of bread and permitted some one to think, civilization faintly dawned. This may seem an insignificant cause, but even now, complicated as society has become, it can be seen that mechanism is the right hand of agriculture, and that upon the two civilization is founded.

Originally, seeds of grain, vegetables, and fruit must have been preserved a long time in a few favored spots, in remote sunny valleys, in mountain glades, or on islands difficult to approach. It is true that in later ages many varieties have been derived by long and patient labors from those which were growing wild, but these had degenerated, for we must not say that the original were imperfect, since if this were so, the first people had no other food than barbarians. In passing from places where seeds had been preserved, into savage lands, they progressed slowly, and at the rate of ten or twenty miles a year, crossing rivers and mountains, and were received in rude hovels, or perhaps in the abode of a chieftain with wonder, and perhaps with suspicion. Tools of some kind, must have accompanied seeds; these might have been of stone or bronze, and after grain had been grown, domestic animals were introduced but not before, except in regions where the natural grasses furnished feed. This, however, could have only been in a semi-tropical climate, where feed for animals could be found in winter. In forests, domestic animals and iron were introduced about the same time. It is a singular historical fact, that when iron was introduced among the savages of Europe, it made its way slowly, for it was looked upon with suspicion. They who protested most against its use were the priests, and it was a long time after the people adopted it before the priests would allow it to enter their places of worship, which were places also for the sacrifice, of human beings.

Why, after seeds and iron were introduced so many ages, and some of them so remote as to be buried in oblivion, passed without perceptible progress not only in Asia but in Europe, was due to political and religious tyranny, pressing upon the laboring people and wringing from their industry all but what was required to sustain life. To keep the laborer dependent, he was never allowed to be an owner of the soil; as a consequence, his occupation and all the industries connected with it were looked upon as degrading, and the only pursuits which were honored were those by which man was oppressed, defrauded or destroyed. It was not until America was discovered that a way was opened for the laborer to own land, and upon this basis free government and religious toleration have been established.

The first efforts in agriculture were made in alluvial valleys or on rich sandy soil, which were cropped until exhausted, when new grounds were sought and the exhaustion repeated. Only by degrees and at a considerable later period were the clays cultivated, for they were too stubborn, and man himself was too timorous, ignorant and weak, to make them yield a return for his labors. It was not until the ox and horse were brought into subjection and made to draw the plow that cultivation was extended beyond the alluvial soils. And yet, the advantages of an agricultural over a savage life in those early days were so few that progress was slow. Forced to abide near streams for the cultivation and protection of their crops, and living in dwellings which abounded with vermin; malarious diseases were common, and the miseries of the people must have been extreme. Ignorant, unclean and superstitious, subject to attacks from robbers, and oppressed by chieftains, a wild wandering life often must have presented greater attractions. Nothing could hold an agricultural community together but the bravery and skill of the chief, who, as the price of his protection demanded homage, and rent in kind, and thus kings and governments were established.

During the long periods in which man cultivated the soil and yet was a semi-barbarian, so little knowledge was gained of best methods of cultivation, and so insufficient were the implements that crops were taken only from the surface. Had cultivation been as deep as at the present day, population would have increased so much that the soil of the old world would have been exhausted long ago, and become a desert. Even now, on classic and historic ground the same superficial cultivation is continued, and a rich soil underneath has been preserved to be found by other and worthier races.

The North American Indians belonged to the age of stone, and were preparing to enter the age of bronze, for to a slight extent they had begun to use copper. The Indians cultivated the soil only to a limited extent, and the labor was done by their women. Everywhere the weak have been forced to work for the strong. Their chief, and perhaps their only crops were corn and tobacco, growing on the bottoms of streams where grass does not naturally start. The sod of the rich prairies presented so many difficulties that they did not undertake to subdue it. They had no animals of any kind, and it is to be noted that when Europeans introduced them the Indians saw no inducements to use them. Even now, after great efforts have been made to civilize some tribes, they take little advantage of animals, but seek rather, and in a natural order, a pastoral life, and they care for cattle that they may have their flesh. Nor do they attach much value to milk, as one might suppose, all of which shows that man will advance only by slow and progressive steps. The Indian race, then would appear to be so young as not yet to contain those accumulations of human effort which mark the European race, and they seem about equally advanced with the people who lived in Central Europe 2000 years before the Christian Era.

These things are said of man as a cultivator in a temperate climate and on favorable soil. In warm climates, food sufficient to sustain life is obtained with so little effort that he is not obliged to make the successive steps which lead to civilization. Hence, man's successive stages of development will be such, and only such, as the climate and soil compel him to make. A race may be very old in a warm climate, and yet not be so far advanced as a younger race in a cold one. When we speak of young and of old races, we refer to those periods of time when men became possessed of the peculiar characteristics which separate them into distinct bodies, which we call races, whatever may have been the cause, and whatever the periodism in which these causes operated. Besides, with reference to a warm climate, it is in few or no respects favorable for bringing the human race beyond a certain point, for the reason that the heat has such an effect upon the soil as to make it incapable of producing such food as contributes to develop the higher qualities. It does not produce grass which is more important than any other crop, and the small grains from which bread is made are grown with the greatest difficulty. Nor does it produce the more important vegetables, while it has no fruit of equal value with the apple.

The warm climate is simply favorable for the growth of man in the early stages, and at a time when he would perish if he were not assisted by nature; but after he outgrows such need, he must seek the regions of snow and ice to be scourged into activity through a long series of years. Dreadful as war is, it is as old as the race. Commencing among kinsmen and neighbors, with or without cause, spreading as nations spread, the weaker were pushed into forests, and across rivers and mountains where food was so scarce that multitudes perished, and only those survived who had strength and skill to discover new methods by which life could be sustained. Dark were the faces of the exiles with rage, as they thought of the warm valleys whence they were driven, but the frosts of the mountains and the ice in the rivers brought before them new enemies which they must conquer or die. Cruel as seemed the destiny, they led on the way to the discovery that the soil of a cold climate has greater capabilities of sustaining life than a warm one; that its food is more varied and nourishing; fruit is more sprightly and enduring, and that in grass is a greater value than all the productions ripened by a tropical sun.

The system of farming common among the people of Western Asia, and among the Greeks and Romans, was without change worthy of note, until after the age of King John who granted the Great Charter, when the small farm system began to be established, particularly in England. Afterwards, the influence of the Reformation was felt in giving the common people dignity, when farm productions became more varied, and food more abundant. By 1620 the middle class of England had become industrious and intelligent, and owned the land they worked. They were the noblest class England ever had. They were called Yeomen. From 1620 to 1820 there was little progress in farming, but there had been immense advance in religious liberty, in learning, and in the acquirement and investigation of the rights of the common people. These prepared the way for the discovery of many new methods for abbreviating labor, by means of inventions, and among these none has produced such powerful results as the introduction of the cast iron plow. This is generally considered an American invention, and it was quickly adopted in all civilized nations. Shortly after, two agricultural papers were published monthly, and though they were barely supported, they had immense influence upon the farming community and particularly upon legislators and leading men. Since then their number has steadily increased, and now a greater number of copies of agricultural papers are circulated than at the commencement of the century were circulated of all other kinds of papers then printed in the world. Combining, as most of them do, moral instruction, their influence upon the people is destined to produce the most important results. Meanwhile, agricultural machinery, in the greatest variety, has been invented and brought into use, and it may be said to perform as much labor as a million of able-bodied men. Through this means capital has rapidly accumulated among the common people; they have been enabled to build comfortable and even elegant dwellings, and to furnish them in good style, while the food of the family is abundant and often choice. There are also means for educating the young people, and at last, the distance between the laborer and a station of honor and profit is short. Perhaps nothing has contributed more to establish this condition, than the application of many inventions of the mechanic and machinist, as exhibited in the railway, by which means all kinds of farm products are transported great distances, and better prices are now obtained in the interior than formerly were received at the centers of commerce.

Fruit growing has kept full pace with all other pursuits, and there are in America more acres in nursery stock than were devoted to orchards in the whole world when Rome was in its greatest grandeur; for fruit then was little grown by the common people; it was seldom found except in the gardens of the wealthy; the quality was inferior and the varieties were few. Of grapes, however, the supplies were abundant, but only in limited regions, for the space within which this fruit flourishes is insignificant when compared with the space suited to producing bread. Fruit will not be grown in times of dissension and war; naturally, it is a product of peace, and in those countries only where labor is rewarded and the rights of individuals respected. The extent to which fruit is grown in any country indicates how much liberty is enjoyed, and how much intelligence the people possess. In England more fruit was raised two hundred years ago than now, for then each yeoman, living on a small farm of his own, cultivated fruit of all kinds, and in the aggregate the amount was large. When the yeomen removed to America, their lands were united to large farms, and when the orchards decayed, there was no one interested in replanting them, for only one family owning the soil, was to be supplied. For the same reasons such productions as eggs, poultry, honey, and feathers, which once were in full supply, now are largely imported from France, for the reason that in this country much of the land is owned by the cultivators. But into such small parcels is the land divided in France, that they scarcely deserve the name of farms.

In the United States, fruit-growing is more extensive, and the business is pursued with more energy and skill than in any other part of the world. The French have the reputation of being skillful fruit-growers, but this would seem not the case, for the reason that foremen and not proprietors are in charge, and wherever this is the case, a pursuit can be successful only in part. On the occasion of several Horticultural Exhibitions, both in England and France, where large numbers of specimens of apples and pears were shown, it was found upon inspection that many plates bearing different names were the same. Such ignorance in any fruit-grower's collection in this country would stamp him as a pretender. It is true, that about forty years ago, there was great confusion regarding varieties in all our nurseries, but in the general advancement of agricultural, and other knowledge, it has disappeared.

It is taken for granted that English farming is better than ours, and they who suppose so, speak of the high average of their wheat crop and their fine breeds of cattle. So little attention has been paid to what may be called Agricultural Geography, that many errors arise. England by reason of climate alone has no superior. The large amount of moisture, and at the same time the tendency of the Gulf Stream to give a much higher temperature than would be natural in so high a latitude, undoubtedly do make it the best country for the grasses in the world. Perhaps, however, a belt of country some 200 miles wide and 1,500 miles long, through the center of which runs the parallel of forty-one degrees, and reaching from the Atlantic in New England, to the great plains in Kansas and Nebraska, is nearly equal. It would be impossible to grow the Short-horns, or the South-downs, or Leicesters in France as successfully as they are grown in England. On the prairies of Illinois, where grass and grain are abundant, the common herds of cattle, with good care and with perhaps a slight dash of Durham blood, have been brought up to a grade nearly equal to pure Durhams, and they are constantly improving. When the Kerry cattle, which thrive on short and rough feed, are transferred to rich pastures, they gradually lose their distinctive character and progress towards a higher type. That England raises more wheat than we raise is true, but they do not raise a bushel at less cost. Only by raising double crops can their rent be paid. High farming there is as much an evidence of impending distress as of agricultural skill. Whether farming is good or poor is not to be decided by large or small crops of coarse products, but by the condition of the laboring people. If wages are low, if the laborer is ignorant, and if he has no other home in his old age than the hospital or the work house, farming is not good, because it shows that food is scarce, and it is scarce because with such labor only meat and bread can be raised. Whenever grain is raised to be sent out of a country, the average yield will be smaller than if the same amount finds a market at home among manufacturing people. It is probably an advantage to us that we raise so little wheat, for whatever we spare now enriches the soil of England and impoverishes our own, and until a proper time the capacities of our soil might as well remain undeveloped.

That time is rapidly approaching. Changes which in former periods of human progress required many ages, now occur in a few generations. Gœthe says that although progress seems to be in a circle, for the past appears to be repeated, still this circle is a spiral, hence, the short time in which a circle in these last ages is repeated. There are signs that new conditions are before us, called into being by improved methods of culture and above all, by the advance in mechanic arts. Whenever changes come, distress is an attendant. The most startling fact is, that when crops shall be cut short by reason of drought, frost or the ravages of insects, as great a deficiency will be found now as ever existed in semi-barbarous ages. The immense growth of cities and towns through the interior, with a population which consumes but does not produce, already have made the market in these places where bread used to be cheap, comparatively dear, and as this class of people increases, bread must grow still dearer and more deficient in supply. Meanwhile, the demand from sea board cities and foreign countries is so constant and the means of transportation so easy and uninterrupted, that it is impossible for stocks of any kind of food to accumulate; hence when distress comes, as come it must, nowhere will there be granaries from which supplies can be drawn. This condition is not confined to our country alone. The grain regions of Russia, Hungary, the Black Sea and Egypt, are swept every year by demands from the commercial nations of western Europe, and now, notwithstanding their triumphs in science, arts and agriculture, bread is as difficult to obtain as when the land was sown by women or slaves and the plow was the crooked branch of a tree hardened in the fire. Continually does a merciless destiny seem to pursue the human race. Still, with the diffusion of knowledge and with expertness in many industries, we must turn and grapple with this destiny that what has been gained through many ages of suffering and tears may not be lost.

To bring agriculture another important step forward, it is required that the high culture established in England for the growing of special crops on a large scale should be applied to the small farm system in America. This can be done by giving such an education to those of our young men intending to be farmers, as shall enable them to cultivate by their own labor a few acres devoted to a variety of productions, with the same success that wheat and roots are grown in England by hired labor. Our Common School system, the intelligence and wealth of our people, prepare the way for our agricultural colleges. These may or may not be successful at their outset, but should they fail in whole or in part, the need for such knowledge as they alone can give will compel the repetition of efforts until our hopes shall be realized. Whenever a class of men, both educated and practical, shall appear, such changes will follow as would shock many were they to come now.

Scientific agriculture, properly speaking, is so little understood that it has not even been defined. Every science must have for its foundation a classification, the element of which is analysis, but this has not been attempted in agriculture. The first steps in this direction will be to consider what productions belong to particular climates in connection with particular soils, and the lines of latitude and even of longitude are to be traced on which particular crops can be grown most successfully. This will require many details and the whole will come under the general head of Agricultural Geography.

Next, one should have a general analysis of soils, by which it will be ascertained from what sources they have been derived, whether from the decomposition of primitive, lime or sand-rock or from secondary elements such as fresh and salt water deposits, and decayed vegetation, including the order of their formation, their depth, also the effect of climate, rain fall and local influences, all of which will come under the general head of Agricultural Geology. When these divisions in all their necessary details are classified, the way will be opened for chemical agriculture by which the application of special fertilizers may be intelligently and profitably made. And yet, this is the only branch of scientific agriculture which has hitherto demanded attention, although it is anticipating its position of time by at least one generation of active and broad investigation. Whatever may be the success of scientific men in other branches where they discover principles and leave others to make the application, little can be expected from their researches as thus far conducted in regard to the agriculture of a continent, where the elevation of the laborer is of first importance. Great changes must come before the scientific agriculturist shall himself plant and cultivate the soil which he studies, still, changes certainly are before us, and the change referred to will be no greater than has taken place since the time when the cultivator wore a brass collar around his neck inscribed with his master's name.

If the investment of capital in improved real estate shall be continued, the time must come when land will be in a few hands, and the laborer will be degraded. Nor can there be relief except by revolution, for there are no more continents to be discovered to keep back the evil day. Nothing is better settled than that the management, economies and yield of large farms are less than on the same amount of land divided into small farms. This is manifest from the fact that the large landed proprietor knows as if by instinct, that only coarse staple articles of food can be grown at a profit, and accordingly their efforts are so limited as in English farming. By such a system, an overseer directs, wages must be low because skill is neither developed nor required, and the laborer sinks almost to a level with the animal he drives. Fortunately, there is so much land in America, and it has gone into the hands of so many, that at present wages are high, and it may be generally stated that farming on a large scale is unprofitable, while in many cases, whether on a large or small scale where wages are paid, all the profits are absorbed. Notwithstanding that land is growing still dearer, so great is the success attendant upon the small farm system, the happiness, the intelligence and the independence it has produced, that which has been gained can neither be lost nor forgotten, and before the people of this country would submit to the accumulation of land in a few hands, they would arise and demand that their natural right to the soil be confirmed by agrarian laws.

Had attention been called to one subject before, less labor, time and vexation would be required to adopt a proper plan now. This is the employment of the wicked, the ignorant and the idle. No high standard can be reached, and labor cannot be justly rewarded, while so many able-bodied men eat the bread of idleness. These should be the care of the state. Millions of acres of highly productive land can be obtained by drainage, which now exhale miasmas, breeding fevers and pestilence; while other millions yielding small or uncertain crops, require the application of much labor that their product may be abundant and sure.

That this class, now, in the aggregate, beginning to be numerous enough to make a nation, should prey upon the industrious and taint the moral atmosphere with the miasm of wickedness, should be left unrestrained to generate crime without a hope of improvement, is a disgrace to our civilization. In self-defence, and if necessary by force, they must be set to work, and when they learn how much labor sweetens and purifies life, they will be thankful to be taught how to live. This measure is demanded that man himself may be elevated, and that the whole world may be made better. Possibly our own vagrants might be absorbed by the operations of natural causes, but we can do little with the multitudes of foreigners who in an uninterrupted stream crowd to our shores with no other knowledge than that of living some how without labor. The next progressive move among advanced nations, will be first in considering, and next, in executing, a plan for transforming swindlers, petty thieves and beggars into steady and useful laborers. No enterprise conducted by the state has ever been so successful as when connected with practical agriculture. Some excellent farms in our country have few or no laborers, but such as are insane. At Lusk, near Dublin, Ireland, a government farm is worked by criminals of an intermediate grade, with the most remarkable success, for under skillful but mild management and without guards, the productions are abundant. Progress in the reformation of the criminal is almost in exact proportion to his progress in becoming a good farmer. The Divine blessing seems to descend upon him who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow, and we may suspect that more crimes originate from idleness and ignorance than from an evil heart.

CURRENCY AND FINANCE.

BY HORACE GREELEY.

The use of Gold and Silver as measures of the value of, and media of payment for, all other property, is older than History—older than Tradition. So long ago as the time of Abraham, we find that Silver had been divided or cast into “shekels” of definite value, and doubtless of specific weight also. The oldest pieces still existing are of square or oblong form, rather thinner than our modern coins of similar size: such were the Jewish “shekels,” and such are the Japanese “itzebus” and other coins of to-day. Older than the invention of letters, the most ancient pieces of silver had no inscriptions, and were distinguished from those of different values, by size only. The circular form and raised edges of the coins of modern Christendom were obviously adopted to reduce to a minimum the loss of metal by wearing or rubbing. Governments, at an early day, coined gold and silver, and gave them legal recognition as money; but they had already been made such by the common consent of the more enlightened portions of mankind; while savages who lacked them were constrained to employ shells, beads, iron, nails, and other things less convenient and less widely accepted.

Though paper money was unknown till the invention of printing, kings had often, when sorely pressed by the exigencies of war or the fruits of their own prodigality, called in the money of their subjects for re-coining, and debased it from ten to fifty per cent.—replenishing their coffers by impoverishing all within their power. They were ready enough to borrow when in need—as they often were—and were willing to pay (or rather promise) liberal rates of interest; but few were inclined to lend them, except at short dates and on the distinct pledge of jewels and other valuables, or of specified revenues, as security for repayment. Royal debts were thus frequently incurred in preparing for some crusade or other costly expedition; but National debts, now so vast and so general, are mainly the creation of the last century.

Rome, having absorbed the then civilized world, and having, by the introduction or the toleration of Slavery, degraded labor and discouraged industrial progress, the discovery of mines and the production of the precious metals nearly ceased; while the luxurious tastes and habits of the wealthy impelled a continual importation of silks, spices, &c., from India and China, which took little but gold and silver in return. The circulating medium of exchanges and payments being thus insensibly drawn away and not replaced, the Roman Empire languished under a growing dearth of money and a steady decline of prices. As fixed property constantly depreciated in value, those who bought on credit were too often unable to pay at maturity, and so sank into hopeless insolvency. Hence, labor lacked employment, since few chose to plant, or build, or improve, when the resulting property would be worth less than its cost. Population, wealth, prosperity, all declined and dwindled under the combined influences of labor in shackles and enterprise and business devoid of money wherewith to employ and pay that which was still free. And, though the silent progress of Christianity, the fruits of successive irruptions and conquests by barbarians, and the pressure of general poverty and wretchedness, combined to wear out Slavery, the scarcity of money still weighed upon the energies of Europe, down to the close of the 15th century.

The discovery of America by Columbus, and the consequent rapid and vast increase of money, wrought a great and sudden revolution. Prices rapidly appreciated: those who bought, or built, or in any manner improved, were almost always enabled to sell at an advance upon cost. Labor was no longer a drug in the market, but in eager demand at prices beyond precedent, yet steadily augmented. The energies of the civilized world received an unwonted stimulus, and wealth was increased and comfort diffused as they never before had been. Soon, Banking—which had already a foot-hold at Venice, Amsterdam and perhaps two or three other great commercial centers—began to be diffused, increasing enormously the power of a definite amount of money to effect transfers of property, even while each bank adhered to the original conception of a mere place of safe deposit for the precious metals and other valuables at a very moderate cost. A bit of paper representing a large sum was passed from hand to hand with a facility previously unknown, and effected many transfers of property while Cræsus or Shylock would have been counting, testing and weighing, the coins which were tendered in payment for a single cargo or estate. After a time, it was discovered that the coin represented by the receipts or notes of a bank need not all be kept on deposit—that its promises to pay coin on demand might safely be based in good part on the obligations of its solvent and thrifty borrowers who had covenanted to return, on specified days yet future, the sums loaned them respectively. Henceforth, the development of banking was rapid, and the general supply of currency much larger than it had been, even since the vast infusion of the Precious Metals from the New World.

The British Colonies on the American coast were late in their reception of the golden shower. Planted considerably later than the French colony north of them or the Spanish and Portuguese colonies south of them, they had no discovered mines of gold or silver; their climate was harsher, and their soil generally less facile and less fertile than that cultivated by their southern neighbors; while they were required to hew their future farms out of gigantic forests which stubbornly resisted their progress. Agriculture and fishing, their two leading pursuits, were not favorable to the rapid acquisition of wealth; while the jealous monopoly of the trade of their colonies maintained by Spain and Portugal, closed their most direct and easy road to the acquisition of gold and silver. A dearth of money was long sorely felt; and this, with the frequent resort to loans by several of the colonies in fitting out and sustaining large military expeditions against the hostile French and Indians, led to the general introduction and use of that seductive but dangerous form of paper currency which consists of the naked promises of the state to pay, whenever it shall be convenient, small specified sums; a certain practical value being given to these promises by making them, if not a legal tender for all debts whatever, at least receivable for taxes and in payments to the issuing parties. Most of the British colonies had become accustomed to this currency before the outbreak of their Revolutionary struggle; and the fact that eight shillings in some of them, seven and sixpence in others, four and sixpence in still others, were the established, recognized equivalents of the Spanish coin known as a dollar, marks and measures the ultimate depreciation of the several issues, in the estimation of the authorities which had put them respectively in circulation.

The Revolutionary War, prior to the entrance of France upon the arena as our ally, sorely overtaxed the resources of our fathers. Though the number of men they sent into the field as soldiers bore no greater proportion to their numbers than did that of our rebels in the late civil war, their deficiency in manufactures and in accumulated wealth was so immense, that the average of not more than fifty thousand men under arms drew more heavily on their resources than the half million to one million defenders of the Union kept on foot from December, 1861, to July, 1865, did on ours. Unaccustomed to burdensome taxation, with their foreign trade and fisheries almost suspended, and with their manufactures hardly yet begun, the cost of recruiting, fitting out and arming, the Continental armies, told fearfully on their means, and led the newly declared States, or most of them, to an early resort to the now familiar expedient of Government paper currency. The new issues were known as Continental money, and for a time served their end; but, as more and more of them were set afloat, and no means of redemption provided, they inevitably depreciated—at first, gradually and moderately, but at length with an accelerated momentum, until they finally sunk out of use and out of countenance—a hundred dollars being eagerly given for a breakfast, which twenty-five cents in specie could have purchased, and the bargain being still a hard one for the caterer. By common consent, the Continental notes came at last to be regarded and recognized as of no value whatever. Meantime, the French Alliance had given the struggling people of the United States a credit in Europe to which they were not intrinsically entitled, and loans were negotiated, both at Paris and Amsterdam, which supplied them with arms and munitions, and enabled them to feed their armies much better than during the bitterly remembered winters of Washington's encampment successively at Morristown and at Valley Forge. A handsome loan, considering the means of the lenders, was subscribed by the merchants of Philadelphia, under the lead of Robert Morris; and the several States were enabled from time to time to borrow considerable sums from their wealthier citizens, and from others, which served to eke out their scanty resources, and helped to save the cause of Independence from collapse through absolute bankruptcy.

Peace being at length achieved, the average condition of our people was deplorable indeed. The little Silver and less Gold which had been in the country when the strife began, had mainly been sent abroad in payment for munitions, and for the few goods that it was attempted to import, despite the blockade of our coast by British cruisers—our exports, other than of coin, being of no account. The whole country, save a part of New England, had for years been traversed and ravaged by contending armies, often without rations. Industry had been fearfully deranged and demoralized; and, now that the stimulus of war was withdrawn, and no other substituted, its pulse beat languidly indeed. The Continental issues being discredited and discarded, there was next to no money in circulation, and very little which would command money. Our Manufactures were still in the germ; our Agriculture was yet struggling with the primeval wilderness, and every way rude, desultory and inefficient. And, could its products have been instantly doubled, there were no markets open to receive them. Not till the great wars which, years afterward, grew out of the French Revolution, did Europe open wide her ports to our staples; while the trade of this Continent, outside of our then comparatively narrow limits, was held and treated by the colonizing powers as a close monopoly in the hands of their subjects. Hence, the payment of debts, and even of taxes, was widely deemed a moral impossibility; and the Shays's Rebellion in Western Massachusetts, with kindred though less pronounced and less formidable commotions in New Hampshire and other States, attested the general prevalence of poverty and misery. The country remained torpid, as if stricken by paralysis, until the adoption of the Federal Constitution and the formation of a more efficient government under the Presidency of Gen. Washington.

To Alexander Hamilton was now confided the charge of our National Finances; and never was a selection more fortunate. A zealous patriot, a good soldier, an able lawyer, his services in the domain of Finance have dwarfed, by comparison, all his other achievements. By procuring the charter of a National Bank and the passage of a Tariff which avowed the Protection of Home Manufactures to be one of its cardinal objects; by recommending and carrying through Congress the Assumption by the Union of the Debts of the several States—debts incurred in prosecuting and invigorating the War of Independence—and by providing the ways and means of meeting regularly the interest and gradually extinguishing the principal of the entire National Debt thus consolidated—Col. Hamilton firmly established the solvency and credit of the Government, while arousing the Industry and Trade of the country from the torpor of despair to the activity of thrift and well-grounded life.

The National Debt thus consolidated (the discarded Continental money not included) amounted to One Hundred and Twenty-five Millions; but, if we add to this the sums afterward accorded—not as a dole of charity, but as the payment of a sacred debt—in pensions to the ill-fed and worse-paid soldiers of the Revolution, it will be swelled to Two Hundred Millions of Dollars—a heavier burden, if we consider the comparative population and wealth of the country in 1790 and in 1865 respectively, and the relative value of money—than was or is that imposed on us by the Slaveholders' Rebellion. Yet the impoverished country now commenced forthwith the regular payment of the interest on that large amount, with the current cost of supporting the Government, and soon proceeded to reduce the principal so vigorously and persistently that—in spite of the rupture of '98 with France and the various embargoes to which our infant commerce was subjected, whether by the injustice of European rulers or the folly of our own—the principal of the Debt had been gradually reduced to Forty-five Millions, when the outbreak in 1812 of our second War with Great Britain soon raised it again to an aggregate of Seventy-five Millions.

In this War, though its duration was brief and the efforts put forth on our side must be pronounced feeble and halting in view of our vastly increased resources, the National credit was strained to the utmost. Before it closed, our Banks, save those of New England, had suspended specie payment, and their notes were depreciated from ten to forty per cent. Yet the Treasury continued to receive those notes, not merely in payment of subscriptions to its loans, but in payment of duties on imports as well; giving to the importer at Norfolk, Charleston or Savannah, a decided advantage over the importer at Boston, Providence or Portland. And, though attention was called to this injustice by Mr. Webster in 1815, no action was taken for its correction until late in the following year.

Although the depreciated notes of Suspended Banks were freely taken in payment of subscriptions to loans, and twelve per cent. was at length the proffered rate of interest, yet some loans were still accepted and paid in the bills of Suspended Banks, at a discount of twelve per cent. In other words, the Government received but seventy-five or six dollars in real money for its promise to pay one hundred dollars, with interest meantime at twelve per cent.

