The 140th International AES Convention — Europe's largest gathering of audio professionals from around the globe — is slated for June 4-7 at Paris' Palais des Congrès. From cutting edge research to fundamentals to practical application, the four-day technical program brings the opportunity to network with and learn from leading audio industry luminaries. Special events — including technical tours of premier production facilities and installs, student focused sessions and a 3 day manufacturer exposition round out the Convention.
