

Tutorial 1: Creating an IEEE Web Account

The URL is <https://development.standards.ieee.org/my-site>

The screenshot shows a Microsoft Internet Explorer browser window displaying the IEEE Standards Association myProject login page. The address bar shows the URL <https://development.standards.ieee.org/my-site>. The page header includes navigation links for IEEE HOME, SEARCH IEEE, SHOP, WEB ACCOUNT, and CONTACT IEEE, along with a sub-menu for Membership, Publications, Services, Standards, Conferences, and Careers/Jobs. The main heading is "IEEE Standards Association" with a "PROJECT SEARCH" and "IEEE-SA MEMBER AREA" link. Below this is the "IEEE STANDARDS DEVELOPMENT ONLINE" section, with the tagline "The Freedom to Initiate, Produce and Manage Standards Online from Anywhere". A navigation bar contains "SDOL Home", "Initiate", "Produce", "Manage", and "myProject™". A "Help" and "Announcements" link is also present. The main content area welcomes users to the IEEE Standards Development Online system and provides instructions on using an IEEE Web Account. It includes a login form with "Username:" and "Password:" labels, input fields, and a "Login" button. A link for "Need an IEEE Web Account or forget your username or password?" is provided. A note at the bottom states "Note: IEEE uses Cookies for Web Account Registration, Change Password".