The Protective policy having been deliberately affirmed, after earnest, protracted debate, in the passage of the Tariff of 1816, and the Protective principle having received a fuller application in the Tariffs of 1824 and 1828, especially in the latter, the country bounded forward on a career of prosperity, through the increase and diversification of its Industry, so that the Debt melted away more and more rapidly, until the last dollar was paid in 1836, and a surplus of thirty-six millions was accumulated in the Treasury, three-fifths of which, by direction of Congress, was deposited pro rata with the several States in the course of 1836-7. Meantime, the attempt of South Carolina, under the lead of John C. Calhoun, to nullify the Tariff by the Ordinance of her Convention, had led to the adoption in 1833 of a Compromise Tariff, proposed by Mr. Clay to prevent the passage of one reported by Mr. Verplanck from the Committee of Ways and Means, making instant and more sweeping reductions. By the Compromise Tariff, the existing duties were reduced each year by the remission of one-tenth of the excess over twenty per cent. ad valorem, so that, on the 4th day of March, 1842, no article imported should pay a higher duty than twenty per cent.: that rate being assumed by the Free Traders as the proper revenue standard.

But here a strange anomaly was presented. While the Tariff stigmatized by Free Traders as prohibitory had afforded a revenue (wholly from duties on imports, except what accrued from sales of Public Lands) which amply supported the Government and paid off the National Debt, interest and principal, the Revenue Tariff failed to supply the means of barely supporting the Government in time of peace and in the entire absence of Debt! Mr. Van Buren's Administration (1837-41) was compelled to issue Treasury Notes (that is, borrow money), before the climax of reduction had been reached; while for the two years (July, '40 to July, '42) wherein the duties stood at or near the assumed revenue point, the total receipts into the Treasury from duties on imports fell below Fifteen Millions per annum. Congress was thus constrained to return in 1842 to Protective rates by the demonstrated impossibility of meeting the current expenditures under any other.

The first National Bank, chartered in 1791, had been allowed to expire by limitation. A bill to re-charter it was lost in the Senate by the casting vote of its President. The sad experience of the War of 1812, however, opened many eyes; so that Messrs. Clay, Calhoun and other Republicans, who had opposed the re-charter, were zealous advocates of the new Bank chartered in 1816. This encountered the active hostility of President Jackson, who vetoed the bill extending its charter which had passed both branches of a Jackson Congress; and the re-election of that President soon afterward (1832) sealed its doom. The removal of the Federal Deposits from this Bank in 1833, in disregard of a vote of the House, and through the instrumentality of a Secretary of the Treasury (Roger B. Taney) appointed for the purpose, vice William J. Duane, removed, lashed the political elements to fury; but, after a vehement struggle, the President triumphed, and the Deposits were not restored. The Bank, having afterward accepted a re-charter from the State of Pennsylvania, lost its National character, and ultimately failed.

The Debt incurred under the Revenue Tariff was soon wiped out upon a return to Protection; but the War with Mexico, which broke out in 1846, involved us in a fresh Debt before its close, which was swelled by the payment of Fifteen Millions of Dollars to that Republic in compensation for cessions of territory made by her in the treaty of peace, and again by the payment of Ten more Millions to Texas under the Compromise of 1850, for the surrender of her claim to territory north of her allotted boundaries, known as New Mexico. Yet the general balance of Income over Expenditure, even under the reduced Tariff of 1846, was gradually reducing the Debt; so that Hon. Howell Cobb, Mr. Buchanan's Secretary of the Treasury, bought up and cancelled (1858-9) several Millions of outstanding five per cent. stock, for which he paid a premium of over fifteen per cent. Before the close of that Administration, however, the Income fell off so that a new six per cent. loan was advertised, bids, mostly above par, received and accepted (October, 1860); but the prospect of coming trouble induced many of the bidders to forfeit the one per cent. deposited as a guaranty, rather than fulfill their engagements, leaving the Treasury still empty. Mr. Cobb now advertised a new loan (December, 1860), soliciting proposals for three-year bonds at par—the bidder to name the rate of interest at which he would trust the Government with his money. Secession at the South having by this time been fairly inaugurated, threatening a great civil war of doubtful issue, but a small sum was offered so low as six per cent., while bids were made at no less than thirty-six per cent. per annum; the average of the bids received being not far from twelve per cent. The Secretary accepted only the bids at twelve per cent. or under, though these did not nearly supply the Twelve Millions he had asked for; and so—before a blow had been struck or a shot fired in the great War of Secession—our Government credit was tainted and its energies crippled by the fact, everywhere notorious, that it had been obliged to borrow money at a rate so exorbitant as twelve per cent. per annum. And the money thus obtained was required to defray its ordinary peace outgoes; no dime having been expended to increase its armaments or strengthen its defences down to the retirement of Mr. Buchanan, March 3, 1861.

Six weeks later, the guns of the new-born Southern Confederacy, long before planted within easy range of the devoted Sumter, thundered out that Confederacy's challenge of the Union to mortal combat. They roused to action a people and a Government as unprepared for the deadly fray as had ever yet been called to struggle for existence with a determined and sanguinary foe. The Rebels enjoyed from the start the immense advantage of thoroughly comprehending the nature and magnitude of the contest they inaugurated, and of realizing that all hopes of compromise or conciliation were idle and delusive. Slavery made war, not for half the country, but the whole of it. Had it succeeded in wrenching from the Union an acknowledgement of the independence of the Confederacy, it would in time have drawn nearly or quite every Free State into its league, by a force resistless as gravitation. To far-sighted observers, it was apparent from the outset that but one of the two great National Debts that the struggle was certain to call into existence would ever be paid. In the first flush of popular enthusiasm excited by the bombardment and reduction of Fort Sumter, money, arms, munitions and supplies of all kinds, as well as men, were bounteously proffered to the Federal Government on its own terms. Banks and capitalists unlocked their coffers, merchants threw open their stores, and bade it take whatever it would have. This, of course, could not long continue, as the war daily assumed broader proportions and made yet greater exactions. When Congress met, (July 4, 1861), its attention was promptly and emphatically called to the necessity of providing ways and means for the prosecution of the struggle. Though very few yet apprehended that the war would be a long one, the urgent requirement of new taxes as well as new loans was generally conceded. Mr. Lincoln had called to the head of the Treasury Department, Hon. Salmon P. Chase, who, while four years Governor of Ohio, had acquired some practical familiarity with Finance. An able and courageous statesman, Mr. Chase, throughout the three trying years that followed, evinced a faith in the magnitude and elasticity of the National resources which could not fail to influence the judgment and the sympathies of those with whom he dealt. In the darkest hours of National disaster and depression, he appealed to those who had money as though they could no more afford to refuse him loans than he could afford to do without them.

The Banks, having been borrowed dry by the Treasury, suspended Specie Payments near the close of 1861. It was wholly impossible to borrow coin thereafter; while the issue of Treasury Notes was a resource nearly or quite exhausted. It was clear that a Paper Currency, irredeemable while the War lasted, must be employed to maintain our extended Military operations, now calling for Forty or Fifty Millions per month. To the late Thaddeus Stevens justly belongs the credit (or discredit) of proposing, early in 1862, that the Treasury Notes henceforth issued should be a Legal Tender, not only in all payments to the Government, but in the payment of debts due by and to individuals or corporations. The act which first embodied this bold proposition provided that no more than One Hundred and Fifty Millions of Treasury Notes, including the Fifty Millions already afloat, should ever be issued, and that each and all of them should be fundable at the holder's option in bonds of the United States, bearing six per cent. interest, and redeemable after five years and within twenty years. Congress decided to make the interest payable in coin, which was no part of Mr. Stevens's programme, but was strenuously resisted by him—so strenuously that he finally voted against the bill. The Legal Tender clause of the measure, however, commanded his vigorous, effective advocacy, and was probably indebted thereto for its triumph. The act—which also provided for a new loan of Five Hundred Millions—was approved by President Lincoln, Feb. 25, 1862.

Experience had long before proved the instability of whatever barriers may be opposed, in times of war and public peril, to the augmentation of Paper Issues. Though the Legal Tender act provided that there should never be more than One Hundred and Fifty Millions of Legal Tenders afloat, the amount authorized was soon increased to Four Hundred Millions, while the privilege of funding them in Five-Twenties at par was restricted to a few months and then withdrawn. The original act had further stipulated that at least one per cent. of the entire National Debt should be bought up and canceled in the course of each fiscal year; but no consistent regard has been had to this provision.

The depreciation of the Legal Tenders—at first, slow and slight—became rapid and serious after the grave reverses of McClellan on the Peninsula and of Pope in his Rappahannock campaign; still more, after the successive failures of Burnside at Fredericksburg and Hooker at Chancellorsville. There were later hours of intense popular depression when Lee was advancing as a conqueror into Pennsylvania, and again when Grant, after his bloody advance through Virginia to the James, was stopped by Lee's fortified lines enclosing Petersburg, and encountered a severe and seemingly needless rebuff at the explosion of Burnside's mine. The incursion of Early into Maryland, (July, 1864), and the defeat of Wallace at the Monocacy, exposing Baltimore and Washington to attack if not to capture, while Hunter, driven from Lynchburg over the Alleghenies, was making his long detour through West Virginia to regain the valley of the Shenandoah, incited another more transient spasm of National despair, which sent up the premium on gold very nearly to its highest point. That point was 290—that is, $1,000 in gold would purchase $2,900 of Greenbacks, or Treasury Notes, though these were in the law's eye equivalent, dollar for dollar, to those, and would legally discharge any mortgage or pay any debt incurred when there were no dollars not equal to coin. For a few days only was the legal currency so enormously depreciated; but it may be fairly estimated that the average depreciation of the Greenbacks, throughout the years wherein our present vast Debt was contracted, was equal to fifty per cent.—that is, $150 in Greenbacks would buy but $100 in coin. And it can not be doubted that our Debt is considerably larger than it would have been had it been found possible to maintain Specie Payments and yet borrow at fair rates the vast sums required to raise, equip, arm, transport and feed, our immense armies.

Whether the Debt would have been larger or smaller had the Government really tried to maintain Specie Payments and had borrowed the money needed on such terms as must have been proffered, is very doubtful, assuming that the money could thus have been borrowed at all. We have seen that, in the comparatively trivial war with Great Britain in 1812-14, our Government borrowed money at twelve per cent., receiving for each $100 bond but $88, and accepting this in the paper of non-specie paying banks, often 15 to 25 per cent. below par. Had it been possible to fight out our civil war on a Hard Money basis, we must have encountered, on the offering of each new loan, a presumption that the next would be proffered on terms still more advantageous to the taker; hence, too many would have quietly resolved not to bid for this loan, but await the Government's tender, a few months hence, of conditions still more tempting. The British Consols (three per cents.), which now range between 90 and 95, seldom touching the lower point indicated, were largely issued at or below 60, were sometimes down nearly to 50, and, at the time ('98) of the great mutiny in the fleet at the Nore, so low as 48. It is highly probable that, even had our Government adopted the perilous expedient of carrying on the war with the notes of the no longer specie-paying State Banks, it would have had to sell its bonds, even for these, at a very heavy discount, long before the triumphs of Sherman at Atlanta and Grant at Appomattox.

Even with a currency which included \$400,000,000 of Greenbacks and \$300,000,000 of National Bank Notes (the substitution of National for State Bank issues being an integral part of the new system of Finance), the Treasury was constrained to resort to various devices and expedients to meet the incessant, ever-widening demands upon it for money. First of these in the order of time was that of Certificates of Indebtedness—usually payable one year from date—wherewith contractors to furnish arms, munitions and supplies of all kinds, were mainly paid a good part of their bills—they getting them discounted at banks or selling them to individual purchasers at 1 to 5 per cent. below par. Very large drafts on the Treasury were temporarily headed off by the use of these Certificates. When the Five Hundred Million six per cent. loan ("Five-Twenties") had been skillfully engineered by Jay Cooke to a considerable premium, a five per cent. loan ("Ten-Forty") of Two Hundred Millions was put on the market, and with more difficulty piloted to its appointed haven. Then more "Five-Twenties" were offered; and, as the sale of these slackened, because the ability to lend was overtaxed by the Government's insatiable demands, a "Compound Interest Note," bearing six per cent. (currency) interest and payable at the expiration of three years—being meantime a legal tender for the amount borne on its face—was presented and worked off, to the amount of nearly or quite Two Hundred Millions. Finally, a "Seven-Thirty" was devised and very largely negotiated, mainly near the close or after the close of the struggle. This bond was payable three years from date, in the legal currency of the country, with interest at the rate of $7\frac{3}{10}$ per annum, or two cents per day on each \$100 loaned, and was fundable on maturity at the option of the holder in "Five-Twenties" at par. This option proving valuable, nearly all the Seven or Eight Hundred Millions of these bonds issued were ultimately funded in "Five-Twenties," which are still outstanding.

At no time was opportunity offered for question or doubt as to the medium in which the interest on the various loans was payable. The "Five-Twenties" and the "Ten-Forties" bore on their face a promise that the interest was payable in coin; while the twenty-year Sixes issued prior to the passage of the Legal Tender act, with all the previously outstanding Debt, having been contracted when dollars meant dollars, no question could fairly arise as to these. So with the "Compound Interest" notes, "Seven-Thirties," and Certificates of Indebtedness, which were issued with a clear understanding that they would be paid in "lawful money." But as to the "Five-Twenties," including those ultimately issued in redemption of the "Seven-Thirties," it was argued that the principal might fairly be paid in Greenbacks, because nothing was expressly stipulated to the contrary, while the Legal Tender act, in authorizing the issue of $150,000,000 Greenbacks, declared that "these notes shall be a legal tender for all debts, public and private," except Duties on Imports and interest on the National Debt.

A ready answer to this cavil suggests itself when we consider that nobody supposed or imagined, when the Legal Tender act was passed, that any difference in value between coin and "lawful money" would exist when the principal of those bonds should fall due. "Legal Tender" was reluctantly adopted by Congress as a temporary expedient, designed in no case to outlast the heavy requirements of actual war. To have stipulated in 1862 that bonds due after 1866 should not be paid in depreciated paper would have seemed as absurd as to enact that snow-banks and ice-cakes should not be allowed to encumber our harvest-fields next August.

Some timorous soul having suggested, soon after the "Five-Twenties" were first put on the market, that the principal might be held payable in Greenbacks, the Government Agents for their negotiation gave the most unqualified assurance that they were payable in coin. Their authority in the premises being questioned, Secretary Chase repeated those assurances; and they were successively reiterated by his successors, Wm. Pitt Fessenden and Hugh McCulloch. When the subject first attracted the attention of Congress, several leading members, who had aided in maturing and passing the Legal Tender act, expressed their entire concurrence in the exposition given by Secretary Chase—Mr. Thaddeus Stevens, who had stoutly resisted the proposition to make the interest payable in coin, alone insisting that the principal might properly be paid in Greenbacks. The question thus raised entered largely into the Presidential contest of 1868—the Republican National Convention which nominated Grant and Colfax having somewhat vaguely taken ground in favor of evincing the utmost good faith toward the public creditors, fulfilling not the letter merely but the spirit of our obligations to them; while the Democratic Convention which nominated Seymour and Blair more specifically resolved that all National obligations not expressly payable in coin, might and should be discharged in "lawful money." The election of Gen. Grant is a virtual condemnation of this dictum.

The liquidated Debt of the United States was reported by Secretary McCulloch, on the 1st of August, 1865, to have been swelled to the enormous amount of $2,757,000,000; and it was about the same on the 1st of the succeeding month. If we add the sum afterward voted by Congress as mustering-out bounty to honorably discharged soldiers who had fought in the War for the Union, and the sums at that time due and since allowed to States for equipping and arming regiments and batteries for that War, the real aggregate of our National Debt cannot have fallen much short of Three Billions of Dollars. Even this estimate takes no account of Pensions accorded to soldiers permanently disabled and crippled in that War, which call for some Twenty-five Millions per annum, and may be fairly estimated as equal to an additional Debt of not less than Two to Three Hundred Millions. And this vast Debt imposed an annual charge on the National Industry of more than One Hundred and Fifty Millions of Dollars; whereas the much larger Public Debt of Great Britain (Four Billions of Dollars) calls for but One Hundred and Twenty Millions of interest per annum.

Against this enormous National Debt, our country, though severely devastated and impoverished by four years of gigantic, costly warfare, began forthwith to make head: so that Mr. McCulloch was enabled to report, on the 1st of December, 1867, that the principal had already been reduced by a sum of Two Hundred and Sixty-six Millions of Dollars. Since then, however, Congress has abolished the taxes on raw Cotton and on nearly all descriptions of Manufactures, while some Forty Millions of new bonds have been issued in aid of the various Pacific Railroads: the net result being a complete arrest of the reduction of the principal of our indebtedness and a moderate increase of its nominal aggregate—the bonds issued to Railroads being primarily payable, principal and interest, by them, and only in case of their failure, by the United States. The fact that we are no longer paying off Debt is, however, unhappily beyond question.

A speedy resumption of Specie Payments, and the funding of our Five-Twenties which have been five years outstanding, with other past-due obligations, in a new bond which shall draw but four or (at most) five per cent. interest, are among our most pressing duties. We ought thus to be able, without increasing our taxes, but by enforcing their more uniform collection, aided by a wise and vigorous retrenchment of expenditures, to reduce the principal of our Debt by not less than Fifty Millions per annum, and thus, by increasing our annual payments of principal, as less and less shall be required for the satisfaction of interest, extinguish the last dollar of our Debt before the close of the present century.

MINING.

BY ALBERT D. RICHARDSON.

METALS were known at a very early period. Most barbarous and semi-civilized nations, especially Orientals, have always decorated their persons with metallic ornaments; and for this purpose probably, minerals were first dug from the "everlasting hills." Abraham sent ear-rings and bracelets as a wedding present to Isaac's wife. They have been preserved in the granite tombs of Egyptian kings, and in the buried cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum. They were found by Alexander in Babylon, by Cortez in Mexico, and by Lewis and Clarke among the remotest American Indians.

Metals became very early a medium of exchange. The special fitness of gold and silver for money was obvious even to barbarians, on account of their brightness, the ease of distinguishing them from other metals and of making and stamping them, and their hardness, and freedom from liability to rust. Abraham paid four hundred shekels of silver, "current money with the merehant,"—the Catholic version has it "common current money,"—for the cave of Machpelah, as a burial-place for Sarah his wife. His great-grandson too was sold as a slave for twenty pieces of silver. At first gold and silver seem to have been used in bars and wedges. Herodotus attributes the invention of coinage to the Lybians. Coins had spread through the civilized world four centuries before Christ. The ancient Mexicans had a tin currency. Lycurgus made the money of Sparta of iron, and it is said to have required a cart and a yoke of oxen to remove a hundred dollars of it. The Carthaginians made money of leather. Caesar's Commentaries relate that the early Britons used for money rings of brass or iron, "determined by weight." In later times, tin, pewter and gun-metal have been used in coinage in England, and platinum in Russia.

The first American coin was a brass penny for the Virginia colony, made in 1612. It was struck in the Bermudas, then known as the Summer Islands, and it bore the legend "Sommer Island" and "a hogge" on one side, with a ship in full sail, firing a gun, on the other. "Pine Tree Shillings" were coined in Massachusetts in 1652, and some even circulated in England, where Charles II. was assured that the tree represented the Royal Oak which saved his life. This so mollified the "merrie monareh" that he was pleased to term the sturdy colonists a "parcel of honest dogs." There is a story that the master of the mint gave to his daughter as her wedding dowry, her weight in Pine Tree shillings, putting her in one end of the scales and filling up the other with the shillings till they lifted her from the floor. Our first national coin was the copper cent of 1787. Our present decimal system, invented by Thomas Jefferson, went into operation in 1792. Our metallic coinage is not so extensive as that of Great Britain. It has been calculated that the British silver shillings alone would form a column upwards of a hundred miles high.

Mining among the ancients was rude and simple. Hand washing for gold and the quarrying of other metal veins near the surface, were the methods first practised. The tools found in ancient mines on this continent, are merely rough hammers of stone. Pictorial representations of Egyptian mining show criminals and prisoners of war digging ore out of the ground, crushing it into small pieces, grinding it to powder in hand mills, and washing away the refuse and earth on broad inclined planes, while the smelters are purifying the metals in crucibles. Blasting by gun-powder was introduced about 1600. Before that time shafts and horizontal galleries were excavated by hand, with great labor, and ores carried to the surface on the heads or shoulders of workmen. The earliest improvement was the windlass. The use of horse and water power successively followed, and then the steam engine which was first applied to mining by Watts, in Cornwall. The transportation of heavy ores led to the introduction of wooden railways, about 1676. Iron was substituted half a century before the invention of the locomotive.

A mine usually consists of a vertical shaft, from which tunnels branch off into the mineral veins. The deepest mine in the United States is in Nevada, (silver), and is something over 1,200 ft. The deepest shaft in Cornwall, (tin), is 2,112 ft. There is a silver mine in Peru 2,400 ft. The (silver and lead) mine of Andreasberg, in the Hartz mountains, is 2,500 ft., and a now abandoned mine in Bohemia reached the unparalleled depth of more than 3,000 feet. There is a silver mine in the Andes 11,375 feet above sea-level, and a gold mine in Colorado, 11,200 feet.

Steam hoisting machines are now so perfect, that workmen are lowered into or lifted out of the deepest mines smoothly, safely, and almost instantaneously. The earth and ores are brought up to the surface in the same manner. Steam engines of great power are also used to pump out water.

Previous to 1775, persons employed in the coal mines of Scotland were transferable with the estate. Under the laws of Great Britain, mines are generally the property of the lords of the soil, who receive a royalty averaging one-fifteenth of the gross proceeds. No difference is recognised in the United States between mineral and other property, the deeds of an estate conveying entire control of all ores found on the property, unless specially reserved. The miners in our various mineral districts in the new Territories—usually opened before civil government is extended over them—make regulations of their own, limiting the number of "feet" along a mineral lode, to which the discoverer is entitled by right of discovery, and the restrictions under which he or purchasers may hold additional "claims." They also establish courts to determine questions of ownership which frequently arise, as a lode or vein often runs into another, and it is difficult to distinguish between them. After the establishment of civil law, these local regulations are recognised as binding by the highest courts, both State and National. Placer gold mines on the public lands, are free to all, and quartz lodes may be pre-empted on the same principle as agricultural lands.

MINERAL WEALTH OF NATIONS.

RUSSIA was formerly the great gold-producing country of the world. Her product began to decline in 1847, just before the California discoveries. Mines—less rich than those of Australia and California—extend along the Ural range for four hundred miles. From 1814 to 1860, their product was $300,145,000. Silver and copper are also found in the Ural mountains, and in Eastern Siberia. The iron mines, chiefly in Siberia, are of vast extent, give employment to 50,000 laborers, and produce annually nearly half a million of tons. Some sheet-iron of excellent quality finds its way to this country.

AUSTRIA produces annually about $2,500,000 in gold and silver. She is rich in quicksilver and in iron. The latter is used for rails on nearly all her railways, and it proves very durable. Her annual yield of copper is 4,000 tons, and of lead, 6,000 tons. Her coal beds seem inexhaustible, though both coal and iron mining are yet in their infancy.

BELGIUM abounds in iron and zinc, and next to Great Britain, produces more coal than any other country in Europe.

FRANCE is agricultural rather than mining. A little gold is found in the streams of the Pyrenees, and silver is also worked, but with small profit. Coal beds are numerous, and have been greatly developed within the last thirty years. Iron is the most abundant metal. The mines, over 800 in number, employ 40,000 workmen, and are estimated to produce annually, $20,000,000 worth of pig iron. Lead is plentiful in Brittany, and copper abounds in the Pyrenees, Alps and Vosges.

GREAT BRITAIN is extremely rich in coal and iron; while copper, tin and lead are also abundant. The number of active iron works is about 200, and of furnaces in blast, 560. A little gold has been obtained from the south of Scotland and Wicklow in Ireland, and the quartz veins of Wales now yield it in small quantities. The mineral product of the kingdom in 1867, was:

Coal.....	104,500,480 tons.....	$130,625,725 value.

SPAIN has mines of lead, tin, iron, copper and silver, which were worked successively by Phœnicians, Romans and Moors. Strabo and Pliny speak of the country as rich in gold, but the present yield is estimated at only $8,000 per annum. Lead and iron are abundant, but copper and tin scarce. The quicksilver mine of Almaden, worked over three thousand years ago, is still the richest in the world.

HINDOSTAN contains all the metallic ores, and is specially rich in coal and iron. Borneo yields annually, several millions of dollars in gold, and the island of Banca in the Malay Archipelago, contains rich deposits of tin.

CHINA has produced gold, washed from the sands of the streams and wrought into ornaments, from time immemorial, though the Chinese have never used it for coin. Deposits believed valuable, have recently been discovered in the mountains north of Shanghae. They are known as the Shangtung mines. Whenever their richness shall be fully demonstrated, they will doubtless attract miners from America and Europe, whatever attempts may be made to exclude them. Coal, anthracite and bituminous, is abundant on the Yang tse and in the northern peninsula. The surface veins, worked by manual labor, yield an inferior article, but with proper machinery, China would soon become a great coal producing country. Considerable lead is obtained, and a large portion of it consumed in the lining of tea chests.

JAPAN is reported to have yielded $200,000,000 in gold and silver between 1570 and 1740. Both metals are obtained in several portions of the island, but not plentifully. Excellent copper and indifferent coal abound.

AUSTRALIA first became famous as a gold producing region through the discoveries made at Ballarat, in 1851, three years after the discovery of gold in California. The largest nugget ever found, was worth $4,500. Enthusiastic savans estimate that the veins of Victoria can give employment to a hundred thousand laborers for three hundred years. The yield of the colony from the first gold discovery to the beginning of 1868 was $565,167,500 gold; $15,750 silver; $975,225 tin. The present annual gold product stands at about $25,000,000, of which one-fourth is from quartz veins, and the rest from placers. The island is also rich in copper, and in excellent coal.

NEW ZEALAND produces some gold and silver, chiefly by sluicing. The principal gold-fields are at Massacre Bay and in Otago. Quartz mining is just beginning.

AFRICA, though believed to be one of the richest gold countries in the world, produces only about one million and a half of dollars annually, nearly all fine dust from hand washing. The Gold Coast in Guinea is named from the prevalence of the metal, but its deadly climate thus far proves an impassable barrier to the white man. During 1868, two extensive gold-fields, reported very rich, were discovered in the district of Bamanguato, on the northern limits of Cape Colony, adjoining the Dutch republic.

BOLIVIA, New Granada and Brazil abound in metals, but export little except silver. British Guiana contains gold-fields in the valley of the Essequibo, believed to be rich, but not yet developed.

CHILI is rich in minerals. Within seventy-five miles of the town of Copaiipo, are 253 silver, 6 gold and 14 copper mines. The latest annual exports of the republic which we find recorded, are $497,736 gold; $4,725,655 silver; $10,760,589 copper; $176,765 coal.

PERU has been famous for silver and gold ever since its discovery. Pizarro and his soldiers extorted seventeen and a half millions of dollars before the captured Inca, Atahualpa, who had offered his prison full of gold for his liberty, was put to death. The amount of silver produced from 1630 to 1800 has been estimated at over $1,200,000,000. The Andes contain rich deposits of copper which are only extracted on the western slope, owing to the difficulty of transportation from the east side of the ridge. All mining is backward, on account of the great altitude of the mineral veins and the lack of enterprise among the people.

MEXICO is extremely rich in gold and silver. The total product of her mines since the conquest by Cortez, has been estimated as high as $3,000,000,000. The ancient Mexicans worked veins of silver, tin and copper, but were ignorant of iron. They cast vessels of gold and silver, which were afterward delicately carved and chased. Few modern improvements have been made beyond the introduction of steam engines for pumping. The yield of silver is now larger than that of the United States, but that of gold comparatively insignificant. The export is generally shipped direct to England. Excellent iron is produced in several of the states, and at Guaraguato is the richest and most extensively worked copper vein in the world.

CANADA contains valuable beds of iron and copper. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia abound in coal and iron, and Nova Scotia is beginning to yield gold. British Columbia has rich gold-fields, found chiefly on the Fraser river and its tributaries. Victoria, Vancouver Island, is the supply point for the region. Present annual gold yield of British America, about $3,000,000.

THE UNITED STATES contains mineral resources more extensive and more varied than any other country in the world. Gold has been found in greater or less quantities in half the States of the Union. Tennessee, Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia formerly furnished our largest supplies. Now, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Montana, Dakota and Wyoming are by far the most extensive and productive gold-fields on the globe. Much of the immense tract is also rich in silver, copper, lead and other valuable minerals. Comparatively little of the field has been even "prospected," and important discoveries in the Rocky Mountains, the Sierra Nevadas, and the Pacific Coast Range may be looked for, for the next hundred years. Early Spanish, Portuguese and English explorers were all on the lookout for minerals. Huts and utensils, supposed to have belonged to De Soto's party in the 16th century, have been discovered among the mountain gold regions of Georgia, and the lead mines of Missouri. Previous to 1848, our annual gold product was estimated at about one million dollars, chiefly from Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina. Some gold had been known to exist in California for nearly three hundred years, and when Humboldt visited that region, he had predicted that large quantities would yet be discovered. The first rich deposits were found in January, 1848, at Sutter's Mill near the present city of Sacramento, by James W. Marshall, of New Jersey. By the close of 1850, there were fifty thousand miners at work in the State. Quartz mining began in 1851.

