Happy Friday Folks,

Just a subtle reminder nudge for those of you who may not have already made your reservations at the Hyatt Regency Century Plaza for the January 2011 Session.

The hotel is very close to being sold out and we encourage you to book your room reservation right away.

If you are unable to secure your required dates of stay please let Dawn and I know as soon as possible and we will do our best to work with the hotel to rectify the situation as best we can.

If you have any other questions or concerns about hotel reservations or the event in general please do not hesitate to let us know.
