Authorization for Public Release and Transfer of Copyright

The contribution entitled " _____ " submitted for publication in _____ (the journal) has been cleared for public release by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, California Institute of Technology. The copyright to the Contribution is transferred to John Wiley & Sons for the full term of copyright, as extended or renewed when the Contribution is published by the above-named publisher, with the following reservation of rights:

This Contribution was produced by (a) member(s) of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, California Institute of Technology and is considered a work-for-hire. In accordance with the contract between the California Institute of Technology and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the United States Government and others acting on its behalf shall have, for Governmental purposes, a royalty-free, nonexclusive, irrevocable, world-wide license to publish, distribute, copy, exhibit and perform the work, in whole or in part, to authorize others to do so, to reproduce the final published and/or electronic form of the Contribution, to include the work on the NASA/JPL Technical Reports Server web site, and to prepare derivative works including, but not limited to, abstracts, lectures, lecture notes, press releases, reviews, textbooks, reprint books, and translations. The Contribution contains no libellous or unlawful statements and, to the best of my/our knowledge, does not infringe upon the rights of others. Any reproduction, posting, transmission or other distribution or use of the contribution by the contributor will contain a citation to the Journal and an appropriate credit to John Wiley & Sons as publisher, as follows (Title of article, author, journal title and volume/issue, copyright (c) [year], copyright owner).

In the event that the Contribution is not accepted and published by John Wiley & Sons, or is withdrawn by the authors or the California Institute of Technology before acceptance by John Wiley & Sons, the foregoing copyright transfer shall become null and void and all materials embodying the Contribution submitted to John Wiley & Sons will be destroyed.

I, as sole author or as the representative of many authors, declare that I am authorized to sign for and on behalf of all authors, and that this agreement is made on behalf of all the authors.