Silver exists in all deposits of lead ore. It is found in largest quantities in Nevada and Idaho, though some is procured in Arizona, California, Colorado and New Mexico.

Iron is found in every State and Territory, and in every form. The great deposits of lead are in Missouri and in half a dozen adjoining counties of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa. Lake Superior is the great copper region, though the metal is found in Connecticut, New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, and in nearly all our new, gold-bearing States. Tin exists in Maine and California; zinc, in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and many other States, and quicksilver in California. Vast beds of coal which are already worked, underlie many of the States east of the Rocky Mountains, and portions of Utah, California and Washington Territory.

GOLD AND SILVER.

Gold is the first metal of which we find historical mention. One of the streams which flowed through Eden, compassed the land of Havilah "where there is gold." Abram was "rich in gold and silver," and his descendants on their exodus borrowed of the Egyptians so many "jewels of silver and jewels of gold" that the numerous sacred vessels of their Tabernacle and the golden calf made by Aaron, did not exhaust the supply. Solomon used gold lavishly in the decoration of the Great Temple; and silver "the king made to be in Jerusalem as stones for abundance." The California of that day was Ophir, situate according to some authorities on the east coast of Africa, where ancient mines have recently been found, and according to others, in India, that abounds in "apes, peacocks, ivory and precious stones," for all of which Ophir was famous.

Gold, sometimes associated with silver and sometimes with base metals, is usually found in quartz rock. On the decomposition of the rock, it is washed down into beds of rivers, where it lies buried in grains among the sands. The Pactolus, which "ran itself in golden sands," is supposed to have witnessed some of the earliest mining. The Scythians, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans all obtained supplies of gold from mountain regions.

Before the discovery of America, the supply of gold barely met the loss caused by wearing. The annual product of the world in 1847 was said to be only twenty millions of dollars; seven years later, California alone yielded sixty millions. The discovery of the rich deposits in California and Australia gave new impetus to the movements of population everywhere, stimulated all departments of industry, brought together into the same communities people from every quarter of the globe, settled vast territories, facilitated intercourse between far distant regions, and steadily changed values throughout the world. Since the discovery of California, the purchasing power of gold and silver has probably been reduced one-half, by their increased abundance.

Hand washing was the earliest mode of collecting gold; and the pan and the rocker were the first implements used in California mining. Quicksilver was soon brought in to collect the fine particles often lost in hand washing. Hydraulic mining, now largely in use in California, is done by throwing currents of water from hose and pipes with enormous force against banks of earth, cutting away whole hills. Down the face of the hill, also, pour artificial streams. At the foot of it, the waters all pass away in long flumes or wooden troughs, carrying the earth and stones with them. Slats on the bottom of the flumes catch and retain the gold. Where gold is found not in decomposed rocks or earth, but in hard quartz, the stones must be ground or pounded to powder to release it. The arastra, a Mexican invention, consists of one or more flat, heavy stones, drawn round by mules, in water, over the pieces of quartz on a circular stone bed. This grinds the rock to powder, and the gold is then collected by quicksilver. The arastra is used more or less in all our mining regions, but it is a slow, laborious process. American miners usually reduce the quartz by stamp-mills. Iron weights or stamps, of from four hundred to seven hundred pounds each, and falling upon the quartz from four to six feet, sometimes as often as once a second, rapidly pound it to powder. It is then ground to extreme fineness under revolving stones, and quicksilver is put in to collect the gold.

Silver seems to have been abundant among ancient nations, and was, probably, the first metal used as money. Hannibal obtained 300 pounds daily from a mine in Cordova, which penetrated a mile and a half into the mountain. The famous mines of Potosi were accidentally discovered in 1545, by a hunter, who found lumps of the metal under the roots of a bush. Silver is found in a variety of ores, usually associated with gold, copper or lead. Pure masses occasionally occur in the copper region of Lake Superior. Pieces almost pure and as large as a half dollar coin have frequently been obtained in Nevada, and sometimes in Idaho. Silver is never found like gold in grains among the sand, to be washed out by hand, but in ores or quartz, from which it must be reduced by stamping or grinding, and sometimes by smelting.

It is difficult to obtain trustworthy recent estimates of the world's annual yield of the precious metals. The following from Phillips' Gold and Silver Mining, estimates the product for 1865. It places the yield of the United States several millions too low, probably making no estimate of the large quantity never reported to the mints:—

The Commissioner of the General Land Office of the United States, in his report for 1867, estimates the aggregate annual product at $208,000,000; and some other writers place it still higher.

There is no obvious reason for the relative value of gold and silver to remain the same; but it changes very little even when great changes occur in the relative product. The enormous gold yields of California and Australia have hardly affected it perceptibly. In 1344, an ounce of silver stood in value to an ounce of gold as 1 to 12 1-2; and in 1863, as 1 to 15. The whole tendency of our times is toward a uniform metallic currency all over the world, and one will probably be adopted before many years have passed.

"Where do the precious metals go?" is a question frequently asked. The drain of them has always been toward the East, where they are used for hoarding and for ornaments, rather than for money. This is especially true of silver. During 14 years ending in 1864, England and the Mediterranean exported to Asia more than $650,000,000. The total amount of silver in the world is estimated at $10,000,000,000, or only enough to pay the debts of three or four leading nations.

The total gold and silver product of the United States from 1848 to 1868 is estimated at $1,255,000,000. The largest product of Australia in any single year was $43,000,000, considerably below the largest product of California. The yield of the precious metals is much more than sufficient to supply the loss caused by wear and tear, and they must decrease steadily in value, unless Asia increases the demand by using them more generally for currency. The annual product of the United States has fallen off somewhat since 1863, owing to the giving out of placer mines and other causes; but as the steady progress of the Pacific Railway increases the facilities for quartz mining, our yield will be augmented from year to year. The yield of Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico is nearly all silver, that of Idaho, one-third silver, that of Colorado one-eighth silver. All the rest is gold. The following is the estimated gold and silver product of the country for 1868:

California.....	$23,000,000	Colorado.....	4,000,000
Nevada.....	18,000,000	Washington.....	1,000,000
Montana.....	13,000,000	Arizona.....	250,000
Idaho.....	7,000,000	New Mexico.....	250,000

Total.....			$71,500,000

CALIFORNIA. In California, some placer mines did well during 1868, as the season was wet and water plentiful; but in the southern counties, the water was so high as to destroy a great deal of property. In one county, it stopped mining for six months. The floods reduced the product of the year. The quartz yield was steady and quiet, and there were no failures among the quartz miners. Crushers are coming into extensive use to prepare quartz for the stamps. They break it up to the size of hazel nuts, but stamps do all the pulverizing. On the whole, the mineral product remains substantially unchanged.

OREGON. The Oregon mines, principally in the southern counties, did well during the year. Of their entire yield, probably $75,000 came from quartz, the remainder from placer diggings. The yield seems likely to be much larger for 1869, as extensive gold-fields on the Malheur river, and Shasta and Willow creeks have recently been discovered. Several ditches are constructing which will supply water to about four thousand men.

NEVADA. The great Comstock Lode, discovered in 1859, has yielded in all, some ninety millions of dollars, and proved to be for the time the richest silver mine in the world; but during 1868, its product greatly diminished, and only a few of the mines upon it are now doing well. In general, those which are deepest find the metal poorest. The yield of the lode fell off from seventeen millions in 1867 to twelve or thirteen millions for 1868. Central and eastern Nevada, however, show an increase, and the new White Pine district, 120 miles east of Austin, proves exceedingly rich. One of its mines, it is claimed, turned out 200 tons of ore, which averaged to yield over $1,000 to the ton, and though the district is only newly opened, it yielded $1,000,000 during the last six months of 1868. With the opening summer of 1869, it is likely to contain a population of many thousands, and it bids fair to more than counterbalance the falling off in the yield of the Comstock Lode.

IDAHO. The territory contains in all, some 380 stamps. Of these, about 150 are running, nearly all in the Owhyhee district. In other sections, the mills are idle, chiefly from inexperienced or incompetent management. Most of the capital which went in during 1868 was from England and our Western States. Western men seem to succeed better in quartz mining than eastern. The Flint district, adjoining the Owhyhee, promises richly, and a forty stamp mill, the largest in the Territory is nearly completed. Placer mining was less successful in 1868 than in 1867, as the season was exceedingly dry, and water scarce in the ditches. Three-fourths of the bullion produced is by quartz mining, one-fourth by placer. In the quartz the ratio of gold increases largely upon that of silver, as the mines are sunk deeper.

The barren looking, sandy soil proves much more productive than was expected. Several flour mills are in operation, and grain, fruit, and vegetables are already produced in abundance. Supplies go in from the Central Pacific Railroad—only 120 miles from the Owhyhee district—a great improvement on the old mode of hauling them over the mountains from Oregon. The advance of the road has given a great impetus to industry and commerce in Idaho. Freights from San Francisco cost only five or six cents a pound.

MONTANA. Quartz mills in the territory, 50; number of stamps, 668; stamps in operation, about 400. There have been the usual failures in mills, from bad judgment, inefficient or dishonest management, and the attempt to substitute for stamps, new processes which have proved impracticable. In the Hot Springs district, several promising veins have "run out," the only instances of the kind in the Territory. Of the bullion yield for 1868, 95 per cent. is gold against 5 per cent. of silver; and 80 per cent. of the gold product comes from quartz mills, against 20 per cent. from placer diggings. There are about twenty arastras in operation. All the quartz mills are the old fashioned stamps, except one heavy Chilian mill, which works well. The extreme remoteness of the Territory and the high prices of transportation have kept the prices of unskilled labor at five or six dollars a day; but two or three thousand Chinese have already arrived, and the approach of the Union Pacific Railroad (which runs within about four hundred miles of Virginia City) insures steady and comparatively cheap supplies. Hitherto freights have been received by the Missouri river only six months of the year, giving great opportunities for speculation, and causing some suffering in the winter. Agriculture flourishes exceedingly; population about 40,000.

WYOMING. Few mines have yet been opened in this new Territory, though a number are promising. One small quartz mill is in operation.

COLORADO. Colorado advanced rapidly during 1868. After spending much time and trying many new processes for taking out the gold, most of the companies have fallen back upon the old method of plain stamps. Considerable foreign capital, chiefly English, has been invested. The silver mines are beginning to yield; and the copper veins are promising.

NEW MEXICO. The Cimaron gold mines south of Bent's Fort, are thought to be rich, but few returns have yet been received. The rich silver deposits, too, near Mesilla and elsewhere, await the influx of American energy and capital, which can only come with a Southern Pacific Railroad.

ARIZONA. In the same general condition as New Mexico. Inaccessibleness, hostile Indians and Mexican thriftlessness keep down the yield of the precious metals to a trivial sum; but whenever the Territory enjoys railway communication, it will produce silver to the amount of many millions annually.

IRON.

Iron, like gold, was known to the ancients. We read that "iron is taken out of the earth," and again that Tubal Cain was an "instructor of every artificer in brass and iron." One of the attractions of the Promised Land lay in its being a country "whose stones are iron and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass." And when Cræsus showed Solon his stores of gold, Solon answered, "If another king cometh who hath more iron than thou, he will be master of all this gold."

Iron is the most useful, most abundant and most valuable of all the metals. It can be beaten into any shape, cast into the most intricate patterns, rolled into thin plates and drawn into fine wire of the greatest tenacity. It is alike adapted to the most massive and the most delicate works. As an illustration of the enhancement of its value by labor, it is asserted that the worth of a piece of iron in different stages of manufacture may be as follows:—In the bar, $5; in horse-shoes, $10.50; in needles, $55; in pen-knife blades, $3,285; in shirt buttons, $29,480; in hair-springs of watches, $250,000.

Iron was used long before the Trojan war. Solomon's saying, "as iron sharpeneth iron," relates to a practice ancient even in his day. Monuments of Thebes and Memphis, forty centuries old, represent butchers sharpening their knives upon steel. Scythia was termed the "mother of iron." As early as A. D. 120, the Romans erected forges in Britain, and remains of their furnaces are still found upon the tops of hills. The ancients, however, had only wrought iron. The earliest notice of cast iron is found in the records of the 15th century. American Indians were altogether ignorant of the metal.

In Virginia in 1620, a ton of iron cost £10, the price of a man's labor for a year. Among the early American colonists, an iron pot was often bequeathed to some heir as a special mark of esteem, and all pots and kettles used were of wrought iron. Virginia in 1662 forbade sending iron out of the colony, under a penalty of 10 pounds of tobacco for every pound of iron exported. The first iron works in the United States were built "on Falling Creek in Jamestown river," in 1619; but three years later, the Indians destroyed the furnaces and massacred the workmen and neighboring settlers to the number of 347 persons. Iron works were established at Lynn and Braintree, Mass., in 1644. The first iron vessel cast in America was an iron quart pot, about 1650. In 1673, New England had five furnaces. In 1790, the first furnace was erected west of the Alleghanies.

The ancients melted the ores in open furnaces, into which air was forced by hand bellows. The metal collected in a "loop," and was then beaten on an anvil, the impurities separating in a semi-fluid cinder. The ores are now reduced by suitable fluxes in huge blast furnaces raised to an intense heat, sometimes estimated at nearly 3,000° Fahr., by currents of hot air driven in by powerful machinery. The resulting pig iron is then passed through puddling and rolling mills, and converted into the wrought iron of commerce, which again, by the addition of a slight proportion of carbon becomes steel. The high blast furnace was invented in 1558. Up to 1700, the ores were reduced by charcoal; then bituminous coal was substituted. The puddling process was invented in 1784, and the hot blast introduced in 1827. Anthracite coal was first successfully used for smelting in Pennsylvania in 1835. The following statement of the iron product of the United States for 1867, shows the amount of pig iron produced by the different qualities of coal:

Anthracite pig iron, 784,783 tons; raw bituminous coal and coke, 318,647 tons; charcoal, 344,341 tons; total, 1,447,771 tons.

The early uses of iron were few and comparatively rude. Modern civilization has greatly stimulated its product, and introduced it into nearly all the industries of life. The first great increase in demand was due to the railroads. Wooden rails were used until about 1700; then strap iron came in, but was not generally adopted. In 1767, the Colebrook-Dale iron works in Shropshire, England, had a very large quantity of iron on hand, as the prices were extremely low. The wooden railway belonging to the works requiring frequent and expensive repairs, the proprietors laid down their pigs of iron for rails, observing that when the prices of metal rose, they could easily take them up. Their greatly superior value soon became obvious, and it was found that ten horses could do the work which formerly required four hundred. Still it took many years to bring them into general use. Now the total length of railways in the world is upwards of 170,000 miles, an iron belt that would encircle the globe six times, and is almost long enough to connect the earth with the moon. In 1828, the annual product of pig iron was: Great Britain, 700,000 tons; United States, 140,000 tons; total product of the world, 1,000,000 tons.

The yield for 1866, (the latest full annual returns received), was:

England.....	4,530,051 tons.	Russia	408,000 tons.
France.....	1,300,320 "	Spain	75,000 "

No gold and silver mines have ever been the sources of such uniform and long-continued prosperity as some of the rich deposits of iron in Great Britain and Pennsylvania. The iron product and manufacture of the United States has increased enormously within the last few years, and the vast beds of iron convenient to coal in various parts of the Union, are destined to make America the chief source of supply for the world. Pennsylvania takes the lead of all our States, and Michigan follows. The Lake Superior region which made its first shipments in 1855, already produces nearly one-fifth of the iron ores of the United States. The product of this region is increasing with great rapidity. So is the yield of Missouri, whose three mountains of solid iron known as Iron Mountain, Pilot Knob, and Shepherd's Mountain, are among the most remarkable natural curiosities on our continent. Oregon is beginning to supply the markets of the Pacific coast with domestic iron. The product is very pure in quality and exceedingly abundant. The only furnace yet in operation is at Oswego, on the west bank of the Wallamet river, six miles south of Portland. Another company is formed, and works are building on the Columbia river, below the mouth of the Wallamet; and within the next few years the iron product of the State is likely to be very large. Colorado is already producing iron; and the ore is found in greater or less quantities in nearly or quite all the new States and Territories, as well as in all the older ones. Where coal is not convenient to the iron beds, the ore is often shipped to other States for reducing. The following table shows the estimated product, not of ore, but of pig iron, in our several states, for 1868:

COAL.

The English use this word generally in the plural, as "coals are high;" but with them it refers only to bituminous coal, the variety commonly used in Great Britain. In this country, the singular noun is applied to all the varieties. The two great divisions are bituminous and anthracite. Anthracite contains fewer gaseous products than bituminous, and is richer in carbon.

Coal was an article of export from Newcastle, England, in 1281. During the reign of Edward I. its use in London was prohibited by several acts of parliament, the smoke being regarded as injurious to health. But as wood grew scarce, coal was substituted, and for 200 years it has been the chief fuel of Great Britain. During the last half-century, the growing use of the steam engine has enormously increased its consumption everywhere. The annual coal product of the world is now estimated as follows:

Great Britain.....	104,000,000 tons.	Belgium.....	12,000,000 tons.
North America.....	22,000,000 "	France.....	10,000,000 "
Germany.....	17,000,000 "	Other Countries.....	7,000,000 "
Total (value $375,000,000).....		172,000,000 tons.

The area of workable coal-beds in all the world, outside of the United States, is estimated at 26,000 square miles, of which 1,500 are in Australia, 6,000 in Great Britain, 1,000 in France, 800 in Austria, 500 in Belgium, and 100 in Russia. That of the United States, not including Alaska, is estimated at over 200,000 square miles, or eight times as large as the available coal area of all the rest of the globe. It has been calculated that at the present rate of consumption, the world's supply of coal would run out within a few generations, but doubtless some new fuel will be introduced, or some new discoveries of coal made, before such a period comes.

Coal veins are usually reached by vertical shafts, but when found in hills, are worked by horizontal galleries. On the slope of the hills opposite Pittsburg, 300 feet above the beds of the Monongahela and the Ohio, may be seen the openings of many of these galleries. This mode of taking out the fuel is far cheaper than hoisting it. Coal shafts in England sometimes reach a depth of 2,000 feet. Upon the largest of them, 10 years' labor has been expended, costing half a million of dollars.

The ventilation of the mines is an important point, and is best accomplished by up and down shafts, the foul air ascending in the former, and atmospheric air passing in to the workmen by the latter. Bituminous coal gives off large quantities of explosive gas, often causing terrible accidents. The Davy and Stephenson safety lamps prove of great service in preventing the ignition of this fatal fire-damp. Carbonic acid gas resulting from the explosion is known as choke-damp, and suffocates all who breathe it. Despite every precaution, such accidents are not unfrequent. One near Wigan, Lancashire, England, occurred in the latter part of November, 1868, causing the death of sixty miners.

The coal deposits on the James river, fifteen or twenty miles from Richmond, were the first worked in this country. The great anthracite region of Pennsylvania with its thriving cities and large population was a dense wilderness half a century ago. Thirty years ago, few mines in America were sunk below water level. Anthracite was first used for ordinary fuel in 1804, and for generating steam in 1825. The first railway for its transmission was built in 1827. It now gives employment to upwards of 40 railroads and canals.

Pennsylvania takes the lead of all our States in coal production, and indeed her yield is more than 77 per cent. of all the coal product of the Union. That from the central portions of the State usually goes east to tide water. That from the rich bituminous region about Pittsburg and the head waters of the Alleghany is used for local consumption, or passes down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Nearly all the states along the Alleghany mountains have rich coal-fields, as have also Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Missouri.

Coal is found in workable form in more than three-fourths of all our States and Territories. The following table from the Census Report, gives the statistics of coal mined in the United States during the year ending June 1, 1860 :

Increase in value since 1851, 182 per cent.

No full official statistics have been collected since, but the returns of the Internal Revenue for 1864 show the product of that year to have been 16,398,186 tons, and the total product for 1868 did not vary far from 19,000,000 tons, valued at $26,000,000. The ratio of the several States has not changed greatly since 1860, except that the product of California, has sprung up. Her Mt. Diabolo mines are yielding about 200,000 tons annually. A land carriage of six miles and a water carriage of fifty, takes their product to San Francisco. The Bellingham Bay mines in Washington Territory already yield largely, and are capable of much greater development. They produce an admirable quality of coal, used extensively on the Pacific coast for manufacturing purposes. In our Atlantic cities, English cannel coal is used for making gas. The duty on imported coal is $1.10 per ton of 28 bushels. Our imports and exports for 1867 are given as follows by the United States Bureau of Statistics: Coal imports, 521,305 tons, value, $1,455,044; exports, 285,101 tons, value, $1,846,199. The export is chiefly anthracite, and more valuable than the imported qualities.

COPPER.

The name of this metal is derived from Cyprus, the island on which it was mined by the Greeks. Various ancient and semi-civilized nations were familiar with its use. Tools and other articles of copper, showing considerable metallurgic knowledge, have been found among the relics of the Mound Builders who once occupied our western States. The Aztecs and Peruvians too, made chisels and axes of it. Bronze, a compound of copper and tin, was regarded by the ancients as a sacred metal, and largely used in monuments and statues. The Colossus of Rhodes was built of it, a hundred feet high. After standing 56 years, it was overthrown by an earthquake. It lay upon the ground for nine centuries, and then its fragments, sold by the Saracens to a Jew, are said to have weighed 720,000 pounds, and to have required 900 camels to remove them. A set of bronze surgical instruments has been discovered in the ruins of Pompeii. Brass is the most useful alloy of copper. Oreide, a new alloy of copper and zinc, with the addition of small quantities of sal ammoniac, quick-lime, magnesia and crude tartar, is sometimes known as "French gold," and is used in the manufacture of cheap watches and jewelry.

Copper is found in a variety of ores, often of great beauty, and also in a metallic state, sometimes in enormous masses. The mines of Cornwall are extremely rich. One, at a cost of $500, is said to have yielded $18,500 worth of ore. The Burra Burra mines of Australia began working in 1845, and in five years had yielded more than three and a half millions of dollars.

Copper was discovered in New England in 1648. The first copper teakettle of native metal was made in 1702. Copper ores have been worked in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and other eastern States; and mines have recently been opened in Tennessee, Arizona and California. But practically, all the copper product of the United States comes as yet from the Lake Superior region, which was known only to hunters up to 1842. There the metal is found in a ridge of trap rock, two miles wide, extending south-westerly from the lake. Some enormous masses of pure copper have been taken from it. One piece weighing six tons, and discovered under a hemlock tree 300 years old, had been cleared of the vein-stone by fire, showing that ancient mining was carried on there, probably by the Mound Builders. Another mass, weighing nearly 500 tons, required upwards of a ton of gunpowder to detach it from the rock. The first shipments from the Lake Superior region were in 1845. The total yield of the mines from that time to the close of 1868 has been 100,000 tons. The yield for 1868 was about 12,000 tons.

Copper is extracted from its ores by smelting and calcination, and prepared for the market in ingots, which the rolling mills convert into sheets. Half the copper ores of the world are reduced in the great smelting establishments of Swansea, South Wales. Our furnaces are chiefly on the Atlantic coast. Thus far, Great Britain, Chili and Russia are the chief copper producing countries, but the product of the United States increases year by year.

LEAD.

Blocks of lead with Latin inscriptions, supposed to date back to the Roman invasion have been found in Great Britain, and Roman and Moorish lamps and tools discovered in lead mines in Spain. The Saxons too had a mine appropriately dedicated to Odin. There are no records of ancient lead mines out of Europe; and at the present day, the only mines of importance are in Europe and the United States. Smelting the ore is very prejudicial to health, and workmen suffer much from colic and paralysis.

Small veins of lead were discovered early in New England, but during the Revolutionary war, the metal was very scarce; churches and private houses were stripped of their supplies, patriotic ladies surrendered their shining pewter ware, and the equestrian statue of George III. in New York was melted down to furnish bullets for the soldiers.

The great lead region of which Galena, Illinois, and Dubuque, Iowa, are the chief centers, was discovered in 1700, but was first worked by Julien Dubuque in 1788. The rich deposits of Missouri were discovered by La Motte, in 1720, but were not worked till 1854.

The Galena region is our largest source of domestic supply. It is more developed than the Missouri districts, as transportation from it is easy, both by railroad and the Mississippi river. The Granby region in South-west Missouri is exceedingly rich, and a single block of pure ore weighing two thousand pounds has been taken out. The ore averages 80 per cent. of lead. It is found from 10 to 75 feet below the surface, and raised in buckets worked by horse power, or by windlass and crank. The mining is chiefly confined to a few hundred acres, but the lead deposits in that region underlie a very large extent of country. At present, the lead has to be hauled in wagons over the mountains for nearly two hundred miles to the railway at Rolla, or to the head of navigation on the Osage river; but the South-west Pacific Railroad is building toward the lead region, and whenever the locomotive reaches it, the product will be greatly increased. Considerable lead is also produced along the Iron Mountain Railway, in South-eastern Missouri. All the American lead is remarkable for its softness and purity. The annual returns of lead product are very imperfect and unsatisfactory, but the annual yield of the three chief lead producing countries is estimated as follows: Great Britain, 153,298,880 lbs.; Spain, 67,200,000 lbs.; United States, 38,000,000 lbs. The imports into the United States exceed considerably the domestic product.

QUICKSILVER.

There are records of the existence of this metal nearly three hundred years before Christ, and its use in amalgamating gold was known early. The chief ore is cinnabar. The estimated annual yield is as follows: Spain, 20,000 cwt.; Austria, 2,500 cwt.; California, 35,500 cwt.; Peru, 3,000 cwt.; total, 61,000 cwt. The chief demand is for mining uses, calomel, vermilion, and manufactures. Between the Almaden mine in Spain, and the New Almaden of California, there is a lively rivalry. The old Almaden supplies the most of Europe, and ships some quicksilver as far west as the city of Mexico. Until recently it controlled the Chinese market, but the manager of the New Almaden shipped 10,000 flasks to Hong Kong, and sold them so far below cost as to drive the European quicksilver back to Spain. Since then, California has supplied China; but Spain, by the same tactics, keeps the California quicksilver out of the London market. The Idria mine in Austria, sends its product chiefly to the silver mines of Hungary. Its miners are a uniformed corps, numbering 500.

The New Almaden mine of California was long known to the Indians, but was not worked until 1845. It produces annually about 24,000 flasks of 76 pounds each; the New Idria of California, 10,000 flasks; and the Reddington, 10,000 flasks. As the demand for quicksilver remains about the same, whether the price is high or low, the owners of these three mines form a combination and produce only what the market requires, not running their works much beyond half their capacity. Their product is consumed by our Pacific States and Territories, Mexico, South America, and China. Cinnabar has been found in Idaho, and some of our other new states, but as yet, is not worked.

TIN.

Tin seems to have been known from the remotest antiquity. It is mentioned in the Bible, among the plunder taken from the Midianites, as a metal to be purified by fire. It is frequently alluded to in the Iliad, and seems to have been familiar to Egyptians, Phœnicians, Greeks and Romans. The Phœnicians obtained it from Britain, which, according to some philologists, means "Tin Island." The Romans had the art of coating copper with it, but its application to iron was not discovered until the 17th century. The chief tin mines of the world are in Cornwall, England, and upon the isle of Banca, in the Malay Archipelago, though tin is found in smaller quantities in several other European and South American countries, in Mexico and in a few states of our Union. Some deposits in California are thought to be promising, but as yet, no metal is taken out.

ZINC.

Zinc was first obtained as a metal during the 13th century. In the 17th, Europe imported it from India, under the name of spelter. The first zinc was produced in this country in 1838, for the brass standard weights and measures ordered by Congress. Pennsylvania, New York, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Missouri, New Jersey and Tennessee all yield it. A block from New Jersey weighing 16,400 pounds was exhibited at the World's Fair in London in 1851. Great Britain, Belgium, Spain and other European countries also produce it. Of the entire product of the world, Prussia yields 58 per cent., Belgium, 27, Russia, 7, and the United States, 3.

Platinum, nickel, antimony, cobalt and other minor metals, are found in various parts of the United States. In the precious metals, our product is already far in advance of that of any other country, and under the stimulus of the first Pacific Railroad, to be completed across the continent in the early summer of 1869, a few years will suffice to quadruple it. In coal, iron, copper, quicksilver and lead, the resources of our continent are almost boundless. With the increase of population and railways, mining will grow rapidly into a gigantic national interest, and America will lead the world in the value and variety of her mineral products.

Until recently our vast mineral resources have obtained only desultory notice from time to time in the press of the country. There are now, however, three weekly journals devoted exclusively to the subject, "The American Journal of Mining," an unusually full and careful record, published in New York, and edited by R. W. Raymond, Ph. D., a mining engineer, who is also U. S. Commissioner of Mining Statistics; "Hillyer's U. S. Mining Journal," also of New York, and "Dewey's Mining and Scientific Press," of San Francisco.

LITERATURE AND LITERARY INFLUENCES OF THE DAY.

BY EVERT A. DUYCKINCK.

