

Alexander Nikolov, MA is a Research Manager & Project Coordinator at SYNNO. He holds a master degree in European Studies and a bachelor of arts in Economics. Currently he is obtaining a second master degree in Business Informatics. He gained experience in product and IT project management being responsible for the implementation of customer projects and development of service platforms and tools. He has a solid understanding of modern business concepts and experience in maintaining effective relationships with key accounts and cooperation partners. At SYNNO, Mr. Nikolov is responsible for the coordination of ongoing national and international innovation projects, project related analysis, dissemination and networking activities.