It would not be a practicable task to present with adequate consideration and detail, within the limits of a brief essay, the various points and reflections which so comprehensive a theme as the literature of the times, on the instant suggests. The literary culture of the age is linked with every fibre of a vast and complex civilization; absorbing the ever increasing past, affected by the genius of all nations and a sympathetic activity in all arts and labors which has no bounds but those of the globe itself. The great subject—a worthy history of Literature—has thus far baffled the energy of the most assiduous scholars. The most neglected topic in our literature, in an age of criticism, is the complete analysis of the literature itself. That is a work for long years of preparation and long years of execution. Here we can give but a few passing thoughts of the moment bearing upon influences of the hour.

The claim of America to the possession of a National Literature is still occasionally discussed in English journals, and much nonsense is written on the subject. The complaint is made that there is little sufficiently distinctive in our literature; and it is generally put in the form that while the country has a virgin soil, huge forests and gigantic rivers, freshness of nature unlimited, our books seldom reflect or emulate these physical features; that being a new people we should have a new literature. When one of our authors produces a finished book, its qualities are apt to be pronounced European, and it is censured as an imitation. It does not seem to be what is expected at our hands. The foreign critics would appear to be better pleased with something, as coming from America, vague, disjointed, grandiose, the skeptical in religion, the reckless in morals, the experimental in society, than with good grammar, elegant diction, profound learning, mature philosophy, faithful citizenship, and sound Christianity. Give us vigor, these pseudo critics cry out; give us originality. Your Irvings, Prescotts, and Longfellows, we admit, would be very excellent writers for the old world, but we look for something different from the new. All this is worse than idle. There are undoubtedly climatic and other physical causes at work in America which may have their influence on the persons and character of its inhabitants; but the effect is hardly to be appreciated in the higher region of authorship, of morals and ideas, where there must be a community of privileges, and the starting point, under a general and liberal system of education, must be the same with that of the cultivated classes of Europe. An American can not, if he would, separate himself from the literature of the past in any effort of literary production. He can not, without destroying his whole system of common school education, ignore his Homer and Virgil, his Shakespeare, Bacon, and Milton. Why should it be a reproach to him that the flavors of a foreign culture linger in his style? Every great author of modern times is indebted to his predecessors, and the farther back our researches in history extend, the farther back the debt is carried. Are Americans alone to be cut off from this classic reproduction; to be driven to the crude, the odd, and the eccentric, that they may be admitted to recognition as semi-barbarians only by the men of letters of Europe? The position is sufficiently absurd. There should be no difference at the present time in the standard of authorship in England and America. The latter is not entitled to, nor need she ask, indulgence on the score of youth. The great formative influences act alike upon both worlds. The law of literary production is simply this: The best educated community, the most faithful to law and religion, the most truthful, the most sincere, the most susceptible to all noble and generous influences in life and action, will produce the most and best authors irrespective of the breadth of the rivers and the circumference or elevation of the trees of the forest. Every genuine book will, of course, have its individual character, like its writer, and will have its peculiar subject matter. These will give originality to the volume; but no greater difference is to be expected between American and English authors than between separate authors of either nation. The American, as it often happens, may be elegant, refined and conservative; the Englishman may be rough, uncouth and radical; specimens of both may be found in either land. Pray, Messrs. British Critics, think of us Americans, as living not in the days of Hengist and Horsa, but like the rest of the world, in the Nineteenth Century!

The statistics of literary production in the two countries prove that we are proceeding pari passu with England. The number of books or distinct publications including, we presume, pamphlets of importance, published in the United States in 1867, is stated in a valuable statistical article in Appleton's Annual Cyclopaedia for that year, as 2,110 against an estimate for Great Britain during the corresponding period, of 4,144. The American estimate embraces some 300 reprints or translations, a proportion of only about one-seventh of the whole, which leaves a highly favorable exhibition for original American productions. The number of books written in England and republished in the United States is, we are inclined to think, becoming relatively less from year to year—a result directly attributable to American progress, to the material development of the country and its consequent increased mental wants; to the stimulus given to education, furnishing the means of supplying these wants. The country is, in fact, by the simple law of its necessities, becoming constantly less and less dependent upon Europe for its literature. Its books are the natural growth of its own life; and as that life becomes, as it inevitably must, under the pressure of a population advancing without precedent, more and more earnest, with greater responsibilities and heavier duties, so must the literature, in the words of an old poet, “make wing and get power.”

The most numerous classes of books, in both England and America, are first, religious works; second, works of fiction and books for children; after which come technical works, including school books; while poetical and historical literature, (including biography), and criticisms, and travels, are in about equal minor proportions. As in all other forms of production, the every day wants are first supplied; afterward, the luxuries and refinements.

Generally speaking, according to population, it would appear that the relative aggregate literary productiveness of the two countries, is not very unequal. The school-master, whom Lord Brougham, a half-century ago started on his travels, is evidently still "abroad" wherever the English language is spoken. If we were to look into these six thousand publications of the year, we would doubtless find them, with allowance for the usual per centage of mediocrity, creditable to the intellectual progress of both nations, while we might be compelled to admit that few really great original works which would long survive, were in the catalogue. The general impression, indeed, made by a survey of the literature of the day is, that there is a falling off in eminent authorship from the first half of the century. If we call the roll of authors of that period in England, who, at the present hour, supply the places of Scott, Byron, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Southey, Moore, Crabbe, Campbell, Lamb, Sydney Smith, Hood, Hallam, Macaulay, and their companions? But one poet now stands prominently forth in England, the accepted of all cultivated English speaking people—Alfred Tennyson; while one novelist, Charles Dickens, maintains the humor, so characteristic a feature of the literary prowess of the last generation. In America, we are relatively rather better off, for our foremost writers came late into the field; and though the literary world mourns Cooper, and Irving, and Halleck, and Prescott, and Hawthorne, yet we have still Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Holmes, Emerson, Bancroft, Simms, Motley, each in his way, a master in his department. In neither country do we see the indications of much rising greatness; though in both are to be perceived an advancing literary standard. There is an average level with no mountain elevations; but in the upheaval of society the table-land of to-day is higher than the dead-level of the last century. The new mediocrity is a better article than the old, for there is generally more activity in the world; the interests which engage the attention of men are of greater moment; the forces are greater; the strife and competition are stronger; men must know more, and be prepared to think rapidly, to act with quickness and decision. The cultivation of the laboring and less wealthy classes is greatly improved. The number of persons who can neither read nor write, is much smaller. The education of the mass reacts upon the few above them. Every day science is raising the standard of knowledge; and though consummate wisdom may be rare as ever, follies of active growth, it may be observed, are of shorter life. In regard to the higher departments of literature, the present time, concerned almost entirely with the practical and immediate, may be but the necessary period of preparation for another great harvest of the works of genius. The temper of the people is being tried and facts are being accumulated in great wars, in political conflicts, in social organization, in discoveries in nature, in explorations of new lands, in an unprecedented development of the supplies and incentives of civilization. The poet, in nature's own time, will brood upon these and there will spring forth the epic of the new centuries. Nothing in the past has been lost to literature and art, and there is nothing of worth in our present that will not be absorbed and live on the printed page hereafter. As Homer gathered up the early life of Greece, and Virgil the glowing sovereignties of Rome, Dante the religion of the middle age, Milton, the learning which had preceded him, and Shakespeare swept the whole circle of humanity—so of this present teeming life, costing so much of pain and effort, redeemed by so much that is self-devoted, honorable and useful,

There shall be sung another golden age,
The rise of empire and of arts,
The good and great inspiring epic rage,
The wisest heads and noblest hearts.

The present is emphatically the age of the practical and immediate. Good business qualities are most in request, even in literature, where formerly the remote was pursued by a roundabout path. We see it in the decline of rhetorical eloquence at the bar, the pulpit, and the senate. Fine speaking and fine writing as such are getting to be held more and more in contempt. The lawyer is expected to come at once to the point by the most direct road, and should he scatter flowers of fancy by the way, they are suspected by the intelligent juror as devices to divert his judgment from the true issue. In our American political representative bodies the practice hardly as yet conforms to this standard; but it prevails with men of weight and intelligence, while flowery tropes and impertinent decorations are an infallible mark of the half-educated. It is not the emotions of legislators which are to be excited, but the sober interests of their constituents which are to be maintained and promoted—most of the questions being of direct material welfare. The pulpit offers the last field for eloquence, for its province is emphatically to arouse the sympathies, while it deals with the transcendental and supernatural, and draws man beyond the visible and earthly; but even here its topics are best presented in a simple, easy, natural manner, given less and less to the doctrinal and purely argumentative, but enforcing lessons of practical good, translating life into duty, and leading man to the heavenly by the sacred analogies of earth. So far has the pursuit of the immediate in recent times extended that the Stage, formerly the guide and incentive to the highest literary production, has almost entirely ceased to give birth to a play which outlasts the recitation of the hour—a twelvemonth. The playwright of the day throws off a score of successful dramas, not one of which is transferred from the boards to the shelves of the library.

Yet with all this, the better education of the country is yet going on, with a promise that the new life, at least for the majority, shall be better than the old. The present development of all the means of education in the United States, is a sure indication of the future. It extends to every department from the village school to the University, from the spelling-book to the treatise on philosophy. Money is being generously contributed to the foundation and enlargement of colleges, to the creation of libraries; no village can be said to be properly founded without its lyceum or institute. In cities, the influences of learning are permeating the mass of the people. The statistics not yet collected of the wealth of private libraries would astonish the careless observer. The taste of the public is improving with its knowledge, as scholars push their way into more distant and retired provinces of learning. The reception given to Professor Longfellow's recent version of the great poem of Dante—the crowning work of a life-time of poetic culture—is a good omen of the future. Honoring Bryant also, the nation pays its tribute to the highest order of excellence, bestowing its admiration upon genius, which burning only with a vestal light, has been consecrated in pure expression to the beautiful and severe majesty of truth and virtue. American literature has indeed this honor, that its service has been one of purity. Its critics thus far have had little to blush for in writing its history.

Looking abroad, we find the same honors paid to Tennyson, facile princeps, the head of English poets; and it is at once complimentary to him and the English reading public that every scrap which falls from his pen is seized upon with eagerness, and subjected to a species of attention mostly confined to time-honored classic authorship. A notable example of this, in the past year, is the reception of his philosophic poem Lucretius, issued as an article in Macmillan's Magazine, and at once commented upon in papers in the other periodicals and the press, the Times taking the lead in the work of analysis and eulogy. The poem, as a work of art, is indeed worthy of its author. Availing himself of a questionable tradition of the Roman poet's death, resting on unsatisfactory authority, untenable in itself, and derogatory to the poet's character, Tennyson has woven with this assumption the rarest felicities of thought and of poetical expression—such an infusion of classical conceptions, bound in blank verse of exquisite music, in a whole of linked power and sweetness, unsurpassed in English poetry since the muse of Milton. As with that great master of idyllic and epic song, his learning becomes thoroughly incorporated with his fancy and reflections as he builds the lofty rhyme. Poetry, with Tennyson, is consummate skill, and according to his attempts, hitherto with power proportionate. He need only take more imposing subjects, than any he has ventured upon, save in his noble requiem “In Memoriam,” to assume his place with the greater gods of British verse. Secondary and below him are Browning, Arnold, Buchanan, Swinburne, who has hardly sustained the promise of “Atalanta in Calydon,” and Morris, the author of “Jason.”

The death of Lord Brougham at Cannes in April, at the venerable age of ninety, marks the close of a memorable period. His name, if not identified with the higher forms of literature, for he was neither a great philosopher, poet or historian, is linked to the mental progress of the age by some of its most enduring landmarks. As one of the founders of the Edinburgh Review at the beginning of the century, as one of the originators of Mechanics Institutes, as the author of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge and, at the close of his life a participator in the Society for the Promotion of Social Science; by his contributions to biography, his writings on political science, his elaborate speeches in Parliament, his persistent and successful advocacy of legal reform, he rendered practical services to his age and country in labors which did not perish with the day, but are now bearing fruit and will continue to influence the welfare of the future. Such men, impressing the world by their activity, with a semblance of ubiquity, busy in the diverse forms of literature, in the halls of science, connected with all the intellectual movements of the day, do more than is sometimes conceded to them by their cotemporaries in binding together and bringing out the mental forces of their time. Whether in co-operation or disagreement with others, their influence is great. England, of late, has lost several such men of exuberant vitality—Whewell, Whately, in a restricted degree Wiseman and, though of another nation, Chevalier Bunsen.

The visit of Charles Dickens to the United States during the year, though mainly to be regarded as a strictly professional tour, yet for the peculiar character of that journey and a certain representative character of the man, in his eminent position as an author, is well worthy of being chronicled among the literary events of importance—perhaps in both aspects to have its influence for good in the future. Mr. Dickens, induced by the earnest solicitation of friends in this country, who, as the event proved, had not misread the wishes of the people, came to Boston in the autumn of 1867, and in a few months reaped from the reading of portions of his writings in public, a pecuniary harvest which is probably underestimated at one hundred thousand dollars in gold—a sum which invested in United States securities, at their present terms, is sufficient to provide a liberal income for the author and his family into an indefinite future. For this mode of recompensing authorship the fraternity of writers is indebted to the example and success of Mr. Dickens.

The best avenue of the author to fame and fortune will still, we believe, be the easy well tried track of the publisher's counter. It will be the most constant resource, and upon the whole the most satisfactory. Let all other honorable means, however, be tried and if found advantageous, be welcomed. The prosperity of men of letters must inevitably add to the welfare of publishers; and without pursuing this subject into the speculations it invites, it may be remarked that this was pleasantly shown in the course of the recent money making tour of Mr. Dickens, as the publishers with characteristic energy promptly followed in his footsteps with rival editions of his works. The success of this speculation of the trade was certainly complimentary to the fame of the author. If he received little directly from the profits, the book-sellers proved at least his best possible advertisers in keeping alive the attention of the public and forwarding the interests of the reading campaign. If Mr. Dickens had pursued his adventure, traversing the country in its length and breadth, he might to the equal delight of his publishers have added a million to his resources.

In the other aspect of the case, that of an English literary representative, the visit of Mr. Dickens has already proved an agreeable one in its consequences. The British press has chosen to take this view of the reception, and it is every way a worthy one. For a writer of the merit and eminence of Mr. Dickens is a public ambassador of no mean order. In him the heart and affections, the sufferings and sympathies of one nation—in which all are akin—speak to the universal brotherhood of man in every other, and especially where the glowing inspiration of genius is expressed in a common tongue. Let this acceptance be enduring, a spring of courtesies in the future in the comities of two great nations to be bound by the moral and intellectual ties of the proud, sensitive, reflecting, enjoying, religious Saxon races. Nor is this reciprocity a sentiment merely on the part of our foreign brethren. Mr. Dickens in his farewell compliments and assurances of good-will but anticipated the welcome which awaited the first representative of American letters of similar position who should appear in England. Happily for the honor of the country this pilgrim to the British shores has proved to be the poet Longfellow, than whom America could send no worthier son or the genius of the country a fitter minister plenipotentiary. Immediately on his arrival he was hailed by a delegation of a leading popular literary institution, while the University of Cambridge hastened to confer upon him, in full assembly, her most distinguished Academic honors. Mr. Longfellow will enjoy abroad the rare felicity of being appreciated alike by scholars and the people.

Turning our thoughts homeward from this pleasing prospect of international courtesies, a word is to be said of an institution which is never overlooked in any festive celebration. The Press will always constitute an important province of American letters. It is indeed not generally taken into account in an estimate of literature proper, but it well deserves to be, since by far the largest amount of thinking and writing in the country and much of the best, is in this department. Nor should it be neglected for its incidental ephemeral character. Though necessarily written in and for the hour, many articles of the journals exhibit—with all that should attract at the moment—enduring qualities. There are newspapers habitually distinguished for acuteness of argument, philosophic breadth of treatment, felicity of style and illustration, candor and independence, which if displayed in other forms of literature would secure for the now unknown writers an enviable reputation. The newspaper press of the country has indeed within a few years shown a vast improvement. It is steadily rising in respect and consideration, in power and influence at home and abroad. There are various reasons for this beneficial progress. There is the general one of increased culture and refinement corresponding with the growth and development of the country at large. A popular institution, it rises or falls with the public taste. "The drama's laws," it was said of the stage, "the drama's patrons give." To the players as "the abstracts and brief chroniclers of the time" have succeeded the editors, who inheriting the maxim do not rise much above or fall greatly below the taste of their supporters. Hence the variety of talent, ability and propriety in the several forms of journalism representing different classes of the community. In the larger cities it will receive the fullest development. Here its improvement will be most marked. Its course is inevitably onward. It must every day become a more faithful chronicler of events, a sounder and surer guide in matters of opinion. Allowing much for the immoral exigencies of political party—which are, in a measure, by their very excesses, self-corrective—the newspaper press of the country may be pronounced upon the whole, a judicious and jealous guardian of the public interest. Comparing its present position with that which it held in the last generation, or thirty years ago, great progress may be noted in the mechanical improvement of its issues, the extension of its sources of information, the breadth and importance of its discussions. It has generally outgrown one of its most odious early weaknesses, its occasional meddling with purely private affairs. Time was when malignants or seekers of notoriety of a certain class, instead of carrying their quarrels, their scandal, their professed injuries to the courts, would parade them in the newspapers of the day, with endless mutual accusations and recriminations, while the editors, like the gods in Homer, would descend from their pedestals to mingle in the affray. This license is now thought puerile and contemptible. A stricter interpretation of the law of libel, with its visitation of penalties has brought about a wholesome reform, and now if the reader seek defamation in his newspaper, in private interests at least, he must be content to receive it with its antidote, decently filtered through the legal reports.

The special causes or instruments of the improvement of the Press are to be sought for in the concentration of the newspaper interest in great enterprises, requiring the employment of large capital, which brings with it a proportional responsibility; in the rapid multiplication of facts to be presented and topics discussed,—the greater inevitably crowding out the less—and in the development and elevation of national interests, consequent upon the gigantic war for the preservation of the Union. The Press that once spake as a child, in those days now forever departed, of thoughtless levity and vain glory, the untaxed youth of the nation, that “very merry, laughing, quaffing and unthinking time,” must now consider manly things. The war has made the nation old in a day. She is no longer the spoilt and petted child of fortune, but is married to fate and experience and must take her place in the battle of existence with the scarred historic veterans of the old world.

In a secondary way, the scientific improvements and inventions of the day have had much to do in moulding the character of the press. Of these it is sufficient to allude to the employment of the land and ocean magnetic telegraphs, in gathering information from the whole world almost on the instant, to a particular centre, and the use and economy of the cylinder steam press in multiplying copies by thousands, instead of by hundreds, for circulation. The Atlantic telegraph has virtually enforced independence upon the Press of America by anticipating and thus precluding the former free use of foreign editorials. The brief fact only is now furnished, the text of the discourse: the editor must supply the argument or preach the sermon by his own powers. He is compelled to think for himself and his readers. Coupling this with the rapid increase of home topics of importance, the result is a complete emancipation from the old subservience to European notions or opinions. Formerly foreign interests took the lead; they now occupy a secondary place with our native journalists, who attend to the paramount business of the nation, once happily defined by Miss Martineau as “world making.”

* Louisiana did not vote in 1864.

† The above table shows the returns for 1868, as filed at the Secretary of State's office. The parishes of Avoyelles, West Feliciana, Franklin, Jackson, Jefferson, Orleans, St. Bernard, Sabine, St. John Baptist, St. Martin's, Terrebonne and Washington, were afterward thrown out for a technical informality, making the legal official vote 27,911 for Grant, and 41,358 for Seymour, giving the latter a majority of 13,447, and making the full vote 69,269. This gave the Republicans the Second Congressional District, (the only one carried by the Democrats at the last election.) The Democrats gain the other districts. Mr. Menard, the first colored Representative to Congress, was elected in the Second District, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Col. Mann.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES, 1790-1860.

From 1840 to 1850, the increase of the entire population was 35.87 per cent., and from 1850 to 1860, it was 35.46 per cent. The lowest rate of increase for any decade since 1790, has been 32.67 per cent.; the highest, 36.45. During the five years following 1860, or in the time of the late war, the increase in population was much less rapid, and in some States there was an actual decrease. Immigration from foreign countries was checked during this period, but since the return of peace in 1865, it has again increased. The total population for 1860, in the table below, includes 44,020 Indians.

OBITUARIES, 1868.

Abbott, Amos, a member of Congress from Massachusetts, born at Andover, in that State, September 10, 1786, and died November 2, aged 82 years. Mr. Abbott received a common school education, and afterward engaged in mercantile pursuits, in which he was very successful. He was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1835 and 1836, and again in 1842, and a Representative in Congress from 1843 to 1849.

Adler, George J., a German-American scholar and teacher, born at Leipsic, in 1821, and died at the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum, near New York city, August 24, aged 47 years. He emigrated to the United States in 1833. He was educated at the University of New York, where he graduated in 1844, and held the Professorship of the German language from 1846 to 1854. He was author of a number of educational works, his "Dictionary of the German and English Languages," published in 1859, being his best known work, and a standard authority. In 1861, his mind became impaired, and he spent much of the latter part of his life at the Bloomingdale Asylum, but continued his studies until his death. He translated Goethe's "Iphigenia in Tauris" into English, and some of his works were translated into French.

Allen, William, D. D., an American scholar, born at Pittsfield, Mass., January 2, 1784, and died at Northampton, July 16, aged 84 years. He graduated at Harvard College, in 1802. In 1817, he became President of Dartmouth, and of Bowdoin College in 1820, holding the latter position until 1839. Dr. Allen was author of a "Biographical Dictionary of Americans."

Andrea, Jerome de, a Roman Catholic Cardinal, born at Naples, April 12, 1812, and died at Rome, May 15, aged 56 years. He was descended from a patrician but not wealthy family of Aquila, and his father was Minister of Finance under Ferdinand II. Educated for the Church, his progress was rapid and brilliant, and he became Archbishop of Mitylene, in partibus, commendatory abbot of Subiaco, and was made a cardinal in 1852. In 1853, on the occasion of the dispute relating to the use of the Pagan classics in schools, he took part with M. Venillot, of the Univers, against their use. In 1859, he was supposed to sympathize with the movement for Italian unity, and to favor many reforms in the Church. He refused, however, to support the attempt to establish a free Italian church. On account of his liberal views the Pope publicly censured him, and suspended him from his functions as bishop. He was summoned at the same time from Naples to Rome, but at first refused compliance, though he at length reluctantly obeyed, and some time afterward was induced to sign a recantation.

Andrews, Timothy P., an officer in the U. S. army, died at Washington, D. C., March 11. During the Mexican war, he was Colonel of the regiment of Voltigeurs, and was breveted Brigadier General for gallant conduct at the battle of Cherubusco. He was first appointed a paymaster in 1822, and after the war with Mexico he again held that position. In 1851 he was appointed Deputy Paymaster General, and Paymaster General in 1863. In November, 1864, he was placed upon the retired list.

Asboth, Alexander, an American General, born in Hungary, December 18, 1811, and died at Buenos Ayres, January 21, aged 57 years. He was educated at Oedenburg, served for some time in an Austrian regiment, and subsequently pursued a course of legal studies at Presburg. In the Hungarian struggle of 1848-9, he attached himself to the Revolutionary party, and rose to the position of Adjutant-General of the Army. He went with Kossuth to Turkey, shared the imprisonment of his chief at Kutaich, and accompanied him to the United States, in 1851. At the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, he offered his services to the government, and in July, became chief of staff to Major-General Fremont. He was appointed a Brigadier General in September, 1861, and had command of a division in Fremont's western campaign. His division formed the rear guard in the famous retreat to Rolla. He took an active part in the winter campaign into Arkansas, projected by Major-General Curtis, and was prominent in the three days' battle at Pea Ridge, where he was severely wounded. He was transferred to the army of the Mississippi in 1862, and after holding some other military appointments, commanded in Florida, where he was severely wounded, September 27, 1864. He left the service in August, 1865, and was appointed by President Johnson, Minister of the United States to Buenos Ayres.

Baker, Lafayette C., a Brigadier-General of volunteers by brevet, and chief of the United States Detective Service, during the civil war, born at Stafford, N. Y., in 1824, and died at Philadelphia, July 3, aged 43 years. In 1867, Gen. Baker published a work, in which he detailed much secret history relating to the war; but many of his facts were controverted, especially by the friends of President Johnson, whom he charged with being privy to a pardon brokerage business, alleged to have been carried on at Washington, in 1865.

Baraga, Frederick, D. D., Roman Catholic Bishop, of Sault Ste. Marie, born at Dobernich, in Austria, in 1797, and died at Marquette, Wisconsin, January 20, aged 70 years. He settled at Sault Ste. Marie, before 1833, and was made bishop, November 1, 1853.

Baughner, Henry L., D. D., an American clergyman of the Lutheran Church, born at Abbottstown, Penn., about 1803, and died at Gettysburg, April 14, aged 65 years. He was educated at Dickinson College, and studied theology at Princeton, and at the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg. Mr. Baughner was licensed to preach by the Maryland Synod, and was first pastor of the Lutheran church at Boonsboro', Md., and afterward, in 1830, he was called to Gettysburg. In 1832, he became professor of the Greek language and Belles Lettres, in Pennsylvania College, and in 1850, he was elected President of the college, a position he held at the time of his death. He was for many years pastor of the college church, and besides his sermons, wrote much for the Evangelical Review, and other church periodicals.

Baxter, Portus, a member of Congress from Vermont, born at Brownington, Orleans county, in that State, and died at Washington, March 4. He was elected a Representative in Congress from the Third Vermont District, and served from 1861 to 1867. He was a member of the Philadelphia "Loyalists'" Convention, in 1866, and was a Presidential elector in 1852 and 1856.

Bayard, Richard H., an American statesman, born at Wilmington, Delaware, in 1796, and died in Philadelphia, March 4, aged 72 years. He was educated at Princeton college, where he graduated in 1814, and afterward adopted the profession of the law. He was a Senator in Congress from Delaware from 1836 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1845. In 1850 Mr. Bayard was appointed Charge d'Affaires to Brussels. He was the son of the elder and brother of the younger James A. Bayard.

Beach, Moses Yale, an American journalist, for many years the proprietor of the New York Sun, was born at Wallingford, Conn., January 7, 1800, and died July 19, aged 68 years. When 14 years of age, he was apprenticed to a cabinet maker, at Hartford, and pursued his calling in Northampton and Springfield, but without much success, owing to a tendency to indulge in the experiments of an inventor. Among his designs was a gun-powder engine for propelling balloons; but his experiments proving unsuccessful, he then endeavored to open steam navigation on the Connecticut river, between Hartford and Springfield. He afterward removed to Ulster County, N. Y., where he was engaged for seven years in the manufacture of paper. In 1835, he went with his family to New York, where he purchased an interest in The Sun newspaper, and in a short time became its sole proprietor. In this enterprise he was very successful, but retired about 1857. He also amassed considerable money by banking, and other financial operations. President Polk sent Mr. Beach to Mexico, during the war with that country, to arrange a treaty of peace; but owing to a false report that Santa Anna had annihilated Gen. Taylor's army, the negotiations were broken off. For several years previous to his death he resided in his native town, where he died of paralysis.

Beach, Wooster, M. D., an eminent American physician, died in New York city, Jan. 28. He was the founder of a new system of medicine known as the Eclectic Medical System. Dr. Beach practiced his profession for over forty-five years, and was so ardent in contending against some of the principles of the Allopathic school of medicine, that he established an institution for the dissemination of his own views, and graduated many students. He was the author of a number of medical works, and at one time published The Telescope, a weekly newspaper, and The Evening Journal, a daily, both of which were popular in their day.

Beall, S. W., formerly Lieutenant-Governor, and acting Governor of Wisconsin, was killed in a rencontre at Helena, Montana, September 26. During the civil war he served as a Lieutenant-Colonel of Volunteers. He was 65 years of age, at the time of his death.

Beecher, Lieut. Frederick, a gallant officer of the late war, nephew of the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, killed by the Indians, on the Upper Republican river, Kansas, September 23. At the time of his death, Lieut. Beecher was 28 years old.

Bell, Henry H., Rear-Admiral U. S. N., was born in North Carolina, and accidentally drowned, together with a whole boat's crew, while crossing the bar at Osaka, Japan, January 11. He was appointed to the navy, Aug. 4, 1823. At the battle of New Orleans, he was fleet-captain under Farragut, and in 1862 and 1863, he commanded the West Gulf Blockading Squadron. In 1866, Admiral Bell was appointed to the command of the Asiatic Squadron. His remains were brought home during the spring and summer, and interred in the cemetery at Newburgh, N. Y.

Bell, Samuel Dana, an eminent American jurist, born at Francestown, New Hampshire, October 9, 1798, and died at Manchester, July 31, aged 70 years. He graduated at Harvard College, in 1810, and afterward adopted the law as a profession. In 1849, he was appointed justice of the Superior Court of New Hampshire, and on the reorganization of the Supreme Court, in 1855, he was appointed Justice of the Supreme Court, and Chief Justice in 1859. He resigned in 1864. He assisted in the revision of the statutes of the State in 1830, 1842 and 1867. His father was the Hon. Samuel Bell, a distinguished American statesman.

Berryer, Antoine Pierre, a French lawyer and statesman, born in Paris, January 4, 1790, where he died November 28, aged 78 years. His father was a distinguished lawyer, and M. Berryer was educated for the same profession. He was a Royalist, and pronounced against the first Napoleon before the victory of the allies, for which his arrest was ordered; but he managed to escape, and during the Hundred Days was a Royalist Volunteer. He saw with disgust, however, the action of the extreme Royalists in 1815-16 in seeking out victims from the chiefs of the First Empire, and was counsel for some of the most distinguished of these. He was associated with his father and M. Duprie in the unsuccessful defence of Marshal Ney, and he conducted the defence of Gen. Cambonne, securing the acquittal of his client. M. Berryer was concerned in the State trials which followed after the successive Revolutions, defending Lamennais under the Bourbons, Chateaubriand under the Orleans monarchy, and Montalembert under the new Empire. One of his most remarkable cases was the defence of Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, for the part he took in the Boulogne affair of 1840. In 1830 he was chosen a member of the Chamber of Deputies from the department of Haute Loire, and though a legitimist, took the oath to the Revolutionary Government after the July Revolution. When the Duchess of Berry projected her attempt at a rising in La Vendée, M. Berryer was sent by the more prudent legitimists to persuade her from it, but he was himself arrested as one of her supporters. In his trial, which took place at Blois, he completely established his innocence. M. Berryer visited the titular Henry V., better known as the Comte de Chambord, when the illustrious exile was in London, for which he was censured by the Chamber of Deputies. After the revolution of 1848, he submitted to be elected a member of the National Assembly from the department of the Bouches-du-Rhone. M. Berryer belonged to the reactionary party, but he early understood the designs of the Prince President, and endeavored to thwart them and prevent the coup d'état of 1851. After the establishment of the Second Empire, he took but little part in public affairs beyond seeking to promote the proposed fusion of the two branches of the Bourbon family. In 1852 he was placed at the head of the French Advocates by being elected Batonnier of the Faculty, and in 1854, he was elected a member of the French Academy. On receiving the latter honor he expressly desired that he might be excused from the duty of visiting the head of the government, and his request was granted. The last great political cause in which M. Berryer took part, was the trial of the persons charged with violating the law of association. As an orator M. Berryer was held to be the first after Mirabeau, and he was the ablest as well as the most distinguished French lawyer of his day.

Blakeney, Sir Edward, Field Marshal, born at Newcastle-upon-Tyne in 1778, and died August 2, aged 90 years. He entered the army as a cornet in 1794, and saw service in the West Indies and in Holland; was present at the battle of Copenhagen in 1807, New Orleans in 1814, and Waterloo in 1815; served throughout the Peninsular War, and was severely wounded at the battle of Albuera and the assault of Badajos, and led the First Brigade in General Sir William Clinton's expedition to Portugal in 1826. From 1832 to 1855, he commanded the forces in Ireland. He was appointed Governor of Chelsea Hospital in 1856, and at the time of his death was Colonel of the 1st Regiment of Foot, and of the Prince Consort's own Rifle Brigade.

Boyd, John H., a member of Congress from New York from 1851 to 1853, born in that State and died at Whitehall, July 2. He was a member of the State Assembly from Washington county in 1840.

Bradbury, William B., an American musical composer, born at York, Maine, in 1816, and died at Montclair, N. J., January 7, aged 52 years. Mr. Bradbury early manifested a taste for music, and became well known as a musician and a teacher of his art. He afterward studied in Germany under the best masters, but he had before this devoted himself to composition, producing many well-known melodies and some popular hand-books of music. He had a host of admirers and some enemies, both the result of the popular character of the airs and tunes of which he was the author.

Brewster, Sir David, an English philosopher, born at Jedburg, December 11, 1781, and died in Edinburgh, February 10, aged 86 years. He was educated for the Church of Scotland of which he became a licentiate. In the year 1800, he received the honorary degree of M. A. from the University of Edinburgh, and in 1807, LL. D. from the University of Aberdeen, and subsequently the degrees of A. M. from Cambridge and D. C. L. from Oxford and Durham. While studying at Edinburgh he enjoyed the friendship of Robison, Playfair and Dugald Stewart. In 1808, he was elected a fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, and the same year undertook the editorship of the "Edinburgh Encyclopedia," which was not finished until 1830. Dr. Brewster published his "Treatise on new Philosophical Instruments" in 1813. About this time his studies were mostly upon the subject of optics, and he became distinguished for his discoveries respecting the polarization of light and the invention of the Kaleidoscope, in 1816. In that year the Institute of France adjudged him one-half of the prize of 3,000 francs offered for the most important discoveries in any branch of science made during the two preceding years. He was also inventor of the lenticular stereoscope now in universal use. He wrote treatises on the kaleidoscope, the stereoscope, on optics, and on natural magic besides other works and contributions to nearly all the Quarterlies. One of his best known works is his life of Sir Isaac Newton. In 1819, in conjunction with Prof. Jameson, he established the "Edinburgh Philosophical Journal," and afterward the "Edinburgh Journal of Science." He is entitled to the credit of the establishment of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, the scientific meeting at York in 1831, from which that institution dates its history, being held at his suggestion. He was a member of nearly all the Royal Academies of Europe, and there is scarcely a learned body in the world from which he did not receive some recognition. Dr. Brewster was knighted in 1832 by King William IV., and among the last distinctions to be conferred upon him was the decoration of an Officer of the Legion of Honor by the Emperor Napoleon, in 1855. He married a daughter of Macpherson, the author of Ossian, in 1810; became a widower in 1850, but married again in 1857.

Brooke, Sir James, K. C. B., Rajah of Sarawak, born at Bath in 1803, and died June 11, aged 65 years. He was the son of a gentleman for many years connected with East India Company's service, and after receiving his education at the Norwich Grammar School, he obtained a commission in the Indian army. He saw service in the Burmese war, but was compelled to leave the army on account of his health. While cruising through the Eastern Archipelago he was attracted to Borneo, where he undertook, at his own cost, an expedition to suppress an insurrection which had broken out against the native ruler. He was soon after appointed Rajah. In 1847, when the British took possession of the island of Labuan, he was appointed Governor and Commander-in-Chief, and created a K. C. B. He returned to England in 1856 in impaired health, and, after a short visit to Borneo, settled down at Dartmoor to spend his last days.

Brougham, Henry, Lord Brougham and Vaux, a distinguished English statesman, born in Edinburgh, September 19, 1779, and died at his villa near Cannes, France, May 9, aged 89 years. He was educated at the University of Edinburgh, and first distinguished himself by a paper on the refraction and reflection of light, printed in the Transactions of the Royal Society for 1798. This was followed by other papers on the same subject, and in 1803 he published his "Inquiry into the Colonial Policy of the European Powers," a work of considerable talent, for which he was much praised. He had previously assisted in establishing the Edinburgh Review, to which he was a frequent contributor for a quarter of a century. He was admitted an advocate at the Scottish bar in 1800, but took up his residence in London in 1804. In 1808 he was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn, and commenced practice as a barrister in the King's Bench. Mr. Brougham gained considerable reputation as an advocate; among the most notable of his early cases was his defence of Leigh Hunt, editor of the Examiner, who was acquitted upon a prosecution for libel, while Mr. Drokard, proprietor of the Stamford News, whom he also defended, was convicted for the republication of the same article. In 1810, Mr. Brougham entered Parliament for Camelford, a rotten borough in the gift of the late Duke of Cleveland, then Earl of Darlington. He was out of Parliament from 1812 to 1816, when he was returned for the borough of Winchelsea by the influence of his old friend and patron, and continued to represent it until 1830. Early in that year he resigned, but was immediately afterward elected for Knaresborough, and at the general election in August he was chosen to represent the county of York. In Parliament he favored Roman Catholic Emancipation, and reform in the government of India, and spoke in condemnation of flogging in the navy, but his most important services were in behalf of popular education, a subject to which he gave his attention throughout his whole parliamentary career. In 1820 and 1821, he was engaged at Westminster Hall as Attorney-General to Queen Caroline, whose suit against George IV. he conducted to a successful issue, securing her rights as a wife and the sympathy of the public toward her as a woman. In this cause he made great reputation for his zeal and eloquence as an advocate, and two of his speeches have taken their place among the specimens of English classic oratory. In 1825 appeared his "Practical Observations upon the Education of the People, addressed to the Working Classes and their Employers," and the same year he was elected Lord Rector of Glasgow University, in recognition of his services in behalf of education. In 1827 he laid the foundation of the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, and was its first President. Next to popular education, no subject more enlisted his sympathies or engaged his attention than the abolition of slavery and the slave trade; but he was from his first entry upon public life, a man of enlightened philanthropy and liberal opinions, and became the acknowledged leader in all measures of Parliamentary Reform. When Earl Grey assumed the Premiership, upon the resignation of the Duke of Wellington in 1830, he was appointed Lord Chancellor, and at the same time he was raised to the peerage as Lord Brougham and Vaux. The result of the few years during which he held the Chancellorship, he summed up in the following words: "The abolition of slavery in all our Colonies; the opening of the East India trade and the destruction of the Company's monopoly; the amendment of the criminal law; vast improvements in the whole municipal jurisprudence both as regards law and equity; the settlement of the Bank Charter; the total reform of the Scotch municipal corporations; the entire alteration of the poor laws; and an ample commencement made in reforming the Irish Church by the abolition of ten bishoprics." The dismissal of the Whig ministry in 1834, put an end to his Chancellorship and his official life, and afterward he occupied an independent position in the House of Lords, criticising the measures of Whig and Tory alike, but paying constant attention to the legal business of the House as one of the "law Lords." His last speech in the House of Lords was delivered June 17, 1858, upon the suppression of the slave trade. Lord Brougham, in 1843, desired to be naturalized as a citizen of the French Republic, but this intention was not consummated because the legislative Assembly required him to divest himself of his privileges as an English peer. Lord Brougham contributed largely to modern literature. His "Historical Sketches of the Statesmen of the time of George III.," begun in 1830, were finished in 1843, and these were followed by his "Men of Letters and Science." In 1855 he collected his speeches and writings in 10 volumes, and in 1856 his contributions to the Edinburgh Review were published in 3 volumes. In connection with E. J. Routh, Esq., he published in 1855, "An Analytical View of Newton's Principia," and he afterward published a paper on the Integral Calculus, and contributed articles on light to the Transactions of the Institute of France. He read a dissertation on "Analytical and Experimental Inquiries on the Cells of Bees," in 1858. In 1844 he wrote a novel entitled "Albert Lunel, or the Chateau of Languedoc," which was suppressed on the eve of publication, and of which it is said only five copies are now extant. Lord Brougham married in 1819, and had one daughter who died young. In 1860 he obtained a fresh patent of peerage with remainder to his brother William Brougham and his male issue.

Brown, Rev. John Newton, an American clergyman, born at New London, Conn., June 29, 1803, and died at Philadelphia, May 14, aged 64 years. Believing himself called to the ministry, he studied at the Hamilton Literary and Theological Institution, and commenced his ministry at Buffalo, N. Y. Soon afterward he became assistant to the Rev. Dr. Gano, then pastor of the First Baptist Church at Providence, R. I. In October 1836, he became pastor at Malden, Mass., and thence removed to Exeter, N. H. About this time he completed the "Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge," in the preparation of which he had spent two years. From 1838 to 1845, he was professor of Exegetical Theology and Church History in the New Hampton Institution, and he then became pastor of the Baptist church at Lexington, Va. In 1849 he became Editorial Secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society, and removed to Philadelphia, where he continued to reside until his death. Dr. Brown was a man of large acquirements, and during his life performed a vast amount of literary labor. The Baptist Articles of Faith, commonly called the New Hampshire Confession, extensively used by the Baptist churches as a statement of their belief, were written by him while a pastor in New Hampshire, and revised in 1852. He also wrote in verse, one of his best efforts being a translation of the Dies Irae.

Buchanan, James, an American statesman and fifteenth President of the United States, born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, April 22, 1791, and died at Wheatland, near Lancaster, June 1, aged 77 years. The birth-place of Mr. Buchanan was at a place called "Stony Batter," among what are known as the "North Mountains" of the Kittatinny range of the Blue Mountains. His father emigrated to this country from Donegal, Ireland, and his mother, though born in Pennsylvania, was also of Scotch-Irish extraction. Mr. Buchanan graduated at Dickinson College in 1809 with high honor, and immediately commenced the study of the law, being admitted to the Lancaster Bar in 1812. In less than twenty years from the time that he commenced the practice, he had retired on more than a competency, and his name occurs in the Reports of cases in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania oftener than that of any other lawyer of his time. At the age of 23, Mr. Buchanan entered politics, being elected to the Pennsylvania legislature in 1814. He was reëlected in 1815, and in 1820 entered Congress, representing the district lately represented by Thaddeus Stevens. He continued to serve in that body until 1831, when he voluntarily retired, and soon after accepted from President Jackson a mission as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to St. Petersburg. In Congress he made his first speech January 11, 1822, on a deficiency in the military appropriation, supporting the Federal authority and arguing in defence of Mr. Crawford, then Secretary of the Treasury. He opposed the bankrupt law; favored a tariff for revenue with incidental protection only; discouraged entangling alliances with Mexico and the South American Republics, and earnestly protested against the island of Cuba being in the possession of any European power except Spain, on account of its strategic importance to the United States. During his last term in Congress, Mr. Buchanan was chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Mr. Buchanan became a United States Senator from Pennsylvania in 1834, and he remained in the Senate until the beginning of Mr. Polk's administration in 1845, when he became Secretary of State and afterward retired to private life. Of general political measures, he favored while in the Senate the policy of Gen. Jackson with regard to French indemnity; argued in favor of the right of resident aliens to the elective franchise on the admission of Arkansas and Michigan; defended the preëmption rights of settlers on the public lands; advocated the annexation of Texas in 1845, and sought as early as 1835-6 to stifle the slavery agitation in its infancy by a resolution that Congress had no power to legislate upon the subject. During the administration of Mr. Polk, the settlement of the North-west Boundary disputes was effected mainly through his instrumentality, and the policy of Mr. Polk in our difficulties with Mexico in 1847 which led to the "Mexican War," was also as much the policy of Mr. Buchanan. On the accession of Mr. Pierce to the Presidency in 1853, Mr. Buchanan was appointed Minister to Great Britain. Mr. Buchanan returned to the United States in April 1856, to become the candidate of the democratic party for the Presidency, and he was nominated by the Cincinnati Convention in June following. The canvass was an animated one, but he was elected over Gen. Fremont and Ex-President Fillmore by a large majority in the Electoral College. His administration was a remarkable one. Mr. Buchanan remained at Washington until after the inauguration of Mr. Lincoln, and then retired to his farm near Lancaster, where he lived in dignified retirement until his death. Mr. Buchanan never married.

Buel, Alexander W. a member of Congress from Michigan, born in Rutland county, Vermont, in 1813, and died at Detroit, Michigan, April 17, aged 55 years. He graduated at Middlebury College, in 1830, and afterward taught school in Vermont and New York, while preparing himself for the legal profession. He took up his residence in Michigan, in 1834. In 1836, he was attorney for the city of Detroit, and was elected to the State Legislature in 1837. He was Prosecuting Attorney for Wayne County, in 1843-44, and in 1847, he was again a member of the Legislature. He was a Representative in Congress, from 1849 to 1851.

Cagger, Peter, an American politician, born about the year 1814, at Albany, N. Y., and accidentally killed while driving through the Central Park in New York city, July 7. Mr. Cagger was educated at St. John's College, Fordham, and at the Catholic College at Montreal. He adopted the law as a profession, and practiced at Albany for many years with great success. Although a leading politician in the state of New York for nearly a quarter of a century, Mr. Cagger never held office.

Campbell, John H., a member of Congress from Pennsylvania, born in that state and died in Philadelphia, January 9. He was a lawyer by profession. His service in Congress was as a Representative from 1845 to 1847.

Campbell, Thompson, a member of Congress from Illinois, from 1851 to 1853, born in Pennsylvania, and died at San Francisco, December 7. He practiced law in San Francisco for several years, and was Land Commissioner of California, besides holding the office of Secretary of State of Illinois, from 1843 to 1846.

Cardigan, James Thomas Brudenell, seventh Earl of, born at Hambledon, October 16, 1797, and died March 28, aged 70 years. He served in the army for many years. In 1840, he was tried before the House of Lords for "felonious shooting" in wounding Capt. Tuckett, in a duel fought at Wimbledon Common, and was only discharged on technical ground. He was most distinguished for his personal gallantry as the leader of the famous "six hundred" at Balaklava.

Carson, Kit, a noted American trapper and pioneer, born in Madison county, Ky., December 24, 1809, and died at Fort Lynn, Colorado, May 23, aged 58 years. While he was a mere infant, his parents emigrated to what is now Howard county, Missouri, where he was apprenticed to a saddler, at the age of 15. He continued at this occupation for two years, and then joined a hunting expedition to the plains. During the next sixteen years he led the adventurous life of a trapper, being hunter to Bent's Fort for eight years of this period. At the expiration of this long time he paid a short visit to his family, and on his return to the plains met for the first time Lieut., afterward Gen. John C. Fremont, whose guide he became, contributing in a great measure to the success of Fremont's Explorations. In 1847, Carson was sent to Washington as a bearer of dispatches, and was appointed a Lieutenant in the Rifle Corps of the United States army. He afterward served the Government in many ways, and was for a number of years Indian agent in New Mexico. He was instrumental in arranging treaties between the United States and the Indians, which had a good effect in preventing the massacres so common on the plains. A few weeks before his death he had visited Washington with a deputation of the red men, and after completing his mission to the government, made a tour of the principal cities in the Northern and Eastern States. While at Fort Lynn, on his return, he ruptured an artery of the neck, from which he died.

Cattermore, George, an English painter, born at Dickelburgh, in Norfolk, in 1800, and died in July, aged 68 years. Devoting himself to art, he became distinguished as a painter in water colors, especially of historical and romantic subjects. He was also eminent in his representations of architectural works. He was one of the English artists who received medals at the Paris Exhibition of 1855.

Christy, George, a delinicator of Ethiopian eccentricities, whose real name was George N. Harrington, died in New York city, May 13. He was the original "Brudder Bones," and in his lifetime made more than three fortunes by his gift in "Negro Minstrelsy." He was very popular in New York, for many years, and was performing in Boston the week preceding his decease.

Clark, Laban, D. D., an American clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, born at Haverhill, N. H., July 19, 1778, and died at Middletown, Conn., November 28, aged 90 years. His parents were Congregationalists, but he became a zealous dissenter from the tenets of Calvinism, and through the influence of some Methodist pioneers, was in early life brought into connection with that church. He commenced the work of the itinerancy in 1800, and during the next fifty years he held many and almost continuous appointments, in Vermont, New York, and Connecticut. Among the towns and cities in which he held appointments during his long life of labor, were Schenectady, Troy, Hartford, New Haven and New York. In 1851, he accepted the superannuated relation, and retired from the active work, and located his home at Middletown. Dr. Clark was one of the founders of the Middletown Wesleyan University, and the Missionary Society of his denomination was organized at his suggestion, when a pastor in New York, in 1819. The Christian Advocate says of Dr. Clark: "Methodism in theology, and Democracy in politics, were the most paramount things to him in this world. The collocation, we are aware, seems singular enough in our day; but no person who knew our dear old friend would admit that his character was justly portrayed without the mention of this fact."

Cobb, Howell, an American statesman, born in Jefferson county, Georgia, September 5, 1815, and died in New York City, October 9, aged 53 years. He graduated at Franklin College, at Athens, Ga.; studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1836, at the age of 21. The same year he served as a Presidential elector, and in the year following was elected Solicitor General of the Western Circuit, by the Legislature of Georgia. He held the office three years, and retired with a lucrative practice, to which he devoted himself until his election to Congress, in 1843. He served as Representative in Congress without interruption until 1850, and was again elected in 1855. He was the acknowledged leader of the House, in the Thirtieth Congress, gaining this distinction by his efficient support of President Polk's policy in the war with Mexico, in 1847. Upon the assembling of the Thirty-first Congress, he was elected Speaker, after an animated contest, and the adoption of the plurality rule, by which his election was secured by a bare majority of three over Mr. Winthrop, there being twenty scattering votes. He favored the compromise measures of 1850, and as these measures gave rise to opposition in his party, from the extreme Southern rights men, he accepted the nomination of the Union party for Governor. After a violent contest, he was elected by the largest majority ever given to any candidate in Georgia. In the Presidential canvass of 1856, he advocated the election of Mr. Buchanan, making a tour of the Northern States, and was rewarded for his services by a place in the cabinet. He held his post of Secretary of the Treasury until near the close of Mr. Buchanan's administration, when he resigned, to go with Georgia into Secession. He was a delegate to the Provisional Congress of the Confederacy, was elected chairman of that body, and as such presided at the organization of the first Confederate Congress. He then retired to private life, afterward accepting the positions of Brigadier General and Major General in the Confederate army. He took some part in organizing the militia of Georgia, but did not gain much distinction as one of the military leaders of the Confederacy. After the war, he was a violent opponent of the Reconstruction policy of Congress, and even counseled driving Northern emigrants to the South from the country. He was in the North at the time of his death, upon a tour of pleasure with his wife, and died suddenly of apoplexy, while in New York.

Coles, Edward, Governor of Illinois from 1822 to 1826, born in Virginia, and died at Philadelphia, July 7, aged 82 years.

Coquerel, Athanase, a French Protestant divine, born in Paris in 1795, and died January 12, aged 72 years. He was educated at Montauban, where he finished his theological studies in 1816, and at the age of 21 was named minister of the Gospel. He resided for some time in Holland, being pastor of the French church at Amsterdam, preaching also at Leyden and Utrecht, but after an absence of twelve years he returned to France. He entered the Consistory in 1833, and exercised his ministry in Paris until his death, being at that time President of the Presbyteral Council of the Reformed Church. After the revolution of February, 1848, M. Coquerel was elected to the primitive National Assembly from the department of the Seine, and was elected a member of the Commission to frame the new Constitution. After the election of President Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte on the 10th of December, he supported the general policy of the new Government, and voted for the expedition to Rome in 1849, and for the re-establishment of the temporal power of the Pope. Notwithstanding these votes, he was re-elected to the Legislative Assembly, and took his seat with the Centre, or party of order; but the coup d'état of December 2, 1851, put an end to his official life. M. Coquerel was distinguished as an orator, and was author of a number of works. He published volumes of sermons in 1819 and 1852, "Le Protestant" in 1831, "L'Examen" in 1834, and more recently, an "Analysis of the Bible," "Answer to Renan's Life of Jesus," and other works.

Coyne, Joseph Stirling, an English dramatist, born at Birr, in Kings county, Ireland, in 1805, and died in London, July 20, aged 63 years. He was the son of an officer in the Irish Commissariat, and was intended for the legal profession, but he broke away from an irksome and monotonous study to devote himself to literature. He went to England in 1837 and soon became noted as a playwright. He had previously produced three farces at the Theater Royal, Dublin, and he continued to write for the London theaters, especially the Adelphi and the Haymarket, for many years. Mr. Coyne's popular farce "How to Settle Accounts with your Laundress," was translated into French and acted upon the French and German stage. He was for a number of years a dramatic critic and writer on the London press, and together with Mr. Mark Lemon and Mr. Henry Mayhew, was one of the projectors and original proprietors of Punch. He was author of several works of fiction, and of a work on the Scenery and Antiquities of Ireland. From 1856 until his death, he was secretary of the Dramatic Authors' Society.

Cranworth, Lord, the Right Hon. Robert Monsey Rolfe, born at Cranworth, in Norfolk, December 18, 1790, and died July 27, aged 77 years. He was educated at Winchester and Trinity college, Cambridge. He was elected a fellow of Downing College in 1812, and in 1816 was called to the bar. Mr. Rolfe represented Penryn in Parliament in the Liberal interest, until his elevation to the Bench in 1850. In 1834 he was appointed Solicitor General, but resigning in consequence of a change of ministers in that year, he was re-appointed in 1835, and held the office until 1839, when he was made one of the Barons of the Exchequer. In 1850, he was appointed Vice Chancellor and created Baron Cranworth; in 1851 he was named one of the Lords Justices of the Court of Appeal in Chancery, and in 1852 was appointed Lord High Chancellor by Lord Aberdeen. He held the office until the formation of the Derby ministry in 1858, when he retired, but he was again appointed Lord High Chancellor in 1865, retiring with Lord Russell's administration the next year. After his retirement from office, Lord Cranworth paid constant attention to the judicial business of the House of Lords as one of the "law peers," and was very earnest in promoting all measures of social or legal reform.

Dean, Julia, an American actress, born in Buffalo, July 22, 1830, and died in New York city, March 6. Julia Dean was introduced to the public through the efforts of her father, an actor of repute, and at once achieved a good success. She first appeared at the Old Broadway Theater and at the Astor Place Opera House in New York, in the character of Julia, in the "Hunchback," but she achieved her greatest popularity in the South and West. After she had been about ten years on the stage, she married a Mr. Hayne of Charleston, S. C., from whom she afterward separated and obtained a divorce in the Utah courts. She had previously lived in San Francisco, playing in California, Oregon, Idaho, and Utah. She married a second time in 1866, but was scarcely known by her husband's name of Cooper, and retained her own name in the announcements for the one or two engagements she played after her return to the Atlantic coast. Mrs. Cooper left three children by her first marriage.

Duffield, George, D. D., an American clergyman, born at the village of Strasburg, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1794, and died at Detroit, June 26, aged 74 years. He was educated at the University of Pennsylvania, and in 1815, was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Philadelphia. He at once entered upon the active work of the ministry in the Presbyterian church, and was one of the most active in founding the branch known as "New School." From 1837 to 1838 he was pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle church in New York, having previously preached in Philadelphia, but in the latter year he accepted a call to the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, where he continued until his death. In 1849, during the cholera season, he was prostrated by disease, and the malady taking a chronic form, he spent a year abroad at the desire of his people, returning completely restored to health. Dr. Duffield married, in 1819, Isabella Grahame Bethune, sister of the late Dr. Bethune, and was the father of eleven sons, only five of whom survived him.

Elliott, Charles Loring, a distinguished American portrait painter, born at Scipio, N. Y., in 1812, and died at Albany, August 24, aged 56 years. His youth was mostly spent at Syracuse, where he was placed in a store, but owing to the boy's distaste for mercantile pursuits, an attempt was made to educate him in his father's profession of architect. To this calling he also proved averse, and sometime afterwards became a pupil of Trumbull and Quidor in New York city. He did not take up his residence permanently in that city until after he had made a reputation as a portrait painter, having resided in the western part of the State for about ten years after finishing his professional education. He first attracted notice by some creditable illustrations in oil of scenes in the works of Irving and Spaulding. As a portrait painter he won a very marked success, and acquired an independent fortune. His works were distinguished by fidelity to the originals, and a vigorous coloring that placed them far above the mere mechanical execution of his art. Of late years, he resided at Albany. For some time previous to his death, he had been suffering from a tumor on the brain, but that event is believed to have been superinduced by excessive labor in painting as many as ten portraits between the middle of March and the middle of July.

Ellsworth, William W., ex-Governor of Connecticut, born in Windsor, Conn. November 10, 1791, and died at Hartford, January 15, aged 76 years. He was the son of Oliver Ellsworth, and was educated at Yale College, from which he graduated in 1810. He was afterward Professor of Law in Trinity College, and was a Representative in Congress from 1829 to 1833. In 1838 he was elected Governor of Connecticut, and was re-elected four years. Gov. Ellsworth was for many years a Judge of the Supreme Court of Connecticut, and was well known for his legal attainments and fine culture.

Engle, Frederick, Rear Admiral U. S. N., born in Delaware, in 1799, and died at Philadelphia, February 12, aged 68 years. He entered the naval service in 1814, and commanded the Princeton during the Mexican war.

Fessenden, T. A. D., a member of Congress from Maine, born in Portland, January 23, 1826, and died at Lewiston, Me., September 28, aged 42 years. Mr. Fessenden, who was the brother of the Hon. William Pitt Fessenden, was educated at Bowdoin College, where he graduated in 1845. He adopted the profession of the law, and was chosen attorney of Androscoggin county in 1861. He was a member of the Maine Legislature in 1860, and was elected a Representative in Congress in 1862, to fill the unexpired term of C. W. Walton, resigned.

Finney, Darwin A., a member of the Fortieth Congress from Pennsylvania, born at Shrewsbury, Vt., in 1814, and died in Brussels, Belgium, August 25, aged 54 years. Mr. Finney removed to Meadville, Penn., in 1838. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly in 1854, and of the State Senate from 1857 to 1860. In 1866, he was elected to Congress, but owing to ill health, he was in his seat only a few days during the short session of 1867, and in the autumn of that year he went abroad. His remains were brought home early in January, 1869, and buried at Laurel Hill Cemetery, near Philadelphia.

Force, Peter, an American journalist and historian, and a noted bibliophile, born in New Jersey, November 26, 1790, and died at Washington, D. C., January 23, aged 77 years. In early life, Mr. Force became a printer in New York, where he resided until 1815, when he removed to Washington. He began the publication of the "National Calendar," an annual volume of statistics, in 1820, and continued it until 1836. From November, 1823, to February, 1830, he published the "National Journal," a political newspaper, which enjoyed the distinction of being the organ of John Quincy Adams' administration. He was Mayor of Washington from 1836 to 1840. In 1833, Mr. Force made a contract with the United States Government for the publication of a documentary history of the American colonies, of which 9 volumes appeared, under the title of "American Archives." He also published a series of tracts in 4 volumes, on the same subject. Thirty years were spent in the preparation of his work, and the collection of books, manuscripts and maps that he gathered during that time are unequalled for completeness and value. These were purchased by the Government some time before the death of Mr. Force, and placed in the library of Congress.

Ford, Thomas H., died at Washington, February 29, aged 54 years. He had been Lieutenant Governor of Ohio, and commanded a brigade for some time during the civil war.

Fulford, Francis, D. D., Lord Bishop of Montreal and Metropolitan of Canada, born in Sedmouth, England, in the year 1803, and died at Montreal, September 9, aged 65 years. He was educated at the university of Oxford, graduating in 1824. He held a curacy for a brief period, but in 1832, he was appointed rector of Trowbridge in Wiltshire, and the same year was made chaplain to the Duchess of Gloucester. In 1841, he was appointed rector of Croxden, Cambridgeshire, and the same year became minister of Curzon chapel, Mayfair, London. He was consecrated Bishop of Montreal in 1850, an office which he held until his death.

Gannon, Mary (Mrs. Stephenson), an American actress, born in New York, October 8, 1829, and died in that city, February 22, aged 38 years. She played in child parts at the Old Bowery Theatre when only six years old. In 1849, she married George W. Stephenson, a lawyer, but upon the death of her husband, which occurred a few years afterward, she returned to the stage, assuming her maiden name. At the time of her death she was a member of the company belonging to Wallack's Theatre.

Gansevoort, Guert, a commodore in the United States Navy, born in the State of New York, in 1812, and died at Schenectady, July 15, aged 56 years. After being educated at the naval academy, he entered the service as a midshipman. He rose to prominence during the Mexican war while in command of the John Adams. At the outbreak of the civil war he was chief of ordnance at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and subsequently had command of the iron-clad Roanoke. He was commissioned a commodore in 1866, and placed upon the retired list in 1867. Commodore Gansevoort was 45 years in the naval service, and spent 18 years of this time at sea.

Gates, William, Brevet Brigadier General, U. S. A., born in New York City, where he died, October 7. He graduated at West Point in 1806. He served through the war with Great Britain, and was in command of Fort Moultrie during the nullification troubles in South Carolina. He also served in Florida and in the Mexican war, and he was for two years Governor of Tampico.

Gibbs, Alfred, a Major General by brevet in the United States Army, born in the State of New York, April 23, 1823, and died at Leavenworth, Kansas, December 26, aged 45 years. He entered the military academy at West Point in 1842, and was graduated in 1846, being brevetted 2d Lieutenant in the Mounted Rifles. He served through the Mexican war, and was twice brevetted for gallant conduct. He afterward served on the staff of Gen. Persifer F. Smith, in California, and was serving in New Mexico at the breaking out of the civil war. He was taken prisoner in that territory, but was subsequently exchanged, and on coming North was given the command of the 130th Regiment of New York Volunteers, and served with distinction under Gen. Sheridan in the latter part of the war. At the time of his death, he had been in the Regular Army 23 years, and held the rank of Major and of a Brevet Major General.

Gillespie, William Mitchell, an American author, born in the year 1816, in New York City, where he died January 1, aged 52 years. He was educated at Columbia College, after which he spent several years in foreign travel. Returning to this country in 1845, he published a spirited volume entitled "Rome as seen by a New Yorker in 1843-44." The same year he was appointed Professor of Civil Engineering in Union College, an office which he held until his death. Prof. Gillespie was author of a popular volume on "Land Surveying," and of a practical manual on road-making, entitled "Roads and Railroads." These works became standard authorities. He was an ardent admirer of the philosophy of Auguste Comte, and, in 1857, under the title of "Philosophy of Mathematics," he published an abstract of Comte's writings.

Gilmer, John A., an American statesman, born in Guilford County, North Carolina, November 4, 1805, and died at Greenboro', N. C., May 14, aged 63 years. Mr. Gilmer was admitted to the bar in 1832. From 1846 to 1856, he was a member of the Senate of North Carolina, and he was also a member of the Thirty-fifth Congress, serving on the Committee on Elections. He was re-elected to the Thirty-sixth Congress, but withdrew in 1861, and was afterward a member of the Confederate Congress. He was a delegate to the Philadelphia "National Union Convention," in 1866.

Goodrich, Chauncey, D. D., an American scholar, born in 1817, and died at New Haven, Conn., March 27, aged 51 years. He graduated at Yale College in 1837; studied theology, and was in the ministry until 1856.

Grayson, William, Governor of Maryland from 1838 to 1841. Mr. Grayson was for many years an active Maryland politician. He died in Queen Anne's County, in that State, July 9, aged 82 years.

Granger, Francis, an American statesman, born at Suffield, Hartford County, Connecticut, in 1787, and died at his residence in Canandaigua, Ontario County, New York, August 28, aged 81 years. He graduated at Yale College in 1811, and began the practice of law at Canandaigua.

gua in 1814. He was prominent in politics from 1825 to 1842, being especially identified with the anti-Masonic movement of that time. He was a member of the New York Assembly in 1825 and 1826, and again in 1829 and 1830. In 1828 and 1830 he was the candidate of the Anti-Masons for Governor, but was defeated by Mr. Throop, the democratic candidate, and he was again defeated for the same office by William L. Marcy, in 1832. He was four times elected to Congress, the first time in 1834 and the last in 1840. In 1836, he was a candidate for Vice-President of the United States, on the ticket with Gen. Harrison, and was Harrison's Post Master General during his short administration. Mr. Granger's well-known anti-slavery views at first prevented his confirmation by the Senate, and it was understood that he was to retire from the cabinet should he find it necessary to act with the abolition party. After his retirement from official life, in 1842, he never held office, but still manifested much interest in public affairs.

Gurley, Phineas D., D. D., an American clergyman of the Presbyterian Church, died at Washington, D. C., September 30, aged 52 years. Dr. Gurley was for many years chaplain of the United States Senate, and pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. The late Presidents Buchanan and Lincoln both attended service at his Church, and he preached President Lincoln's funeral sermon. He was active in promoting the union of the Old and New School Presbyterians at the General Assembly held at St. Louis in 1866.

Halpine, Charles G., an American journalist, better known by his nom de plume of "Miles O'Reilly," born in county Meath, near Dublin, Ireland, in November, 1829, and died in New York City, August 3, aged 39 years. He was prepared for and entered Trinity College in 1846, but the next year he married and came to Boston, where he remained for two years, employed upon the journals of that city. In 1848, he became French translator for the New York Herald, and after acting awhile in that capacity, and as correspondent for several New York journals, he purchased an interest in The Leader, and assisted in editing that paper until the breaking out of the civil war. In 1861, he entered the military service as a private in the 69th New York Regiment of three months troops, but he was soon appointed Major and Assistant Adjutant General on the staff of Gen. Hunter, with whom he served in Missouri and the Carolinas until transferred to the staff of Major Gen. Halleck. While serving in the South, he wrote the letters of "Private Miles O'Reilly of the 47th New York." These letters were first written to a New York newspaper, and afterward collected and published in a volume. They were entirely fictitious, but their pungency and wit gave him considerable reputation. Just before his resignation from the army, Major Halpine was appointed a Brigadier General by brevet, and a Major in the regular army. In 1866, he was elected Register of the city of New York, a position worth nearly $50,000 a year, which he held at the time of his death. Gen. Halpine enjoyed some reputation as a versifier, and was the poet at the consecration of the Gettysburg National Cemetery in 1864. A poem published in The Tribune in 1854, beginning with the well-known line—"Tear down the flaunting lie," was attributed to his pen.

Hampden, Right Rev. Renn Dickson, D. D., Bishop of Hereford, a descendant of the celebrated John Hampden, born in Barbadoes in 1793, and died early in the year, aged 75 years. He was educated at Oriel College, Oxford. In 1832, he delivered his Bampton Lectures, upon which Dr. J. H. Newman wrote a pamphlet in 1836, after he had been appointed Regius Professor of Divinity. Dr. Newman's pamphlet led both the High and Low Church parties to attack Dr. Hampden for heresy, and he was censured by the university convocation. The High Church party made a strong effort to prevent his consecration after his appointment to the See of Hereford, but were unsuccessful.

Hartstene, Henry, formerly Commander in the United States Navy, born in South Carolina and died at Paris, March 31. He entered the navy as a midshipman in 1828, and served until 1861, when he resigned to enter the Confederate service. Commander Hartstene was best known as the officer in command of the expedition that rescued Dr. Kane in the Arctic Ocean, in 1855.

Havin, Leonor Joseph, a French publicist, born at St. Lo in 1799, and died at Paris November 13, aged 69 years. He shared with his father, from 1816 to 1820, the exile to which the latter had been condemned as a proscribed regicide, and upon his return to France took up his residence at Caen. A liberal in politics, he was chosen in 1830 a delegate to enlighten the provisional government upon the wants and wishes of the western departments. He held some local offices at St. Lo, was elected a deputy in 1831 and made secretary to the Chamber in 1839, but in 1842 in consequence of ministerial influence he was excluded from that office. After the revolution of 1848 he was chosen to the Constituent Assembly for La Manche. He generally voted with the Right upon all social and political questions. He was elected a member of the council of state in 1849, but remained for 14 years without a seat in the Legislative Assembly. In 1863 he was elected to Corps Legislatif from Paris, but being at the same time a successful candidate of the opposition for La Manche, he chose to represent the latter place. For a long time member of the departmental council (consul general) for La Manche, he was chosen to the same office for the canton of Thorigny in 1861 in spite of the opposition of the government. After the death of M. Perree he was political director of the Siecle, one of the most influential of the daily newspapers of Paris.

Hawks, Right Rev. Cicero S., D.D., LL. D., Protestant Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Missouri, born at Newbern, North Carolina, May 26, 1812, and died at St. Louis, Mo., April 21, aged 56 years. He was the brother of the late Rev. Francis L. Hawks, D.D., of New York, in whose family he resided from a child, and to whom he was indebted for his education. After taking orders he became in 1836 rector of Trinity Church at Buffalo, N. Y., where he continued seven years. In 1843 he became rector of Christ Church, St. Louis, and the next year was elected bishop of the diocese. He exercised the functions of his office for a quarter of a century, and always took an active and leading part in the questions agitating the Protestant Episcopal Church, and in promoting the work to which he was devoted.

Head, Sir Edmund Walker, an English author and statesman, born at Maidstone, Kent, in 1805, and died January 28, aged 63 years. He was educated at Winchester and Oriel College, Oxford, graduating a first-class in classics in 1827. He was for some years a Fellow of Merton College, and from 1838 to 1847 a commissioner and assistant commissioner of the Poor Laws. He was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick in the latter year, and held the position until 1854, when he succeeded Lord Elgin as Governor-General of Canada. He resigned the latter position in 1861. Sir Edmund wrote learnedly on art; edited "Kugler's Handbook of Painting," and contributed a work on the "Shall and Will" controversy in Grammar.

Herrick, Anson, a member of Congress from New York, born at Lewiston, Maine, January 21, 1812, and died in New York city, February 6, aged 56 years. He received a common school education, and then learned the business of a printer. In 1836 he settled in New York and established The New York Atlas newspaper in 1838, of which he was the editor and proprietor until his death. In 1853 he was chosen an Alderman of the city, and held the office of naval store-keeper under President Buchanan's administration. He was elected a Representative in Congress in 1862. Mr. Herrick was a democratic leader in New York, but early in life he was a strenuous anti-Mason.

Higgins, Mathew James, an English Journalist, better known by his pseudonym of "Jacob Omnium," born in Ireland about the year 1810, and died at his residence in London, August 19. He was educated at Eton and at New College, Oxford, after which he served some years as an officer in the army. For more than twenty years he was a constant contributor to The London Times, but in 1863 he withdrew from that journal and became one of the principal writers in The Pall Mall Gazette. He was also a frequent contributor to the Quarterly and Edinburgh Reviews, and The Cornhill Magazine. His style was terse and vigorous, and he was a severe satirist.

Hindman, Thomas C., a Confederate General, born in Tennessee in 1818, and was killed at Helena, Ark., September 27, aged 50 years. He served in the Mexican war as 2d Lieutenant in a Mississippi regiment. He afterward removed to Arkansas and was a Representative from that State in the 36th and 37th Congresses. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the Confederate service and was appointed a Brigadier-General and afterward promoted to be Major-General. He first served under Buckner in Kentucky, and had command at Memphis. He was charged in 1862 with obtaining $1,000,000 from the Memphis banks under a pretended authority of Gen. Beauregard. Hindman was arrested, but his disgrace did not continue long, and he was again appointed to command in Arkansas.

Hinds, James, a member of the 40th Congress from Arkansas, assassinated at Monroe, in that State, October 22, at the age of 35 years. Mr. Hinds was born in Hebron, Washington Co., N. Y., December 5, 1833. He graduated at the Cincinnati Law College in 1856, and afterward pursued his profession in Minnesota. During the civil war he served as a private in the Union Army, and at its close took up his residence at Little Rock, Arkansas. He was a member of the Convention which formed the present Constitution of the State, and was subsequently appointed a commissioner to codify the laws.

Hopkins, John Henry, D.D., LL. D., an American clergyman, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Vermont, was born in Dublin Jan. 30, 1792, and died Jan. 9, aged 76 years. He came to America with his parents in 1800, and after receiving a classical education passed a year in a counting room in Philadelphia. When only 19 years old he embarked in the iron manufacture in Western Pennsylvania, but failed in business in 1817 in consequence of the depression that followed the peace of 1815. He then read law and after six months study was admitted to the bar at Pittsburgh. He practiced for a few years, but he afterward entered the ministry and became Rector of Trinity Church, Pittsburg, in May 1824, at which time he was ordained. In 1826 he was clerical deputy to the general convention of the Episcopal Church, and again in 1829. In 1827 he was a candidate for assistant bishop of Pennsylvania, but the vote between him and Dr. Onderdonk being a tie, he elected the latter by his own vote. In 1831 Mr. Hopkins accepted a call to Trinity Church, Boston, and became professor of Systematic Divinity in a Theological Seminary established at that time by the diocese of Massachusetts. The next year he was elected the first bishop of the separate diocese of Vermont, and accepted besides the rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Burlington. He soon began a boys' school, which enabled him to give remunerative employment to a number of candidates for orders, but in erecting the buildings necessary for the purposes of the school, he involved himself in debt to such a degree as to require the sacrifice of his own property. He resigned his rectorship in 1856 to devote himself more exclusively to the affairs of his diocese, and to building up the "Vermont Episcopal Institute." Dr. Hopkins was author of a number of works, mostly of a controversial character, on theological subjects, published since the year 1833. A history of the Church in verse was published a short time before his death, and at the close of the present year appeared the latest work from his pen, in which he corrected some views advanced in previous works, acknowledging that he had erred in confounding the Roman Catholic Church with Antichrist. In the early part of the civil war he published a work defending slavery, that attracted considerable attention because of the source from which it emanated. Dr. Hopkins married in 1816. At the time of his death he was presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Hughes, Ball, an American sculptor, born in London January 19, 1806, and died at Boston March 5, aged 62 years. He was placed for instruction under the sculptor Bailey, with whom he remained for seven years. During this time he gained a number of important prizes. In 1829 he emigrated to New York, his first work of importance in this country being the statue of Alexander Hamilton, for the Merchants' Exchange at New York, destroyed in the great fire of 1835. His most important work is his statue in bronze of Nathaniel Bowditch, in Mount Auburn, near Boston, a work that is crumbling away, owing to imperfect casting. Mr. Hughes was charged with using inferior materials that were corroded by the atmosphere, but more charitable judges attribute the imperfections of the work to a want of knowledge in this country at that time on the subject of bronze castings, and the poor appliances for producing good work.

Ingersoll, Joseph R., an American statesman, born in Philadelphia June 17, 1786, and died February 20, aged 82 years. He graduated at Princeton, and was admitted to the bar in 1807. He was a member of Congress from 1835 to 1837, and again from 1841 to 1849. From 1850 to 1853 he was Minister of the United States to Great Britain.

Johnson, Herman M., D. D., an American clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at Carlisle, Pa., April 5. Dr. Johnson was Professor of Philosophy and English Literature in Dickinson College from 1850 to 1860, and in the latter year he was elected President of that institution.

Junkin, George, D. D., an American Clergyman of the Presbyterian Church, died in Philadelphia, May 20. During the last half century he was identified with the most important movements in the Presbyterian Church, especially in the controversy that resulted in the division of the Church into Old School and New School. On the organization of Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., Dr. Junkin became its President, resigning the position in 1841 to become President of the Miami University. In 1844 he again became President of Lafayette College, but resigned in 1848 to accept the Presidency of Washington College at Lexington, Va. When the civil war broke out Dr. Junkin was still at Lexington, but he remained steadfast in his devotion to the Union, and was compelled to leave the State as one of the many refugees from Virginia in the early days of the war. Soon after coming to the North Dr. Junkin accepted a Professorship at Lafayette College, retaining the position until the time of his death. The famous Stonewall Jackson was his son-in-law, having married a daughter of Dr. Junkin while residing at Lexington.

Kean, Charles, an English actor, born at Waterford, England, in 1811, and died at London January 23; aged 57 years. He was the second son of the celebrated Edmund Kean, and was placed by his father at Eton until a change of fortune made his removal necessary, and he then resolved to adopt the stage as a profession. His first appearance was at Drury Lane, October 1, 1827, as Young Norval in Home's tragedy of "Douglass," but it was not particularly successful. Neither were his after performances much better received, and it was not until October, 1829, when he was acting Romeo and Sir Edward Mortimer in the "Iron Chest," at the Haymarket, that he was mentioned in terms of praise in the London journals. He had previously played in the provinces, and in October 1828, while performing at Glasgow, he had the satisfaction of being reconciled to his father, from whom he had been estranged owing to the separation of Edmund Kean from his mother. For his son's benefit Edmund Kean consented to play Brutus to Charles Kean's Titus, and father and son afterward played in conjunction at Dublin and Cork. Charles Kean made his first appearance in New York in September 1830, as Richard III., meeting with a cordial reception, and had the satisfaction of returning to England at the age of 22 with an established reputation. But his success in London was still slight, though at Dublin, Edinburgh, Manchester and other places he was received with marks of appreciation similar to those with which he had been greeted in America, and it was not until after his brilliant success at Covent Garden, where he appeared as Hamlet on January 8, 1838, that he became a favorite in the metropolis. His memorable appearance at Covent Garden in "Othello," as Iago to his father's Moor, Miss Ellen Tree playing Desdemona, was made on March 28, 1833, the failure of Edmund Kean's powers while performing, and his subsequent death, making it one of the most notable events in dramatic history. During his first successful engagement in London, Charles Kean appeared in only three characters, Hamlet, Richard III., and Sir Giles Overreach. Early in June of the following year he appeared at the Haymarket with equal success, and after making a second visit to this country, resumed his place at that theater in 1840. In 1842, while playing at Dublin, Mr. Kean married Miss Ellen Tree, and in 1845 in conjunction with his wife, visited the United States for the third time, his fourth and last tour through this country, his wife again accompanying him, being made in the year 1865. In 1850 he became manager of the Princess' Theater, and during the next ten years he and his wife were identified with the splendid revival of Shakspeare's historic plays, by the departure from conventional precedents and the adoption in their stead of costumes and scenery true in the matter of historical details. After 1860 Mr. and Mrs. Kean appeared in several short engagements both in Great Britain and America.

Kearney, Lawrence, a Commodore in the U. S. Navy, born in Perth Amboy, N. J., November 30, 1789, and died at that place, November 29, aged 79 years. He entered the naval service as a midshipman in 1807, and in 1809 was ordered to the frigate Constitution, and subsequently to the President. In the war of 1812 he distinguished himself, and was made a Lieutenant. His next service was in suppressing the pirates in the West Indies under the notorious Gibbs, and in 1825 he was sent to the Mediterranean in the sloop-of-war Warren to protect American commerce from the Greek pirates. In the following year he bombarded Miconi, compelling the pirates to restore property belonging to American merchants. He was given command of the East India squadron in 1840, and served zealously until 1862, when he was placed on the retired list. He was commissioned Commodore in 1866.

Kimball, Heber C., a Mormon Elder and one of the three members of the Presidency to whom all Mormondom is subject, was born in 1801, and died at Salt Lake City, June 22, aged 67 years. He was converted to Mormonism in 1832, the same year with Brigham Young, at Kirtland, Ohio, where Sidney Rigdon and Joe Smith erected a temple in 1836. Kimball and Young shared in all the vicissitudes of fortune of Smith and Rigdon, both at Kirtland and in Missouri. Kimball was ordained as one of the twelve apostles in 1835, and in 1837 he was sent with Orson Hyde from Kirtland, as a missionary to England. When the constitution of the Mormon Church was perfected by the creation of a First Presidency, Kimball was associated with Brigham Young and Daniel C. Wells in that office, and in the event of Young's death would have been his successor. Young was always accustomed to speak of him as the model saint, and he on the other hand always manifested the most sycophantic respect for Young. He was uneducated and was described as a cunning, cruel, and unscrupulous man, coarse and disgusting as a speaker. He gloated over the polygamic feature of Mormonism, and sometimes boasted that he had more wives than the Prophet himself, but this was always discredited. His claims to be the head of the Mormon Church in the event of Brigham's death, were reported to have been set aside in favor of Brigham Young, Jr., with whom Kimball had recently been in England upon the missionary business of Mormonism.

Krummacher, Frederic Wilhelm, a distinguished minister of the Reformed Church in Prussia, a strenuous opponent of the rationalistic school of theology, and an author of no small reputation, died in Potsdam, December 20, 1868. He was son of the eminent theologian and poet, Prof. Frederic Krummacher. He was born in Duesburg in 1790, and for several years previous to his death was chaplain of the Prussian Court. Most of his numerous works have been translated into English and published in this country. Prominent among these are "Elijah the Tishbite," "The Last Days of Elisha," "Solomon and the Shulamite," etc. His last published work is "David the King of Israel." In 1843, he was elected to a professorship in the Theological Seminary of the German Reformed Church at Mercersburg, Penn., which he declined with expressions of the kindest appreciation of the honor conferred upon him.

Leeser, Rev. Isaac, Rabbi of the principal Portuguese Synagogue in Philadelphia, died in that city February 1, aged 60 years. He was born in Westphalia, and began his official ministrations in Philadelphia, in 1829. Dr. Leeser was for a number of years editor of the Occident, a publication devoted to the interests of Judaism, and was well known as a writer on controversial subjects, and a translator of many devotional works. He was a man of great learning, and was held in great respect for his attainments.

Leutze, Emmanuel, an American painter, born in Gmünd, Wurtemberg, May 24, 1816, and died at Washington, D. C., July 19, aged 52 years. Mr. Leutze emigrated to this country with his parents while he was very young, and his youth was passed in Philadelphia. He early showed much taste for drawing and sketching portraits, and in 1841 he went abroad to become a pupil of Lessing, director of the gallery at Dusseldorf. He had previously made some reputation by his paintings of "Hagar and Ishmael in the Desert," and "The Indian Contemplating the Setting Sun." Soon after becoming a pupil of Lessing, he painted his "Columbus before the Council of Salamanca," which was considered a great success, and in 1842 he obtained from the exposition at Brussels a medal for his "Columbus in Chains." About the same time he finished his "Columbus before the Queen," and "The Reception of Columbus at Barcelona." Mr. Leutze spent the year 1843 at Munich, studying the works of Cornelius and Kaulbach, and in 1845, having in the meantime studied at Venice and Rome, he returned to Dusseldorf, where he married. He afterwards continued to devote himself to historical subjects, producing many well-known and much-admired pictures, among the most celebrated of which in this country are his "Washington at Monmouth," and "Washington Crossing the Delaware." Mr. Leutze returned to this country in 1859, and was engaged in painting historical pictures in the capitol at Washington. One of the best of these works is his "Westward Ho!" in the interior of the south wing. At the time of his death, his family were traveling in Germany, and he was living in Washington with a young daughter.

Limayrac, Paulin, a French journalist widely known as a writer both in politics and belles lettres, of profound analytical power and great mastery of language, born at Causade, (Tarn-et-Garonne), France, February 26, 1817, and died at Paris, July 11, aged 51 years. He commenced his studies at Montauban, and finished his education at the college of Henry IV. in Paris. In 1840 he began to write for the Revue de Paris, and from 1843 to 1845 was one of the editors of the Revue des Deux Mondes, besides contributing to other periodicals. The literary chronicle of the journal was under his direction, and he also contributed a series of articles under the general title of "Simple Essais d'Histoire Littéraire," and a romance afterward published in separate form, entitled "L'Ombre d'Eric." In 1849 he wrote a five-act comedy, "La Comédie en Espagne," which, though never played owing to political events, obtained for him in 1855 the Cross of Commander of the Order of Charles III. of Spain. From 1852 to 1855, M. Limayrac was literary editor of the Presse newspaper, and in May, 1856, he became one of the political editors of the Constitutionnel. He was also a writer for the Patrie, and in June, 1861, he became editor-in-chief of the Pays, a position he left in October of the same year for the Constitutionnel. He was decorated with the Legion of Honor in 1856, in 1861 was promoted to a Grand Officer, and was the recipient of other distinctions. A collection of his literary contributions to the Presse was made in 1856, under the title of "Coups de Plume Sincères."

Lincoln, Levi, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, born at Worcester, in that State, October 22, 1782, and died May 29, aged 75 years. He graduated at Harvard college and was admitted to the bar in 1805. In 1812, he was elected State Senator, and from 1814 to 1833 he was a member of the lower house of the Massachusetts Legislature, of which he was Speaker in 1822. He was Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts in 1823: in 1824 he was appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court, and was elected Governor of the State in 1825. He was re-elected for four successive terms, and was the first Governor of Massachusetts, who ever exercised the veto power. From 1834 to 1841, he was a Representative in Congress, and in the latter year was appointed by President Harrison Collector of the port of Boston, a position he held until 1843. In 1844 and 1845, he was again a State Senator and President of the Senate. He was the first mayor of Worcester, being elected to that position in 1848. Mr. Lincoln was a gentleman of liberal attainments and fine culture.

Longley, Charles Thomas, D. D., an English clergyman and Archbishop of Canterbury, "Primate of all England and Metropolitan," was born at Rochester in the year 1794, and died in London October 27, aged 74 years. He was educated at Westminster, where he was put upon the foundation as a "King's scholar," and at Christ Church, Oxford. He took his Bachelor's degree in Michaelmas term, 1815, gaining a first class in classics, and then became a Tutor and Censor of his college, and also served the University office of Proctor. In 1823, he undertook the pastoral charge of the parish of Cowley, two miles from Oxford, and in 1825 and 1826, acted as a Public Examiner in the classical schools. He quitted Oxford in 1827, on being presented to the living of West Tytherly in Hampshire, but on the resignation of the late Dr. Butler, he accepted the post of Head Master of Harrow School, which he retained for seven years. In 1836, the See of Ripon was founded to relieve the See of York from a part of its responsibilities in the manufacturing districts, and Dr. Longley was appointed to the Episcopate by Lord Melbourne. On the resignation of Dr. Maltby in 1856, he was appointed by Lord Palmerston to the Bishopric of Durham, and four years afterward he was promoted to the Archbishopric of York. Only two more years elapsed after his promotion to the See of York until the Archbishopial See of Canterbury became vacant by the death of Dr. Sumner, in 1862, when the choice of the Ministry again fell upon Dr. Longley, and he was recommended to the Dean and Chapter of Canterbury, as the man best fitted to fill the "Metropolitan" throne of "All England." In his Archbishopial administration there were but few salient features, the most notable act of Archbishop Longley being the calling together of the "Pan-Anglican Synod" at Lambeth, in 1867, to consider the case of Dr. Colenso, the bishop of Natal. He presided over the deliberations of the Conference, and had a large share in drawing up the Pastoral letter of the Bishops to the Anglican Churches. Dr. Longley enjoyed the patronage of nearly 200 livings, and the value of his archdiocese was £15,000 a year. He was left a widower some years before his death.

Louis I., Charles Augustus, ex-king of Bavaria, born August 25, 1786, and died March 19, aged 82 years. He was the son of Maximilian Joseph, king of Bavaria, and was educated at the Universities of Landshut and Göttingen. He took part in the campaigns against Austria, in 1809, and succeeded his father October 13, 1825. The king had a strong taste for the fine arts, and managed the revenue of his kingdom with the strictest economy, that he might be able to enrich his Glyptotheca, a magnificent museum of sculpture, that he built, with the choicest works of art. He also erected other public works, and did much to infuse a taste for art among the people. He was the author of four volumes of "Poems," Gedichte, published in 1829, and a prose work, Walhalla's Genossen, in 1843. In the sphere of learning he was especially active in the encouragement of historical studies. His administration was at first liberal, but the king fell under the control of the ultramontane clergy, and was subject to their influence from 1831 to 1847. Popular discontent had grown strong in Munich, and the downfall of the ultramontane party did not allay the excitement. The supposed influence of the king's mistress, the well known Lola Montez, served rather to increase it. He created her Countess of Landsfelt, in 1846, and conferred many other favors upon her; but the popular clamor, on her account, ended in disturbances at Munich, in 1848, and she was driven from the country. Soon afterward (March 20), the king himself went into retirement, in which he continued until his death, having abdicated in favor of his son, Maximilian.

Lover, Samuel, an English novelist, born in Dublin, 1797, and died in London, July 6, aged 71 years. Mr. Lover was the son of a member of the Dublin Stock Exchange, and first won his way to distinction as an artist. Starting as a miniature painter, his portraits attracted so much attention as to procure him many sitters from among the English and Irish aristocracy. In 1829 he was elected an academician of the Royal Hibernian Society of Arts, and was made secretary of the Society, but notwithstanding his success, his taste for literature led him to abandon art. While engaged as a painter, he contributed to a periodical a series of "Legends and Tales, Illustrative of Irish Character," and removed to London in 1837, where, encouraged by his success in Dublin, he devoted himself to literary pursuits. His "Irish Sketches" were published in that year, and in the year following, his best known work, "Handy Andy," appeared in Bentley's Miscellany. His "Songs and Ballads" appeared in 1839; about the same time, he composed a number of operas and expanded some of his tales and sketches into elaborate works of fiction, but finding that his health was beginning to suffer, he conceived the idea in 1844 of reciting and singing his own works in public. These entertainments, which he called "Irish Evenings," contained graphic sketches of Irish humor varied with songs and music of his own composition. They became very popular in London and the provinces, and the reputation that he acquired by his recitals induced him to visit the United States and Canada in 1846, where he was as successful as at home. On his return to England in 1848, he proceeded to illustrate his experience in this country by a second entertainment, which was also very successful. His last works are "Metrical Tales and Poems" published in 1859, "Lyrics of Ireland," 1858, and "Treasure Trove," 1844. Since 1856, Mr. Lover received a literary pension of £100 per annum from his government. As a writer he was graphic without being polished, but his humor was irresistible.

McCall, George Archibald, an American general, born in Philadelphia, March 16, 1802, and died at West Chester, Pa., February 25, aged 66 years. He was graduated at West Point in 1822, and served for a few years as 2d Lieutenant in the 4th Infantry. In 1831, he was appointed aid-de-camp to Gen. Gaines, and was Assistant Adjutant General of the Western Department until 1836, when he was promoted to be captain. He was recommended for promotion by Gen. Worth for gallantry in the war with the Florida Indians, and was promoted to be Major and Lieutenant Colonel by brevet for gallantry in the battles of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma. In 1847, he was promoted to be Major in the 3d Infantry, and while serving with his regiment in New Mexico, in 1850, was appointed by President Taylor Inspector General of the army, with the rank of Colonel of Cavalry. He resigned his commission in 1853. At the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, soon after the three months troops had taken the field, he was requested by Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania to organize a corps of 15,000 men, to be called the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps. With these he took the field, and near the close of the year he planned the battle of Dranesville, the first success of the Army of the Potomac. He continued in command of his division throughout the winter and spring of 1861-62, and though retained on the Potomac after the departure of McClellan for the Peninsula, he joined the army before Richmond, June 18, 1862, his division being attached to the corps of Fitz John Porter. On the 26th, he fought in the battle of Mechanicsville, in which the enemy were repulsed, and in the battle of Gaines' Mill, on the 27th, he held the extreme left of the Union line. The Pennsylvania Reserves suffered more in these two days than any division in the army, but preserved their organization intact, and gained a high reputation for discipline and valor. On the 30th, Gen. McCull fought, with success, a superior Confederate force at the crossing of the Turkey bridge, on the New Market road, while defending the wagon trains passing at that point. After the battle, while reconnoitering in the darkness in front of his line, he was surprised and captured, and was held as a prisoner in Richmond until exchanged in the following August. He suffered much during his confinement, and after his exchange he returned to his home in Chester county, and, owing to his impaired health, did not again resume his command. In 1862, he was a democratic candidate for Congress, but was unsuccessful.

McGee, Thomas D'Arcy, a Canadian statesman, born at Carlingford, Ireland, April 13, 1825, and assassinated at Ottawa, Canada, April 7, aged 43 years. He emigrated to Boston in 1842, where he held a position on the press for a few years, but again returned to Ireland and joined the staff of The Nation newspaper. In 1847, he called a meeting in the Rotundo, Dublin, to oppose the later policy of O'Connell, and in 1849, he became compromised by the part he took in the Young Ireland emeute. Escaping to the United States, he established The American Celt newspaper at New York. At first he was an ardent admirer and advocate of Republican institutions, but when the "Know Nothing," or American movement, developed itself in this country, he became a steady royalist, and soon afterward removed to Montreal. He was chosen Representative from Montreal in 1857, and from 1864 to 1867 was President of the Executive Council of Canada. He was the chief Canadian commissioner to the Paris Exhibition in 1855, and to the Exhibition at Dublin in 1864. He took a leading part as a delegate to all the conferences to promote the Union of the British North American Provinces, and held the post of Minister of Agriculture under the new government. Mr. McGee enjoyed considerable reputation as a writer, his principal work being a "Popular History of Ireland," in two volumes, published at New York in 1862; and he was a man of marked ability as an orator. In the House of Commons, two hours previous to his assassination, he delivered an able speech on the position of Nova Scotia on the question of a repeal of the Union, and was just entering the door of his residence when he was shot from behind, the wound causing instant death. An Irish Fenian named James Whelan was afterward tried and executed as the murderer.

McRae, John J., an American politician, born in Wayne county, Mississippi, and died at Balize, Honduras, May 30. He adopted the profession of the law, and afterward served in both branches of the Mississippi Legislature, being twice elected speaker of the Lower House. In 1851, he served for a short time in the United States Senate by appointment to fill a vacancy. Mr. McRae was Governor of Mississippi from 1854 to 1858, and a Representative in Congress from 1858 to 1861. He took part in the civil war, and after the close of the war lived abroad.

Magee, John, a member of Congress from New York, born in that state and died at Watkins, April 5, aged 74 years. He was a Representative in Congress from 1827 to 1831. Mr. Magee was largely interested in railroads and coal mines, and was reputed to be worth $40,000,000.

Mann, Abijah, Jr., a member of Congress from New York from 1833 to 1837, born at Fairfield, Herkimer county, September 24, 1793, and died at Auburn, September 6, aged 75 years. He was a member of the State Legislature from 1827 to 1830, and again in 1838. He began life as a teacher, and was afterward a merchant, postmaster, and Justice of the Peace.

Mann, James, a member of the American Congress, born in Maine and died at New Orleans, August 26, aged 46 years. Mr. Mann began life as a teacher, and resided at Gorham many years. He was at different times a member of both branches of the Maine Legislature. He entered the army as a captain at the outbreak of the civil war, but he was subsequently made a Paymaster, and in 1863 was assigned to duty at New Orleans, where he remained until the close of the war. He was then appointed by President Lincoln, Treasury Agent in connection with the Customs, and subsequently by President Johnson in connection with the Department of Internal Revenue. In 1867, he was actively interested in reorganizing the democratic party of Louisiana, and was in that year elected a Representative in Congress from the Second Louisiana District. It was mainly to his efforts that the proposition to furnish arms to the militia of the South was defeated.

Marocchetti, Charles Baron, a celebrated sculpter, born at Turin, of French parents, in 1805, and died in London, January 1, aged 63 years. He was educated at the lycée Napoléon, and then entered the studio of Bosio. After studying in Italy, he returned to France in 1827, and the same year exhibited "A Young Girl Playing with a Dog." In 1831, he exhibited his "Fallen Angel," and about the same time executed for the Academy of Fine Arts of Turin a statue of Bishop Morsi, and without any reward, an equestrian statue of Emmanuel Philibert. The latter was his greatest work, and was the only thing sent by the artist to the Paris Exhibition of 1855. In 1839, Marocchetti was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. He afterward executed many works, including the bas relief for one of the triumphal arches of Paris, but in 1848, he went to England from political causes, and continued to reside in that country until his death. Among his late works are an equestrian statue of the Queen, executed for the city of Glasgow in 1854; an obelisk in granite to the memory of the soldiers who fell in the Crimea, 1856, and the Mausoleum of the Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Charles I, 1857. M. Marocchetti contributed his share to the national worship of the late Prince Albert, by a portrait bust of his Royal Highness, among the great number of busts executed by him during his residence in England.

Marsh, John, D. D., an American clergyman and temperance advocate, born in Connecticut in 1788, and died in Brooklyn, N. Y., August 4, aged 80 years. He was educated at Yale College, and at 21 commenced the work of the ministry. Dr. Marsh was throughout life an unremitting advocate of temperance, and published many sermons and addresses on the subject, besides a hand-book, entitled "Temperance Recollections." He was also the editor of "The Temperance Journal," while that paper was published.

Mattison, Hiram, D. D., an American clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, born at Oswego, N. Y., in 1814, and died at Jersey City, November 25, aged 54 years. Dr. Mattison was for many years a member of the Black River Conference, and Professor in the Black River Institute. He removed to New York City in 1850, where, on account of some difference of opinion between himself and the brethren of his church, he severed his connection with the Conference, and founded the Trinity M. E. Church in Sixth Avenue, over which he presided for a number of years. He afterward renewed his connection with the Conference, and in 1865 united with the Newark Conference. From 1865 to 1867 he was pastor of the Trinity M. E. Church in Jersey City, but resigned in the latter year to accept the post of Secretary to the American and Foreign Christian Union. Dr. Mattison was a frequent contributor to The National Magazine, a periodical published under the auspices of the Methodist Book Concern, and upon the establishment of the Northern Independent at Auburn, N. Y., he became one of its associate editors. During the last few months of his life he attracted some attention from the stand taken by him in opposition to the Roman Catholic Church, and made himself especially prominent by the part he took in the alleged abduction case of Mary Ann Smith in New Jersey.

Mayne, Sir Richard, K. C. B., for many years one of the Police Commissioners of London, born in Ireland in 1796, and died at London, December 27, aged 72 years. His father was one of the Judges of the Court of King's Bench, Ireland. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and at Trinity College, Cambridge, and took the degree of A. M. in 1821. He was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn, in 1822. In 1829, he was appointed a Commissioner of the London Police, in which position he showed great executive ability, but he recently made himself unpopular by attempting to suppress the Sunday meetings of workmen, an attempt which resulted in the Hyde Park riot. He further showed his eccentricities by a war upon dogs and the trundling of children's hoops in the streets, but in his earlier years he rendered valuable service, for which he was created a C. B. in 1847, and a K. C. B., civil division, in 1851.

Menken, Adah Isaacs, an American actress, born in Chicago, Illinois, about the year 1832, and died in Paris, August 11, aged 36 years. Her maiden name was Adah Isaacs, the name of Menken being that of her first husband, to whom she was espoused before she became an object of public interest. Her marriage with Mr. Menken proved unhappy, and she afterward formed a liaison with John C. Heenan, the pugilist, while in California, which continued after she came to New York, in 1860. She claimed to be married to Heenan, but her charms, so freely exhibited on the stage at this time that to her example the successful origin of the nude drama is attributed, were also used as the means of unnumbered conquests. Heenan subsequently disavowed the marriage. She was introduced to the New York public in 1860, by Mr. James Nixon, proprietor of the circus in Sixteenth street, where she sustained the character of Mazeppa with great success. Her success on the stage has been attributed to her fine figure and easy carriage and a free and debonaire demeanor, that has never been excelled by those who minister to the prurient imagination. But Mrs. Menken must have had some genuine qualities as an artist, at least in the line she had chosen, and she made the character of Mazeppa her own. In 1864, she was engaged to appear by Mr. E. T. Smith, the lessee of the Theatre Royal, Astley's, London, in the only character in which she excelled, and for nearly two seasons she played the part with great acceptability to the public of the English metropolis, if not to the critics. During her second season in London, she appeared in a drama called "The Children of the Sun," written for her by Mr. John Brougham, but was unsuccessful. She continued to reside in Europe, and shortly before her death was playing in Paris to crowded houses. During her residence in New York she married Mr. R. H. Newell, better known as "Orpheus C. Kerr," but the relation proved unhappy, and in less than a year it was dissolved. While abroad, her name was associated in unenviable notoriety with those of Alexander Dumas, père, the novelist, and Swinburne the poet, among others. Rumor credited the young English poet with being engaged in editing a volume of verse from her pen about the time of her death, which has subsequently appeared, dedicated, by permission, to Charles Dickens.

Michael III., Prince of Servia, born September 4, 1838, and assassinated at Belgrade, June 10. Michael Obrenovitch was the younger son of Prince Milosh Obrenovitch. He was educated together with his elder brother Milan, under the care of a Russian professor named Zoritch, and subsequently of a young Greek of Trieste. After the abdication of his father, consequent upon the revolution, and the death of his elder brother, which occurred three months after his being proclaimed Prince, Michael returned from the exile which he had shared with his father, and on July 8, 1839, he was proclaimed prince upon the terms of the proclamation of 1838. He proceeded to Constantinople, where the title and decoration of Muchir was conferred upon him by the Sultan in January, 1840. The first years of the Prince's rule were rendered unhappy by constant difficulties with Turkey, and in 1842, intrigue and faction so far succeeded that the National Assembly proclaimed the right to rule to be forfeited by the Obrenovitch family, and conferred the dignity upon Alexander Karageorgevitch. The prince spent the next few years in traveling in Europe, but upon the death of his father, in 1860, (restored to power in 1858), he again became the hereditary ruler of Servia, and in 1867, succeeded in compelling Turkey to withdraw the garrisons of the five fortresses in the possession of that government. He was assassinated by three men who suddenly fired upon him while walking through one of the public parks of Belgrade, the charge being made that the assassins were instigated to the deed by the Prince Karageorgevitch.

Miller, James F., a commodore in the U. S. Navy, born in New Hampshire and died at Charlestown, Massachusetts, July 11, aged 65 years. He entered the naval service from Massachusetts in 1826, and after passing through the various grades of rank, was promoted to be commodore in 1866.

Milman, Henry Hart, D. D., an English author and divine, Dean of St. Paul's, born in London, Feb. 10, 1791, and died Sept. 25, aged 77 years. He was educated at Eton and Brazen Nose College, Oxford. He was author of a play entitled "Fazio," which was first produced at Covent Garden, and is occasionally acted even now. In 1818, he published a heroic poem in 12 books, entitled "Samor," and this was followed by the "Fall of Jerusalem," "Anne Boleyn," "The Martyr of Antioch," &c. Dr. Milman is best known by his prose works, of which his "History of the Jews" is perhaps the most important. This work was published in 1835, and was followed by a "History of Christianity," in 1840, and a "History of Latin Christianity," in 1855. He also wrote a "Life of Keats," edited an illustrated edition of Horace with a life of the poet, and furnished "Notes and Illustrations" to Gibbon's great work. He contributed numerous articles to the Quarterly Review, and in 1827, published "Sermons at the Bampton Lecture." He took orders in 1817, and was appointed vicar of St. Mary's, Reading. In 1821, he was elected Professor of Poetry in the University of Oxford; was afterward made rector of St. Margaret's, Westminster, and in 1849 was appointed Dean of St. Paul's.

Mitchell, S. Augustus, an eminent American Geographer and author of a popular series of Text Books on that subject, known by his name, died December 20, in Philadelphia, where he had resided for more than half a century.

Monagas, Gen. Jose Tadeo, Provisional President of Venezuela, born about 1786, and died early in November, aged 82 years. Monagas was one of the few remaining contemporaries of Bolivar the liberator of Spanish America. On the outbreak of the revolution in South America, he entered the ranks, fought bravely, and won great distinction. When order was restored in Venezuela and Gen. Paez elected the first President of the Republic, Monagas endeavored to get up an insurrection to overturn the Government, but the attempt failed. Vargas succeeded Paez, when Monagas again raised the standard of revolt, but Paez took the field against him, and this attempt also failed. By the aid of Paez, who by this means hoped to give peace to Venezuela, Monagas at last obtained the goal of his ambition by being elected President; but after exercising his functions for two years, he overturned the government, proclaimed himself dictator, and drove Paez from the country. He ruled as dictator eleven years, but was finally overthrown by a revolution in 1859, and compelled to retire to private life. During the recent revolution in Venezuela, although then more than eighty years of age, he took the field against President Falcon, and having vanquished him, caused himself to be proclaimed Provisional President of the Republic. But for his death he would probably have been again elected President of Venezuela.

Mongkout, Chao Pha, King of Siam, born about the year 1805, and died October 1, aged 63 years. He succeeded his father, Phen Din Klang, in 1825, by right of being the eldest son of the queen. He was, however, set aside by his elder brothers, and then became a Buddhist monk, devoting much of his time to the study of science and language. He was a member of the Asiatic Society of Great Britain, and spoke English with much fluency. In April, 1851, upon the death of his brother Chao, he ascended the throne, and discarding the monastic dress he assumed all the insignia of royalty, taking the title of Prabat Somdet Pra Paramenthon Maha Mongkout. Among the first acts of his reign he established a royal printing press, and granted freedom of worship. In 1855, he concluded a treaty of commerce with Great Britain, and the next year with France and the United States. He paid great attention to the development of the internal resources of his Kingdom, and caused many roads, canals and other improvements to be constructed in various parts of Siam.

Morehead, Charles S., ex-Governor of Kentucky, born in Nelson county in that state, in 1802, and died in Washington county, Mississippi, December 23, aged 66 years. He adopted the profession of the law. In 1828 and 1829 he was a member of the State Legislature, and again from 1838 to 1842, and in 1844 and 1853. He was three times speaker. He was appointed Attorney General of the state in 1832, and held the office five years. He was a Representative in Congress from 1847 to 1851. In 1855, he was elected Governor of Kentucky, and was a member of the Peace Congress of 1861. After the breaking out of the civil war, he was for a long time confined in Fort Lafayette. His last days were spent on the plantation in Mississippi, where he died.

Muzaffar-ed-din, Emir of Bokhara, died in the prime of life, sometime in July or August. He was the son of Nasrullah Khan, who put to death the British subjects Conolly and Stoddart during the troubles in Afghanistan; but the late Khan was distinguished for an extreme softness of character, love of justice and genuine piety. In consequence he was sometimes involved in religious wars with the unbelievers; but he seemed to have been inspired by a love of conquest rather than zeal against simple unbelief. In a war with the Khan of Khokand he was highly successful, but his struggles against the overwhelming power of Russia brought him to the brink of destruction. After the capture of Samarcand, a short time before his death, he was completely in the power of his victorious enemy. Forsaken by his subjects, by whom he was once adored, and abandoned by his relatives who intrigued against him, he did not live to see the capture of his capital or to accept the terms dictated by Russia. His death changed the hostile attitude of the Russians toward the Khanates into a friendly one, and seems to confirm the Imperial power in Central Asia.

Narvaez, Don Ramon Maria, Duke of Valencia, a Spanish General and statesman, born at Loga in Andalusia, August 4, 1800, and died at Madrid April 23, aged 68 years. He took part at a very early age in the war against the Emperor Napoleon I., and rose rapidly in the army. In 1835 he fought so zealously against the Carlists on the breaking out of the insurrection in the Basque provinces, that he was appointed Brigadier, and gained great reputation by his pursuit of Gomez, the Carlist general in 1836. Soon after the close of the war in 1840, he quarreled with Espartero, and in 1841 joined in the attempt to overthrow that minister by an insurrection. Failing in this, he was obliged to seek refuge in Paris, but the expulsion of Espartero in 1843, was owing in a great measure to Narvaez, who was rewarded for his part in the movement with the title of Duke of Valencia. Espartero was opposed by the party of the queen-mother, Christina, who was then in retirement in France, and on her return to Spain in 1845, Narvaez became her prime adviser and kept down the Liberals until his ministry was overthrown in 1846. In May 1847, he was sent as Ambassador to Paris, where he engaged in the plots against the Queen formed by her mother, but in October of that year he was chosen President of the Council and head of the Ministry, and retained the position, with the exception of a short interval, until 1861. He was then sent as Ambassador to Vienna, but in 1856 he was again called to the head of the Ministry. As he had before weakened his authority by ceaseless quarrels with Queen Isabella, he now impaired his popularity by strengthening the influence of the crown in the Senate, admitting to it the dignitaries of church and state, and making the dignity of Senator hereditary, so that it became necessary that he should tender his resignation November 1, 1857. Narvaez again became President of the Council and head of the new ministry in September 1864, and signalized his return to power by preventing the invasion of St. Domingo in January 1865, but in June of the same year he made way for the government of Marshall O'Donnell. In 1866 he returned to power for the fourth time, and remained at the head of the ministry until his death.

Nicolson, Samuel, inventor of the "Nicolson pavement," born at Plymouth, Mass., and died at Boston, January 6, aged 76 years. He was also inventor of an improved apparatus for steering vessels.

Noyes, Joseph C., a member of Congress from Maine from 1837 to 1839, born at Portland in 1798, and died at that place July 28, aged 70 years. He was a merchant by occupation, a member of the State Legislature in 1833, and Collector of the Passamaquoddy District from 1841 to 1843.

Pendleton, John S., a member of Congress from Virginia, born in Virginia, and died at Culpeper Court House in that State, November 19, aged 63 years. He was appointed Charge d'Affaires to the Republic of Chili in 1841, served as a Representative in Congress from 1845 to 1849, and became Minister Resident to the Argentine Confederation in 1851.

Pickering, Octavius, an eminent American law reporter, born at Wyoming, Penn., September 2, 1791, and died at Boston, October 29, aged 78 years. Mr. Pickering graduated at Harvard College in 1810, and studied law at Boston, being admitted to the Suffolk County Bar in 1816. He assisted in reporting the proceedings of the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention of 1820, and in 1822 became State Reporter. His reports of the decisions of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts run through a period of 18 years, and fill 24 volumes. In 1842 he gave up the office of reporter, and lived abroad in England and on the Continent until 1849. Mr. Pickering was interested in science and natural history, and was an active member of the Boston Society of Natural History, and other associations.

Poe, Adam, D. D., an American clergyman, born in Columbiana county, Ohio, July 21, 1804, and died June 26, aged 64 years. He received only a limited education, his youth being spent at work upon his father's farm. Having attached himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church, he entered the itinerancy in 1826, and in 1827 was admitted into the Ohio Annual Conference. During the ensuing seven years he was a "circuit preacher" in various parts of the State. In 1835 he became Presiding Elder of the Wooster District, and continued on that and the Tiffin Districts for five years. From 1839 to 1852 he was stationed at Mansfield and Delaware for a number of years, and was Presiding Elder of different districts; but in the latter year he was elected assistant agent of the Western Book Concern, and re-elected in 1856, and in 1860 he was made principal agent and re-elected to this office in 1864. Dr. Poe was one of the best known clergymen in the denomination to which he belonged, and throughout the many years of his ministry was a sincere and arduous worker in the work he had chosen. He took a deep interest in education, and may almost be said to have been the founder of the Ohio Wesleyan Conference.

Raphall, Rev. Morris Jacob, a Jewish Rabbi, born in Stockholm in 1798, and died in New York June 23, aged 70 years. He was educated at the Jewish College at Copenhagen, where he became entitled to the designation of Rabbi. He acquired the English language in England in 1812. From 1821 to 1824, he was at the University of Giessen, and took up his residence in England in 1825. In 1834 he commenced The Hebrew Review, the first Jewish periodical ever published in England. He translated the works of Maimonides, the "Book of Principles," and in conjunction with the Rev. Dr. Sola, eighteen treatises of the "Mishna." He afterward published a number of treatises in defence of Judaism. In 1841 Dr. Raphall was appointed Rabbi of the Birmingham Synagogue, and the year before he had been secretary to the chief Rabbi in England during the persecution of the Jews in Syria. He was always active in advancing the interests of his people, and among other things was prominent in promoting the Hebrew National School at Birmingham. In 1847 he wrote an address to the electors of London, which had great influence in securing the election of Baron de Rothschild to Parliament. He emigrated to this country in 1849, and was at first Rabbi preacher to the congregation of the Greene street Synagogue in New York, and afterward of the congregation "Bnai Jeshurun," in Thirty-fourth street. He published in this country "Devotional Exercises for the Daughters of Israel," and portions of his Biblical translations. Dr. Raphall was held in high repute for his learning, and was much respected both by his own people and the Christian public.

Rives, William C., an American statesman, born in Nelson county, Va., May 4, 1793, and died at Charlottesville, April 26, aged 75 years. He was educated at Hampden Sidney and William and Mary's College, and then studied law with Thomas Jefferson. He was first elected to the Virginia Legislature in 1817 and a Representative in Congress in 1823. He served in Congress three successive terms, and was then appointed Minister to France by President Jackson. On his return to this country in 1832 he was elected to the United States Senate, but resigned in 1834 and was reelected in 1835, and he was again elected to the Senate in 1840. In 1849 he was appointed Minister to France the second time, and retired from political life upon his return in 1853. He was a delegate to the "Peace Congress" of 1861, and he was afterward a member of the Confederate Congress. Mr. Rives enhanced his reputation by publishing a "History of the Life and Times of James Madison."

Robertson, Anthony L., an American Jurist, born in New York city in June 1808, and died December 18, aged 60 years. He graduated at Columbia College in 1825, and after several years study, entered upon the practice of the law. In 1846 he became assistant Vice Chancellor of the Fifth Judicial District, and he was afterward Surrogate of the County of New York by appointment to fill a vacancy. In 1859 he was elected to the Bench of the Superior Court, and was Chief Justice of that court from 1865 until his death.

Rossini, Gioacchino, a musical composer of great eminence, born in Tesaro, near Bologna, February 29, 1792, and died in Paris November 13, aged 76 years. His musical talent was developed at a very early age, and while he was still a boy he was taught singing by a Bolognese master. He developed a remarkably fine soprano voice, but this failed him at the age of 16 and he was compelled to abandon his occupation as a chorister in the Bologna churches. After this he was admitted to the Lyceum at Bologna and studied counterpoint under Mattei, but he had made little progress in his art when he undertook to educate himself. He studied intently the best models, Italian and German, and produced some light operatic pieces of which the only one that has lived is the "L'ingauno Felice," brought out in 1812. "Tancredi" was produced at Venice in 1813. Rossini had acquired some reputation by his previous works, but this one all at once made him famous. Encouraged by its success he produced other operas in quick succession, but none of them equalled his first chef-d'œuvre in the enthusiasm it created, and all of them, including "Tancredi," have been eclipsed by his later works. From 1814 to 1822 he was musical director of the San Carlos theater at Naples, and during this period composed some of his most successful operas. In 1816 his "Il Barbiere di Seviglia" was produced at Rome during the Carnival, and the greater part of it, it is said, was written within eight days. About the same time he produced his "Otello," which is still popular, and in 1817 "Cindarella" (Cenerentola), was brought out, followed by the oratorio of "Moses in Egypt," in 1818. The last of these is sometimes admirably represented in New York and Boston in its original form, but it has undergone two transformations to fit it for a too fastidious English audience, one of these having the fantastic title of "Peter the Hermit" (Pietro l'Eremita). La Cenerentola is well remembered in this country on account of the triumphs of Alboni in New York in 1855. After producing these and a number of other operas, Rossini took leave of the Italian stage in 1823 by the production of his greatest work, the magnificent Semiramide. The most brilliant opera evening in America was in the representation of this piece at the opening of the Academy of Music in New York, when Grisi sung and acted with more than the oriental splendor of the Assyrian Queen. The "Semiramide" was first produced in Venice, when lyric representations in the days before the Austrian conquest were the serious business of life with the Venetians, and was the magnificent peace offering which Rossini made them for previous grounds of complaint they had against him. In the same year that witnessed the production of "Semiramide," Rossini married Signora Colbran, a well-known prima-donna, but then past her charms, and in 1824 they went to London under an engagement, he to compose an opera and she to sing. The opera was not written and the prima-donna failed to please, but Rossini was everywhere feted, and realized $50,000 in a short time from concerts projected for him by the leaders of fashion in the metropolis. Proceeding to Paris he became director of the Italian opera there, in which position he remained until 1830, producing among other operas "Guillaume Tell," one of his greatest and most original works. He then withdrew from all professional exertion and retired to Passy, the only important work which he afterward produced being his well known "Stabat Mater." A posthumous opera is to be produced in Paris with Alboni in the cast. The list of Rossini's works is very large, comprising thirty-eight operas, two or three masses, nine cantatas and much miscellaneous music. Having separated from his first wife, who died in 1845, he married Madame Olympe Pélissier in that year, and afterward resided chiefly in Paris, his house being the center of social, literary and artistic circles. He was promoted a Grand officer of the Legion of Honor and decorated with other distinctions, and a statue was raised to him at Pesaro, in August 1864, with great ceremony.

Rothschild, James, Baron, the fifth and last surviving son of Meyer Anselm Rothschild, the founder of the great banking house of the Rothschilds, died in Paris, November 16, aged 76 years. He was born at Frankfort, May 15, 1792, and established himself in Paris in 1812, where he was the head of the French branch of the firm. Soon after his establishment in Paris he received the title of Consul-General of the Austrian Empire in France, for eminent services rendered to Austria, and in many other ways he contributed to the reputation of the house of which he was a member. Upon the restoration of the Bourbons many of the ancient nobility had recourse to him for financial relief. He mainly contributed to the construction of the St. Germain and Northern railroads, and many public works owe their erection to his munificence, especially synagogues and Hebrew establishments, such as the hospital of the Rue Picpus. He contributed 12,000 francs to the relief of the wounded in the Revolution of July 1830, and his influence under the reign of King Louis Phillipe was very great. But in the course of a few years the authority of his name visibly declined, and in 1847 when provisions were scarce the popular feeling against him became very bitter in consequence of the shafts hurled at him by numerous pamphleteers. The next year one of the first acts of revolutionary violence which led to the establishment of the Republic, was the pillage of his country seat at Sarennes. He was compelled to suspend his business but remained in Paris under the protection of M. Causidière, and it was not until after the popular feeling against him had been appeased by a contribution of 50,000 francs to the relief of the wounded, that he could again engage in banking affairs. Under the Republic and the Second Empire the part taken by Baron Rothschild in the great affairs of state was not so important as in the preceding reigns, and he never regained the influence he had lost.

Salisbury, James Brownlow William Gascoyne-Cecil, Marquis of, only son of the first Marquis, born April 17, 1791, and died at his seat in Hertfordshire, April 12, aged 77 years. He represented Weymouth in Parliament in the conservative interest from 1814 until he succeeded his father as second Marquis, June 23, 1823. He was a member of Lord Derby's first two administrations, being Lord Privy Seal from February to December, 1852, and President of the Council from 1858 to 1859. The Marquis of Salisbury was, at his death, Lord Lieutenant of Middlesex, High Steward of Hertford, Colonel of the Herts militia, and patron of eight livings.

Seymour, Thomas H., ex-Governor of Connecticut, born at Hartford, Conn., in 1808, where he died, September 3, aged 60 years. He was educated at the Middletown Military Institute, studied law and then pursued the practice of his profession. Mr. Seymour was a Representative in Congress from Connecticut from 1843 to 1845. In the Mexican war he served as Major of a New England regiment, and after the battle of Chapultepec he was promoted to be Colonel. In 1850, he was elected Governor of Connecticut, and he was reelected three times in succession. He was appointed by President Pierce minister to Russia, and served in that capacity, besides holding offices of honor and trust. In 1863, he was again the democratic candidate for Governor of Connecticut, but he was defeated by a considerable majority.

Slemmer, Adam J., an American general, born in Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, and died at Fort Laramie, of which he was commander, October 7. He graduated at West Point in 1850, and then served against the Seminole Indians in Florida, and afterward in California and at Fort Moultrie in Charleston harbor. Lieut. Slemmer was afterward transferred to West Point, and served as a teacher in that institution for four years. At the outbreak of the Rebellion, he was in command of a small garrison at Fort McRae, near Mobile, and distinguished himself by throwing his small force of 80 men, some of them marines from the steamer Wyandotte then in Pensacola bay, into Fort Pickens on the opposite shore and about a mile distant from Fort McRae. He secured himself against attack from the latter place by spiking the guns and ramming the tompons so firmly into the muzzles that they had to be bored out. Lieut. Slemmer held Fort Pickens without reinforcements while all the other military works of the United States were being seized and garrisoned by hostile forces in the last days of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and it was not until the 20th of April that he yielded precedence to Col. Brown, who had been sent to occupy the Fort with an ample garrison. Lieut. Slemmer was promoted to be Brigadier General of Volunteers in reward for his services, and continued to serve with ability and zeal until his death.

Smith, Benjamin Franklin, Brevet Brigadier General U. S. A., born at Trenton, N. J. in 1831, and died at Fort Reno, Wyoming territory, in August, aged 37 years. Gen. Smith was graduated from the Military Academy at West Point, and served through the civil war with credit.

Smith, Seba, an American journalist and author of "Major Jack Downing's Letters," was born in Buckfield, Maine, September 14, 1792, and died at Patchogue, L. I., July 29, aged 76 years. He was educated at Brunswick College, where he graduated in 1818, afterward adopting the profession of journalist. He first formed a connection with the press in Portland, where he remained until his removal to New York, in 1842. During the political excitement of the time, when Gen. Jackson was the leading spirit in national affairs, he wrote a series of letters to a Portland newspaper over the signature of "Major Jack Downing," which attracted great attention and attained a wide celebrity. These letters were collected in a volume in 1833, and afterward were often reprinted, though they have long lost the place they once held in the public mind. In 1841, he published a metrical romance entitled "Powhatan," and a collection of his tales and essays was published in 1855. A work entitled "New Elements of Geometry," which he published in 1850, is generally considered his most remarkable production. This work contained a somewhat vehement assault on the common definitions of geometry, maintaining the ingenious paradox that the three dimensions of space—length, breadth and thickness—were predicated upon lines, surfaces and solids. It made but little impression upon the scientific world, though it secured him the friendship of the French philosopher, August Comte. Mr. Smith was the husband of Elizabeth Oakes Smith, well known from her numerous poems, novels and tales.

Sommers, Charles G., D. D., died in New York City, December 19, at the age of 76. Dr. Sommers was born in London in 1791, and emigrated to America early in the present century. In 1811, he was employed as confidential clerk by John Jacob Astor, but soon afterward turned his attention to the ministry. His ministerial labors extended over nearly a half-century, the greater part of which time he was actively engaged in mission and reformatory work under the auspices of the American Tract Society, which he served without compensation for 23 years, the Bible Society, and the American and Foreign Bible Society. He also founded the American Baptist Home Mission Society, and, in connection with the Rev. Mr. Griffiths, established the first Sunday school in America upon the plan of Robert Raikes, in Division street.

Steele, Frederic, an American general, born in Delhi, Delaware county, N. Y., and died at San Mateo, January 20, of apoplexy. He was graduated at West Point in 1843, and appointed brevet 2d Lieutenant in the 2d Infantry. He served throughout the Mexican war, and was promoted to be first lieutenant and captain for gallantry at the battles of Contreras and Chapultepec. After the close of the Mexican war he was ordered to California, where he became Adjutant General to Gen. Riley. He afterward served on the western frontier, and at the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, was appointed Major in the 11th Infantry, serving in Missouri. For meritorious conduct at the battle of Wilson's Creek, August 10, 1861, he was made Brigadier General of volunteers, January 29, 1862. Gen. Steele was for a long time in command at Helena, Arkansas, and captured Little Rock, the capital of the state, September 10, 1863. In 1864, he cooperated with the Red River expedition of Gen. Banks, but the check received by Banks necessitated the return of Gen. Steele's army to Little Rock. After the war he was in command of the Department of Oregon.

Stevens, Edwin A., well known during the war as the owner and originator of what was called the Stevens' Battery, at New York, died at Paris, August 7, aged 72 years. His father, John Stevens, was a cotemporary of Robert Fulton, and like him a pioneer in steamboat navigation. At the death of the elder Stevens, in 1838, he left to his son Edwin the tract of land on which the city of Hoboken, one of the most important of the suburbs of New York, now stands. In the development and improvement of this property Mr. Stevens amassed a colossal fortune, which, at his death, was said to amount to $18,000,000. He was one of the projectors of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, and was always intimately connected with its management. At the outbreak of the Rebellion, he had nearly completed a floating battery, and applied to Congress for assistance, which was granted, but not in sufficient amount to finish the work, and a subsequent proposition which he made to complete it was rejected by the Secretary of the Navy. Afterward, Mr. Stevens built and fitted out the Naugatuck, a one gun monitor, but his pet project was never tried or completed. His remains were brought from Paris to Hoboken for interment.

Stevens, Thaddeus, an American statesman, born at Peacham, Caledonia county, Vermont, April 4, 1792, and died at Washington, D. C., at midnight, August 12, aged 75 years. He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1814, and the same year removed to Pennsylvania, where he became a teacher in an academy. He was admitted to the Gettysburg bar in 1816. He continued to reside at Gettysburg until 1842, when he removed to Lancaster. In 1833, he was elected to the Pennsylvania Assembly, and he was re-elected the two following years. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1837, and he was again elected to the Legislature the same year, and the last time in 1841. He was appointed a Canal Commissioner in 1838, but held the office for only a short time. In the Legislature, he was most distinguished for the part he took in promoting the educational interests of the people. Previous to 1834, Pennsylvania had no common school system, but in that year the present system was established under the leadership of Mr. Stevens in the Legislature. He afterwards opposed the attempts to abolish it with the same earnestness that characterized his exertions for its establishment, and succeeded in defeating in the House a bill for the repeal of the law which had been passed by the Senate. At this time, the anti-masonic movement had just begun. Among those who were most hostile to secret societies was Mr. Stevens, and he pursued his hostility so far as to have many prominent persons, among them the late Vice President Dallas, examined before a committee of the Legislature touching the secrets of the order. In 1835, Joseph Ritner, the anti-masonic candidate, was elected Governor of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Stevens became the principal adviser of the Executive. Near the close of Ritner's administration occurred the noted "Buckshot War," in which Mr. Stevens bore a prominent part. This trouble originated in alleged election frauds in Philadelphia county and other places, in the general election of 1838, and resulted in the Senate Chamber at Harrisburg being taken possession of by a mob while the Senate was in session, and the organization of two rival bodies, each styling itself the House of Representatives. Owing to the confidential relations of Mr. Stevens toward Gov. Ritner's administration, and the part he took as a member of the Assembly, much of the obloquy that resulted was poured upon his head. He was expelled, however, but sent back to his constituents, he published an address to the people of Adams county and was re-elected. From 1842, when he removed to Lancaster, to 1848, when he was first elected to Congress, and during the ten years intervening the first and second periods of his successive service, Mr. Stevens practiced his profession with great success, not only in Lancaster but the neighboring counties, and never entirely abandoned it, even amid the important duties of his active career in the House. In Congress, he wrought out for himself a lasting reputation. Neither the Thirty-first nor the Thirty-second Congress was concerned with measures to give a new member of the House particular prominence before the country; but in the interval that elapsed between the Thirty-second and the Thirty-sixth, grave issues had been sprung upon the people, and on his return to Congress in 1859, Mr. Stevens at once took a prominent position. He was chairman of the important Committee of Ways and Means during three terms, and was chairman of the Committee on Reconstruction of the Thirty-ninth and Fortieth Congress. He also served on other committees, his last important position being chairman of the Board of Managers on the part of the House in the impeachment of President Johnson before the Senate. He framed the eleventh article of impeachment, and prepared an argument in favor of Mr. Johnson's conviction, based upon it. His health had long been seriously impaired so that it was often necessary to assist him from his carriage to his seat in the House, but he still kept about his active duties, both in and out of Congress, and his last public act of any significance was an attempt to read his impeachment argument before the Senate. He, however, proved too weak for the task. He originated some of the most important measures which have engaged the attention of Congress during the last few years. On the 8th of December, 1862, he introduced into the House a bill to indemnify the President and other persons for suspending the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, which was passed. Mr. Stevens was always a decided opponent of slavery. To secure the perpetuity of the Proclamation of Emancipation, he offered in the House, on the 28th of March, 1864, a joint resolution abolishing slavery, but it was laid aside in favor of a resolution of similar import previously offered in the Senate by Mr. Trumbull. On the 27th of January, 1863, and a year before the adoption of a similar measure, Mr. Stevens offered a bill for the enlistment of negroes as soldiers, and he was always earnestly in favor of universal suffrage. As early as 1838, he refused to append his name to the present constitution of Pennsylvania, framed by a convention of which he was a member, because it contained the word white as applied to citizens. In nearly every measure of public importance, as confiscation, taxation, and the national finances, Mr. Stevens held what are generally considered extreme views. He was opposed to showing leniency toward the men who were engaged in rebellion against their government, but proposed holding their states in the condition of territories, and confiscating their lands to provide for the loyal population and assist in paying the national debt. He would have taxed government bonds, and desired their payment in "greenbacks" instead of gold. The Reconstruction policy of Congress was mostly his work, but the various measures for the restoration of the Southern states were tempered to meet the views of men of more conservative tendencies.

Stockton, Thomas Hewlings, an American clergyman of the Methodist Protestant Church, born in 1808, and died at Philadelphia, October 9, aged 60 years. Dr. Stockton was in the ministry of his church for nearly forty years, and was for several terms chaplain of the House of Representatives. He enjoyed the reputation of being a speaker of great power and eloquence, and was also well known as a writer. For a number of years he was editor of The Christian World and The Bible Times, papers of his denomination, but resigned their charge because he was not permitted to use these journals to combat slavery. He published several volumes of sermons and poems, compiled the Methodist Protestant Hymn-book, and prepared a new edition of the New Testament. He manifested a deep interest in all the social and religious questions of the time, and contributed to whatever he believed to be genuine progress, both by his power as a writer, and his eloquence as a preacher. During the latter years of his life he had charge of the Church of the New Testament, in Philadelphia, but his failing health often prevented him from officiating in his pulpit.

Stohlmann, Charles F. E., D. D., an American clergyman of the Lutheran Church, born about 1810, and died in New York City, May 3, aged 58 years. Dr. Stohlmann became pastor of St. Mathew's German Lutheran Church in New York, in 1838, and continued in that relation until his death. He was eminent as a preacher, and very successful in building up his denomination in New York.

Stoughton, Edward H., an American general, died in Boston, December 25. He was graduated at West Point, in 1859, and served in New Mexico for two years, but resigned in 1861. In the summer of that year he was commissioned Colonel of the 4th Vermont Volunteers, with which he joined the Army of the Potomac. He was afterward made a Brigadier-General of Volunteers, and while in command of the 2d Vermont Brigade, he was captured by Mosby, the guerrilla, in a night raid upon his camp. He was confined for some time in Libby Prison, but resigned from the army immediately upon his release. He then began the practice of the law in New York City, but impaired health compelled him to relinquish the profession, and he retired to Boston.

Theodorus, King of Abyssinia, killed in battle with the British troops under Gen. Napier, before Magdala, April 13, was born of humble parentage, in Quard, on the borders of Western Amhara, about 1821, and was educated in a convent, where he had been placed under restraint by his mother. His original name was Dejamatch Kasai. Escaping from the convent to his uncle, Dejatch Comfu, a noted rebel, he imbibed a taste for manly sports and military pursuits. Naturally ambitious and politic, he obtained authority among the chiefs of Abyssinia, and his power continued to increase at the expense of the other "Ras" or chiefs, until he felt himself strong enough to claim the throne. In 1853, he defeated his father-in-law, Ras Ali, in battle, and took him prisoner, and in 1855, was crowned as King of Abyssinia, by Abuna Salama, the head of the Church. His reign soon proved the most effective Abyssinia had ever had. When he first came into power he felt the necessity of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, on account of the Indian possessions of the English, and their foothold in Aden. A treaty had been made between Great Britain and Abyssinia, in 1849, and ratified in 1852, by which it was agreed that each country should be represented at the court of the other by an ambassador. In 1863, Theodorus wrote an autograph letter to Queen Victoria, asking permission to send an embassy to London, but the letter remained unanswered, and the embassy was not sent. Neither did the English have a regularly accredited agent in Abyssinia, but Mr. Plowden, who had long been consul at Massawah, went to that country about the time of Theodore's accession with presents to the persons in authority, and succeeded in gaining the favor of the king. Mr. Plowden, unfortunately, was killed, and his successor, Mr. Cameron, reached Abyssinia in 1862. About this time, Mr. Stern, an English missionary, wrote a book, in which he reflected upon the character of the king, and accused him of great cruelty, in flogging two interpreters to death. Enraged at these animadversions, and perhaps piqued at the neglect betrayed by the unanswered letter, King Theodore, about the beginning of 1864, sent a force to the missionary station, seized the missionaries, and put them in chains. He also seized Mr. Cameron, and kept him constantly chained to an Abyssinian soldier. These outrages produced great excitement in England. The British Government at first tried to effect the release of the prisoners by diplomacy, and Mr. Rassam, an Asiatic, was sent to the King early in 1866, for that purpose. Theodorus agreed to the release of his captives; but when Mr. Rassam sought to depart, he was also detained. The King then wrote another letter to the Queen, in which he attributed Mr. Rassam's detention to a desire to consult with him on the relations of the two countries, and the bearer of this letter carried one from Mr. Rassam also, requesting that some English artisans should be sent to Abyssinia. The English Government engaged these, and having sent them to the coast of Abyssinia, notified the King that they would enter his service if the captives were released. This not being done, the artizans returned to England. After exhausting all diplomatic resources, the English Government, in 1867, declared war against Theodore. The first troops made their appearance in the country in October, 1867, but it was not until the beginning of the next year that the whole army arrived. The troops were under the command of Sir Robert, now Lord Napier, then commanding at Bombay, and were either natives of India, or English soldiers long accustomed to the climate of the East. The distance from the landing place to Magdala, the capital of Theodore, is about 300 miles. The English had to overcome great difficulties upon the march, and were continually watched and harrassed by the forces of the King; but it was not until they had reached Magdala, that Theodore risked a battle. Here he made a stand, however, and fought bravely for his crown, but he was defeated and slain, and his capital captured by the English.

Thompson, Waddy, a member of Congress from South Carolina, born in Pickensville, in that State, September 8, 1798, and died at Tallahassee, Florida, November 23, aged 70 years. He graduated at the South Carolina College, in 1814, and was admitted to the bar in 1819. Mr. Thompson served in the South Carolina Legislature, and was at one time Solicitor for the Western Circuit of that State. He was a Representative in Congress from 1835 to 1841, and in 1842, was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to Mexico. He also served as a Presidential elector, and attained to the rank of Brigadier-General of the South Carolina militia.

Tod, David, ex-Governor of Ohio, born at Youngstown, Mahoning County, February 21, 1805, and died November 13, aged 64 years. Mr. Tod studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1827. In 1844, he was the democratic candidate for Governor, but was beaten by a small majority. He was appointed Minister to Brazil, by President Polk, in 1847, and represented the United States at that court until 1852. He continued to act with the Democratic party until 1860, when he was a member of the Charleston Convention, and one of the strongest supporters of Mr. Douglas. After the withdrawal of the Southern wing of the party at Baltimore, headed by the President of the Convention, Caleb Cushing of Massachusetts, Mr. Tod became presiding officer by virtue of being the First Vice President of that body. He was a strong advocate of "Peace measures," both before and after the "Peace Congress" held at Washington previous to the civil war, but after the beginning of hostilities was an active war man. In 1861, he was the candidate of the Republicans and war Democrats for Governor of Ohio, and was elected by over 55,000 majority.

Tracy, Andrew, a member of Congress from Vermont, died at Woodstock, October 28, aged 70 years. He was educated for the law, and became eminent in his profession. Mr. Tracy was a Representative in Congress from 1853 to 1855, and he was for ten years a member of both branches of the Vermont Legislature. He was Speaker of the Assembly from 1842 to 1845.

Vassar, Matthew, founder of Vassar college, born in Norfolk, England, in 1792, and died at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23, aged 76 years. His father emigrated to the United States in 1796 and settled near Poughkeepsie, where he engaged in the occupation of a brewer, which was also the business of the son. By steady industry, Mr. Vassar acquired a large fortune. In 1861, he gave $408,000 for founding the Vassar Female college, accompanying the gift with a statement of his wishes. It was his purpose to offer young women the highest educational facilities at a moderate charge, but to admit as beneficiaries those who could not defray the expense. The college has been in successful operation for a number of years. It was Mr. Vassar's custom to read an address to the Trustees of the College at their annual meeting, and while engaged in this duty, he sunk back in his chair and suddenly expired.

Vaughan, Robert, D.D., an English dissenting minister, born in 1795, and died in London, June 20, aged 73 years. Dr. Vaughan was self-educated, and entered the Congregational ministry early in life. His first pastorate was at Worcester, where he labored for six years, and then became minister of the chapel at Kensington, and Professor of History in the University of London. He published his "Life of Wickliffe" in 1828, and "Memorials of the Stuart Dynasty" in 1834, and in the next few years he produced a number of other volumes, mostly of a religious character, which recommended him to the committee of the Lancashire Independent college at Manchester, seeking a president for that institution. He was chosen to the position in 1843, and filled it for fourteen years, when he retired to devote himself more exclusively to literary pursuits. He also held a pastorate at Uxbridge for a short time. Dr. Vaughan was the founder and editor of the British Quarterly Review. Among the books of his later years were his "Memorial of English Non-conformity," and "Revolutions in English History," a treatise on Ritualism, a volume of Family Prayers, and other works. At the time of his death, Dr. Vaughan held a pastorate at Torquay, where he had removed in the autumn of 1867. He had the reputation of being a man of great learning, and his sermons, won him the respect of circles where Congregationalism had been unknown or despised.

Walewski, (Comte de), Florian Alexander Joseph Colona, a French statesman, born May 4, 1810, and died September 27, aged 58 years. He was reputed the natural son of the Emperor Napoleon I. by a noble Polish lady of great beauty. Count Walewski was educated at Geneva, and in early life devoted his exertions to the cause of Poland, but afterward escaped to France against the consent of the Grand Duke Constantine. After the revolution of July, 1830, he entered the French army and rose to a captaincy. He was one of the founders and editors of the Messenger newspaper, wrote a number of political pamphlets, and produced several plays, but without much success. In 1840, he was sent on a mission to Egypt by M. Thiers, and was Minister to Buenos Ayres under the ministry of M. Guizot. He was in the latter country at the breaking out of the Revolution of 1848, and on his return to Paris was sent by President Louis Napoleon as Minister Plenipotentiary to Florence and afterward to Naples, and in 1854, he was appointed Ambassador to England. Count Walewski was recalled in May, 1855, to become Minister for Foreign Affairs, and presided over the Conference at Paris in the spring of 1856, which met to conclude a treaty of peace with Russia. He was succeeded in 1859 by M. Thouvenel, and became Minister of State, in place of M. Fould. He resigned in 1863 in consequence of his warm sympathies with the insurrection of Poland. From September, 1865, to March, 1867, he was President of the Corps Legislatif, was made a Senator in April, 1855, and a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor in 1852. Count Walewski was twice married.

Wells, Samuel, Governor of Maine from 1856 to 1857, and a Judge of the Supreme Court of that State, died at Boston, July 15.

Whittlesey, Thomas T., a member of Congress from Connecticut from 1836 to 1839, born in that State, and died at Madison, Wisconsin, September 1, aged 70 years. Mr. Whittlesey graduated at Yale college in 1817. He was a member of the State Senate of Wisconsin in 1852, having removed to Madison in that State some time previously.

Wick, William W., a member of Congress from Indiana, born at Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, February 23, 1796, and died at Indianapolis, May 19, aged 72 years. He received a classical education, and adopted the law as a profession. After pursuing his studies with the Hon. Thomas Corwin, he located for practice in Fayette county, Indiana, in 1820. In 1822 he was chosen President Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit, became Secretary of State in 1825, and in 1829 Attorney for the State in the same Circuit where he had been President Judge. Mr. Wick was again elected President Judge in 1831 and in 1850, serving each time the term of three years. He was a Representative in Congress in 1839-41 and 1845-49. In 1855 he became Postmaster of Indianapolis, but resumed the practice of his profession in 1857.

Wilmot, David, an American statesman, born at Bethany, Wayne county, Pa., Jan. 20, 1814, and died at Towanda, March 16, aged 54 years. Mr. Wilmot was admitted to the bar at Wilkesbarre in 1834. He was a Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania from 1845 to 1851. He was author of the proposition in the bill empowering President Polk to negotiate peace with Mexico, which declared that slavery should be forever forbidden in the territory acquired by the United States. This amendment was not adopted, but became recognized as the line of demarcation dividing parties on the slavery question. In 1848, Mr. Wilmot supported Martin Van Buren for the Presidency on the Free Soil ticket. He was elected President Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District of Pennsylvania, in 1851. He resigned in 1854, but was re-elected, holding the office from 1855 to 1861. He was twice a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, and in 1861 he was elected to the Senate of the United States. In 1863, he was appointed Judge of the Court of Claims by President Lincoln, and held the position until his death.

Wilson, James, a member of Congress from 1823 to 1829, was born in Adams County, Pennsylvania, April 28, 1779, and died at Gettysburg, Pa., in July. From 1811 to 1822 he was a Justice of the Peace. In Congress he served chiefly on the Committee of Claims. After returning to private life, he was again elected a Justice of the Peace, the duties of which office he continued to fill until 1859.

Woodruff, John, a member of Congress from the Second Connecticut District from 1855 to 1857 and 1859 to 1861, born at Hartford, Feb. 12, 1826, and died at New Haven, May 20, aged 42 years. Mr. Woodruff was a member of the Connecticut Legislature in 1854, and Collector of Internal Revenue from 1862 to 1868.

Wortendyke, Jacob R., a member of Congress from New Jersey, born at Chestnut Ridge in Bergen county, November 27, 1818, and died at Jersey City, November 7, aged 50 years. He was educated at Rutgers's college, where he graduated in 1839. For several years afterward he was engaged in teaching, but studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He pursued the practice of his profession in Jersey City, where he was elected an alderman. He represented his district in Congress from 1857 to 1859.

APPENDIX.

THE following amendment to the Constitution has been proposed by Congress, having passed the House of Representatives on the 25th of February, by a vote of 143 to 43, and the Senate on the 26th, by a vote of 39 to 13:

ARTICLE XV. I. The right of the citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

II. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

It was ratified by the Kansas Legislature, February 27; by the Louisiana, Missouri, and Nevada Legislatures, March 1; by the Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin Legislatures, March 5; by the Maine Legislature, March 11; and by the Legislature of Arkansas, March 15.

General Ulysses S. Grant was inaugurated President of the United States, and Schuyler Colfax, Vice President, on the 4th of March, 1869. On the 5th, the following persons were nominated to the Cabinet by President Grant, and were confirmed by the Senate:

Secretary of State ELIHU B. WASHBURNE Illinois.
Secretary of the Treasury ALEXANDER T. STEWART New York.
Secretary of the Navy ADOLPH E. BORIE Pennsylvania.
Secretary of the Interior JACOB D. COX Ohio.
Postmaster General JOHN A. J. CRESWELL Maryland.
Attorney General EBEN ROCKWOOD HOAR Massachusetts.

Mr. Stewart, Mr. Washburne, and Gen. Schofield, Secretary of War, having resigned, the President, on the 11th of March, nominated Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State; George S. Boutwell, Secretary of the Treasury, and Gen. John A. Rawlins, Secretary of War. The nominations were immediately confirmed by the Senate, and the Executive Department was fully organized, as follows:

EXECUTIVE.

Attorney General EBEN ROCKWOOD HOAR Massachusetts.

MILITARY DEPARTMENTS AND DISTRICTS.

The following military nominations were made by the President, and confirmed by the Senate on the 5th of March :

Lieutenant General W. T. Sherman to be General of the army; Major General P. H. Sheridan to be Lieutenant General, vice Sherman, promoted; Brigadier General J. M. Schofield to be Major General, vice Sheridan, promoted; Colonel Christopher C. Anger to be Brigadier General, vice Schofield, promoted.

The following changes in the command of the Military Departments and Districts were made in accordance with an order issued from the Army Headquarters on March 5 :

Brigadier and Brevet Major General A. H. Terry was assigned to the Department of the South. Major General George G. Meade was assigned to the command of the military Division of the Atlantic, headquarters at Philadelphia.

Lieut. General P. H. Sheridan was assigned to the command of the Department of Louisiana. Major General W. S. Hancock was assigned to the command of the Department of Dakota.

Brigadier and Brevet Major General E. R. S. Canby was assigned to the command of the First Military District.

Brevet Major General J. J. Reynolds, Colonel of the 26th Infantry, was assigned to the command of the Fifth Military District.

By another order, issued on the 16th of March, the following additional changes were made :

Lieut. General P. H. Sheridan was assigned to the command of the Military Division of Missouri.

Major General H. W. Halleck was assigned to the command of the Military Division of the South, to be composed of the Departments of the South, Louisiana, the Fourth Military District, and the States composing the present Department of the Cumberland; headquarters at Louisville.

Major General George H. Thomas was assigned to the command of the Military Division of the Pacific.

Major General J. M. Schofield was assigned to the command of the Department of the Missouri; Illinois, and Fort Smith, Arkansas, were transferred to this Department.

Brigadier and Brevet Major General O. O. Howard was assigned to the command of the Department of Louisiana.

The Department of Washington was discontinued, and merged in the Department of the East. The First Military District was added to the Military Division of the Atlantic. (See page 124).
